The speaker told of the accomplishments of the other men who visited China and first spoke of D. W. Edwards, Princeton, 1904, who has done a wonderful work in China. He mastered the Chinese language very readily and is now at the head of the Pekin Manderin Language School. Edwards is also acting general secretary of Princeton work in Pekin. John Stewart Burgess, '06, is now in Pekin working among the seven thousand students in the universities, and law, medical and industrial schools. He also has charge of the normal schools for training students to be teachers and the school at Pekin was the first of six to be started. Eight student conferences, similar to the great Northfield Conference in this country, are held every summer and are all very largely attended. Amos Hoagland, one of the greatest ends a Princeton football team has ever had, has taken up physical work in Pekin and has now been there for three years. The progress China has made in athletics is very encouraging and competitive meets are held from time to time. Last May one was conducted at Pekin and athletes from all over the great empire gathered at the capital and were the guests of the Pekin A. A.

Dan Walker, at one time a noted athlete and member of the N. Y. A. C., has stated that in 1920 the Chinese will be big contenders for honors in the Olympic games. Hoagland is organizing Boy Scout troops and modern playgrounds have been opened that are very popular and the natives are trained to become supervisors of these.

The speaker then spoke of the work of Lawrence Howell, '13, who is now there and then told of the constructural work that he has been engaged in for the past several years. He has been building several residences and an association building. The speaker told of the expenses that are borne by the Chinese, the budget last year being $43,000, and is likely to be much higher this year.

Mr. Brockman was a second speaker and outlined the Y. M. C. A. work in progress.

An informal reception was held following the lectures, during which the audience was given an opportunity to meet the speakers.

SEEK BAIL FOR RABBIT SLAYER

Game Warden William Hoblitzel, of Rahway, promised to reward seventeen-year-old William Carson for testifying in the case, this feature being described exclusively in this paper Wednesday.

A statement has been obtained from Joseph E. Plum, urging assistance for Phillipson. Plum was the chief informer in the case and makes the following statement:

"To Whom It May Concern:

"In thinking over the extreme penalty of the offense in the case, I felt as if in this case the young man can be dealt with less harshly. In relation to Oscar Phillipson, who shot a rabbit Tuesday. As regards his future this will only hurt him and his future. Hoping you will give this immediate attention for his sake.

"JOSEPH E. PLUM."

A letter from Phillipson to his mother, Mrs. Lina Phillipson, describing jail life, lends a touch of humor to the otherwise pathetic case:

"Somerset County Jail,
"November 10, 1914.
"Somerville, New Jersey.

"Dear Mama:

"I am now in jail. I understand that visitors can come any day and any time, so I guess I will see some of you soon.

"This jail is a regular jail with bars all around so people cannot break in and rob the dump. The place is clean and there is lots of light, and if I get enough to eat I guess I will be alive when I get out.

"The bed, or what they call a bed, is a mattress about two inches thick, stuffed with straw, and when you lay down the sticks stick in your ribs, and is nice and comfortable.

"This morning for breakfast I had a chunk of bread and about a quart of bootleg coffee with no sugar in it, and I threw about half of it away, but don't worry, I don't think I'll die, as you bring all the food you want in. A fellow up the row gave me this paper.

"There are nine cells in the row, and they are caged off so we can walk up and down the row. There are six Polacks and three Americans in our row. One Polack went out last night and got his head broken with a bottle and his face all cut up—he looks fine.

"I guess this is all now. Come soon as you can, anybody.

"OSCAR."

Governor Fielder this afternoon announced that he had turned the matter over to his secretary, L. Edward Herrmann, who is conducting an investigation into the conditions surrounding the case. A report will be filed with Governor Fielder next Tuesday, and it is thought likely that the secretary will make a personal visit to this city. The Court of Pardons convenes Tuesday and it may be necessary to turn the case over to that body.

Third Baseman Jimmy Austin of the Browns came home for the winter without signing a new contract, although he and Owner Hedges agreed upon Jimmy's salary. Hedges wants Austin to sign for one season. Austin asks a three-year contract. That is where they disagree. Austin was Branch Rickey's right-hand man this year and acted as manager in Rickey's absence on Sundays. Fielder Jones, manager of the St. Louis Feds, needs a third baseman and has made an effort to sign Austin. Jimmy, however, will do nothing toward going over to the Feds as long as he sees any chance of making terms with the Browns.

When you first meet George Chip two things are instantly noticeable about him—his square jaw and his massive hands. The jaw is just the jaw of a champion fighter. The hands are enormous, so big that No. 9 gloves will not begin to encase them. It is said that Chip did not know what size glove he did wear until he hit Broadway and decided to "doll up." Then he had to have a pair made for him. The ordinary five-ounce glove must be stretched to the limit when the Newcastle boy forces his hands into them. But how he can hit then! Frank Klaus, Billy Murray and Soldier Petroskey can tell you about that.

Frank Farrell is in bad with the money men behind the New York Americans. And Frank can trace most of his troubles to Hal Chase, who is no longer in the folds of organized ball. But for Hal's seductive manner—or was it Farrell's lack of baseball sense?—the Yankees would have been a big money maker. Chase's actions demoralized two prospective winning clubs for the Yankees, but, instead of punishing Chase, Farrell decided to stand with him. Farrell fired Griffith because of Chase, and disposed of Stallings for the same cause. Either Griffith or Stallings would have made a winning combination of the Yankees.

The recent election worked a big change in the fight map. California voters legislated professional fighting out of their state and voted in a law which permits only amateur bouts of four rounds. The new law takes effect in thirty days. This action makes Louisiana the only state in the union where twenty-round bouts are legalized, but there are a few other places where boxers can go the marathon route. Twenty-round fights are staged in Denver, New Haven, Conn., and Dayton, O., but not as frequently as they were in California.

Bill O'Connell, a Chicago boxing instructor, is building a white hope to order. The material is Daniel Lee McMahon, seventeen, who now weighs 133 pounds. O'Connell has been giving McMahon private boxing lessons for about a year. The boy has grown steadily in that time, and also shown wonderful improvement as a boxer. McMahon has engaged in two minor fights and won both. In gym workouts with Joe Mandot he has displayed a piston-like left that caused Mandot a lot of trouble. Besides teaching the boy to box, O'Connell is seeing to it that his brain is being developed properly, and insists that he continue his studies at the Wendell Phillips high school, where he is a bright student.

Christy Mathewson is supposed to have a corner on pitching brains. Not that Matty is the only brainy hurler in the game, but he's generally supposed to be a little bit above the rest in that department. And because of Matty's standing we'd like to know just what he thought on reading in the papers the other day that Dick Rudolph of the Braves "has the best head of any pitcher in baseball." These words appeared under Matty's signature. It's a doughnut to a red apple he tells the fellow who writes his stuff something the first time he sees him.

Y. M. C. A. QUINTET IS OFF TOMORROW

First Home Game Will Be Played With the Newark P. S. A. A. Five.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team will open its home season tomorrow night, against the strong Newark P. S. A. A. five and although it is still early in the year for the indoor game a good crowd is expected to be present when the teams start. The Newarkers have played five games already and have won the majority of team, while the local team has only played one and lost that. The visitors will have a slight advantage over the association team as far as being in form goes, but playing on their home court the locals will make their opponents hustle every minute of the game.

The hard practice that was held last Wednesday night did the team lots of good and the entire squad will probably be used if the game goes the right way. Taylor and Moulton will start in the foreward positions and Gavett is likely to begin the game in centre. Captain Brynairski will sit on the side lines for the first few minutes of the game and Glover and Newkirk will probably do the guarding. Jack Ricketts will be there and may be used.

The game will start at 8:15 sharp and the same admission will be charged as was charged last season. There will be a preliminary game starting at 8 o'clock.

The teams will lineup as follows:

Y. M. C. A.	Newark P. S. A. A.
Taylor	T. Gallagher
forward
Moulton, Ricketts	Schwab
forward
Gavett, Dunning	Powers
centre
Brynairski, Burner	O'Toole
guard
Burner, Glover	C. Gallagher

HOPE CHAPEL FIVE WILL PLAY VIKINGS TOMORROW

The Vikings, of Tottenville, will be the opponents of the Hope Chapel basketball team on the Fourth street court, tomorrow night, and a good contest is expected. The local team opened its season with a win last week and are going after their rivals from the start.

A captain will probably be elected before the team takes the floor tomorrow, and a preliminary will be played between the Hope Chapel Boys' Club team and the team from the Church of the Heavenly Rest. This game will start at 8 o'clock.

Rahway	4	8	912

With three victories in a row on their own alleys over the Rahway team, the members of Paterson quintet assumed first place in the Elks League, passing the Jersey City team, which it leads by one game. The Patersons accounted for 1,035 in their last game, in which Roth totaled 267, this being the high score for the season in the Elk's League. The Patersons started with 956 and won by eighty-eight pins. They dropped to 885 and won by thirty pins. Then came their big total, with the visitors 210 pins to the bad. Wright rolled 228, Hausin, 235, Ernest 225, Taylor 212 and Roth his big mark of 267. Koops tallied 201 for Rahway.

The scores:

On their own alleys, last night, the members of the Hoboken Elks League quintet dropped two games out of three in the Elks' League match with the Elizabeth bowlers. Hoboken did some clever pinning in the first game, with a total of 967, and Elizabeth finished fifty pins behind. In the next encounter, however, Hoboken dropped to 809, and Elizabeth had no trouble at all in winning by 142 pins, with 951. The third and deciding game saw an interesting contest, Elizabeth, with 892, showing the way by twenty-six pins. Miller rolled 214 and 201 for Hoboken, and Branda was there for 211. Maloney led the Elizabeth team with 226, Harry Clauss rolled 207 and Gatham 204.

LOCAL EAGLES VS. RAHWAY.

The Plainfield Eagles' bowling team will play the team from Rahway on the Second street alleys tonight, and the match will undoubtedly be very interesting. The local team is composed of excellent material and they are now on top of the ladder with three victories. This is the second match of the schedule for the locals and they will have to play their best to win.

MRS. STOCKTON TO FACE MRS. BARLOW

Local Golfer and Philadelphian in a Class by Themselves at Lakewood.

Judged by the results of the medal and match rounds it would seem that Mrs. H. R. Stockton, Plainfield Country Club, and Mrs. Donald H. Barlow, of Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, are in a class by themselves in the golf tournament for women now running at the Country Club, of Lakewood. After finishing first and second, respectively, in the qualifying round and leading the rest of the field by a wide margin, Mrs. Stockton and Mrs. Barlow yesterday went through to the final in the first eight and today they will face each other in the supreme contest for the chief trophy. Friends of Mrs. Barlow, who formerly held the women's Eastern Golf Association title and this year went as far as the semi-final round in the national championship, at Nassau Country Club, believe that she will be able to reverse the medal play standing.

Of the two finalists Mrs. Barlow had the easier time in her match rounds. First she defeated Mrs. Percy Ingalls, of Essex County, by 7 and 6, and in the afternoon eliminated Miss Eleanor Chandler, the only other Philadelphia representative in the tournament, by 5 up and 3 to play. In this match Mrs. Barlow was 4 up at the turn. Earlier in the day Miss Chandler had accomplished a very creditable piece of work in defeating Mrs. W. J. Faith, of Wykagyl Country Club, by 2 up.

Mrs. Stockton had the hardest kind of task in defeating Mrs. C. J. S. Fraser, of Baltusrol, in the first round. It was only after an extra hole of play that the Plainfield representative triumphed, but she did better against Mrs. M. H. Frayne, of Dunwoodie, in the second round, winning by 3 up and 2 to play. The unexpected resistance offered to the medal winner by Mrs. Fraser was one of the day's features.

OPEN FOOTBALL TO BE GIVEN A TRIAL

Yale-Princeton Conflict Tomorrow Afternoon Will Be Watched by Experts.

Open football will either suffer a severe setback or see its banner hoisted high tomorrow. The Yale-Princeton game at Palmer stadium will mean what virtually amounts to the death knell of the principles of football as Frank Hinkey has taught them to the football players of New Haven, or it will give still greater impetus to these methods and serve as the final word in their gaining full precedence over old football. The stake is, therefore, as big for Hinkey as it is for Yale.

Hinkey and his adoption of the rugby passes have been hovering right around the centre of gridiron interest this season. Yale has been an uncertain factor almost from the outset, due to the in and out playing of the eleven, and the Blue sympathizers have been in doubt whether to feel jubilant or apprehensive. The team began the season with a crash, and the Eli students saw at last the shifting of the winds and the reclamation of the high place the university once held in the football world. This elation gave way to gloom after the W. and J. victory at New Haven, and the Yale supporters have at various times since then been swayed by conflicting emotions.

And while the outlook is all in favor of open football receiving its biggest boost in the East this week, one important fact that seems to have been overlooked is that Princeton is practically sure to play a better game against the Blue than it did against the Crimson. The experience of one big game is always of great help to the coaches in locating the weak spots of the team and correcting them. Penfield, his big staff of assistants and the advisory board which shapes the football policy of Jungletown gleaned extensive information from the Harvard game regarding the ailments of the Tiger, and they are now working with might and main to remedy these faults.

Princeton was so lamentably weak in certain spots that no amount of instruction can evolve a powerful team out of the material at hand, but it is hardly possible the Orange and Black will be guilty of the same mistakes that brought about its annihilation in Harvard Stadium. The best Penfield and his helpers can hope for is to send forth an eleven that has a better understanding of teamwork and a more comprehensive idea of what can be accomplished by unity of action. The bitter lesson of bewilderment and a lack of concentration toward one purpose was well learned by the Tigers in the first of their two important games of the year. They have been benfitted accordingly.

NINETEEN GAMES ON Y. M. C. A. SCHEDULE

List Includes Many Old Teams and Also Several New Agregations.

Nineteen games are announced on the Y. M. C. A. basketball schedule, but this list is still incomplete, as there are several more dates to be settled and the team will play till the last part of March. The first game has already been played with the St. Peter's five, in New Brunswick, which was a defeat for the local team, but they will get a chance to get back at their oponents on December 12, when that aggregation will appear here.

Many of the old rivals of the local association have again been booked, while there are others that have never met the local team before. Hasbrouck is a new rival and the fast Chatham club, of Brooklyn, will appear here on November 28. This team claims the heavyweight basketball championship of Brooklyn. The Trenton Mute team, that proved such an attraction last year, has again been scheduled, but will not come until February 6. The regular Hope chapel battle for the city championship will be played on Christmas Day, but will probably be played at night instead of the afternoon, as has been the custom previously. The team will make several out-of-town trips this year during the week and on nights that mid-week games are not played regular practices will be held.

No game has been decided upon as yet for Thanksgiving, but one of the Y. M. C. A teams, of Trenton, will probably be the attraction while the New York University Law School quintet has been scheduled for a New Year's attraction.

The schedule is as follows:

November.

Sat., 14—Newark P. S. A. A., at Y. M. C. A.
Friday, 20—Y. M. C. A. at P. H. S. (night).
Sat., 21—Summit Chapel Club, at Y. M. C. A.
Thurs., 26 (Thanksgiving Day)—Trenton Y. M. C. A. (pending).
Sat., 28—Chatham Club, of Brooklyn, at Y. M. C. A.

December.

Sat., 5—Summit Y. M. C. A., at Y. M. C. A.
Wed., 9—St. John's Five, at New Brunswick.
Sat., 12—St. Peter's, of New Brunswick, at Y. M. C. A.
Sat., 19—Elizabeth Y. M. C. A., at Y. M. C. A.
Fri. 25 (Christmas)—Hope Chapel, at Y. M. C. A. (night.)
Tues., 29—Y. M. C. A., at Hasbrouck Heights.

January.

Fri., 1—(New Year's—)N. Y. U. Law School, at Y. M. C. A. (pending).
Sat., 2—Bound Brook Y. M. A., at Y. M. C. A.
Sat., 9—Washington Heights Y. M. C. A., at Y. M. C. A. (pending.)
Sat., 16—Hasbrouck Heights, at Y. M. C. A.
Sat., 23—St. John's, at Y. M. C. A.
Sat., 30—Y. M. C. A., at Hope Chapel.

February.

Sat., 6—Trenton Mutes, at Y. M. C. A.
Sat., 13—Sewaren Five, at Y. M. C. A.

P. H. S. ELEVEN TO PLAY PHILLIPSBURG TOMORROW

The Plainfield High School football team will play the Phillipsburg High School team at that place tomorrow afternoon. The local team will have its hands full as their opponents have made a fine record this season and have defeated some of the best school teams in the State.

Last year the game between these two teams resulted in a scoreless tie and the local aggregation congratulated themselves on having held this team scoreless and will make a hard try to do the same tomorrow if not win the game. Captain Peacock will be back in the game after a two weeks' layoff as a result of injuries received in the East Orange game and the regular players will be with him.

WHERE WILL THE Y. M. C. A. WIND UP IN THIS GAME

One week ago last Wednesday the Y. M. C. A. basketball team invaded New Brunswick territory and was trounced by the St. Peter's basketball quintet to the tune of 41 to 16. Last night the St. Peter's aggregation tasted a 46 to 27 drubbing administered by the Public Service combination, of Newark. Both games were contested on the Brunswick court.

The Public Service fire is the contingent booked to appear on the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. court tomorrow night. Now the Y. M. C. A. players are wondering where they are going to "get off" with the fast traveling delegation from Jersey's metropolis.

MAC SAYS

Y. M. C. A. basketball stars are due to get into action tomorrow night on the local court against an aggregation that has never before exhibited its talent in this section. The Newarkers are heralded as world-beaters and the localites will probably be treated to a good run for the decision.

Tomorrow afternoon a team styling itself as the "Midwouts" will cavort on Cricket Field. The invading eleven boasts of an excellent gridiron reputation and the Plainfielders will have to put on extra steam in order to keep pace with them.

Another practise of the Plainfield High School squad was held this afternoon. The new men are turning out in large numbers this year and when the football team disbands it is one safe bet that the red and blue will have one of the largest representative squads of candidates that have reported in years.

In Smith, Caulfield and Wenstrup the Holy Cross contingent has a trio of linemen that are world beaters. Too often is the work of the backfield praised so highly that the linemen are overshadowed and seldom get their just dues. This trio has done wonderful work on the defense for the red and blue and Caulfield has also done his little share on the offense when occasion demanded.

The man in the line is the unsung hero of football, he gets most all of the bruises but few of the cheers. He seldom if ever gets a chance at the grandstand stuff, he's always on the bottom of the pile, he gets the worst of the rough stuff that is pulled in a contest and he seems to enjoy it just the same.

Some local football enthusiasts are planning to take in that Yale-Princeton engagement tomorrow afternoon. The Eli crew is the popular favorite for tomorrow's decision on the strength of the dope that has been handed around the circuit of sport scribes during the past two weeks.

Haven't had that rainy spell or cold-snap the hunters were praying for when the season opened. If it doesn't come pretty soon the bunnies will be all gone before the gunners have an opportunity to get a taste of real nimroding.

LOCALS PIN WELL BUT DROP A PAIR

Newarkers Got Away With Odd Match Here Last Night.

Newark fared pretty well in the Elks' League match on the Plainfield alleys, last night, capturing two games out of three from the locals. In the opening setto the champions were there for 974, showing the Queen City quintet the way by 103 pins. The home five came back with 904 while Newark stopped at 871. In the final and deciding contest the Newarks did their best work, turning in a total of 1,006, and though the local pin-knights were there for 940, they succumbed by sixty-six pins.

In the second game Frank Erler split his thumb and had to retire from the competition after rolling seven frames. Ed Laing relieved him, rolled three frames, and then took sick in the third game.

Dick Erler was the star performer for the Newarks, with a count of 227 in the last game. He averaged 214 for the match. Billy Weingarth followed 227, Connie Leick 215, and Hinton and Williams 217. Vail tallied 226 for the locals, and Johnny Campbell was there for 202.

The scores:

HOPE CHAPEL QUINTET ON MICHELIN'S SCHEDULE

The Hope Chapel basketball team appears twice on the schedule of the Michelin Tire Company team, of Milltown. There are eleven games on the schedule of this team and the local aggregation will travel to Milltown and meet the team on December 12 and a return game will be played on January 6 on the Fourth street court.

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. team also appears on the schedule for December 26 at Milltown, but no game has as yet been arranged with the local booker and that date is already filled. A game will probably be played with the team on the association court but not until next year.

SCHOLASTIC GAMES TOMORROW.

Montclair Academy vs. Bordentown Military Academy, at Bordentown.
South Orange High School vs. Summit High School, at Summit.
Plainfield High School vs. Phillipsburg High School, at Phillipsburg.
Peddie Institute vs. Blair Academy, at Blairstown.

NASH'S TOUCHDOWN SUBJECT OF DISPUTE

Local Boy, Playing Right Half for Temple, Made Long Run.

As the result of a play executed by Jim Nash, of this city, right halfback on the Temple University football team, yesterday afternoon, in a contest against St. Joseph's University, in Philadelphia, athletic relations between the two institutions may be permanently culminated. The dispute arose over a forward pass, Temple quitting the field and Referee Wheeler awarding the game to St. Joseph's by a score of 1 to 0. When the disagreement occurred, in the third quarter, St. Joseph's was leading, 14 to 7, and with the ball on Temple's fifteen-yard line, a lateral pass was attempted, but the ball struck the ground and Umpire Barry claimed an incompleted forward pass.

Nash picked the ball up and raced for a touchdown. An argument at once arose and the referee ruled against Temple. The players on the latter aggregation, however, became indignant and refused to allow the contest to continue. Nash has been playing good football for Temple since he entered that institution last month and has earned a permanent place in the backfield. Yesterday he made several good runs and was a terror in line plunging. His quickness in picking up the ball after it had been "grounded" resulted in the disputed touchdown.

Boys will be boys, but boys are not all alike.

We considered this in making boys' suits in two different general styles—Norfolk and Double Breasted.

For many boys, particularly the short-waisted ones, the Double Breast is the only thing—in anything else they'd look like a dressed-up pug dog.

In an attractive variety of fabrics and built to withstand the sort of wear that a boy gives his clothes.

MIDWOUT A. C. WILL BE HERE TOMORROW

Holy Cross Will Tackle Fast Brooklyn Eleven on Cricket Field.

The Holy Cross football team will play the strong Midwout eleven on Cricket Field, tomorrow afternoon. This team comes from Brooklyn with a formidable reputation and will undoubtedly show the spectators some classy football. The boroughites practiced hard last night, and are ready for their opponents.

The visitors have already defeated the Cupids, of Brooklyn, this season, and the latter team took a game from the local aggregation. "Turk" Webber will probably not play as he has several bad bruises. Practically the same lineup will be used as was in action last week.

The game will start promptly at 3:15.

P. H. S. WILL NOT PLAY HOLY CROSS

Patch Does Not Want to Have Basketball Men Injured.

Coach Ralph S. Patch, of the Plainfield High School, has definitely decided not to play the Holy Cross football team this year. A rumor was spread that a game had been arranged for November 28, but nothing had been decided upon.

Patch is opposed to letting the schoolboys play any but High School teams. Basketball will begin as soon as the football season closes, so Patch does not want to run the risk of having any of the team injured.

SOMERVILLE EAGLES LOST THREE GAMES TO PROGRESS

Somerville Eagle pinners dropped three games in a row to the Progress team, of Newark, at that place, last night, although the Somerset county seaters came very close to annexing the last game. The first two were easy for the home men and they had over fifty points to spare in each one, but when the last game was finished they had a lead of only two points.

SHAKEUP IN PLAINFIELD'S LINEUP FOR BIG CONTEST

The Plainfield High School football team will take its annual trip to Phillipsburg, tomorrow, to line up against the High School team of that city. A shake-up has been made in the team this week, Mumford, who has been playing tackle, will not be in the game because of illness.

Peacock, who turned his ankle in the East Orange game, will not be able to play in the backfield, so will fill in at tackle. Rosenson will take his place at quarterback and H. Peacock or Grossett will play halfback.

CONOVER AND LUTHMAN TOOK ALL THREE GAMES AT GATES

One match was played in the borough tournament on Gates' alleys, last night, when George Conover and Luthman took three straight games from Kunzeman and Smailey. The latter combination was not in the same class with its opponents. Luthman pinned high score in the second game, when he chalked up a 227 and his team-mate made the only other two hundred tally, a 210 in the first game.

The highest mark made by the losing duo was 147 and the high team record of the night was 394. Tonight there will be two matches played, Howe and Lowrie vs. Winters and Hansen, and Lutz and Bimble vs. Smalley and Kunzeman. The scores of last night's match:

Kunzeman	135	172	147
Smalley	143	127	107

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

its base in the desired direction James released his hold on the rope. The rope on being pulled out by the descending cap become entangled in some manner with James' legs, throwing him a distance of about fifteen feet to the hard macadam of the old turnpike between Easton and Clinton, which runs under the tracks there.

James landed on the upper part of his back, between the shoulder blades, and was rendered unconscious by the fall. His men hastened to where he lay, thinking at first that he was killed outright by the fall. An examination of his pulse, however, proved the contrary. As expedientl as possible he was placed aboard a train and taken to a physician's office at Bloomsbury. As he was being taken off of the train at Bloomsbury he regained consciousness and in addressing Melvin Fritts, of Dunellen avenue, one of his men, he complained of his legs, which were paralyzed feeling cold and asked that they be covered up. The physician at Bloomsbury did not ascertain at first that James' back had been broken. When he discovered that fact he ordered James removed by the first available train to the Muhlenberg Hospital. The first train that came along was the Harrisburg flier that arrives in Plainfield at noon.

The deceased leaves a wife and four girls, Florence, aged 12; Eleanor, 7; Virginia, 6, and Alice, 3. The wife is prostrated by the blow and cannot be consoled. She is continuously bewailing the fact that she was unable to exchange a word with her husband before he died.

Mrs. James has had a premonition for the past two weeks that some accident was going to befall her husband. Only Wednesday night, the night prior to the accident, she was awakened from her slumber by a dream in which she saw her husband brought home with both of his legs off. As he left for work yesterday morning she told him of the dream and of her increased foreboding; and pleaded with him to be very careful, but man-like he only laughed at her.

Mr. James came to Dunellen about twenty years ago from Morrisville Va. He worked four years for a party by the name of Dixon, who lived on the old Rice farm on the road to Sebring's Mills. From there he secured three years' employment on the old Schefflin place, now owned by Mayor E. B. Latham. In March 1901, he was married to Miss Helen Stucke, of New York city. Shortly after his marriage he accepted a position with the Central Railroad. He was a member of the local order of Foresters and P. O. S. of A. Besides the members of his immediate family the deceased is survived by a mother, Mrs. Carrie James, of Morrisville, Va., and by three sisters and six brothers, Mrs. Howard Kennedy, of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. F. Helm and Miss Martha James, of Morrisville, Va., and George James, of Brooklyn; Carey James, of Elizabeth, and Robert, Cleveland, Custis and Isaac James, of Morrisville, Va. Another brother, H. Ward James, who was also employed by the Central Railroad, was killed at Somerville seven years ago.

The date of the funeral has not been decided upon as yet.

The prisoner is said to have confessed the purpose of this concrete base and his complicity in the scheme.

UNCLE SAM FORMS A READING CIRCLE

First Literary Society Organized to Promote Best Literature.

Washington, Nov. 13—The first literary society organized under Uncle Sam's auspices is just about ready to start work. Dr. P. P. Claxton, commissioner of the United States Bureau of Education, has prepared letters to all High School principals and officials of the smaller colleges throughout the United States telling them of a plan to interest all young men and women who want to know the best there is in the literature world, and who wish to gain the inspiration given by reading the best books.

The new society will be known as the National Reading Circle, and for admission to the circle Dr. Claxton says that it is only necessary to write to the home education division of the U. S. Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and ask to be furnished information about the reading courses which have been planned under the direction of a group of the best known educators of the United States. Persons desiring to benefit by joining the reading circle are merely asked to give their names, postoffice addresses, ages and a very brief statement of their education and occupation.

Dr. Claxton has engaged as experts to assist him in preparing the plans by the following authorities in English literature: Charles A. Smith, professor of English in the University of Virginia; William Lyon Phelps, professor of English literature at Yale, Charles Forster Smith, professor of Greek in the University of Wisconsin, and Richard Burton, professor of English literature in the University of Minnesota.

When applicants furnish their brief information to the bureau, they are furnished with a reading course, including the best works in English literature. Only serious-minded young men and women are invited to join the Government's new organization. The members will undertake to read each of the books which are listed at least twice within the next three years from the time of joining, and to each person then furnishing satisfactory evidence of having read all the books on the list will be awarded a Government certificate bearing the seal of the United States Bureau of Education and signed by the commissioner.

Speaking of the aims of the bureau in starting this course, Commissioner Claxton said:

"Among all the books of the world, a few are so pre-eminent for content and style that they are called the 'literary bibles.' These include the 'Iliad' and 'Odyssey' of Homer, the 'Divine Comedy' of Dante, the great dramas of Shakespeare, Goethe's 'Faust,' and a few others. Each of these is the embodiment and revelation of the ideals of a race, an age or a civilization. They appeal to the hearts and grip the minds of all people everywhere, young or old, learned or unlearned, of whatever race or creed. They are human books and take firm hold on the human life which we all live, which few understand, and which in all phases has 'interest without end.' The books to be recommended by the experts directing the course are books which should be read and understood by all who would know the world's literature and life."

ARGENTINE SAILORS ENTERTAIN

Boston, Nov. 13—The Argentine battleship Rivadavia, recently built at Quincy, Mass., makes her social debut tonight, when the ship's officers, headed by Captain Jose [illegible]neta, entertain the officers of the Boston Navy Yard and fortifications. The ship is decorated for the event and many civilians, including public officials, are included in the ship's visitors.

AN AUTUMN TEA.

Invitations have been sent out by Miss Ethel Colton, daughter of P. C. Colton, for a tea to be given in honor of Mrs. Samuel F. Kimball, of New York, at her home, 119 East Sixth street, on Wednesday, November 18, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

COLONEL NOT INJURED.

Col. C. E. S. Bellows, who met with an accident in the Wednesday run of the Watchung Hunt Club, was not seriously injured, being able to go to business yesterday, as usual. He does, however, feel pretty sore and lame as a result of the fall from the horse.

GIVEN ONE MORE DAY IN WHICH TO QUIT FRATS

Every American High School girl who is a member of a "frat" must have her resignation in by tomorrow night, under penalty of being barred from joining such fraternities when she reaches college. Such is the edict of the congress of the National Pan-Hellenic, representing 70,000 college fraternity women in America. The congress was recently held in New York, and will meet again in San Francisco next year.

For it was agreed that High School girls were too young to be members of such secret organizations. Their conduct, is was charged, led to the formation of undesirable cliques, developed snobbishness in many instances, and many girls became members against the wishes and without the knowledge of their parents. The High School frat was condemned as not necessary.

The decision of the college women to put the younger "frats" out of business caused no little dissatisfaction among the younger women, and all are watching the result of the ultimatum.

PHILIPPINE FOREST FOR SALE.

Manila, P. I., Nov. 13—A tract of 280,000 acres of forest, containing many valuable hard woods, will be opened to the woodsmen's axe, under a 20-year concession, when the bids for the lumber are opened tomorrow. The tract is a public forest on the Island of Luzon, and the privilege of cutting the lumber has brought competition from many American lumber men.

GEORGIA PRODUCTS SHOWN.

Macon, Ga., Nov. 13—Today was "Georgia Products Day" at the Georgia State Fair, and Governor John M. Slaton was the guest of honor. Mrs. Slaton accompanied the Governor, and members of his staff also made up the visiting party. Twenty-one county exhibits and 1,500 individual exhibits by corn clubs make the fair a record-breaker, and the attendance this year exceeds all past records.

SON IS ILL.

Mrs. M. H. Ewart, of Fairview avenue, president of the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association, was unable to attend the New Jersey Mothers' Congress convention, at Atlantic City, today and tomorrow, on account of the illness of her son.

Advance Thanksgiving Sale of Women's Suits and Coats

(Mostly Fur-Trimmed)

Suits—$16.75 to $30

450 Suits fresh from the workrooms—nearly all with short, fashionable coats and wide skirts, many with flaring tunics. Most of the models are exclusive with this house—majority may be had in all sizes, even at the very special prices quoted.

Our regular manufacturers, who had surplus lots of fine materials on hand and small quantities of good furs, were very glad to co-operate.

The Suits

The Suits at $16.75

Compare favorably with our earlier $22.50 to $30 models.

Two short coat styles, beautifully trimmed with fur collars and bandings—wonderfully effective for the price.

Five Styles at $19.50

Norfolk corduroy suits with yoke—first time we have had corduroy at this low price.

Broadcloth—two styles trimmed with fur.

Gabardine in two smart models, with caracal cloth and fur collars.

Distinguished broadcloth suits, with braid-bound short shaped coats. Collar of caracal cloth. Circular skirts.

Odd Suits at $19.50

Taken from our regular stocks of $25 to $35 suits. Long and medium length coats, mostly cheviot. Only three or four of a kind.

Fur-Trimmed Corduroy Suits, $25

One of the prettiest suits we have had this season. Brown, green, black and blue corduroy, with fur collar and rose at the throat.

Coats—$16.50 to $25

Suits at $27.50 and $30

Our Standard $30 and $32.50 Qualities.

These two suits have been selling fast, and the manufacturer has just 80 suits left, which he offered to close out.

Both of the broadcloth with circular tunics. Beautiful in fabric and making—suits we are proud of.

The Coats

250 Fur-Trimmed Coats, $16.50 and $25

At $16.50, a maker's surplus of real English tweeds, trimmed with warm furs—splendid coats for general service.

In addition, well-cut coats of Persian lamb and other fur cloths.

10 Styles of $25 Coats

Silk plush, with chinchilla squirrel collar; pony skin cloth, made like a fur coat; plain silk plush coat; novelty plain-colored cloth, with fur collars; fine black broadcloth, with fur collars and cuffs, beautifully lined. Best coats at $25 we recall offering.

WOTSAT (What's That?) WOTSAT

Why, the Great Toy World at Wanamaker's Opens Tomorrow

Flying over this great city on the wings of a butterfly, Alice and Wotsat and Optick and Strumm and the other sprites heard a "tick-tick-tick" piercing through the air.

"What's that?" said Wotsat.

"Don't be alarmed," replied the golden butterfly, it is the wireless at Wanamaker's. It says

The Great Christmas Toy World is Open

They climbed down the moonbeam ladder.

They were now in the Palace of Plenty, in the House of Wanamaker, in the midst of a Christmas Carnival.

Christmas at Wanamaker's—a joy-world, a wonder time, a marvel of delight. A land of enchantment for boys and girls.

There were great lights and long aisles, and big tables and high counters loaded with nearly everything in the world that one might wish for Christmas. All the joys of the world, all the toys of the world seemed to be here assembled.

* * * *

Suddenly there arose a great hub-hub. "It is the Dance of the toys," said Taggie.

Sure enough every toy in the store was leaping and prancing and dancing at a furious rate.

"What is the game," said Alice.

"It is the Game of Tag," replied the Talking Pin Ticket—they are proving to all that they are worth the price."

These are a few sentences from a very charming Christmas Story written to open the Wanamaker Toy World. It introduces Wotsat (what's that), the Spirit of Curiosity, intended to strengthen the child's instinct for asking questions and thus add to its fund of useful knowledge. It introduces also "Optick," the spirit that sees everything; "Strumm," the Spirit of Music; "Pranko," the Spirit of Mischief; and other spirits.

This Christmas story "WOTSAT," is published in a little book of twenty-four pages, with numerous illustrations in color, and will be given free to-morrow in the Toy Store to children with their parents, as a souvenir of the opening of the Great Toy World. "Wotsat" will be here in person to distribute the books and meet the children.

It is the largest Toy Store we ever had. It covers the entire block-long and block-wide Fourth Gallery of the New Building. It is also the best exhibition of toys we ever made. It shows unmistakably that despite the war there is

IN ONE MINUTE! CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN---COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

Stops Nasty Discharge, Clears Stuffed Head, Heals Inflamed Air Passages and You Breathe Freely.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; fullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleasing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Adv.

Fanny Ward, in "Madam President," at Plainfield Theatre, Saturday, November 14.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Probably the only American actress who speaks Russian, even ever so little, is Fannie Ward, the dainty star of "Madam President," who picked up a smattering of the complex language, while taking the baths at Hot Springs, Virginia, after her return from Europe last summer. Miss Ward discovered on her first day that her bath attendant was a Russian young woman and began asking her for the equivalent of simple English words. At the end of the first treatment she had learned about twenty. To the surprise of the Russian, the actress remembered [illegible] upon her appearance next morning and asked for more. The young woman was highly flattered and complied. These lessons continued for half an hour daily during three weeks while the baths were being given and when Miss Ward concluded her stay and returned to New York she could have greeted the Russian embassador in his native tongue, albeit rather haltingly, if she had run across him. She considers the language fascinating. In the [illegible] Miss Ward picked up Japanese from a butler in England and a little Chinese from a cook of that nationality whom she imported and who served in her household in New York. "Madam President" will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

We read much nowadays of the slogan, "Made in America," but few of us are having it brought home as emphatically as those people of the stage to whom we owe our amusement. Not the smallest asset of a professional entertainer, whether she be a prima donna, a musical comedy star or a leading actress, is found in her gowning and for years the principal women of our stage have depended on the Continent not only for the designs of the frocks they chose to wear but nearly always also for the actual making. But European conditions have affected the smart Parisian modistes' shops as emphatically as they have crippled other industries and so our prominent actresses who wish to maintain their reputations for splendid gowning have been driven to various resources. No one of them has been more resourceful than Miss Rose Winter, to be seen here at the Plainfield Theatre, for a single performance, on Tuesday evening, November 17, with John Drew in "The Prodigal Husband." At the beginning of the present season, just prior to the premiere of Mr. Drew's new play in New York, Miss Winter found herself confronted with the new difficulty of being unable to arrange through her usual modiste for the importation of the frocks she wished for her new role. When she discovered that bona fide Paris gowns were not to be had Miss Winter, realizing that her reputation as one of the best dressed women on the American stage was well nigh at stake, put her wits to work. She has long had the gift for designing and so losing no time, after discovering the sartorial requirements of the new role, she set herself to work planning her wardrobe. The frock in the second act is a street costume of white silk. The sash of extremely bright red velvet is bound almost directly beneath the arms crossing at the back and coming again to the front just above the knees. The remainder of the sash then drapes to the bottom of the skirt on the left side. The hat to match is of red velvet and fur, the parasol of white silk and velvet of the same shade as the sash.

AUSTIN'S COMEDY HEADS PROCTOR'S FEATURE BILL

Dave Austin's comedy, "His Wedding Morning" fulfilled all expectations when presented at Proctor's Theatre, yesterday, as the feature act of the ordinary, which includes artistic playlet is practically one continuous laugh owing to its comical situations and witty dialogue. Mr. Austin, who has appeared as the forgetful bridegroom more than 7,000 times, is capably supported by Walter Chatham and Phyllis Dean. Wiley & TenEyck present an act decidedly out of theordinary, which includes artistic posing, startling acrobatic feats and novelty dancing. Lovers of ballad singing and close harmony will be delighted with Keefe, Langdon & Wheeler, who mix clean comedy with vocal work. Altus Brothers do some great juggling with Indian clubs, while they hand out "patter stuff" full of laughs, and Graham & Randall, in comedy varieties, complete a fine program.

INTERESTING WAR STORIES IN DECEMBER SCRIBNER

Richard Harding Davis in all his career as a war correspondent never had a closer call than in his recent experiences with the German army in Belgium. He was arrested as a spy and treated as a spy, and only by the barest good luck escaped with his life. He tells the story in his article in the December (Christmas) Scribner. He was sent on his way to Brussels with a ticket of leave across which was written: "To be Treated as a Spy." The story is not without its touches of humor, and it will be interesting reading if the copy of the magazine which Mr. Davis says he will send, ever reaches the hands of a certain German officer, called by Mr. Davis "Rupert of Hentzau." "I hope the Allies do not kill Rupert of Hentzau before he reads it After that!"

Germany's attitude toward the war, the feeling with which she began it, and the surprise that came with the realization that the sympathies of the world were against her, have not been more clearly stated than by Oswald Garrison Villard, in his article "Germany Embattled—An American Interpretation." It summarizes Germany's point of view and defines the meaning of German Kultur. "Her splendid abilities, her powers of organization, her sentiment, her idealism, the world needs for the prevention of wars, and not for the deification of the war spirit."

Martha Hedman, with John Drew, Plainfield Theatre, Tuesday, Nov. 17.

STARTS AN OLD LINEN CAMPAIGN

Miss Eva Booth Appeals for Bandages for European Soldiers.

Miss Eva Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States has recently started an "old linen" campaign to raise material for making bandages, pads, gauze, etc., for the wounded soldiers in the European war, and it is meeting with a wonderful response everywhere it is presented to the American people.

There is a terrible dearth of hospital requisites in the war zone. Wounds are being dressed and operations performed without ether, which caused frightful suffering. The soldiers are tearing the lining out of their coats to dress the wounds of their fallen comrades.

The Old Linen Campaign simply means that the people in America are asked to give the Salvation Army their old linen instead of throwing it away or selling it to the rag man. Worn-out bed sheets and other bedroom linen, worn-out bath towels, worn-out clothing and all other old linen and cotton cloth in the household can be taken by the army and made into bandages and other materials for treating the wounds of the soldiers in the war.

The Salvation Army has established in New York city a headquarters where the old linen is received. Physicians and surgeons have volunteered their services to direct the making of the materials. A large sterilizing apparatus has been given to the Army. The old linen is made into bandages and other things needed by the field hospitals, and they are sterilized and wrapped into packages. The steamship companies are hauling them free and the express companies of the United States are bringing the old linen to New York at a minimum rate—next to nothing.

Only one request is made of those who contribute—namely, that the old linen be boiled before it is sent. Adjutant George Jackson, manager of the Industrial Department of the local branch of the Salvation Army, will receive all contributions in this city and forward them at once to New York headquarters. All who desire to contribute old linen may do so by notifying the Industrial Department, telephone 607-W, and the Army wagons will be glad to call for the material.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

The railroads in India pension their employes.

Three million American employes work from 54 to 60 hours a week.

The Workmen's Compensation Law becomes operative in Ontario on January 1.

All eyes are on Philadelphia this week, where the Federation is meeting. It is a record-breaking convention, all round.

Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor is against compulsory arbitration, believing it is unfair to workmen.

The steel mills are starting up in Pennsylvania, and fully 20,000 men go back to work this week. The steel outlook is good.

The United States has 6,000,000 factory workers and 1,690,000 railroad workers. Britain's railroads employ 600,000 men.

The United Mine Workers claim it costs Colorado a million dollars to "defend" property that pays only twelve thousand.

The British Government is aiding workers through the unions, by refunding a large proportion of amounts paid out by the organizations to its jobless members.

They are suggesting cutting wages in many places as a means of booming business. Chicago contractors are especially urging this measure as a boom to building.

Philadelphia has provided a fund of $2,000,000 to give the jobs to the unemployed this winter. Boston, Chicago New York and Milwaukee may follow suit.

The Trustees of the Union Printers' Home at Colorado Springs will meet there before the end of the month. Plans for enlarging the home will be completed.

Sensational evidence of a bank trying to force merchants into an anti-union association in Stackton, Cal., was recently presented to the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations in San Francisco.

The Switchmen's Union has brought an interesting suit in Texas against the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and six railroads. The switchmen claim they were refused employment because of contracts, and they seek to annul the agreements.

Household Hints

TO KEEP PUMPKINS

To Keep Pumpkin for Pie Until Spring—Prepare for cooking, add small amount of water and boil slowly until tender, then stir until pumpkin is as smooth and dry as possible without burning. Spread on plates about an inch thick and keep in warm oven; stir often until dried away about half, then pack in a crock. In between each layer pour a little corn syrup and over the top pour about an inch of syrup. Keep in a cool place. A small amount can be used at any time, but always be sure to have top well covered with syrup before putting away.

One-half cup of this pumpkin thinned with milk and other ingredients will make a large pie, and is far better than if made of fresh pumpkin.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Rub your shoes and boots well with castor oil and let them stand 12 hours. This will keep them from cracking and make them yielding and soft.

For cleaning windows, especially in cold weather, take ammonia, dampen a cloth with it, and rub windows. This cleans and polishes at the same time.

Give your cake pans a sharp rap on the bottom of the pan just before placing in the oven and your cake will never fall; the jar of the rap on the pans bursts the bubbles of the cake, thus keeping it from falling.

A DELIGHTFUL DRINK

A good drink for invalids or thirsty people may be made after making cottage cheese. To one pint of the whey drained from the cheese, use two tablespoons of sugar and as much fruit juice as desired, with any flavoring extract you fancy. A dash of nutmeg or spice improves it.

THE TABLE

Breakfast Dish for Cold Mornings—A most appetizing and nutritious dish for the men folks who have only a light lunch at noon: To one pint of sour cream or buttermilk add one-fourth teaspoon soda and one-fifth teaspoon salt. Mix thoroughly, add to this enough corn flour (not cornmeal, if the flour can be obtained, to make a nice smooth batter; to this add one teacup cooked pumpkin that has been well sweetened; add one egg is desired, although it is not necessary. Bake on hot griddle that has been perfectly greased. Make the size of ordinary batter cakes. The poorest digestion can take care of them. This amount will be sufficient for a family of five.

Delicious Veal—Get veal steak half inch thick, cut into pieces just large enough to serve, season with salt and pepper, dip in beaten egg, roll in crumbs. Have spider piping hot with about half inch hot fat in bottom. Fry veal quickly on both sides until light brown, then pour milk over veal till it comes almost to top of veal. Cover tightly and place in slow oven for about one hour. The last fifteen minutes remove lid, so veal will crisp. Prepared in this way veal is as tender and delicious as spring chicken and may be cut with a fork. One pound of veal will serve four persons bountifully.

Lobster Cutlets (made from canned lobsters)—Mince meat of lobsters fine, season with salt and spice. Melt piece of butter in sauce pan, mix with it one tablespoon flour, add lobster and a little finely chopped parsley; add a little stock also, and let it come to a boil. Remove from fire and stir into it the yolks of two eggs. Spread this mixture in a shallow pan. When cold, cut into cutlet shape, dip carefully in beaten eggs, then in cracker crumbs and fry to a rich brown in hot lard.

Pumpkin for Pies and Canning—Clean and put in oven, as to bake potatoes. When REAL done, peel as baked potato. Cut in halves, scoop out seeds and stringy part, then cut rest in pieces and put through ricer or colander. Is ready for pies or to be reheated and canned for later use. Makes cooking pumpkin an easy task and flavor is fine.

PATTERN FROM THE RAHWAY REFORMATORY

Remarkable Campaign is Begun by Inmates of Joilet Prison.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—One of the most remarkable uplift campaigns ever begun is that of the convicts at Joliet, who are heading a movement for the co-operation of convicts in every prison to solve the great problem of the best means for a discharged prisoner to make an honest living. Declaring that the theorists have utterly failed to solve this problem, the Joliet Prison Post maintains that the prisoners themselves are capable of finding some solution.

The convicts point with pride to the achievements at the "University of Another Chance," where prisoners have proven they can be entrusted with their own government. This unique institution, which is in reality New Jersey's reformatory, reports that the prisoners govern themselves better than a host of guards could govern them. The spirit of self-reliance, of usefulness, of faith in the good will of their fellow-men has been preserved and strengthened behind the bars, and the convicts see the bright light of "the chance" looming in the horizon.

New Jersey's reformatory at Rahway is an institution where the prisoners study themselves. Doctor Frank Moore, the superintendent, tells his charges that his business is not to criticise the bad but to find the good and cultivate it. And so his scheme of giving the prisoners the power of self-government and self-discipline has worked out successfully. In two years the infractions of the prison's rules decreased from 4,889 to 2,887. The older inmates, who are working for the privilege of being treated like citizens, are seldom reported, and their conduct has done much to tame the new inmates.

On July 12th of this year, each of the fourteen tiers elected two councilmen to represent it. Each Tuesday and Friday the council meets to act upon reports of misbehavior of inmates. The council has a president, who is presiding judge, and a secretary, who is clerk of the court. Prisoners must face their accusers, and they are given the privilege of cross-examination in their own defense. If the accused is found guilty, he is sentenced to the loss of some privilege. The decisions of the council are not subject to the approval of the superintendent or any officer of the institution, and none of the officers have any voice in the deliberations. If a councilman misbehaves, he is tried by his fellow-councilmen.

Never has the decision of the council failed to meet with the approval of the prisoners. And under its rule, discipline has improved to such an extent that Doctor Moore has greatly increased the privileges of the inmates.

The prisoners have conducted a baseball league of eight teams this summer, and teams from the outside have played the reformatory boys. The spirit of manliness and honor has been retained and strengthened, and in many cases injected, in these prisoners, and the result is a widespread demand for the adoption of the idea in other prisons that "the chance" is real.

DISCUSS RAILROAD PPROBLEMS.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 13—Bankers, economists, business men and lawyers met here in convention today for a discussion of the problems of American railways. It was the annual meeting of the Western Economic Society, and nearly all of the 500 members were present to hear President E. P. Ripley, of the Santa Fe, who spoke on his recent suggestion that railway control by a regional group system, with Government representation, was a way out of the present chaotic conditions governing railroad matters. The proposed increase in freight rates is another subject of great importance which is set for discussion. Among the speakers are Prof. H. G. Moulton, of the University of Chicago; Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard; Prof. F. H. Dixon, of Dartmouth, and Pierce Butler, valuation counsel for the Western group of railways.

DEDICATES BUILDINGS.

State College, Pa., Nov. 13—The presence of Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, the famous Philadelphia educator and new Governor-elect, and Governor John K. Tener, with many other State officials and college men, made notable today the dedication of two new buildings at Pennsylvania State College. Incident to the occasion, the students hold their annual fair, and the guests of honor were entertained at a football game between the college team and the Michigan Agricultural College eleven. The two new buildings dedicated today are the stock-judging pavilion and the dairy barns, costing $30,000 each. President Edwin E. Sparks, of the State College, accepted the buildings in an address glowing with optimism for the future growth of the institution.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Elliott, of this city, are registered at the Marlborough-Blenheim, Atlantic City.

that day, in which the house of the father, the house of the lover, the fleeing pair and the irate parent all figure. These dishes are the treasure of many a china chest and are sought after by lovers of the antique.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA L. LEONARD

"So you're visiting schools today," said the smiling principal as a slender young woman entered the office.

"Yes, I have been trying to get here ever since school began. I have mentally reserved several days, but something always happened to keep me at home. The morning has been very enjoyable; no wonder the children love to come to school," and Mrs. Palmer sat down for a chat.

"I am glad you like it here; we are a very happy family. I am sure I never could have been reconciled to give them up," replied the principal, toying with a paper knife on the table in front of her.

"We were all alarmed when we heard of your marriage. We were afraid we were going to lose you," and Mrs. Palmer leaned comfortably back in the big chair and glanced around the pleasant office.

"Well, that was a knotty question. When the matter was first under consideration I told Mr. Hamilton that I felt that my work was here and I could not give it up, and for a whole year the subject was not broached. You see, he felt that marriage necessitated my retiring from the principalship."

"As this is a village outside the city limits of course the matter would rest entirely with the board," said Mrs. Palmer.

"Oh, it wasn't that," replied Mrs. Hamilton. "He had the usual man's point of view that married women belong in the home."

"Don't you believe that?" asked Mrs. Palmer, sitting up.

"Oh, yes, for most women, but I am fifty years old. He was a widower with his children all married off. There is really no great work for me to do in the home," and Mrs. Hamilton laughed. "I never kept house, know nothing about it and I love my work. Finally he saw the thing as I did and consented to my staying here. We are very happy. Both of us were lonely, and we are real comrades. He enjoys attending the teachers' parties. They make him feel one of them."

"They are so devoted to you, of course they would," said Mrs. Palmer.

Mrs. Hamilton smiled her acknowledgment of the compliment and continued; "Every day I have the electric brought to the school and I call for him at his office and we have a fine ride before dinner.

"What is it, dear?" she asked as a small boy appeared at the door.

"Miss Gates would like to have some chalk," answered the little fellow.

She gave him the box, administering a motherly pat on his head, and he smiled up into her face as he trotted away.

"Could I give them up to sit and embroider at home?" queried the big-hearted woman.

"I can see that you could not," said Mrs. Palmer.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Old Is John Chinaman's Country?

"Oh, well," said Mr. John Chinaman, "you came into my laundry!"

"HO, ho!" shouted Jack merrily. "I didn't know Chinamen had a country. I thought they only had washtubs and flatirons and funny shoes and"—

"And wore little shirties," laughed Evelyn, "and a long braid of hair down their backs and big wide panties."

"Well," laughed daddy, "John Chinaman does all those things; but, just the same, he has a country and one that is so old that Greece and Rome seem modern in comparison.

"Let us suppose that John Chinaman is walking along the street and he meets a Greek and an Italian.

"John Chinaman says: 'Good day, Mr. Greek and Mr. Italian. I hope you are well?'

"'We were talking about the age of my country,' said the Greek proudly. 'I was telling Italiano here that we can make his history look pretty new. Ah, it smells of varnish!' And Mr. Greek turns up his Grecian nose and rolls his classical eyes at poor modern Mr. Italian.

"'Oh, well,' says Mr. John Chinaman, 'you come into my laundry place and I tell you something.'

"So they go into John Chinaman's laundry, and John tells them some things about the Chinese empire.

"'You count your history from the time of Christ, but we count ours 500 years before then.

"'About the beginning of the Christian era we Chinaman learned to make paper and a few hundred years afterward discovered the art of printing.

"'And have you ever heard of the Great wall that was built around China 200 years before the birth of Christ?

"'This wall has enough material in it to build a wall six feet high around the entire globe. So, you see, we must have had some engineers in those days.

"'Then when the Anglo-Saxons were living in the British isles, wearing coats of animal skins and fishing in canoes made of dugout tree trunks, the Chinese were selling silks and carvings and scents and precious stones set in quaint and beautiful settings to the Roman empire.'

"So, you see, kiddies, John Chinaman has a country that is very, very old.

"The Chinese have a very quaint custom which the children in America copy. They fly kites—big wonderful kites of bright paper that look like great birds when up in the sky. And the men fly them as well as the children."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE DANGER

Possibility of Contaminated Milk Spreading Infection Exaggerated.

PASTEURIZATION URGED

This is the Only Safe Prevention From Contagion Declares Government Experts—Strict Quarantine Maintained.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—The anxiety that has been expressed in several quarters in regard to the effect upon human health of the present outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease is regarded by Government authorities as somewhat exaggerated. The most common fear is that the milk supply might become contaminated, but in view of the precautions that the local authorities in the infected areas are very generally taking, there is comparatively little danger of this. Milk from infected farms is not permitted to be shipped at all. The only danger is, therefore, that before the disease has manifested itself some infected milk might reach the market. For this reason, experts in the United States Department of Agriculture recommend pasteurization. As a matter of fact, however, pasteurization is recommended by the department anyway for all milk that is not very high grade and from tuberculin tested cows.

It has been demonstrated by experiments which have been made in Denmark and Germany that pasteurization will serve as a safeguard against contagion from the foot-and-mouth disease just as readily as it does against typhoid fever, but in any event it must be thoroughly done—the milk must be heated to 145 degress Fahrenheit and held at this temperature for 30 minutes.

In this country the foot-and-mouth disease has been so rare that there are few recorded cases of its transmission to human beings. In 1902 a few cases were reported in New England, and in 1908 in a few instances eruptions were found in the mouths of children which were believed to have been caused by contaminated milk. In both of these outbreaks, the sale of milk was stopped as soon as the disease was found among the cattle. As long, therefore, as the disease can be confined by rigid quarantine to certain specified areas, the danger from this source is very small. Should the pestilence spread all over this country and become as general as it has been at various times in large areas in Europe, the problem would become more serious. Under any circumstances, however, pasteurization would be an efficient remedy. Where pasteurization is not possible, and where there is any reason to suspect that the disease may exist, the precaution of boiling milk might be advisable. Simple directions for pasteurizing milk at home, however, are contained in Circular 127, which will be sent free on application to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Cows affected with the malignant form of the disease lose practically all of their milk. In mild cases, however, the decrease may be from one-third to one-half of the usual yield. The appearance of the milk also changes. It becomes thinner, bluish, and poor in fat. When the udder is affected, the milk frequently contains coagulated fibrin and blood, so that a considerable sediment forms, while the cream is thin and of a dirty color. These changes, however, occur only when the disease is in an advanced stage and, as a matter of fact, the disease is not permitted to pass into an advanced stage, as any stricken animal is at once slaughtered.

Men who come in contact with diseased animals may also become infected. In adult human beings the contagion causes such symptoms as sore mouths, painful swallowing, fever, and occasional eruptions on the hands, finger tips, etc. While causing considerable discomfort, however, the disease is rarely serious. Where it is very prevalent among animals, some authorities believe that it is fairly general among human beings, but that the disturbances it causes are usually so slight that they are not brought to the attention of the family physician. There is, however, a very good reason for everyone giving the diseased animals as wide a berth as possible, namely, that otherwise they may easily carry the disease to perfectly healthy herds. Federal inspectors engaged in the work of eradicating the pestilence are thoroughly equipped with rubber coats, hats, boots and gloves, which may be completely disinfected, and others who lack this equipment are strongly urged not to allow their curiosity to induce them to become a menace to their own and their neighbors' property.

The disease, in short, is dangerous because of the loss that it occasions to property, and not because of its effects upon the health of mankind. At present all infected herds are being slaughtered as soon as they are discovered, the carcasses buried, and the premises thoroughly disinfected. Until all danger of infection has been removed in this way, the local authorities quarantine the milk.

Those who wish additional precautions are recommended to use pasteurized milk, but as has already been said, this recommendation holds true whether or not there is any fear of the foot-and-mouth disease.

MOTORCYCLISTS KNOCKED DOWN AGED PEDESTRIAN

Charged with reckless driving, Ceasar Cannarra, of 227 Clifton street, Newark, and George Ewisslohr, of 91 Speedway avenue, Newark, were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, following their apprehension yesterday afternoon. Ewisslohr was driving a motorcycle and his companion was riding on the rear seat when they struck a man by the name of C. H. Crankshaw, of 223 East Fifth street.

The man was knocked to the ground and as the cyclists swerved to one side of the road they hit an automobile owned and driven by Dr. C. B. Lufburrow. The mudguard of the machine was slightly damaged. Mr. Crankshaw sustained minor injuries. The men were allowed to go on suspended sentences in the city court, this morning, after they had promised to repay Mr. Crankshaw for doctor's bills and damaged clothing. Dr. Lufburrow offered to make good the damage to his machine.

CLOTHING ON CREDIT AT CASH PRICES
$1 WEEKLY TO ALL

ONCE

A man was prejudiced against buying on credit. He thought that anything bought for his personal use "on time" would be priced too high, that his personal affairs would be unpleasantly investigated and that any such transaction would be undignified and unbusinesslike.

But that was a long time ago. Laurie & Co. have changed all this—it's RIGHT to buy on credit now—HERE.

WHO'S GOING TO WIN TODAY'S BIG GAME?

THE BEST TEAM. The team with the strength, skill, speed and team work. The team that plays the hardest, the cleanest and the squarest—will win that game.

And isn't it equally true in business—in SHOE SELLING for example? The "BEST TEAM." The store that gives you the newest and most progressive shoes—the most reliable and economical shoes—the cleanest and most honest shoes. Hasn't that store THE RIGHT TO WIN the shoe game?

Think that over and then come here to get your family's needs—before or after tomorrow's big game!

YALE WINS OVER TIGER

Yale and Princeton Football Teams Struggle Before Crowd of 41,000.

NEW STADIUM IN USE

Never Before Has a College Contest Drawn so Many People to Princeton—Day Ideal Overhead But Warm for Players.

Yale—6-7-6- 0-19
Tigers—0-0-0-14-14

Palmer Stadium, Princeton, Nov. 14. — Yale defeated Princeton in the annual football game between the two colleges, played this afternoon before an enormous crowd in the new stadium, which was used for the first time for a great intercollegiate game.

Palmer Stadium, Princeton, Nov. 14.—Ideal football weather was served up to the Bulldog and Tiger representatives bedecked in moleskins at Princeton this afternoon and 40,000 lovers of the college sport packed the big new stadium. A light wind blew across the gridiron, which was in fine shape for the biggest New Jersey football battle of the year, being dry and fast. The Eli warriors romped on the field in snappy fashion at 1:45 and were followed a few minutes later by a line of Princeton students who paraded on the field headed by a brass band and gave a hearty cheer for the opposing fighters. Yale stands returned the compliment and cheered each of their players to the echo. The two teams started the encounter with the following men on the lines and in the backfield:

Officials—Nathan Tufts, of Brown, umpire, Carl Marshall, field judge, G N. Bankart, of Dartmouth; head linesman, Fred Burleigh, of Exeter. Referee, Nathan Tufts, of Brown.

First quarter—Conroy opened the game with a boot to Princeton's thirty yard line, the Tiger crew having won the toss and elected to defend the south goal. Trenkman caught the pigskin and was downed in his tracks by Betts. Princeton secured the ball on the next play and Driggs returned the kick to Yale' thirty yard line, Knowles catching the ball and being downed on the spot. After three unsuccessful attempts to make the distance, LaGore booted to the Princeton team's twenty yard line, where Ames caught it and ran back three yards. The Tigers at once assumed a defensive attitude and Driggs punted to mid-field on the first play. Wilson fubled the catch but LaGore saved the ball for Yale, falling on it on Princeton's forty-two yard line. LaGore took four yards through centre, the biggest gain registered up to this time on a line buck. Knowles chalked up another two yards through the same hole in the Tiger's line. On a triple pass LaGore was tackled behind his own line and the play resulted in a three yard loss. A forward pass attempted on the fourth down was grounded and the ball was given to Princeton on her own forty yard line. The Tigers attempted a pass on the first play, but was fumbled. Yale was penalized five yards on this play for offside work. Driggs then kicked to LaGore and the ball was downed on Yale's twenty-five yard chalk mark. Ainsworth was given the ball and went through centre for two yards. Knowles tried again at the same place but the Princeton line held like a stonewall. Princeton was penalized five yards for offside play at this juncture. Yale failed to gain any territory on a double pass, but the Tigers were again offside and it cost them another five yards. Ainsworth carried the ball around right end for twelve yards. Knowles followed this up by carrying the ball through the centre of the Princeton line for ten yards. There was a noticable weakness in the Tiger's line and Brown was sent in to replace Shea after Knowles had collected another two yards through left tackle. Knowles repeated for the third time, going through the same place for three yards, placing the ball on Princeton's eighteen yard line. Knowles was being worked hard and for the fourth straight time was sent through the weak spot and took another three

GRANTS LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION

Surrogate Cohalan Acts on Application of Constance D. Burrowe.

New York, Nov. 14.—An application filed almost seven weeks ago by Constance D. Burrowe, of No. 427 West Seventh street, Plainfield, with the clerk of the Surrogate's Court here for letters of administration upon the estate left here by her late brother, George W. Burrowe, who died in London, September 25 last, was yesterday afternoon granted by Surrogate Cohalan.

The estate here merely consists of about $500. What the estate may be outside of this State the papers here on file do not show. Because the decedent is survived also by a brother and another sister, Franklin W., of the American Club, of Mexico, and Fanny B. Leggett, also of No. 427 West Seventh street, Plainfield, citations by publication for both were directed to be served upon by the surrogate. It was because of this that the application was held back till yesterday. The decedent is survived by no other relatives.

GRAND JURY WINDS UP OCTOBER TERM

Returns Presentments to Judge Connolly and is Discharged.

Elizabeth, Nov. 14.—The Grand jury concluded its labors yesterday afternoon and was discharged with the thanks of Judge Connolly after making two presentments to the court, one against the Elizabeth Board of Excise and the other against the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company for neglecting to properly protect pedestrians at its crossings at Lexington avenue, Picton and at Liberty and Long avenues, Hillside.

The latter presentment referred to the difficulty of obtaining a view of approaching trains at the first named crossing and the consequent danger to the person on the street. Trains ran at a fast rate and little precaution was taken to protect the public, it was stated.

There were no warning signs or lights at this crossing. Reference was made to the death of Eli F. Wilson, who with two others, was struck by a train there while in a vehicle. This crossing, as well as the others mentioned in the presentment, traversed over main streets, it was stated, and at the Long avenue crossing a death, that of Florence Erickson, had also occurred. The bell at this crossing worked improperly and complaints of the Township Committee for protection had been ignored.

"The Lehigh Valley Company is responsible for the foreseen results of its carelessness," the presentment concluded. The presentment, signed by Foreman John W. Clift and read by Clerk Robert L. Eaton, directed that the attention of the Public Utilities Commission be directed to the matter.

Members of the local Board of Excise were criticized for doing carpenter and mason work for brewers and saloonkeepers who are liable to apply to them for licenses. The result would be that the commissioners could not act fairly, it was stated. It was therefore suggested that the three Assemblymen-elect, Runyon, Morgan and Pierson, prepare a measure to be enacted into law, making it a criminal offense to have such business relations as are maintained by the members of the Board of Excise, as no statute covers the situation at the present time. The grand jury suggested that the measure also contain a proviso for the automatic removal of officials violating the proposed law.

COMPANY INCORPORATED.

Elizabeth, Nov. 14—The American Home and Realty Company, with offices at 119 West Front street, Plainfield, filed papers of incorporation here this morning. Fred G. Gaskill is the agent and also a stockholder. The capitalization of the firm is placed at $40,000.

DID NOT RECEIVE GIFTS.

Owing to an error it was stated in last night's edition of this paper that St. Mary's Parochial School was one of the institutions to be benefitted by the distribution of gifts by the Needlework Guild, of Plainfield. This was not the case.

FOR BELGIAN RELIEF.

These contributions were received today for the Belgian relief fund: Cash, $1.00; Cash, $2.00.

MISS PANKHURST A GUEST HERE

Daughter of Famous Suffrage Leader Entertained by Mrs. F. deL. Hyde.

GOES TO PRINCETON

Will Witness Today For First Time An American Football Game—Talks About Suffrage and War—Predicts Defeat of Germany.

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, the famous suffrage leader, was the guest of Mrs. Francis De Lacey Hyde, of North Plainfield, last evening, and today accompanied her hostess and a party of friends to Princeton, where she said "I expect to see for the first time a real American football game, and I hope that the best team wins." Miss Pankhurst will return to Mrs. Hyde's home this evening, where she will remain until tomorrow. She will then return to New York for a brief visit.

Miss Pankhurst has just returned from Tennessee, where she attended a gathering of southern women who have been interested in the question of "votes for women," and she said that the outlook was promising for a successful outcome of the question.

When interviewed at the home of Mrs. Hyde, last night, by a reporter for The Daily Press, Miss Pankhurst was found to be very willing to discuss some of the live questions of the day. She expressed great interest in the suffrage movement in New Jersey and said that she would anxiously await the result of the vote next year when the question is to be submitted to the men of the State.

When asked for her opinion regarding the European war, Miss Pankhurst said:

"Of course you can understand that I am for the allies. England was

RUMOR OF WOMAN'S SUICIDE IS DENIED

Mrs. Anna Beresford Found Dead in Bed Yesterday Afternoon.

Mrs. Anna Beresford, formerly of West Second street, but who has been residing with her son, John Beresford, of New Brunswick avenue, near New Market, for the past week, was found dead in bed at that place yesterday afternoon, by members of the family. The woman had not been in the best of health for several days, and according to Coroner Harding, of Middlesex county, death was due to heart disease.

Rumor had it last night that the woman, who was known to be of a despondent temperment, had committed suicide, but this was stoutly denied by Dr. P. B. Cregar, her physician, and Coroner Harding, who asserted that she died of a natural cause.

Last Tuesday the woman was arrested by Sergeant Higgins, of the local police force, on the charge of keeping a disorderly house. She was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court and sentenced to serve a term of sixty days in the county jail, but relatives sought clemency from Judge DeMeza and he made an investigation into the condition of the woman's health. This prompted him to release her on the condition that the relatives bring her under a different environment, hence her removal to her son's home.

MISS KATHERINE KELLEGAR MARRIES EDWARD JONAS

Miss Katherine Kellegar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kellegar, of Jackson avenue, and Edward Jonas, of Dunellen, were quietly married at St. Joseph's church this morning at 8 o'clock by Father Hart. Miss Elizabeth Kellegar, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Jacob Jonas, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

Miss Elsie Moulton presided at the organ and Mrs. Alfred Seidel rendered a vocal solo. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which the couple left for Atlantic City for a short honeymoon.

It's Tough to be Out of Work but the unemployed may soon be able to procure something to do if they will leave their names at the Mayor's office, in the City Building, North Avenue tf

SECOND NIGHT CLUB PROGRAM IS UNIQUE

Many Committees Plan for Event to Be Held Monday Night in Local Hall.

Novel numbers have been arranged for by the committee in charge of the Second Nigh Club's dance to be held in the auditorium of the Columbus Club, on West Front street, Monday night, and the event promises to be one of the most unique ever held by an organization in this city. Among the features will be a number of old-fashioned dances and several moonlight terpischorean numbers. A glee club has been formed and will render a number of selections during the evening. Parodies will be rendered by John J. McCarthy, and VanEpps orchestra will furnish the music during the evening. Refreshments will be served during the evening by a social committee.

The Columbus Club hall has been elaborately decorated for the occasion and everything is in readiness for the event. The committees in charge include the following members:

Door committee: H. J. Forristel, chairman; Joseph Murray, Garret Keating, T. C. Harding, M. L. Griffen, T. J. Meaney.

Decorations: J. P. Kyle, chairman; J.J. Greene, John Traynor; floor committee: J. P. Lynch, chairman; D. McAfee, W. V. Sullivan, A. Bailey, V. Meaney, F. Briscoe, F. Donneily, J. Coffey, J. R. Sullivan, John Casey.

Refreshments. H. J. Pasch, chairman, George Taylor, George Howe, M. S. Wilson, Thomas McInerney; entertainment: E. A. Harding, chairman; Thomas Connolly.

Reception: C. Regan, chairman; John Duffy, F. McInerney, Jr., J. McDonough, C. Thornton, John McGarrigle, Patrick Powers, T. L. Beabout, Joseph G. Carty, Edward Taylor, Hugh Higgins, J. M. Cullen, James J. Kyle, J. J. McCarthy, L. R. Harding, F. Briscoe; publicity, John T. Caulfield, chairman.

CLERGY PLAN TO EXCHANGE PULPITS

During Advent Members of Plainfield Clericus Will Visit Other Churches.

The committe appointed by the Plainfield Clericus for an exchange of the clergy during the afternoons and evenings in Advent, has completed the schedule. By this interchange of preachers it is hoped to promote a more general interest among the churches and advance the cause of religion. The arrangement will go in effect on November 29 and December 6 and 13.

On the above dates, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, will preach at St. John's church, Elizabeth; St. Paul's church, Rahway, and Trinity church, Elizabeth. Rev. C. H. Mallery, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, will preach at Trinity church, Cranford; All Saints' church, Perth Amboy, and St. Paul's church, Westfield; while Rev. C. H. Kues, of Holy Cross church, will preach at St. Paul's church, Rahway; Holy Comforter church, Rahway, and another church to be decided upon.

The preachers at the local churches on the selected dates are as follows: Grace, Rev. C. C. Silvester, Somerville; Rev. L. E. Hubard, and Rev. W. E. Baer, Elizabeth; Heavenly Rest, Rev. A. S. Phelps, Bound Brook; Rev. W. N. Jones, Perth Amboy; Rev. C. C. Silvester, Somerville.

EUGENE TRIANO DIES AFTER A SHORT ILLNESS

Eugene Triano, aged 13 years, died yesterday at his home in North Plainfield. He was taken ill at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Watchung School, the borough, and taken home in a carriage. Dr. Pittis was summoned and attended the child. He passed away at 6 o'clock, heart trouble being the cause.

There survives the parents and six brothers and sisters, Mrs. Nicholas Lapole, of Elizabeth; John Triano, of San Francisco; Francis, Augustus, Rose and Pauline, who live at home. The lad attended St. Joseph's church and was a member of the Sunday-school. The funeral will be held Monday morning at St. Joseph's church, where a high mass of requiem will be offered. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

WILL ELECT OFFICERS.

The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local No. 155, will meet Saturday afternoon of next week to hold its annual election of officers. The gathering is to be held at the Building Trades' Council rooms.

BOY WHO KILLED COTTONTAIL FREE

Oscar Phillipson Gets An Appeal After Serving Eight Days of Sentence.

STATEMENT BY PLUM

Informer in the Case Says He Has Been Misrepresented by Boys' Benefactors — Prisoner Returns Immediately to Parental Home.

After spending eight days in the Somerset County jail at Somerville nineteen-year-old Oscar Phillipson, convicted on two violations of the State Fish and Game Laws and sentenced to serve a period of four months in jail, was released at 5 o'clock last night. The youth's release was engineered by President Ernest Napier, of the State Fish and Game Commissioner, who with William Hoblitzel, the Union County Game Warden, who was instrumental in bringing about the boy's conviction; and former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, visited the offices of Winfield S. Angleman, the prisoner's counsel, yesterday afternoon and drew up an appeal bond.

The party then proceeded to Somerville where the bond was executed before Judge Beekman, who made an order that the prisoner be released on $250 bail. Mr. Smalley furnished the necessary amount and the boy was let out, coming directly to his home in this city in company with his benefactors. Mr. Napier paid the costs of court, amounting to $9, out of his own pocket. An appeal will be taken to the Court of Common Pleas and it will probably be brought up at the December term.

Joseph E. Plum, the neighbor who acted as informer for the police in the case, today issued the following

TROOPS COMING HOME FROM MEXICO NOV. 23

Announcement is Made That They Will Be Brought to Texas.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—On the evacuation of Vera Cruz by American troops, under the command of Brigadier-General Funston, on November 23, they will be transported to Texas City, Texas, Secretary of War Garrison declared today.

The announcement of the evacuation was made by Secretary of State Bryan late last night. It came as a complete surprise to nearly everybody in Washington and was interpreted in only one way. The withdrawal of the American troops means that President Wilson has decided to let the Mexican factions stew in their own troubles and fight out their controversies among themselves.

It means, too, that there was a very real fear on the part of the Administration that unless it embraced this opportunity to withdraw from Mexico the United States would be dragged into intervention on a general scale.

The announcement came as a surprise chiefly because it is acknowledged on all sides here that conditions in Mexico are now more chaotic and verging closer on anarchy than those which existed when the United States sent its troops in the Mexican port. Thus, after seven months of occupation by the United States army, this Government is calling back its men with nothing tangible accomplished as far as can be seen beyond the overthrow of Huerta.

General Blass telegraphed the War Department today that desultory long range firing continues at Naco, Sonora, but that the long expected attack on General Hill's entrenched position in the town by Governor Maytorenas' forces has not yet materialized. Many refugees are crossing the border daily into American territory and are being cared for by the American forces.

BORO COUNCIL APPROVED FORM OF SEWER CONTRACT

A special meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council was held in the borough firehouse last night, at which time a form of contract for the construction of a system of sewerage disposal was approved. The contract was tentatively drawn up and read at last night's meeting by Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver.

The meeting was called purposely to consider this question and no other business was transacted. Bids for the construction of the system will be advertised for in the near future.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HAS A BUSY TIME

Nine Calls During Afternoon Makes Help for Lincoln Impossible.

One box alarm, eight stills and one telephhone call from Lincoln for assistance, gave the local fire department, yesterday, one of the busiest afternoons it has ever had. The calls started in at 2 o'clock and kept up until after nightfall. Most all of the runs with one exception, were for dangerous grass fires, one of which threatened a portion of the Saurer Motor plant. At the time Lincoln asked for help because a grass blaze had fired the stock sheds of the Ruberoid factory, no response could be made owing to the fact that three apparatuses were out in various parts of the city. To have sent anything out of town would have dangerously crippled the local service.

The box alarm was turned in at 5:02 o'clock and was for a slight blaze in the cellar of the home of George Gillard, 329 Berckman street, a lighted match carlessly thrown in a pile of rubbish causing the latter to flare up and burn the connection of a gas meter. The liberated gas flared out in a big flame and the house was threatened. Prompt arrival of the department ended the danger.

Still another bad grass fire raged on Evergreen avenue at 11:30 this morning until No. 2 engine was sent to the scene. The men worked for nearly an hour fighting the flames, using a hydrant stream and chemicals.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the department was called out for a fire in the woods in the vicinity of Martine and Woodland avenues, evidently started by hunters. No. 2 engine responded and put the flames out with chemicals.

ONE MONTH FOR BOYS WHO ROBBED LOCAL STORE

Elizabeth, Nov. 14—Benedict and Arthur Kane and Jacob Overland, Plainfield boys, who pleaded guilty last week in the Court of Quarter Sessions, to robbing the store of James A. Laurie & Company, in Plainfield, taking $71 worth of clothing, were sentenced to one month each in the county jail, by Judge Conolly, yesterday afternoon. The mother of the Kane boys interceded with the court for leniency.

OFFICIALS SWORN IN.

Elizabeth, Nov. 14—Union County Clerk James C. Calvert, his assistant, Herman J. Norman, and County Register Frank H. Smith's assistant, Edward Bowers, were sworn in here, this morning, by Judge James C. Connolly. Coroner John T. Dengler also took the oath of office.

LITTLE CHANGE IN BIG BATTLE

Both Sides Have Made Slight Advances at Different Points On Line.

TURKS INVADE RUSSIA

No Confirmation of Reported Sinking of Dreadnought Audacious—Plans for Defense of Smyrna Completed.

London, Nov. 14 (Bulletin).—No confirmation of the reported striking of a mine by the British dreadnought Audacious is obtainable here.

Paris, Nov. 14—Slight repulses for the Germans, and equally slight advances by the Allies are claimed in the official statement given out by the French War Office at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It reads as follows:

"A German attack against the great head of the bridge of Nieuport has been repulsed. Divers attempted offensive movements by the enemy in the region to the east and to the southeast of Ypres have been arrested. In the environs of Bixschoote we have made progress amounting to one kilometre toward the east.

"Between the canal of LaBassee and Arras our troops have made some minor progress. In the region of Lassigny and that of the Aisne as far as Berry au Bac, the Germans have attacked without success. In the Argonne the conflict has been very sharp. The enemy has vainly attempted to recapture Four de Paris and St. Hubert.

"Around Verdun partial offensive movements by the enemy have been checked by the fire of our artillery, before his infantry was able to advance. In the Woevre region, and in Lorraine, where the bad weather continues, there is nothing to report."

King Albert, of the Belgians, yesterday received Deputy Albin Rozet, of the French chamber, who expressed, in the name of the committee on foreign affairs, the respect and deep admiration felt for the Belgian King and his country. "The links uniting France and Belgium have been forged on the battlefield," he said.

London, Nov. 14 (By Charles Hodson, special representative of the Central News).—The Germans have not had long in which to congratulate themselves on the seizure of the mass of ruins which was once the ill starred town of Dixmude. Towns are more dangerous to hold nowadays than forts. The Germans have been sprayed with shrapnel and shattered by high explosive shells until extermination threatens them. Thus, when a force of gallant French marines appeared with bayonets fixed and guns leveled at the charge, the Germans became convinced that it was not worth the candle to resist further. Hence Dixmude is again

How About Your Neighbor?

At the beginning of this winter the minds of most of us are on the tremendous suffering abroad. Already this country has sent large sums for European relief and much more will follow. There can be no more worthy cause.

But in aiding those across the sea we must not forget, as many so far have, that these war times are causing great hardship right here in Plainfield; that factories are shut down or short-handed; that hundreds of able workmen with never a thought of outside help ordinarily are now unemployed. Even now they do not ask primarily for money or food. They want work, but failing that they must be helped over the crisis.

The Charity Organization Society aims to help people to help themselves. It tries to show John Jones how to earn money to buy an overcoat, instead of giving him one. It gives only to relieve immediate need. It works for permanent betterment. It separates the truly needy from the professional beggar.

This valuable work for the poor and unfortunate in Plainfield is drawing support from only a small percentage of the people who are well able to help it. The Society needs a broader membership. It needs you, not only your money but even more your interest. It needs it now.

Whoever you are, there are others now worse off whom you can help, be it ever so little. The Society is the clearing house to bring you together. If you have work to be done, it will supply a capable deserving person to do it. If you have old clothing, the Society will send for it and place it where it is badly needed. If you can contribute even a small amount of money, it will be welcomed.

If you wish, someone will gladly call on you to explain the work. It will win your respect and your interest; and it needs you now. Call, write or telephone the office, 325 Babcock Building.

FORESTERS' SERVICE.

The local orders of P. O. S. of A. and Foresters will hold services this evening, at the home of their late brother, Ambrose H. James. The members of the respective bodies will assemble in the W. G. Holton Hall by 8 o'clock and march to the home in a body. Other services, the Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating, will be held at the home at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be at Hillside cemetery, Plainfield, at 2:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon. The pall bearers will be William Shively, James Teeling, Melvin E. Fritts, George Martin, Adam Herlich and John Kope.

GIVEN A PARTY.

Louise Humble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Humble, of North avenue, was given a party on Thursday evening, in honor of her eleventh birthday. The party was arranged by Mrs. J. W. Case, of Walnut street. There were eleven guests present. The evening was pleasantly passed in dancing and playing games. A dainty repast was served during the evening. The honored one received a number of presents.

BITTEN BY A DOG.

Doris Schenck, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Schenck, of Centre street, was bitten by the family collie dog yesterday afternoon. Doris was returning from school when she noticed the dog, that is always tied up, running the streets loose. She called the dog. It came to her on the run and dog like jumped up and greeted her. Its greetings were so strenuous that Doris was afraid that it would knock her off her feet and she tried to make it desist. Her unsuccessful efforts in this respect were greeted by shouts of derision from a group of Doris' school chums standing near. The noise that the kids made, combined with Doris' attempts to get the dog to stop its joyful actions, must have angered the animal, because it bit her on both forearms. She ran home crying. Dr. T. H. Platt, Jr., was immediately summoned and cauterized both wounds. The dog is at present chained up and under close observation. The animal has a pedigree, its father having been sold for $500.

Bound Brook.

Services in the Presbyterian church tomorrow will be as follows: Sunday-school at 10 a. m., Bible Brotherhood Class at 10:15, preaching service at 11 o'clock, sermon by Rev. C. J. Culp, subject, "The New Life," fifth sermon in the series of a modern interpretation of the Apostles' Creed; evening service at 7:30 p. m., sermon, "The Mission of Doubt."

Mr. Merriam, educational director of Rahway Reformatory, will address the Men's Club at the Congregational church, tomorrow morning. Morning preaching service at 11 o'clock, sermon by Rev. William T. Boult, subject, "Life's Holiest Partnership;" evening service at 7:30, sermon, "To the Pure All Things Are Pure."

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilson entertained Mrs. Fred Skinner, Mrs. T. Harold Stryker, Mrs. I. L. Stryker, Mrs. Ethel W. Merwin, Miss Elizabeth Jenkins and Miss Laura Gehritz, all of Newark, at their home on High street, South Bound Brook, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles VenPelt are the parents of a girl, born yesterday noon.

At the annual meeting of the Middlebrook Country Club the following officers were elected: President, Samuel H. Miller; vice-president, Henry F. Gillespie; members of the board of governors for three years, Dr. Peter McGill and John R. Cantlin.

Creation pictures are to be shown free at the Palace Theatre, tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday afternoons and evenings. They are given by the International Bible Students' Association to encourage Bible study.

Today is "tag day" in Bound Brook to raise money for suffering women and children in Belgium.

Arthur C. Drake, the well known musician, is very ill at his home on John street.

Mrs. Helen Walter, of West Union avenue, visited with friends and relatives in New ork city, Thursday.

Mrs. Paul Hanke, of Maple avenue, visited her brother, Walter Skelly, of New York city, Thursday.

The local High School and grammar grades met in the Washington School auditorium, yesterday morning, and enjoyed chapel exercises.

Watchung.

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held Thursday evening, in the Watchung School auditorium. The meeting was largely attended and plans for the winter were discussed. The date of meeting was changed from the second Friday evening of each month to the second Thursday evening of the month. Plans for instructive lectures were presented by the committee in charge and these lectures, which will be given during the winter months, will be educational as well as interesting. B. Fred Aungst, supervising principal of the North Plainfield schools, gave an address at the conclusion of the meeting.

The Watchung Equal Suffrage League was entertained Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. M. B. Cass, on Hillcrest road.

Owing to complaints being received from several residents, the ordinance in the borough requiring the hack drivers to stand at their horses' heads on the arrival of trains is to be enforced. Heretofore the drivers have been allowed to stand in the front of the station and carry a suitcase or other baggage for a passenger, but since it has been taken exception to by some local citizens it will be stopped.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Beatty, both former residents of the borough, but who have lived in Garwood for the past six months, have removed to a new bungalow on Second street, Scotch Plains. Mrs. Beatty was formerly Miss Madia Brick and was married to Mr. Beatty about six months ago. Both are well-known here and have many friends.

The Boy Scout troop, composed of the younger boys of the borough, will probably disband, unless some local man takes interest enough in having such an organization in the borough and becomes the scoutmaster. Read Holiday, who recently moved away, was the organizer of the troop and the scoutmaster.

A pastry and apron sale is in progress throughout this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Vincent, on Martine avenue, under the auspices of the Lend-a-Hand Society of the Baptist church, for the benefit of that church. Tea will be served.

Considerable anxiety was expressed here last night as to the damage that might result from a large forest fire that had been raging on the mountain all day. It burned directly in back of Mt. St. Mary College and was sweeping toward Scotch Plains when a change of the direction of the wind switched its path over the mountain toward Berkeley Heights.

It has been said by a number of local people that the Saturday Night Club, one of the most popular organizations in this place for the past three years, will not start up again this winter. The club started out with a membership of about fifteen and last year the number approached one hundred. The meetings were held every two weeks in the Fanwood firehouse, when an evening of dancing and card playing was enjoyed. It is hoped by the majority of members that means can be found to keep the club going.

The Young Ladies' Sewing Class held a meeting at the home of Miss Evelyn Buckley, last night. A pleasant time was enjoyed by all the girls. After class refreshments were served.

The 'Plains basketball team held a meeting last evening. Guy Saunders was elected manager and Wally Anson captain. Owing to the Parish House being closed, they are holding out-door practice.

NO LOOKING BACK IN PLAINFIELD.

New Evidence Constantly Being Published.

Since the long succession of Plainfield reports were first published in the local press there has been no looking back. Plainfield evidence continues to pour in, and—better still—those whose reports were first published many years ago, verify all they said in a most hearty and unmistakable way. Read the experience of Mrs. E. Dorflinger, of 400 Clinton avenue, Plainfield, N. J. She says: "The first symptoms of kidney trouble was a dull, heavy pain in my back and head. This was followed by a tired, languid feeling and I knew that my kidneys were gradually giving out. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box at Randolph's drug store, I began using them. Before long I improved and I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills until I was cured. I hold just as high an opinion of them now as when I gave my former endorsement recommending them. The cure they made has been permanent."

ours.

The northern section of the line is intact, but the situation further south remains obscure. It seems that the Germans have made slight advances before Ypres, but it is doubtful if they can hold the village of Saintelot, which they claim to have occupied officially. At La Bassee, as at Antwerp, the Germans are attmepting to drive a wedge into the Allies' line by concentrated heavy artillery fire. We know that many heavy guns are at Giveuchy, whence they are bombarding Bethune. In a month the Germans have gained five kilometres at this point. The fortress of Calais is a hundred kilometres from La Bassee and the time it would take the Kaiser's troops to reach the channel at this rate can be easily estimated.

There has been a considerable bulge in the line at La Bassee for some time. North and south of it the Allied troops hold positions on either flank. On Wednesday the Prussian guard launched an attack against the English position at Armentieres, but was unable to make any headway because of the deadly shooting of our men. They were supported by guns firing shrapnel. The attack was courageous but finally petered out.

Constantinople, via London, Nov. 14.—An official communication issued today says the Turks have invaded the Russian territory of Caucasia and ocucpied all the Russian blockhouses on the border of Trebizond Village.

Amsterdam, Nov. 14 (Central News Cable)—A despatch from Constantinople says that the military governor has issued a proclamation declaring that all military measures which have been taken for the defence of Smyrna on both land and sea have been official.

Valparaiso, Chile, Nov. 14.—The German cruisers Leipzig and Dresden which came into this port yesterday for provisions, sailed away today at daybreak.

Copenhagen, Nov. 14 (Central News Cable).—The Danish, Swedish and Norwegian governments, after conducting a series of negotiations, have agreed on a joint note protesting against mesaures taken by countries now at war which seriously menace neutral trade and the shipping of the Scandinavian countries. The joint note will be handed to representatives of the belligerents.

Paris, Nov. 14.—The following despatch has been received by a news agency from Cettinje: "A great battle is in progress on the Grahavo front, along the western border of Montenegro. The Montenegrin troops were attacked by superior forces, but are holding their own. They have repulsed the Austrians at several points, inflicting severe losses."

London, Nov. 14.—An evening paper says that the Germans have been driven out of Dixmude. It states that French marines carried the town at the point of the bayonet.

A despatch from the Hague says that General Von Bergoits, the German military governor of Belgium, has ordered all members of the Belgian Civic Guard who refuse allegiance to Germany to be shot.

STATE CIVIC FEDERATION PLANNING FOR SEASON

Newark, Nov. 14—The New Jersey State Civic Federation are at present planning an extensive program for the coming season on public and semi-public matters. Topics included in the program are the elimination of useless county and State jobs, the introduction of the city manager plan in New Jersey, and the furthering of the pending constitutional amendments which are to be voted upon next year by the citizens of the State at large. It is expected that conferences on these questions will be called later.

SPECIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

Under the auspices of the First M. E. church, a series of evangelistic services will be held at the church, beginning tomorrow evening, when Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, the pastor, will preach the opening sermon. On Monday evening, Rev. C. C. Cain, of Grace M. E. church, will be the the preacher, and on Tuesday evening, Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, of the Monroe Avenue church, will preach.

Special music by a chorus choir will be a feature of all these services, which will continue every evening, except Saturday, until Sunday, November 29.

MEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINS BOYS IN PARISH HOUSE

The Men's Club of the Congregational church entertained about forty boys of the Y. M. C. A., in the parish house, last night. The boys, all of whom were under fourteen years of age and there were also some other boys of the same age present.

The boys were in charge of James McClymont and Boys' Secretary C. William Bingeman. Games were played and refreshments were served before the fun came to an end. All of the youngsters thoroughly enjoyed the evening's entertainment. William D. Murray, of the Y. M. C. A., addressed the boys and Mr. Bingeman and Mr. McClymont also said a few words to them.

YALE-PRINCETON GAME

yards. He failed on the fifth attempt, however, and was thrown for a loss of one yard. LaGore tried at a field goal at this juncture from the twenty-five yard line, but missed by a small margin.

The ball was given to Princeton and put in scrimmage on the Tiger's twenty yard line, Driggs punting on the first play to Yale's forty yard line, LaGore being downed after a run of two yards. Yale was penalized fifteen yards at this time and LaGore punted to Princeton's thirty yard line. Ames ran it back eighteen yards. Glick went through centre for eighty yards and Princeton was penalized fifteen yards. With the ball on her own forty-two yard line Princeton called on Driggs to punt and he sent the ball to Ainsworth on Yale's thirty-yard line, who made a fair catch. LaGore returned the punt to Princeton's twenty-five yard line and Glick was downed in his tracks. On a poor pass Princeton lost ten yards and this placed the ball on the visitors' fifteen yard line, Driggs kicking to Princeton's forty yard line and LaGore ran it back three yards. Wilson made a yard through tackle. On a triple pass Yale made a touchdown. Wilson to LaGore to Ainsworth. Ainsworth made a pretty run around right end for thirty-six yards. LaGore failed to kick the goal.

Play in the rest of the quarter was almost entirely devoted to punting, LaGore and Driggs doing the work.

Score—Yale 6, Princeton 0.

Second quarter—The second quarter opened with Yale carrying the ball on Princeton's twenty-three yard line and Knowles took ten yards through centre. Trenkman replaced Klick for Princeton. Yale was penalized fifteen yards for holding. Princeton recovered a foreward pass that went out of bounds and Driggs kicked to midfield. A forward pass grounded out of bounds and another pass gave the ball to Princeton on her thirty-five yard line and Driggs kicked to Yale's twenty-five yard line. Lambertson replaced Highley for Princeton, and on the first play blocked a kick and fell on the ball for Princeton on Yale's thirty-five yard line. On a fake kick formation a forward pass was attempted and Knowles got the ball for Yale. LaGore kicked to Princeton's twenty-five yard line, Ames running it back ten yards. Driggs punted to Yale's twenty yard line, LaGore running back twelve. LaGore punted to Princeton's twenty yard line. Driggs kicked to Yale's thirty-five yard line and LaGore ran back eight yards. Knowles made six yards through centre and followed this up with five more. He fumbled when they called on him for the third time in succession and Trenkman recovered the oval for Princeton on his thirty-two yard line. Driggs and LaGore again exchanged punts; a double pass from Wilson to Ainsworth to LaGore gained ten yards. Wilson gained seven yards through right tackle. Knowles went through centre for five yards and Wilson was sent through centre again for five yards, putting the ball on Princeton's fifteen yard line. Wilson went through centre for his third five yard gain in quick succession. After Knowles had failed at centre, he tried again and gained two more yards, placing the ball on the Tiger's three yard line. Wilson gained a yard through centre, and on the fourth down a forward pass was attempted from LaGore to Brann, who scored a touchdown. LaGore kicked the goal.

Brown kicked off to Yale's five yard line, LaGore running it back twenty yards.

Score—Yale 13, Princeton 0.

THIRD QUARTER.

Boland replaced Trenkman for Princeton, Scofield replaced Knowles for Yale. Driggs opened the half by kicking off to Yale's ten yard line and Wilson ran back fifteen yards. The ball was brought back and Princeton was penalized five yards. Driggs kicked from Princeton's thirty-five yard line to Yale's twenty yard line and Wilson ran the ball back twenty yards. An exchange of kicks followed between LaGore and Driggs.

Yale had the ball on Princeton's twenty yard line and a triple pass from LaGore to Ainsworth to Brann netted them first down on Princeton's fifteen yard line. With the ball on Princeton's ten yard line Scofield went through center for a gain and Wilson ploughed through left tackle to the Tiger's two yard line. On the next play Scofield went over for the third touchdown. LaGore failed at goal.

Driggs kicked to Yale's twenty-five yard line and Scofield ran back ten. Eberstadt replaces Ames. Another exchange of kicks between Driggs and LaGore followed. With the ball on the Tiger's thirty yard line Yale attempted a triple pass from Wilson to LaGore to Scofield netting three yards. Another exchange of kicks followed, two fumbles being intermingled. Princeton was penalized fifteen yards and the ball went to Yale on Princeton's forty yard line. Scofield made several good gains for Princeton after the Tigers got the ball on an exchange of kicks, making eighteen and thirteen yard runs in succession around left end. LaGore tried a field goal from twenty-six yard line, but it went wild. Law replaced Boland. Scofield missed a goal from placement. The period ended with the ball in possession of Yale on Princeton's thirty-five yard line.

Score—Yale, 19; Princeton, 0.

FOURTH QUARTER.

Glick replaced Eberstadt, Easton replaced Wilson for Yale and Ell was penalized ten yards for offside play, Guernsey replaced LaGore, Sheldon replaced Talbot, Trask replaced Brann, Carter replaced Stillman and Loce replaced McLean. Guernsey kicked to Princeton's twenty-five yard line. Dickerman, Moore and Glick made good gains bringing the ball to Yale's thirty yard line. Sheldon replaced Betts. Brann and Stillman were called back to play the end positions after the Tigers made some big gains around the wings. Wilson replaced Easton.

On the second down Moore circled Yale's left end, doing some pretty dodging, and going over the line for a touchdown. Law kicked the goal.

Guernsey kicked off to Princeton's five yard line, Dickerman running it back twenty yards. An exchange of kicks followed and Yale appeared to be "playing for time." Moore broke the monotony by making another one of his long runs around Yale's left end for ten yards. Haverland replaced Gennert. Glick made some pretty runs at this time bringing the ball to Yale's thirty-seven yard line. Smart replaced Shenk.

Dickerman got in some hard line bucking at this juncture and the ball was worked to Yale's twenty yard line. The ball was brought to the thirteen yard line when Dickerman and Glick made two more plunges. Five more yards went to Dickerman through center and he then went through center for another five yards. With the oval a half yard from the goal line Glick went over the line for the Tigers' second tally. Law kicked the goal.

Princeton kicked off. Gore replaced Guersey. The kick was a short one and Moore, of Princeton, recovered on Yale's forty-six yard line. Moore was thrown for a yard loss. Time was called with Princeton in possession of the ball on Yale's forty-seven yard line.

Score—Yale, 19; Princeton, 14.

STATE OFFICER INSPECTS CORPS

The annual inspection of the Women's Relief Corps, Auxiliary of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., was held in the G. A. R. rooms of Reformed Hall, last night, delegations being present from Jersey City, Bloomfield, Elizabeth, Paterson, New Brunswick, Rahway. Mrs. John Manley, of East Ninth street, department president, was present and the local corps was inspected by Mrs. F. O. Cole, senior department vice-president.

After the inspection a banquet was served by the local organization and that was followed by a very pleasing entertainment. Miss Tryphena Mattox anl Mrs. Theodosia Steiner gave recitations, and Mrs. John Manley rendered a vocal solo. Miss Clara Barton Smith played several pleasing selections on the piano. Frank O. Pole, of Jersey City, was present and gave a fine speech. All the members of the local corps assisted in serving the banquet.

LINEMAN KNOCKED FROM POLE BY A LIVE WIRE

W. D. Weinman, a lineman in the employ of the Western Union, had a lucky escape from death, this morning, when he was knocked from the top of a telegraph pole near the Liberty street Central Railroad bridge. The man was shocked by a live wire, losing his balance and falling to the tracks.

He was slightly injured about his legs and sustained several painful cuts and bruises about the body. His hands were burned by coming in contact with the wire.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

At a meeting of the Sigma Gamma Kappa yesterday noon, it was announced that the "hard times" party which was to be held this evening in a vacant house on Sycamore avenue, will be held instead at the home of P. E. Wische, on Mercer avenue. The society could not use the other house as there is no heat in it.

There was basketball practice of the first and second teams of the high school last evening and nearly all of the men who are trying for the team were out. Harry Kirch was elected acting captain of the second team.

Captain Abrams has sufficiently recovered from the recent injury to his leg to be back in his regular place on the team once more.

"OLIVER TWIST."

The Hepworth Company's great production in motion pictures of "Oliver Twist," was shown at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon, and will be shown again tonight at 7 and 8:45. This picture ranks among the best Dickens films yet made.

ROUTINE BUSINESS.

The Building Trades' Council met last evening and transacted routine business. A picture of the Labor Day Parade Committee was presented to the council by Ernest R. Rhodes, secretary of the committee.

47TH ANNIVERSARY SERVICE IS HELD

Charles D. Hurrey Speaks on South America at Local Church.

The first of the series of services celebrating the forty-seventh anniversary of the Y. M. C. A., was held this morning, when Charles D. Hurrey, formerly traveling secretary for the association of South America, spoke at the Seventh-Day Baptist church on "The Opportunity of the Church in South America."

Mr. Hurrey said that the completion of the Panama Canal, the growing enrollment of South American students in American colleges and universities, the visit of Secretaries Elihu Root, W. J. Bryan, Ambassador Bryce and Colonel Roosevelt, with their interpretations of the spirit and ideals of the American people had served to draw the two continents together. South America, the speaker said, is today challenging the intent and attention of Amerca as never before. The industrial opportunities of that continent are tremendous. He said that in Bolivia there are mountains of fine tin and copper, while her fruits of rosewood and mahogany are almost untouched and her agricultural resources are almost limitless.

Mr. Hurrey said that South America's greatest resources, its young men, deserve consideration because of their great moral and religious need. All the evils that undermine society, gambling, inebriety, drunkenness are rampant in its cities and there have been no safeguards. This condition of gravest peril to the future of South American people is the opportunity of the church working through the Y. M. C. A., said the speaker. Already eight associations have been established, one of them at Valparaiso, Chile, the future San Francisco of South America, is partly maintained by the Plainfield association.

The anniversary service to be held tomorrow with speakers are: First Methodist, Charles R. Scott, State secretary of boys' work; First Presbyterian, C. V. Hibbard, secreary Dalney, Manchuria; Park Avenue Baptist, H. A. Cozzen, general secretary Newark Y. M. C. A.; Trinity Reformed church, A. C. Estes, State industrial secretary; Warren chapel, Olaf Gates, general secretary Elizabeth Y. M. C. A.; Congregational church, C. H. Nuttle, general secretary Morristown.

CARPENTERS TO DEMAND INCREASE AFTER MAY 1

After several months of waiting for the building operations in this city to improve, the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local No. 155, of this city, have decided to seek a minimum wage of $4.50 for an eight-hour day of work, the advance in wage to take effect May 1, 1915. The master builders of the city, were notified to this effect yesterday, by H. S. Dorflinger, secretary of the union.

The epistle to the contractors point out that the lull in construction work during the past season was responsible for the withdrawing of a previous demand made last year, the union feeling that it would be unjust for all concerned to have the matter pressed at a time when work was not brisk.

MRS. GEORGE W. REIGHTON DIES AT OCEAN GROVE

Mrs. Annie E. Reighton, wife of George W. Reighton, for many years a resident of Park avenue, this city, but for the past seven years a resident of Ocean Grove, died at that place Thursday, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Reighton was an earnest church worker, being a member of Trinity Reformed church, of this city.

Mrs. Reighton is survived by one son, Rowland Reighton, one married daughter, one brother, Peter G. Emmons. Her husband also survives Mrs. Reighton's son, Everett Reighton, was one of the younger victims of the Westfield wreck. The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from 402 Park avenue. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY OF EVONA CHAPEL CELEBRATED

The eighth anniversary of the founding of Evona chapel was celebrated last night, at the chapel, and there were about eighty people present. A very interesting program was enjoyed. Robert Love, superintendent of the Sunday-school, presided and made a few opening remarks.

Rev. E. G. Read, D. D., of this city, made the address of the evening, and he was followed by R. D. Williams, Philip Vroom and H. B. Kitchell. Mrs. Hess gave a recitation and refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid Society.

Rev. Dr. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, will occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, has announced his sermon subject for tomorrow evening as "The Meanest Kind of Hunting."

Miss Edith Martin, of New York city, will address the Unity service at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Waldorf, of 134 Crescent avenue.

The officers of the First Baptist church Sunday school are at present conducting a postal card canvass of the school pupils to ascertain as to whether it is advisable to continue the morning sessions of the school, or to hold the services in the afternoon. The returns are expected to be announced next week.

BAPTIST TRAINING CLASS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The business and social meeting of the Teacher Training Class, being conducted in connection with the Bible school of the First Baptist church, was held last evening at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Robert Love, of Grove street. These officers were elected: President, Louis Bennett; vice president, Mrs. Matilda Coddington; secretary, Mrs. Jessie Clawson; treasurer, Emma Heideloff.

After the business session a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed. The class meets in the junior classroom of the First Baptist church Bible school every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock for an hour's study. The course is one of those prescribed by the International Sunday-school Association. When it is completed satisfactorily, a diploma is awarded which entitles the holder to recognition as a trained Bible school teacher. Membership in the class is not confined to the members of the First Baptist church Bible school, but is open to all who wish to take the course.

THE AIMS AND METHODS OF MODERN CHARITY.

To the lords and ladies of medieval times throwing a purse to a beggar was apparently in the same category with eating a meal or getting up in the morning. We have often wondered at the nonchalance with which they did it, and the seemingly inexhaustible supply of purses. History does not tell us the result to the beggars, but we have perhaps found ourselves speculating whether the mendicants of the middle ages were not in reality pretty rich men. Whether the beggar deserved help entered not for a moment into the calculations of the donor. It was custom to give to the supposedly poor, and the givers were quickly rid of annoying importunities. They gave regardless; in the next instant possibly casting into a dungeon some poor tenant who was behind with his rents.

Even now we see occasionally stories of some old man who has seemed to die in abject poverty, only to to leave a snug little fortune sewed up in his mattress. And the joke is still current about the "nickel for a sandwich" which promptly jingles down on the nearest bar. These are exaggerated but nevertheless real results of thoughtless charity, the kind of charity which meant simply giving, and which like many other things is gradually dying out under modern ideas of efficiency in everything.

"Which is better, helping the poor in their poverty, or helping them out of it?" With these words the Sage Foundation suggests the watchword of present day Organized Charity, "Help people to help themselves." First relieve immediate want, then work to remove the cause; but do both after careful investigation and with full knowledge of conditions. "Fifty years ago charity was governed by the heart alone. Suffering was lessened, but it was not prevented. Modern charity is impelled by the heart, guided by the head. It goes down deep among the roots of poverty and stops their growth."

Giving blindly can bring only temporary relief; continuous gifts will make the recipient in the end dependent. Many an originally self-respecting man has found himself forced to ask once for aid, and procured it so easily that he asked again when the necessity was less, and finally came to rely on it, his ambition undermined. If the foundation had been properly laid the first time, he would have started upward again.

"If a man stumbles, you can steady him. If he falls, you can help him up again. But if he lies down, you cannot do much by carrying him. The only way you can help him is to help him help himself."

Organized charity does not plan to devote all of its income to providing food, clothing and shelter. As the New York association has said, "The value of a physician's services is not judged by the amount of medicine he gives. Why then should the efficiency of Organized Charity be judged by the amount of money it spends for distributing the necessaries of life? A bag of ice on a patient's head will not remove the underlying cause of a high temperature. Neither will a basket of food remove permanently the pangs of hunger. Material relief simply allays the suffering of the patient while treatment is being given."

By no means the least part of the work is constructive. When a man is put in jail in New Jersey today, his family is usually left destitute. Organized charity is now working for legislation by which the prisoner will earn money for its maintenance. There are pitiful cases in every town which cannot be cared for in the institutions and asylums of the state, partly through lack of room and partly because of red tape. Organized charity is working for more institutions and less restriction on them. It takes money to make the careful investigation of each case that any work for permanent improvement requires. "An experienced visitor may do just as much harm to the social well-being of his patient as an incompetent doctor may do to his physical well-being." These are only a few illustrations of this phase of the work.

As Mr. A. J. McKeiway says in "Harper's Weekly," "Charity workers interpret the story of the Good Samaritan to mean that highway robbery between Jerusalem and Jericho ought to be stopped, and that a state of society that compels men to be brigands ought not to be tolerated. But their immediate duty is to the wounded man by the wayside, nursing transportation to an inn, and a contribution to his board while there."

Organized charity runs an employment bureau in every town. While in good times it cannot always fill every opening at once, in periods of depression particularly it can always supply plenty of good men; men who ask only for work and would not think of appealing under ordinary circumstances. Perhaps the best endorsement of the efficiency with which this branch of the work is handled is the volubility with which a professional tramp will give you reasons why you should not refer him to the office of the local organized charity. If you remain firm, he will leave you and seek easier game elsewhere. Try it on the next one who comes to your door.

And most of all Organized Charity aims to provide a clearing house for all of the varied charitable organizations in the community. It works to prevent duplication of effort, by inducing every organization or individual to register at its office the names of the families or cases in which it is interested, with whatever information it has about each one. Not long ago I personally was deeply interested in the case of a man who was sick in a hospital, with a wife and five children at home apparently without any means of support. It finally developed that the family was receiving aid from five different charitable institutions, churches, or individuals, and elaborate precautions were being taken to make each one think that it was working alone on a desperate case. Actually the family income was nearly double what it was when the man was at work. Registration and better co-operation would prevent such occurrences.

In no sense does Organized Charity attempt to regulate or dictate as to the activities of any other organization. It tries simply to give to each the means of knowing what others are doing. It works for the benefit of no particular class or race or creed. It should be supported by no one class or section of the community. It should in its best development be a town institution, receiving the support, financial or otherwise, of every citizen who feels any responsibility toward his less fortunate fellows.

It makes its mistakes. So does every individual and every business concern. But these mistakes cannot be cured by standing afar off and criticizing. That is the easiest way, easier than trying to help correct them. There is room in the work for everyone. There is much more in it to commend than to criticize, and the underlying principles are sound. Only by general co-operation can they be applied with full effect.

The Charity Organization Society of Plainfield and North Plainfield has done good work in this community for many years. At this trying time when the Mayor's office is making a special campaign to find work for the unemployed, it is convincing to note that during the year ending September 30 1914, the Society here found employment for 133 persons. Since September 1st, the demand on it for actual material relief has been about $300 a month more than the regular monthly average.

What the Society in Plainfield needs most is a more widespread support. Only about 2% of the population are now giving to it and working for it. There should be 25%. Its revenue should come from a great many more subscribers in smaller amounts. If a man is interested enough to contribute even $2, he will be interested enough to co-operate with the work, and that is of first importance.

Now like everyone else, the Society is facing its most trying winter. The demands on it, already far more than doubled, will undoubtedly increase as cold weather sets in. Money and clothing are needed badly at once. Let everyone with any feeling of the responsibilities of citizenship earnestly consider whether an organization of proven efficiency, working for such ideals, does not merit his personal support. We all must economize this winter, but we must not do it entirely for ourselves. We must economize also for the benefit of others less fortunate.

MISS PANKHURST GUEST HERE

obliged to fight or go under. War was a matter of self-protection and when a nation is attacked there is nothing left to do but defend it. The allies are fighting for the same principle which underlies the suffrage movement. It is a question of democracy vs. military plutocracy.

"Germany is clearly in the wrong. England is prepared for a war of any length, and she is ready to go on and on indefinitely. The war is likely to collapse at any time, for Germany must eventually see that she is engaged in a hopeless fight. The defeat of German militarism will be the best thing that ever happened. The resources of the allies are so great that there is really no end to them."

When questioned as to what effect the war had had on the suffrage movement abroad, Miss Pankhurst said that it had naturally changed the character of it, but she declared that there is no doubt but that after the war the suffragists will be in a far better position than before the hostilities began.

"The American men are making such a splendid fight," said Miss Pankhurst, "that it is going to have a great influence on the movement in England and will no doubt be largely instrumental in helping my countrywomen to win their fight. You Americans are making a great sacrifive and setting a fine example and I feel sure that woman suffrage will soon be world-wide."

Miss Pankhurst has an attractive personality, is a fluent speaker, with an accent that is charming. She is very enthusiastic over America and American ways and says that she has enjoyed her visit her immensely. A little later she is to speak at a large suffrage meeting in Washington.

PHILLIPSON BOY FREE

In reference to Oscar Phillipson and the rabbit. He is not an American citizen, as he was born on the other side of the ocean. He secured his gunner's license at $1.15, which should have cost him $20. It was admitted by him in court that he knew it. He also admitted that he knew it was against the law to carry a pump-gun, also that it was against the law to shoot a rabbit out of season, and acted very proud of it. The rabbit in question was over two hundred feet from their rented boundary line and not eating cabbage on their lot as stated in the papers. In regard to the bribery charge, which the Carson boy has taken an affidavit to, it is false from the bottom up. In talking to the game warden, he said: "You know there will be fifty dollars coming to you if the fine is paid."

I answered, "You may divide it among the witnesses. I don't want it."

After Carson had stated the facts of the case the warden said, "There will be ten dollars coming to you if the fine is paid."

I would not call that a bribe. People that criticise the law so strongly should live where they don't have any. The laws were made to protect game from the lawless, who know no law, and if knowing, have no respect for law. If we had no law, it would make a army of men producers instead of consumers. Law makes lawyers, policemen, constables, jurors and commissioners, besides the amount each year to build and maintain prisons. It certainly would reduce taxation, and throw more produce on the market, reducing the cost of living.

I am an American citizen and taxpayer and very proud of it. Referring to the family quarrel which has been so nicely aired in your papers the past week, I would say there is always two sides to a story. I have a garden each year. This year my neighbor's chickens fed on my produce regularly each day and seemed to thrive very well. There was one chicken hit by a stone thrown by my wife. It went lame a couple of days, but is still alive and visits us very often. All stones thrown were thrown from my own property. Their boundary line is 150 feet from my line. If the birds were on their own property, where they belong, they would not get scared off or hurt by me or my family. Mrs. Phillipson has thrown stones at her own chickens to drive them out of her garden more than once this summer. Concerning the dog. He is kept tied and broke his collar once and chased the chickens one day, but not on their property. He caught one but released it at once, not hurting it at all. The milk question seems to be quite an issue. I have never solicited their milk trade. They deal at the present time with the firm for which I work, but they are not on my route or ever have been. They decided to walk to Leland avenue for their milk for some time. Her children complained of going so far and they came back, so our firm now serves them. Wherein Mr. Love came to my house to ask if I would write a petition for the release of Phillipson, it was written and signed in good faith, not thinking he would start back-biting as he has done, as we have had plenty of that and threats all summer. Concerning my children being impudent. My friends know them and their character. My customers and employers have always found me honest and sober at all times.

Hoping times will improve so Mr. Love will find more to do than stirring up such altercations.

Monday Will See a Sale of the Loveliest of Silk-and-Wool Dress Fabrics, $1 Yard

$2 to $5 Qualities

"Not in twenty-five years have I made so low a price on my surplus dress fabrics," said their manufacturer.

And not in twenty-five years — we might add — have the fabrics been so absolutely beautiful and desirable.

Tested silk and wool they are—yet they look like pure silk.

A faille weave material has the effect of a panne velvet. Moire bengaline comes in the richest of street shades. Crepes — plain, striped or with self color satin checks are fascinating.
And there are many fine plain poplin weaves.

And What Colors

Every new shade of blue, brown (including tete de negre), plum, amethyst, greens of every description, mustard, gold, taupe, gray, terra cotta, mahogany, rose, turquoise green—and odd colors which are usually to be had only in the finest of imported materials.

Large quantity of black in each weave.

Fabrics are 38 to 40 Inches Wide

Their actual prices have been $2 to $5 yard.

This $1 a yard price will probably never be duplicated for materials of such quality and beauty.

What They Will Make

Street frocks, afternoon gowns, evening gowns and wraps, little dresses for the home, and tea gowns.

Some of them will make charming cushions, and draperies, too.

Sale begins Monday at 8.30, and will occupy the Main Aisle as well as and Dress Fabric Salons on the First floor of Old Building, and Subway Entrance, New Building.

CHANGE IN TYLER ZONE IS OPPOSED

Local C. E. Union Vote Against Any Modification of Ordinance.

The November congress meeting of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union was held on Thursday night in the Y. M. C. A. Reports from the various committees were received by President T. S. Day, who presided. A resolution congratulating Mr. Day upon the efficient manner in which he has taken hold of the work of the local union and extending best wishes and offers of co-operation on the part of the congress was unanimously passed. William Latourette, of the Trinity Reformed church society, was elected vice-president of the local union for the balance of the present term.

The matter of the modification of the "Tyler Zone" ordinance was discussed and it was the unanimous verdict of the members that the Common Council should not jeopardize the only safeguard Plainfield has against the encroachment of the saloons upon the residential sections. It was the opinion of those present at the meeting that the spirit of the Tyler law would be violated if the Clark saloon should be allowed to continue by special privilege granted by the Council. The manifest purpose of the Tyler ordinance was to ultimately eliminate the Clark and Watson saloons and not to perpetuate them. It was voted that the secretary communicate with the Common Council, especially commending the attitude of Messrs. Clay and Hylan in voting against the amendment, and urging that the present Council live up to the reputation of past Councils and take no backward step in the matter.

Miss Anna Bach, chairman of the social committee, announced that a union sociable would be held in the First Presbyterian church on Monday evening. Each society has been asked to furnish some original entertainment and refreshments will be served.

It was reported that $45 has been raised by the local societies for the headquarters building in Boston, which is to be erected as a permanent home for Christian Endeavor, and as a special tribute to Dr. Francis E. Clarke, the founder of the movement.

HOUR OF FUNERAL CHANGED.

ALL ABOARD FOR SIX DAY CLASSIC

Annual Madison Square Garden Grind Will Get Underway Tomorrow Night.

NEW RIDERS ENTERED

Athletes Have Pitched Camp at Historic Old Arena—Many of the Veterans Have Been Counted Out —Foreign Riders Galore.

Patrons of the coming six-day race in Madison Square Garden, which is due to get under way a minute after midnight tomorrow, will see more new faces to the field than has ever marked any previous like contests. The old-time fans who will journey to the famous building hoping to see all of the old-time favorites will gaze on a large field of new recruits to this trying game, for of the field of thirty-six riders ten of them will be making their debut before the supporters of the race in this section of the woods.

Of the ten riders comprising the beginners' brigade three of them are graduates of last season's amateur ranks, while the balance of them are professionals from the far ends of the world. One hales from far away Australia, two from battle-scarred Belgium, and Italy and France comes to the mark with the balance of the professional recruits.

The amateur trio that will have their first baptismal of sprints, jams, spills and the accompanying aches and pains next week is made up of Harry Kaiser, the American amateur champion, who will pair with "General Villa" George Cameron, himself a grim old battler in races of this kind; Gus Wohlrab, the Jersey City iron man, who will have Martin ("Grassy") Ryan, the Newarker, as a mate, and Willie Hamley, the little San Franciscan, teamed with a fellow townsman, Lloyd Thomas. That the trio are fast and clever riders is a well-known fact, but the going is bound to be strenuous for them next week. With three seasoned six-day men as partners they will weather the hard going and hold their end up with their more experienced competitors.

Kaiser proved his worth during the season just past by taking the amateur crown from Donald McDougall, of Newark, and winning about fifty other races besides. He is of a rather reticent nature, but when it comes to riding he makes up for lack of a talky disposition by delivering the winning kick at an opportune moment. Hanley, the runnerup to Kaiser in the American championship, is a battler, and he will have no trouble, barring accidents, in keeping up with the big men. Since Hanley arrived here last year from the Pacific slope he has performed in great style and loomed up as good as other Native Sons, such as Percy Lawrence, Fred West, Burton Downing and others. In Thomas he has a man that has survived many of such races, and the Panama-Pacific team should prove to be the big favorites, or little favorites, of the annual grind.

Wohlrab will have "Grassy" Ryan to help him through the race and Ryan can be relied upon to do his share and more if necessary. Gus Wohlrab's long suit has been hard races and he will not be disappointed next week. In pursuit and hard handicaps he has been returned the winner for the last few seasons and this season was the real star of the Brighton Beach track, where he had a habit of cleaning the card at regular intervals.

The foreign bevy of "debutantes" is made up of Charles Piercey, the Australian; George Serew, George Parent, Marcel Dupuy and Emil Cousseau, all Frenchmen; Victor Linart, the Belgian, and either Maurice Coombs, Julian Prevost of Colombatti. Seres and Dupuy and Cousseau and Parent make up the French teams, while Linart will have either of the others as a mate in the race.

Seres, one of the best pace followers in Europe, teamed with Dupuy, forms a strong combination for the race. Before taking to the motor-paced end of the game Seres was a sprinter in Paris and, like a number of Americans, combines the two to gather the coin. Dupuy was here in 1912 for part of the season. He is a much better rider than he was during that season. Parent, a triple-plated paced champion of the world, is to ride with Cousseau and this will also be a strong French combination. In the early days of the war in Europe, Parent answered the call to the colors along with many more French riders. While in an engagement near Rheims, Parent was shot through the calf of the leg and he bears the scar today. The bullet went clean through the fleshy part of the calf and both the wounds show by their newness that he was winged. After being injured Parent was granted leave and departed for this country shortly after. His injured leg gives him no pain and goes to show that the modern bullet injures but does not incapacitate as formerly.

The lone Australian who is making his first start in the Madison Square Garden grind is Charlie Piercey. Piercey has ridden in six-day continuous races in the Antipodes and rode in the recent Boston six-day race. Piercey was teamed with Patsy Logan in the Boston race and while the team failed to finish in the big money Piercey managed to gather many of the special prizes offered during the running of the Beantown little grind. Piercey will team with Frank Cavanagh, the Newark rider, who, while not riding his first New York six-day race, had such a brief experience in the race he did ride three years ago he is practically a new one. Frank started in the Boston six-day race of a year ago and with Moran finished fourth.

Without the old-timers the six-day race devotees would not know what to do. There will be plenty of the old faces along with the new in the race and their well-wishers have already picked their respective favorites to carry off the large end of the dough bag. Eddie Root, Bobby Walthour, Joe Fogler, Jimmy Moran, the Redell brothers, Fred Hill and Worth Mitten, who now has thirty-four six-day races to relate to his grandchildren, and other veterans are all primed for the big doings in Diana's palace of aches and pains.

The six-day riders, cooks, trainers and helps will soon pack up their effects and sojourn to the Garden. With the finish of the sprint meet the construction of the track camps will begin and on Sunday the neighborhood of the track will be a busy spot. If the number of cooks that have appeared about the Velodrome could all be hired the big crowd would have no trouble to have luncheon served each day and night of the race.

TWO COURT GAMES.

Two basketball games will be played tonight in this city, the Y. M. C. A. team playing the Newark P. S. A. A. five, on the association court, and Hope chapel playing the strong Vikings, of Tottenville. There will be preliminary matches before both of these games, which will start at 8 o'clock.

CADDIES CHEATED IN LAKEWOOD TOURNEY

Mrs. Stockton's Defeat in Finals Described Exclusively in This Paper Yesterday.

After capturing the gold medal from Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, of the Merion Cricket Club, of Philadelphia, Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton, of this city, was defeated in the final round of the women's invitation golf tournament, at Lakewood, yesterday, 5 up and 3 to 8, as was exclusively stated in these columns yesterday. A more detailed account of the local woman's defeat has been received and indicates that Mrs. Barlow had comparatively plain sailing, having the better of the driving from start to finish.

Mrs. Barlow's best performance on the first half was sinking a putt of fully twenty feet for a par 5 at the ninth. Rather elated at not having allowed her opponent to win a single hole on the first half, Mrs. Barlow rimmed for a birdie 2 at the tenth and missed a putt for another birdie 2 at the eleventh, by three or four inches. That left her 7 up.

Then, overconfident, she was short at the twelfth, while Mrs. Stockton ran down a par 4 at fifteen feet distance. Being bunkered cost Mrs. Barlow the thirteenth, 6 to 5, her rival rimming for a par 4. Mrs. Stockton was also down for a par 4 at the fourteenth, so Mrs. Barlow did not play out for her five. That had given the Plainfielder three holes in succession. The Philadelphian ended matters, however, on the fifteenth by running down a par 4 on a twelve foot putt after being short on her second. Bye holes were played.

There was nothing short of a sensation yesterday afternoon, in the windup of the women's tournament, when it was declared that there had been wholesale cheating by caddies, which in several cases may have changed the results of matches. Furthermore, it is declared the same deception was practiced last week at the men's tournament, when favorites were bowled over without precedent. In a few cases, at least, it is believed there was enough dishonesty to account for unexpected defeats.

Investigation is to be made by the club, which has been in complete ignorance of the situation, and now proposes to uproot it. The cheating was exposed by the other caddies in a match in which one boy was improving the lie of his Staten Island competitor to the detriment of her Jersey rival. The Jerseyite had become suspicious and upon questioning her carrier, he declared the other lad had long been in the habit of kicking balls forward when they lay behind bunkers and in the rough.

The disclosure placed the Staten Island women in an embarrassing position, but she was soon exonerated. The dishonest boy had two motives for his acts. He wished his employer to win in order that he might caddy for her again in another contest and furthermore he had bet on her and was fearful of losing his wager. It is declared that a system of petty gambling has long been rife among the Lakewood caddies who seldom fail to wager on "their ladies." Several boys are likely to be discharged.

SHOTS AND MISSES

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basketball team will open its season on the local court tonight, with the Newark Public Service quintet as its opponent. The Plainfielders will present a strong lineup, and are optimistic of their chances of pulling down the colors of the Newarkers. The rival clan walloped the St. Peter's team, of New Brunswick, Wednesday night, the Brunswickers having trounced the Plainfield association clan a week previous. This dope would seem to indicate that the opposition booked for tonight has a decided edge on the argument.

Hope Chapel will appear in its second home engagement of the season on the Fourth street court tonight, when the Viking aggregation, of Tottenville, are slated to appear. The Staten Islanders have a strong combination to pit against the churchboys and a good contest is in order.

The junior boys' quintet of the Church of the Heavenly Rest will appear on the Hope court in the preliminary tonight, as opponents for the Hope Chapel junior basketeers. The latter crew set up an enviable record last season and are out to annex all that comes their way this year.

Paul Collier put in an appearance at the North Plainfield High School practice, last night. Collier coached the boroughites to an interscholastic league title last year and his appearance last night was the cause of a stir in the Somerset street camp. He is extremely popular with the schoolboys and his coaching will be a valuable asset.

DAILY PRESS TWELVE HOURS AHEAD OF OTHER SPORT CHRONICLES.

In reporting the finals in the New Jersey Women's Golf Tourney run over the links of the Lakewood Country Club, yesterday, the Plainfield Daily Press had a twelve hour "scoop" on all Metropolitan and Jersey newspapers. The details of the event in which Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton, of the Plainfield Country Club, was defeated by Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, of the Merion Cricket Club, of Philadelphia, for the championship trophy, were related exclusively in this paper yesterday afternoon. Metropolitan newspapers followed with the account this morning.

Instructors Beers and Woodman, of the Plainfield High School faculty, who established creditable athletic records during their college careers in Colgate University, have consented to take the P. H. S. squad into hand and will do the preliminary shaping. The pair are two of the most popular teachers in the institution and are thoroughly acquainted with the court game. A large number of candidates have reported for the team and prospects are bright for a stellar representative delegation this season.

Plainfield High School has practice game booked for November 28 with the Bank Clerks. This will probably be the first game played in the new P. H. S. gym.

It would be appropriate to suggest at this time that some fitting demonstration be arranged for this occasion, inasmuch as it marks the opening of one of the finest athletic centres in this section.

What has become of that junior basketball league for which a boom was launched sometime ago? Paul R. Collier offered to present a trophy for competition and it is a wonder to us why the youngsters haven't taken him up on the proposition.

Jack Ricketts has reported to the Y. M. C. A. squad. Jack is one of the best basket getters in this section and his services will prove valuable to the association squad should he decide to remain with the team.

In Addison Newkirk, the Y. M. C. A. has acquired a guard worthy of more than passing comment. The North Plainfield High School product is acknowledged to be one of the best little guards in the game hereabouts and he is without a doubt the peer of all when shooting, guarding and passing are taken into consideration. The youth has never been given the show he deserves and with an even chance to make good he will be the star of the guarding department in the Y. M. C. A. camp. Keep your eye on him.

The Scotch Plains Parish House basketball teams have passed into history. The Plains athletic rendezvous is closed at present and there is little hope of it being opened this year.

It has been announced that the Scotch Plains Parish House second team will reorganize this season, but will not play any home games as the Parish House will not be opened this year. The team will be the representative team of Scotch Plains, as the first five will not be reorganized and will play all its games on opponents' courts. The team will consist of the same players as last season, with the exception of Murray Ball, last year's captain. A manager and captain will be elected at the next meeting.

ELKS' JUNIOR LEAGUE TO BE STARTED NEXT MONDAY

The Elks' Junior Bowling League will be sent on its way Monday night, with a circuit of six teams. The first to play will be the Elizabeth and Newark teams and the opening match will be played at Newark. The first game for the local team will be on Friday, November 20, when Chauncey Stout will take his team to Jersey City.

The league will be composed of six teams, Elizabeth, Newark, New Brunswick, Paterson, Plainfield and Jersey City being the contestants. Captain Stout has picked a fine team and expects to make a good showing in the league this year. Each team will play eight games.

MASONS' BOWLING.

The Jerusalem Lodge pinners will entertain the Tyrian Lodge team, of Elizabeth, on the local alleys Monday night, in the weekly match of the Masonic League. The Plainfield team is at the present time one of three quintets holding down last place with three defeats and no victories, while the Tyrian pinners are in full possession of first place with a perfect record of three wins and no defeats. The match will be rolled on the Second street alleys.

VINCENT W. NASH, SR., A BOWLING STAR AT THREE SCORE AND TEN

Discounting the theory advanced by the wiseacres of the sporting world who claim that an athlete loses his versatility at a certain period in his life, Vincent W. Nash, one of the best known followers of Blackstone and most enthusiastic bowlers in this section, is today actively interested in the alley sport and can keep apace of the best in the game. When the Jerusalem Lodge, F. and A. M., bowling quintet organized Mr. Nash was selected as the anchor of the team and gave a local knockout to the Dr. Osler convention.

Mr. Nash is 71 years old. Bowling is his one recreation. When seen at the Elks' Club on Watchung avenue he was found on the alleys pitted against men much younger. He rolled six games, finishing with an average of 168. Two of the games were well over the double-century mark. A half dozen games at a session is about his usual amount, and, unlike many who are his juniors, he seems to have his stride from the first frame and he usually maintains it as steady as a church throughout the contest. That is why he is the anchor.

Mr. Nash was for twenty-five years a justice of the peace in this city. He is best known as "Judge." During that time the most noted attorneys of the State appeared before him. In the number was the present Chief Justice Gummere, of the Supreme Court; Frank Bergen, Richard V. Lindabury, former Governors Voorhees and Fort, former Prosecutor Wilson, former Chancellor Magie and nearly all of the older practitioners in this section of the State. In the old days justices of the peace had much greater power than at present. They could even tie marriage knots. Mr. Nash has many of them to his credit.

The experience he had in disposing of litigated matters, however, he considers his best training for the drives. The more the opposing attorneys would rant and quote law in an effort to confuse him, or convince him to their way of thinking, the steadier he got. With the steadiness came a clear-headedness and perfect self-possession. Now, when the opposing faction and friendly rooters try to get his goat, it is like the old days. Their cheers are like the smell of powder to an old warhorse or the clang of a gong to the fast-disappearing fire department's noble steeds.

The subject of this sketch has been a member of the lodge on whose team he now bowls for forty-two years. He has been a president of the Exempt Firemen's Association of Plainfield for ten years, and in addition to belonging to the Queen City Lodge of Elks, he is a member of the Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R. He went to the front with Company C, Thirteenth Brooklyn Volunteers, in Civil War times.

His first bowling was done with the old Crescent Wheelmen, of Plainfield, in the bicycle-riding days. When that organization broke up because of the wane of century runs and such he did not do any bowling for a number of years. He became interested again, however, and was on the team of the Plainfield Saengerbunds and Turn Verein until several years ago. Last November, when the Plainfield Elks went into their new clubhouse Mr. Nash again took up bowling as a pastime and immediately attracted attention.

His two sons, Vincent W. Nash, Jr., and Augustus C. Nash, are also members of the lodge, and are ardent bowlers. The former is captain of the Plainfield B. P. O. E. team and is secretary of the Elks' League. He is a practicing attorney, with an office in this city. Augustus C. Nash is also a lawyer, and has his office in Westfield. Their father spends his time between the two offices reading law and attending to his extensive real estate holding when not bowling.

PATERSON RETAINS FIRST PLACE, BUT HARRY TAYLOR TAKES DROP

Silk City bowlers managed to hang fast to first place in the Elks' Senior League standings, weathering the fray during the week and boosting its average considerably. Erler, of Newark, crept ahead of Harry Taylor, the Paterson leader, who dropped into third place. Captain Nash still leads the local pin knights.

PASCH LED PINNERS IN BOWLING MATCHES

Won Four Out of Six Games in K. of C. Tournament Last Night.

H. J. Pasch led the Knights of Columbus pinners, last night, with four victories and two defeats, while Hillman and Kiely each took an even break. George Taylor was forced to swallow four defeats and he won two. The pinning was close in some matches, especially the one between Kiely and Taylor.

Hillman and Taylor did first honors and with a pair of two hundred scores the former managed to take away two, but fell down in the middle one. He hit the pins for a 223 in the first roll and made high score of the night in the last one with a 238. In the second game, Taylor scored a 191 while his opponent could only get 150. Pasch dropped the first game of his match to Chief Kiely, but took the last two without much trouble. In the second he scored a 208 against his opponent's 178.

Taylor and Kiely then came together and they had the best match of the night. In the first, Kiely led at the finish with a ten-point lead, and in the second he made a 203 against Taylor's 182. Taylor took the third. Pasch took two out of three games from Hillman in the last, dropping the second one. The following will bowl next Tuesday night: Strappe vs. Blatz, Strappe vs. Sullivan, Blatz vs. Duffy, McInerney vs. Duffy and Cannon vs. Caulfield.

The scores:

Hillman	223	150	238
G. Taylor	185	191	172
Pasch	157	205	179
Kiely	179	178	170

LOCAL BIRDS TOOK THREE IN A ROW

Rahway Eagles Could Not Touch the Stellar Pinning of Plainfield.

Plainfield Eagles bowled like a house afire, last night, on the Second street alleys and the Rahway birds had no chance at all of winning any of the three games played. All of the local players, except one, made at least one two hundred score and the first game was the easiest one to win.

Crowley started off for the local birds with a 223, while Kelly, the Rahway team's leadoff man, made only a 168. McCarthy fell down, but Morris followed him with another two-hundred, which put the game on ice. The scores were 906 to 836. In the second game the first two local pinners had their own way and a big lead was obtained, but the next two fell down. Mahoney, the last Plainfield man to roll, came to the rescue and scored a 223, which put the locals ahead and gave them the match.

Miller was the hero of the last game which was won by 31 points, when he chalked up high score of the match, a 232. Mahoney made his second big score, a 221, while Repeka, of the visitors, made their only two hundred score.

The scores:

PLAINFIELD.
Crowley	223	189	174

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney troubles, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

Sport Snap Shots
BY MORRIS MEYER

J. Franklin Baker no longer can lay claim to being the only athlete in captivity who has batted .300 or better in three world's series, for Johnny Evers, by rapping the sphere for .437 in the recent arguments between the Braves and the Athletics, got into the mauling Marylander's class. The National league Chalmers car winner of 1914, in 1907 and 1908 ran up an average of .350 against Hugh Ambrose Jennings' slabmen, his record against Fielder Jones' artillerists in 1906 having been a miserable .150. Baker hit at a .429 pace in the 1910 world's series with the Cubs, and his percentages against the Giants in 1911 and 1913 were respectively .375 and .450. Baker and Eddie Collins are the only pair of players who have twice batted over .400 in baseball's annual classic, the man who won the Chalmers car among the American leaguers this season being one of seven pastimers who have twice been members of the World's Series Society of the Three Hundred. The other six are "Chief" Meyers of the Giants, Frank Schulte of the Cubs, Frank Chance of nowhere, Jack Barry of the White Elephants, and Danny Murphy and Artie Hofman of the Brookfeds.

Johnny Hayes, hero of the London marathon run in 1908, has been suspended from the A. A. U. Johnny has been promoting meets lately, and one Charles Pores, unattached, alleged that he didn't receive as valuable a prize as advertised for winning the West New York Derby last July. Pores, for winning the Derby, received a watch that bore marks of having seen use long before he received it, and lodged complaint with the committee.

George Stallings, loyal old scout, when it came to picking that much advertised "All-American baseball team" a few days ago, boldly came out with the declaration that the "whole Boston National league team is the only and best All-American team." However, George was finally prevailed upon to accept a consensus of opinion from the 32,000 teams selected by the fans, baseball writers, laymen and other experts who sent them in. This resulted in the following team: McInnis, Collins, Maranville, Baker, Cobb, Speaker, Burns, Schalk and James.

Colonel Billy Andrews, the Beau Brummel of the light harness fraternity, will conduct one of the largest winter training camps in the country this year at Thomasville, Ga., and, judging from the ages of the equines which Colonel Billy will prep he can be classed as the real "nursemaid" of the Grand Circuit. No less than twenty-three horses will be in the Andrews camp. Of these six are now yearlings and seven two-year-olds. This gives Andrews more than a dozen to select from for the two and three-year-old divisions of the trotting futurities of 1915. Also no one will be able to say that Andrews does not intend to race on the "square" next season, as all of his horses are square-gaited, not a single pacer being in the stable.

The approach of the last month of the football season at Cornell finds the Ithacans in possession of one of the best scoring elevens in the history of the game at Cornell. The splendid showing of the football scoring machine in the games with Carlisle, Bucknell and Brown indicates that for the balance of the season the Ithacans will be big factors to be reckoned with. The reversal of form manifested by the Cornell football team in the past four weeks has been marked. Beaten in the early games by Pittsburg and Colgate, the eleven found itself in the Indian game, and since that time has been traveling at a great clip. A comparison of the scores made by Cornell so far this year with the scores of the last two years for a corresponding period is the best evidence of the power of the attack which Dr. Sharpe has built up this year.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

When dainty Fannie Ward, who will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre, today, as the star of the French farce comedy, "Madam President," was appearing in New York in the same play, Alan Dale, the famous dramatic critic of the American, said among other things: "Fannie Ward in 'Madam President' would make a Sphinx laugh." Miss Ward is spending the summer at her home in London. Recently some friends referred to this unique comment of the American's critic and one of them said: "Why don't you try it on the Sphinx?" "I'll do it," impulsively said Miss Ward, and she left the same week for Egypt. In a letter to her manager, Charles Dillingham, recently she wrote: "I have several photographs taken standing at the foot of the Sphinx; and, would you believe it, when I read some of my lines from 'Madam President,' they tell me the creature, or whatever it is, actually changed expression and the photographer vows he heard the mysterious party' laugh."

Fresh from a lengthy engagement at the Empire Theatre, in New York, an engagement which had its beginning at the opening of the present season, John Drew is to be seen at the Plainfield Theatre for a single performance on Tuesday evening. The distinguished actor comes in The Prodigal Husband," a brand new comedy from the hands of Dario Niccodemi and Michael Morton, collaborators, who are credited with having fitted Mr. Drew with one of the best roles he has had in several seasons. As the likable but erring husband Mr. Drew has had supplied ample opportunities for the display of the exquisite comedy methods and moments of sincere and sympathetic characterization that have made him the leader among American players.

"The Prodigal Husband," as might be surmised for the title, Mr. Drew appears as a husband slightly given over to the life known as "sporting," and the story deals with his career during a period in which his young wife has become estranged from him. His shortcomings are brought home to him in an extremely interesting and sympathetic manner by a slip of a girl in whom he has evinced a protecting interest, the child of his housekeeper. Following a series of very amusing scenes, replete with alternating fun and sympathy, his adventures make their way to a climax as unexpected as it is delightful. In the end, the prodigal is not only received by the young wife with the proverbial open arms, but the girl who has been the cause of his awakening finds her happiness also. For his appearances on tour Mr. Frohman has sent with Mr. Drew the Empire Theatre cast intact. Miss Martha Hedman, agreeably recalled for the charming impression she made on American playgoers when brought to this country two seasons ago by Mr. Frohman to appear with John Mason in Bernstein's "The Attack" and who last season was leading woman for Sir George Alexander at the St. James Theatre, London, is seen as the young girl to whom the prodigal owes his reformation. The surrounding company includes such capable and popular players as Ferdinand Gottschalk, Henry Crocker, Clinton Preston, Harry Leighton, Walter Soderling, J. Homer Hunt, Grace Carlyle, Helen Hayes Brown, Rose Winter, Josephine Morse and May Gayler. The play is in three acts, the trio of settings being exquisite specimens of the scene builders' art. Needless to add, "The Prodigal Husband" has been produced with all the customary Frohman good taste and painstaking attention to detail.

WANT BORO FORM OF GOVERNMENT

South Plainfield Considering Plans to Break Away From Township.

WOULD HELP GROWTH

Citizens Believe Community is Now Able to Maintain a Borough—Board of Trade Active in Movement.

With the recent change in the complexion in the State Legislature, the citizens of South Plainfield are now looking forward with renewed hope to the possibility of obtaining the borough form of government for the village, thus breaking away from Piscataway township, as did Middlesex borough a short time ago. It is expected that the Board of Trade will take the matter up with the citizens of the village before the Legislature convenes in January, and if possible, secure a hearing before the lawmakers at Trenton.

The real estate and building boom at South Plainfield during the past season, which has not entirely abated as yet, and the prospects of a greater construction movement next spring, the citizens now feel that a change in the form of the local form of government would be conducive to the proper development of the place. Improvements of various types are needed if the greatest possible development comes to South Plainfield in the course of the next few years, and the residents are of the opinion that these improvements, though sadly needed for the progress of the town, will not come as readily as long as they are a part of the township.

South Plainfielders, needless to say, were sorely disappointed at the failure of the Public Utilities Commission to compell the Public Service Railway Company to lay a line between this city and the village, and are already talking of renewing the fight again early in the spring when it is expected that the building operations are at their heighth. Several dwellings, as well as other buildings, are now in the course of construction, and several plans are out at present for spring work.

The realty market during the past summer has been exceptionally strong and many plots for dwellings which did not materialize during the past season have been sold. The possibility of the Willow Craft Furniture Company, employing a large number of men, locating at South Plainfield next spring, has added to the strength of the arguments of the citizens of the town for both a trolley line and the borough form of government, as this factory would undoubtedly bring a number of men to the village looking for home sites.

The increase in the population of the village, as well as the increases expected in case further factories locate at that place, has already compelled the school authorities to consider the advisability of either erecting a new schoolhouse, or adding additional floor space to the present structure.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following realty transfers from this end of the county have been recorded at Elizabeth with the county register:

Kenneth E. Runyon to Samuel Rosenbaum, Madison avenue, corner Brandt's land, Plainfield, $1; Morris S. Trimmer et ux. to Luara Jones, southeasterly side Willever street, 175 feet northeasterly of View avenue, Plainfield, $1; Frederick W. Snover et ux. to Agnes M. Conway, lot 8, map of William Cortright, Plainfield, $1; Jacob Estkowitz et ux. to Wolf Ox, southeasterly side South Second street, 247 feet southwesterly of Evona avenue, Plainfield, $1; N. Y. Suburban Land Co. to Arelaide Drees, lots 8, 9, 10, block 37, map of N. Y. Suburban Land Co., Westfield, $1; Charles E. Gottlick et ux. to Martin Brynildsen, lots 25 to 44, block F, map of Westfield Manor, Fanwood, $1; Charles E. Gottlick et ux. to Martin Brynildsen, lots 41-43, block F, same map, Fanwood, $1.

The following transfers from the surrounding towns have been recorded at the Middlesex county seat at New Brunswick:

Winfield R. Hetfield and wife have transferred to John P. Fenner, property on the northwest corner of Whittier avenue and Walnut street, Dunellen.

John J. Kruger has transferred to Ed. Maurer, three lots on the corner of George street and Madison avenue, Dunellen.

Staats R. Titsworth and wife have transferred to Henry S. Garretson, property in Dunellen.

Thomas E. Stevens has transferred to Annie S. Stevens, three tracts in Metuchen.

Middlesex Motor Co. has transferred to Annie S. Stevens, three tracts in Metuchen.

Robert P. Brand bought of Elk Realty Co., two lots, Holly Park.

Robert Hunt bought of Equator Building and Development Co., four lots, Lincoln Heights.

Fred Gunderson bought of Co-operative Holding Association, four lots, Oaklawn Terrace, Metuchen.

URGE DEVELOPMENT OF MEADOW LANDS

City Engineer Collins Takes Important Part in Big Improvement Plan.

Extensive plans are being made by the Inter-urban Society, an organization of engineering experts, for the development of the Newark meadows by both Newark and Elizabeth. Newark has already authorized the expenditure of $2,000,000 for the development of the meadow land, and plans for the work are well underway.

It is contended that this county should not stand by and see the Essex portion of the land developed while the Union county part remains in its present condition. It is pointed out that any expenditure made by the county for this development will be a good investment.

City Engineer Thomas E. Collins, of Elizabeth, chairman of the waterways committee of the engineers' organization, is an active worker in the interests of this plan. Working in conjunction with some of the best engineering experts in the country, he is mapping out a report on the development plan which will be presented to the Inter-urban organization. The New Jersey Harbor Commission will also pass upon the report.

The plan of the engineers is to have legislation passed that prevent "land grabs" after the scheme of development is agreed upon. Besides the factory sites there would have to be several arteries of travel from the waterfront.

On several occasions the advisability of developing the meadow land, wit hits splendid waterfront, has been brought to the attention of Elizabeth, but no action has been taken on the development plan. The engineers expect that their plan will be so obviously beneficial that it will be seriously considered by the city.

NEW PROVIDENCE BOARD APPROVES SCHOOL PLANS

New Providence, Nov. 14.—The Borough Board of Education last week adopted a plan for the enlargement of the Lincoln School building by erecting an addition at the south which will completely change the Springfield avenue front and will double the capacity of the school. Benjamin V. White, architect, of Summit, presented a sketch plan, which was accepted, and he was instructed to prepare finished and detailed plans.

Messrs. Coddington and Kauffman were in favor of the design presented by Mr. White. The third member, Mr. Ball, dissented and urged that competitive plans be solicited, but withdrew his motion to that effect when it received no second. He insisted, however, that his proposal was the correct one and would be upheld by the citizens. It was agreed by the Board that a meeting of the citizens of the borough should be called in the near future to vote upon the plans.

BIG DECREASE REPORTED IN BUILDING PERMITS

A big decrease both in the number and valuation of the permits granted during the week ending last Saturday, compared with the previous week, was shown in the plans approved by the State Board of Tenement House Supervision this week. Eight permits, amounting to $28,500, were issued.

Three of these permits called for alterations calling for the expenditure of $2,000, leaving five permits and $26,500 for new buildings. The sum called for to be expended by the permits of the preceding week amounted to $102,300.

IN THE SUBURBS

South Plainfield.

William Norman has bought a plot from Frank Faulks. The building he expects to erect is to cost close to $5,000. It will be a pool room, and ice cream parlor, with apartments overhead.

New Market.

An addition is to be built at once to the residence of Charles Brickoff. The contract for the foundation work has been awarded to William L. Winges.

Magnus Johnson has been awarded the job of repairing the damage to the barn on the Jenner place, which figured in the fire in the village some little time ago. He has been busy on the repairs.

Contractor Charles L. Rule is contemplating building another new house on his property on Centre street, near the one completed by him about a year ago.

ONLY TWO PERMITS ISSUED THIS WEEK

Aggregating a Total Expenditure of Little More Than $12,000.

Two permits have been issued during the past week by Building Inspector T. O. Doane, one calling for a $300 improvement to a dwelling, and the other for a $12,000 business and apartment structure, in the First and Fourth wards respectively.

Very little encouragement is being held out to the building craftsmen for the winter months, as very little construction work is expected to be started in the near future. At the present time, the smaller towns around Plainfield are accomplishing more in the building lines in proportion than this city. Plans for spring activities, in city and suburbs alike, are still accumulating, and the 1915 building season will probably be the largest ever known to this city.

The $12,000 structure for the Fourth ward is to be erected at 538 West Third street, between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue, by Morris Rabinowitz. The structure will have a frontage of twenty-six feet, a depth of fifty-two feet, and will be of hollow terra cotta block. A store will occupy the first floor, while four room apartments, with all modern improvements will fill the second and third floors. George H. Fisher, Jr., is the architect of the building, while the carpentry contract has been awarded to Theodore Zeller. The owner will care for the masonry work.

Frank Spalluto is to have constructed a two story extension to his dwelling at 824 George street, at a cost of $300. The owner will care for the contract work.

JUST NOTES

The Doremus Memorial Gymnasium, which is about being erected at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., will be two full stories in height, of Colonial design and constructed of red brick. The main exercise hall will be 65x130 ft. in plan balanced by two wings each 40x80 ft.

Plans have been filed in Newark for a store building estimated to cost $400,000. It will be 160 ft. wide and 139 ft. deep and will constitute an addition to the present structure of L. S. Plaut & Co.

The new building code adopted by the City Council of Macon, Ga., and which went into effect September 1, provides that all buildings shall be roofed with non-inflammable material.

It is said that the first saw-mill in the United States was at Jamestown, from which sawed boards were exported in June, 1607. A water power saw-mill was in use in 1625 near the present site of the city of Richmond, Va.

Since the middle of August a vigorous campaign has been waged by the city of Boston looking to the elimination of the fire hazard. As reported by the fire commissioner 80 per cent. of the fire losses are preventable and the objective of the work of the present campaign is not so much the minimization of fires and their speedy extinguishment, as it is the elimination of the conditions which make these fires possible and probable.

There is said to be more than 500 different kinds of marble used in New York city, and in color they range from bright reds and greens to the most delicate shades of pink, turquoise and yellow. Some are known as dead stones because of their flat, sombre hues, while others are alive with dashes of vermillion, scarlet, emerald green and lavender.

The Italian Minister of Education will spend $15,440,000 for public school buildings during the four years 1913-1917.

Wood block flooring for factory buildings is receiving much favorable comment at present.

The New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse, N. Y., reports 244 men registered for the four and five year professional courses in forestry and representing 46 counties in the State and 11 States outside of New York. The foreign countries represented are China and Russia.

Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., recently dedicated a forestry building in connection with the State College of Agriculture.

The suggestion of placing a limit in the suburban districts of New York outside of the fire limits within which frame construction will be restricted to detached dwellings appears to be meeting with considerable favor. Reports from the boroughs affected show that many of the real estate operators as well as the residents approve of the project and the feeling is quite general that all sections of the city in which development of any kind has started might very properly be included. In view of this general sentiment the outlines for the suburban limits have been drawn to include large areas where heretofore there was no restriction.

DUNELLEN LEADS LOCAL SUBURBS

Activities in Building Operations in Nearby Towns Are Encouraging.

Activities in building operations in the towns about this city are moving along at a rapid pace, exceeding the general trend of building operations in this city, with Dunellen leading the suburbs, both in building and real estate trading.

Contractor Firman H. Gise has been awarded the contract of laying the foundation for a new house to be erected by Edgar Shively on Lincoln avenue. Mr. Shively will have charge of the carpentry work himself. He will be assisted by Lewis Schneider.

A new garage is being built for John P. Fenner, the Somerville hardware merchant, on the rear of his lot on Washington avenue, behind his residence.

The Watchung Investment Company has sold a lot and barn on Walnut street, between Prospect and Whittier avenues, to former Postmaster Peter C. Staats. Mr. Staats will turn the barn into a modern house. Contractor Firman H. Gise, who has been awarded the contract for the cellar, has commenced excavating.

The Kirby house on Dunellen avenue, tenanted by Dr. H. B. Arnold, is to be repainted, repaired and redecorated throughout. Contractor James Line will do the decorating and painting. Contractor J. Newton Apgar has been given charge of the repair work.

The work on the remodeling of the Dunellen Theatre has been started and is now well underway, and is giving work to a number of men.

Dunellen people are taking a keen interest in the strong possibility of the joint sewer in the near future, as they feel, as is the case in North Plainfield, that the presence of an up-to-date sewerage system will be greatly responsible for a building boom at that town. Local real estate dealers are of the opinion that the collecting system will be the means of developing this end of Middlesex county beyond the fondest dreams of the citizens.

Among the real estate transfers reported this week, in the borough, is one of lot 112 in Equator Park, from the Equator Building and Development Company to Louis J. Brunswick. The new owner will build on his new property.

CONSTRUCTION WORK IN COUNTY TAKES A DROP

After experiencing slight gains for two successive weeks, construction work in the county at large dropped back to the extent of $3,104 during the week ending last Saturday. During the week, eleven contracts were filed with the county clerk, calling for the expenditure of $34,415. Two local contracts filed call for the expenditure of $9,485.

No one place in the county is overrushed with work, the contracts being fairly evenly distributed in the various towns. The following contracts are from this city:

Julia R. Honeyman et al. to Martinus Thompson, entire work new building, Plainfield, $7,285; Adams Cassum with Joseph Zbranek, entire work new building, Elm street, Linden, $2,480.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

There are many such women in the world, patient, cheerful plodders. They always carry the heavy end of life's burden and are surprised and grateful if anyone lends a hand.

The one I have in mind lived across the road from me. She had four children living and had lost several. She kept boarders and roomers to support herself and children and keep her scholarly husband in soft raiment and clean linen. He always went around with a superior air as if he fully realized the fatal mistake he made in marrying beneath him.

Once he talked to my husband. Very patronizing he was, and in the course of his remarks he said: "If I were not married, I should not encumber myself with a wife." "Encumber yourself!" echoed my husband, "I wonder if you would not have starved to death long ago if it had not been for her." My husband got himself disliked, as you may guess.

Josie, my little daughter, was in there visiting with Mrs. Walters the other day. All the children in the neighborhood love her. A man came to the door and asked to see Mr. Walters. She hesitated a moment, then said: "Mr. Walters is in his room thinking. He never likes to be disturbed." Her children had to play outdoors always whenever he thought he was thinking. You see, it was a laborious process.

One day last winter I was out sweeping the snow off the walks and I saw Mrs. Walters tugging a great basketful of provisions from market. She always goes to market because she can buy cheaper. The hill is very steep just below her house and she had to set the basket down to get her breath. She called her cheerful greetings over to me, and was just stooping to lift her basket to go home when Mrs. Lathrop, next door to me, came out with a pan of ashes.

"Good morning, Mrs. Lathrop," she called. "Do you have to empty your own ashes? My husband always empties mine."

Such a ring of pride was in her voice that I could have shaken Mrs. Lathrop when she replied tartly: "If he does it's the only thing I ever heard of his doing. My husband gets out and earns a living," and she marched into the house with the empty ash pan. She has no patience with Mrs. Walters' meekness.

Some brightness was gone from the dear, thin face as she lifted the heavy basket and started home. I dodged down the basement stairs and pretended not to have heard. She can't bear to have anyone say anything that reflects on her husband. It is pathetic.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

SOME FACTS ABOUT WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The Question is a Religious One—Suffrage and Equal Rights Not Identical—Woman Equality Proclaimed by the Church.

(By Archbishop Sebastian Messmer, D. D.)

Nine States now allow women to vote. The movement was started some sixty years ago. The church has not spoken on the question. The following article is the private opinion of the well-known prelate, Archbishop Messmer, of Milwaukee.

The Greatest Social Problem.

The question of woman's suffrage may be called and is a social problem, a question of far greater importance than, I am sorry to say, most of our Catholics seem to know or to understand. It still depends upon the men, largely, what the future relations between the sexes in society shall be. It is not a personal question; it is not an individual question; it is a public question; it is a social question; is a social question of far greater importance. I maintain, than the labor question. It is the most important of all the social questions that have come up in modern times.

Is not society built upon this great fundamental distinction in the race that has its very origin from God Himself, the distinction of the sexes, man and woman? Are there any interests in human life, in society that are not affected by this same distinction? For instance, we speak of the three great factors or component elements in society; the family, the State and the church. The church is an external organization in society, yet it is the kingdom of Christ right in our midst, a part and parcel of society at large. Is there a question of greater concern in any one of these great elemens of society than the question of the right and the proper relation between man and woman, or men and women, the two great halves of the human race? Is there anything in the family, in the State, in the church that concerns man alone, where woman would not also be concerned, either directly or indirectly? Where woman cannot do a most splendid work, in its way as important, as necessary, as essential, as whatever man can do? Absolutely there is not. And therefore, in my mind, the question of modern times is the most important of all social questions.

Genesis is the Thought of the French Revolution.

The question concerns the right relation between man and woman; and with this, naturally, the right position that woman should have and hold in society, together with man. The question has become important, not only because of its own intrinsic nature, and its necessary actual bearing on the welfare of society at large, but also because of the aspect it has taken on in our days; in other words, because of the infidel, and un-Christian character which, to a very great extent, characterizes these modern movements of women. The movement for equal rights and suffrage started with the appearance of the French infidels, and found its first public expression in the French Revolution. It found its next endorsement, a public endorsement, on the Socialistic platform published in 1848, and it has ever since that time been one of the great leading principles of Socialism. It is only within the last, let me say perhaps twenty years, not more, that women of conservative principles, women with religious principles, women who believe in a supernatural religion, in the Christian religion, have been drawn into and have taken part in that movement. But even if we regard the movement as it is today, its many parts, and its various elements, in a word, the whole woman question, it is plain as sunlight in heaven, that there is far too much un-Christian and infidel sentiment connected with it than that any Catholic could set aside and overlook this important feature.

Warning to Christians.

This ought to be at once a warning, I will not say to Catholics alone, but to any Christian that holds to positive Christianity—a warning not to be too rash and not too quickly to accept this whole movement without making a number of reservations, and not to accept it unconditionally in all its demands, in all its principles, and in all its theories. A great many of the prominent leaders of this movement are positively un-Christian. A great many of the theories and principles upon which this movement is supported are positively un-Christian, anti-Christian and infidel. A great deal is merely sentiment and nothing else, with no intrinsic reason whatever to support it.

Here, therefore, the very thing necessary for Catholics, and especially Catholic men, is to study the question. I am sorry to say that our English Catholic literature in this regard is tremendously poor. I do not know a single book or bookiet written by a Catholic writer on this question. You may meet a few articles, possibly, some times in a magazine or in a newspaper, giving the Catholic side of the question; you may see a few penny-leaflets; you may hear of the expression of some prelates or some priests or some laymen of the Catholic church, but it seems that until now our English Catholic writers have not given the proper attention to the question, whereas, the Germans, the French and the Italians have splendid, magnificent books and treatises, because they understood sooner than we dod the importance of this question and its tremendous bearing upon society—not secular society alone, but also upon the church and religion. But I say, even with the scanty help at our disposal, it becomes absolutely necessary for Catholic men, and above all for priests, to instruct themselves, to study the question.

The Question is a Religious One.

This question is a religious question. Some will tell us, just as Socialists do in other questions, too, that it is a mere economic question—a question simply regulating the external relations between men and women, a question regarding particularly the material pursuit or occupation of women—the economic position and condition of women, their rights in regard to property, wage-earning and so on.

But these are mere incidental questions; they do not touch the substance of the question at all. These are incidental questions, I say, that can be easily settled and have been settled in other countries by State legislation, etc., but without at all deciding the fundamental questions, as to what are really the rights of women when we talk of women's rights in general. What is the right and correct position of woman in society? What is her position in the family? Her position in the State, her position in the church? And if we come to the question of equal rights, which implies the question of woman suffrage as it is presented to us, then the question becomes directly for a Catholic, for a Christian, a religious question. And the first matter to be settled then will be what does the Christion religion teach about it? Catholic religions is not silent on the question; the Bible is not silent. They tell us enough, quite enough, with which, in the light of Christian tradition and Christian teaching, we can make out the main principles at least that must be applied to this question.

FOREIGN MISSION SOCIETY MEETING

Elizabeth District M. E. Society Will Convene in Dunellen Church.

Auxiliaries of the First, Monroe Avenue and Grace M. E. churches will attend the meeting of the Elizabeth District Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Newark M. E. Conference, which will be held in Dunellen, Tuesday, for the one-day session of the district body. The New York branch of the general society has already met, and the program next Tuesday will include a report from that meeting.

The sessions will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church, of Dunellen, and they will be held at 10:15 a. m. and 2 p. m., Mrs. William E. Palmer, of Perth Amboy, the president, presiding.

The opening devotional exercises will be led by the pastor of the church, Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey. Greetings will be extended by Mrs. Palmer, and the business session will follow, with reports, roll call and election of officers.

A short address on "The Child in the Midst" will be given at 1:45. Noon-tide prayer will follow, and there will be two addresses by Miss Jessie B. Colt and Miss Helen Pierson. Miss Helen J. Carlton, of Elizabeth, will speak on the importance of tithing, and the luncheon recess will then take place.

In the afternoon, Mrs. J. H. Knowles, who has been for many years the president of the Newark Conference W. F. M. S., will conduct the quiet hour service. An address will be given by Rev. Dr. F. J. Hubach, of this city, the district superintendent.

Mrs. C. R. Vickery, field secretary for the New York branch, will make an address, and it is expected that she will give a monologue, telling the story of Shantabai, a woman of India. With her husband Mrs. Vickery was engaged in missionary work in India for several years.

Miss Elizabeth H. McCreary, of Elizabeth, the district secretary, will present her report as delegate to the meeting of the New York branch, and pennants will be presented to the five new auxiliaries in the district and to about fourteen auxiliaries that have made commendable records in membership and gifts during the year.

The usual resolutions, to be followed by prayer and benediction, will bring the annual meeting to a close.

COUNTY BOYS IN PLAY AT RUTGERS

"The Spirit of the College" by Earl R. Silvers, to Be Presented Soon.

Trials for positions on the cast of the new Rutgers College play, 'The Spirit of the College," were held Thursday evening in Van Nest Hall. Out of seventy-five students who tried for the nine parts, eighteen were selected, half of whom will be used as understudies.

The play this year has been written by Earl Reed Silvers, of Rahway, a graduate of the class of 1913. It contains four acts and five scenes, and is a comedy. The characters are students at Rutgers and their associates, and the scene is laid at a house party in one of the fraternities. The production will be given in the New Brunswick Opera House during junior week, and also in about ten cities throughout the State.

The men chosen for the cast are as follows:

"Peanut" Jones, freshman, Lawrence H. French, of Plainfield; "Bill" Rendall, sophomore, Anton Raven, of New Brunswick; "Budd" Stone, junior, Harry N. Blue, of New Brunswick; "Ted" Willie, senior, George Whistler, of Newark; Mr. Stone, Budd's dad, Frederick K. Shield, of Highland Park; Prof. "Johnny" Miller, William P. E. Ainsworth, of Rahway; Zelda Saunders, the girl, William N. Packard, of Upper Montclair; Gerandine Harris, aristocrat, Robert MacKensie, of Metuchen; Mrs. Brownley, chaperone, Norman K. Eypper, of Hackensack.

Loyd N. Lewis, of Roselle Park, has been chosen business manager, and is planning to produce the play in Elizabeth, Plainfield and Rahway.

WILSON NOT AT PRINCETON.

New York, Nov. 14.—President Wilson, accompanied by Miss Margaret Wilson and Dr. Grayson, arrived here this morning from Washington, soon after 6 o'clock. The party drove at once to the residence of Colonel and Mrs. E. N. House, 145 East 35th street, who are personal friends of the President and his family. The President played golf later in the morning and then decided not to go to Princeton this afternoon to witness the Yale-Princeton football game.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The blouse that is made with corded edges is new and smart. This pretty little model can be finished with plain hems or the cords, but the latter are so much better style.

There is the square yoke that makes such a feature of the season, with pretty fullness below, and if liked the pockets can be used, although they are not necessary.

Such a blouse can be made from the soft silks as well as from cotton voiles and familiar muslins. In the illustration white crepe de chine is trimmed with collar and cuffs of moire. The long sleeves are gathered into cuffs that are finished with turned over portions, but the three-quarter sleeves are without gathers and are finished with plain cuffs.

For the medium size the blouse will require three yards of material twenty-seven inches wide.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7887, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Daily Christmas Hint

The Girl Will Be Glad of This Gift

Never have fans been so much in evidence as since the dance craze started. Every girl and matron tangoes and, of course, needs a fan after her strenuous exertions. And they are not tiny, useless fans at all. Instead they are large and, properly wielded by a strong masculine arm after the dance, are exceedingly effective.

The girl of the winter should learn, however, how to wield the tiny fan to as great effect as her Spanish sister. What eloquence she reads into the slightest gesture! How her eyes gleam above this tiny instrument d'amour! How it accents every movement in the mazes of the dance! Not for use are these coquettish fans—not for use, at any rate, in the regulation way, as a mode of cooling the atmosphere, but as an aid to a harmless flirtation they are supreme.

The fan illustrated here is of the popular ostrich feather variety. There are various shapes and colors, but one in white or black is most serviceable.

Household Hints

FOR THE HOME SEAMSTRESS

If your sewing machine is giving trouble, the stitch uneven or the needle seems to catch as it passes up and down the plate, the following suggestions may save the expense of repairs and the annoyance of having to submit to poor work:

Remove needle plate and remove any lint found there. The accumulation of lint found under the needle plate would cause needle to catch as it passed through.

Replace the needle plate and give machine a kerosene bath as follows: Take out thread, fill all oil holes with kerosene and run machine hard for a few minutes; then leave it for a few hours, until the kerosene will have evaporated and the dirt have been cut out by the oil. Then use good machine oil.

Do this every once in a while, and your machine will be kept in good working condition.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Use waxed paper, like bread is wrapped in, to rub nickel on stoves and nickel-plated teakettle, percolator, etc. It keeps them shining like new.

To clean white shades, take shades down; dust them. Take a white cloth, wet with alcohol, then rub on shade. Take clean cloth and wipe. Hang shade up on windows without rolling up until dry. Also good to clean clothes.

THE TABLE

Haddock a la Rarebit—Prepare haddock or other fish as for baking. Make a rarebit mixture of one cup of hot milk, one-quarter pound cheese, one-half teaspon salt, one-quarter teaspoon mustard, one tablespoon flour and one tablespoon butter. Blend well and pour over fish. Bake until fish is done. Serve garnished with parsley.

Escaloped Peas and Salmon—Make white sauce of two tablespoons flour, one tablespoon butter, one level teaspoon salt, pinch of pepper; mix well. Add one cup boiling milk and let come to a boil. Then take one can red salmon (crush it well) and one can of peas; put in baking dish one layer of peas, then one layer of salmon, then one layer of sauce, and so on until all is used. Sprinkle half cup bread crumbs on top and a few bits of butter, put in oven and bake one-half hour. Serve hot.

Carrot Croquettes (new)—Wash, scrape and boil half dozen medium-sized carrots until tender. Mash them; to two cups of the pulp add beaten yolk of one egg, spoonful onion juice, half teaspoon chopped sweet pepper and half teaspoon salt. When mixture is cold, mold it into balls, roll in cracker crumbs and egg and chill thoroughly. Fry in deep fat.

French Fruit Cake (eggless, butterless and milkless) — Two cups raisins, two cups water; boil together 10 minutes. Add enough water to make two cups after raisins are taken out. Put into hot raisin water two-thirds cup shortening (lard or other will do), two cups brown sugar, a little salt. Take three cups flour, one heaping teaspoon cinnamon, one of cloves, one teaspoon soda and one of baking powder; sift into the other ingredients while hot. Stir thoroughly. Bake slowly. Citron peel may be added, also chopped nuts, if desired. This is a delicious cake and will keep moist a long time. This recipe makes two cakes. Steamed and served with boiled dressing, will make a good Thanksgiving plum pudding.

Mock Cherry Pie—One cup cranberries, one cup chopped raisins, one cup granulated sugar, one cup boiling water, one tablespoon vanilla, three tablespoons flour; mix all together. Makes filling for three pies.

Baked Corn With Oysters—Put one can corn in buttered baking dish, add one pint oysters, enough milk to moisten slightly; season, sprinkle with bread crumbs. Brown nicely in oven.

Fruit and Nut Salad—One large pineapple, one-quarter pound shelled almonds, one-quarter pound shelled filberts, one dozen maraschino cherries, lettuce, cream or mayonnaise dressing. Remove rind and eyes from pineapple and cut flesh into small pieces. Blanch nuts by pouring boiling water over them and allowing them to stand a few minutes, when the skins can be easily removed. Chop fine and add to pineapple. Pile in little heaps on lettuce leaves, cover with dressing and decorate with cherries.

She Worried Because Her Feet Were Too Big.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Something For Dotty Duck to Worry About

"OLD Dotty Duck was always worrying," began daddy as the children snuggled up for the evening story.

"She worried because her feet were too big for her slender ankles; she worried because she toed in; she worried because her tail wasn't beautiful like the peacock's.

"Poor Daffy Drake, Dotty Duck's husband, had a terrible time of it trying to soothe Dotty.

"He told her how beautifully she could swim and how graceful he thought her walk was and how her voice was sweeter to his ears than any voice could possibly be, for, of course, Daffy Drake loved Dotty Duck very, very much and wished her to be happy.

"When the little ones came out of their shell Dotty worried about them, for they, too, had big feet.

"Again poor Daffy came to the rescue and told Dotty how finely her babies could swim and what lovely voices they had, just like their pretty mamma.

"But all his flattery was in vain. Then he hit upon a scheme. He got some hens' eggs for Dotty to set upon and hatch. 'Now,' chuckled Daffy to himself, 'Dotty's babies will have pretty feet and nice voices and perhaps beautiful feathers, and then she will be happy.'

"After three weeks the fluffy, pretty little things were hatched, and Dotty was delighted with her new babies. Their little feet were lovely, and they had the cutest way of saying 'Cheep, cheep.'

"So Dotty sent for all her friends to come and see her and watch her babies take their first lesson in swimming.

"It was to be a gala day, and each little baby was primped and perked up to within an inch of its little life.

"The guests all arrived, and Dotty Duck quacked and quacked delightedly as they told her how pretty her babies were.

"Then they all marched toward the duck pond—Mamma Duck and all the company, with Papa Drake bringing up the rear, quaking so with fear that he couldn't quack because he knew the trick he had played on his trusting wife.

"They reached the pond, and Mamma Duck tried to shoo her babies into the water.

"Alas and alack, the chicks couldn't swim!

"Then such a wail went up from Dotty Duck, for now she really had something to worry about."

CLOTHING ON CREDIT AT CASH PRICES
$1 WEEKLY TO ALL

WHY
skimp on your table, your amusements and other things every time you need new clothes?

Your moderate income is not adapted to the heavy strain of paying out a large amount for a new fall outfit.

Spread out this outlay over a long period of partial payments.

That is your logical way to buy wearables—it's the way we sell them.

THE BY-PRODUCT OF SAVING

Saving provides the means to meet loss of employment, disaster, sickness and the decline of earning power.

The by-product of saving, though not as often considered, is very valuable—self control, moral strength, self confidence—qualities developed whether you put aside $100 a month or only $1.

Our 4% saving bond plan provides an excellent method for systematic saving and NOW is an opportune time to begin. Ask for descriptive circular.

Better Be Safe Than Sorry!

These times when "War Prices" prevail on every material that goes into the making of a shoe—you should be doubly careful in selecting shoes that are KNOWN to be reliable. Other kinds cannot be expected to stand the wear—nor to protect your health in cold weather.

The folks who deal at VAN ARSDALE'S not only have this feeling of security about the QUALITY of the shoes they buy here, but they have the further assurance that on the basis of style and service, our shoes are the GREATEST VALUES for the money to be found anywhere.

Y. M. C. A. WORK IN MANY PHASES

Described by Speakers in Churches Celebrating Association Anniversary.

STATE OFFICIAL HERE

Charles R. Scott, Boys' Secretary, Tells of Wonderful Work Among Juvenile Element Being Carried on in New Jersey.

Fitting services to commemorate the forty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. were held in six local churches yesterday, State and National leaders in this work being the speakers at the various ecclesiastical institutions. C. V. Hibbard, general secretary of the association work being developed in Dalny, Manchuria, was the speaker at the First Presbyterian church and outlined in brief the work accomplished by the Y. M. C. A. in the Russian-Japanese war. He described the Christian movement carried on among the soldiers and the manner in which it was generally accepted.

In connection with the morning services at the Trinity Reformed church A. C. Estes told of the work being done among industrial corporations and employes in this State and reviewed in brief the results most prominent. Charles N. Nuttle, general secretary of the Morristown association, was present at the Congregational church; H. A. Cossens, the Newark general secretary, visited the Park Avenue Baptist church; Olaf Gates, of Elizabeth, was delegated to Warren chapel, and Charles R. Scott, State secretary of boys' work, delivered an interesting talk at the First Methodist church. Mr. Scott said in part:

"The present day environment of the boy is entirely different than a few years ago. Our boys are surrounded on every side by temptation and our State recognizes it, for the Legislature has provided laws to safeguard the child. We find on every hand improper literature, our moving pictures are not always elevating; cigarettes are easily secured and we all know how rapidly immorality spreads.

"The church needs the boy for present, as well as for future service David C. Cook, of Chicago, in studying the boy question of the Sunday-school prepared a chart showing 77 per cent. of the above dropping out

LOCAL WOMAN BENEFITED BY WILL OF HER AUNT

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 16.—An appraisal of the estate left by Mrs. Elizabeth Hufnagel, aunt of Bertha Guinand, of Rock avenue and Elk street, Plainfield, made by one of the Transfer Tax State Appraisers which report today, is on file here in the office of the clerk of the Surrogate's Court, shows that when the decedent passed away on July 26 last she left a net estate of $9,722.49, which, under the directions of her will, executed December 28, 1912, passes over to her relatives, as follows:

To three nieces, Emma Schnaud, of No. 1,127 Putnam avenue; Bertha Guinand, of Plainfield, and Clara Kriedeweis, of No. 234 Suydam street, here, each $810.21.

"HARD TIMES" PARTY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

The Sigma Gamma Kappa, of North Plainfield High School, held a "hard times" party at the home of Miss Naomi Wische, Saturday evening, and the affair proved a great success. A lot of foodstuffs and clothing were brought by those who attended to be distributed among the poor of Plainfield.

The evening was spent in games and dancing and selections on the Victrola also added to the enjoyment. Refreshments were served at a late hour. Those present were the Misses Ann Hull, Margaret Brizzi, Marion Avery, Dorothy Lee, Lucy Douglas, Naomi Wische, Margaret Smith, Emily Pilger, Mildred Weiss, Salina Cornwell, Florence Cornwell, Dorothy Martin, Madeline Blair and Lillian Spencer.

CREDIT ASS'N MEETING.

An important meeting of the Business-Men's Credit Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in room 10, top floor of the Frost building, on Park avenue. Matters of financial importance to all the members will be discussed.

ELEVEN-POUND BOY.

Mrs. Elmer Hummer, of East Seventh street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dennis, is the mother of an eleven-pound boy born to her yesterday. Mrs. Hummer's husband died in May last.

DRUM CORPS' BAZAAR A GALA INDOOR FETE

Many Attended Opening Night of Carnival in Company K Armory.

An attendance of four hundred persons greeted the members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps at the opening night of their indoor bazaar in the Company K armory Saturday night. The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion with streamers and national colors and an enjoyable time was in store for all of the guests. Dancing proved to be the feature number on the program and the terpsichorean art was indulged in by a large majority of those who were present. The spacious dance floor at the armory was crowded during the evening and excellent music was furnished for the occasion by Manchester's Tango Orchestra. Nelson Peterson, in the capacity of floor manager, took charge of this portion of the entertainment and he was ably assisted by a corps of fellow members.

Arranged in a circle about the hall were a large number of booths, all of which were well patronized. Various articles of a useful and ornamental nature were on sale and home made candies and refreshments were disposed of in large quantities.

Taken as a whole the opening night's results were unusually encouraging to those in charge and a continuance of the interest is expected throughout the remainder of this week, when the carnival will be continued. Many of the guests Saturday night came from the rural districts surrounding Plainfield and several stage-loads of amusement seekers invaded the city. The committee in charge includes J. V. Beekman, president; S. C. Terry, treasurer; H. R. Adams, secretary; Horace G. Adams, Henry J. Adams and George Hermann.

RAIN INTERFERED WITH UNEMPLOYED COMMITTEE

Rain kept the attendance down at the meeting of the committee of the unemployed in the city, which was scheduled for last night, so little business was transacted. The committee appointed to see the Public Service Corporation officials reported that the latter would be unable to start any improvement work in Plainfield, and William Lunger, business agent of the unions, said that conditions were no worse in his trades. There are now 231 names of unemployed men registered at the Mayor's office, and there have been but few applications for help, probably not more than twenty having been given more than partial employment. The meeting was adjourned until next Sunday night, at the Council chamber.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR FIRST HOSPITAL DANCE

Arrangements are being completed for the first of a series of dances to be given at the Plainfield High School, Thanksgiving Eve, November 25, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital. These affairs promise to be largely attended and a source of considerable revenue to the hospital, which is in need of funds just now.

In addition to the names of the committee which were published last week, Mrs. W. B. Tyler will have charge of the tickets and place for holding the dances; Mrs. Daniel Runkle and Mrs. L. E. Waring will have charge of the refreshments; Mrs. R. S. Rowland the advertising, and J. Hartley Mellick the music, which will be furnished by an orchestra.

The tickets are selling fast for the first dance, and it is predicted that the entire series will be well patronized by people who like this form of entertainment and who also want to help the hospital.

FUNERAL OF MRS. RALPH RUNYAN HELD TODAY

The funeral service of Mrs. Ralph O. Runyan was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the late home, 963 West Fourth street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of which Mrs. Runyan was a member, was in charge of the service, offering prayer and making a short address.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends. The burial took place in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were William Wyman, John P. VanHorn, Cecil Trimmer and Chauncey F. Colthar.

BUY FLOUR FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

Local Committee Will Put $1,500 of Money Collected Here Into Commodity.

506 GARMENTS SENT

Will Buy Baby Clothes and Blankets So Far as Possible From Local Stores—Corduroy Trousers Are Needed.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the women of the Plainfield Belgian Relief Association, held at the home of its organizer, Mrs. Frederic Wallace, of Hillside avenue, it was decided to put $1,500 of the money collected into flour for the Belgians. Through the generous offer of a Plainfield man it is possible to buy the flour at cost and to ship it free of charge on the next boat sent out by the Rockefeller Foundation.

Five hundred and six garments, including coats, dresses, suits, nightgowns, petticoats, sweaters, caps, stockings, shoes, shawls and mufflers, have already been shipped to Holland for distribution among the refugees. Among these garments were 250 new coats and dresses for children. Each little pocket contained a Belgian or French coin or a toy. Thanks were expressed for all donations of clothing and for the welcome contribution of three bales of all-wool material to be made up into coats for girls. A rising vote of thanks was made to the Daily Press for its work on behalf of the Belgian Fund.

It was stated that there was a great and increasing need for baby clothes and blankets and it was decided that a number of these should be provided, and that in the purchase of materials Plainfield merchants should be considered whenever possible. A hope was expressed that some one would donate corduroy trousers for boys, for whom only sweaters and caps have been provided.

It is interesting to note that two groups in New York, one in Hartford and one in Lewrickley, Pa., are making garments for Belgian children from patterns furnished by ladies of the Plainfield Belgian Relief.

Contributions for the fund may be sent to the Daily Press office, and will be acknowledged through the columns of this paper. The total amount subscribed through the Press now amounts to $188.

HUMAN ENIGMA BAFFLES CHIEF OF POLICE KIELY

Chief Kiely is in a quandary concerning the best means to dispose of a prisoner who wandered into police headquarters, Friday night, and announced that he "had come to stay." The man appears to be suffering from a lapse of memory. He knows nothing of his former life, can give no name or address and says he is contented to stay with Chief Kiely and the other kind-hearted minions of Plainfield's law.

He stands about five feet ten inches in heighth, his hair has been recently shaven from his head, he wears a gray suit and heavy soled shoes. When taken in his hands and face were covered with a thick coating of dirt and he gave evidence of having been a long time on the road. The only mark on the man's clothing is the name of the tailor who made the coat, Ernest Levi. But no address is given.

"THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK"

One of the most interesting of the free entertainments which the Board of Education is offering the public this winter will take place next Wednesday evening at the Washington School, Darrow avenue, when Edward A. Mead will give his popular recital of Charles R. Kennedy's famous play, "The Passing of The Third Floor Back." Almost every one has heard of the play which some years ago created a sensation in dramatic circles both in this country and in England; but not every one has had an opportunity to see it performed.

Mr. Mead's interpretation of the play gives every one a chance to familiarize themselves with one of the masterpieces of recent drama; and provides an evening's entertainment of an unusually interesting character. The doors of the Washington auditorium will open at 7:30 Wednesday night, and the entertainment will begin promptly at 8 p. m.

FUNERAL OF MARTIN GALBRAITH HELD

Many Relatives and Friends Attend Obsequies at St. Mary's Church.

The funeral of Martin Galbraith, who died on Friday last, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's church, where a solemn requiem mass was offered. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends present. Father John McDonald was the celebrant and Father Vincent Sciolla the deacon.

Father Bernard M. Bogan, pastor of the church, made the address of eulogy, in which he spoke impressively of the life and character of the departed and of his devotion to St. Mary's church, of which he was one of the founders. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery and the pall-bearers were James Kyle, John A. Brown, Patrick Dever, John Motley, Patrick McAffee and John Simpson.

SUFFRAGISTS PLAN SERIES OF SCHOOLS

Special Efforts Will Be Made to Educate Workers Through Experts.

Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city, president of the State Association, president of the State association, presented the following plan of work at the convention in Camden last week, for the next ten months between now and the special election in September, when the suffrage amendment will be voted upon. In December special effort will be made to educate suffrage workers by means of a series of suffrage schools to be conducted in the principal cities of the State. Mrs. John Fowler Trow, of New York, a well-known authority on public speaking and parliamentary law, will serve as critic and give practical talks on the art of public speaking for suffrage. Other experts along different lines of suffrage work will be present. The schools will last for two days during which time there will be five sessions. The registration fee will be one dollar, and the first school will be held in Paterson, December 4 and 5. Following this they will be held in Trenton, Camden and one or two other centrally located cities.

January, February and March will be devoted to completing the organization of the State, and by the first of April it is expected there will be a suffrage organization in every town in New Jersey. April and May will be devoted to instructing the newly enrolled suffragists in practical methods of work. From June to the day the vote is taken all organizing work will be dropped and the whole force of the association devoted to the holding of street meetings, house to house canvasses, factory meetings, etc. This public work will be going on all winter in cities and towns where there are already flourishing organizations.

The New Jersey delegates to the national convention now in session in Nashville are Mrs. Feickert, Miss Helen Lippincott, of Riverton; Mrs. Clara Laddey, Arlington; Mrs. O. D. Bartlett and Mrs. G. A. Galliver, of Arlington; William Ludlow, Madison; Oberlin Smith, Bridgeton. Miss Marian Smith, Lambertville; Mrs. William Nicholson and Mrs. C. V. Cowling, of Millville; Joel Borton, Woodstown; Dr. Mary C. Cummings, Paterson; Mrs. Gordon Grand, Llewellyn Park; Dr. M. D. Riley, Plainfield; Mrs. I. C. Geery and Miss Alama Rademacher, Bayonne; Mrs. John H. Judge, Wildwood; Mrs. F. A. Bailey and Mrs. W. D. Kerlin, Camden; Mrs. James Billington, Jersey City; Mrs. E. G. Ogden, Elizabeth; Miss Mary W. Lippincott, Riverton; Mrs. Latimer Baker, Wildwood; Mrs. F. P. Finely, Merchantville; Mrs. R. S. Yard and Mrs. Lawrence Perry, Glen Ridge; Miss Alice Paul, Moorestown; Miss Nettie Harris, Vineland; Mrs. R. P. Risley, Stone Harbor; Mrs. Horace Elmer, Cape May Court House, and Miss May Cullen, Newark.

FAILED TO APPEAR.

Although he swore out a complaint charging Arthur Neuman, of 602 Spooner avenue, with driving an automobile in a reckless manner on the city streets, Robert Clarkson, of John street, failed to appear at the trial in the city court, this morning. In view of the fact that no evidence was presented to warrant holding the defendant Judge DeMeza dismissed the complaint.

GEORGE BOGUSKI.

George Boguski, eight months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Boguski, of 129 East Second street, died at his home, Saturday night. Funeral services were held from the home of his parents at 11 o'clock this morning, and interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

OWNER OF HOTEL GIVES TESTIMONY

Hearing in Hardy Will Case Continued in Newark This Morning.

WITNESSES ARE CALLED

Evidence Introduced to Show Friendly Relations That Existed Between Mrs. Parcell and Colonel Hardy at Summer Resort.

Hearing in the case to determine the ownership of $350,000 worth of securities originally owned by the late Mrs. Hannah C. Hardy, of this city, was continued this morning before Vice Chancellor Howell in Newark. Efforts are being made by the defense to show that Mrs. Hardy was not a woman well versed in business affairs and was therefore not competent to handle the large holdings in stocks and mortgages which she controlled.

The securities include stock in the Pullman Company, the Adams Express Company and the Home Insurance Company. C. F. Taylor, a hotel proprietor with a place of business at Round Lake in the Adirondack Mountains, was called to testify as to Mrs. Hardy's relations with Colonel Hardy before their marriage. Taylor formerly owned a hotel in Schroon Lake and Mrs. Hardy, who was at that time Mrs. Henry D. Parcell, spent her summers at that place. According to Taylor she became quite intimate with Colonel Hardy and the two excited no little amount of comment from the other guests at the hotel who noticed them constantly in each other's company. This is said to have happened in 1904 and at that time Colonel Hardy's finances were not in the best shape, according to Taylor. The latter testified to having been approached by Hardy for a "cheap accommodation" and he said that he gave him a room at $10 a week and he paid part of this sum by doing work in the hotel office.

Colonel Hardy is said to have declared at that time that he had no intention of marrying the widow inasmuch as she was eighty-four years of age and he was seventy-five years old, that she was in her second childhood. Henry A. V. Parcell, a son by a former marriage, is alleged to have made strenuous protests against his mother "keeping company" with Colonel Hardy, and according to Taylor, spent much of his time in following the pair. Colonel Hardy is said to have warned the youth that "he would cane the devil out of him if he did not stop it."

William Lum, Jr., a legal adviser with offices in Newark, who handles the son's interests, testified to having transferred certain stocks for Mrs. Parcell. William N. Runyon, of this city, counsel for Mrs. Hardy prior to her death, said that when his client visited him in January, 1913, he warned her that she held no dominion over the stocks and bonds which had been placed in joint possession of herself and husband and warned her that she should seek protection. She failed to take his advice. Mr. Runyon was cross-examined by Alton B. Parker, who is handling Colonel Hardy's interests jointly with Charles H. Reed and William A. Coddington, of this city.

R. E. Lum, a lawyer with offices in Newark, testified to having visited Mrs. Hardy at the home of a Mrs. Pruden in Plainfield in 1912 and said that he advised her that she did not control the securities.

FIRST ANNUAL BALL.

The first annual ball of the employes of the Plainfield Theatre will be held in Saengerbund Hall, Thursday evening, December 24. Charles Suhr's orchestra will furnish the music. Those in charge of the affair are as follows: President, Peter Fleming; vice-president, W. E. Stevens; treasurer, W. S. Glaentzer; floor manager, C. P. Muldowney.

POSTPONE DISCUSSION.

The local Board of Trade will hold its monthly business session tomorrow evening at Exempt Firemen's Hall on Park avenue. The discussion of the Newark Bay bridge question, which was to have been held at this time, has been postponed until a later date, as speakers originally planned for are unable to be present.

DR. SAUNDERS TO SPEAK.

The Dutch Arms Men's Club, of Trinity Reformed church, will hold its monthly meeting this evening, the speakers for the occasion being Dr. William L. Saunders, former Mayor of North Plainfield, and Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church. A social hour will follow the addresses.

EXPECT ENGINE DECEMBER 1.

The new automobile apparatus, which is to be assigned to the Netherwood district, is expected to arrive here about December 1, according to information received by the councilmanic fire committee. Upon its arrival an official test of the machine will be made before it is accepted.

YOUTH IN FROLIC TERRIBLY BURNED

Three-year-old Walter Stillwagon Had Been Playing Near Bonfire.

While playing with a number of small companions about a bonfire near his home in New Market, Saturday afternoon, Walter, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stillwagon, was terribly burned when his clothes caught fire. A quantity of gasoline had been spilled over the youth's lower garments and when he romped within a few feet of the blaze they suddenly became ignited.

His frightened companions cried out in alarm and soon attracted the attention of passersby. A pail of water was brought into play and thrown on the youth. This only caused the gasoline flames to spread and by the time the fire had been put out the youngster's legs and the entire lower portion of the body were painfully burned. Writhing in agony he was carried to the home of his parents and Dr. M. J. Whitford was hastily summoned. Prior to the arrival of the physician first aid remedies were administered by the parents and it was at first thought that he had inhaled some of the flames.

Early indications were that he had been fatally burned and throughout yesterday but slight hopes were entertained for his recovery. Reports at noon today, however, indicate that he rallied last night and was resting as comfortably as could be expected.

REV. DR. HUDSON ACCEPTS THE CALL

Will Preach First Sermon at Park Avenue Church December 6.

Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, of Atlantic City, who was extended a call to the pastorate of the Park Avenue Baptist church, last week, has accepted the same, his letter to that effect being read at the morning service in the church, yesterday. Dr. Hudson informed the congregation that he would preach his first sermon as pastor on Sunday, December 6.

The congregation is much pleased over the decision of Dr. Hudson and is looking forward to an active year in religious effort at the church. Dr. Hudson has been in his present charge at Atlantic City for the past sixteen years, and is highly thought of by his people as well as by all of the Baptists of the State. He was recently elected president of the State Baptist convention at its session in Atlantic City.

COMPLIMENTED AT MOTHERS' CONGRESS

Borough Association Sends Nine Delegates to State Gathering.

The Plainfield representatives to the State Mothers' Congress held at Atlantic City, returned home Saturday night with interesting accounts of the sessions. The North Plainfield association was highly complimented for its excellent showing, having nine of the twelve delegates to which it was entitled, present at the congress, including Supervising Principal D. F. Aungst and Albert Earley, principal of the High School.

All of the sessions were full of interest to the delegates and they secured many valuable hints and suggestions which will help them in their work. The borough association now has a membership of nearly 200, although it is but two years old.

The Plainfield delegates were entertained at Haddon Hall. Among the addresses which were greatly enjoyed was one by Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, formerly pastor of the Baptist church, Scotch Plains, who also conducted one of the conferences. Altogether the congress was considered to be one of the best yet held in this State.

ALMS COMMITTEE MEETING.

The councilmanic alms committee met yesterday afternoon to go over the monthly accounts and discuss plans for the coming season. The fact that there are many men out of employment makes the demand upon the poor department just that much greater.

VIGOROUS FIGHT EAST OF YSER

Germans Still Hold Dixmude But Surrounding Country Is Allies.

AUSTRIA CLAIMS GAINS

Say That Mutiny Has Started in Servian Army—People of Belgium Are Trying to Adjust Themselves to Conditions.

London, Nov. 16.—The Allies' forces in Flanders have started a vigorous offensive east of the Yser canal. The Germans are still in possession, but the teritory between the river and the canal is free of them and south of Dixmude the British and French troops have affected a perceptible advance.

Paris, Nov. 16.—The French war office gave out the following statement at 3 o'clock this afternoon: "During the day, yesterday, along the Yser canal from Nieuport to the country up the river from Dixmude, the fighting was limited to artillery exchanges, the country having been further inundated. The submerged territory now stretches to the south of Dixmude to a point five kilometres to the north of Bischoote. The forces of the enemy which endeavored to cross the canal between the region of Dixmude and Bischote all were driven back beyond the bridges. A German regiment was comparatively destroyed at a point to the south of Bischoote. To the southeast of Ypres two other German attacks were repulsed. On our part we have taken the offensive and reconquered certain points of support which the enemy some days ago succeeded in capturing.

"For the last few days between Lys and the Oise there have been only small minor operations by small units and we have made slight progress in our works of approach. In the region of the Aisne, in the district of Champagne, only cannonades without result have occurred. In the Argonne region the Germans have made another attack upon St. Hubert without success. In the region of St. Mihiel the enemy has failed in a surprise attack in the forest of Apremont and in the Vosges there is little activity."

Washington, Nov. 16.—The situation in the campaign on the Austro-Servian frontier has become a serious one, according to advices from Vienna to the Austrian Embassy today. In addition the Austrian advices claim that mutiny has broken out in the Servian army. The despatch reads:

"In Servia the Austrian troops, in spite of Servian resistance, progressed in the direction of Valjeyo. Snow and rain are causing great difficulties. The numerous captives taken tell of mutiny, which has broken out in several Servian regiments. The whole press emphasizes the importance of the proclamation of a holy war by the Sultan.

Amsterdam, Nov. 16. (Central News Cable).—The newspaper Ujsag, in Budapest, announces that the Austrian have stormed and captured Obrenovac in Servia, on November 12, taking 600 prisoners and a quantity of guns and ammunition. It is announced that the Austrians captured 3,000 prisoners, eight seige guns and 12 machine guns in their victory over the Servians at Krounje, on November 9.

The reports that dissensions has arisen between the German and Austrian commanders in the Eastern theatre of war are officially denied in a statement given out by the official correspondence bureau of Vienna. The rumor originally emanated from Petrograd, where it was said to explain the fact that the Austrian forces under General Dankl are retreating to the south toward the Carpathians instead of going toward Cracow.

The population of Flanders, ravaged by fighting and by the occupation of their country by the two big contending armies, retain and admirable calm. So far as is possible they go about their ordinary pursuits, attempting to till the fielders where lines of trenches or bursting shell do not prevent.

The correspondent of the Tageblatt at Sofiia, capital of Bulgaria, says in a despatch that Greek sentries on the frontier of Bulgaria last week attacked a party of Bulgarian peasants. The Bulgarians put up a defense, but a total of four Bulgarians were killed and nine wounded. It is said that this evidence of Greece's hostility has caused considerable uneasiness in Sofia.

A newspaper in Brussels reports that an English aviator recently dropped a bomb on Courtrai, resulting in the death of fifteen soldiers and citizens. All traffic on the River Scheldt is now confined to the hours of daylight owing to the danger from

AUTOISTS ESCAPE INJURY IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

Two automobiles going in opposite directions collided at about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at the point in Main street where that thoroughfare makes an almost right angle turn down the hill past Charles Day's grocery store. When the drivers of the respective cars realized that a collision was imminent they swerved sharply in an endeavor to avoid it and would have done so if both cars had been minus mudguards. One of the cars struck the fence opposite C. T. Rogers' property breaking it as well as its own headlights.

The mudguards of the respective cars which bore the brunt of the collision were both bent and twisted. None of the occupants of either car were hurt. Both cars were able to proceed. The names of their owners were not ascertained. The traffic post that is planned to be placed in the center of Main street so as to divide the traffic going up and down the hill cannot be placed there too soon, as the turn in the road is very dangerous and the placing of such a post at that point will most certainly minimize the danger of acicdent.

Captain and Mrs. B. A. Cole, of Washington avenue, entertained their daughter, Mrs. George E. Firstbrook and children, of Newark, over the week-end.

FINE TALENT SECURED FOR LIBRARY ENTERTAINMENT

A fine entertainment will be given tomorrow evening in the local theatre for the benefit of the Public Library. The committee in charge of the entertainment has spared no expense in its endeavors to provide an excellent program and that its efforts have been successful will be readily appreciated when once deversified features of the program are considered. In addition to the most humorous sketch entitled "The Woman Doctor," which is played by local young women of talent, there will be several selections by a women's quartet, a vocal solo by Miss Beatrice Cameron, impersonations by Miss Betty Hawthorne, violin solos by Prof, Korff, of Plainfield, and instrumental music by Mrs. Charles Day and Miss Irene Day. A friend of the library has prevailed upon Maxwell Forbes, a young tenor singer of New York, to take part in the entertainment. Mr. Forbes is well known to the music lovers of New York, where his singing and acting has won him well deserved success and the people of Dunellen are unusually fortunate in having this opportuuity to hear him. Following the entertainment a dance will be given with music by an excellent orchestra. The admission for the entertainment is 25 cents and the gentlemen who dance will be assessed an additional like amount.

Joseph Ramsey Fisher, of Washington avenue, has returned from Lebanon, where he spent the greater part of last week in hunting game. While there, Mr. Fisher was the guest of his uncle, George Clark. He had a fairly successful trip, returning with nine rabbits.

Miss Gertrude Gunton, who has been visiting her uncle, former Councilman J. H. Schnidler since Tuesday of last week, has returned to her home at Martinsville.

GOES TO ENGLAND.

Dr. Emerson Curry, of Madison avenue, left last week on a protracted business trip to Liverpool, England. Dr. Curry is connected with the New York importing and exporting house of Edward Maurer, Inc.

LIBRARY HOURS.

The library will be closed at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow evening instead of the usual hour, 9 o'clock. The change is made on account of the library entertainment.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet at the home of Mrs. J. T. Sutphen, on South avenue, at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

TO OPEN BRANCH STORE.

The store in the Ratti building on North avenue, recently vacated by Vincenga Torze, the barber, has been rented to the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, who will open one of their cash branch stores there as soon as the place can be fitted up.

Mrs. W. H. Cockburn, of Penfield place, spent Saturday in New York.

TIGER SPIRIT TOO MUCH FOR DUNELLEN YOUTH

Auburn-haired people are said to be endowed with brightness and originality. Whether there is any degree of truth or not in that saying, it nevertheless remained for an auburn-locked youth to inaugurate a new stunt in the annals of Dunellen's history on Saturday morning. As one of the thousand and one automobiles, that passed through the borough on the way to the Yale-Princeton football match at Princeton, was wending its way slowly through our main thoroughfare at about 11 o'clock the auburn-haired youth was seen to dart out in the roadway, right in the heart of town and snatch a large felt orange and black pennant from the rear of the car. Tucking the emblem, that was intended to help cheer the Tiger on to victory, snugly under his arm the youth did an Arthur Poe towards a goal only known to himself. Being apprised of his loss by a person who stood by, the owner stopped his car and leaping out gave pursuit. The young culprit had obtained too much of a start, however, and the pursuer was obliged to return from the chase empty handed. He told a crowd that had in the meantime gathered that the pennant had cost him $5.

It is said that when things had quieted down a little that the young desciple of Jesse James ventured from his place of concealment and gathering three other adventurous lads about him left for a less densely populated section of the highway where the newly discovered trade could be pursued with less danger of being peached upon. It is furthermore stated that they corraled six additional pennants.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in the Borough Hall this evening. A number of important matters will be brought before the meeting and a full attendance of the members is desired.

Miss Frances Skinner, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Anna Wiedenhaupt, of Madison avenue, has returned to her home at Basking Ridge.

Mrs. Mary Stevens, of Pleasant Run, returned home yesterday after having spent five days in the borough as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John W. Case, of Grove street.

Miss Louise Trust, of Mountainview Terrace, has improved her property on Fourth street, by having a line of trees set out between the curbing and sidewalk.

The uprights of the new house that Contractor Samuel M. Titus is erecting for Edgar Shively, on Lincoln avenue, have been raised.

RETURNS TO WORK.

J. Russell Garretson returned to his duties today, in the Jersey City freight office of the Central Railroad, after an enjoyable week spent in decreasing the number of live bunnies in this vicinity.

INVITATION DANCE.

The Crescent Tennis Club held an invitation dance in the W. G. Holton Hall, on Friday evening. The hall was beautifully decorated with pink and white crepe paper and the pennants of the club. There were fourteen couples present. The popular dance of the evening was one of the latest, the fox trot. The music was furnished by Squire's Plainfield orchestra. Refreshments were served during the evening.

SQUASH-GUESSING CONTEST.

A distinct feature of the recent home-made sale of the Parent-Teacher Association held in the Ratti building, on North avenue, was the squash-guessing contest. A large squash had been secured and was placed on a table, which was in charge of Mrs. Stanley Krom. The object of the contest was to endeavor to procure the squash by coming the nearest to guessing the actual number of seeds that it contained. One contributed a volitionary sum for the privilege of entering the contest and then turned in his or her guess. The squash contained 610 seeds. Mrs. Joseph G. Walton, of Walnut street, won the contest with a guess of 634 Mrs. E. B. Latham and a Miss Layton were tied for second place honors with guesses of 550.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wescott, of Washington avenue, entertained Ralph Eckert, the local champion tennis player, yesterday.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS CAUSE HORSE TO RUNAWAY

The rousing club yell of the local Monarch football squad and their followers given as they were returning on Saturday evening, along North avenue, in Bennett's automobile truck from Milltown, where they had played the heavy Michelin A. C., of that place, to a standstill, scared George T. Schenck's horse, which attached to a light delivery wagon was standing in front of his grocery store, causing it to run away. The continuous line of automobiles was returning from Princeton and there was considerable other traffic on the street. How the animal wended its way with the light swaying wagon through the dense traffic, until it reached Washington avenue, where it turned north, without colliding or sideswiping some vehicle will ever be a mystery. From Washington avenue the animal turned west into Front street and thence into the lane leading to its stable where a suspecting clerk was awaiting its arrival.

COMPLETE IMPROVEMENTS.

The alterations that have been in progress for the past week in the local theatre will be completed this evening, when the men who are at work with an electrical floor polisher will have finished putting the floor of the theatre into shape for dancing.

WITNESSED GAME.

Among those from this place who witnessed the Yale-Princeton football game at Princeton, Saturday afternoon, were George Martin, Russell Longfellow Brakeley, Maxwell Brakeley and P. R. Abbott.

SHOOTS LARGEST RABBIT.

States R. Titsworth, of New Market road, has obtained for himself the honor of having shot the largest rabbit bagged by any hunter in this vicinity thus far this season. While hunting south of Bound Brook with Gustav Winter, last week, Mr. Titsworth shot a nine and a half pound jack rabbit. When stretched out the rabbit measured 4 feet from foot to foot. It was 18 inches high. Messrs. Titsworth and Winter had a real successful day, bringing home between them 8 other rabbits and two pheasants.

CHANGE BURIAL PLACE.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Day, the deceased parents of Editor George W. Day, of the Weekly Call, who resided at New Market, were transferred on Saturday afternoon by Undertaker W. G. Runyon from their plots in the Samptown burial grounds to new plots in the Hillside cemetery, Plainfield.

FUNERAL OF AMBROSE H. JAMES.

The local orders of Foresters and P. O. S. of A., held a joint service at the home of their late brother, Ambrose H. James, on Columbia street, Saturday night. The members of the respective orders assembled at the W. G. Holton Hall at 8 o'clock and marched to the home in a body. There were about sixty in all, including some railroad colleagues of the deceased from Jersey City, present at the service. Another service was held at the home at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The home was veritably packed with friends of the deceased. The service was in charge of Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mrs. J. Newton Apgar, Miss Beatrice Cameron, Guy H. Rentschler and George Cameron. They sang "Does Jesus Care?" and "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break. The floral contributions were many. Among the contributors were the P. O. S. of A., the Foresters and his railroad colleagues. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Rev. Oscar S. Michaels was in charge of the regular services at All Saints' Episcopal church, yesterday. Mr. Michaels is already at home in his new charge and is planning several entertainments for the benefit of the church to be held during the coming winter.

Rev. J. Madison Hare was in charge of a very interesting morning service at the Baptist church, yesterday, and preached an instreutive sermon on "An Appeal with a Promise. At the meeting of the B. Y. P. U. held in the evening, Willard Marston gave an interesting talk on "The Meaning and Measure of Life." The services were held at the usual hours and were well attended.

TODAY SEES NEW ERA IN BANKING

Actual Beginning of System Will Be Watched With Interest.

Washington, Nov. 16.—After months of preparation and organization, Governor Charles S. Hamlin, the head of the Federal Reserve Board, awaits the actual beginning of the new banking system today. Secretary McAdoo, Governor Hamlin, and all the other members of the board are optimistic in regard to the outlook, and believe that the change from the operation under the old national bank law to the new law will be with little friction.

If the operation of the new banking system meets with the success that its framers predice a new era in finance will begin today. In a large and broad sense, the new law is as much of the merchant, the manufacturer, the industrial worker and the plain citizen as it the law of the banker. The best proof of this is that when the new banks begin operations today the enormous sum of $500,000,000 will be released for the business uses of the country.

One of the most important purposes which the drafters of the law had in mind was the limitation of the power alleged to have been held by a small group of bankers, through the system of alleged "interlocking" directorates. It was charged that this "money power" had concentrated into its hands many of the resources and of the banking credits of the United States, to the end that it might reap profits and wield authority which were unreasonable.

There is not to be under the new law a general distribution of the money of the country—the purpose of the new law is to make banking easier and safer, to develop and extend commercial credits, to prevent the congestion of the currency in one or two or more centres, to permit the banks to use their own resources in their own interest, and for the benefit of the communities and sections they immediately serve, to strengthen the system by conserving the resources of all for the benefit of each, to make the business national in fact, and not sectional or municipal, to so concentrate in a central board the direction of the finances of the country that business panics will not be possible, unless, indeed, the bottom should fall out of everything.

Under the new system, as under the old, there will be wheels within wheels. A Federal Reserve Board, the hub of the system; Federal Reserve Banks with many members; Federal Reserve Distdicts, each under the direction of a Federal bank, and all directly under the Government of the Federal Reserve Board. The Federal Reserve notes are designd to give elasticity to currency not possible under the old law, sufficient to meet business emergencies, the expansion and contraction of the currency being regulated and controlled in accordance with business necessities.

WAR NEWS

mines which have been placed in it by the Germans. A number of passengers arrived at Flushing from Antwerp, yesterday, despite the official order issued by the German military authorities prohibiting residents of Belgium to leave.

The German newspapers are uniting in paying a tribute to Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who died Saturday night in France after he had gone there to see his beloved Indian soldiers fight. "There are moments in war," says the Lokalanzeiger, "when a warrior uses his sword to salute the enemy rather than to strike a blow. Such a moment came with the death of Lord Roberts."

Washington, Nov. 16.—One hundred and thirty-one ships were added to the American Merchant Marine in October through transfers from foreign registry and building of new vessels in the United States.

France has been so far cleared of the invading Germans that a resumption of the parcels post system, with certain sections of that country was ordered today by the Postoffice Department. Mail will be accepted for all Frances except the departments of Aisne, Ardennes, Aube Cote or Doubs, Haute Marne, Maute Sonne, Jura Marne, Muerthe et Moselle, Meuse, Nord, Osie, Pas de Clais, Seinett Marne, Somme, Vosges and Yonhe.

New York, Nov. 16.—An eyewitness account of the daring rescue of the crew of the British superdreadnought Audacious by the White Star liner Olympic after the battleship struck a floating mine off the Irish coast, on October 27, was given by James Rupert Beames and Hugh Griffiths, two bandsmen of the Olympic, who arrived here yesterday on the American liner New York.

Beames and Griffith assert the Audacious was blown up, after she had hit a German mine, by the cruiser Liverpool. They did not see this, as the Olympic was then in Lough Swilly, but learned it later in Belfast.

In confirmation of this story the bandsmen said that at 9 o'clock on the evening of the disaster they heard a tremendous explosion at sea, while a vivid glare lit up the horizon. They were then in Lough Swilly, practically prisoners on the Olympic.

WILL ACCEPT PASTORATE UNTIL AFTER THE WAR

Rev. G. Daeuble, head of the German missions in Togoland, Africa, preached an inspiring sermon to a large congregation at St. Peter's German Lutheran church yesterday afternoon. After service, Rev. and Mrs. Daeuble were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Moldenke, at the castle. A church council meeting war held later, and the pastor prevailed upon to accept the charge until the close of the war in Europe, when he must return to Africa by way of Germany.

Rev. and Mrs. Daeuble expect to be in Plainfield at the end of this week, and reside at the parsonage, No. 2 Stone street, which is being furnished for them by the congregation in the meantime.

BOUNTIES FOR SOLDIERS.

Prices England Had to Pay In the Past For Army Recruits.

At one time the system of offering huge money bounties was quite a feature of army recruiting in Great Britain. Prior to the peninsular war, however, the amount of the bounty had been reduced considerably, but the wastage in human material caused by that war raised the bounty again, and from £13 to £16 was a common price right up to "Waterloo year," when it dropped to 7 guineas.

The stress of the Crimean campaign also caused the war office authorities to open wide their purses, and so we find that in 1855 the price of a cavalryman was £10, while an infantryman received £2 less. All manner of ruses were tried to tempt men to remain in the service, and they were even offered money for every spent shell (sixpence for a large one and fourpence for a small one) that they brought to the commanding officer of artillery.

Even in recent years war has forced us to offer ample money prizes to keep military units up to strength, certain reservists receiving £20 each for rejoining the colors in 1898, while soon after the South African war the short service men were tempted to remain serving by the offer of from £10 to £15 each.—Dundee Advertiser.

Pulling Out Posts.

The trick of lifting oneself by one's boot straps may appear somewhat difficult, but a machine has been built which does that. It is intended to pull out piles which have been driven in so firmly by a pile driver that they cannot be pulled up by ordinary means. The machine is clamped to the top of the pile, which it grips firmly and automatically. Steam is supplied through a hose. The steam lifts a heavy weight in the machine and lets it drop suddenly. By an arrangement of levers the force of the blow, instead of being downward on the top of the pile, is upward.

The main difficulty in pulling up a pile is to get it started, but a quick series of these blows soon starts the pile. The machine keeps knocking it up until it moves easily, when no more progress can be made, and the pile must be lifted out with ropes.—Saturday Evening Post.

No Need to Climb.

It was a very wet night, and the last omnibus was full inside when the conductor asked, "Will any gentleman ride upon the top to oblige a lady?"

There was no response, so the inquiry was repeated. But again there was no reply.

At last one of the male passengers remarked, "Are you sure she is a lady and not a poor woman?"

"Oh, yes, she is a lady," said the conductor without hesitation.

"A well dressed lady?" again asked the passenger.

"Yes, a thorough, well dressed, fashionable lady," said the conductor.

"Then I should think she can afford to take a cab home," said the passenger.—London Mail.

"Wonderful," They Say

"You have done wonders to this store." This is a remark made dozens of times a day, and not to speak egotistically, we think that we have done wonders in the short space of five months. Not to know this store as it is now is neglecting a duty you owe to yourself and to us, if you will pardon our saying so. Many may know this store in a general way. Many do not know it intimately enough. It is not an exclusive store, except in its being exclusive in the selling of worthy merchandise at lowest prices. Five cents isn't much, but if you spend ten that here, you must receive five cents in value. If you feel that you haven't received it, your money back is the remedy.

ONE TEAM QUITS SIX-DAY CLASSIC

Thirteen Pairs of Long Distance Bicycle Riders in First Place Tie.

Experts from Madison Square Garden at 2 o'clock this afternoon, gave the following mileage for the seventeen teams remaining in the annual six-day bicycle race: Goullett and Grenda, 321.7; Moran and McNamara, 321.7; Fogler and Hill, 321.7; Root and Clarke, 321.7; Egg and Verri, 321.7; Lawrence and Magin, 321.7; Cameron and Kaiser, 321.7; Bedell and Bedell, 321.7; Lawson and Drobach, 321.7; Ryan and Wohlrab, 321.7; Thomas and Harley, 321.7; Walthour and Halsted, 321.7; Mitten and Anderson, 321.7; Piercey and Cavanagh, 321.6; Dupuy and Seres, 321.6; Linert and Madonna, 321.5; Kopsky and Hansen, 321.4. Record, 320 miles.

A wild sprint to steal a lap which was started shortly before 11 o'clock, resulted in the following changes of the teams: Kopsy and Hansen lost three laps, Seres and Dupuy one, Piercey and Cavanagh one, and Linert and Madonna two laps. During the sprint, which lasted nearly 15 minutes, Piercey and Seres collided at the Madison avenue turn, with the result that Seres was carried unconscious from the track. Piercey got off with a bad shaking up. A few moments later Hansen and McNamara came together with a crash and both men were carried off the track suffering from minor injuries. For failing to stop riding when ordered to by the scorers the following teams were fined ten dollars by the referee. Walthour and Halstead, Thomas and Harley, Lawrence and Drobach, Mitten and Anderson, Lawrence and Magin, Ryan and Wohlrab, Fogler and Hill, Clark and Root and Egg and Verri.

Rousseau and Parent are out of the race. They were called off the track at 7:30 o'clock this morning. Parent was in no condition to ride, as he was suffering from a bullet wound received in the war in Europe.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

There will be a joint meeting tomorrow night at 8:15 of all the Camp Fire groups of the association. All members of these groups are urged to be present for the discussion of important business.

The Current Events class will meet Thursday afternoon at 4:30, instead of 4:15, as has been the time of previous meetings.

The October-November birthday supper will be served Thursday evening at 6:30 for all members who have had birthdays during these two months. All who intend to be present are requested to register at the office.

A meeting of the entire membership has been called for Thursday night at 8 o'clock and all members are urged to be present. Miss Aller will discuss plans with the members for the Panama-Pacific Exposition contest.

MORE TROUBLE IN MEXICO.

After a vain effort on the part of President Wilson to settle the difficulties in Mexico, and the expenditure of millions of dollars of money by the government without any result, American troops are to be withdrawn from Vera Cruz a week from today, according to a statement which has been given out at Washington.

This decision on the part of our government was made as soon as it became evident that a new revolution was in progress, and that the people of the country prefer fighting to any other pursuit. Carranza and Villa have split, for they cannot agree as to the spoils. It is probable that the troops are to be withdrawn because General Carranza has intimated that he will precipitate a clash with General Funston's troops at Vera Cruz, in an effort to rally the Mexican people to his cause against Villa. As the Americans have all left the country, and we have no particular interests to protect there, there is no need of fighting people who so obviously do not appreciate the work which has been done by this country to bring about peace. Certainly there is no need of shedding American blood fighting the Mexicans.

If anybody ought to show gratitude it is Carranza. Without the moral support of the United States he would never have achieved success in the revolution against Huerta. That support was his only because he appeared to be a real patriot and the logical man to restore constitutional government. Like so many of his predecessors, however, he fell down when the great opportunity came, and instead of going about the reconstruction of the country he and his chief military officer are fighting over the division of the spoils.

Under the circumstances that have arisen in Mexico the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the soldiers from the United States will soon be a reality. Carranza partially complied with the conditions laid down by the United States upon which the troops would be withdrawn but he did it at a moment when his authority was seriously attacked and his influence and power to abide by the pledges is weakened.

The Carranza power has been steadily growing weaker. His generals are abandoning him. Natera and Villareal, among his staunchest supporters, have allied themselves against him and are among the division commanders who demand his retirement. The dominant force in Mexico is the Aquascalientes convention. Carranza stands in the light of a troublemaker.

In North Plainfield a boy, charged by a game warden with shooting a rabbit out of season, received a sentence of 120 days in jail, the penalty not being lessened because the boy was "fresh" in court. In Mercer county a game warden, who was "fresh" to a woman, was given a year in the county workhouse. It looks as if the balance was about even now.

When the Board of Trade meets next Tuesday evening, they should not forget that this is the time to plan for the next campaign for a trolley line to South Plainfield. Conditions which demand such a line are steadily increasing and improving, and another season of development of the village will mean that there will be no two ways about it.

It is to be hoped, as the Christmas shopping season progresses, that those who advocated a half day off for the local clerks will not forget their arguments at that time. The spirit of the season demands that those who have real claims to manhood or womanhood do their Christmas shopping early.

If the scene of the conflict abroad is not soon shifted from Austria-Hungary the proof readers and linotype operators will all be candidates for Morris Plains. They should not kick—think of the poor telegraph operators who have to pick all those letters out of a lot of ticks.

Company K wants an armory for this city and it is a desire which should be granted. Local civic bodies should lend their moral support to the militia in their endeavors to secure such a building for the city.

The recently organized East End Civic Association has now shown its worth, and is entitled to be recognized as one of the "best boosters" of our city. May the good work go on.

The multiplication of rabbits has sunken into oblivion, as we realize how the tales (tails) of this species of game may be lengthened.

E. E. PARVIN TO SHOW PICTURES OF BELGIUM

The deep sympathetic interest manifested by all classes in the acute distress and suffering among the Belgians, and the fact that so many in this city have contributed in various ways to relieve this dreadful situation, prompted the Men's Bible Class, of Warren chapel, to arrange with Emerson E. Parvin, of Watchung avenue, to give his lecture on "Belgium Before the War," on Thursday evening of this week at the chapel corner Watchung and Fairview avenues, North Plainfield, at 8:15 o'clock.

Many of the views given were selected from the great assortment of Mazzo of Paris, and exhibit the wonderful beauty of the country; its magnificent buildings, etc., the lecture concluding with examples of Belgian and Dutch art, some of the famous paintings of Rubens, Matsys, and other noted painters being shown.

The lecture will be free to the public, no solicitation of funds will be made.

RECREATION NOTES

The Symphony Orchestra will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the Franklin School.

The Italian Club will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the Lincoln School. There will be a special business meeting so all members are urged to be present.

The Choral Society will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Franklin School.

The Stillman School will be opened Tuesday evening for the colored people of Plainfield. There is a gymnasium class for the girls which is proving very popular. The young men are organizing a club. There are also games, magazines and dramatics.

TO RELATE EXPERIENCE

Henry L. deForest, former overseer of the poor in this city, and one of the American tourists who was abroad at the opening of the European War, will speak before the Men's Club, of Hope chapel, tomorrow evening, when he will relate his experiences at Munich, where he assisted the American Consul in caring for the many tourists who were endeavoring to get out of the country. A social hour will follow the address.

LOCAL MAN A JUDGE.

Lewis E. Waring, of this city, was selected as one of the judges for the Charity Horse Show, at a meeting of the directors of the American Horse Show Association, held yesterday. The event will be held in Madison Square Garden, December 7 to 12, inclusive, and Mr. Waring has been assigned to the saddle horse division.

TO RECEIVE BIDS.

A special meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council has been called for Friday evening, November 27, at which time bids for the firehouse refunding bonds will be opened. This matter comes up at the present time owing to the fact that no provision was made to meet the original bonds as they became due.

WATER COMPANY PLANS HOUSE TO HOUSE TOUR

Officials of the Plainfield-Union Water Company are conducting a house to house inspection of patrons' plumbing and fixtures for the purpose of detecting and stopping leaks. In the past much water has been wasted by leaks, which at first appear to be trifling, but which gradually assume a more serious condition.

A leak one-eighth of an inch in diameter, under seventy pounds' pressure, or the average water pressure in the territory served by the Plainfield-Union Water Company will discharge 204 gallons of water an hour, 4,896 gallons a day, 146,880 gallons a month and 445,536 gallons per quarter year.

CLASSMATES ATTENDED FUNERAL OF SMALL BOY

Eugene Troiano, the thirteen-year-old schoolboy who died suddenly Friday afternoon, was buried in St. Mary's cemetery this morning, following services at St. Joseph's church. The youth was taken suddenly ill in his classroom in the Watchung School, Friday at 2 o'clock, and died at his home at 6 o'clock.

Father Patrick Hart was in charge of the mass at the church and the services were attended by a large number of classmates. One of the floral contributions was a large pillow with the words "Classmates" inscribed on it. Father Poli, formerly assistant curate at St. Joseph's church, was in charge of the services at the grave. The pall-bearers were Clement Texier, Elston Wakefield, Emile Perret, Charles Charsnoden and Richard Schmidt.

REVIVAL SERVICES BEGIN AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

The special series of evangelistic services to be held at the First M. E. church for the rest of the month were inaugurated last night, when Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, the pastor, preached the opening sermon. Owing to the inclement weather there was a small attendance, but those present thoroughly enjoyed the discourse by Dr. Anderson.

The services will be continued every night, except Saturday, up to November 29. Rev. C. C. Cain, of Grace M. E. church, will be the preacher tonight. Others who will assist this week will be Rev. Dr. D. F. Randolph, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, and Rev. Frederic Hubard, district superintendent. A large chorus choir will be present at every service and furnish special music.

CAPSTICK FILES EXPENSE ACCOUNT OF $2,108.64

John H. Capstick, the successful Republican candidate for Congress in the Fifth district at the recent election, filed a statement today showing that he spent $2,108.64 in his campaign. He was opposed in the race by William E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, the present Congressman from this district.

Of this sum, Mr. Capstick contributed $1,608.64 and Hamilton F. Kean, of Union county, contributed $500.

WILL INAUGURATE SERIES OF INDOOR ENTERTAINMENTS

Parishioners of St. Mary's church will inaugurate a series of "get-together" entertainments in Social Hall, tonight, and extensive preparations have been made for the event. It is proposed to make this a leading feature in the work of this church during the winter and it is hoped in this manner to be able to keep the men together in a social organization.

Indoor entertainments by amateur performers will be given from time to time and competitive bowling, quoits and handball tournaments will be started. Cards and shuffle board games will be other features.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

SCANDAL HUNTING MEANEST KIND

Rev. J. Y. Broek in Discourse Describes the Evils of the Tongue.

NEIGHBORHOOD GOSSIP

Preacher Denounces Those Who Go About Manufacturing Stories About Others—Speech is for Far Better and Nobler Purposes.

'The Meanest Kind of Hunting,' was the subject of a discourse by Rev. J. Y. Broek, at Trinity Reformed church, last night, his text being, "Keep thy tongue from evil and thy lips from speaking guile." Psalm 34:13. Mr. Broek spoke in part as follows:

"The hunting season is upon us. Hunters have gone forth to get their game with gun in hand. There is another kind of hunting in which the gun is not used, but in which the tongue is employed. It is the meanest kind of hunting, and it may rightly be termed scandal hunting. These scandal hunters go about the neighborhood, seeing how much evil and wrong they can find out and sometimes manufacture about their neighbors. Such hunting is not to be commended, nor has it any place in the Christian religion.

"God has given us speech for far better and nobler purposes than that of speaking evil of our neighbors. Speech is one of the greatest gifts God has given man. Therefore, it should not be abused or misused.

"Speech is the mode of expressing our thoughts. There is a wonderful richness to the English language. It contains more than 400,000 words. The vocabulary of the average person is considerably less than this. New words are constantly being added to our language. As expansions in social, moral and mechanic arts are made, as man delves into the mysteries of earth, sea and sky and even into new quests of the spiritual universe, as boundaries of civilization are extended through geographical exploration, and as his horizon is broadened through various departments of enterprise, the English language is enriched by the coinage of new words.

"How many different kind of words there are. There is much harm done by speech. Think of the lies, slander, gossip, oaths, foul talk, sneers and unkind words. We must give account for every idle words which we speak. It was Byron who said:

"'Words are things and a small drop of ink falling like dew upon a thought, produce that which makes thousands, perhaps, millions, think.

"Why are there so many bitter words spoken. We always hurt ourselves, when we try to hurt others. Why should our conversation be soiled by sharp words. There is tremendous evil wrought by uncontrolled speech. James says: 'The tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity, a fire that is kindled and fed by the fires of hell.'

"A Christian should speak the truth at all times. His speech should be pure. No corrupt speech should come forth from him. He will be distinguished by his courtesy and gentleness. We miss many opportunities of helpfulness by use of speech through silence. Have we ever realized the words of help, cheer and kindness which we might have spoken.

"The great unspoken word is the one by which you have never said that you would profess religion and accept Christ. The only way to control our speech and tongue is through the heart. Give your heart to Christ and let Him keep it for you."

COMMITTEE PLANS AN INVESTIGATION

Anderson Says Certain Testimony Before Governor Will Be Looked Into.

Although Governor James F. Fielder held that there was no reason for impeachment or, even for the censure of the members of the Somerset County Tax Board, following the hearing on the application of William de la R. Anderson, for the dismissal of the members of this body, Friday, for failure to properly assess property owned by Mt. St. Mary College, the North Plainfield Township Committee, for which Mr. Anderson acted, is planning to make a further investigation in the testimony brought out at the hearing. In an interview Mr. Anderson said:

"In the case before the Governor, Friday, regarding the impeachment of the Somerset County Tax Board, owing to the political nature of the situation, the township authorities naturally expected a whitewash of the Tax Board by Governor Fielder. But we did not expect that the testimony presented by us would be absolutely and entirely ignored. As axample, M. J. Scully, a member of the Board at that time, testified that he had requested action by the County Tax Board in a motion to them while in session and this motion was ignored by the chairman, Andrew E. Kenney. Another most surprising feature was the introduction of evidence in testimony by Mr. Kenney and Mr. Bathgate that the Mt. St. Mary property had always paid taxes. It is needless to say that after all the discussion for all these years, after a resolution to the County Tax Board that property of Mt. St. Mary is non-assessable, after an appeal and hearing before the State Board, where the contention was still held by the County Tax Board that the property was not assessable, after all the money which it has cost the township, to have testimony presented that the taxes on property were being and had always been paid was a surprising one, one which if brought out originally would have saved all controversy and expense, providing it was true. This very fact alone, which has brought Mt. St. Mary College into the disagreeable light of evading taxes, should be sufficient to condemn the County Tax Board. The township authorities are going to investigate the matter with the idea of verifying this new development and of taking action according to the finding. Francis E. Bodin also testified to this effect."

In the hearing before Governor James F. Fielder, Friday, regarding the taxation of property owned by the Mt. St. Mary college authorities, it is said Andrew E. Kenney, president of the Somerset County Tax Board introduced evidence to the effect that the property in question had always been taxed in that the acreage belonging to the college had always been included with the acreage of Mr. Kenney. The latter paid taxes on both properties. The maps of Mr. Kenney's land were conculted this morning by former Assemblyman William de LaR. Anderson and following the investigation he declared that the maps indicate that Mr. Kenney has paid taxes only on his own land and that his acreage does not include the acreage of Mt. St. Mary's property, with the possible exception of nine acres.

Further investigation of the subject will be conducted by the township authorities, according to a statement made by Mr. Anderson this morning. Following the hearing Friday Governor Fielder refused to impeach the members of the tax board as was requested by the North Plainfield Township authorities, but another hearing will in all probability be asked for. Francis E. Bodin also gave testimony corroborating Mr. Kenney's statements at the Friday hearing.

LOCAL DELEGATES TO JERSEY CONFERENCE

Annual Convention of Sunday School Workers Opens Tomorrow Afternoon.

Plainfield will be well represented at the fifty-sixth annual convention of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association, which opens in the First Presbyterian church, Newark, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, many local churches having elected delegates to attend. George E. Hall, of this city, is past president of the convention and he will preside at the convention meeting Wednesday afternoon. Vice-president Arthur M. Harris, of Plainfield, will be the director of the missionary service.

Every phase of Sabbath-school work will be considered by the delegates, who will formulate plans for making the institutions more efficient in the endeavor to better the communities in which they serve. The various topics interesting the schools will be explained by speakers of national prominence in the Sunday-school field.

Among the special features arranged for the convention will be the quiet devotional hours preceding each session. These will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal church, Philadelphia, and the series of mass meetings to be held simultaneously tomorrow night in as many sections of the city. Other features will be the departmental institutes to be conducted in the convention church and at St. Paul's, Central and Franklin Street Methodist Episcopal churches, and South Baptist church Wednesday morning, and the musical exercises to be held under the direction of Mr. Tullar and I. H. Meredith, assisted by a choir of 200 voices.

Speculation concerning the purely business part of the convention centres on the probable choice for president to succeed E. W. Cooper, of South Orange, who, having occupied that office for three years, has announced his purpose of retiring. Information obtainable at this time is to the effect that an effort will be made to choose a man hailing from the southern part of the commonwealth, but those familiar with the movement decline to make known the identity of the person in mind. It is said further, in relation to the election, that the present staff of officers will be returned to their positions without opposition.

COLD WAVE COMING SAYS WEATHER MAN

According to Weather Prophet John Neagle, a cold wave is on the way, being due to arrive tonight or tomorrow. The predictions of the weather bureau are fair and cold tonight and Tuesday with a cold wave.

Yesterday's rainfall was the heaviest of the year and in fact about the first in the past forty days. It is believed that the downpour will go a long ways toward filling up the streams and springs. Throughout the city and borough streets and gutters were flooded at times and there was a noticeable absence of pedestrians and vehicles all day. The highest temperature recorded this morning was 59 degrees. Last night the mercury rose to 63 degrees following the cessation of the rain.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

A meeting of the Boys' A. A. of North Plainfield High School was called today noon to find out what had become of the association's basketball. It seems that the ball had been lost a few days ago and that all trace of it had been lost. It was found, however, that while one of the fellows was pumping it up the bladder had burst and it not being fit for immediate use had been given to some one to keep until it was fixed. The association then voted that the bladder be mended and the ball returned to the team.

BAPTIST MISSION MEETING.

"The Indian and the Government will be the subject of the monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Circle of the First Baptist church, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Sunday-school of the church. The topic is one that is receiving much attention at present and an interesting meeting is anticipated.

WHEN ARABS WED

Quaint Ceremonies Mark the Long Drawn Out Festivities.

WEEKS OF FEAST AND FUN.

And at the End the Bridegroom, if He Be Lucky, Escapes Without Having Received a Beating at the Hands of the Friends He Has Entertained.

Arab weddings begin on Monday—that is to say, the first preparation commences on that day, when the bridegroom sends to the house of the bride the canopy under which she will walk in state on the following Thursday to his home. Along with this, if he is rich, he sends her a sack full of leaves of the henna plant, so much in use among the Arab women for toilet purposes; also two or three lambs, much oil and grain—in fact, everything necessary for the marriage feast for the women, which takes place in the bride's house. Musicians playing the tomtom and the zummara (pipes) accompany the gifts.

Then a quaint ceremony takes place. The bride, covered with a rich silk barracan, and held by two women attendants, who grasp her firmly on either side of the waist, advances stiffly and solemnly, preceded by a third, who walks backward, holding a looking glass in front of the bride's face so that she must gaze into it as she walks. When she reaches the sack of henna, still with the utmost solemnity she sits down upon it seven times in succession to bring good fortune to her future home. This is a very ancient custom, never omitted on the Monday.

On Tuesday, the henna leaves having been crushed by the women, the paste is put on the head of the bride and a little on her hands. Then she remains seated while her women and girl friends gather round her. Each in turn places her hand on the bride's head, extolling her many virtues, saying how charitable she has been, how generous, that she has given oil and bread and clothes to the poor, etc. Whether true or not is of the least importance.

On Wednesday evening her hands are covered with henna, the whole of the palms and the back of the hand as far as the knuckles, so that they look almost black. The feet are treated in the same way, the whole of the soles, and the rest of the foot in the shape of a shoe.

Thursday is the great day. Now, after these ceremonies, after all sorts of preparations and much feasting with her friends, the actual marriage day arrives. In the morning the bride is perfumed with rich, strange oriental scents. At 6 o'clock in the evening she is taken in procession under the canopy to the house of the bridegroom.

Before entering the room where she will be attired for the marriage she stops outside the door to throw and break an egg against the top of the lintel. As soon as she gets inside the room she breaks a jar of water, both old customs, to bring good luck. The women dress her in fine silk clothes, with many gold ornaments and a rich silk barracan, all provided by the bridegroom. As a matter of fact, only two or three of the rich gold bracelets and so on are given, the rest being hired by the bridegroom for the occasion.

The bride is then left seated in the room covered with a great piece of silk or cloth all over her and hiding her entirely from view. By this time her women and girl friends have all arrived and are feasting and rejoicing in one of the rooms. Now the bridegroom, who in the meantime has been to prayer in the mosque, comes to his house, accompanied by all his friends, singing and making merry.

They all go into a separate room to feast, leaving the happy man to enter alone into the room where his shrouded wife awaits him. Each places a piece of sugar between the lips of the other as a symbol of the sweetness of the married life which lies before them, and the bridegroom offers his bride a gift of jewelry or gold coins. The guests remain till late in the night, very often till the next morning. Endless feasting and music entertain them, for the Arabs have an extraordinary capacity for enjoying both for hours and hours at a time.

For seven days afterward the bride, richly dressed, receives innumerable visits from her friends. Really this is the time of her life, and she makes the most of it. On the seventh day she offers them all yet once again a great feast. After another forty days they come once more to eat at her house. Then the wedding festivities are really at an end.

All these customs are in vogue also among the Bedouin Arabs, but they have others. For instance, the Bedouin bridegroom for seven days after the wedding enjoys himself, wandering through the gardens of the oasis, doing no work, always accompanied by a group of his friends. But on the seventh day he must keep a sharp lookout, for on that day his friends will try suddenly to play a trick on him if he escapes them well and good. Then he can run to his house and be safe. If not, they snatch his clothes from him and beat him, which seems a poor return for the feasting and entertainment. But it is the custom. These people will not omit the smallest ceremony handed down to them by their forefathers. — "The New Tripoli, and What I Saw in the Hinterland," by Ethel Braun.

GERMAN PROFESSOR TELLS OF EUROPE'S GREAT WAR

Professor A. W. Hauck, an instructor in the Plainfield High School language department, delivered an interesting lecture at the German Reformed church, last night, taking for his subject the European war. Mr. Hauck, a native of Germany, has familiarized himself with the details of the great European disaster and gave a graphic account of the causes of the conflict and the results that will follow.

The little edifice was filled despite the inclement weather and the lecture proved a timely and interesting one. Mr. Hauck showed that he had a minute knowledge of the topic and dealt with it in a way that held his audience from start to finish.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Women's Missionary Circle of the First Baptist church, will meet tomorrow afternoon and discuss the subject, "The Indian and the Government."

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will speak on the "Business Men's Prayer Meeting," at the church Wednesday evening.

The mid-week prayer service of Trinity Reformed church, Wednesday evening, will be in charge of the Ladies' Christian Work Society and the Young Women's Mission Band.

The choir quartet of the First Methodist church are planning for a series of oratorios, the first of which is to be given Sunday evening, November 29, when "The Life Everlasting," by Mathews, will be rendered.

The ways and means committee of Hope chapel will meet this evening at the chapel.

The Hope chapel troop of Boy Scouts will omit their meeting this week, but will meet next Monday evening.

A social gathering under the auspices of the local union of Christian Endeavor is to be held this evening at the chapel of the First Presbyterian church.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will hold a sale of home-made cake and bread, Saturday afternoon and evening, at 157 East Front street.

Rev. Dr. Rieney S. Hudson, recently called to the pastorate of the Park Avenue Baptist church of this city, has been elected as president of the New Jersey Baptist Convention for the year, at the gathering recently held at Atlantic City.

Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, will address the mid-week prayer service Wednesday evening on the topic, "Unto Me," using the Scripture lesson from Mathew 25:31-40.

Y. M. C. A. WORK

of Sunday-school in their early 'teens and Marion Lawrence made the statement that there were three girls to one boy in the Sunday-school. A study of 50 Sunday-schools in New Jersey revealed the fact that the largest number of males of any one age was at eleven and that there was a steady decline beginning at twelve. The men who are now active in our churches were boys who were given special species of work to do and this is seen in every organization. It is the boy who is busy who is interested and continues with the work.'

The speaker then showed a number of pictures of young men now active in business and professional life, some of whom are secretaries and physical directors of Young Men's Christian Associations in this and other countries who were formerly active in the Young Men's Christian Associations as boys. Among others he referred to Dr. Charles F. Rathgeber, of East Orange, who first became interested in medicine in the First Aid to the Injured Class in 1898. James Philipson, the boy who played for the singing at the Plainfield Conference in 1904, is now the organist of the Clinton Avenue Reformed church of Newark. Alfred F. Grimm as a boy was attracted to the association through hot cross buns and today is the physical director of the Porto Rico association. Edward A. Osborne, as a boy took an active part in the physical work and is now leader of physical culture in the Naval Branch in Brooklyn. W. H. Burger, the State secretary of New York, was actively identified with the work in this State as a lad. Charles Linc, a Plainfield boy, is now a secretary at Providence. Mr. Scott said, "Scores of others could be referred to, to prove it is a paying investment for the church and association to work diligently in behalf of the growing youth.

"The great question of 'how to reach men' is only answered by beginning where manhood begins and the great need is leadership among men. Personality is worth more in working with boys than equipment for boys in their 'teens hunger for the companionship of men. We chaperon our girls but we leave the boys to choose their associates and amusements with much advice and little guidance. If evil men deliberately plan to win and hold the boys, why not Christian men who will set the example by Christian living and Christian service. Every Christian man has a three-fold obligation. First, to help an individual boy through the trying year of dawning manhood, and this boy may be his own son. Second, to help a group of boys which is distinct and separate from the help given to an individual. It is related to the group and may mean the teaching of a Sunday-school class or acting as a scout master, or leader of the Boys' Club at the Y. M. C. A. Third, to help the boyhood of the community. This is a civic obligation. We should investigate conditions and do all in our power to safe-guard our youth from many of the temptations that they have to face. This also means helping in a financial way to provide the necessary leadership and equipment to do a community work."

In closing Mr. Scott laid emphasis upon the great need today of work with boys of the adolescent age and said that it was fairer to train a boy to do right than to restrain him from doing wrong; easier to cultivate good habits than to remove bad ones; cheaper to prevent the crime than cure the criminal; business-like to form character instead of trying to reform it, and better to win a boy to the Christian life when he is in the formative period than to wait until he is hardened.

PLAINFIELD FEDERATION OBSERVES "WEEK OF PRAYER"

A "week of prayer" is being conducted during the current week under the auspices of The Plainfield Federation of Women's Home Missionary Societies. An interdenominational meeting is to be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Trinity Reformed church, at which time Mrs. Rev. Rose Woodbury, of the Congregational Board, will speak on "The Test of Democracy." Mrs. Charles L. Rice, president of the federation, will preside.

A young people's rally is to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, at which time Arthur M. Harris, of this city, will give an illustrated lecture on "The American Indian." Home prayer services are also suggested for the members.

It is just possible that American athletic followers may yet see W. R. Applegarth, the great British sprinter, in action this year. The British champion still cherishes a strong desire to pay a visit to the United States. Applegarth has not been called for service with England's army; neither will he unless England is forced to resort to conscription. Though Applegarth has done little or no indoor running, he will at once take himself to the board tracks if he comes to America. The Briton is no hothouse runner. He can go at his best pace over any old kind of a track, and there's no runner sprinter on this earth today who can duck around a sharp turn any faster than Applegarth. Those who have seen him in action in the handicaps on some of the little English tracks are firm in the belief that with a month's practice the Britisher would be a "bear" on the American indoor tracks.

Los Angeles instead of Berlin may be the scene of the 1916 Olympic games. The Los Angeles playground commission has taken steps to secure this event for the city, and Superintendent Rait has been empowered to see the proper authorities and put in a bid for the biggest athletic event in the world's history. If the big event is secured it will be held in the big Exposition park stadium, the plans for which were drawn up some time ago by Architect W. D. Cook and which is in the course of being constructed at the present time.

Cornell's 21 to 0 victory over Pennsylvania last Thanksgiving, the first Cornell had taken from Penn in years, came through the squad breaking training the night before the game. Coach Al Sharpe commanded his players to do anything they wished as long as they stayed out late. He then allowed all to sleep until they were ready to get up the morning of the game. Sharpe had a reason in his seeming madness. Cornell teams were so used to being defeated by Penn, Sharpe found the players always spent the night before and the morning of the game worrying and wondering what fluke would arise to bring them another defeat. So instead of following the usual custom of guarding his men closely on the eve of the big game he made them do things that would tire them out and cause them to get a god night's sleep instead of lying awake worrying.

Bill Steen, Nap spitballer, is singing the praises of Bill Rodgers, Portland second baseman, who is booked to play with the Naps next season. "This man Rodgers will surprise the fans," says Steen. "He is a clever fielder, a good hitter and fast on the bases. Bill would have been in the majors before this but for an injury he met with a couple of years ago. He broke a leg when he was just beginning to look good. This prevented him from coming up. Rodgers started out at shortstop when I was in Portland. He broke all fumbling records. He was shifted to second base and immediately made good."

Fred J. Murphy, coach of Northwestern university, is playing in a new role. Murphy played football three years at Andover and three years at Yale. In all that time he did not engage in a losing game. At Northwestern things are far different. Northwestern is a steady loser. But Murphy has them fighting and expects victories to start coming Northwestern's way before his three-year contract expires.

What use has been made of the forward pass has shown it to be the best ground gaining play ever introduced in football, but it appears the time is far distant when the pass will be used as much as are line bucks and end runs. Although the pass is three years old the teams still are afraid to use it except as a last resort. Most big colleges prefer to hammer away at the line as long as there is any hope of scoring on straight football. The time probably will come, if the rules are not altered, when football will consist mainly of forward passes, making it a sort of outdoor basketball.

P. H. S. LOST OUT AFTER HARD TILT

Bad Pass From Center to Quarterback and Latter's Judgment Responsible.

A HARD FOUGHT GAME

Phillipsburg on the Winning End of a 14 to 7 Score—Peacock Plays in Line and Rosenson Calls the Signals in His Place.

Billy Wheelan's bad pass and Bennie Rosenson's failure to use his think-tank, resulted disastrously for the Plainfield High School football eleven, at Phillipsburg, Saturday afternoon, when the home warriors chalked up a 14 to 7 decision at the expense of the Plainfielders. After playing the home contingent to a standstill the Queen Cityites were sent home a vanquished delegation simply because Wheelan threw the pigskin ten feet over Rosenson's head on a signal for a kick and then Bennie didn't know what to do with it after he recovered it. Had the visitors not encountered this little piece of hard luck the issue would probably have culminated in a 7 to 7 tie and the locals would have accomplished their most notable stunt of the season.

The game was replete with sensational plays and both sides fought like demons from start to finish. The lines were evenly matched and the ground gaining ability of the backfields appeared to be as nearly on a par as two backfields can be. Plainfield successfully manipulated a number of brilliant lateral passes, a point of the game they appeared to have down to a science. Daniels was on the receiving end on each occasion and carried the ball for large gains.

In the third quarter, "Bus" Miller, the local eleven's left tackle, was called back of the line to attempt a field goal from the thirty-yard line, but his boot fell a few yards short of the cross bar.

In view of the fact that he was recovering from a recent injury to his ankle, Captain Bill Peacock was sent in at right tackle and Bennie Rosenson ran the team behind the line in the leader's place. Rosenson as a backfield man has done some good work, but his judgment as a general was not up to the standard in the Phillipsburg clash. Grossett, a new man in the Plainfield backfield, held his own in creditable style and looks like a comer in the right halfback dugout.

A large delegation of rooters made the trip to Phillipsburg with the Plainfield eleven and following the game they were guests in Easton, several remaining over Sunday at Lehigh College. The trip to Phillipsburg is the bigest one of the season for the red and blue warriors and the up-Staters are generally looked upon as the most formidable rival on the list. Plainfield has yet to record a win over the Phillipsburg representatives in a football game, but the encounter Saturday indicated that the two forces were as nearly on a par as any Plainfield and Phillipsburg eleven has been since athletic relations were started between the two institutions.

The score:

Phillipsburg		Plainfield
F. Smith	left end	Semer
Krossen	centre	Hand
Mohl	right guard	Chamberlin
P. Gephart	right tackle	Peacock

LEIGHS OUT OF GAME.

Owing to an injury sustained Saturday night in the game between the Vikings and Hope Chapel, George Leighs, guard on the latter quintet, will be out of the game for several weeks. His place will probably be taken by Wardrop, who substituted following his retirement Saturday night.

The Peerless A. C., of Elizabeth, is booked to appear on the Hope Chapel court next Saturday night.

STATEN ISLAND FIVE A VICTOR

Accomplishes the "Almost Impossible" by Defeating Hope Chapel.

FINAL SCORE 30 TO 24

Chapelites Hold Their Own and Set Pace in the First Half But Are Pushed Into Background When Spurt is Launched.

Vikings' players, hailing from the wilds of Tottenville, S. I., threw a live bomb in the Hope chapel first team's camp, Saturday night, and defeat was served up to the speedy Fourth street crew by the score of 30 to 24. Seldom does a rival team leave the Hope chapel court a victor and an opponent has to be a little above the ordinary to take the green and white youngsters into camp. The visitors had everything that goes to make basketball interesting. Excellent team work intermingled with accuracy in the shooting department accounted for a six-point lead at the culmination of the contest and in the second contest of the season the Hope contingent was returned a loser.

During the first half of the encounter it was zip and tuck, the chapelites setting the pace. During this opening canto the Plainfielders held their own in tip-top shape and made the Staten Islanders do the follow-up stunt. At the end of the first period the score stood 15 to 14.

Almost at the outset of the final frame, however, the visitors caught their stride and launched a spurt that for a time baffled the local boys. To make matters worse, George Leighs, the regular guard of the Hope team, was injured and Wardrop, a substitute, had to be relegated to the fore. While Wardrop played a good game his work was not up to the standard set by Leighs and the team work of the aggregation appeared to take a big drop.

The visitors soon passed the home boys only to be overhauled once more. This was the Fourth street crew's dying spurt, however, for the visitors once more grasped the lead and held the upper hand to the finish. Light and fast the Staten Islanders asserted their supremacy by playing rings around their opponents in the last few minutes of play and managed to wind up the issue with a trio of baskets to the good.

Tommy Heron, the veteran member of the chapel crew, was the leader on the offense, Saturday night, accounting for seventeen out of the twenty-four points in the shape of five field goals and seven fouls. Walls chalked up a brace of double deckers and Grisley bagged one from the field. For the visitors, Hamlet, at guard, was the shining light in the scoring department, collecting seven field goals.

JIM NASH PLAYING ON TEMPLE SOCCER TEAM

Jim Nash, Plainfield's versatile representative in collegiate athletic circles, has added another list of sports to his long retinue by "making" the Temple University soccer team. In a game against the Funfield Juniors in the Municipal Athletic League of Philadelphia, Saturday, Nash played outside right for the Temple eleven. The Funfield team won, two goals to one.

The local boy also plays end on the Temple football team and has established an enviable record for himself since entering that institution. He formerly attended the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, but recently returned to Temple where he spent last year. He is a candidate for the catcher's berth on the baseball team and is a member of the school relay team that will compete in the Penn relays.

Y. M. C. A. LOST SPEEDY CONTEST

Plainfielders Put up Remarkable Battle Against Fast Going Newarkers.

SOME GOOD SHOOTING

Visitors Outclass Association Quintet in Team Work and Basket Getting—Final Score 50 to 35—Many Witnessed Contest.

Local basketball enthusiasts who visited the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night for the express purpose of giving the representative association squad the "once over," witnessed a tilt the equal of which has never been staged before for an opening attraction on a local court. Although defeated by the fast travelling and experienced Public Service quintet, of Newark, the Plainfielders exhibited a calibre of court competition that might readily be charged up to mid-season form. In Brynairski, Moulton, Glover, Gavett, Dunning, Taylor, Ricketts, Newkirk and Burner, the Y. M. C. A. has as well rounded an aggregation of court luminaries as ever represented the local branch. Saturday night they battled against odds. The Newarkers had the advantage of a half dozen games' experience this season over their rivals. On the other hand, the Newarkers were perceptibly handicapped by the fact that they were compelled to perform under A. A. U. regulations, rules that were entirely new to them. They rallied to the occasion in great style, however, and readily asserted their superiority.

Although defeated, the Y. M. C. A. crew went under with colors flying. The final score, 50 to 35, falls just about fifteen points short of indicating just how closely the issue was waged. Three minutes before the windup the Plainfielders had their opponents on a par, but the basket shooters from Jersey's metropolis introduced a flashy burst of speed at this juncture and farily showered double-deckers into their net, putting the game on ice.

Speed was the keynote of the playing of both sides from start to finish. Plainfield injected new blood into the fight in the second half and the introduction of new players put added life into the issue. The visitors were visibly hampered by the regulation prohibiting dribbling, but they passed and dodged in a way that at times had the locals bewildered.

McWalters appeared particularly adept at this art and besides doing his share of the guarding and passing slipped nine two-point tallies into the slot. "Porky" Flynn, from his berth at guard, accounted for many brilliant long tries and he made good on ten attempts from all angles of the floor. Plainfield scoring for evening divided. Those who failed to shine in the tally getting were on deck when it came to preventing scores. Gavett, playing only in the latter part of the second half, topped the list with a quartet of field goals, while Moulton and Ricketts filled in for three and two respectively. Taylor also recorded a brace. Glover's work at guard was a conspicuous factor in the struggle. "Cutey" was good last year, but has rounded his avoirdupois into excellent form and he was the whole thing for the Y. M. C. A. quintet on the defense Saturday night. Had it not been for his guarding the score would probably have soared to even greater heights in the last few minutes of rallying.

FOR THE Y. M. C. A. TEAM.

A busy week is in store for the Y. M. C. A. basketball team, according to Manager Dunning's bookings. Wednesday night, Captain Brynairski will put the team through a practice drill, Friday night it is booked to meet the Plainfield High School team in a practice game, and Saturday night the Summit Chapel Club quintet will be entertained on the local court.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SOMERVILLE will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon after 4:30 by Jacob Gernert, the Main street newsdealer.

LIVELY RUN OF WATCHUNG HUNT

Plenty of Jumping and Galloping in Week-end Chase.

The week-end run of he Watchung Hunt Club, on Saturday, proved one of the most exciting of the season, the chase leading through an open field, with plenty of jumping and galloping. The hounds were met at Melrose Manor, being cast in nearby. The first check was at Iselin. Thrown in again, the second line lead to Mt. Pleasant, where the second check was made on the Nichols farm. The final check was made at Goodman's Crossing. There were no spills.

The hounds will be met at Watchung Hill on Wednesday for the mid-week run and on Saturday, following the chase there will be the annual beefsteak dinner at the clubhouse.

Those who finished in Saturday's run were:

R. C. Finch, M. F. H., Harry A. Bourne, Fred Alpers, R. H. Towner, Mayor H. W. Evans, of Westfield; A. C. Cox, S. D. French and Huntsman Harrison.

BLUE TEAM WINS OUT BY ONE POINT

Orange Color Leaguers Put up Strong Fight on Y. M. C. A. Court.

In a preliminary game at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night, the Blue team of the Senior Department Color League, won a hotly contested game from the Orange aggregation by a score of 20 to 19. The scoring was close at all times, the first half ending with the score 9 to 7 in favor of the Blues, and during the entire second period the advantage swayed first one way and then another.

Hummel and Bohl were the leading scorers on the losing side, the former doing the bulk of the work for his team. Harris and Boise played leading roles for the winners.

HEAVENLY REST YOUNGSTERS LOST ON CHAPELITES' FLOOR

George Leigh's juvenile basketball proteges from the Church of the Heavenly Rest invaded Hope Chapel territory, Saturday night, and in the preliminary game tasted a defeat administered by the Fourth street club's juniors by the score of 40 to 17. Although vanquished in the tally column the youngsters from Clinton avenue put up a good argument on the rival team's court and gave a good exhibition of juvenile competition.

Campbell, Bradford and Overland were the stars for the winners, while Dunham did some good work for the losing side.

LOCALS SPRING A BIG SURPRISE

Holy Cross Exhibits Complete Reversal of Form and Trims New Yorkers.

FAVORITES SQUELCHED

Midwout Aggregation Came Here Highly Touted and Made the Locals go the Limit—Brilliant Football Turns the Trick.

Exhibiting a flash of form that made the team a contender for the State club honors in 1913, the Holy Cross football team annexed its first clean-cut victory over a wortny foe on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon, when the Midwouts, a metropolitan aggregation, were routed by the score of 16 to 6. To be sure, Holy Cross previously set up a win by trouncing the Elizabeth A. A., but this latter combination can hardly be considered as a first class eleven. Saturday's verdict was the very essence of decisivaness, the home players being pushed to the limit to get away with the encounter. This pressure forced them to exhibit some excellent battling both on the offense and defense and the New Yorkers were given a taste of real Jersey competition.

While the Queen Cityites were separated from defeat by a margin of ten points, the tally fails to indicate how hard the issue was waged. The sparsely populated side lines were given many opportunities to vent their enthusiasm on flashy breaks launched by both sides and the contest was without a doubt the best played this year on Cricket Field. On the other hand the crowd was one of the poorest. Such is fate, however, and as a result only a small majority of the followers of the red and white will ever know of the brilliancy exhibited by the winners for words fall far short of describing it.

Plenty of open play and a scarcity of old-time plunging was in evidence. Both teams resorted frequently to lateral passes and it was on one of these that the locals checked up their initial touchdown. Jack Caulfield, playing end, got in some more of his good work by nabbing a long pass and romping over the chalk mark for six points. Holy Cross discarded the "boneheadedness" that has been so much in evidence this season and returned to its old time steady attack. The tantalizing confidence of the locals who appeared to be on edge for a reversal of form, had its effects on the opposition and the highly touted New Yorkers soon began to weaken. The Plainfielders took advantage of every little opening that presented itself and invariably made their distance.

Unlike the previous 1914 contests, this one was characterized by the rarity of fumbles. Few were chalked up to either team and these few were of the excusable variety and were not costly. Among the luminaries on the winning side the names of Billy Coyle, Jack Caulfield and Jack Wilson top the list. This trio got in some wonderful work Saturday afternoon. Coyle pulled up a long run that stirred up a round of enthusiasm on the side lines, while Jack Wilson accounted for the yardage registered through the visitors' line. Time after time the Holy Cross leader was given the ball when a few yards were needed to gain the distance and he generally "came through." Caulfield has perfected his game so that he is now an invaluable man on end. The shift from tackle to the extremity of the wing was a good one for Jack and he is now one of the best men on the receiving end of a forward pass in this section. He also did some good defensive work. W. Allen was the star for the invaders.

The lineup and summary:

The lineups of the teams follows:

SIX-DAY GRIND IS SENT ON ITS WAY

Eighteen Teams Faced Starter Dick Rudolph at 12:01 This Morning.

Eighteen teams made up of bicycle riders from all corners of the globe started this morning at a few minutes past midnight in the twenty-second annual international six-day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden. The race, which began this morning, is the sixteenth team race, the six contests prior to that being individual affairs, which were finally stopped by State legislation. The countries represented in the long grind which will have no let up until 10 o'clock next Saturday night are America, Australia, France, Belgium, Italy, Tasmania, Ireland, Switzerland, Sweden, Poland, Denmark and Russia. It will be noted that Germany is conspicuous by its absence because the best of the German riders are at the front fighting for the Kaiser. The absence of the Germans makes the fans feel that there will be less chance of the Allies forming combinations.

Dick Rudolph, of The Bronx, who was the prime factor in carrying the Boston Braves to victory in the National League pennant race and topped his good work by spiking Connie Mack's guns in the world's series last month, fired the shot which started the race.

The race, which will be managed this year by Floyd MacFarland, a former rider, has many features in store for the fans. The principal one of these is the trying of the European finish. In former years the places of the men tied at the end of the six-day grind has been decided by a one-mile sprint, but the foreign riders complained about this style of finish and asked for the European method. Instead of riding a mile sprint at the finish, points will be scored among the riders on even terms during the last hour. At the end of every fifteen laps, a distance of a mile and a half, the leader will get one point, the second two and so on up, so that the team with the lowest number of points at the finish will be declared the winner.

Another innovation is the offering of cash prizes by the management for sprints each afternoon and evening. There will be a total of $2,000 given to the riders, divided up in purses of from $20 to $200.

TOMMY HERON ELECTED TO CAPTAIN HOPE CHAPEL

Thomas Heron, one of the best known basketball players in this city, was elected to captain the Hope chapel basketball team during the season of 1914-15 at a meeting prior to the contest, Saturday night. Heron is one of the most popular players on the team and has been with the squad for five years, since it was admitted as a representative quintet.

This is his second election to this capacity, he having been the incumbent in 1910-11. Heron plays forward and last year led the team in the number of points scored.

RUTGERS TO PLAY W. AND J. AT POLO GROUNDS NOV. 28

Washington, Pa., Nov. 16—Manager R. M. Murphy, of the Washington and Jefferson College football team, announced Saturday that he had closed a contract to play the Rutgers College eleven on the Polo Grounds, New York, Saturday, November 28.

The Rutgers game will make the third trip East for W. and J., as they have played Yale and Harvard. The offer for the post-season game was made by Rutgers.

JUNIOR ELKS' LEAGUE.

The opening game in the Junior Elks' Bowling League will be played tonight on the Newark alleys, when the Elizabeth youngsters will play the visitors' role in a series of three games. Captain V. W. Nash, of the Plainfield Elks' Senior League team, is secretary of the junior organization.

GOOD IN SCORELESS TIE.

Monroe Good, Plainfield High School's leading athlete in 1913, played left guard for the Colgate College football team, Saturday afternoon, when that eleven held Syracuse University to a scoreless tie.

TEAMS IN SECOND NO-SCORE CONTEST

Monarchs and Michelin Elevens Are Evenly Matched Aggregations.

For the second time this season, the Monarchs of Dunellen, and the Michelins, of Milltown, battled on Saturday afternoon, throughout an entire game without being able to cross each other's goal line. The contest was staged at Milltown and was a most interesting battle to watch. As the opposing elevens took their respective positions on the field awaiting the blowing of the referee's whistle signalizing the opening of the fray, quite a contrast was created by the appearance of the two elevens, the Michelins outweighing the Monarchs by fully ten pounds to a man.

During the first three quarters it was nip and tuck with neither team being able to cross their opponent's 25 yard line. The deadlock in this respect was broken in the last quarter, when the Monarchs forced the Michelins to punt after making three unsuccessful attempts to advance the ball from their 25 yard line. "Pud" Maurer received the punt on his 3[illegible] yard line. On a quarterback run by Giddes, a forward pass, and line plunges by Dodwell and Hannon, the Monarchs were rapidly advancing the ball towards their opponent's goal, when they were penalized 25 yards for holding, which resulted in their losing the ball. The Michelins were again forced to punt, Giddes recovering the ball on his 20 yard line, after a Michelin player, with a clear field had let an opportunity of grabbing the pigskin and running for a touchdown. Hannon and Dodwell were sweeping down the field behind perfect interference when the whistle signalizing the end of the game blew, just after "Pud" Maurer had circled right end on a 15 yard run to his opponent's 20 yard line.

The star of the game was Harris, who took "Red" Maurer's place at centre, the latter player having been placed at end. On the defense he broke through the line of scrimmage ten times and nailed the man with the ball before he had reached the line of scrimmage. Harris only weighs 145 pounds. He was pitted against Smith, who tips the beam at 145 pounds. The quarterback runs of Giddes, the Monarch quarterback, and his generalship were also a feature. Captain Evans, at fullback for the Michelins, and Edgerton, the New York University flier, at righthalf, were the stars of the Milltown eleven.

The lineups:

MISSIONARY AND AID SOCIETY HOLD A SALE

The Missionary and Aid Society, of Warren chapel, held a successful sale in the church parlors Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. There was a very large attendance and the rooms were filled from the time the doors were opened till they were closed. Everything that was for sale was sold before the hour of closing.

About $35 was realized by the society and this will go in the fund which is being raised to purchase a new piano for the Sunday-school room. Home made cakes, candy, pies, bread and other eatables were sold. Mrs. J. O. McKelvey was general chairman.

Those who had charge of the various tables were Mrs. Frank Burner bread; Mrs. John Green, candy; Mrs Gibson Smith, cake; Mrs. John Higgins, pie, and Mrs. John Johnson, delicatessen.

GIVES ART EXHIBITION AT ASBURY PARK

Miss Adelle C. Phelps, of this city, gave an art exhibition and reception in Asbury Park, Saturday afternoon and evening, which was attended by many Asbury Park residents and students. Miss Gertrude Conover, of the borough, was also a guest. Miss Phelps has a studio in the Babcock building, but will also conduct a class in Asbury Park at the home of her sister.

The paintings that attracted most attention at the exhibit were from sketches made by Miss Phelps along the Columbia River and among the mountains of the Northwest. A fine display of china was also shown.

Queer Things That Turn Up In the News

Russian officers are so recklessly brave, a Petrograd dispatch says, the czar has requested them to be more careful because he needs all their lives.

Paris is overrun not only with dogs and cats abandoned by their owners, but with animals that followed refugees into the city from Belgium and northern France.

A French soldier was sentenced to five years' labor on public works for refusing to obey a command to wash his feet in a stream when all the others in his command did.

Hugh Turner Salt of St. Louis asked the court to change his name to Turner. "Everybody I know gets too fresh with me," he said. "I'm the pun of St. Louis. At the office they yell at me to put more pepper into my work, and every time I go in swimming some alleged wit refers to the prospect for sea bathing."

TALK ACROSS THE SEA DELAYED BY THE WAR.

Experiments Proved the Possibility of Transoceanic Conversation.

But for the war the human voice would have been thrown across the Atlantic ocean by wireless soon, according to a statement made by H. J. Round, one of William Marconi's lieutenants, who has perfected a wireless telephone instrument which has just been adopted for use in the Italian navy. This apparatus, Mr. Round says, is guaranteed to carry forty miles and under favorable conditions should make voice audible at sixty miles.

The British admiralty has displayed great interest in the invention, and it is being tested aboard English ships. It makes possible the transmission of all orders from the admiral to the captains in the fleet by word of mouth, and should a misunderstanding arise even during a battle it could be cleared away simply by ringing up the flagship and talking the matter over.

"By multiplying the power and costliness of the materials," Mr. Round remarked, "the same device could easily make words spoken in New York audible in London, and that is what we had planned to demonstrate. It would have been wholly a scientific demonstration without present commercial value owing to its excessive cost. But the restrictions governing wireless communication are so numerous under wartime conditions that experiments of that kind are out of the question."

Mr. Round's apparatus is simple and no more expensive than amateur wireless telegraphy outfits. In order to get connection with any particular point a selective scheme has been devised by which an aerial wave of certain strength sets a pendulum attuned to like strength swinging sufficiently to ring a bell at the receiving point. Thus the caller can ring any one of about twenty different receivers without the remaining nineteen hearing the call. Once the connection is established conversation across forty miles of air is easier even than by wire except when there is lightning in the atmosphere, which has the effect of slightly blurring the sounds.

TO TAKE GOETHALS' PLACE.

Washington Believes Chester Harding Will Rule Canal Zone.

That Engineer Commissioner Chester Harding, whose transfer to the canal zone Oct. 31 as assistant to Governor Goethals was officially ordered in Washington, is being groomed by the war department as successor to Governor Goethals in the near future became known, says the Washington Post, and did much to reconcile friends and associates of the engineer executive of the district to his transfer from his present post.

Colonel Harding is to be engineer of maintenance of the canal and will be right hand man to Governor Goethals, acting as assistant governor in the latter's absence. It is understood that Colonel Goethals expects to retire from the governorship of the canal zone in the near future, and that Colonel Harding will succeed him. Colonel Harding was engineer in charge of the Atlantic division of the canal for five years during its construction, and is familiar with all of the details of the work.

Born in Mississippi in 1866, Colonel Harding was appointed to West Point from Alabama in 1885, and on graduation he was assigned to the engineer corps as second lieutenant. He was commissioned second litutenant in 1890, first lieutenant in 1895, captain in 1898 and major in 1906. He was made lieutenant colonel, his present rank, in February, 1913, after his appointment by President Taft as engineer commissioner of the district.

Colonel Harding expects to leave for Panama shortly after being relieved as commissioner.

Learn Soil by Tasting It.

Speaking in the Boston chamber of commerce's agricultural course, Professor S. H. Haskell of the Massachusetts Agricultural college advocated the tasting of "mud pies" as an aid in determining productive soils. "Taste the soil and rub it against the roof of your mouth," said he. "Make mud pies out of it, and soon you will be able to know the right soil."

SAILORS NEEDED TO MAN OUR NAVY

War Now Would Find America 18,000 Short.

SHIPS OUT OF COMMISSION

Department Cannot Find Crews For Twelve Battleships of the Second Line of National Defense—Vessels on Par With Foreigners' and Material on the Whole, In Excellent Shape.

Contradicting the statements of some naval men, the unpreparedness of the American navy for war was frankly conceded in an official statement by Acting Secretary Franklin D. Roosevelt. In this statement he says:

"Mention has been made of the unreadiness of the fleet. It was true that during the past two years maneuvers and battle practice of the fleet as a whole have, of necessity, been greatly curtailed. International affairs have required the use of a certain number of our ships on foreign duty.

"In many of these cases the department has found it necessary, owing to the shortage of men, to use battleships for duty which could have been performed as well by gunboats or small cruisers. This lack of fleet maneuvers is, however, a matter which can be remedied by a few months' practice, and it is hoped that these maneuvers will take place in the near future.

We Need 18,000 More Sailors.

"To provide a proper complement for all vessels of the navy which could still be made useful for war purposes would require an addition to the present force allowed by congress of about 18,000 men.

"Meanwhile the problem is becoming more difficult as time goes on because of the vessels under construction which must shortly be provided with crews.

"For instance, during the coming year two battleships, the Oklahoma and the Nevada, will take their places with the fleet. Each of these vessels will require a complement of nearly 1,000 men each.

"Theoretichlly and on paper the navy possesses at the present time ten battleships of the first line and twenty-three battleships of the second line. Actually, however, only ten battleships of the first line and eleven battleships of the second line can be placed in commission for service because of the shortage of men.

Only Part of Navy Can Be Manned.

"There has never been any attempt to hide the fact that, although the numbers of enlisted men are recruited up to the limit allowed by congress, there are only sufficient men to man a portion of the vessels already built.

"There are now out of commission three second line battleships, three second line cruisers, one third class cruiser, one destroyer, two monitors, one hospital ship, four torpedo boats, six gunboats, one transport, one fuel ship, one repair ship and eleven converted yachts. These vessels are hopelessly out of date.

"It would be foolish to attempt to prophesy what the future will bring forth, but it is at the present time clear that submarines have an undoubted sphere of usefulness in harbor work and within short distances of the coast and that battleships are still the controlling factor in any war in which the belligerents are separated by great distances of water.

Ships Equal to Foreign Vessels.

"In regard to the material of the navy—that is to say, ships and their equipment, including guns, engines, range finders, etc.—matters are, on the whole, in excellent shape. As units the vessels in commission are well built, well designed and well cared for and compare in all types very favorably with the vessels of other powers. In fact, I believe that they are better. In a few particulars, such as the lack of sufficient torpedoes, there is room for great improvement.

"Also in regard to the lack of certain auxiliaries and the insufficient number of scouts much can be done to make the fleet better balanced."

SAFETY UNDER OLD GLORY.

Americans In Brussels Decorated Autos With Homemade Flags.

After being shut up in the American legation at Brussels for weeks, Mrs. G. R. Brainerd, mother-in-law of Brand Whitlock, minister to Belgium, on her arrival in Springfield, Ill., told how she and others worked five days making American flags to put on an automobile when they left the Belgian capital to insure their protection, and added that she "never knew what a grand old emblem it was until then."

As soon as the German occupation of the city was made, Mrs. Brainerd said, those in the legation virtually were shut off from the world.

"All Americans in the city carried American flags to insure their protection," said Mrs. Brainerd, "and when we were ready to return home we found that we were unable to buy any flags. Then we set about our task of making them out of bunting and using white felt for the stars. When opportunity came we secured our passports from the Germans, decorated our automobile with our hand made flags and left."

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Those who sleep in cold rooms will find that flannel pillow slips as well as blankets are very comfortable. They are easily laundered and can be made of outing flannel or a mixed woollen goods, as one may desire. Especially for children's beds are these desirable, and often will prevent earache and throat trouble. If the bed is warm the little folks will enjoy going to bed instead of dreading it.

To preserve boots and shoes, pour a little boiled linseed oil in a tin pan or plate and let the shoes stand in this until the soles are saturated. This oil dries rapidly and renders the soles tough and hard. But do not apply linseed oil to upper leather. Use neatsfoot oil or castor oil for this purpose, to render them soft and pliable. Boots and shoes treated in this way will last much longer than usual and be practically impervious to moisture.

Removing fruit stains from table linen may be much more easily done if the stained part is stretched tight in an embroidery frame, placed over a basin, and boiling water poured upon it. Taking out fruit stains with boiling water is an old and valuable piece of knowledge, but the use of an embroidery frame to support the article probably will be a new suggestion to most housekeepers.

THE TABLE

Bobble Gash (German recipe) — One pound lean pork, one pound veal, one tablespoon lard, three onions, five potatoes, one cup cream, one tablespoon flour. Cut pork and veal in small pieces, put lard in kettle; when hot add onions sliced; as they commence to brown, drop in the meat and stir constantly until brown, then cover with water and boil three-fourths hour. Season with salt and pepper. Pare and cut in small dice the potatoes; when boiled add them to meat with the cream. Thicken with flour.

Apple Omelette—Take four or five good tart apples, pare, core and stew as you would for apple sauce. When done, beat it and while hot add one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon sugar for each apple and two eggs beaten separate. Put in buttered dish and brown slightly in oven.

Steamed Pudding—One heaping cup fresh bread crumbs, one cup raisins, one cup sugar, one cup chopped apples, two eggs, a little salt. Put in buttered dish and steam two hours. Serve with any kind of sauce.

Delicious Eggless Loaf Cake—One cup sugar, four level teaspoons butter, one cup sour milk, one cup raisins, two cups flour, one teaspoon each of nutmeg, cinnamon, soda and baking powder. Save out half cup of the flour and add lastly with the soda and baking powder well mixed. Uncooked icing for this cake: One cup powdered sugar, creamed with one teaspoon butter, one tablespoon sweet milk, one teaspoon vanilla. Press rows of hickorynuts into the icing.

Cup Cookies With One Egg—One and one-half cups flour, three-fourths cup sugar, nutmeg to suit taste. Sift together flour, sugar and seasoning. Beat one egg with beater and pour into three-fourths cup sour milk, then into the flour mixture. Add melted butter size of an egg. Beat until smooth, but not too quickly. Last of all, add two level teaspoons baking powder and half teaspoonful baking soda. Mix free from lumps. Scatter this over batter and stir in quickly. Be sure to have tins greased before starting these cakes. Fill tins only half full. Very light.

New England Lemon Pie—One cup sugar and butter size of an egg, creamed; pinch of salt, three heaping teaspoons flour, yolks of three eggs, rind and juice of one lemon, one cup sweet milk; whites of eggs beaten stiff. Stir all together. Make crust same as for any other pie. Line pie pan, fill with above mixture, bake in slow oven one hour. Makes one good-sized pie.

Lemon Crackers—One pint lard, one pint sweet milk, two and one-half cups sugar, two eggs (whites only), 5 cents' worth bakers' ammonia, 5 cents' worth oil of lemon, a little salt. Stiffen with flour very stiff. Cut in squares, bake in moderate oven.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Petticoats and dresses that hang from the shoulders are the only possible ones for tiny tots, and these are pretty in a simple way. The bloomers, too, are practical. They can be worn in place of petticoats and under any little dress. They are both protective and comfortable.

The petticoat is made in two portions only, so that there are merely shoulder and underarm seams. It can be made with or without sleeves, as liked.

The bloomers are joined to the waistband and closed at the edges. In the back view the dress is finished with scalloped edges, and the treatment is exceedingly dainty.

The dress will require one and five-eighths yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, the petticoat one and five-eighths yards of twenty-seven inch and the bloomers one yard of material any width.

This May Manton pattern is cut in one size only for a child one year old. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7572, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Daily Christmas Hint

Sachet Scented and Silken Lined

Cases like these, scented with your own sachet and made of silk to match the color scheme of your bedroom, would be acceptable to you as glove and handkerchief cases, would they not? Well, the point is this—if you are inspired to make them for some one else find out the color and scent which she uses.

If silk is not liked for these articles silkolene covered with dotted muslin and finished with a frilling of lace makes pretty and serviceable cases. Flowered cretonne is another material which will launder well and will doubtless be as well liked for making these cases as the more expensive silk. But whatever material is used be sure that the right color and scent are used; otherwise your gift will have lost its meaning to the friend for whom it is meant.

Another case larger than these illustrated here can be made for fine lingerie. Often milady has some dainty pieces of fine hand embroidered lace trimmed underwear which are laid away and only used on account of their fragility upon state occasions. For these articles a large case which will fit into the dresser drawer will be found to be invaluable.

These precious pieces of lingerie placed between the covers of the cases which have been thickly sprinkled with sachet powder will be found when removed to have a delicate perfume.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Fanny, dear," said Mrs. Hemings, "I have had a talk with Harry. I told him you had shouldered his expenses for the three months since his marriage, and it wasn't fair to ask you to do it any longer, but he has no work and Gertrude is thriftily banking all the rent of her house. She says if Harry can't support his wife, I am to blame, not she."

Fanny's eyes blazed as she listened. She took off her hat, hung it in the hall, then going up to the limp little woman she said: "I am afraid she's right in part, dear sister. You have always sacrificed yourself to give him everything he wanted. He has not been educated to take the least responsibility.

"What money he earned while single he spent on himself, and when he earned nothing he came to you and it was handed over to him, even if you went without necessary clothing to give it to him. I know how I have felt about it. My heart aches for both of you.

"As for Gertrude, she is utterly selfish. She knows you opposed the marriage because you knew he was unable to support a wife, especially a helpless creature like her, whose only thought is dress and amusement. So here they are, living with you and paying you nothing. Now, don't cry. They are young and they must learn from life's lessons. You leave this thing to me."

"Thank you, Fanny. Whatever should I do without you? If I had taken your advice about Harry things might have been different," said Mrs. Hemings, wiping her eyes.

At this moment Harry burst into the room, saying, "Oh, mother, we have had a phone message from Gertrude's people and we are off till Monday."

"Good-bye, dear children," said Mrs. Hemings, following them to the door.

"I came to look at the room advertised in the evening paper," said a young man, when Mrs. Hemings opened the door next day.

"I'll show it, Mary," said Fanny, coming down the hall. "This way, please."

"Very well, we will expect your trunk Monday morning," Fanny was saying a few minutes later, as she closed the front door.

"Now, dear, we will get all the things packed in their trunks and boxes and have them piled in the hall under the stairs," said Fanny, pretending not to notice her sister's agitated face. "When they come back the room will be occupied, and they will have to arrange some way to live away from here."

"Oh, Fanny, how can I turn my only son out of doors?" pleaded the mother.

"He will never be a man unless he is obliged to face life as it is. You have shielded him long enough. He will never do anything except under compulsion; he is too easy going," and Fanny smoothed back the hair from her sister's troubled face.

When the young folks returned Monday evening, Harry came into the sitting room to greet his mother, while Gertrude ran upstairs to take off coat and hat. She returned in a minute, saying, "Why is our door locked, mother? Please give me the key."

"The room has been rented, Gertrude," said Fanny, coming into the room. "We had a chance to get a permanent lodger and could not let the opportunity go by. All your things are carefully packed in the boxes and trunks in the hall. We knew you had not secured rooms, but we thought we could manage for a few days."

"Yes," said Mrs. Hemings, nervously, "I can make you a bed on the davenport till you have time to look about for a flat."

So Harry and Gertrude found themselves face to face with the task of depending upon their own resources.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — How the Pumpkin Celebrated Thanksgiving.

He Put the Pumpkin In a Bag.

"A JOLLY looking, big, yellow pumpkin lay out in the cornfield after the corn had all been shocked, and the cold north wind was blowing through the stubble." Daddy had begun the evening story.

"'I wonder if I must lie here all winter?' grumbled the pumpkin.

"'Well,' spoke up the crook necked squash, 'what if you do have to?'

"'I'll freeze!' cried the pumpkin, shivering and shaking until his yellow skin almost shook off it.

"'Well,' said the crook necked squash, 'I'd just as soon be frozen as roasted.'

"'What do you mean?' asked the pumpkin, rolling over nearer to his neighbor.

"'Well,' replied the crook necked squash, 'when I was a seed and was being planted I heard the gardener say to his son, "There, that will make us a fine dish for Thanksgiving."'

"'Oh, my goodness,' cried the pumpkin, 'do you mean that they eat us?'

"'I should think they do eat us,' said the crook necked squash, laughing so his seeds jingled.

"'I don't believe it,' quaked the pumpkin. 'I never heard anything about it.'

"'Well, you were probably planted by a man that couldn't talk,' explained the crook necked squash.

"'Well, who's afraid?' said the pumpkin jauntily. 'Besides, I can roll away where no one can find me.'

"'Well, you can't, you know, because you are fastened to that vine,' the crook necked squash piped up.

"'Well, I can break loose from that vine, can't I?'

"'Why don't you try it?' asked the crook necked squash.

"'I will!' yelled the pumpkin.

"Then he rolled and strained and pulled, but he couldn't get away.

"Just then a man with a big knife in his hand came walking through the stubble.

"'Here is a fine, big, meaty pumpkin. I'll take it home for our Thanksgiving pie,' said the farmer.

"So he cut the vine away and put the pumpkin in a bag he was carrying.

"But before the pumpkin got quite into the bag he saw the crook necked squash wagging his head and looking wise, and then, as the bag was closed, he heard him say:

"'Well, you know, that was what you were planted for—to make Thanksgiving pies for Farmer Brown and his family, so you have no reason to grumble.'"

ONE CENT A WORD

O, For a Peaceful Place!

Wherever on this earth you go
You're sure to strike both war and woe,
From Europe unto Mexico
The world is fighting mad.
And even these United States
Are battling over taxes' rates,
And other trouble on you grates
To make you feel quite sad.

There does not seem a quiet place
About for peaceful men to trace
And show you where to set your face
Away from all war.
On land there is [illegible] scare,
On water danger everywhere,
And bombs [illegible] from the air,
No matter where you are.

There's not a corner of the earth
Which not of peace has direful dearth
Or not to fresh quarrels giving birth,
Thus peaceful living bars.
I wonder if we left it, then,
And other worlds were in our ken,
If we would find its race of men
Were fighting up in Mars.

BIRTHDAY OF POSTAL CARD: PUBLIC FORCED ADOPTION.

First Issued Forty-five Years Ago by Austria—A Billion a Year Our Output.

Forty-five years ago the world's first postal card was issued by the Austrian postoffice officials at Vienna. The first in the United States appeared four years later, after public demand forced this government concession.

The principal official argument against the postal card was that such open communication offered an excellent opportunity for the writer of libel to exercise his nefarious work. Official opposition met with popular clamor in other countries, and various were the methods to force governments to follow Austria's lead.

An English army officer in India, where he missed the postal card he had become accustomed to in England, forced the Indian government to capitulate. The government had claimed there was no popular demand for postal cards. The officer set out to demonstrate that there was. He had postal cards bearing his name and rank printed and used them entirely for his own correspondence, inducing his friends to follow his example. The officer was ordered to discontinue this practice. He replied that if he chose to write messages on a piece of cardboard instead of on sheets of paper the authorities could not compel him to inclose the card in an envelope. The legal advisers of the government sustained him.

Today the postal card is universal. In the United States nearly 1,000,000,000 government postal cards are issued annually. The American people are spending about $10,000,000 a year for postal cards.

Two rotary presses, each capable of printing, cutting and distributing the postal cards into packages of twenty-five each package, bound with a paper band, are turning them out at the maximum rate of 4,000,000 every working day of eight hours.

RELATIONS WERE MOST AMICABLE

So Testified W. F. Randolph at Hearing in Hardy Case Yesterday.

SAYS "COL" WAS KIND

On Cross-Examination Effort Is Made to Show That Witness Had No Opportunity to Observe How Defendant Treated His Wife.

Newark, Nov. 17.—That the relations between John H. and Mrs. Hannah M. Hardy were most amicable, so far as his observation went during the year or more that he worked on the Hardy farm, was the gist of William F. Randolph's testimony at the hearing of the Hardy case before Vice Chancellor Howell, yesterday afternoon. The witness never saw anything out of the way at any time, he said. Mr. Hardy was kind and considerate towards his wife, he declared, up to the very time of Mrs. Hardy's leaving the farm, and he had been in and out of the house more than a hundred times during the year of his employment by the Hardys.

Ralph E. Lum, counsel for Henry V. A. Parsell, son of Mrs. Hardy by her first husband, brought it out on cross-examination, however, that the witness had had no opportunity to observe how the defendant treated his wife during the last half of his stay on the farm for the reason that in October of that year (the witness had come to the farm in the preceding April) Mrs. Hardy left the farm, having been driven away, according to other witnesses, by the alleged harsh treatment accorded to her by her husband.

Because of the absence of other witnesses the hearing went over to next Tuesday.

UNABLE TO PROVE CASE AGAINST JOHN RUBIN

Elizabeth, Nov. 17.—John Rubin, of Plainfield, who is a clerk in a drug store conducted by his brothers there, was defendant in an action brought yesterday in the District Court by the State Board of Pharmacy, which charged him with selling poisonous drugs without a pharmacist's license, thus violating the statutes.

The Board was unable to prove that it was Rubin who sold iodoform and chloroform liniment to Joseph J. Rottler, its agent, it being contended by the defense that it was another brother who did the selling and who holds a license. Judgment was therefore entered for the defendant. Josiah Stryker, assistant attorney general, conducted the case for the State.

CHEAPER TO SPEED THAN TO SHOOT COTTONTAILS

"It's cheaper to run an automobile on the streets of the borough than it is to shoot a rabbit, and that's one consolation," said Michael Moynihan, of Dunellen, as he liquidated a $10 fine in the North Plainfield police court this morning. The Dunellen autoist was apprehended by a borough marshal yesterday afternoon, and when arraigned in court this morning was convicted of speeding in excess of the borough's limits.

Recorder Fred Hand, who imposed the sentence, up to noon today, however, had not been approached by petition bearers or newspaper photographers and hence he does not anticipate the usual notoriety that goes with the imposition of penalties in North Plainfield.

WILL RECEIVE REPORTS.

Members of the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Somerset Street School building. At that time the delegates sent to the Mothers' Congress in Atlantic City will make their report. Provision has been made by the association to care for small children while their mothers attend the meeting Thursday, and in this way it is hoped to bring out a record number of attendants.

SEWING AND BUSINESS MEETING.

In conjunction with the sewing meeting of Warren chapel, which will be held at the home of Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, 61 Grandview avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the monthly business meeting of the Missionary and Aid Society will be held.

TO GIVE A DANCE.

The Mt. Bethel Volunteer Fire Department is arranging to hold an entertainment and dance Wednesday evening, November 25, at Mt. Bethel Hotel. Music is to be furnished by Prof. Naylor's orchestra.

WILLIAM H. RILEY WANTS A REPRIEVE

Local Bigamist, Sentenced in 1913, Seeks Clemency From State Board.

One of the applications for release from State Prison presented to the State Board of Pardons at its meeting in Trenton today, was that of William H. Riley, a local machinist, who January 29, 1913, was sentenced to serve a term of from two to ten years for bigamy. Riley was received at the prison February 3, 1913, and the minimum term will expire February 3, 1915. His petition for clemency is being investigated by the Board and it is possible that he will be placed on parole.

He was indicted by the Union County Grand Jury in 1913 and following a hearing before Judge Paul Queen in Elizabeth, was sentenced to the long term. His two wives were present at the trial and the case attracted widespread attention in this section of the State. After he had dealt out the penalty Judge Queen delivered a sensational reprimand to the prisoner, impressing upon him the seriousness of the crime. Throughout the talk wife No. 1 sobbed continually, but wife No. 2 showed no emotion.

Riley's first married occurred in 1904, his wife being Mary Mitchell, of Brooklyn. Later he deserted her, came to Plainfield, and secured a position in a local machine shop. During his residence here he boarded with Mrs. Thomas McGinnis, who, it was said, was one of his former sweethearts, and in 1907 he married her.

At the trial Riley was represented by James C. Connolly, who was later appointed to succeed Judge Edward S. Atwater, and by whom wife No. 2 was at one time employed as a servant.

EIGHT TEAMS STILL TIED IN BIG RACE

Leaders Were Four Miles Ahead of Record at Two O'clock.

Six-day racers who are now grinding around the saucer in Madison Square Garden, New York, are keeping well ahead of the previous record and eight teams are now tied for first place. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the leading teams had covered 801 miles and 5 laps, while most of the others were but one lap behind. Kopsky and Hansen were only at the 800-mile mark with 8 laps to their credit on the next mile. The record for the time up till 2 o'clock today was 797 miles and 6 laps.

No serious accidents or falls were recorded and the riders were taking a very steady gait most of the morning with an occasional sprint on the part of some of the entrants in an effort to steal a lap. The scores at 2 o'clock follow:

Goullet-Grenada, 801.5; Moran-McNamara, 801.5; Fogler-Hill, 801.5; Root-Clarke, 801.5; Egg-Verri, 801.5; Lawrence-Magin, 801.5; Cameron-Kaiser, 801.5; Walthour-Halstead, 801.5; Lawson-Drobach, 801.5; Bedell Brothers, 801.4; Ryan Wolhrab, 801.4; Thomas-Hanley, 801.4; Mitten-Anderson, 801.4; Piercey-Cavanaugh, 801.2; Dupuy-Seres, 801.2; Kopsky-Hansen, 800.8. Record 797.6.

VINCENT W. NASH, SR., TAKEN SERIOUSLY ILL

Vincent W. Nash, Sr., of Prospect avenue, one of the best known legal advisers in this section of the State, was taken seriously ill at his home yesterday afternoon with acute indigestion. His condition became alarming last night and early this morning his ailment developed into appendicitis. It is not known whether or not an operation will be necessary.

Mr. Nash is the father of Vincent W. Nash, Jr., a practitioner with law offices at 221 Park avenue. He is an enthusiastic follower of bowling and although seventy years of age, is anchor man on the Jerusalem team in the Masonic Bowling League which was scheduled to play last night.

EXPECT SETTLEMENT OF MEXICAN TROUBLE

Washington Is Pleased at Contents of Message from Silliman.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Settlement of the Mexican situation was the forecast in a despatch from United States Consul Silliman to the White House today, in which it was said Provisional President Guiterrez had accepted the proposal of General Carranza to retire and leave the country. The details of the despatch were not made known. President Wilson expressed satisfaction over the manner in which the situation was clearing.

Carranza has decided to eliminate himself from the Mexican situation and telegraphed to General Guiterrez, the newly elected Provisional President, that he would withdraw from the struggle for control of the government. Word of this action was conveyed to the State Department by Special Agent Canova.

BOARD OPPOSES FREE DELIVERY

Dunellenites Afraid it Would Help Consolidation With Plainfield.

Councilman Edward H. Dean, of the Dunellen Board of Trade, introduced a resolution at the monthly meting of that body, last night, providing for the free delivery of mail in that municipality. Strenuous opposition was brought to bear on the proposition, however, by his colleagues in the Board, it being the concensus of opinion that this would be a leading step toward the consolidation of that suburb with Plainfield proper. The establishment of a free delivery route would be gained through the Plainfield postoffice and the Board members were opposed to asking any privilege from this department. The consolidation question has long been agitated here and at a recent meeting of the Council, J. Newton Apgar, one of the members, declared, "Plainfield should not be allowed to take Dunellen into a consolidation scheme, but what we want to do is to annex Plainfield to our municipality." Dunellen has a population under 2,000 while Plainfield has about 25,000 inhabitants.

Notification was received, last night, from the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce notifying the governing body that the town had been accepted as a fourth rate member. Plans were tentatively arranged to celebrate the twenty-ninth anniversary of the granting of a borough charter to Dunellen.

A letter written by Secretary William P. Deering to President E. J. Dusel was read. The letter stated that the birthday of Dunellen as a borough was March 23, 1886, stating that on that day an election was held in the village of Dunellen, Township of Piscataway, to form a Borough Commission. President E. J. Dusel said that the letter had been written at his instigation and that its object was to inaugurate a movement to have the twenty-ninth approaching birthday of the borough celebrated with an elaborate program.

A communication was received from S. Percy Townsend & Co., stating that their present factory at Orange was too small, and asking what inducements Dunellen could offer to a factory employing 100 men with the prospect of its force increasing 20 per cent. within a year. The weekly payroll of the company is $1,200. The company manufactures ball-bearing lawn mowers and the famous Townsend grease guns for automobiles. The matter was turned over to Chairman H. S. Garretson, of the manufacturers and industries committee, for immediate attention.

Chairman J. G. Walton, of the committee in charge of the approaching banquet, reported good work. E. H. Dean has secured the music at no expense to the Board. J. E. Dix received a large donation of tobacco. The tickets for the affair are said to be in great demand.

A communication was received from General Passenger Agent W. C. Hope, of the New Jersey Central, informing the Board that they would be furnished on certain conditions with periodical bulletins giving the names and addresses of all persons who ask for suburban information. The matter was referred to the secretary.

WEEKLY DANCES.

Morris Lavere will, commencing Tuesday night, conduct wekly dances in Debele's Hall, on Chatham street, the borough. He will introduce the two latest dances, the "Rye Waltz" and "Half-and-Half." Squire's orchestra will furnish music.

STREET CAR ROWDIES ASSAULTED CONDUCTOR

One Held His Arms While the Other Slashed Him With a Razor.

Because he protested against obscene language used by two Italians on an eastbound Main Line trolley car passing through here at 9 o'clock last night, Joseph McGinnis, a conductor, was attacked by the men and slashed with a razor. The sharp instrument, held by one while the other pinioned his arms down, was pulled down his back cutting his uniform from shoulder to waist and inflicting a slight wound in his back.

Immediately following the episode the men leaped from the car near Hunter avenue, Scotch Plains and boarded a westbound car. McGinnis stopped his car near that street and telephoned to Plainfield. Officers detailed to take the men from the car when it reached Plainfield were told that one of the men got off at Jackson avenue and the other at East Third and Richmond streets.

According to McGinnis the men were using loud and insulting language on the car and he remonstrated with them without effect. Both men drew razors when he told them that they would either have to stop their annoyance on the car, in which there were women, or get off. Only a meagre description of the culprits could be given by the conductor and the police hold out only slight hopes of getting the offenders.

GAVE DESCRIPTION OF BATTLEFIELDS

Dr. William L. Saunders the Speaker at Dutch Arms Club Meeting.

Views on the present war situation in Europe were given by Dr. William L. Saunders, of the borough, in a lecture delivered before the Dutch Arms Culb of the Trinity Reformed church last night, his subject being "Battlefields of the Present War." The speaker also recommended certain literature to his listeners that was pertinent to the present trouble brewing in Europe and advised extensive reading of current chronicles.

The speaker declared that the greed for land on the part of Austria instead of the asassination of the Austrian Crown Prince was the real cause of the present uprising. He said that Austria had attempted to get possession of several minor states in southeastern Europe. He gave a vivid decription of the battlefield and the affected territory, referring especially to conditions in the immediate vicinity of Belgium, where he spent considerable time in his last European tour.

Rev. Ernest Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, also made a short address, using the topic "Man's Work in the Churches." He dwelt mainly with the spiritual work being conducted by the men's clubs in various churches. An orchestra furnished a program of music during the evening and refreshments were served by a committee.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN "PENNSY" ENGINEER

John Emmons, aged about 65 years, for many years one of the best known passenger engineers on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and an uncle of Mrs. Walter C. Dobbins and her sister, Miss Edna VanCleef, of this city, died last night at his home on Tonnels avenue, Jersey City, following an illness with complications which became acute within the past few days. Two weeks ago yesterday he came to Plainfield to attend the funeral of his niece, Miss Abbie VanCleef, and after returning home he was never able to leave the house again. His condition grew rapidly worse.

Mr. Emmons was born near East Millstone, where he spent his early life. Later he took a position with the Pennsylvania Railroad, being fireman for several years. He run with the late William Gordon, of East Millstone, who was the first engineer to be retired by the company on a pension. Mr. Emmons was a Mason, and a member of the Presbyterian church, Jersey City, of which Rev. Dr. Cronin is the pastor. He is survived by a wife, and a daughter, Mrs. Alexander Findley, the latter of Montclair.

EMPLOY A NIGHT FORCE AT POND'S

Local Industrial Conditions Continue to Show Further Improvement.

Local industrial conditions were further improved yesterday, when a small night force in the planer department of the Pond Machine Tool Works was employed. The men went to work last night. A few additional men were also put to work in the various other departments of the plant. Just how long the night gang will be employed is not known, but it is understood that there is sufficient work to keep it going for some time, possibly five weeks. In case of additional orders the work will be kept up for a much longer time.

While conditions in the local shops are not normal as yet, they are gradually improving, according to reliable reports. Should they continue to improve during the next three months this will go a long way toward helping to carry many Plainfield men through the hardest time of the year, the winter months.

CHALLENGE TRUTH OF INFORMER'S LETTER

Phillipson Family Makes a Statement Regarding Boy's Birth Rights.

Despite the fact that Oscar Phillipson, the nineteen-year-old North Plainfield boy who was convicted of two violations of the game laws, has been released from the Somerset county jail pending an appeal from his 120-day sentence, has received nearly as much publicity as the European war and has gained a host of sympathizers, the breach between the Phillipson and Plum families has not been healed. Joseph E. Plum, the informer in the case, Saturday issued a statement through these columns dwelling on his stand in the matter and today Mrs. Lina Phillipson, the boy's mother, and William E. Phillipson, his younger brother, appear in a "come back" role. A letter signed by Mrs. Lina Phillipson and W. E. Phillipson follows:

"Kindly allow us to refute the statement of the 'informer,' Joseph Plum, that Oscar Phillipson is not an American citizen. This is another proof in the chain of evidence against this man, showing his extraordinary officiousnes in meddling with other people's personal affairs. We challenge the truth of his statement that Oscar Phillipson is not a citizen.

"It is true he is foreign born, but his father was a citizen of the United States. Oscar was born abroad, but this does not make him less of an American citizen. If the 'informer,' Joseph Plum, prides himself on his citizenship by the 'accident of birth,' Oscar Phillipson on the other hand is one by choice; besides claiming his heritage from his father, who was an American citizen.

"One of the earliest laws enacted by the National Legislature provided that 'the children of citizens of the United States that may be born beyond the sea, or out of the limits of the United States shall be considered as natural born citizens of the United States.'

"The above statute should be illuminating to the 'informer,' Joseph Pum; whose ignorance of the very elementary laws of American citizenship is the greatest crime against society. We take this opportunity of publicly expressing our deep appreciation to Mr. Love, who generously came forward to help a widow in her dire distress. It is mainly due to Mr. Love's disinterested friendship and unceasing labor toward young Oscar which brought this regrettable incident to the attention of the powers that be; and drew many prominent citizens of Plainfield to the boy's aid, thus thwarting the vicious attempt to ruin a young life."

BUSINESS MEN'S ADV.

The Business Men's Association advertisement appearing in the Daily Press and Courier-News this week, was written by Walter I. Firstbrook. The well-worded sentences and attractive arrangement of the adv. has called forth much favorable comment. It contains many valuable suggestions to the merchant as well as the consumer.

LEAVES THE NAVY.

E. G. Underhill, of the U. S. S. Minnesota, has returned from Mexico, after receiving an honorable discharge from the navy, in which service he has been for the past six years and a half. He and his wife will take up their residence for the present with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Mulford, in North Plainfield.

FAINTS WHEN TOLD OF HER PETS' DEATH

Two Prized Dogs Perished in Early Morning Blaze That Did $1,000 Damage.

Fire caused by an overheated furnace in the cellar of the house occupied by Louis Queren, 612 East Second street, did damage estimated to reach $1,000 shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. When the firemen arrived at the place in response to an alarm sent in from box No. 53, the flames had gained considerable headway and were ravaging through the first and second floors. Clouds of smoke issuing from the windows and doors indicated that a serious blaze was in progress and for a time it appeared as though the building was doomed to total destruction.

Efforts were made to keep the flames inside inasmuch as the high wind would have fanned the blaze into more threatening proportions and in this recourse the firemen were successful. The damage was done largely to the building itself and the furniture was only slightly injured by smoke and water.

The house, owned by Thomas Mellick, is of frame construction and but for the good work of the department would have been entirely consumed.

Two highly prized Airsdale terriers, family pets, were in the cellar near where the fire had its origin and perished before they could be reached. Miss Alice Queren, who was extremely fond of the animals, pleaded with the men to rescue the pets and when told that they were dead she fainted. Dr. Albert Pittis was summoned and the girl was carried to the home of a neighbor where she was revived.

SECOND NIGHT CLUB HOLD ANNUAL EVENT

Many Attended Reception and Dance in Columbus Club Last Night.

Columbus Hall, on West Front street, was transformed into a scene of gayety, last night, by members of the Second Night Club, who entertain 200 guests at their annual reception and dance. The auditorium was appropriately decorated with palms and cut flowers and the entire ballroom floor was given over to the terpischorean amusement. Dainty refreshments were served by the committee.

Among the features was the rendition of several pleasing solos by Edward Harding. Shadow-graph dancing was held at intervals and this furnished considerable amusement for the guests. VanEpps orchestra, of this city, furnished music for the dancing. Other games and amusement consisting of bowling, cards and billiards were indulged in by the guests.

DECISION OF COURT FAVORS M. F. ENDICOTT

Trenton, Nov. 17.—The decree of the Court of Chancery in the suit brought by Mordeci F. Endicott, brother of Dr. G. W. Endicott, of Plainfield, against Philip I. Marvel and others, involving the St. Leonard's Land Company at Atlantic City, has just been affirmed in a decision handed down by the Court of Errors and Appeals. The Chancery decree was in favor of the plaintiff, and the result is that the defendant will have to repay a loan which was obtained for the benefit of the company.

FALL OF CRACOW SOON EXPECTED

Parts of City Said to Be Ablaze With Inhabitants In Flight.

FLOODING IN FRANCE

Germans Are Driven Out of Trenches By Continued Inundation of Land—War Costs England £1,000,000 a Day.

Rome, Nov. 17 (Central News Cable).—Word that the Russians have invested Cracow has been received by the Giornale D Italia from two sources. A despatch from Petrograd declares that the Russian army which has been advancing north of the Vistula has invested the city on the north and is commencing an actual bombardment. The same despatch tells of a sortie from the invested fortress of Przemysl by the Austrians which resulted in almost complete annihilation of the Austrians by the Russian forces. The other despatch comes by way of Venice and says that Cracow is in flames as a result of the bombardment by the Russians.

London, Nov. 17.—A despatch from Venice to the Morning Post says that the fall of Cracow is expected at any moment. "The city is invested on the north and parts are ablaze," says the despatch. "The inhabitants are in flight. The Russian forces have made a very rapid advance and reached Cracow sooner than expected."

For the Russians the fall of Cracow means the key to the industrial districts of Silesia.

A despatch from Rome to the Central News says that the Giornale D Italia publishes a message that the inhabitants of Cracow are fleeing and that the city is burning.

A despatch from Copenhagen to the Star says it is learned from a German source that a Russian squadron has left Helsingfors, Finland, and is steering southwest with the supposed intention of engaging the German Baltic squadron.

In the House of Commons Premier Asquith moved an additional credit for war purposes of 225,000,000 pounds. He said that the war is costing Great Britain from 900,000 to 1,000,000 pounds a day.

A despatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam says that the Fifth and Sixth Corps of the Austrian army have reached Knolubra, Servia, after nine days of fighting with King Peter's troops, who put up a stubborn resistance. This announcement, which was made by the War Department, said that more than 8,000 prisoners, 40 guns and 31 machines guns were captured.

An official statement issued at Constantinople and telegraphed to Amsterdam by way of Berlin says that the British lost 1,600 killed and wounded in their assault and capture of the Turkish stronghold the Fao at the head of the Persian Gulf.

A despatch from Petrograd says that the general staff of the Caucasian army has issued a communication confirming the report from Turkish sources that the Russians had received a check near Erzerum. It says:

"The march of our advance guard in the direction of Erzerum has ended. This march was dictated not by conditions of war but only to fulfill the task imposed on our advance guard."

The communication tells of a number of Russian successes on the march into Turkish Armenia.

A despatch from Brussels says that the Governor of Namur Province announces the clearing work of the war so far progressed that the river from the Rhine to Namur will be Suffering today is worldwide. Never have there been more appealing calls for help from across the seas. But in giving generously, as all MUST this winter, do not forget the just as urgent call from neighbors here in Plainfield, thrown out of work by war times.

Charity Begins at Home

Certainly there must be hearty co-operation everywhere, so that each dollar raised may do two dollars worth of good. Nothing can be wasted. And we should not send a dollar to Belgium without also laying aside a dollar for Plainfield. "Charity BEGINS at home."

THE CHARITY ORGANIZATION SOCIETY works for efficiency; to avoid duplication of effort; to enable all to know what others are doing. This inevitably saves waste of time and money. Where prompt relief is imperative, it gives freely. But its real aim is to help people to help themselves. That alone leads to a cure.

The Society needs a more widespread support. There is room in the work for everyone who believes in these ideals. Let us explain it to you more fully. We want YOUR help and YOUR interest NOW. Call, write or telephone, 323 Babcock Building.

IDENTIFIED CHICKEN BY A HOLE IN THE FOOT

The case adjourned from last Tuesday, in which David Wynkoop, of Lincoln, charged Samuel Anderson, of the same place, with stealing three of his chickens, was re-opened in the Borough Hall before Judge Rene P. F. von Minden, yesterday. One of the chickens that the complainant alleged that the defendant had sold to Louis Feldman, the North avenue shoe dealer, was produced in court. The complainant had alleged that he could identify the chicken by a hole in its foot. The hole was in the chicken's foot and was shown to the court. Anderson was ordered to make retribution and was then released under a $100 bond to await action by the Grand Jury.

FICALLO'S IMPUDENCE COST HIM $3 FINE

As Special Marshal Harry Shugars was walking along North avenue in plain clothes on Saturdy evening, a person by the name of John Picallo, who is said to reside on Bound Brook road just outside of the borough limits, stepped up to him and said, "Give me a chew of tobacco." The officer replied, "No Sir, I will not. Whereupon Picallo not knowing that Shugars was an officer in disguise, made an impudent reply. His words were no more than out of his mouth before Shugars had him by the nap of the neck and was marching him to the borough lockup. When arraigned before Recorder Campbell a half hour later, which was 8:30 o'clock, Picallo was given a severe reprimand by the court and fined $3, which was immediately suspended.

"IT IS DECEIT THAT MAKES A LIE"

The store that misrepresents its merchandise is no less a liar than the man who deliberately tells you an untruth. Heretofore untruthful advertisements have been passively excused on the weak-kneed theory that, "everybody's doing it."

Just how long do you continue the acquaintance of the lying individual? Assuredly not long! Why then, should you continue to patronize a store that speciously advertises its merchandise.

Several states have enacted laws with severe penalties for the commercial liar. Associations of advertising men have started a propaganda against his methods.

Reform is in the air.

Here, we have always told the truth—through the newspapers, through our salespeople. To us the truth and the confidence that it engenders are far more important than the occasional sale negotiated through an overdrawn or equivocal statement.

FIELD HOSPITAL'S FINE RECORD

Inspecting Officer's Report One of Which Men May Feel Proud.

EFFICIENCY IS GOOD

Major Harold D. Corbusier's Command Has Accomplished Much—Detail Reports on the Various Departments of the Hospital.

That the First Field Hospital, Major Harold D. Corbusier commanding, met with the approval of the inspecting officers during the encampment at Sea Girt last summer is shown by the field inspection report which has just been received by Major Corbusier. There are few unfavorable remarks in the statement which has been issued regarding the hospital, and the record is one of which the officers and enlisted men may well feel proud.

While it is shown that the hospital did not have its full complement in camp, and was therefore below the prescribed strength, this was due, it is explained, to the absence of seven men who were unable to attend the encampment. The efficiency of the organization considered as a whole is very good. There are "too many weaklings physically," says the report, but this is supplemented by Major Corbusier, who asserts that there are no weaklings in the hospital, but that there are some "short and slight men who proved strong on the march."

The minimum time in which the hospital could be prepared for field service is four months, according to the inspecting officer, but this could be done in ninety days, Major Corbusier declared. The medical equipment of the organization is announced to be complete, and the efficiency of the officers satisfactory. Following are the reports on the various departments of the hospital:

Sanitation and messing-camp, excellent; tents, excellent; mess tents and kitchen, very good; latrines (system used), satisfactory; picket line, none, as horses were kept in the stable; garbage disposed (system use), removed by civilians, satisfactory.

Rations—Kind, garrison; system of issue, daily; preparation, very good; cooks (enlisted), efficient; cooking utensils (condition, sufficiency and kind), satisfactory.

Drill and instruction—Neatness of personnel, excellent; soldierly appearance, very good; school of the soldier, good; school of the squad, very good; school of the detachment, excellent; school of the company, very good; manual of litter, very good; manual of loaded litter, good; ambulance drill, poor (none before going to camp); knowledge of equitation, fair, none before going to camp; knowledge of driving, good, bearer work without litter, good, practical and theoretical first aid, very good; non-commissioned officers (leadership and efficiency), satisfactory field maneuvres (pertaining to medical department), very good; making and breaking camp, very good; instruction in cooking, satisfactory; camp sanitation, satisfactory; instruction in preventing diseases, satisfactory.

Discipline—Observance of military courtesies, very good; phomptness of formation, good; attendance at reveille, very good; obervance of taps, very good; absent from drills or instruction, none; use of liquor in camp, none; conduct of men off duty, excellent; falling out without authority, none.

Condition of clothing and equipment—Uniform, kind, olive drab, very good; shoes, not good issue; ponchos, very good; haversacks and belts, very good; blankets, very good; tentage, very good; shelter halves, very good; canteens, very good; mess outfits, very good; toilet articles, very good; Hospital Corps knives, very good; first aid packets, very good; emergency cases, very good; orderly pouches, very good; Hospital Corps pouches, very good.

navigable next Sunday.

A despatch from Athens says that it has been announced in the Grecian Chamber of Deputies that Great Britain has advanced the Greek government 40,000,000 drachmas ($8,000,000) to pay for Grecian warships.

Word was received here from Athens today of the arrival of the United States cruiser Tennessee at Vurla, near Smyrna. According to the message the warship took steps to protect British, French and Russian residents there. The authorities at Symrna have fled to the interior, according to the message, fearing a bombardment by the Allied fleet.

Czar Nicholas, after a visit to Ivangoroud, declared he would grant the necessary funds to reconstruct the Catholic churches damaged by German shells.

The Times says no news have been received of the Houlder line steamship La Correntina since she left Buenos Aires on October 5 for Liverpool, and fears are now expressed for her safety. She had about 3,500 tons of frozen meat, which may be estimated to be worth 210,000 pounds. It was reported by the captain of the steamship Van Dyck early in the month that La Correntina had not been captured by the Karlsruhe. The liner was equipped for defense and one theory is that she was in action with the German armed liner Kronprinz Wilhelm, which was known to be prowling off the north coast of South America, and that the vessels were sunk by each other.

Paris, Nov. 17.—Further retreat by the Germans, because of the flooding of the land around Dixmude, is reported in the official statement issued by the French War Office at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The statement reads:

"At Nieuport, before Dixmude and in the region of Ypres, the cannonade has taken on greater violence than during preceding days. On the canal to the south of Dixmude, the action of our artillery checked the works which the Germans were executing to oppose the innundation. The enemy has been forced to evacuate part of his trenches, which were reached by the water. Two attempts by German infantry, one to the south of Bixschoote, the other to the south of Ypres, have been repulsed. For our part we have marked progress between Bixschoote and the canal, and between Armentieres and La Bassee. The artillery battle is particularly fierce in that region.

"On the Aisne some small German forces that attempted to cross the river near Vailly have been thrown back or destroyed. Our positions on the right bank, above Vailly, have been violently cannonaded in the region of Rheims. Some sheels have already fallen on the town.

"In the Argonne region there have been no infantry engagements. We have blown up a number of German trenches with a mine.

"On the heights of the Meuse to the south of Verdun, we have advanced at several points.

"In the region of St. Mihiel we have captured some of the outlying houses of the village. These are the barracks and garrison in part of St. Mihiel. That village constitutes the only point of support held by the Germans on the left bank of the Meuse in that region.

"On the rest of the front there is nothing important to report."

Amsterdam, Nov. 17 (Central News Cable).—It is reported that many thousands of soldiers from the western battlefield are passing through Cologne en route to East Prussia. Eight thousand infantry have arrived at Aix La Chappelle and are proceeding in the direction of Brussels. From Tilsit, two of the big German 40 centimetre guns have passed through Aix La Chappelle, on their way to Dixmude.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Mine warning has been issued to the ships of all nations, the State Department learned today. Through the Consul General at London, the British Admiralty has issued a statement that ships bound for England from Norway, Baltin, Denmark and Holland should use the English Channel and the Straits of Dover. There they will receive sailing instructions to pass safely up the east coast of England.

Liberalization of the immigration laws to permit the entrance of Belgian sufferers to this country was hinted at as a possibility today by President Wilson. The President discussed the situation of the unfortunate Belgians with callers.

Geneva, Nov. 17.—It is authoritatively stated here that the German Crown Prince was transported, seriously wounded, from the battle front to the Royal Palace at Strassburg.

Rome, Nov. 17.—Baron Sonnino, minister of foreign affairs, has requested the Italian ambassadors in European capitals to come to Rome to confer with him regarding Italy's international policy.

LAWS IN PLAIN ENGLISH.

Ignorance of the law is not excusable in the eyes of the courts. The average man who knows little of nothing of legal terms is supposed in theory and practice to be as familiar with acts and ordinances as the lawyer or city official charged with enforcing them, and the lawyer and official are supplied with the draft of the laws and ordinances while the ordinary citizen is supposed to obey by instinct.

Upon the enactment of an ordinance in Plainfield, there must be a legal publication in full in the official newspapers, the act appearing enshrouded in all its legal phraseology. This is deemed sufficient to educate the people for all time to come. If they run afoul its provisions after that, they must suffer the consequences. Now it is true that a few bills are discussed by the general public but some of them are enacted really as a result of public sentiment which is active in securing their passage. The liquor ordinances are examples in this city. Laws continue, in the meantime, to multiply but the general public's knowledge is not enlarged, with the result that it would seem that law violations were growing purposely more numerous.

To meet this situation, the city of New York has adopted a plan which is as practical in the smallest communities as it is in the largest metropolis, and this plan is to issue a booklet form the substance of all common every-day laws and ordinances affecting the general public. These laws are abridged and reduced to every-day phrases so that the reader may readily understand them. Legal terms and lengthy legal form are eliminated.

The writers of this "citizen's handbook" found by experience that five pages of ordinances dealing with the use of streets by drivers of vehicles could easily be converted into a few paragraphs tersely and plainly stated, and this was their general experience in the work of defining the law for plain people. The pamphlets which are simple in language are to be given general circulation. Spread broadcast, these law-leaflets will lessen unintentional lawmaking and intentional as well and conserve community character.

After the first hysteria over the Phillipson rabbit case has calmed down, does it not seem as though the blame for the unfortunate affair lies with the mediaeval severity of the New Jersey game laws? Justice Snape exercised his judicial prerogative when he imposed the much-criticised sentence and even if he had not become incensed at the young man's demeanor, the mandatory statutes gave him no alternative. There will be more rabbits shot out of season, and there will be more jail terms inflicted so long as the law remains as it is. Those to come may have to serve the full time without any indignant calls for clemency from prominent people as there have been in the Phillipson matter. The interests of the sportsmen demand heavy punishment and those daring to kill a rabbit a few days out of season must suffer the consequences. The only relief will come from legislative action and the sooner the better. When Blackstone wrote his legal essays he declared it requires more property to kill a partridge than it did to elect a shire. The same rule applies today, and a few more Phillipson cases will bring the people of New Jersey to a full sense of realization.

The British superdreadnought, "Audacious," was sunk on October 27, but the news was not given to the world until November 14. Is it any wonder that Americans complain of the war news being sing-songy, when the real happenings are bottled up by the official press bureau? Even now the Admiralty has issued no statement regarding the disaster, leaving the people to gain their information in a roundabout way and later on the government will complain of the garbled accounts, printed in America. Think it over.

There's nothing like getting down to the bottom of things. The woman president of one of New York's fashionable cult societies told a gathering Sunday, that the present War of Nations was caused by an act of the God Pan, some 6,000 years before Christ. The defenders of Kaiser Wilhelm, who declare he was forced to fight, will receive this statement with wild acclaim.

The problem of the unemployed in Plainfield is not improving. Up to Saturday night the registration of those wanting work at the Mayor's office reached 231. There has been a steady, and most discouraging increase in the list, and the most hopeless thing about it all is that there seems to be no work in sight for them.

All sections of Greater Plainfield now have up-to-the-minute civic bodies, with the single exception of the borough. North Plainfielders should get on the job and organize in order that when they become a part of the greater city they will be on an even basis with the other parts.

The war abroad is certainly creating prosperity for some parts of the country. The exports last week were estimated at $24,051,402, and in the biggest week the country ever saw the figures only reached $24,926,782. "It's an ill-wind, etc."

The East Second street sage suggests that the City Fathers call the consolidation election in the near future and help relieve the hard times. Needless to say, the sage is a member of one of the election boards.

Now that North Plainfield has disposed of the famous rabbit case, what will it do for publicity? Might have another consolidation election, just to keep the place on the map.

MRS. MARY N. PYATT DIES IN 81ST YEAR

Mrs. Mary N. Pyatt, aged 81 years, widow of Samuel Pyatt, died this morning at her home on Clinton avenue. Death was due to the infirmities of old age. Mrs. Pyatt was born in this vicinity, where she had lived practically all of her life. At the time of her death she was living with her daughter, Mrs. Mary Sturgess. Her husband died a number of years ago. He was also well-known in Plainfield and vicinity.

Mrs. Pyatt was a member of the Baptist church and a devout Christian. She is survived by several children and grandchildren, including two daughters, Mrs. Mary Sturgess and Mrs. M. Watson Payne, and two sons, Samuel Pyatt, of Samptown, and Ephraim Pyatt, of New Market. The funeral will be held at the late home Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. C. W. F. Attlee, of this city, formerly of the South Plainfield Baptist church, will officiate.

HAD NO LICENSE.

T. Aboost, a peddler of Syrian birth, was arrested in the borough yesterday afternoon for peddling without a license, and was arraigned this morning before Recorder Fred Hand, when a fine of $10 was imposed as an alternative of taking out a license for his work. The license, costing $10.50, was secured and the journey about the borough was resumed shortly after 9 o'clock.

MONDAY NIGHT SOCIAL.

The first of a series of Monday night socials to be held at the Social Hall of St. Mary's parish, attracted a large number of men, last night, and all enjoyed playing cards and various other games. These affairs will be held every Monday night during the winter and it is proposed to arrange attractive programs. Next Monday night there will be a euchre.

The third of November, 1914, will go down in history as a second Independence Day for the four great sovereign States of Colorado, Oregon, Washington and Arizona, for on that day by the vote of the men and women people they forever declared their emancipation from the legalized liquor traffic. The victories of this day mark a new epoch in the history of prohibition and reform, for they demonstrated beyond dispute that the women voters of the nation have determined to use their franchise rights to abolish from this nation the sale and manufacture of alcoholic liquors. The result of the vote on the question of the suffrage amendment in Montana and Nevada is hardly less a victory over the liquor interests for "the trade" was known to be the only really formidable opponent of the "votes for women" movement in these two campaigns.

The four new prohibition States cover an aggregate territory of nearly 400,000 square miles, and represent a population of nearly 3,000,000.

With their accession, fourteen States now have either statutory or constitutional prohibition, Virginia having on September 22 last adopted statutory prohibition by a majority of over 30,000. These fourteen States have an aggregate population of nearly 20,000,000, or approximately one-fifth of the population of our country. Over 50,000,000 people live in no-license territory, and the area of the prohibition States combined with the saloonless territory in other States comprises more than three-fourths of the country.

In all of the four States voting on November 3 the amendment was submitted to the people through the initiative. Petitions were circulated among the voters early in the year, and the campaigns have been in full swing during the summer and fall. The victory was achieved through the united efforts of all the temperance organizations of the country. The educational work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in past years prepared the way by making sentiment for prohibition among those who are now voting citizens. The white ribboners of the various States have been tireless in every form of activity during the last few months; their speakers and workers have fearlessly covered even the most difficult and dangerous sections of the States; they have faced dangers by sea and by land; they have toiled far into the hours of the night; they have sacrificed not only leisure and luxuries, but comforts and necessities. They have fought a good fight, and they have been gloriously rewarded in the victory of November 3, 1914.

Out of a total of 1,478 prisoners confined in the Eastern Penitentiary, 1,008 have signed a petition which will be submitted to the next Legislature asking State-wide prohibition.

The petition is probably the strongest sociological argument ever made against the liquor traffic. Without a word or even a suggestion from Warden McKentry, the prisoners confined signed their names, and in many instances volunteered to go before a legislative committee and tell how drink has wrecked their lives.

"It is unique, and the most manly document ever sent from a penal institution," was the terse comment of Warden McKentry. "It is an appeal to decent men serving in the Legislature to come to the aid of unfortunates confined in this institution. Seventy per cent. of the prisoners claim that their downfall is due to rum. . It is certainly a wonderful argument against the liquor traffic."

If there remained in the minds of the advocates of personal liberty the shadow of a doubt as to the attitude of women voters on the question of the liquor traffic, it was certainly dissipated on November 3, 1914, when "with ballots plenty" the voters of the "weaker" sex buried out of sight "the trade" in the States of Colorado, Oregon, Washington and Arizona. From the days of the crusade the mothers, wives and daughters have prayed and pleaded, agonized and labored for the abolition of the saloon, and a measure of success has resulted from their efforts. But by sad experience and dire and repeated disappointment they learned that such methods were slow and often ineffective, and in order that they might attain the righteous end desired they asked for suffrage rights, and when they possessed these rights, they straightaway used them as they had all these years used their indirect influence—to put out of existence the age-long enemy of the home, the liquor traffic.

GREAT TASK OF SAVING HUMANITY

Rev. C. C. Cain Sounds Challenge to Christians at Revival Services.

The evangelistic services begun at the First M. E. church, Sunday night, were continued last evening when a large congregation gathered to hear Rev. C. C. Cain, of Grace M.E. church. Mr. Cain gave a most impressive exposition of verses five and six of the second chapter of the Epistle to the Philippians: "Have this mind in you which was also in Christ Jesus, who existing in the form of God, counted not the being in an equality with God a thing to be garbed."

The sermon sounded a challenge to Christian men and women to prize nothing above the privilege of sharing with Jesus His great task of redeeming humanity from misery and sin, to be willing to put aside pride and dignity and consciousness of superior social position in order to get next to them in need, getting under their needs and lifting them to God.

"This does not mean," continued Mr. Cain, "that the Christian should be lacking in appreciation of the value of culture and of the social graces or in short, of any of the refinements of life, but that all these things should be counted cheap in comparison with the duty of meeting human need."

Mr. Cain closed by relating Jane Addams' story of the little girl who persisted, in spite of her teacher's pleadings, in coming to school with dirty hands. At Easter time the teacher brought into the schoolroom a beautiful Easter lily. Around this the children crowded to observe its beauty and catch its fragrance. Among them came the little girl who was soon seen to place a finger alongside one of the blossoms. Comparing the spotless white of the flower with the unclean hands, she was overcome by the contrast and rushed out to wash her hands as clean as she could.

"The Christian," said Mr. Cain, "is to carry Jesus in His beauty and purity to men and women and win them to Him just as the Easter lily of the story won the little girl to cleanliness." Tonight the speaker will be Rev. D. B. F. Randolph, of the Monroe Avenue church. There will be singing by a large chorus choir.

REV. JOHN BALTZLY ACCEPTS THE CALL

Rev. John Baltzly, of Hudson, Mass., has notified the congregation of All Souls' Unitarian church, of this city, that he has accepted the call of that church, recently extended to him. Mr. Baltzly, who has been pastor of the church at Hudson during the past sixteen years, succeeds Rev. A. E. Wilson, who resigned the pastorate last spring owing to poor health. The call to Mr. Baltzly, after his having preached at the local edifice upon different occasions, was unanimous.

It has not been announced as yet when Mr. Blatzly will come to this city to begin his work. His family consists of a wife and three sons.

ANOTHER PTOMAINE VICTIM.

Richard D. Scott, of Stebbins place, returned to work yesterday after a severe attack of ptomaine poisoning, caused, it is believed, by eating oysters. He suffered excruciating pain until Dr. Rafael Yood succeeded in placing him out of danger. Mr. Scott sustained the attack shortly after dinner at his home, Friday noon.

PHILLIPSON CASE BEFORE THE COURT

Pardons Board Meets in Trenton Today to Consider 241 Applications.

Trenton, Nov. 17—The Court of Pardons, today, continued until its next meeting the final action in the case of Oscar Phillipson, the Somerset county youth who was sent to jail for 120 days for shooting a rabbit out of season in his yard. Phillipson is out on bail and when this fact was laid before the Pardons Court it decided to make a further investigation of the case, meanwhile Phillipson will remain out on bail. The date for the next meeting has not been fixed.

Trenton, Nov. 17.—Among the cases before the State Board of Pardons at its first meeting of the November term today was that of Oscar Phillipson, the nineteen-year-old North Plainfield boy who was convicted in the borough of violating the game laws by shooting a rabbit out of season, and also with carrying a repeating rifle. He was fined $120, with the option of spending 120 days in the Somerset county jail at Somerville, but after serving eight days of the sentence was released on $250 bail, pending an appeal from the conviction. The original sentence would expire March 9, 1915.

A total of 241 applications were laid before the court from convicts in State Prison asking for clemency. This list includes the plea of twenty-one murderers who ask for parole, and three murderers who already have parole and want pardons.

Another case before the court is that of John E. Schuyler, convicted of murder in Hunterdon county in 1907 and whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. Schuyler was charged with killing Manning Riley at Califon. Several persons have claimed that Schuyler was innocent, and another prison convict has made a statement that another man confessed to killing Riley. The Hunterdon county grand jury, however, last summer placed no credence in this alleged confession. The court today received an affidavit from Charles Raube, of Trenton, who was night watchman at the jail in Flemington when Schuyler was confined there, declaring his belief in Schuyler's innocence because during a period of five months he was unable to get from the prisoner, through "third degree" methods, any confession.

The list of applicants from Union county is as follows:

Brancazio, Tomasso—Atrocious assault and battery; sentenced, November 15, 1911; term, three and one-half to seven years; expiration, May 21, 1915.

Miller, Frank—Breaking, entering and larceny; sentenced, December 28, 1910; term, [illegible]; expiration, November 22, 1915.

Moriarity, Thomas—Breaking, entering and larceny, and breaking and entering; sentenced, June 20, 1913; term, one and one-half to seven years; expiration (minimum), December 27, 1914.

Reilly, William H.—Bigamy; sentenced, January 29, 1913; term, two to ten years; expiration (minimum), February 3, 1915.

Sushko, Fred—Breaking, entering and larceny; sentenced, January 7, 1912; term, three and one-half to seven years; expiration (minimum), July 23, 1915.

Tate, James V.—Assault with intent to kill; sentenced, February 21, 1913; term, two to twelve years; expiration (minimum), February 27, 1915.

Turner, William J.—Larceny; sentenced, July 11, 1913; term, one to three years; expiration (minimum), June 28, 1920.

Weir, Nathaniel—Keeping disorderly house; sentenced, November 7, 1913; term, one and one-half to three years; expiration (minimum), May 14, 1915.

Wilson, Martin—Breaking, entering and larceny; sentenced, April 11, 1911; term, three and one-half to seven years; expiration (minimum), July 20, 1916.

Wolosewich, Charles — Breaking, entering and larceny; sentenced, January 17, 1912; term, three and one-half to seven years; expiration (minimum), July 23, 1915.

Yanavich, William—Larceny; sentenced, November 21, 1913; term, one to seven years; expiration (minimum), November 28, 1914.

AMERICANS MAY GET THEIR BAGGAGE BACK FROM ABROAD

Washington, Nov. 17.—Baggage of American fugitives from the European theatre of war is to be brought back on the order of the owners. This is the dictum issued today by the State Department which has been in touch with the European governments and especially Germany, where many automobiles and trunks had been left. Most of the former have been commandeered by the army authorities. They now will be paid for, either in kind or in cash. Today it was announced at the department that if American refugees will mail receipts or other evidences of authority with descriptions of missing trunks to American Consul General Lay at Berlin, through the department, efforts will be made to have the trunks restored.

UNION C. E. SOCIAL WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Ten Societies Represented at Gathering at First Presbyterian Church.

Christian Endeavor Societies of this city and Dunellen were present at the Union C. E. social held in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church, this city, last night. The societies represented were: First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Trinity, Temple Baptist, Seventh-Day Baptist, Warren chapel, Hope chapel, Evona chapel, New Market Baptist and Dunellen Presbyterian.

Theodore W. Day, of Dunellen, president of the Union, was in charge The program was interesting, every society present having some part. The First Baptist delegation was the first to be called upon by Mr. Day, and James Dunwell, president of that society, responded with a monologue entitled "An Italians' Baseball Game." The piece was very humorous throughout and the speaker was given much applause.

Miss Georgia Ricker, representative entertainer for the First Presbyterian society, was next and she also recited a piece which was followed by an encore. The Trinity group changed the atmosphere and gave their "C. E. yell," which was loudly applauded. The Warren chapel young people formed a charade and left the audience to guss the name. The answer was "Woodrow Wilson,' and it was cleverly arranged by the actors. The Hope chapel part of the program was a vocal solo given by Miss Eckert, and Miss Katherine M. Hess, of Evona chapel, gave two recitations entitled "O'Grady's Goat" and "The German Philosopher." Later in the evening she was called upon again. Miss Ruth Miller, of Warren chapel, recited "Jim was My Friend," and Miss Aline Giddes, of the same society, also entertained

The regular program was followed by a general social time and refreshments were served by the committee in charge. The committee consisted of the following: The Misses Anna Bach, chairman; Clara Karner, Mrs. James Penny, and Theodore Martin, Herbert Cubberly, David Warhop and Cedric Ostrom.

"THE SOCIAL FORCE OF THE A. M. A. IN THE SOUTH"

Mrs. F. W. Wilcox, secretary of the Women's Work of the American Missionary Association, will address the mid-week prayer service at the Congregational church, tomorrow evening, and will be in keeping with the week of prayer being conducted in this city by the Federation of Women's Missionary Societies. The gathering at this time will be under the auspices of the Women's Association, and the Girls' Mission Club. Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich will be in charge, while a quartet from the Girls' Club will lead the singing.

Mrs. Wilcox will address the gathering on the topic, "The Social Force of the A. M. A. in the South." The thank-offering envelopes will be received at this time. The entire congregation of the church, as well as others interested, are invited to attend.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

John Drew's visits are always theatrical events of extreme interest and importance and the announcement of his appearance at the Plainfield Theater for a single performance this evening, is a very welcome one. Double interest attaches to his present engagement since he is to be seen in the new comedy in which he has been appearing ever since the opening of the current season at the Empire Theatre in New York. The new comedy is "The Prodigal Husband," by Dario Niccodemi and Michael Morton, collaborators who are credited with having fitted Mr. Drew with one of the best roles he has had in recent seasons. "The Prodigal Husband" differs somewhat from several of the vehicles in which this distinguished player has lately been seen. Aside from its laughter-arousing elements the story contains much unexpected tenderness and an extremely ingenious child scene, in which real pathos occasionally interrupts the charming humor. In scenes at such wide variance with one another Mr. Drew is supplied with the opportunity for subtle and differing characterization and his success in the new comedy is due to the splendid and artistic fashion in which he meets these requirements. As the title suggests, Mr. Drew appears as a husband slightly given over to the "bohemian" life and the story deals with his career during a tempestuous period in which his young wife has become estranged from him. In an extremely interesting and sympathetic manner his shortcomings are brought home to him by a slip of a girl in whom he has evinced a protecting interest, the child of his housekeeper. Through a series of amusing scenes, replete with sparkling dialogue and delightful situations, his adventures make their way to a denouement at once unexpected and charming. Needless to say the prodigal is received by the wife with welcoming arms and the little girl who has been the cause of his awakening also finds her happiness. Charles Frohman has been extremely generous in surrounding Mr. Drew with a splendid supporting company. The role of the girl to whom the prodigal owes his reformation is played by Miss Martha Hedman, agreeably recalled for the pleasant impression she made on American playgoers when seen here two seasons ago with John Mason in "The Attack." During the past year Miss Hedman has been leading woman with Sir George Alexander at the St James Theatre in London, having been brought to this country by Charles Frohman at the beginning of the present season for her new role in "The Prodigal Husband." Surrounding players in Mr. Drew's supporting company are Ferdinand Gottschalk, Henry Crocker, Harry Leighton, Clinton Preston, Grace Carlyle, Helen Hayes Brown, Rose Winter, Josephine Morse, May Galyer, Walter Soderling and J. Homer Hunt.

Vivian Martin, one of the most fascinating ingenues of the stage, is starring in the forthcoming World Film Corporation release based on Owen Davis' play, "The Wishing Ring." This play was the vehicle Marguerite Clark used in making her entrance into the legitimate theatre. "The Wishing Ring" is one of three plays that Owen Davis has written of which World Film Corporation has secured the motion picture rights. The other two being "Lola," in which Clara Kimball Young is starring and "A Marked Woman," in which Barbara Tennant plays the title role. At present Miss Martin is being seen with Lew Fields' company in "The High Cost of Living" at the Republic Theatre, New York city. Her charming personality has been felt for several years on the stage since she made her debut with Charles Warner in his famous play "Drink." Later she was seen with Andrew Mack. As "Peter Pan" in the children's company that Charles Frohman assembled to present the Barrie masterpiece, "Peter Pan," Miss Martin did notable work on the stage. When that play was withdrawn, she joined the William H. Crane company, appearing in George Ade's "Father and the Boys." Later she was seen in "The Only Son," with Wallace Eddinger. Her recent appearances have been in the two farces, "Officer 666" and "Stop Thief." During the past season Miss Martin appeared in Alexander Carlisle's supporting company in "The Marriage Game." The past summer saw her as a member of the company that presented the Hattons' comedy, "The Call of Youth," in Chicago. Miss Martin comes from an old English acting family, and her performances in "The Wishing Ring" marks her debut into the screen world. This picture will be presented at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The opening bill for the week as presented at Proctor's Theatre for the first time, yesterday, includes a wide variety of good acts. Laughs are plentiful all the way through, and there is also novelty, protean acting and good singing. Miss Adele Oswold, assisted by Jerry Jarnigan, offer a high class singing and piano number second to none. Startling feats of marksmanship and clever slack wire work are seen in the act of Langslow & Co. Mr. Langslow's expert shooting of glass bulbs clustered about his partner's head outshoots the famous William Tell and brings the novel act to a startling climax. Eldon and Clifton's protean comedy, "His Awful Nightmare," gives Miss Clifton an opportunity to display her ability as a character impersonator, while the offering of Duran and Raymond, comedians, is one succession of laughs. "The Unusual Comedian," Henry Frey, is the fifth number of the bill, singing new songs and telling new jokes in an "Unusual" way. The next installment of "The Million Dollar Mystery" will be shown tomorrow.

A protean comedy sketch that is both new and novel was presented by G. Harris Elden and Bessie Clifton at Proctor's Theatre yesterday, under the title of "His Awful Nightmare." In it Dick Swift, on the day of his marriage, falls asleep and dreams he is already to three other wives married, who come to take him back to the countries from which they hail. One a Japanese, one a Dutch girl, with wooden shoes, and one a Spanish senorita, with vengeance and a stiletto. Mr. Elden, who plays the part of Dick Swift, gets these various wives into different rooms when has affianced wife appears on the scene. Much comedy is extracted from the situation. Miss Clifton appears as the different wives, making five complete changes of characters and costumes in a marvelous and quick manner. The comedy will continue to be seen at Proctor's today and tomorrow.

BY MORRIS MILLER

"How came I to be a promoter?" Jimmy Coffroth considered the question a moment. "Well," he began, "it was, you might say, accidental. Thirteen years ago, I, James Coffroth, was secretary of the superior courts of San Francisco. But I happened at this time to visit New York city. Did it ever occur to you what a little thing will sometimes change a man's life? This trip changed mine. It so happened that in New York at this time the Horton law expired, practically killing the boxing game in the east. Jim Kennedy, the country's foremost sporting promoter, suggested that we come west together and organize a club to promote boxing. I accepted. Kennedy and I worked together until his death in 1904, and since then I have been in the game alone." And that is how James Coffroth became the world's premier sporting promoter. "In the course," continued Coffroth, "of my thirteen years in the fight game I have promoted 200 glove contests, fifty of them world's championship battles." This record is unequaled in the history of the Queensberry game.

Realizing that he has a ball team to rebuild, John McGraw has returned to his desk at the New York office of the ball club and is busily engaged getting matters in shape for next season. When the season closed McGraw took a few weeks' vacation, but he is back on the job now, and it would not be surprising if he had some things to announce shortly that will once more prove him to be a decidedly active man when it comes to running a ball team. McGraw, however, is not apt to make as many changes in his team as was hinted when the Giants were beaten out of the pennant. He will not dispose of any of his old players until he is positive that he has as good or better youngsters to take the place of his seasoned material.

Abe Attell attained more than the usual modicum of popularity when he stepped into the "33" circle to exchange facers with the heavier laddybucks. Likewise, he accumulated much of the stuff which is classically, though mythically, known as filthy lucre. Attell made a small fortune. But he didn't have it when he went out. An ingrown passion for poker and miscellaneous wagering cut deeply into the Attell exchequer. So, when the illustrious Hebrew dropped from the first rank he owned nothing to brag about.

Charles W. Somers, owner of the Naps, does not believe the Federal league will have a team in Cleveland in 1915. This in spite of the activities of M. F. Bramley and his associates, who have just secured a park site. "Peace will be declared before next season starts, and I think the peace plans will call for Cleveland having only one team, the Naps," Somers said.

Walter Camp says the wind is likely to play some strange tricks in the new bowl at New Haven. The wind is said to run in little whirlpools and eddys and the crowd at the Yale vs. Harvard game is likely to see some difficulty in the players handling punts.

University of Pennsylvania football players were hard hit by the scouring they received at Ann Arbor. Several have announced that they will not accept a varsity letter from the athletic association because they played in the Michigan game. They will not ask for their "P" unless Penn beats either Dartmouth or Cornell.

Ad Wolgast, Battling Nelson and Johnny Coulon made neat fortunes in the ring and still had them when the impressive kayo came over. Kilbane ranks with the rest—not in wealth just yet, but in manners and inclinations. There isn't a cleaner living boxer in the game than Kilbane. Nor is there any one who better realizes the value of the dollar. Also the champion has business ability. What investments he does make will be reasonably safe.

For thirty-two years the Phillies have failed in their annual fight for a National league gonfalon. In this time ten managers have come and gone. We wonder if we'll be writing the same about Pat Moran this time next season?

PLAINFIELD vs. WESTFIELD.

The Plainfield Five, a basketball team composed of players from this city and borough, will play the K. B. aggregation, of Westfield, at St. Paul's parish house, that place, Friday night. The Westfielders have the advantage of the locals, having played two games and won them both, while this will be an opener for the Queen Cityites.

K. OF C. BIRD TOURNEY WILL START THURSDAY

Eight Team League Will Get Into Action Day After Tomorrow.

The Knights of Columbus eight team bowling league will start Thursday night, on the club's alleys. The teams have been named after domestic birds and the following names have been given to the teams: Peacocks, Doves, Robins, Quails, Sparrows, Hawks, Parrots, Crows. The opening match will be rolled between the Crows and the Parrots and next Monday the Quails and Robins will play. The full schedule has not been arranged.

Each man that is eligible to play has been given an average and if he fails to show up to play on the night his team is scheduled, the match is played and this average given to the missing player. This method will do away with postponements because players fail to appear. The captains of the teams have been rated at an average of 175 and the figures range from that figure to 135. The players, captains and their averages follow:

Peacocks—George Taylor, 175 (Capt.); Pat McDonough, 165; Tom McInerney, 155; Jim Ellis, 145; Joe Green, 135. Doves—Clint Shannon, 175 (Capt.); Jim Cullen, 165; Bernard Brady, 155; Joe McCarty, 145; Frank Donnolly, 135. Robins—Joe Sullivan, 175 (Capt.), Miles Wilson, 165; J. J. Greene, 155; Joe Kennedy, 145; Jim Meany, 135. Quails—Mike Moynihan, 175 (Capt.); Art Cannon, 165; Dave Doyle, 155; Jas. Lynch, 145; M. B. Caffery, 135. Sparrows—George Howe, 175 (Capt.); Harry Shannon, 165; John Coffy, 155; J. T. Caulfield, 145; Con Regan 135. Hawks—Frank McInerney, 175 (Capt.); Fred Hillman, 165; Tom Carty, 155; Vincent Meany, 145; Edward Feiring, 135. Parrots—James Strappe, 175 (Capt.); John Duffy, 165; John Wilson, 155, Joe Tobin, 145; Frank Burke, 135. Crows—Harry Pasch, 175 (Capt.); John Kyle, 165; John McCarty, 155; Dan McAfee, 145; Joe Murray, 135.

The schedule for next week:

Thursday, November 19, Crows vs. Parrots.

Monday, November 23, Quails vs. Robins.

Friday, November 27, Doves vs. Hawks.

ELIZABETH ELKS WIN IN JUNIOR TOURNEY

In the initial Junior Elks' League bowling match of the season, decided last night on the alleys of the Newark Elks in Green street, the home five dropped two games out of three to their rivals from Elizabeth. The Newark quintet started well enough with a total of 930, while the visitors accounted for only 814. The Elizabeth five, however, came back with totals of 938 and 914 and these were sufficient to win. The Newarks, however, made an excellent fight of it in both the second and third games. They had 897 in the second game, losing by only forty-one pins, and a total of 888 in the windup affair was only twenty-six pins less than the visitors had. Van Bergen rolled 221 for Elizabeth and Keller had 204. Jackson scored 224 and 202 for Newark and Weber had marks of 200.

The scores:

ELIZABETH.
Blythe	154	192	188
Foote	198	173	138
Keller	173	204	188
Seihl	155	186	179
VanBergen	154	183	221
	814	938	914
NEWARK.
Ayers	164	152	148
Haggerty	198	188	170
Keppler	144	195	170
Jackson	224	162	202
Weber	200	200	198
	930	897	888

FOUR MATCHES THIS WEEK.

The local Elks' pinners will go to Rahway tonight and play the team of that lodge, while the Elizabeth quintet is due at Rutherford at the same time. Two games will be played Friday night, when Hoboken goes to New Brunswick and New York will take a trip to Newark. These are the only matches for the week.

NEWARK TEAM CHALLENGES.

The Acme Five, of Newark, that was defeated by the Hope chapel team recently, would like to arrange games with teams averaging 135 pounds in and around Plainfield. Address all communications to John E. McDonnell, manager, 580 Market street, Newark.

Y. M. C. A. PRACTICE.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team will have a practice tomorrow night, and all members of the team should be present as a hard drill will be held in preparation for the Summit game Saturday. The practice will start at 7:30.

BOROUGH GIRLS SIX READY FOR SEASON

Will Open Court Schedule at Roselle Park Tomorrow Afternoon.

After practicing steadily for three weeks under the instruction of Miss Ethel Barnard, an instructor, the North Plainfield High School girl's basketball team will open its season at Roselle Park, tomorrow afternoon, when it will stack up against the team of that institution. The borough team is led by Miss Marjorie Burtis this year, who has been the star player for the past two seasons, and the prospects for a banner year are exceedingly bright.

The squad is very fortunate in having Miss Barnard to coach as she is thoroughly acquainted with the game and has done much coaching in other places. The largest squad in the history of the school has reported this year, with five of last year's regulars again on the job. Miss Edna Green, who played guard last year, will be unable to play. She is taking a post-graduate course. Miss Burtis and Miss Lillian Spencer will again hold down the forward positions and Miss Lucy Douglas will jump centre. One of the new players on the team will be Miss Adelaide Ricketts, who has earned a place at side centre Miss Elsie Debele, last year's captain, will again play one of the guards and the other will be filled by Miss Bertha Keller, with Miss Rose Cooper as substitute.

The manager, Miss Spencer, is having a hard time with her schedule and only has about a dozen games booked to date. A return game will be played with the Roselle Park girls in Saengerbund Hall.

LOCAL "BILLS" WILL RIDE IN SPECIAL CAR TONIGHT

Plainfield Senior Elk pinners are requested by Captain Nash to be at the clubhouse at 7 o'clock sharp tonight, and the start for Rahway will be made at that time in a special car chartered for the occasion.

The game in the Junior League that was scheduled for tomorrow night between Paterson and New Brunswick at the latter place has been indefinitely postponed.

NEW YORK COLORED FIVE MAY PLAY IN BOROUGH

John R. Gates, one of Plainfield's basketball promoters, who staged several games at Saengerbund Hall last season with Moulton's All Stars, is again on the job and expects to have some good attractions here next month. The Imperials, of East Orange, were here last year but they were defeated twice and the local booker is making arrangements with the strong St. Christopher team, consisting of boys of the Colored Episcopal church, of New York, to appear here some time in December.

This team defeated the Imperials last week by a large score and are rated as a fast aggregation. Final arrangements will be announced later.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT WILL START HERE THIS EVENING

The open billiard tournament for the championship of Plainfield will be started at Conway's pool parlor, tonight, and all who wish to enter this tourney may do so free of charge.

There are three valuable prizes offered, the first being a solid gold, 17-jewel watch. There is a large list of entries already.

FOOTBALL TEAM "JUGGED."

Clemson, S. C., Nov. 18—The entire Clemson College football team was arrested by the college authorities, Sunday night, on its return from a victory over the Virginia Military Institute eleven on Saturday. The players failed to get a permit from the authorities and as Clemson is a military institution the men were put in the guardhouse. The eighteen members of the squad were released late last night. The college authorities said they explained satisfactorily their failure to obtain a permit to leave the school.

CHIEF BENDER INJURED.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 17—Chief Bender, the Indian twirler, on whom the Athletics have asked waivers, was severely cut and bruised Sunday night, near Sunbury, when he was thrown through the windshield of an automobile he was driving. The car had struck a rut. The cuts were about the face and hands, but Bender was not seriously hurt. He came to this city by train and spent the night at a local hotel, returning yesterday morning for his car.

PLAINFIELD ELEVEN HOLDS HIGH SCORE

Local Team Has Counted for 133 Points Against Opponents This Season.

The Plainfield High School football team leads all other Union county scholastic teams in scoring against its opponents, and has a total of 133 points scored against other teams, with Rahway a close second with 132. The locals have had 83 points scored against them, while the county champions have only allowed 31.

The local team has not as yet been shut out and their lowest scores were 7 points against East Orange and Phillipsburg. Pingry High School, of Elizabeth, is the poorest team in the county with a total of 207 points registered against it and only 54 on the credit side. Battin is next with 78 points to its opponents' credit and 32 with them and that eleven has also been blanked in four games out of the six played. Plainfield has won four out of seven and has two more to play, while the Rahway aggregation has not been defeated. Plainfield made the highest score in a single game when it defeated Randolph Military Academy 44 to 0.

OLYMPIC GAMES FOR UNITED STATES NEXT

Circumstances May Prevent Event Being Held in Europe in 1916.

Paris, Nov. 17—The Olympic games in 1916 may take place in the United States. Baron Pierre de Coubertin, president of the international committee, says if any circumstances, material or sentimental, prevent their being held in Europe in 1916 they cannot be postponed until 1920, as suggested, but that they might be held in America.

The war, Baron de Coubertin thinks, will not have anything more than a brief, temporary effect upon sport in France. Individual records will suffer, because such stars as Jean Bouin, the great runner, have fallen victims to the great holocaust; others no doubt will follow, and the younger element will not reach their highest form for three years or more, but eventually, the Baron thinks, the war will prove to have been an additional incentive to physical training.

SPORTING NOTES

Why not arbitrate the baseball war?

Joe Mandot and Johnny Kilbane will meet at Akron, on December 7.

James Frank, head of the Michigan League, says the minors are tired of being baseball goats.

California cut out prize-fighting by popular vote. Three world's champions once lived in the same block in Frisco.

Carlisle Smith, who was out of the world's series, will be back as good as ever in the spring, say the bone sharps.

A former fighter, Eddie Santry, was elected to the Illinois Legislature election day. Looks good for the revival of boxing in that State.

Matty hands it high and royal to Rudolph when he says that "Dick" has the best head of any pitcher in baseball. Matty's admirers won't agree with him.

Harry Grant, who won the Vanderbilt race twice in succession, is again burning up gasoline in the western races.

There are two "Buzzes" in football this season—"Buzz" Law, of Princeton, and "Buzz" Catlett, of Michigan. And both can buzz some.

Hamilton, Ont., is training a marathoner to succeed its Jihmmy Duffy, who is off to the war. The new runner is named Arthur Jamieson.

Andre, the greatest all-round French athlete, is a war victim; also the swimmer Estrade, and many cyclist, including Poulan and Faber.

PRINCETON'S RECORD CROWD.

Acording to the Princeton football management 38,000 persons paid $2 each to see the Yale game in the Palmer Stadium, on Saturday. This was a record attendance at Princton, yet there were more than 2,000 vacant seats when play started. The entire section behind the north goal remained empty all the afternoon, for the reason that undergraduates and alumni did not care to sit so far away from the middle of the gridiron.

JERUSALEM PINNERS AGAIN LOST THREE

The Jerusalem Lodge bowling team, of this city, one of the contestants in the Union County Masonic League, could not stop the fast traveling Tyrians, of Elizabeth, on the local alleys, last night, and the Elizabeths are still the undisputed holders of first place, with six victories and no defeats. The locals' highest team score was 784 and their opponent's lowest was 785, so the Plainfielders had little chance.

Bergen's 216 in the first game of the match went for high score of the night, but even with that his team could not win, over fifty points separating the two scores. The second game was the hardest of the three but again the locals finished on the short end. The scores of the last game were 811 to 782.

HOLY CROSS PRACTICE, MICHELINS HERE NEXT

The Holy Cross football team will practice on Marshall Field tonight and will meet the Michelin eleven, of Milltown, next Saturday afternoon, at Cricket Field. This game was scheduled earlier but rain prevented the game being played.

The tire makers have played several fast teams this season but the boroughites expect to have an easy time. "Turk" Webster, who did not play last week because of injuries will probably be back at end, and Stiglitz, who wrenched his arm in the last game, will also be able to play.

BROWNLEE LEADS INDIANS IN HOP, STEP AND JUMP

A jump of 19 feet 7 inches was the highest mark registered in the standing hop, step and jump event of the Indian League, of the Y. M. C. A., yesterday. This mark was reached by Jim Brownlee, captain of the Iroquois team. Twenty-seven boys took part in this event, the distances ranging from Brownlee's mark to [illegible] feet 4 inches. Points were scored for the teams, which go toward the league championship.

The results follow:

Brownlee, Iroquois, 19.07, 68; McGee, Omaha, 19.04, 65; Smith, Sioux 19.00, 61; Doane, Omaha, 18.10, 59; Gates, Omaha, 18.08, 57; Nielsen, Sioux, 18.05, 54; Stover, Wawayanda 18.02, 51; Angleman, Omaha, 18.00, 48; Mackey, Iroquois, 17.10, [illegible]; Brown, Omaha, 17.10, 47; Kornfield, Sioux, 17.08, 45; Feaster, Iroquois, 17.08, 45; Weglau, Wawayanda 17.07, 44; Whitford, Omaha, 16.11, 36; Boile, Wawayanda, 16.10, 35; Wilson, Wawayanda, 16.10, 35; Krausse, Wawayanda, 16.08, 33; Allen, Iroquois, 16.08, 33; Alexander, Sioux, 16.06, 31; Goss, Wawayanda 16.06, 31; Satterfield, Sioux, 16.03, 28; Cuming, Wawayanda, 16.02, 27; Spicer, Iroquois, 16.02, 27; Purcell, Iroquois, 15.11, 24; Willett, Omaha, 15.10, 23; Squires, Iroquois, 15.08, 21; Fletcher, Sioux, 14.04, 12.

GAMES SCHEDULED FOR HIGH SCHOOL SECOND FIVE

Assistant Basketball Manager Carlton Dunham, of the Plainfield High School, has arranged four basketball games for the High School second team. He is endeavoring to arrange games with Leal's School and North Plainfield.

The games scheduled are:

December 12—Dickinson at Jersey City.

January 9—Passaic at Passaic.

February 5—South Side at Newark.

March 15—South Side at Plainfield.

DOUBLE HONORS FOR P. H. S. TENNIS CHAMP

Rodman Parvin, singles champion of the Plainfield High School, was presented with a handsome silver loving cup this morning at the assembly exercises, by Principal Lindsey Best.

Roscoe Blanchard was rewarded with a silver medal as runner up. Parvin and Blanchard each received a silver medal for winning the doubles championship of the school.

MILLER ALMOST MADE PERFECT SCORE ON OLYMPIA ALLEYS

Bowling on the Olympia alleys last Saturday afternoon, George Miller, manager of the Second street alleys, equalled Chief Kiely's alley record of 298. This mark has been the record for several years and has not been approached recently. For the first nine frames Miller made easy strikes and in the tenth it looked at first as if they would not all fall. The eleventh frame went for a strike but the twelfth proved fatal. Miller made a fine roll which should have been a strike but the 8 and 10 pins stood up.

Before a month ago this score was high score of the city, but Miles Wilson took these honors away from Chief Kiely on the Knights of Columbus alleys, when he made a perfect score.

WINTER ARRIVES WITH BIG DROP IN MERCURY

Plainfielders experienced the first real touch of winter ,this morning, when the mercury took a drop of 34 degrees from 63, the highest point of yesterday to 29 at 7 o'clock this morning. They were not, however, unprepared, for Weather Prophet John Neagle gave a timely warning yesterday of the approaching cold wave. The sudden change in the temperature brought about a general stoking of furnace fires and it was no pleasing sight to householders to see the little black diamonds rapidly disappear in an effort to keep their homes warm.

Just how long the cold snap will remain, Prophet Neagle will not say. The blast and drop in temperature followed the heavy rain on Sunday, when in twenty-eight hours 2.30 inches of water fell in this city. The rain was welcome for it helped to fill up the streams and springs in this vicinity. In the country districts farmers and others have been carting water for a long time and to them the rain came as a blessing.

DANCING AGAIN FEATURES DRUM CORP'S CELEBRATION

Dancing was once more the feature of the Independent Fife and Drum Corp's indoor carnival in the Company K armory, last night, when another large attendance was recorded at the second night's merry making. Candy and souvenirs are being disposed of at attractively decorated booths and these articles found ready buyers last night.

To date the results of the event have surpassed the greatest anticipations of those in charge and it is expected that the affair will increase in popularity during the remainder of the week, when the hall will be open each night. A feature of last night's special program of entertainment was the rendition of several pleasing solos by George Pierson. The committee in charge includes: John Beekman, chairman; Horace Adams, Samuel Terry, Nelson Peterson, Herbert Adams, George Herrmann and J. H. Adams.

RECREATION NOTES

The Choral Society, directed by S. Frederick Smith, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Franklin School.

The Stillman School will be opened this evening for the colored people. There will be a gymnasium class for the girls, a young men's club, dramatics, games and magazines. After the regular club meetings everyone will meet in the auditorium for a social hour of dancing and singing.

The Girls' Athletic Club will meet tomorrow evening at 8:15 in the High School gymnasium.

The Italian Club will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Lincoln School.

The Needle Craft Club will meet tonight at 8:15 in the Franklin School.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist and newsdealer.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK
It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. —Adv.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS
If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The freshman class held its first basketball practice in the High School gym yesterday afternoon. After practice Philip Mills was elected captain of the team. The following members reported for practice yesterday: Snyder, Mills, Erickson, Tomlinson, Henwood, Brower, O'Donnell, Wright, Fullerton Traynor, Ward and Venable.

Charles L. Lewis, instructor in music, has selected the following chorus to sing some special selections on Thanksgiving music: Sopranos, the Misses Margaret Eaton and Margaret Tubbs; altos, the Misses Florence Alpaugh and Lyle Smith; tenors, Milton Randolph and Daniel McNamee; bass, Ernest Stevens.

The Glee Club, in charge of Miss Engstrand, will hold its first practice tomorrow afternoon.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The seven members of the "knocks" committee, who are to make out the "roasts" for the senior Christmas entertainment have each been given the names of the persons whom they are to make out "knocks" for.

Tom Ball has been appointed business manager of the coming junior minstrels.

Paul Collier will be out again today to coach the varsity basketball team.

There was a meeting of the sophomore class this noon and Clifford Causbrook was elected vice-president of the class as the former vice president has left school. Three dolars was granted to the girls' basketball team for the purpose of buying a new ball.

Manager VanCamp, of the baseball team, has already scheduled fourteen flames for the coming season and soon hopes to have his schedule completed.

MISS CURRY'S APPEAL.

Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home of this city, and of the Little Missionary Day Nursery, of New York, is making a plea to the many friends of the Home to make possible the ways and means of giving the mothers and children of her institution a Thanksgiving dinner, as is the usual custom. Contributions may be sent directly to Miss Curry at 93 St. Mark's place, New York city.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it and, if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

THE SOCIETY GIRLS AND BILL REID IN "LIFE," AT THE MANHATTAN OPERA HOUSE, NEW YORK

This production by William A. Brady is declared by the New York papers to be the biggest and most impressive dramatic spectacle in stage history. One wrote that it was "Drury lane, the Hippodrome and the movies all rolled into one."

OUR NEW YORK LETTER

(Tuesday, November 17th.)

Maison Arthur is a delightful place to lunch or dine—or to step from the bustle of Fifth Avenue's best shops into quiet, refined and exquisite surroundings for one's afternoon tea. Beautiful salons in brown and gold, and a cuisine most excellent. A la Carte luncheons at modest prices, and a most unusually sumptuous evening table d'hote at $1.50. No. 5 E. 45th St. Rooms may be reserved for all social functions.

Mother nowadays gives considerably more thought to the way her boy is dressed than she did in the past decade. She finds it has a refining influence to teach him to like good clothes and to evince good taste in selecting them. One cannot give too much attention to the dressing of our future United States citizens—bankers, politicians, merchants, doctors and mayhap presidents. For it is surprising how a boy's ideas rise to the occasion and how often gentlemanly clothes have a toning influence on his manners; a boy may be taught to prefer one good suit to two of the common or garden variety. This is evidently what the JOHN WANAMAKER STORE FOR BOYS had in mind when De Luxe clothing was instituted, for everything good that could possibly be put in a boy's suit, except the boy himself, is put into De Luxe clothes; a pocket edition of father's business or outing suit; the same masculine lines and curves; the same imported tweeds, submerged basket weave worsted or serges, only where father's suit cost $40 to $60, these cost but $20, whether the boy is 11 or 18 years old. Let me give you a few details about one of these De Luxe Suits in particular. A semi-fitting belted sasque coat, perfectly plain in the front, straight vent pockets. A collar that narrows at the back and widens out to meet the lapels in the front, which come up on the shoulder rather higher than usual; slightly drawn to the waist at the back by a six-inch pleat under the belt and a vent from the bottom of coat to the waist line. A more graceful model you could not imagine. The trousers are finely proportioned, made to hang from the hips and are belted at the knee. Hand tailoring of the best grade throughout. Now, if you are interested take your son to Wanamakers one day this week and see him in a De Luxe suit of clothes. He will do the rest.

Christmas gifts of real Dutch silver, beautifully chased spoons $2 each, is the good news from Frank Bowles celebrated Antique Shop, 422 Madison Ave., or such unique gifts as English pierced brass, standing trivets and long brass chestnut roasters, at $5 each, mahogany book locks at $3, or perhaps an antique mahogany tip tables from $6 to $125.

At Darsy's, 14 W. 47th St., which is a branch of the famous house of Darsy in the Fauborg St. Honore, Paris, (produits Esthetiques) you may order your Christmas gifts of lovely satin and brocaded sachets, veil cases or combination sets to match any boudoir color schemes, each perfumed with a friend's favorite odor, at from $5 to $20; sachet bags to order in any style from $1 up.

Dainty and exclusive apparel for children wll be made to order for surprisingly low prices at The L. & S. Sales Co., Suite 511, Fifth Avenue Building, at 23d St. In this charming and comfortably appointed shop one may select from hundreds of samples, the most attractive of little girls' dresses with bloomers, rompers or creepers, in the prettiest of colorings and combinations. The styles are very exclusive and are represented in ginghams, crepes, plaisses maddrasses, piques and dainty linens. Prices range from $1.50 to $6 (made to order). You will be surprised at the large assortment of suits for LITTLE BOYS—Dickens types, little Dutch styles and Norfolks. Suits you would never see in a retail shop. Prices $1.50 to $5. GIRLS' coats of rich cordurays, broadcloths, chinchillas, velvets and serges; silk lined, superbly finished; to order from samples $5 to $8.

A fortunate business connection with an importer, I am informed, enables Madam Sarah Duff Gully to make you a gown of fabrics which would ordinarily comprise a $150 creation for about $75, while the workmanship and style is guaranteed to be of the highest standard. Select goods from samples. Address 77 W. 47th St.

ADVERTISEMENT.

Doubtless many of us have wisely decided upon PHOTOGRAPHS to solve our Christmas gift problems. Everything now depends upon our selection of a photographer. My suggestion is that you go first to the studio of Ira Lawrence Hill, for there you will see on exhibition masterpieces in photographic studies of well known people, many in life colorings. Every new and telling effect known to modern photography is exemplified. Inspirations to help you select your particular style. Telephone for appointments or call at the studio, 462 Fifth Ave. (near 40th St.)

Many women never pay more than $5 for their shoes, presumably a matter of habit rather than economy. Such women will be more than ordinarily interested in Belmode Shoes, which are made exclusively for and sold by Gimbel Brothers for these invariably meet with the approval of the woman who desires the very best value in footwear as to style, comfort and durability—at five dollars.

Candidly, I have seen most of the latest shoe styles in the various exclusive shops, but for excellence of finish and simple smartness, I have seen no better shoes at five dollars a pair than the "Belmode Shoes." Make a point of seeing a few of the new winter styles now being shown at GIMBELS (second floor.) There are the ultra smart gaiter boots with foxed vamp and heel and plain cravenetted tops, in fawn, black or gray, with shapely Spanish Louis enameled heel. Included in your winter footwear supply should be a pair of high cut Belmode walking boots of willow calf or gunmetal calfskin, with medium weight sole and 2-inch Cuban heel; a lace model eight inches high, certainly a very stylish and comfortable boot for long autumn walks. You will find all the new styles represented in the Belmode shoe family, from the full foxed dress boots, with black fabric tops or the smart afternoon and promenade Colonials in all the modish leathers of the season, to the Belmode satin dancing slippers in new shades, with two and a half-inch Louis Quinze heel. I am told that there is still to be found the foot unfitted to a Belmode Shoe.

The Mount Morris Plaiting Works is a most reliable place to have your dress plaiting, hemstitching done, or buttons made. Work is excellent, service prompt, prices surprisingly low. I noted also a complete assortment of fine dressmakers' and tailors' supplies. Call or write (Dept. A) Falk & Dannenberg, 862 Sixth Ave. (at 49th St.)

Gauzy, beautiful and very new in design are the samples of women's nightgowns and combinations, which are being shown in the salon of The L. & S. Sales Co., Suite 511, Fifth Avenue Building, at 23d St. Your garments will be made to order, after any of these fascinating models of the softest batiste and lawns, beautifully trimmmed with laces, embroidery and ribbon. (To order), prices $1 to $3. Brassieres of new design, daintily belaced and embroidered, 50c to $3. Corsets to order from newest models, $2.50 to $15.

Young Ladies! You will be interested to learn that charming dancing frocks, in the newest modes of rich filmy weaves and laces, or street gowns made to fit you perfectly for $18.50, is the special offer of Mlle. Elise, 509 Fifth Ave. Proportionate values at higher prices.

At a certain social function given at the Ritz-Carlton quite recently, one of the gowns most praised by the fashion writers happened to be a model made over by Homer.

Madame Homer, 11½ W. 37th St., will create a gown of to-morrow from yours of yesterday, using modes adaptable to fabric and wearer. Your seemingly worthless gown will be a revelation when Homer returns it to you—and to have made new would cost three times Homer's rebuilding charge.

Now is the time to select at leisure your Christmas cards and calendars. Suitably worded thoughts, expressed on such things add ten-fold to their value. The Book and Art Exchange, at 30 E. 24th St., is now in holiday attire. I never saw a better collection of carefully chosen gift things. Christmas cards, beautiful mottoes, bayberry candles, sachets, calendars in profuse assortment are among the hundreds of novelties, all at remarkably low prices.

One piece frocks, or those with body and skirt portions cut in one piece, are always best for the younger girls; they are easy to make and easy to launder, and they are always becoming.

This one has a quite new feature in the applied box plaits that give excellent lines. Beneath the plait at the left of the front the closing is made.

GIRL'S FROCK.

The sleeves are sewed to the dress, but have such a long shoulder line that they give the Japanese effect nevertheless.

For the eight year size will be needed three and one-eighth yards of material twenty-seven inches wide or two and seven-eighths yards of thirty-six or two and one-fourth yards of forty-four, with three-eighths yard of twenty-seven for the collar or three-fourths yard for the collar, plaits and cuffs.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of six to ten years. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8415, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Baskets Are Always Acceptable Gifts

Only the busy housewife knows the necessity of many baskets. For the socks and stockings which must be darned, for the unfinished piece of embroidery, for the mending that must be done—all these things require the special basket. Illustrated here is a nest of baskets which can be used for all the things mentioned, while in the topmost basket can be kept all of baby's toilet articles. The convenient point about these baskets is that they can swing one underneath the other, thus taking up very little room.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"John, you are getting actually shabby," said Mrs. Tuttle, gazing critically at her husband, while he was getting his egg out of the shell.

"I will meet you at the office to-night at five, or can you get away a little earlier today."

"I might," he answered tentatively.

"We'll say half past four then, and we'll go over to Johnson's and fix you up a bit. I do like to see you look spruce, John," and Mrs. Tuttle beamed at her silent partner.

Mrs. Tuttle was a very capable woman, and from the day of her setting sail on the matrimonial sea she had faithfully remained at the helm. Twice a week an entire change of underclothing was laid out for her husband's use, and the soiled garments were carefully removed so that he could not insert himself into the wrong set by mistake. Buttons were always in place, socks darned and turned ready to put on. On Sundays his week-day suit was sunned by an east window in the attic and his slender person was incased in his best blacks. Promptly on October 15 his heavier underwear was brought into use, to be retired on May 15, irrespective of climatic conditions. "If the weather don't know what's fitting, I do," she was wont to say.

Punctually at half past four Mrs. Tuttle arrived at her husband's office. Mrs. Tuttle was painfully punctual. If Smith's clock did not point to twenty minutes past ten when the Tuttles passed on their way to church, they immediately set it right.

"Now, John," said Mrs. Tuttle, as she escorted her husband down the street, "I believe we'll get brown for a change."

"Show me some of your brown suits," she said to the deferential salesman. "I want a good wearing goods that won't turn shiny. Here, John, you try these on. I want to see how the pants set on the hips. You're so thin your pants are apt to wrinkle."

She sat with hands placidly folded while her husband went to a dressing room to insinuate himself into the brown clothes. When he returned she threw up her hands.

"Land, John! Your suspenders are pulled up too high," and she gave the trousers a mighty jerk that bade fair to loosen them from their moorings.

"Can't you loosen the suspenders? That's better. Now they fit you fine. If you can pinch that coat in a little in the back it will do. John, if you wouldn't carry your head forward that way your coat would fit better. Throw it back, so. That's better."

"Have you a brown tie to match this?" John asked the clerk in an aside.

"Oh, yes, just the thing," responded the young man. "I'll bring one."

"What's he gone for?" asked Mrs. Tuttle, standing back and shutting one eye to get a bird's-eye view of the clothes.

"A tie," answered the husband.

"Now, this is just what we have been selling with these suits; a perfect match," and the clerk laid the soft silk against the sleeve.

"You don't want a tie the same color as the clothes," interposed Mrs. Tuttle. "It won't show you've got any tie on. I want a deep red or green. Let's go over where they are, so I can pick one out."

The clerk and Mrs. Tuttle walked on and Mr. Tuttle followed at a distance, like one who had no interest in the proceedings. He heard her order a box of black socks.

"I like to have him wear one color, so I don't have to keep them in different drawers," she explained. She went over the bill carefully, paid it, and joined her husband, serene in a sense of duty well performed.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How One Great Artist Works.

He Paints the Leaves In Autumn.

"DO you know, kiddies, that Jack Frost, besides being a very mischievous fellow who nips your nose and your toes and your fingers, is also a great artist?"

"Tell us about him, daddy," said Jack, as he and Evelyn stood beside daddy's knee waiting for the evening story.

"Well, this Jack Frost can do heaps and heaps of things, but he has a very curious way of doing them. When he draws he freezes his pencil."

"Freezes his pencil?" cried Jack and Evelyn in amazement.

"Yes; just that," laughed daddy. "He draws wonderful landscapes upon the window pane, but what does he do it with? Why, frozen vapor, of course, and vapor is only water in another form.

"Then there are the pretty little snowflakes, which are modeled by Jack Frost. In almost every shape you can think of he models these pretty flakes, and, of course, he must freeze his modeling materials.

"Think of the snowstorms we have, kiddies, and the millions of tiny flakes that come down from the clouds to the earth, then when I tell you that probably not one snowflake is exactly like any other snowflake you will begin to appreciate just how great a sculptor Jack Frost is.

"Then he can paint. Oh, the wonderful colors he paints in the tree and bush leaves in the autumn, making the country in late October the most beautiful of any month in the year! Or so I think.

"And then he is a great musician. He comes flustering and fluttering and frolicking in on the wings of the north wind, and then he whistles around the house and whistles at the windows and croons a low song in the tree tops.

"And then some night a great storm comes up, and, instead of whistling and crooning, Jack Frost bellows and roars like the great chorus of a grand opera, and then he grows very quiet, and you hear nothing of Jack Frost until morning comes.

"And then you go out in the fresh, crisp morning air, and Jack Frost, besides nipping your nose and your ears and your cheeks and your chin, paints them a lovely crimson.

"Then there are other things Jack Frost does. He ripens the nuts you kiddies love to gather in the autumn. He freezes the lake upon which you skate. He is just the busiest little chap you ever saw, trying to please everybody. Now, kiddies, don't you think Jack Frost is a fine artist?

"Now, good night, kiddies."

"Pleasant dreams, daddy."

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council has fixed the 30th day of November, A. D., 1914, at eight o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 130 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., as the time and place for William H. Abbott, Elias H. Bird and Charles E. Farber, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled: "An Ordinance for the Laying Out and Opening of East Fourth Street from a point 388.6 feet northeast of the centre of Washington Street to the southwesterly side line of Richmond Street, approved July 6, 1914, and the resolutions of the Common Council in the premises adopted November 2, 1914, to meet and proceed with the discharge of their duties and hear all persons interested in the premises, and make their estimates and assessments under said ordinance and said resolutions and the statutes in such case made and provided.

The street to be laid out and opened to extend from a point 388.6 feet northeast of the centre of Washington Street to the southwesterly side line of Richmond Street, the centre and side lines of which street, as well as the width thereof, being particularly described in said ordinance, and shown on map therein referred to and on file in the office of the City Clerk, entitled "Map Showing proposed Laying Out and Opening of East Fourth Street, from a point 388.6 feet east of Washington Street to Richmond Street, City of Plainfield, N. J., 1914."

The lands, real estate and appurtenances intended to be taken for such purposes (the larger part of said street having already been dedicated to the public) include that part of the property now or formerly of the Estate of John Raffert and Ernest White described as follows: Beginning at a point where the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as formerly laid out and opened is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as herein laid out and opened, and running from said point in a northeasterly direction along said line as formerly laid out and opened, a distance of 61.45 feet to a point in the northeasterly line of said property now or formerly of the Estate of John Raffert; thence along said line in a southeasterly direction a distance of 21.62 feet to the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as herein laid out and opened; thence along said line in a southwesterly direction, a distance of 65.[illegible] feet to the place of beginning, as shown on said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for a more detailed description.

Order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

COURT OF HONOR TO MEET ON NOVEMBER 24

William D. Murray, chairman of the Court of Honor of the local Boy Scout council, announces that the court will sit in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church Tuesday, November 24, at which time all Scouts who have made application for merit badge examination will be heard.

The Court of Honor consists of William D. Murray, Frederick A. Martin, L. M. Leek, Paul R. Collier, Commissioner Allen E. Beals, First Deputy Commissioner A. V. Searing, Jr., Second Deputy Commissioner E. A. Strawl and Third Deputy Commissioner J. W. Aughiltree.

BIBLE CLASS MEN TO PARADE IN NEWARK

The Sunday-school forces of Plainfield are greatly interested in the Men's Bible class parade which is to be held in Newark, on Thursday evening, in connection with the State convention. Men from all parts of the State will participate. On that evening the Bible class men—and this includes young men over sixteen—will go from Plainfield to Newark on the 6:25 train due in Newark at 7:08, in ample time to join the parade, which will start from a point two blocks beyond the station. The excursion fare is 75 cents.

An interesting feature of the parade will be the presence of the Dutch Arms Band, of Trinity Reformed church, with the Plainfield delegation.

Union county men have been assigned to Division 9, and will be in charge of Assistant Marshal A. E. Blakeman. They will assemble on the north side of Franklin street, east of Broad, in Newark. There will be special cars on the train leaving here at 6:25 o'clock Thursday night. As an extra inducement to secure a turnout of Bible class men a large silk banner will be given to the class sending the largest delegation of members, and in order to learn exactly just how many intend to take part in the demonstration, each class is requested to send the number it expects to have in the parade.

Mrs. Jennie Mandville, of Orange, has returned after spending the week-end with Mrs. Horace Huff, of Codington avenue.

PHILLIPSON NOT IN ANGEL CLASS

So Say Certain Individuals Who Have Investigated Case.

NOT HIS FIRST OFFENSE

Borough Youth Alleged to Have Been the Subject of Considerable Misdirected Sympathy—May not Get Pardon.

Although the failure of the Court of Pardons to act yesterday on the Oscar Phillipson case, in which he was committed to the Somerset county jail for 120 days in default of paying a fine of $120, was ostensibly based on the unavoidable shortness of the day's session, it leaked out that investigations made in behalf of the court, probably by L. Edward Herrmann, secretary to the Governor, that tended to place Phillipson's case in a somewhat different light than it has been generally represented.

One version of the affair indicated by reports to the court was that the rabbit was not eating cabbages in the Phillipson yard, when the shooting occurred, but that the cotton-tail had been chased by a number of boys when Phillipson shot and killed the bunny.

It further developed that the maximum sentence imposed upon Phillipson was due not alone to his offence, but to his defiant and insolent manner when hailed before Justice Thomas Snape. The investigation is also said to have thrown a little different light on the boy's home life. Instead of his being the sole support of his mother, it is said that he had done no work for weeks. His mother herself was quoted as saying at the outset that the confinement of Oscar would really be a help, as it would mean one less mouth to feed.

What would appear to be even more serious than these shortcomings was an allegation that Oscar had previously been in trouble for violating the game laws and had been warned by the fish and game authorities that future offences would be severely dealt with. This is denied by Phillipson, but an examination of the records of the game warden of Somerset county, would tend to prove or disprove this report. Without passing upon the conflicting reports the court felt that the case would warrant further investigation.

The Sunday Call, of Newark, in commenting on the above case editorially in its issue of last Sunday, has this to say:

"The agitation over a 'boy' who was locked up for shooting a rabbit out of season is entirely a New York yellow newspaper matter. It is regrettable that the Governor has felt it necessary to interfere. The 'boy' is a husky youth of 19 years, who knew the law against shooting game out of season, and who defied it deliberately. He had no need to supply, but he had a desire to kill. For the sake of sportsmen who wish to have game plentiful, certain seasons are set apart when no rabbits shall be shot. On the ground of sportsmanship, therefore, this youth was assuredly entitled to no consideration. As a 'boy,' he cannot plead ignorance or feebleness at the age of 19. As a person of humane feeling, is it not enought to have months of privilege to kill without invading the rest of the year? Sickly sentimenality is becoming the curse of this country."

LOCAL INVENTOR LANDS BIG ORDER

W. F. Bintliff's Electric Horn to Be Used on 300,000 Ford Cars.

Following a six months' competition with eleven other aspirants, Albert T. Bintliff, of East Fifth street, this city, has closed a contract with the Ford Automobile Company, whereby the concern will use an electrical horn of his invention on every Ford car built in 1915. The original order is for 300,000, and they will be made by a Bridgeport, Conn., brass factory under the Plainfielder's patent on a royalty basis. It is probable the first output will be duplicated on a second call.

Mr. Bintliff is an electrical expert for the Laing Auto Repair Company, with which he has been connected for several years. The electrical horn is only one of numerous inventions which he has to his credit, most of them being improvements for automobiles and gasoline engines.

Simpleness of construction, a minimum of cost for production and the most satisfactory sounds, are what won the Ford contract over rival bidders. Peculiarly enough the horn can only be used on a Ford car, as it is operated by the alternating current of the magneto made by the big concern. It only comprises a diaphragm and coil, the secret of its superiority reposing in an entirely new and powerful magnet. Henry Ford had one placed on his personal car several months ago, giving it a thorough test. It met all requirements and Mr. Bintliff was notified of his success a few days ago.

Among the Plainfielder's other inventions are an anti-backfire divice for two-cycle motors; a gas starter for automobiles that superceded the electric starters and a high-speed marine motor. Mr. Bintliff has been aided by Allan B. Laing in financing his devices and the latter is a partner in the production of the electric horn.

VISITED VIRGINIA CIVIC ASSOCIATION

Christian Gloeckler Gave Short Talk Before Board of Trade on Trip.

Christian Gloeckler, who recently returned from a trip to Virginia, entertained the members of the Board of Trade at their meeting last night, with a talk describing interesting occurrences he encountered during his trip. The speaker related incidents of his entertainment by the officials of the Virginia Chamber of Commerce and was highly enthusiastic over the work being carried on by that body. He outlined the retinue of work being conducted by that organization and commented on the good work being accomplished by the Chamber.

Owing to the inability of members of the Riparian Commission to be present at last night's meeting the proposed discussion of the Newark Bay bridge proposition was deferred until the January gathering. It was voted to hold an informal program of entertainment in connection with the December meeting to include a lecture by a representative of the Public Service on the subject of "illumination." The refreshment committee was instructed to have refreshments for the next meeting.

"THE FOREST OF ARDEN," BY GEORGE W. EDWARDS

"The Forest of Arden," is the name of a new book from the pen of George Wharton Edwards, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Greenwich, Conn., which has just been published and which is now on sale at the Estil book shop, Will F. Williams proprietor.

The beautiful books by Mr. Edwards have charmed and refreshed thousands by their presentation of picturesque and out-of-the-way places. In his latest book Mr. Edwards gives the results of a leisurely pilgrimage in Ardennes, the district in Belgium which is probably the original "Forest of Arden" in Shakespeare's "As You Like It," and in old legends. It is a large, beautiful volume, with fine illustrations which borrow their rich color and soft tones from the restfully romantic atmosphere of the country itself.

BAZAAR OPENS.

REVIEWS RECENT POLITICAL EVENTS

Howard G. Lapsley Addressses Members of Plainfield Democratic Club.

DEMOCRACY'S TRIUMPH

Denies the Republican Claim That Tariff-Tinkering Is Responsible For the Present Stagnation In Business Conditions.

Reviewing important events of the recent political campaign, Howard G. Lapsley gave an interesting talk at the monthly meeting of the Plainfield Democratic Club, last night. Mr. Lapsley declared that the last election was a vindication for Democracy and he then proceeded to give an analysis. He spoke as follows:

"Few elections have been of greater interest than the last. History has repeated itself. Precedents have been sustained. Democracy has been vindicated. It is our object this evening to analyze the result.

"Democracy is the progress of all, through all under the leadership of the best and wisest. The fundamental article of Jeffersonian Democracy is an unlimited faith in the honesty and common sense of the American people.

"Locally, we have been defeated in spite of our estimable candidates and efforts in their behalf. In the nation at large the common sense and intelligence of the voter proved the feasibility and success of Democracy for the first time in sixty years.

"For the first time since the formation of the Republican party sixty years ago have the Democrats maintained control of the Presidency and both Houses of Congress throughout

RETURN HOME AFTER LONG TRIP IN WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moran Will Locate Temporarily on West Fifth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moran have returned to this city after a seven months' honeymoon trip in which Mr. Moran combined business and pleasure and are now located temporarily at 431 West Fifth street. Mrs. Moran was formerly Miss Elsie Knowlton, daughter of James R. Knowlton, of West Fifth street.

During their seven months' tour the couple have visited places of interest in Maryland, Illinois, Omaha and Denver, taking in a majority of the largest Western cities. Mr. Moran is employed by the American Smelting and Refining Company, which has its main office in New York city, and he was traveling in the interests of this concern. Mr. Moran's employers recently recalled him to the New York office, hence the couple's return to the East.

DESCRIBES TRIP THROUGH EUROPE

Henry L. DeForest Tells of His Experiences at Outbreak of War.

The Men's Club of Hope chapel held the first of its winter gatherings last evening, when a large number of men of the West End gathered to listen to the experiences of Henry DeForest, who was among those marooned in Europe at the outbreak of the war.

Mr. DeForest related in an entertaining way his experiences in Bavaria during the first weeks of the war. Together with his wife, his two children, Miss Leah and Miss Rudd, of this city, Mr. DeForest was spending his vacation in a small village near Munich, where the party did not fully realize that the war was approaching until the actual hostilities began. Mr. DeForest told of how the committee, unofficially appointed, composed entirely of Americans, cooperated with the American consul in relieving the tense situation in which American citizens found themselves, and finally found a way by which the party might leave the country. Exit from the war zone was completed, coming back home by way of London.

The men's organization, together with members of the congregation and Sunday-school, were the guests of the pastor, Rev. Frederic L. Greene, during the course of the evening. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the address.

ALLEGED STABBER IS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Scotch Plains Police Arrest Foreigner Who It is Said Slashed Conductor.

Marshal Ashton, of the Scotch Plains police force, last night arrested Toney Anatti, an Italian, who is wanted by the local authorities. The man is alleged to have been implicated in the Main Line trolley car fracas Monday night, in which Conductor Joseph McGinnis was slashed with a razor. His apprehension followed a request made by the Plainfield police.

Anatti, in company with two other fellow countrymen, is said to have boarded the eastbound Main Line car in Plainfield at 9:30 o'clock Monday night and created such a disturbance that he conductor requested them to get off. His remarks riled the trio of foreigners and they pounced on him, one slashing him with a razor, cutting his coat from the shoulder to the waist and inflicting a slight wound in his back. They jumped from the car at Hunter avenue, Scotch Plains, and boarded a westbound car.

News of the affair was telephoned to this city and an examination of the passengers on the car when it arrived in this city shortly after 10 o'clock failed to reveal any Italians. The conductor was queried and stated that one of the men had gotten off the car at Jackson avenue and the two others at Third and Richmond streets. Some good detective work on the part of the local authorities resulted in the apprehension of the one individual and the arrest of the two others will probably follow.

QUASH INDICTMENT OF REV. J. T. SHOCK

Former Local Clergyman, Who Died, Finally Exonerated From Blame.

(Special to Plainfield Press.)

New York, Nov. 18—United States District Attorney Marshall today moved that the indictments returned against the associates of Jared Flagg be nolle prossed. The court acted favorably on the suggestions of Mr. Marshall, who said that in his opinion none of the defendants had profited in schemes of Flagg, but were innocent parties in a series of nefarious transactions. One of eight men arrested and indicted with Flagg was the late Rev. James T. Schock, a retired Reformed church minister. The men were apprehended on September 23, 1911, and were charged with using the mails to defraud, being indicted on six of the seven counts preferred against them.

At the time of their arraignment before the Federal District Court the defendants elected to be tried separately, but Dr. Schock passed away before his case came to trial. Flagg was tried and found guilty, being given eighteen months in jail. He appeared as his own attorney and argument on the motion for a new trial is now pending. He is at liberty on $25,000 bail.

PRATT-WHITNEY HAS BOOKED BIG ORDERS

It is Not Known Whether They Will Affect Pond's Shop in This City.

New York, Nov. 18—It is reported that the Pratt and Whitney Company, of Hartford, Conn., which is controlled by the Niles, Bement, Pond Company, has booked orders, supposedly from foreign sources, which will keep its plant working two years ahead on double shift. The company manufactures machine tools. An official of the Niles, Bement, Pond Company, admitted that the Pratt and Whitney Company had received some foreign business, although he said it was not nearly as much as they are talking about.

When inquiry was made at the Pond Machine Tool Works concerning the above story for the purpose of learning whether the local plant would be affected by the large orders, J. T. MacMuray said that no word had been received here concerning the orders. The class of work at the Hartford plant is entirely different from that done at Pond's, he said.

FIRE ALARM TEST.

The fire alarm system of North Plainfield is to be tested tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, at which time boxes 156 and 134 will be pulled. The above orders were issued this afternoon by Chief McCullough.

TAX BOARD HEARS LOCAL PETITIONS

A Total of $9,770 in Reductions Granted by County Body Yesterday.

28 APPEALS ARE HEARD

Y. M. C. A. Asks For Exemption and Refusal May Result In the Carrying of the Case to the State Board.

Among the appeals filed with the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes, which met in the Common Council chambers in the city building, yesterday afternoon, was one filed by the board of directors of the local Y. M. C. A., claiming exemption from an assessed valuation of $11,000. William D. Murray, president of the association, who was instrumental in drawing up a law in 1913 which exempted the Y. M. C. A. from taxation as a charitable and benevolent institution, appeared for the local association at the hearing and cited as an instance the petition of the Summit Y. M. C. A. before the Union County Board last year.

The Plainfield association last year purchased a building located at 118-128 East Fifth street, with the intention of razing it and erecting a modern association building on the site. Owing to financial conditions the project had to be temporarily abondoned and the Y. M. C. A. now rents the house at $20 a month and intends to make use of the structure until such time as it is thought best to start building. In the Summit case the Y. M. C. A. had been removed to new quarters which were exempted from taxation on the premises which they had vacated and which were ly-

SIX-DAY CYCLISTS BEHIND THE RECORD

Dick Rudolph Offered $200 in Sprint Money Last Night.

Numerous sprints for money prizes offered by Dick Randolph, were the feature of the early morning riding at Madison Square Garden, New York, this morning, after the forty-ninth hour had been passed. Rudolph, the great baseball pitcher, offered $200 in prize money and a wild sprint was immediately started. After the first ten sprints the riders began to show the effects and the riding became slower. At midnight the leaders were twelve miles ahead of the record, but the long period of sensational sprinting tired them and they lost many laps.

Cavanagh and Seres are out of the race and their respective partners, Piercey and Dupuy, teamed up and are now running next to last.

There are now ten teams tied for first place with Goullet leading the pack. The scores at 2 o'clock follow:

Goulett-Grenda	1,267.9
Moran-McNamara	1,267.9
Fogler-Hill	1,267.9
Root-Clarke	1,267.9
Egg-Verri	1,267.9

GERMANY TO TAKE BELGIUM AND AUSTRIA WILL ANNEX SERVIA WHEN PEACE IS MADE, IS PLAN

PROGRAM OUTLINED PROVIDED THE TWO COUNTRIES ARE VICTOROUS IN WAR, SAYS ROME DESPATCH—TURKS DISPERSED.

FRENCH REPORT NO CHANGE ON NORTHERN LINE

Russians Claim Victories—Brand Whitlock Told American Supplies for Belgians Will Not Be Interfered With—Heavy Weather is Making Trouble for All Armies in Northern France.

Rome, Nov. 18 (Central News Cable).—The Austro-German peace program, as now outlined in Berlin and Vienna provides for the complete occupation of Servia and Belgium, says a despatch to the Giornale d Italia. With these two countries added to Germany and Austria, giving Germany her long desired outlet to the British Channel and affording Austria frontier on Greece, Bulgaria and Roumania, the Kaiser would be prepared to offer peace on the basis of the re-establishment of all previous territorial boundaries and ownerships as they existed throughout the world previous to the war.

A despatch from Petrograd states that the Arabian Mussulman, Abdul Kazor Bederkani, rebelled and dispersed the Turks in the region of Maku. The Kurdish Chief Simko sustained an engagement against the Turks on the Persian frontier, several days ago, and ultimately, with the assistance of the Russians, dispersed the enemy, the despatch adds.

The Japanese Ambassador left Constantinople last night. Turkey's proclamations declaring war against the powers of the Triple Entente named only England, France and Russia, and there was no technical action on the part of Turkey which made necessary the departure of the representative of the Mikado from the Turkish capital. His leaving is undoubtedly on instructions from Tokio, rather than as the result of representations from the Porte, and is indicative of an intention on the part of Japan to extend her activities against the enemies of the European powers with which she has allied herself.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The French War Office gave out the following statement at 3 o'clock this afternoon:

"The day of the seventeenth was similar to the preceding one. There were numerous cannonades and some isolated attacks by the infantry of the enemy. They were all repulsed. From the North Sea to Lys the front was very actively bombarded, particularly at Nieuport, and to the east and to the south of Ypres. Near Bixschoote the Zouaves, making a brilliant bayonet charge, captured a woods that had been fought over for three days by the enemy and ourselves. To the south of Ypres an offensive movement by the enemy's infantry was rolled back by our troops. The English army has equally maintained its front.

"From Arras to Oise there is nothing to report.

"In the region of Craonne our artillery has several times gained the advantage over the enemy's batteries. The bombardment of Rheims continues. From Rheims to the Argonne there is nothing to report.

"In the region of St. Mihiel, despite attacks by the Germans, we have succeeded in holding the western part of Chaovoncourt.

"The Alsace battalions of Landwehr, sent to the region of St. Marie Aux Mines, have been forced to become inactive owing to the fact they have lost one-half of their effectives."

London, Nov. 18.—A despatch from Petrograd says that word has been received there from Marmoritza, on the Austro-Roumanian frontier, that hard fighting is taking place in the northern part of Bukovina. The Czar's troops are declared to be victorious and it is said that as the Russians move forward the Austrians are fleeing in disorder.

A despatch from Berlin, via The Hague, says that an official bulletin issued at German headquarters today states that the operations on the eastern front are progressing favorably. The Germans apparently are using their victory at Wloclawek to the greatest advantage. The Russian armies defeated near Lipo are today probably in the vicinity of Plock, and the forces defeated near Wloclawek are now near Kutno and Leschytsa. For the continuation of operations the bulletin says it will be necessary for the Germans from the region of Soldau to make further progress against the right wing of the main Russian army. The papers of Berlin decline again today that the fall of Belgrade is imminent.

A despatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam says that the fortress of Przemysl, now being besieged by the Russians, is provisioned for twelve months.

A despatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam says that the following was given out at the Austrian War Office today:

"In the southern war theatre our troops have advanced to the Kolu-

MERCHANTS TO REFUND FARES TO SHOPPERS FROM WITHOUT CITY

DAILY PRESS INAUGURATES BIG BARGAIN PERIOD FOR PLAINFIELD VISITORS FROM DECEMBER 5 TO 12, AT WHICH TIME STORES WILL OFFER EXCEPTIONAL MERCHANDISING OPPORTUNITIES.

Arrangements are rapidly being completed by the leading merchants of Plainfield, in conjunction with the Plainfield Daily Press, for the holding of a big co-operative fare refunding sale in this city from Saturday, December 5, to Saturday, December 12. The plan has been very successful in many other cities, one of the most noticeable instance being at Perth Amboy recently. There the *people from surrounding towns flock*ed to the stores in such great numbers, in response to the fare refunding offer, that the merchants are continuing the plan weekly, as suburban day.

During the seven days mentioned, under the plan proposed by the Daily Press, the merchants who participate will refund to outside shoppers their carfare to Plainfield. In addition to that there will be offered many bargains, at a season of the year when bargains are usually scarce. It will provide an excellent opportunity to purchase Christmas presents, and do your Christmas shopping early. It will be known as a "Free Fare to Plainfield Week."

This will be the greatest occasion possible in these days of the high cost of living, because the shoppers will be able to buy anything and everything they want. Many of the leading merchants of Plainfield will make special inducements in the way of goods and prices for this sale. Patrons do not have to buy everything at one store. Every little purchase made as they pass from one store to another will apply. Everything, from a dinpan to a complete outfit for a horse; or from a pair of hose to a complete dress or clothing outfit, shoes and all, and from a package of peanuts to a big order of groceries, drugs, novelties, etc., will be offered at bargain prices.

Many people will wonder why the merchants of Plainfield are uniting to back up their proposition, suggested by the Daily Press. But the reason is simple when explained. Plainfield has the best stores of any town of its size in New Jersey. This "Free Fare to Plainfield Week" will tremendously advertise Plainfield and Plainfield stores. In return therefore, the people who come to Plainfield will get their carfare and they will get their

LIBRARY ENTERTAINMENT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

The entertainment for the benefit of the library, held in the Dunellen Theatre, last evening, was unquestionably one of the best of its kind ever held in the borough. A large crowd was present and their enthusiastic applause of the various numbers of the program testified to the ability of those taking part. The singing and acting of Maxwell Forbes, of New York, was one of the big "hits" of the evening and he was repeatedly encored. Miss Beatrice Cameron sang several solos in her usual charming voice, and the songs of the Ladies' Quartet were also excellently rendered. The instrumental music, including a cornet solo by Martin Korff, of Plainfield, was greatly enjoyed.

The short sketch entitled "Dr. Gertrude Mason, M. D., the Village Doctor," which followed the musical program, was most amusing and proved Mrs. H. A. Wickham to have considerable talent as a coach. Miss Mabel Bennett took the leading part and her acting was fine. The various other characters, including Mrs. William Kennedy, in the role of the Irish nurse, were unusually well acted for an amateur performance.

Dancing, with music by Miss Irene Day and Mrs. Charles S. Day, followed. The sum of $42.25 was cleared by the entertainment.

Paul Ratti, of North avenue, left today for a short visit at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

BRINGING BODY HOME.

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine it in Plainfield.

People are somtimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been humbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Plainfield residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.

A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was troubled for years by a dull backache and pains in my head. I believe that it was due in a great measure to a bad fall I had. Nothing seemed to help me and when I read of the good work Doan's Kidney Pills were doing in similar cases, I got a supply at Randolph's drug store. They drove away the aches and pains and gave proof of their merit. I confirm the endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills when they cured me a few years ago. The cure has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Mattis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

When there is a State law on the statute books of New Jersey providing for 200 foot distance between a church and a bar-room, what legal right has any councilman to vote for a license for a saloon that is only fifty feet away from a church. Forty-three years ago, when the Mt. Olive Baptist church people and their friends first sent protests against licensing the place now known as Clark's saloon, and every year since then their protests have been ignored, the excuse being made that the saloon building was there first. But the death of the former owners made the church there first this time and any fair-minded person would say that forty-three years of being near-neighbor to a bar-room is quite enough. In all justice to God's people and for His sake it is hoped that members of the Plainfield Council will vote "No" for that license. It is a poor rule that will not work both ways.

As for the residents of that locality wanting that saloon there it will be time enough to believe that after a canvass of the neighborhood has been made with names signed for or against granting a license to Clark's saloon. It will be well for those members of our Council who are so anxious to grant that license to remember the words of the Savior, 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me."

NO SIGNIFICANCE IN SHOT AT SHIPS LAUNCH

Little Vessel Was Ten Miles at Sea and Shell Was Warning of Closed Port.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Confirmation of the report that a launch from the United States cruiser Tennessee was fired on by the Turkish forts at Smyrna was contained in a despatch from Captain Decker, in command of the warship. The despatch said that the vessel now was riding at anchor in the harbor of Chios, Turkey.

The significant feature of the official report was the declaration by Captain Decker that the American Consul at Smyrna was anxious as to the safety of the Consulate. The State Department was notified immediately and a long cablegram was promptly sent to Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople.

From all officials could gather from Captain Decker's report the Tennessee was ten miles off the fortifications of Smyrna when her launch was fired on It was the general impression that the shot was intended as a warning and that the Turkish gunners made no effort to sink the little craft. The right of Turks to fire a warning shot across the bow of any craft was acknowledged to be the natural way of halting an incoming boat, and of indicating that the port was a closed one.

"A VITAL QUESTION" THEME OF SERMON

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph Preaches Eloquent Discourse at Revival.

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, preached to a good audience a heart-reaching sermon, last night, at the evangelistic service of the First M. E. church, from the text I. Pet. 4.18: "If the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and sinner appear?" He emphasized the fact that the righteous man was saved with difficulty, that he was subject to severe trial and discipline, that the struggle of life for him, amid the temptations that beset him was severe, and that God in love often saw fit to visit his house with judgment, and so in the case of Peter, to "Sift him as wheat, that Satan might not have him," but through the merits and intercession of Jesus Christ—he was able by faith to stand firm for righteousness.

And to come off victorious in the end. If it was necessary for the Christian to make such a heroic struggle—what was to become of the ungodly man—the sinner—the man who left God out of his life altogether?

"What is to become of the man or woman of indifference and self-gratification, the one who has robbed God of his time and substance, who finds his enjoyment in the selfish and sinful pleasures of life, who frequents and supports the places that lead men to moral and physical ruin? If the righteous is saved with difficulty what shall the end be of such a man? That is the all important and vital question. It is a matter of inference drawn from the teachings of Christ and lodged in the moral consciousness of men as to what shall be the judgment meted out to those who reject Jesus Christ and who live without God in this world. If the ungodly and the sinner are not lost why do we put forth such efforts to save them, as evidenced by these evangelistic services, and by our earnest prayers in their behalf.

"The great question for us, as Christian men and women is, what is to become of the great mass of sinful humanity in which our neighbors, our friends, our loved ones, if we do not put worth earnest efforts to bring them to the Lord Jesus Christ?"

Spiritual music was rendered by the chorus choir under the direction of Clifford A. Braider. Rev. Nathaniel Brooks, of Newark, will preach tonight. Everybody is welcome.

MUSICAL AND LITERARY PROGRAM IS ENJOYED

A large number attended the first of a series of parish socials at the parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, last evening, under the auspices of the Women's Guild. An interesting musical and literary program was presented. A number of vocal solos were rendered by F. J. Wills, while Master Francis Carr gave recitations, and selections were given by the Misses Ruth Fuller and Alice Mallery.

The most interesting number on the program was a fancy dance executed by Miss Hildegaard Hamilton, of this city, and was well received by the gathering. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

TAX BOARD HEARS PETITIONS

ing idle.

Lloyd Thompson, a member of the Tax Board, gave his views on the Summit question, which was returned in favor of the association, he having drawn up the opinion. There appeared to have been a misunderstanding at the time the hearing was held and in accordance with a ruling made by the State Board for the Equalization of Taxes recently, the County Board was compelled to turn down the Plainfield association's demands yesterday afternoon. The matter will be brought to the attention of the board of directors at its next meeting and in all probability an appeal will be taken to the State Board. Further hearing in the matter was adjourned until Mr. Murray, acting for the association, can draw up his evidence for presentation. In view of the fact that the exemption demand was refused the matter of lowering the assessed valuation was heard and after considerable deliberation the Board granted the Y M C A. a reduction of $1,875 on the house and barn located on the premises. The association building now occupied by the Y. M. C. A. is free from taxation.

The County Board, consisting of William A.Coddington, Lloyd Thompson, John Collins and John Connolly, clerk, yesterday afternoon, granted appeals totaling $9,770 for local petitioners. Thirteen appeals were turned down, twelve granted and four adjourned for further hearing. The largest reductions were returned in favor of the Y. M. C. A., George Megrew and William J. Tallamy.

PRINCETON TRIANGLE CLUB TO TAKE 3,500-MILE TRIP

Princeton, Nov. 18.—A trip of 3,500 miles, said to be the longest ever taken by any college organization, has been planned for the Princeton University Triangle Club this year. Performances of the musical comedy, "Fie! Fie! Fi-Fi," will be given in nine cities during Christmas week.

The first production will be given in Brooklyn, Wednesday, December 23. The other cities to be visited are Baltimore, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, in the order named. The club will spend Christmas Day in Cincinnati, and the following Sunday in St. Louis. The members of the cast will disband in Pittsburgh New Year's Day. For the first time in a number of years the Triangle Club will not give a performance in Newark.

All the preliminary work on the production has been completed and the learning of the play alone remains. The play was written by Francis Scott Fitzgerald, of the class of 1917. The scene is laid on the cafe terrace of a hotel in Monte Carlo. Most of the characters are Americans wintering on the Riviera. The plot is complicated by diplomatic intrigues centering about the government of the principality of Monaco. The Prime Minister has been driven out by a usurping American adventurer, who seized the power himself. The rightful incumbent has meanwhile become a bandit in the hills and there holds his court. The reinstatement of the Prime Minister and the downfall of the usurper through the efforts of his deserted wife, who is now a manicurist at the hotel, form the climax of the play.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

A big Texas comedy drama entitled "The Law of the Plains," will be the headline act at Proctor's Theatre commencing tomorrow, for the remainder of the week. The cast includes four principals and a company of assisting ranchmen, horsemen and western characters. Special scenery and effects are required to tell an absorbing story of life in the Lone Star State and those who like good old-fashioned melo-dramatic climaxes should make certain to visit the West Front street theatre while "The Law of the Plains" is on the boards. The other numbers on the bill for the last half of the week include Fox & Burkhardt, high class comedians; Sylvester, "Nut Magician;" Markee Brothers, musical novelty, and Tate and Pate, talking acrobats. The continuation of the feature film, "The Million Dollar Mystery," will be shown this afternoon and tonight.

"MADE IN AMERICA."

New Jersey, when the issue has been clearly between the Republican and Democratic parties, has been Republican on national issues since 1896, when William McKinley was chosen President. The great dividing tissue has been the tariff. While it did not take prominence in the public prints, it is very evident that in the last election for Congressmen, that issue was paramount with the voters. It may therefore be taken, as a result of the return of the Republicans to power, that the majority of the New Jersey people do not favor the present low tariff. In other words, they favor a law which will compel us to buy American made goods, for that is the avowed purpose of a protective tariff. However, as the Congress is now constituted it is improbable that any change will be made in the tariff within the next two and a half years.

It is true that nowadays the importations of foreign goods have been reduced to the minimum, but if those people who voted against the Democrats in the recent election are sincere in their convictions, they can further American industry by making sure that everything they purchase has been made in America. Let them, when making their purchases, seek out American made goods in preference to those that were imported. Let them ask their merchants for American goods; let them talk American goods, and help to create the fashion for American goods. The term "imported" has too much of a charm for many of our people, and often carries the decision of the purchaser in favor of the foreign made goods. To many, "imported" means superior quality, exquisite style and taste, and is a fashionable price mark indicating liberal expenditure. This has done our American manufacturers incalculable harm. In many instances it has compelled them to abandon the manufacture of the higher qualities of goods, because, though they were equal to the imported in quality and price, the latter were preferred because of the popular prejudice against our own products.

Our own manufacturers in almost every line of industry can successfully compete with foreigners in price and quality if we but give them a fair chance. High protective tariffs have but encouraged the prejudice in favor of the foreign goods, because it added to the cost, and therefore made them more difficult for the average persons to obtain, and hence they became more exclusive and fashionable.

If our people will put as much enthusiasm into a campaign for "Made in America" for about a year, they can make "imported" unpopular, out of style and unpatriotic, and accomplish even more than can be accomplished by a high protective tariff. Popular sentiment in favor of American products and against "imported" goods will do more to help our home industries than any law intended in an indirect way to compel our people to buy what they do not want. Let "Made in America" become the fashion and a source of pride, and let us make "imported" become as unpopular as it has been fashionable. With the help of the majority who voted for protection we can accomplish this within a year.

FIRE ALARM TAPPERS

The announced intention of the Common Council to abolish the fire whistle, when the full paid department is installed the first of the year, has revived the proposition that a warning of some kind should be installed in traffic congested points in the business section. Unless the jangling of the bells on the apparatus is heard in time, after the change is made, auto and wagon drivers will be unaware of the onrushing trucks and engines until almost full upon them. The big whistle has always served as announcer in every part of the city, giving pedestrians and drivers alike a chance to clear the way. Nobody will deny that the corner of Park avenue and Second street, and Watchung avenue and Second street are dangerous points for the sudden appearance of high speed fire apparatus, and that gongs, or tappers, should be located at each place.

The question was brought to the attention of the authorities about ten years ago, but what became of it at the time no one recalls. There was no plan to do away with the whistle at that time, but firemen and citizens agreed that it would be a good thing. If it was then, what about now, without the whistle and a great increase in traffic? Both corners mentioned have high buildings, shutting off the sound and view; Park avenue is a main artery of travel, and Watchung avenue is traversed by all the city's street car lines. The trolley company recognize the danger, and have ordered a dead stop before crossing East Second street at Watchung avenue, a rule that means dismissal for motormen that disobey. When big corporations exercise such care, the councilmen who do the same thing will receive the citizens' approbation.

By all means install the tappers when the whistle becomes a memory.

One of yesterday's New York papers printed a despatch from Oregon stating that capital punishment had been abolished in the State by a vote of 101,000 to 99,000. In the next column was a wire from Boston that Frank Howard, sentenced to a life term in 1897 for murder, had been pardoned. Comparisons are odious, so make your own comment.

Have you ever noticed how the people who go to New York on business come back to Plainfield to enjoy themselves?

What Plainfield needs isn't criticism, but optimism.

LOCAL BOY IN RUTGERS' PLAY MAY APPEAR HERE

Lawrence H. French, son of Mr and Mrs. C. Frank French, of the borough was one of the eighteen students of Rutgers College chosen for the cast of the college play that will be given at the New Brunswick Opera House during junior week. There are nine characters in the cast and there will be an understudy for each part. While in the North Plainfield High School of which he was a graduate in the class of 1911, French was active in dramatics and took part in three plays given by the Boys' Athletic Association. He has much dramatic ability and has taken part in a play at Rutgers before.

There were seventy-five candidates out for the parts. The play to be given is entitled "The Spirit of the College," and was written by Earl Silvers, of Rahway, a graduate in the class of 1913. Lloyd N. Lewis, of Roselle Park, has been selected business manager and is planning to produce the play in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Rahway and other cities around here.

TENDERED A SURPRISE.

Members of the Nofie Quite Club, of the borough, last evening tendered a surprise party to Miss Edna Smith, of Allen place, North Plainfield. The evening was spent in playing games, while refreshments were served at the conclusion of the gathering. Among those present were the Misses Ella Curtis, Meriam Smith, Anna Hild, Lucy Johnson, Christiana Vesterguard, Martha Summers, Verna and Edna Stewart, Gertrude and Marion Cashin, and Clarence Carson, Victor Houston, Clarence Ehrlich, Harold Marsh, Ernest Stahl, Kenneth and LeRoy Smith, Mr. Donlin, Mr. and Mrs. George Summers and Miss Clara Smith.

REVIEWS POLITICAL EVENTS

the whole of a Presidential term.

"First, let us consider the local aspects and then the more general and national results of the election. The voters of this district listened to the silvery harmony of the pocketbook and voted the Republican ticket. It's mighty hard for the principles of some people to survive a reduced income. Business conditions are very bad. Financially, some of us are broke and all but a few of us are badly bent. This is a fact which it does not take Republican statistics to prove. We all admit it.

"This year the Republicans harped on one tune—the tariff—and Union county voters danced to it.

"Working hours are shortened, wages reduced, many are out of work: all of which facts are denied by none, not even Democrats. The tariff did it: Democratic tariff tinkering did it, said the Republicans, and in this district they won with a wide margin.

"A tariff reduction letting in foreign goods made under cheaper conditions than we can make them here, is what has stagnated our business, according to the Republicans, and they played this up in the recent campaign in every conceivable way. But with all their generalization on this topic did they mention one specific, concrete case of any one business closing down on account of the foreign competition bugaboo? Recollect the speeches you heard, search the newspaper files and put your finger, if you can, on one single article made abroad which has come into Union county or the State of New Jersey and undersold the domestic article, thereby throwing the productive hands in this State out of work in the few months the tariff has been operative.

"There are sixteen bankrupt railroads in this country, and more to come. There are six hundred million dollars worth of defaulted railroad bonds in the hands of investors. Railroad and industrial idividends have been passed right and left. The railroads are buying very little steel. It is estimated there are 500,000 men out of work in the steel and allied industries alone. All these contributing causes to business stagnation are not in any way traceable to the Democrats or tariff tinkering.

"The voters of this country very nearly manacled President Wilson by changing the balance of power in Congress. This country is today in one of the most critical periods of its history and this Congressional district did its part toward trying to upset the boat.

"Let us admit a great deal of stupidity on the part of our party. Let us admit, for example, that it would have been a financially sound proposition to have let the tax remain on sugar—a tax which produces an enormous revenue approximating one hundred million dollars annually—permitted it to remain until the revenue of the Income Tax was a certainty. In short we should not have swapped horses while we were crossing a stream. Again, let us admit that it was stupidity for the Congressmen drawing up the Income Tax Bill to assume that it would yield a revenue of eighty million dollars, and for the Honorable Secretary of the Treasury to guess that it would yield fifty-four million dollars, when the actual return has proved to be twenty-eight million dollars. Such accomplishments are indefensible, judged from a standpoint of efficiency. However, we must always put up with a high percentage of incompetency in our legislators in this country, both State and National, regardless of the party in power.

"Democracy means freedom, plus responsibility, and our only hope of progressive, legislative advancement lies in the intelligence and interest of the voters at large. We must have apathy. At every election twenty or forty men out of every hundred, who are qualified to vote, don't use the ballot. It is this sickening lack of interest which is one of the sore spots in American politics.

"Do you realize, gentlemen, that majority rule in this country is really a myth? This country has been carried through the two great crises in its history by a minority. An historical or political crisis controverts the theory of socialism and puts the premium on individualism. The crisis begets the leader.

"One hundred and thirty-seven years ago our great-grandfathers were starving to death at Valley Forge. General Washington and Baron Steuben were drilling the ragged army so that the victories of the coming summer would make the American flag a possibility.

"Charles Lee called Congress at that time a "Stable of stupid cattle, stumbling at every step." In spite of stupidity, in spite of treachery, in spite of lack of financial support a mere handful of men staked every dollar they had, staked their lives and families, on the outcome of that war. They won and, of course, the majority was on the cheering lines at the finish to enjoy the fruits of victory. But during the days of the Revolution the ragged minority made this United States a possibility.

"Let us consider the second great epoch and crisis of our history. Let us compare the Presidential term of Lincoln with what has transpired in the last two years.

"In 1860 a minority vote elected Lincoln President. In 1862, after two years in office, President Lincoln's party was defeated at the polls. It was a vote of censure. Control of Congress was nearly but not quite lost. The President still had a majority of twenty in Congress. But there were thorns, then as now: the State of Illinois, President Lincoln's home State, went against him overwhelmingly.

"Today, looking back fifty years, we put the seal of approval on President Lincoln, a minority President, repudiated by his own State, who brought this country through a storm which could have been weathered with no other man at the helm.

"We have arrived at still another crisis in our country: we find another minority President at the helm—a President whom it took forty-six ballots to swing through the Democratic convention at Baltimore. A president sent into office by less than half of the fifteen million voters in this country; a president who after two years in office has been repudiated by his own State of New Jersey, although having retained a bare majority in Congress.

"What is the answer to this situation. Does the voter know what he wants? A few years ago we awoke to the fact that many big businesses in this country were corrupt. The piracy of the New Haven Railroad is a recent and interesting expose of what has been rather too common practice. President Roosevelt started in to swing his big stick and everybody cheered, but, before anything permanent had been accomplished toward cleaning up, Mr. Taft went into office and his strictly neutral 'live and let live' policy was denounced by the voter and President Wilson was elected.

"After two years of constructive effort toward establishing some of the serious questions of the day on an intelligent, ethical basis the voters of the country very nearly manacled his hands by electing candidates to almost dissipate his control of Congress.

"This is a serious aspect of American political life: we show no support, show no gratitude, offer no rewards for honest and capable service. The political grafter being of a cynical cast knows this and gets his graft. The honest, efficient public servant gets nothing but knocks.

"To enter American political life a man must be thick skinned and callous to withstand the abuse and invective hurled against him; adding to this lack of support, and even open and constant endeavors to thwart him in every way, we find office holding debased to its lowest level and made attractive to none but hardened cynics.

"Democracy relies for its strength and success on the leadership of the best and wisest. To obtain the best and wisest, and not a lot of swashbuckling ignoramuses, we must be less niggardly of our rewards and more generous in our support and praise.

"In this State and Congressional district the recent election netted a vote of censure to both Governor Fielder and President Wilson. The question for fair-minded men is, did the performances of these officials in any way warrant that vote?"

EDWARD A. MEAD WILL GIVE POPULAR READING

The Washington School Auditorium will be crowded tonight when *the third of the free public entertain*ments which the Board of Education is providing this winter takes place at 8 o'clock. The attraction is the famous play, "The Passing of The Third Floor Back," which will be given by Edward A. Mead, the well-known interpreter of plays, whose presentation of Mr. Kennedy's famous play has been well received by the public for the past three years.

The message of the play, and its sympathetic and attractive rendition are sure to appeal to every one who goes. This is the only lecture of the series which takes place on Wednesday night, all the other entertainments occurring on Thursdays. The doors will open at 7:30 o'clock and the entertainment will begin promptly at 8.

BREATHE FREEYL! OPEN NOSTRILS AND STUFFED HEAD---END CATARRH

Instant Relief When Nose and Head Are Clogged from a Cold—Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges—Dull Headache Vanishes.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely, dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Adv

INDOOR WINDOW BOX IS DESCRIBED

Affords Pleasure and Satisfaction to the Housewife.

THE VALUE OF FLOWERS

Mistaken Idea that They Are Unhealthful to Individuals in a Room, Although Odors May Not Agree With the Sick.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18—The indoor window box, properly planned and tended, will afford much pleasure and satisfaction to the housewife who misses her out-of-door garden during the winter months. It is a mistaken notion that plants when kept in living rooms use up certain elements of the air in such quantities as to make it unhealthful for individuals using the room. It is much harder on plants to be in a room with people than for people to be in a room with growing plants. Plants, indeed, use air, but use such a small proportion that the effect of the plant in the room is negligible if the room is ventilated at all. This also holds good for cut flowers or plants in a sick room, although the odor of some flowers may be depressing to the patient, and bad for that reason.

A good depth for an indoor window box is about 12 inches. The bottom of the box should be covered with stones and broken pottery to give drainage and this should be covered by a layer of moss to prevent the soil above from working down through the stones. The drainage and moss should take up about three inches. The greater the body of soil above the moss the more uniform it may be kept as to moisture. The soil should come to within an inch and a half or two inches of the top of the box.

The indoor window box should be made to fit the window. To get as much light as possible it should be level with the window. It may be fastened with brackets or placed on a table, or have legs made for it. There should be a drip pan beneath to keep water from soiling the floor. The box may rest directly above the drip pan on legs half an inch to an inch high or the box may be water-tight with the exception of a hole at one end to let out the water.

The top of the soil should be allowed to become quite dry once in a while. The results of watering will teach the owner to regulate the supply. Boxes may need watering in sunshiny weather (especially toward spring) every day, or at least every other day; in cloudy mid-winter weather not more than once a week. As a rule it is better to water lightly and frequently than heavily and infrequently. The specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture advises this, although just the reverse is considered best when watering is done out of doors in the summer.

A large proportion of the plants in a window box should be of the same general character if the growth is to be successful. Plants of different character need different treatment. It is very difficult to raise flowering plants in a window box with the exception of begonias. Ordinary flowering plants are very exacting, and will not find enough light in the ordinary living room, even though placed near the window, although they may do well in a conservatory. The main object of an indoor window box is to furnish the fresh appearance of growing green leaves rather than to raise flowers indoors.

The Department of Agriculture's specialist makes the following suggestions for a window box:

Begonias are one of the most attractive plants that may be used for an indoor box. Both flowering and non-flowering varieties will give satisfaction; in fact, the flowering variety is one of the few plants that will blossom indoors without special cultivation. The begonia is not very particular in its requirements and will flourish with ordinary care.

Small ferns obtained from a florist will flourish. These are particularly adapted to house culture, as they do not require direct sunlight. (Care of ferns will be described later in a subsequent article.)

Even more hardy than ferns is the foliage plant known as the aspidistra. This adaptable plant-growth will stand a measure of neglect, drought, and dust and still thrive. It does not require direct sunlight. Geraniums may also be used as foliage plants, though they must not be expected to blossom in the window box. Kenilworth ivy may be planted along the edge. It will grow nicely from seed. Smilax may be grown from the back of the box, and trained up about the window to give the effect of an attractive bower. The inexperienced grower of plants indoors cannot expect to do well with roses. These plants are most exacting, and not only will they probably fail to flower, but also their foliage may be affected by mildew, blight, etc.

SALE AND SUPPER.

A sale of home-made articles is to be held under the auspices of the women of the All Souls' church, Thursday, December 3 from 2 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and on December 4 from 2 to 10 o'clock in the evening. A turkey supper is to be held on the latter date from 6:30 to 8 o'clock. The proceeds are to be used for the church funds.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

WOMEN AND WAR.

The Woman's Journal has asked a number of well known men and women whether they believe that wars would be less frequent if women had votes, and they have replied. Others have expressed their opinion unsolicited. Among those who believe that equal suffrage would tend to peace are Jane Addams, Mary Johnston, Dr Stephen S. Wise, Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, Lillian D. Wald, Zona Gale and Dr. Charles Fleischer.

Mary Johnston Says Yes.

Question: Do you think there would be fewer wars if women could vote?

Answer: Yes.

Question: Why?

Answer: I think that war, as war, has still a fascination for most men. I do not think that the mass of women are subject to this illusion. Therefore their weight in public affairs should tell against war.

Huge armaments, so far from preventing, provoke war. I think that women would be less apt than men to vote public moneys into dreadnoughts and standing armies, or to keep in office public servants who are known to be belligerent.

With all its mistakes, the mother sex does not like to see its offspring killed or maimed—nor left in bitterness and poverty—nor quarrelsome with others. There are exceptions, of course, but the great majority of women are humane. When women understand that war can be warred against with ballots, the mass of their ballots will go, I think, into that side of the balance marked Peace.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise Is Red Hot.

Do I believe that woman suffrage would render war less frequent? No. I believe that woman suffrage,—that is to say, woman's entire participation in the affairs of the government,—would not only render wars less frequent, but make war impossible. Wars will cease to be waged when women shall have part and voice in the direction of the affairs of the government. To me, nothing in all this world-welter that horrifies us anew from day to day is more terrible than the thought that no woman on earth has been asked whether this war should be. Women bear the last and most terrible cost of war. It is women who must go down into the hell of agony in order to give children to life, and their children are asked for war and compelled to go to battle without mothers and wives ever being consulted as to the rightness or the need of war.

Incidentally, I must observe that if I were asked to name the crowning infamy of this war, I should mention not the destruction of Louvain nor the battering of the Rheims Cathedral, but the attitude of European governments in urging men to wed as a matter of patriotic duty before setting forth to join their armies. This is done in the interest of a high birth-rate by governments which are wholly indifferent to the highest death-rate. I cannot conceive of any more awful insult that could be offered to womanhood than to invite women nominally to wed, but actually to permit themselves to be converted into breeding machines. To ask a man and women to wed immediately before the man goes forth to war is to invite the birth of father less children and the making of mothers widowed before their children's birth.

There are sacrifices which the world may ask of women,—and women have a genius for sacrificing themselves. But this is not to ask a sacrifice of woman. This is to ask her to immolate her body and to sink the highest and holiest instincts of womanhood at the bidding of ruthless war.

One of the great gains that is to come out of this war will be the end of man-made government. I see the question of suffrage receding into the background. The question is not, Shall women vote? for that will speedily be settled by the world,—in part, as a result of the war. The question is—How utilize the conscience and the spirit of womanhood in the interest of world-peace as between nations and of world-welfare within national boundaries.

Lillian D. Wald's View.

First, I believe that wars would be less frequent if women voted.

Second, I believe that women would be less willing to vote large sums for armaments for the army and navy. They are temperamentally less stimulated than men by the call to force, and they also know of the great price that is paid for war. Some time ago, an English member of Parliament expressed with considerable vigor his opposition to extending the complete franchise to women in England, and based his objection upon his belief that some of them would probably be elected to the House of Commons, and it would be impossible to get sufficient appropriations for the army and navy. I agree with him and the other men in England that that would be likely to be the result of admitting women to a more direct share in the administration of the public money and that is one argument added to the others for agitating for the vote for women.

WAR RESUMED ALONG MEXICAN BOUNDARY

And Carranza Repudiates Telegram Announcing His Resignation.

Naco, Ariz., Nov. 18—A general attack by the Maytorena forces on the hill position at Naco, across the border, began at daybreak with a lively artillery fire, soon folowed by rifle and machine guns fire from all sides. The cannonade was directed in the direction of the Southern Pacific Railroad Works, enfilading the south trenches of the defenders position, but without apparently doing much harm.

The freight depot of the Southern Pacific is burning and the fire is spreading to all buildings of the road across the border. The rifle fire of the Yaquis on the south is crossing the border liberally.

General Carranza has repudiated the telegram sent for him by General Gamboles to General Guitierrez, in which the first chief was represented as saying he would retire.

Seven Mexican filibusters captured last week by Villa patrols near Pilarcee, Chihuaha, after they had raided several American ranches on the Mexican side of the border, were executed in a body yesterday at Juarez. Juarez military officials refused to discuss the incident other than to say that the men were tried by a military court and found guilty of highway robbery.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the German Reformed church, will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Henry Vogel, of Dunellen.

BY MORRIS MILLER

Tommy Walsh claims he has more hard luck than any manager in the fight game. Walsh is manager of Joe Mandot, Knockout Brown, Steve Ketchel and Jimmy Travers. Ketchel fought at Battle Creek. He got a draw when Walsh claims he won by a mile. Then the promoter induced Walsh to accept a check for Ketchel's end of the purse. It came back marked "No funds." Brown fought Jack Dillon at St. Louis. The referee called it no contest because Dillon stalled. Dillon, who had drawn l is money in advance, was arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Brown wasn't arrested, but Walsh could not collect anything for Knockout's efforts. When Mandot fought Hal Stewart at Kalamazoo the promoter skipped out with the receipts, leaving Walsh to hold the bag again. Since Mandot got only a draw with Stewart, whose reputation is very limited, Mandot's earning power was reduced somewhat. All of these misfortunes befell Walsh in less than a month.

Reports from Kansas City say the match for the pocket billiard championship between Benjamin Allen, champion, of Kansas City, and James Maturo, challenger, of Denver, will take place November 18, 19 and 20. The contest should have been scheduled for the past week. It was deferred by mutual agreement of the players interested in order to employ it as a "curtain riser" for the billiard theater which Kling and Allen are about to open. If Allen wins, the emblem of championship will become his personal property and a tournament will follow. Should Maturo win he will have to defend the emblem for one year and his first opponent will be Harry Hart of Brooklyn, who has challenged the winner of the forthcoming match.

Baseball players attain their highest notch of efficiency as professionals. So do billiard players and prize fighters. But professionalism doesn't always put athletes at the summit of their skill. There are games in which the contestants enjoy their best days as amateurs. Football probably is the best instance of this. Amateur boxers, billiardists and ball players don't get the practice or training necessary to master their games. Football players do. A few years of college football take the best there is out of a player. When the average star leaves college he has played his best ball. He is in such condition he needs regular practice to keep him tuned up. He doesn't get it on a professional team. Hence he slips.

Edward M. Santry is now a state senator in Illinois, elected by a sweeping majority in the third district. Edward M. Santry is the same Eddie Santry who won the world's bantam title by whipping Palmer, the Englishman, and who once beat Joe Gans. Santry's career has been remarkable. As a boy he was so weak and sickly the doctor, fearing tuberculosis, ordered him to go west. The family was poor and the order was changed to exercise and outdoor life. Santry began exercising in a gymnasium, and in two years was one of the fastest and most brilliant of the little boxers. After retiring from the ring he entered Chicago politics, has held positions in the county building, and now enters the legislature.

George Chalmers, who was taken under McGraw's wing from the Phillies last season, has been put through a course of renovation by a specialist and is now reported to be in shipshape. Chalmers had trouble with his arm, and, unable to work, was let go by the Phils. If he is in shape next spring he will bolster up the pitching strength of the Giants.

Maurice E. McLoughlin will head what will probably be the last lawn tennis ranking list ever to be issued in this country. The reason for the abandonment of the ranking of the players is the fact that after three months of labor and the mailing of 6,000 letters by the committee records have been received from less than 100 players.

SCHEDULE ARRANGED FOR USE OF BOROUGH COURT

Principal Albert Earley has arranged the following schedule, which shows the days and periods of time that the various teams of North Plainfield High School will have the use of Saengerbund Hall for basketball. This schedule is subject to change, however, on days when the varsity teams have scheduled games.

Monday, 2:00-3:30, boys' team; 3:30-5:00, girls' team. Tuesday, 2:00-3:00, freshmen boys; 3:00-4:00, boys' team; 4:00-5:00, sophomore boys. Wednesday, 2:00-3:00, junior boys; 3:00-4:00, girls' team; 4:00-5:00, freshman girls. Thursday, 2:00-3:30, boys' team; 3:30-5:00, grades. Friday, 2:00-2:45; senior boys; 2:45-3:30, sophomore girls; 3:30-5:00, grades.

ELIZABETH ELKS ADVANCE TO A FOURTH PLACE TIE

By annexing the odd game at Rutherford last night, the Elizabeth Senior Elk pinners advanced to a tie for fourth place with New York and Hoboken. The Elizabethans took the last two with a few points to spare in each case while their opponents won the initial game without any trouble.

The score of the first game was 875 to 831, but the second game was a real fight. At the end the Union county quintet was three points in the lead, the scores being 815 to 912. Maloney, of Elizabeth, led off in the deciding game with a 216 and his team also managed to come out ahead in this game, this time with a four-point margin. Clauss made the high score of the night in the second game with a 227.

The scores:

ELIZABETH.

Maloney	170	193	216
Gathman	165	152	181
Nolte	174	178	158
Clauss	156	227	188

JOHNSON-WILLARD.

London, Nov. 18—Articles were signed yesterday for a boxing contest of from twenty to forty-five rounds between Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion, and Jess Willard, an American "white hope." The fight will take place during the last two weeks in March at some place to be chosen February 15. It is said that the battle ground probably will be Mexico. Each of the boxers deposited $1,000 to guarantee his appearance at the ringside.

Rutherford	7	11	997

The Plainfield Elks' Senior League pinners, rolling a scheduled game on the Rahway alleys last night, dropped two of the three games played and still have an undisputed hold on last place, with four games to their credit and one less than a dozen lost.

The visitors started off poorly and the first two men to bowl for the home team secured big leads which could not be overcome by the Queen City pinners. Laing's 196 gave his team some encouragement, and Vail, who followed him, scored a 160, while Captain Nash registered a 185. At the end of the game the Rahway team was still six points in the lead, the scores being 860 to 854. In the second game the Plainfield team took a brace and played all around their opponents. McCartney started off well for Rahway by hitting for 203, while Campbell made only a 175. Laing came to the rescue of the local team with high score of the night, which cinched the second match. His score was 223. Nash, as anchor man, fell down to 160, but the lead obtained could not be overcome by the home pinners.

The deciding match was easy for the home team, the locals making very low scores and losing by over one hundred points. Campbell started off with the best score that Plainfield made in this game, which was 158, and the other four members of the team scored 120 and 130 scores. The final score was 783 to 678.

The scores:

PARROTS AND CROWS MEET IN FIRST K. OF C. MATCH

The Crows and Parrots, of the Knights of Columbus five-man bowling tournament, will start the league tomorrow night on the club alleys. The opposing captains for the opening battle will be Harry Pasch and James Strappe and a good match is looked for in the initial tilt. The full schedule has not yet been arranged, but the second match will be played next Monday night, between the Quails and Robins.

The following players will take part tomorrow night:

Parrots.	Crows.
James Strappe	Harry Pasch
John Duffy	John Kyle
John Wilson	John McCarty
Joe Tobin	Dan Afee
Frank Burke	Joe Murray

HARD LIST FOR BATTIN. PLAINFIELD SCHEDULED

The Plainfield High School basketball team will meet the five representing Battin High School at Elizabeth on December 23, according to a schedule issued by the Elizabeth manager. A return game will probably be played on the local court.

Manager Arthur Markthaler, of the Elizabeth quintet, is busy preparing one of the hardest schedules a Battin quintet ever tackled. Markthaler is booking teams of the calibre of Rutgers Preparatory School, Plainfield H. S., Woodbridge H. S., Princeton H. S., Montclair Academy, Glen Ridge H. S., Westfield H. S., and Rahway H. S. to oppose his charges.

MONARCHS TO PRACTICE.

The Monarch football team, of Dunellen, which for the last two Saturdays has played scoreless games, will practice on Maurer Oval tonight, and the manager has arranged to have a fast team appear in that place next Saturday. All members of the eleven should attend the workout tonight.

MANY LEAGUE GAMES IN NEXT THREE DAYS

Masons, Eagles and Elks Will Be Busy Playing for Rest of Week.

Elks', Eagles and Masonic bowlers will play several matches in their respective leagues for the next couple of days and the Jerusalem players will travel to Rahway tonight and meet their brothers of that place. The locals have not won a game as yet and are one of the three teams holding down last place with no percentage. Tonight Hoboken and New Brunswick Elks will try conclusions on the latter's alleys instead of tomorrow, and the visitors will have their hands full defeating the Middlesexers on their home drives. Jersey City will go to Paterson tomorrow night, and Friday, New York is due in Newark.

The Elks Junior League's scheduled games for tonight between Paterson and New Brunswick have been postponed, but the local Juniors will start their season Friday, when they will be the guests at Jersey City. The league will then have a recess, the next match being on December 1. In the Eagles' League two matches are on for Thursday and Plainfield will meet Somerville on the latter's alleys in one of these, while the other match will be between Elizabeth and Rahway at the latter place. The locals are at present at the top of the list, but the county seaters have always proved a hard proposition for them.

P. H. S. ELEVEN WILL PLAY ON PARKER FIELD SATURDAY

For the first time in three weeks, the Plainfield High School football team will play before its followers Saturday afternoon, on Parker Field, when the strong Morris High School aggregation, of New York, will be the locals' opponents. This is the only team from New York that the local team plays and the game will undoubtedly prove a good one.

This will practically close the season for the locals, although they play the annual game with the Alumni on Thanksgiving Day. The proposed game with Holy Cross did not materialize.

BRYNARSKI JUMPED HIGH IN COLOR LEAGUE EVENT

Al Brynarski won the running high jump event of the Color League, at the Y. M. C. A., when he crossed the bar at 5 feet 2 inches. The nearest to him was 5 feet made by Karlberg, and a tie for third place at 4 feet 8 inches was next. Seven of the twenty-two entered was stuck at 4 feet 2 inches and four could get no higher than 3 feet 8 inches. The Blue team counted for six men, while the Red and White each had five entered.

The results:

Brynarski, Blue	5.2
Karlberg, White	5
Ricketts, Red	4.8
Campbell, White	4.8
Harris, Blue	4.6
Boice, Blue	4.6
Newmiller, Red	4.4

YALE LEADS IN POTATO RACE EVENT AT Y. M. C. A.

Forty-two seconds was the best time recorded in the 9-potato race event of the College League of the Y. M. C. A. boy's department, yesterday afternoon, and Johnson, of the Princeton team, was credited with this time. Willett, of Rutgers, was second with 43 1-5 seconds. Four Yale men finished.

The results are as follows: Johnson, Princeton, 42 seconds; Willett, Rutgers, 43 1-5 seconds; Kinney, Rutgers, 45 3-5 seconds; Douglas, Yale, 46 1-5 seconds; Angerbauer, Harvard, 47 seconds; Snyder, Princeton, 47 seconds; Tomlinson, Harvard, 47 2-5 seconds; Giddes, 48 1-5 seconds; Drake, Yale, 48 3-5 seconds; Condict, Rutgers, 54 1-5 seconds; Canfield, Yale, 58 seconds; Hammann, Yale, 59 seconds; Koler, Harvard, 67 seconds.

BORO GIRLS' COURT LIST NOT FINISHED

Miss Lillian Spencer Has Had Much Trouble in Arranging Contests.

Miss Lillian Spencer, manager of the girls' basketball team of North Plainfield High School, has announced her schedule for the coming season. The schedule is not in its completed form, however, as answers have not been received from many of the teams. The manager expects, however, to add many more games to the list before the season is over and that the month of December, for which no games as yet have been scheduled, will be pretty well filled.

The first game will be played today against Roselle Park and as the team has been under hard practice for the past three weeks, it expects to make a good showing in its opening game.

The schedule is as follows:

November 18, Roselle Park at Roselle; November 24, Kearny H. S. at home; January 15, Plainfield H. S. at Plainfield; January 19, Cranford H. S. at home; January 27, Westfield H. S. at Westfield; February 6, Kearny H. S. at Kearny; February 22, Plainfield H. S. at home; February 25, Cranford H. S. at Cranford; March 3, Westfield H. S. at home; March 9, Roselle Park at home; March 20, Plainfield High School, neutral court.

There are also games pending with Summit, Rahway, Roselle, East Orange, the Alumni, Y. W. C. A., Dickinson H. S., of Jersey City; Barringer, of Newark, and New Brunswick. The team is certain of most of these but as yet no dates have been agreed upon.

MANY MATCHES IN KNIGHTS' TOURNEY

Eight Pinners Take Part in Five Series and George Howe Leads All.

Eight bowlers in the Knights of Columbus one-man bowling tournament took part in last night's play and five good matches were played. George Howe led the bunch with five victories and one defeat, while Sullivan increased his average, winning four and dropping a pair. Nine two hundred scores were bowled and there was much competition for high score, which was finally copped by Sullivan when, in his match with Wilson, he hit the wood for 269. Duffy was second with 234.

Howe started off with Shannon and dropped the first game of the match when his opponent scored a 210. Howe then hit for 212 in the next pair of games and Shannon could not come near this mark. Sullivan started with a 222 in his go with Strappe and took the second game, dropping the third. McInerney and Duffy had a hot fight in their initial game, which was won by the latter by three points, the scores being 208 to 205. Duffy made his 234 in the next game, but lost out in the last.

Sullivan took two falls out of Wilson, making his high score in the second, and then Howe finished the night's play by taking three straight from Moynihan.

The scores follow:

Howe	137	212	212
Shannon	210	185	159
Sullivan	222	188	183
Strappe	173	180	189
McInerney	205	162	181
Duffy	208	234	161
Sullivan	167	269	166
Wilson	169	148	185
Howe	182	172	222
Moynihan	150	129	147

The following will play next Friday night: Strappe vs. Kiely, Duffy vs. Kiely, and Cannon vs. Caulfield.

CITY TOURNEY POSTPONED.

The billiard tournament for the city championship which was to have started at E. J. Conway's parlors, last night, was postponed until tonight, when George Miller and Jack Creagar will play the opening match. The match was postponed last night because Miller could not play. As soon as one man loses three games he is eliminated from the play and the last three men to survive will fight for the prizes. One match will be played every night.

JACK RICKETTS QUITS.

The Holy Cross squad practised last night on Marshall Field, and "Doc" Hamilton was out with the team. It was cold and only a short workout was held. The team will be without the services of Jack Ricketts for the rest of the season, as he has decided to quit because of business pressure.

MAC SAYS

Well, Harold, old boy, Milly must have jumped all over you on Friday for your failure to corral a news "scoop" that appeared in the Daily Press. He probably felt peeved because of the half dozen news beats the Press has had in as many days, and they weren't lists of those who took out hunters' licenses, either. While your are at it why don't you print a "live news item" like a list of those who have taken out automobile drivers', dog and hack licenses in Plainfield?

North Plainfield High School feminine basketball stars get into action this afternoon. The borough lassies have formed a stellar sextet this season and expect to sweep the boards with other high school squads in this section of the State.

We note that an Elizabeth sport scribe who took a fall out of Referee Phillips last week came back with an apology Monday night. There's one good sport left in the Union county seat, anyway.

The cold snap of the last couple of days will have its good effects on the hunting season. Nimrods have been waiting for just such a spell to chase the bunnies out and gunners in large numbers left here this morning.

Basketball returns handed in at this office Saturday night by local managers indicate that there will be mighty few unblemished records floating around here this season. Hope Chapel and Y. M. C. A., two combinations that have had the habit of running up big strings of early season victories in previous seasons, have both been dumped on their home courts. Despite the drubbing administered to the local favorites, however, prospects for a good season are bright in each case as the teams have players far above the average. A beating at the start-off is sometimes a good thing for a basketball team and the Plainfield quintets may profit by the little beating dealt out to them Saturday night.

That basketball game between Plainfield High School and the Y. M. C. A. squads slated for tomorrow night, has been called off. This is a commendable step on the part of the red and blue manager, inasmuch as a contest of greater importance should be arranged as an inaugural on the new Ninth street court.

Pool enthusiasts will get into action in the Y. M. C. A. parlors tonight. A tournament such as has been arranged for the Association members should go a long way toward establishing the popular indoor pastime on a firm basis locally and considerable enthusiasm has been aroused among the sharks over the coming event.

A herd of basketball stars from this city shine on the Westfield court Friday night. The Plainfielders expect to come through the tussle on the larger end of the tally card, although the Westfielders are acknowledged to be a fomidable proposition.

TWO MATCHES PLAYED IN BOROUGH BOWLING TOURNEY

Culver and Gates and McGonegal and Menzenback were the winners in the borough bowling tournament played on Gates' alleys last night. The former combination took two out of three games from Conshay and Conover, while the other winning duo made a clean sweep over Bimble and Lutz.

High team score of the night was made by McGonegal and Menzenback in the game when they totaled 373. Gates scored a 212 in the second game of his match, which was high individual score.

The scores follow:

Culver	138	145	16[illegible]
Gates	160	212	17[illegible]
	298	357	34[illegible]
Conshay	125	126	16[illegible]
Conover	134	194	15[illegible]
	259	320	32[illegible]
McGonegal	134	192	12[illegible]
Menzenback	168	181	16[illegible]
	302	373	28[illegible]
Bimble	155	131	14[illegible]
Lutz	133	206	14[illegible]
	288	337	29[illegible]

LOCAL KNIGHTS INSTALL PHILLIPSBURG OFFICERS

District Deputy Joseph F. O'Keefe of the Knights of Columbus, accompanied by a delegation of members from Watchung Council, and George Reilly, of Westfield, went by auto to Phillipsburg, last night, to install the officers of Warren Council. The trip was made each way in two hours and a quarter, going via High Bridge and Washington. David Doyle, who was one of the assisting staff and knows every foot of Hunterdon and Warren counties, acted as pilot and chauffeur.

The Phillipsburgers gave the Plainfielders a royal welcome, conveying the impression that nothing was too good for anybody from Union county. They provided a sumptuous repast and a high class minstrel entertainment for the visitors, following the installation work.

Those in the party beside District Deputy O'Keefe and Mr. Reilly were H. R. Greenwood, Robert McCormack, John F. Caulfield, Fred Hillman and David Doyle. The party reached home at 3 o'clock this morning.

RUMMAGE SALE.

A rummage sale under the auspices of the Earnest Workers' Bible Class, of Grace Methodist church, the borough, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Stirling building. The sale will continue Friday and Saturday.

MRS. E. R. COLLINS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Election, Reports and An Address Features of Foreign Mission Meeting.

Officers were elected and many interesting topics were discussed at the annual meeting of the Elizabeth District Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church, which was held in the Methodist church, Dunellen, yesterday. Over sixty churches were represented by the eighty delegates present from all parts of the district.

These officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. E. R. Collins, of Westfield; vice presidents, Mrs. Edward Winter, of Plainfield, Mrs. C. S. Kemble of Rahway, Mrs. W. J. Taylor, of Westfield; recording secretary, Mrs. J. T. Sares, of Elizabeth; treasurer, Mrs. John Stevens, of Elizabeth; district secretary, Miss Elizabeth H. McCreary, of Elizabeth; secretary literature, Mrs. I. J. Dewey, of Rahway; secretary mite boxes, Mrs. L. W. Clarkhuff, of Elizabeth; Newark Conference officers, secretary, Mrs. J. H. Knowles, of New York; treasurer, Miss Edith L. White, of Hoboken.

Rev. Dr. D. W. C. Ramsey, pastor of the entertaining church, was in charge of the devotional service which opened the morning session at 10 o'clock, which was followed with an address of welcome by Mrs. William E. Palmer, of Perth Amboy, president of the district society. Then followed the presentation of reports of district officers, the district roll call. Mrs. Palmer resigned as president because of ill-health, and her retirement was a source of regret. Mrs. John E. Stevens, of Elizabeth, also resigned and by a strange coincidence another Mrs. John Stevens, also of Elizabeth, was elected in her place.

An excellent luncheon was served to the visitors by the women of the entertaining church. The afternoon session was featured with an address on "India," by Mrs. C. R. Vickery, field secretary of the New York branch of the society. Mrs. Vickery and her husband were missionaries in India for a number of years. Mrs. Vickery appeared yesterday in the native costume of India.

Every leading merchant in the city is being requested to make some special inducement in the way of goods and prices for that week. In addition to refunding the carfare of outtown customers, the merchants are not only complying with the request, but they are busy preparing for the event with substantial reductions in prices.

The plan has met iwth strong approval from many of the leading merchants and as a result, it will be one of the biggest trade events ever known in the city. Further announcements will be made of this big co-operative fare refunding sale from day to day in the Daily Press. They will mean an actual saving of much money for the people within the radius of the sale. Merchandise will be offered at prices which will be impossible to duplicate in any other city in the country. Details of the plan and the special goods and prices offered by the merchants will be given from day to day.

bara River, northwestern Servia, which already has been crossed at some points, though the bridges were destroyed by the enemy. At Valjevo, where our army commanders have arrived, order has been restored. The town has suffered much from Servian soldiers. Small cavalry detchments yesterday captured 200 prisoners.

Another despatch from Vienna, by way of Amsterdam, says that Emperior Francis Joseph, of Austria, has subscribed 5,000,000 crowns, equal to $1,000,000, to the Austrian War Loan.

The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger authoritatively denies reports that the Duke of Brunswick has been wounded, is a prisoner, or is missing.

Cape Town, South Africa, Nov. 18.—General Beyers and 1,500 rebels are in full flight before the Loyalists of Colonel Calliers. Reports were received here today of a running fight west of Belfontaine, in whicl four rebels were killed; twenty wounded and 100 captured.

Amsterdam, Nov. 13 (Central News Cable).—Brand Whitlock, the United States minister to Belgium, has received assurance from the Germans that the food supplies now being sent to Belgium for the use of the population of that country will be devoted to the purpose for which they are being collected, and forwarded from all over the world. The Germans have given Minister Whitlock a guarantee that they will not confiscate and use the foodstuffs for their army.

Vienna, Nov. 18 (Central News Cable).—The following official statement, given out today by general headquarters, tells of Austrian successes in repulsing the Russian armies before Cracow:

"The Austrians advancing from Cracow yesterday, took the enemy's first lines of defense north of the frontier. The Russians were repulsed at Walbron on the Pilitza and 500 prisoners were captured. The Austrians advanced yesterday to River Kelubra, over which a part of our army has already crossed."

A despatch to the Neue Freie Presse declares that the Servians retired ten kilometres after the fall of Valiova in the direction of Kragujevatz, where a new battle was fought.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Heavy weather is interfering with the campaign in northern France, according to a despatch from the Berlin Foreign Office received today, at the German embassy. The despatch follows:

"Fighting of the right wing was hampered by unfavorable weather yesterday, when we made little progress, though some hundred French and English were captured, and two machine guns taken.

"In the Argonne we stormed and blew up strong French positions. The report that the French wrought disorder in a German detachment near Coincourt, south of Marsal, is a pure invention. The French had considerable losses while we lost none. On the east Prussian frontier and in Russian Poland fighting is continuing. No decision as yet."

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Miss Aller is anxious to have all the members of the association meet with her tomorrow night at 8 o'clock to discuss plans for the Panama-Pacific Exposition contest and other important matters.

All members who have had birthdays in the months of October and November are invited to attend the birthday supper tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock. Those who have not already registered at the association must do so by tomorrow.

The Saturday night suppers, from 5 to 7 o'clock, are not only for members but anyone who wishes to attend will be welcomed.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

At a meeting of the committee which is to select a play for the senior Christmas entertainment, four plays were picked out yesterday, and copies of each of these have been sent for, from which to make a selection.

There will be a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association in the Somerset School building tomorrow afternoon at 3:15. It is hoped that the mothers of all the pupils in the school who can possibly attend will be there.

Manager Van Mater, of the High School basketball team, has now about twenty-five games on his schedule and he expects to have it completed before the first game is played. He, however, does not wish to announce his schedule until it is in its complete form.

DR. MOFFAT TO SPEAK.

Rev. Dr. Thomas C. Moffat, superintendent of Indian work of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, will speak this evening at the mid-week service of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The meeting will be missionary in nature, in recognition of the week of prayer being observed in this city this week.

DRUM CORP'S CARNIVAL IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Another large crowd attended the indoor carnival of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps at Co. K Armory, last night, and dancing was the feature of the evening. Excellent music was furnished and the dancers enjoyed themselves until a late hour. A large delegation from the Knights of Pythias lodge were guests last night.

During the evening several articles were chanced off, including a silk umbrella and cake. The latter was covered with white icing with the letters I. F. D. C. on top in pink icing. Several articles are sold in this way every night and the carnival, which is an annual affair, will continue every night this week.

MANY CARD PARTIES GIVEN FOR EXCHANGE

Within the past ten days card parties for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange have been given by the following women: Mrs. Howard C. Tracy, Miss Halloway, Mrs. T. E. Rhoades, Miss Burke, Miss Harman, Mrs. J. B. Dumont, Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Mrs. W. F. Taliaferro Mrs. Evarts Tracy, Mrs. Jabez Gilbert and Mrs. Harold Brown.

The officers of the exchange greatly appreciate the interest their friends have shown and as there are still a number of parties to be given it is hoped that a very substantial sum of money will be raised in this way.

BANNER OFFERED TO LOCAL BIBLE CLASSES

The silk banner to be offered to the Bible class having the largest representation in the State Sunday-school parade in Newark, tomorrow night, is intended only for competition among the classes of Plainfield. The idea of presenting a banner was conceived by a prominent Sunday-school worker here as an incentive to securing a large turn-out in the parade.

TO HAVE A "QUESTION BOX."

Abraham Lincoln Chapter, I. C. S. Fraternity, at its meeting in the First National Bank building, last night, discussed plans for the year, a feature of which will be "question box" to be introduced at the meeting tomorrow night as an educational medium among the members. Harry W. Swivel and F. Robert Shaw comprise the committee in charge. George Lewis, J. R. Barnes and Mr. Tilley were named as a committee on decorations. A full attendance of members is requested at tomorrow night's meeting.

JOINT SEWER MEETING.

The Joint Sewer Commission of this city, North Plainfield and Dunellen is to be held this evening at the Council Chambers in the city building. Several matters of importance is to come before the body for consideration.

Hard to Explain.

Cummings and Weisner were business rivals. One day at the club they fell to talking.

"Do you carry any life insurance?" queried Cummings.

"Yes," was the answer. "I have $10,000."

"Made payable to your wife?" asked Cummings.

"Yes," said Weisner.

"Well," asked Cummings, "what kind of an excuse do you give to your wife for living?"—New York Press.

Tight Screws.

If screws, gas fittings, the sides of bedsteads or anything else of the kind become tightly fixed and cannot be moved the following method will generally be found to loosen them: Pour a little oil on the tight parts and then hold a lighted candle underneath until it is warm. You will then find that it is easy to separate or unscrew the fixed parts

Polishing Pearls.

Pearl ornaments may be elegantly polished by first rubbing with olive oil to remove the dirty appearance, then applying any red nail polish. This latter gives a burnished appearance, and with a little fast rubbing the pearl takes on a brilliant glow.—Scientific American Germany on North Sea.

The border of Germany on the North sea, from the easternmost corner of Oldenburg to the northernmost point in Schleswig, measures some 200 miles. The Kaiser Wilhelm (Kiel) canal is sixty-one miles long and cost $40,000,000.

Idle Curiosity.

For no reason at all we have wondered and wondered and wondered what moths ate before Adam and Even went in for dress reform.—Philadelphia Ledger

PROLOGUE OF STORY.

A town in the middle west, pinched with poverty, decides that it will have no Christmas, as no one can afford to buy gifts. They perhaps foolishly reckon that the heartburnings and the disappointments of the children will be obviated by passing the holiday season over with no observance. How this was found to be simply and wholly impossible, how the Christmas joys and Christmas spirit crept into the little town and into the hearts of its most positive objectors and how Christmas cannot be arbitrated about, make up the basis of a more than ordinarily appealing story. Incidentally it is a little boy who really makes possible a delightful outcome. A thread of romance runs through it all with something of the meaning of Christmas for the individual human being and for the race.

CHAPTER I

Not Keep Christmas at All!

IT was in October that Mary Chavah burned over the grass of her lawn, and the flame ran free across the place where in spring her wild flower bed was made. Two weeks later she had there a great patch of purple violets. And all Old Trail Town, which takes account of its neighbors' flowers, of the migratory birds, of eclipses, and the like, came to see the wonder.

"Mary Chavah!" said most of the village, "you're the luckiest woman alive. If a miracle was bound to happen, it'd get itself happened to you."

"I don't believe in miracles, though," Mary wrote to Jenny Wing. "These come just natural—only we don't know how."

"That is miracles," Jenny wrote back. "They do come natural—we don't know how."

"At this rate," said Ellen Bourne, one of Mary's neighbors, "you'll be having roses bloom in your yard about Christmas time. For a Christmas present."

"I don't believe in Christmas," Mary said. "I thought you knew that. But I'll take the roses, though, if they come in the winter," she added, with her queer flash of smile.

When it was dusk, or early in the morning, Mary Chavah, with her long shawl over her head, stooped beside the violets and loosened the earth about them with her whole hand, and as if she reverenced violets more than finger tips. And she thought:

"Ain't it just as if spring was right over back of the air all the time—and it could come if we knew how to call it? But we don't know."

But, whatever she thought about it, Mary kept in her heart. For it was as if not only spring but new life or some other holy thing were nearer than one thought and had spoken to her, there on the edge of winter.

And Old Trail Town asked itself:

"Ain't Mary Chavah the funniest? Look how nice she is about everything—and yet you know she won't never keep Christmas at all. No, sir. She ain't kept a single Christmas in years. I dunno why."

* * * * * * *

Moving about on his little lawn in the dark, Ebenezer Rule was aware of two deeper shadows before him. They were between him and the leafless lilacs and mulberries that lined the street wall. A moment before he had been looking at that darkness and remembering how once as a little boy he had slept there under the wall and had dreamed that he had a kingdom:

"Who is it?" he asked sharply.

"Hello, Ebenezer," said Simeon Buck, "it's only me and Abel. We're all."

Ebenezer Rule came toward them. It was so dark that they could barely distinguish each other. Their voices had to do it all.

"What you doing out here?" one of the deeper shadows demanded.

"Oh, nothing," said Ebenezer irritably, "not a thing."

He did not ask them to go in the house, and the three stood awkwardly, handling the time like a blunt instrument. Then Simeon Buck, proprietor of the Simeon Buck North American Dry Goods Exchange, plunged into what they had come to say.

"Ebenezer," he said with those variations of intonation which mean an effort to be delicate, "is—is there any likelihood that the factory will open up this fall?"

"No, there ain't," Ebenezer said, like something shutting.

"Nor—nor this winter?" Simeon pursued.

"No, sir," said Ebenezer, like something opening again to shut with a bang.

"Well, if you're sure"— said Simeon.

Ebenezer cut him short. "I'm dead sure," he said. "I've turned over my orders to my brother's house in the city. He can handle 'em all and not have to pay his men a cent more wages." And this was as if something had been locked.

"Well," said Simeon, "then, Abel, I move we go ahead."

Abel Ames, proprietor of the Granger County Merchandise Emporium ("The A. T. Stewart's of the Middle West," he advertised it), sighed heavily—a vast, triple sigh that seemed to sigh both in and out, as a schoolboy whistles.

"Well," he said, "I hate to do it. But I'll be billblowed if I want to think of paying for a third or so of this town's Christmas presents and carrying them right through the winter. I done that last year, and Fourth of July I had all I could do to keep from wishing most of the crowd Merry Christmas, 'count of their still owing me. I'm a merchant and a citizen, but I ain't no patent adjustable Christmas tree."

"Me neither," Simeon said. "Last year it was me give a silk cloak and a five dollar umbrella and a fur bore and a bushel of knick-knacks to the folks in this town. My name wa'n't on the cards, but it's me that's paid for 'em—up to now. I'm sick of it. The storekeepers of this town may make a good thing out of Christmas, but they'd ought to get some of the credit instead of giving it all, by Josh."

"What are you going to do?" inquired Ebenezer dryly.

"Well, of course last year was an exceptional year," said Abel, owing"—

He hesitated to say "owing to the failure of the Ebenezer Rule Factory company," and so stammered with the utmost delicacy, and skipped a measure.

"And we thought," Simeon finished, "that if the factory wasn't going to open up this winter we'd work things so's to have a little or no Christmas in town this year—being so much of the present giving falls on us to carry on our books."

"It ain't only the factory wages of course," Abel interposed, "it's the folks' savings being et up in"—

"—the failure," he would have added, but skipped a mere beat instead.

"—and we want to try to give 'em a chance to pay us up for last Christmas before they come on to themselves with another celebration," he added reasonably.

Ebenezer Rule laughed—a descending scale of laughter that seemed to have no organs wherewith to function in the open, and so never got beyond the gutturals.

"How you going to fix it?" he inquired again.

"Why," said Simeon, "everybody in town's talking that they ain't going to give anybody anything for Christmas. Some means it and some don't. Some'll do it and some'll back out. But the churches has decided to omit Christmas exercises altogether this year. Some thought to have speaking pieces, but everybody concluded if they had exercises without oranges and candy the children'd go home disappointed, so they've left the whole thing slide"—

"It don't seem just right for 'em not to celebrate the birth of our Lord just because they can't afford the candy," Abel Ames observed mildly, but Simeon hurried on:

"—slide, and my idea and Abel's is to get the town meeting to vote a petition to the same effect asking the town not to try to do anything with their Christmas this year. We heard the factory wasn't going to open, and we thought if we could tell 'em that for sure, it would settle it—and save him and me and all the rest of 'em. Would—would you be willing for us to tell the town meeting that? It's tonight—we're on the way there."

"Sure," said Ebenezer Rule, "tell 'em. And you might point out to 'em," he added, with his spasm of gutturals, "that failures is often salutary measures. Public benefactions. Fixes folks so's they can't spend their money fool."

He walked with them across the lawn, going between them and guiding them among the empty aster beds.

"They think I et up their savings in the failure," he went on, "when all I done is to bring 'em face to face with the fact that for years they've been overspending themselves. It takes Christmas to show that up. This whole Christmas business is about wore out, anyhow. Ain't it?"

"That's what," Simeon said. "It's a spendin' sham, from edge to edge."

Abel Ames was silent. The three skirted the flower beds and came out on the level sweep of turf before the house that was no house in the darkness, save that they remembered how it looked—a square, smoked thing with a beard of dead creepers and white shades lidded over its never lighted windows, a fit home for this man least liked of the 300 neighbors who made Old Trail Town. He touched the elbows of the other two men as they walked in the dark, but he rarely touched any human being. And now Abel Ames suddenly put his hand down on that of Ebenezer, where it lay in the crook of Abel's elbow.

"What you got there?" he asked.

"Nothing much," Ebenezer answered irritably again. "It's an old glass. I was looking over some rubbish and I found it—over back. It's a field glass."

"What you got a field glass out in the dark for?" Abel demanded.

"I used to fool with it some when I was a little shaver," Ebenezer said. He put the glass in Abel's hand. "On the sky," he added.

Abel lifted the glass and turned it on the heavens. There, above the little side lawn, the firmament had uncloted itself of branches and lay in a glorious nakedness to three horizons.

"And he set down on the edge of a chair by the stove."

"Thunder," Abel said, "look at 'em look."

Sweeping the field with the lens, Abel spoke meanwhile.

"Seems as if I'd kind of miss all the fuss in the store around Christmas," he said, "the extra rush and the trimming up and all."

"Abel 'll miss lavishin' his store with cut paper, I guess," said Simeon. "He dotes on tassels."

"Last year," Abel went on, not lowering the glass, "I had a little kid come in the store Christmas eve that I'd never seen before. He ask' me if he could get warm—and he set down on the edge of a chair by the stove, and he took in everything in the place. I ask' him his name, and he just smiled. I ask' him if he was glad it was Christmas, and he says, Was I? I was goin' to give him some cough drops, but when I come back from waiting on somebody he was gone. I never could find out who he was, nor see anybody that saw him. I thought mebbe this Christmas he'd come back. Lord, don't it look like a pasture of buttercups up there? Here, Simeon."

Simeon, talking, took the glass and lifted it to the stars.

"Cut paper doin's is all very well," he said, "but the worst nightmare of the year to the stores is Christmas. I always think it's come to be 'Peace on earth, good will to men and extravagance of women.' Quite a nice little till of gold pieces up there in the sky, ain't there? I'd kind o' like to stake a claim up there—eh? Lay it out along about around that bright one down there—by Josh," he broke off, "look at that bright one."

Simeon kept looking through the glass, and he leaned a little forward to try to see the better.

"What is it?" he repeated, "what's that one? It's the biggest star I ever see"—

The other two looked where he was looking, low in the east. But they saw nothing save boughs indeterminately moving and a spatter of sparkling points not more bright than those of the upper field.

"You look," Simeon bade the vague presence that was his host; but through the glass Ebenezer still saw nothing that challenged his sight.

"I don't know the name of a star in the sky except the dipper," he grumbled, "but I don't see anything out of the ordinary, anyhow."

"It is," Simeon protested. "I tell you, it's the biggest star I ever saw. It's blue and purple and green and yellow"—

Abel had the glass now, and he had looked hardly sooner than he had recognized.

"Sure," he said, "I've got it. It is blue and purple and green and yellow, and it's as big as most stars put together. It twinkles—yes, sir, and it swings"— He broke off, laughing at the mystification of the others, and laughed so that he could not go on.

"Is it a comet, do you s'pose?" said Simeon.

"No," said Abel—"no. It's come to stay. It's our individual private star. It's the arc light in front of the town hall you two are looking at."

They moved to where Abel stood, and from there, up the rise of ground to the east, they could see Simeon's star shining softly and throwing long rays, it seemed, almost to where they stood—the lamp that marked the heart of the village.

"Shucks," said Simeon.

"Sold," said Ebenezer.

"Why, I don't know," said Abel. "I kind of like to see it through the glass. It looks like it was a bigger light than we give it credit for."

"It's a big enough light," said Ebenezer testily. It was his own plant at the factory that made possible the town's three arc lights, and these had been continued by him at the factory's closing.

"No use making fun of your friends' eyesight because you're all of twenty minutes younger than them," Simeon grumbled. "Come on, Abel. It must be gettin' round the clock."

Abel lingered.

"A man owns the hull thing with a glass o' this stamp," he said. "How much does one like that cost?" he inquired.

"I'll sell you this one"— began Ebenezer; "wait a week or two and I may sell you this one," he said. "I ain't really looked through it myself yet."

Not much after this the two went away and left Ebenezer in the dark yard.

He stood in the middle of his little grass plot and looked through his glass again. That night there was, so to say, nothing remote about the sky save its distance. It had none of the reticence of clouds. It made you think of a bed of golden bells, each invisible stalk trying on its own account to help forward some spring. As he had said, he did not know one star from another, nor a planet for a planet with a name. It had been years since he had seen the heavens so near. He moved about, looking, and passed the wall of leafless lilacs and mulberries. Stars hung in his boughs like fruit for the plucking. They patterned patches of sky. He looked away and back, and it was as if the stars repeated themselves, like the chorus of everything.

"You beggars," Ebenezer said, "awful dressed up, ain't you? It must be for something up there—it ain't for anything down here, let me tell you."

He went up to his dark back door. From without there he could hear Kate Kerr, his general servant, who had sufficient personality to compel the term "housekeeper," setting sponge for bread with a slapping, hollow sound and a force that implied a frown for every down stroke of the iron spoon. He knew how she would turn toward the door as he entered, with her way of arching eyebrows, in the manner of one about to recite the symptoms of a change for the worse—or at best to say "about the same" to everything in the universe. And when Kate Kerr spoke she always whispered on the faintest provocation.

A sudden distaste for the entire inside of his house seized Ebenezer. He turned and wandered back down the little dark yard, looking up at the high field of the stars with only his dim eyes.

"There must be quite a little to know about them," he thought, "if anybody was enough interested."

Then he remembered Simeon and Abel and laughed again in his way.

"I done the town a good turn for once, didn't I?" he thought; "I've fixed folks so's they can't spend their money fool!"

Two steps from Ebenezer's front gate Simeon and Abel overtook a woman. She had a long shawl over her head and she was humming some faint air of her own making.

"Coming to the meeting, Mary?" Simeon asked as they passed her.

"No," said Mary Chavah, "I started for it. But it's such a nice night I'm going to walk around."

"Things are going to go your way to that meeting, I guess," said Simeon. "Ain't you always found fault with Christmas?"

"They's a lot o' nonsense about it," Mary assented. "I don't ever bo her myself much with it. Why?"

"I dunno but we'll all come round to your way of thinking tonight," said Simeon.

"For just this year!" Abel Ames called back as they went on.

"You can't do much else, I guess," said Mary. "Everybody dips Christmas up out of their pocketbooks, and if there ain't nothing there, they can't dip."

The men laughed with her and went on down the long street toward the town. Mary followed slowly under the yellowing elms that made great golden shades for the dim post lamps. And high at the far end of the street down which they went hung the blue arc light before the town hall, center to the constellation of the home lights and the shop lights and the street lights, all near neighbors to the stream and sweep of the stars hanging a little higher and shining as by one sun.

Daily Christmas Hint

Make Her a Pretty Home-made Present

The girl or matron never has sufficient of the pretty perishable things called corset covers or camisoles. The one seen in the illustration was developed from a good deal of valenciennes lace, a tiny bit of fine muslin and a pretty shade of ribbon. Pink and blue are the prettiest colors, though for an elderly woman a delicate lavender shade of ribbon might be used.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

The dull red depot seemed to stand alone in a great flat world. East and west the gleaming tracks stretched in converging lines, and finally touched. Not a tree, not an undulation broke the horizon line in any direction. Outside the shabby little half dozen houses around the saloon and general store, there was not a thing to break the wide, never ending monotonous prairie.

The young woman who had just come as a bride turned and looked at the line of smoke that streaked the blaze of gold into which the train was journeying as it crawled down the shining path into the sunset.

"I told you it was awful, that I feared you could not stand it," said the young man at her side in a troubled voice. The note of anxiety smote her with remorse. With an effort she shook off the clutching terror at her heart, and turned a smiling face to her husband. Laying a hand on his arm, she said, "I was thinking how terrible it has been for you here all alone."

"It has been pretty rough," he answered with a relieved smile, but——"

"When we get things fixed up everything will look very different," she assured him, and taking his arm she walked away, explaining her plans in detail.

The young man was ticket agent, telegraph operator, freight agent, everything, at this little station. Rooms for housekeeping had been fitted up at one end of the depot, and it was not long before they had a homelike look.

Window boxes, gay with flowers, brightened the home end of the building, and even reached out to the dingy waiting room. Vines grew thick over a trellis, forming roof and sides of the western platform, and shut out the fierce glare of the western sun. Freight traffic did not interfere with these innovations. Great tubs containing young trees, a rug, rockers, and a porch swing completed the homelike effect. Everything inside and not touched by the deft fingers was transformed into beauty.

During the first year she learned telegraphy, assisted in making out reports, and helped in all the work of her husband so that she was perfectly capable of taking his place when he made his infrequent visits to the nearest town on business. This she did not do because there was any need of her help, but because her active mind would not be idle and there was nothing else to do.

The place had so changed that the men on the line looked forward to the cherry greeting of the couple, as the trains pulled in and out.

"Did you ever see such a change in a place?" one remarked. "That man is the happiest fellow I know. I would almost be willing to live here myself. Such women are rare. She's a real helpmate."

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Lady With the Lamp.

She Bandaged the Wounded Arms.

"HENRY W. LONGFELLOW wrote a beautiful poem called 'The Lady With the Lamp,' kiddies, and it was inspired by the famous lady Florence Nightingale.

"Oh, I know! She's the one called the 'Soldiers' Angel,' isn't she, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"Yes, dear, and, besides being a good woman, she was a good nurse and helped the Red Cross society, about which we hear so much in these days of the terrible war in Europe. She started her nursing by caring for a dog.

"This dog's name was Cap, and he was owned by an old shepherd who herded a flock of sheep near Florence Nightingale's home.

"Florence used to ride on the downs on her little pony, and Cap when he would see her coming would run and bark and leap, so glad he was to see her.

"But one morning Florence missed the joyful greeting of her canine friend.

"'Where is Cap?' she called to the old shepherd.

"'Some boys threw stones at him and broke his leg,' replied the old man sorrowfully. 'I'm afraid he'll never help me to herd sheep any more.'

"Just then the vicar of the parish church came along, and they three went together to the shepherd's hut, where poor Cap lay, no longer driving the sheep before them.

"'Poor Cap! Poor old fellow,' said Florence, kneeling beside the dog.

"The dog wagged his tail, but was suffering so that he couldn't bark. The vicar examined his leg and said that with careful nursing Cap's life could be saved.

"So Florence Nightingale set to work and put hot cloths on the dog's leg, and toward evening the vicar came and bandaged it, and Cap was soon tending the sheep again.

"Then when she grew up she learned all she could about nursing, and when the Crimean war broke out she asked to be allowed to go to the front and help care for the wounded soldiers.

"Of course they were only too glad to have help. She took with her a good supply of jellies and tea and many other things the soldiers were not used to having.

"Side by side with the doctors this woman bandaged wounded arms, bathed aching heads and smoothed the pillows of the poor wounded soldiers in the hospitals.

"At night she always passed through the wards carrying with her a small lamp to light her way, and when the soldiers saw her coming they would say one to another, 'Here comes the blessed lady with the lamp.'

Household Hints

IN PLACE OF FRESH MEAT

Pickled Saltwater Herring—Take six saltwater herring, remove scales, heads and entrails, cut into halves, and place in fresh water for 24 hours; drain through a colander to remove salt water. Place them in a crock, slice three large-sized onions, one tablespoon of mixed spices, cover with vinegar; let remain in vinegar from four to six days. Serve cold with mashed potatoes.

Oysters and Cornbread—Strain oysters, roll in sifted cornmeal, dip in beaten egg, fry brown in hot lard. Serve with sauce made of juice of one-half lemon, cup tomato catsup; season to taste with sugar, salt and pepper. Served with hot cornbread and fresh butter, these oysters are delicious.

Boston Baked Beans—Take one quart navy beans and one-half pound salt pork. Parboil beans and meat until the beans, when taken in spoon and blown upon, the skins will crack open. Then pour off any water that remains, put in crock or bean jar with cover; put in about half of the beans, then a slice of pork, then remainder of beans, with pork scored on top. Put two scant tablespoons of sugar and one of molasses over top, and fill with hot water. Bake all day in slow oven, adding water as needed. Do not allow to get dry at any time. When done test by tilting jar a little, and if liquid is thick, they are done. Add little salt to taste when preparing. Bake according to meat used. With gas stove, boil beans and meat one hour briskly, and bake four hours in hot oven. The all-day process is for a bake oven.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

When using oranges or lemons, if the rind is fresh and wholesome, pare it thin so as to get none of the bitter white inner skin, and put it in a glass jar of granulated sugar. When the sugar has absorbed enough of the oil of the fruit skin to make it moist, it is ready to use for flavoring cakes, puddings, etc. The bits of rind give a delicious flavor to pudding sauces.

To insure success with salt-rising bread in cold weather, keep the night yeast in a box of hay. A small wooden box with a close fitting lid is best for this purpose. Put hay in the bottom of the box and around the sides. In the middle of this set your yeast, then cover with hay. This will keep the yeast from a chill.

THE TABLE

Boston Brown Bread—Three cups graham flour, one cup white flour, one cup molasses, two cups sour milk, one teaspoon soda dissolved in a little hot water, one tablespoon melted butter, one cup raisins (cook raisins a little before adding to dough so they won't settle to bottom). Mix well together, bake in slow oven two hours. This makes three loaves, baked in round tin one-pound coffee cans. Fill can a little over half full.

Rolls—One pint scalded milk, four tablespoons butter (level), three tablespoons (level) sugar, one teaspoon (level) salt, one yeast cake dissolved in a little lukewarm water; flour enough to make a stiff dough (not too stiff). Beat 15 minutes, let rise till twice the size, bake in hot oven about 10 minutes. When milk is scalded, let cool until lukewarm before putting in any of the articles. Butter should be melted. When ready to put in pans, use muffin pans; take dough in hands the size of hickorynuts, make in round balls, then put three in each muffin pan, then set aside till twice its size. These can be heated up for any meal in hot oven.

CONTRIBUTED 933 ARTICLES TO MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL

Plainfield branch of the Needlework Guild, which has always taken a most active and lively interest in the affairs of Muhlenberg Hospital, and which has furnished the hospital each year with numerous articles, has made a most enviable record for itself this year by surpassing in its efforts that of any preceding year.

They have furnished the hospital during this past month nine hundred and thirty-three articles for use in the hospital departments, which have been most welcome and are greatly appreciated by the hospital management. To much cannot be said in praise of the excellent work of this branch of the guild, and of the benefits derived therefrom by Muhlenberg Hospital.

"IMPRESSIONS IN THE EUROPEAN WAR ZONE"

Miss Janet E. Richards, of Washington, who opned her fifth consecutive series of "Talks on Public Questions" before Plainfield audiences on November 5, will be heard at the Hartridge Auditorium again tomorrow afternoon, when she will deliver the second talk in this winter's course. Miss Richards announces that she will continue her "Impressions and Experiences in the European War Zone," will xplain, by request, the cotton situation in this country as a result of the war, and will speak at some length on the reopening of the English Parliament, for what is called the "War Session," and the Mexican question to date.

This lecture will begin at 3:30 o'clock promptly and the doors of the Hartridge Auditorium will be open at 3:30. Both season and single admission tickets will be on sale at the door.

DUNELLEN HEARS COST OF SEWER

Council Was Advised of Approximate Expense at Last Night's Meeting.

HIGHEST FIGURE $9,759

Discussion of Drainage and Complaint Against Herd of Pigs and Goat Occupy Time at Meeting of Borough Body.

Plans and estimate of cost of the proposed storm sewer as prepared by George McClintock, of the firm of George W. Fuller & Company, were submitted at last night's meeting of the Mayor and Common Council of Dunellen. If Mr. McClintock's plans are followed the sewer will be laid from Lincoln avenue along North avenue to Madison avenue and thence down Madison avenue to the brook. The estimates of the cost of the work as furnished by Mr. McClintock were $9,759.24 and $7,440.80. These figures include the cost of doing the work plus an additional 15 per cent. for civil engineering fees and contingencies, the difference between the two amounts being the different sizes of pipes specified. The Mayor stated that the matter had not been brought before the meeting to take action upon, but merely for informal discussion prior to the circulation of a petition for the improvement among the property-holders to be benefitted. The Mayor furthermore stated that the property-holders benefitted would be asked to bear either 75 or 80 per cent. of the cost, the borough bearing the remaining per cent.

Assessor J. H. L. Peters was present and asked how it was that the line of sewer was going to start from AUTOS COLLIDE AT PARK AVENUE AND SEVENTH ST.

Arthur F. Neuman, of Spooner avenue, was crossing Park avenue at Seventh street, going east, shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, when the rear wheel of his car was struck by a machine driven by George Fullerton, chauffeur for Albert Redfern of Martine avenue. The Neuman car was completely turned around, and the body badly wrenched, and the only damage done to the Redfern car was a broken lamp and a punctured tire. Chief Kiely was notified and sent Sergeant Higgins to the scene. He ordered both drivers to appear in court tomorrow morning, when the matter will be thoroughly thrashed out. Eye-witnesses said that the Redfern car, which was taking its owner to the train, was going at a lively pace.

WENT FOR JOY RIDE AND WAS UNABLE TO PAY FOR TAXI

Malachi Watson, of South Second street, decided that he wanted an automobile ride, yesterday, and the mere fact that he did not have the price to pay for it did not deter him in the slightest. He hailed Archer Toney at the station, and told him to take him to Westfield, which Toney obligingly did. When he reached that town Watson succeeded in borrowing $1 from the taxi-man, and then picked up George Heiner, a resident of Flemington, and the two proceeded to spend the $1 for liquid refreshment. They afterward re-entered the taxi and ordered Toney to bring them to Plainfield. As he was suspicious of the pair, Toney ended the ride at police headquarters where they were made as comfortable as the accommodations afford over night. This morning, Judge DeMeza fined Watson ten dollars, which he did not have, and let Heiner go. Watson will be taken to Elizabeth for a few days' sojourn, provided he does not raise the fine.

CHURCH BAZAAR.

The bazaar at the St. Peter's German Lutheran church, of the borough, being held under the auspices of the women of the church, was opened yesterday afternoon, and was continued during the evening. A large number were in attendance. The fair, at which home-made articles are for sale, will continue this afternoon and evening.

HAVE TWO ALLEGED CAR ROWDIES NOW IN TOILS

Sergeant Higgins Arrested Second Man Charged With Offense This Morning.

Sergeant Higgins, of the local police force, picked up Alexander Nitri, at 813 North avenue, charging him with being one of the three men who assaulted a Main Line trolley conductor on Monday night. The Scotch Plains police arrested Tony Annattia, of that place, yesterday, whom it is alleged did the actual slashing, the other two being implicated.

The police think they know who the third man is, and they are watching for him, with the expectation that he will be arrested within a few days. Annattia and Nitri were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning, and held in $500 bail for a hearing tomorrow. Neither had furnished bail up to noon.

GIVE RED CROSS SOCIETY BENEFIT

Substantial Sum Realized From Affair at Saengerbund Hall, Last Night.

An entertainment and ball for the benefit of the Red Cross organization was given in Saengerbund Hall, last night, under the auspices of the German Reformed church. There was a good attendance and a large sum was realized for this work. The program was divided into two parts, the first consisting of speeches and music and the latter being entirely musical. The orchestra played an opening overture, which was fololwed with an address by Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the German Reformed church.

The Dutch Arms Band was present and rendered pleasing selections during the evening. Dr. Richard Moldenke made an address and William N. Runyon sang a solo, entitled "Let Us Have Peace," by E. R. Ball. The Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein singing section closed the first part of the program with a song. The Dutch Arms Band and the chorus entertained in the second part and Herman Klinsman gave a recitation. After the program dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by B. A. Parpubek's orchestra. The hall was decorated in American, German and Red Cross flags.

This committee had charge of the entertainment, Augustus Wolff, Philip Geise, Edward Krausse, Charles Keller, Louis Kohlweis and Henry Vogel. The following women served refreshments. Mrs. Marie Kuehlein, Mrs. Anna Schorb, Mrs. Caroline Menzenbach, Mrs. Philip Geise, Mrs Schnipert and Miss Matilda Kirch.

TO IMPORT STONE FOR SEWER WORK

Contractor Bader Unable to Make Arrangements With Local Quarrymen.

Following a conference yesterday between Mayor Percy H. Stewart and Councilman Thomas F. Hylan and E. L. Bader, of Atlantic City, who has the contract for building the sewage disposal works on the Darling farm in Piscataway township, the latter agreed to start work within a short time and he will employ as many local men as possible in accordance with the wish of the Mayor and members of the City Council.

Mr. Bader submitted to Engineer George W. Fuller, who has supervision of the work, a sample of stone which he proposes to use in the construction of the plant, and he was questioned as to why he did not arrange to purchase his stone from local quarries. Mr Bader explained that he had tried to make such arrangements, but had failed.

The contractor explained to Mr. Fuller that five cents a ton was the uniform price which he paid for stone, he being obliged to quarry the same, but the local stone men asked 15 cents a ton. He refused to pay that price and offered 10 cents. Then as a compromise the stone dealers offered to sell Mr. Bader stone for 12½ cents a ton, according to the latter's statement, but later he was notified that they couldn't sell at that figure and wanted 15 cents a ton.

Mr. Bader then decided to transport the stone he will use from South Jersey. He is quoted as saying that he can purchase stone in South Jersey and ship it here cheaper than to buy it in this city. Mr. Bader is disappointed in not being able to secure stone here, but under the circumstances does not think he should be criticised.

TO CONDEMN LAND FOR TRUNK SEWER

Several Property Owners Decline to Give Right of Way.

Owing to the lack of a quorum it was impossible for the Joint Sewer Commission to hold a meeting last night. The absence of one Plainfield member made it necessary to postpone the meeting to Monday night, November 23, at 9 o'clock. The Common Council is scheduled to hold an adjourned meeting Monday night, but it is believed that arrangements can be made so that the commission can get together about 9 o'clock.

The meeting last night, although a regular one, was intended chiefly to receive the report of the committee on right-of-way for the trunk sewer. It is understood that while some of the property-owners have given their consent and a tentative settlement has been made with them, others have refused, and this will necessitate condemnation proceedings to acquire the right-of-way.

The Caulwell-Wingate Company, of New York, which has the contract for building the trunk line from this city to the Darling farm in Piscataway township, expected to start some of the work this week. It has been getting its materials, etc., together preparatory to commencing operations. When the work does start it is the intention of the contractors to employ as many Plainfield men as possible thus helping to solve the "unemployed" problem in this city.

E. A. STEVENSON IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Plainfield Yale Club Decides to Increase Its Membership.

The question of how the Plainfield Yale Club can be of greater service to Yale University will be presented by John Leal, of Leal's School, at the annual dinner of the club to be held this evening at the Plainfield Country Club. At last year's meeting the matter was brought up and it was suggested that Mr. Leal consider it and give his conclusions to the local Yale men this year.

The club held its annual meeting on Monday night, at the home of F. W. Wallace, of Hillside avenue, but at that time it was decided that Mr. Leal's report should be deferred until tonight's gathering. It will be awaited with considerable interest.

The club will seek to enlarge its membership by inviting Yale men of Elizabeth, Cranford, Westfield, Bound Brook, Somerville and other nearby places to identify themselves with the local organization. Its constitution permits this and as there are no similar clubs in the places named it is believed that the graduates will be glad to join the one here.

There were about twenty-five members at the annual meeting Monday night, when these officers were elected:

President, Edward A. Stevenson, vice president, T. M. Day, 3d.; secretary-treasurer, Lewis A. Williams Jr.; executive committee, A. M. Collens, Clifford Baker and Henry Hawes. A social hour followed the business.

SUFFRAGISTS PLAN A SERIES OF CAKE SALES

A series of cake sales are to be held in the new suffrage headquarters in Depot Park facing the railroad station for eastbound trains. The first sale will take place on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and will be confined to a variety of home-made cake. The annual Thanksgiving sale of suffrage cakes, pies and goodies, will be held at 2 p. m. at headquarters on Tuesday. It will be similar to the very successful sale held last year at the residence of Mrs. J. K. Myers, when the culinary reputation of Suffragists was thoroughly established.

BEEFSTEAK DINNER.

Members of the Men's Club, of Grace Episcopal church, will hold a beefsteak dinner in the parish house, tonight, at which a large attendance is expected. The principal address will be made by Rev. Percy Silver, chaplain of the West Point Military Academy.

WILBERT T. BINTLIFF.

A slip of the types in the Daily Press, yesterday, gave the name of "Albert" Bintliff as the inventor of the electric horn to be used by the Ford Auto Company in 1915. The name should have been Wilbert T. Bintliff.

SOCIETY ATTENDED CHARMING TEA

Affair Given by Miss Colton in Honor of Mrs. S. F. Kimball

One of the charming social functions of the season was the tea and reception given yesterday afternoon by Miss Ethel Colton, of East Sixth street, for Mrs. Samuel F. Kimball, formerly of Plainfield, but now of New York city. She has been the guest of Miss Colton and the latter invited a number of her friends to her home to meet Mrs. Kimball. A feature of interest was the fact that several of the guests were among those who were abroad when war was declared, and the affair was somewhat in the nature of a reunion.

Miss Colton and Mrs. Kimball were assisted in receiving by Miss Anna McClintock, of Denver, Col., Mrs. John W. Brower and Mrs. Edward V. Cox, of this city. Those who poured in the dining room were Mrs. John F. Harman, Mrs. John Gray Foster, Mrs. Eugene H. Hatch and Mrs. W. H. Murray.

Others who assisted included Mrs. George P. Mellick, Mrs. J. S. Zelie, Mrs. Orton G. Dale, Mrs. Martin C. Fawcett, the Misses Annie Campbell, Margaret McCutchen, Eva Browne, Marion Brown.

The home was attractively decorated for the affair with red and yellow chrysanthemums and red roses. These were used throughout the reception room, dining room and hall. There were many beautiful flowers received by Miss Colton from out-of-town friends. There were about one hundred guests.

DINNER AND DANCE GIVEN AT "OAKMONT"

Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Hyde Provide Elaborate Entertainment for Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Hyde gave a house-party at their new home, "Oakmont," on the Watchung Mountains, last night, which included a dinner and dance, in honor of their daughter, Miss Helen Hyde, whose birthday anniversary occurred yesterday. The affair was one of the most delightful of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Hyde have but recently taken possession of their handsome new home, and it afforded an ideal place for the celebration.

The house-party comprised about fourteen young people from New York, Washington, Pittsburgh and this city. There were eighteen for dinner, and a feature of this part of the entertainment was the serving of it on what is known as the "breakfast porch," from which there is an unobstructed view of all Plainfield.

There were about seventy-five guests at the dance which followed, the large spacious rooms on the first floor being given up to this part of the function. Music for dancing was furnished by VanEps Brothers' orchestra, the program being an exceedingly popular one. During the evening Miss Hyde received the congratulations of her friends.

The home was attractively decorated for the occasion with pink and white chrysanthemums, the arrangement of the dinner table being especially admired. Chrysanthemums were used throughout the reception hall, library and other rooms on the first floor.

WILSON GOING TO MASS.

Washington, Nov. 19—Announcement was made at the White House, today, that President Wilson would leave here next Wednesday for Williamstown, Mass., to spend Thanksgiving Day at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Francis P. Sayre. The President will probably remain there for several days.

HALF MILLION FIRE LOSS.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 19—Five blocks of buildings at Girardville were swept away by fire that burned for seven hours early today. The loss istimated at $500,000. Owing to the scarcity of water the fire fighters were unable to cope with the flames.

FIREMEN OUT THREE TIMES LAST EVENING

Fumigation, Burning Tobacco Bag and Red Hot Stove Cause Excitement.

Three still alarms kept the firemen on the go last night, but none of the fires caused any serious damage. The first call was from the Stirling building, which some of the tenants found to be full of smoke. When the firemen arrived they found that the process of fumigation for a summagesale which opened there this morning had resulted in a building full of smoke, but no fire.

The second call came from 114 East Front street, where the members of Company K were holding a banquet. The firemen took apparatus to the building, but upon their arrival discovered that all the fire was caused by some one throwing a lighted cigarette against an old tobacco bag in a cuspidor. That was soon disposed of.

Some one passing a small grocery store on Church street near Front looked inside and discovered a red hot stove. He called at fire headquarters and told the men there all about it. A run was made to the place, and it was found that the only trouble was the red hot stove. A man was left outside the store to watch the stove until it cooled off, and after spending a couple of hours on the job he returned to report that the stove was doing its work in a normal way.

RECEIVE NO WORD FROM L. MORALLER

Plainfield Man in Germany Makes No Response to Family's Letters.

Relatives and friends of Louis Moraller, of the firm of Moraller & Son, are beginning to be quite concerned through repeated failure to hear from him since the outbreak of the European war. Shortly before hostilities commenced, Mr. Moraller wrote from Carlsrue, Baden, saying that he was visiting his brother, who was ill, but that he would return to America in a short time. Not a line has been received from him since, although his family has written repeatedly to learn of his whereabouts or intentions. He left Plainfield early in the spring, intending to remain abroad about three months.

The place where Mr. Moraller was last heard from is within a few miles of the great border battlefield where the Prussians and Allies are in a deadlock. It is possible that all avenues of exit have been cut off for non-combatants and the Plainfield man is waiting a favorable opportunity to reach a neutral port. A blockade would also exclude mail either way, a fcat which has not been lost sight of by the anxious family and friends.

Mr. Moraller's youngest son, Eric, is also in Europe, but not in Germany. He has been secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Petrograd, Russia, and was in that city when the Czar declared war against Franz Joseph. No word has been received regarding him since the war got under way and as in his father's case, letters from here have met with no response. It is quite certain, however, that he is perfectly secure as his long residence in Petrograd brought him into contact with many notables, all of whom can vouch for his American citizenship.

OFFERING WILL GO TO BELGIAN RELIEF FUND

The quartet and chorus choir of hte First Baptist church will render the cantata, "Song of Thanksgiving," by Maunder, Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock. The soloists will be Mrs. Edith Frank, soprana; Miss Leontine de Ahna, contralto; George H. Smith, tenor; William Holmes, baritone. Howard M. Case, organist and director. The prelude will be played by Miss Florence Wohlfert, violinist. The offering will be for the benefit of the Belgian Relief Fund.

NOT M. GLOECKLER.

Through a misunderstanding on the part of the reporter, it was stated in last night's Press that Christian Gloeckler spoke to the members of the Board of Trade at their meeting on Tuesday night. It was George M. Christian who spoke, and not Mr. Kloeckler.

RUMMAGE SALE.

Under the auspices of the Ernest Workers Bible Class, of Grace M. E. church, a rummage sale is being held in the Stirling Building. It began today, and will continue until Saturday.

UNKNOWN ITALIAN KILLED BY AUTO

Victim Steps in Front of Machine Driven by Felix Wahlburg, of This City.

An unknown Italian who stepped out from behind a large auto truck on South avenue, near Westfield, about 8 o'clock last night, was struck and instantly killed by an automobile owned by Ysbrand De Dood, of this city, and driven by Felix Warburg, also of Plainfield. The latter, who was accompanied by Charles Nordberg, of this city, was on his way home at the time, and it is said was traveling at a moderate rate of speed. Mr. Wahlburg, who is a taxi-cab driver here, said that he did not see the man until the machine knocked him down.

Both Wahlburg and Nordberg were taken before Justice Springstead of Westfield, where, after a conference later with Dr. F. W. Wescott, county physician, who investigated the case, they were both released. It seemed to be the opinion that Warburg was in no way to blame for the fatal accident.

The Italian's body was removed to the undertaking parlors of George W. Cole & Son on West Second street, and in the meantime efforts are being made to secure his identification. There was found on the man's body a card bearing the word "Presco." The victim was fairly well dressed and it is believed that he lived in one of the Italian colonies in the vicinity of Fanwood. The officials are now making a further inves igation into the accident.

CIVIL WAR RESUMED IN MEXICO, WASHINGTON HEARS

Washington, Nov. 19—Resumption of the Civil War in Mexico was forecast today when agents of General Carranza were ordered to purchase at once large quantities of war supplies. These supplies are to be shipped immediately to the Carranza forces. Rafael Zubaran Capmany, the Constitutionalist agent, left early today for New York and a secret mission.

Both the White House and State Department today were trying vigorously to get in touch with their agents south of the Rio Grande, but without success.

Confirmation of the wounding of a number of non-combatants on the American side of the border at Naco, was received from General Bliss, at the War Department today.

SEEK FEDERAL AID TO SETTLE MINE STRIKE WAR

Washington, Nov. 19.—Federal settlement of the Colorado and Arkansas coal strike situation is being sought today by a delegation of officials from the United Mine Workers' Union. They called on Secretary of Labor Wilson today and arrangement has been made for an hour's audience with President Wilson at the White House later. The delegation is composed of John D. White, president of the labor organization; Frank J. Hayes, its vice president, and William Green, its secretary.

COMPARATIVE QUIET IN FRANCE

Artillery Fire by Germans, Who Are Reported Repulsed at Tracy Le Val.

ACTIVITY IN BELGIUM

Germans Taking Troops From West to East to Oppose Russians—Turks 75 Miles Over Border in Egypt.

Paris, Nov. 19.—The French War Office gave out the following statement at 3 o'clock this afternoon:

"At the north yesterday was marked by activity on the part of the enemy's artillery, particularly between the Aisne and the Lys. There was no attack by infantry between the Oise and the Aisne.

"The operations around Tracy Le Val have termined very favorably for our troops. It must be remembered that we took the village a few days ago. The day before yesterday the Germans attempted to recapture it. Having taken our first trenches, they advanced as far as the central carefour of that locality, but a vigorous counter attack by our Algerian contingent threw the enemy back and took from him all the ground we had lost and inflicted heavy losses upon him.

"In the Argonne we have maintained our positions. On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

Amsterdam, Nov. 19 (Central News Cable).—Large movements of troops are taking place within Belgium. Infantry forces are being rushed from the western battle line to the east to oppose the Russians, while artillery is being moved to the west. Eight thousand soldiers of the Bavarian Landstrum arrived yesterday at Liege on their way to the Russian frontier and eighty large guns passed through Liege for northern France.

A German army aviator has made a successful flight over Kronstadt, the principal Russian military and naval base, according to a statement published in the Frankfurter Zeitung. Kronstadt is a fortress built on an island at the head of the Gulf of Finland and is but twenty miles west of Petrograd. Its naval and commercial dock yards are protected by heavy fortifications.

Fifty thousand Russian soldiers have been made prisoners by the Germans in the last few days' fighting, according to a despatch from Berlin.

The fortifications of the Servians at Belgrade are being bombarded by the Austrians with heavy guns from the hills of Sembin and from monitors on the Danube, says a despatch from Budapest. The Servian artillery is replying from the Banjiacha Hills. Austrian engineers and sappers are repairing the railways at Semlin to afford protection for their artillery. The railway lines there have been twice destroyed in the present war, once when the Austrians retired from the Servian column that invaded Bosnia and again by the Servians when they retired before the Austrians and were forced to fall back across the river into their own country again.

COME TO PLAINFIELD TO TRADE IS SLOGAN—CAR FARES TO BE REPAID

LEADING MERCHANTS OF CITY UNITE TO DEVELOPE BIG BARGAIN OPPORTUNITIES DURING WEEK OF DECEMBER 5-12 — WILL BOOST PLAINFIELD TRADE IN SUBURBS.

"Come to Plainfield to Trade" is the slogan to be used by the leading merchants of Plainfield during Fare-Refunding Week, from December 5 to 12. It will be proclaimed through a special edition of the Daily Press in every town for thirty miles around this city, through which the people will be advised about "Special Bargain Week."

Many of the leading merchants of the city have already agreed to participate in the fare-refunding plan, and a representative of the Daily Press is interviewing the others as fast as he can get to see them. President A. E. Force, of the Business Men's Association, was the first man to agree to participate in the plan, and Woodhull & Martin Company, Tepper Brothers, Rosenbaum's, Samuel Rothberg, Stuart's Shoe Shop, Abrams' Shoe Store, Shirley & Johnston, Roth & Co., S. Scheuer & Co. and L. B. VanCamp are among the other leading business houses that will participate in this monster selling event.

The great success of the plan in Perth Amboy but a few weeks ago inspired the merchants there to continue the fare-refunding feature on Wednesday of each week, calling that day Suburban Day. The merchants and the Perth Amboy Evening News, which conducted the original sale there, unite in saying that it is the biggest thing of the kind that has ever been tried in the city.

The character of the firms which have agreed to participate in this movement in Plainfield assures the people of a week of buying opportunities which has not been equalled, even by the two successful Dollar Days which have been held here. The merchants are determined to give the early Christmas shopping idea a thorough try-out, and to make it attractive for all who come from out of town to buy, as well as for the resi-

Stylish SR Reliable

The honorable foundation of a business is the most important thing about it.

Any store to be successful, must maintain a constant faith within itself—a vigorous faith in integrity, not only as a policy, but as a principle.

The presence of this spirit is shown by the intelligence and attention with which customers are served—and the pleasure with which they respond to this service. You can tell in a minute when a store is not built on this honorable foundation. It has a FLABBY look. There is a BUSINESS ANEMIA written all over it—as plain as the sign on the window.

The people of Plainfield know that the Rothberg store is building on the right kind of a foundation.

RUSSELL RUNYON NOW A BENEDICT

Weds Miss Edna M. Shively at Dunellen, Last Evening.

A RECEPTION FOLLOWS

Ceremony is Performed at Home of Bride's Parents By Rev. Dr. D. W. C. Ramsey, of M. E. Church—Couple to Live In Dunellen.

Miss Edna M. Shively, eldest daughter of Councilman and Mrs. William Shively, and Russell E. Runyon, only son of Walter G. Runyon, were married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, on Whittier avenue, Dunellen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church, in the presence of about 100 relatives and friends of the couple from New York, Philadelphia, Bloomsbury, Westfield, Brooklyn, Asbury Junction, Phillipsburg, Easton, South Plainfield, Elizabeth, Bayonne and White Stone, L. I.

The bride was gowned in white crepe meteor trimmed with silk lace, pearls and orange blossoms. She wore a veil, trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. Shively gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Helen M. Shively, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of a beautiful shade of pale green crepe meteor, trimmed in shadow lace and carried a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Benjamin V. Dodwell, of Jackson avenue, Dunellen, was the best man.

The flower girls were Phyllis Runyon, of Dunellen, and Grace L. Apgar, of Elizabeth, cousins of the groom, who were dressed in white and wore hair ribbons of alternating blue and pink shades. They carried baskets of rosebuds and ferns. The ribbon bearers were Mayrone Vliet, Dorothy and Ruth Shively, of Front street, and Georgiana Vliet, of Elizabeth, all cousins of the bride. They were dressed in white shadow lace dresses, two with blue and two with pink sashes and hair ribbons.

The home was attractively decorated with autumn leaves, potted plants and chrysanthemums. The vows were plighted in the living room under an arch decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. The Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches were played by Miss Frances Hunt, of Dunellen, who rendered several selections during the evening. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding collation served.

The bridegroom's gift to his best man was a pearl scarf pin. The bride's gifts to her maid of honor and flower girls were gold bar pins and to her ribbon girls gold collar pins. Mrs. Runyon received a large collection of gifts, including bric-a-brac, cut glass, silver, furniture, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Runyon left at 8 o'clock on a wedding trip for Washington, Philadelphia and points in the South. Upon their return they will commence housekeeping at 323 Culhane place, Dunellen. They will be at home to their friends on Wednesdays during January.

The wedding was to have been solemnized during the forepart of last month, but was postponed on account of the sudden and tragic death of the groom's grandfather, Joseph C. Apgar, at the Washington avenue crossing of the Central Railroad, Dunellen.

The groom, who is one of Dunellen's popular young men, is connected with the undertaking establishment of his father.

NEW MARKET PUPILS TO GIVE TWO PLAYS

The pupils of the New Market school will present a program of interest in the assembly room of the school, Tuesday night, November 24. Two one-act plays will be features of the program. The pupils of the seventh grade will give the farce, "Our Aunt from California," and the pupils of the eighth grade will present an original one-act melodrama, "The Luck They Brought."

This play was arranged and produced by eighth grade members themselves, the plot of which was obtained from material furnished by Adele Kroohs. "The Luck They Brought" is full of thrills and laughter. These plays will be staged in a fitting manner and the many rehearsals held show that the participants are line perfect. Two other features of special interest will be Matthew Brendel, a contortionist of ability, and Eva Belloff, who will appear in Dutch character songs. Besides these there will be the "March of the Witches," and the "March of the Ghosts," and musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental, to complete the program.

The proceeds from the entertainment will enable the pupils to purchase an improved type of biopticon, an instrument combining both projecting and stereopticon apparatus.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Special arrangements are being made for the holding of a union service to be held in the Methodist church on Thanksgiving eve and will be in charge of Dr. H. K. Carroll. The church choir will render special music. The Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church, will preach the sermon.

An all-day missionary meeting was held in the Baptist church yesterday, by the women of the church.

It is expected that the meeting of the local society sewing for the Belgians, which was to be held next Thursday afternoon, at the home of Miss Kyte, on Martine avenue, will be held on Wednesday, as the regular meeting day falls on a holiday.

COMMISSIONER GEORGE B. CLADEK STILL MISSING

Rahway, Nov. 19.—No trace has been obtained of School Commissioner George B. Cladek, of 42 Semi-ary avenue, who has been missing from home since last Wednesday evening, when he started for a hunting trip near Farmingdale. It was reported that two parties, Austin Lawrence and Louis Compton, saw Mr. Cladek on Wednesday evening, going up the westbound stairs at the local Pennsylvania Railroad station shortly before the 7:39 train, which he was supposed to have taken. Since that time no trace of him has been discovered.

Chief of Police David H. Ramsey has taken hold of the case in an energetic manner and has sent pictures of the missing man broadcast over the State. Detective Remer is in Perth Amboy today looking up possible clues. An accident and hospital cases in neighboring cities are being investigated, but thus far without result.

The family are almost frantic with worry over Mr. Cladek's continued absence. Mrs. Cladek has taken charge of the livery business of her husband and is at the office daily.

Mr. and Mrs. William Holt and daughters have returned from Lyndhurst, where they attended the funeral of Mr. Holt's uncle, Charles Holt, a war veteran.

ish troops now occupy Kalatnuinahi, seventy-five miles beyond the frontier between Turkey and Egypt, according to an official statement today.

Rome, Nov. 19 (Central News Cable).—The Austro-American steamer Josephine struck a mine off Pola, the Austrian naval base, in the Gulf of Venice, yesterday. An official announcement says that all the passengers and crew were saved but six.

London, Nov. 19 (Central News Cable).—The third division of the British army, now fighting in Flanders, was subjected yesterday to a heavy attack by both artillery and infantry, says an official statement issued by the news bureau. The brunt of the assaults fell upon two battalions, which were subjected to a shell fire so incessant and heavy that they were forced to retire from their positions in the trenches. They recovered their positions, however, in a brilliant counter attack in which they drove the enemy back in disorder five hundred yards from the point where the fighting began. An attack was also made yesterday by the Germans on a brigade of the second division of the British army from which the enemy was repulsed and driven back with heavy losses.

The total naval casualties for Great Britain since the war started have been twenty-two officers killed, thirty-seven wounded and five missing, and 3,455 men killed, 42[illegible] wounded and one missing. These figures were given in a speech in the House of Commons, yesterday, by Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the Admiralty. In addition there are 1,000 men of the naval division and 875 men of the crew of the cruiser Good Hope who are listed as missing. The thousand men of the naval division who are announced as missing are believed to be marines who are possibly interned in Holland or have become prisoners of the Germans, and are now held in the concentration camps there.

A despatch from Rotterdam to the Daily News says that two German officers interned in Holland have made their escape and returned to Germany. A more rigorous guard will be kept and privileges which they have enjoyed will be curtailed.

A despatch from Amsterdam to a news agency says that General Von Winterfeldt has died at Weisbaden after a short illness. He was the German military governor of Metz.

Berlin, Nov. 19.—According to an official war bulletin issued last night the Austrian troops have defeated the Montenegrin forces near Erabour. The Servians are reported to be concentrating their forces in fortified positions south of Belgrade.

The following official bulletin was given out last night: "German cavalry massed upon the extreme western wing of the battle line in northwestern Russian Poland is now driving the enemy back."

New York, Nov. 19.—The steamship Soa Paulo arrived here today from Para, Brazil, with 115 of the passengers of the steamship Van Dyck, of the Lamport-Holt line, which was captured by the German cruiser Karlsruhe on October 26. The passenger agreed on the story of the capture, which was to the effect that the VanDyck encountered the Karlsruhe at 10:30 o'clock of the morning of October 26. The Karlsruhe sent a boat containing two officers and a prize crew and arranged for the transfer of the VanDyck's passengers to a convoy that was standing by in the vicinity. The convoy was the German steamer Assuncion, formerly of the Hamburg-American line, which had slipped out of Santos without clearance papers to act as convoy to the German cruiser.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

The eighty-first annual session of the New Jersey Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., opened at Trenton, yesterday, and is being continued today. Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, and Queen City Lodge, No. 226, of this city, are both represented at the gathering.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, are arranging for a pumpkin pie social to be held Saturday evening of next week.

Friendship Lodge, Daughters of Rebeckah, will hold a euchre party Tuesday evening.

Washington Camp, No. 30, P. O. S. of A., will nominate officers at the session to be held this evening.

MEN OF COMPANY K DINE AND MAKE MERRY

Annual Reunion Last Night Was Pleasant Affair—Several Speeches.

The annual reunion and banquet of Company K, Second Regiment, this city, was held last night, at the Jr. O. U. A. M. Hall on East Front street. A very bountiful banquet was served and the entertainment committee, which consisted of all the non commissioner officers of the company, arranged every detail.

Captain Charles A. Peterson was master ceremonies. He spoke regarding the work that has been done by the company in the past and the work that it hopes to accomplish in the future. He then called upon many of the ex-members that were present, and among those that responded with toasts were Lieutenant A. I. Littell, Lieutenant Nathaniel H. Hort, Harry Manning, Samuel Rothberg, Corporals Walter Sampson Walter Winters, Philip Winters, Ferdinand Dorman and William E. Richards. First Sergeant George L. Apgar and Corporal A. L. Tranchand also spoke. Sergeant Apgar read several letters from some of the ex members who could not be present expressing their regrets.

GIVE FAREWELL TO REV. F. D. TILDON

Members of Bethel Chapel Wish Him God-speed as He Leaves Here.

The members of Bethel chapel gave a farewell reception to Rev. F. D. Tildon, the retiring pastor, at the chapel last night. The affair was largely attended by not only members of thec llapel, but from the Crescent f the chapel, but from the Crescent evening was quite informal and was in charge of J. A. Williams of the chapel, who addressed the following remarks to Mr. Tildon:

"We, the members and workers of Bethel chapel respectfully beg to address you on upon the eve of your departure for the purpose of expressing our profound and sincere regret. Taking into consideration, the difficulties with which you had to contend, yet you have to the best of your ability, discharged your pastoral duties in a satisfactory manner, which leads us to conclude that your labors in this city for the past eighteen years has been one of untired energy, zeal and work well done and we are pleased to say that you have not only gained the love, attachment and esteem of those connected with this church, but from your courtesy and affability have won the affection of the general public.

"And as a church and people we cannot otherwise but express the benefits received from your many able sermons, words of solace and encouragments which shall be remembered by us. Now, sir, as we must part, we wish you and your family longevity, a happy and successful future and prosperity, in a new sphere of labor and at the end of your pastoral career everlasting joy and peace."

Mr. Tildon made an appropriate and impressive response to the kind words by Mr. Williams, after which there was a social hour, during which refreshments were served by women of the church. Among those present at the reception was Rev. Dr J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church.

STILL IN DARK ABOUT FIRING AT TENNESSEE

Washington, Nov. 19—Complete absence of further information from Captain Decker, of the United States cruiser Tennessee, left the situation unchanged today. Secretary Daniels reiterated his belief that only one shot was fired and that across the bow of the launch to warn it that the Turkish port was closed.

MRS. T. A. GERE DIES IN MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL

Mrs. Thomas A. Gere, widow of the late Thomas A. Gere, of Westfield avenue, Scotch Plains, died yesterday afternoon at Muhlenberg Hospital after being treated at that institution during the past ten days for complications. Mrs. Gere has been a resident of Scotch Plains, and was associated with the Baptist church of that place. Three daughters survive. The funeral services will be held at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Paff, Westfield avenue, Scotch Plains, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be made at Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

OPERATION NECESSARY.

The condition of V. W. Nash, Sr., of Prospect avenue, is reported today as being serious. It was at first thought that an operation could be avoided, but today the physicians decided that it would be necessary.

CHORAL SOCIETY TO GIVE "MESSIAH"

Other Activities Reported at Public Recreation Committee Meeting.

At the monthly meeting of the Public Recreation Committee, last evening, the resignation of Harry Marshall as treasurer of the committee was presented and accepted, William M. Sandford being elected to fill the vacancy.

S. Frederick Smith, director of the Choral Society, made an extensive report, and said that plans for Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," to be given at the High School auditorium December 15, had been practically completed. A number of high class soloists are to be engaged for the occasion, while the choral society will sing the chorus parts of the musical. The Municipal Orchestra is at present rehearsing to take part in the affair.

Miss Lillian Lamson, one of the supervisors, made an extensive report on the various activities of the work.

THE DIVINE SPIRIT MUST INTERPRET

So Declared Rev. Nathaniel Brooks at M. E. Revival Service.

Increasing interest was manifested, last night, by the large audience gathered in Vincent chapel at the evangelistic service held in that place. Rev. Nathaniel Brooks, of Newark, preached a splendid sermon prefacing his remarks by saying that all the commentaries that were ever written cannot help us to understand until the Divine Spirit opens our understanding to know the truth as it is in Christ Jesus.

The meeting was in charge of the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson. Miss Ethel Kinneman, the contralto of the First M. E. choir, rendered two beautiful solos. Tonight Rev. Mr. Woodruff, of Elizabeth, will preach.

ONLY FEW FINISHED IN MID-WEEK RUN

The mid-week run of the Watchung Hunt Club, yesterday, was enjoyed by many riding members, although all did not finish. The hounds were met at Watchung Hill being thrown in nearby. They then crossed numerous farms, checking on Terrill road, Fanwood. Taken up again and thrown in nearby, the chase led toward Dog Corners, where the second check was made at Valentine's bridge.

Owing to the heavy going only the following riders finished: Rufus C Finch, M. F. H.; H. L. Finch, Mrs. A C. Mattlach, Mrs. Rufus C. Finch and Huntsman Harrison.

HOW "HELLO" GIRLS PASS 'PHONE CALLS

Mysteries of the Big Exchanges to Be Revealed at Proctor's Theatre.

Plainfield people who have often wondered just how their calls over the telephone were handled by the pleasant voiced young woman known as "Central," will have their curiosity gratified by a visit to Proctor's Theatre on either Friday or Saturday. On those dates the management will display a full reel of motion pictures entitled "The Telephone Girl," which shows some of the mysteries of the great exchanges where thousands of connections are handled every day. The "movies" are the first ones that have ever been taken in the exchanges of the New York Telephone Company and are being shown under its sanction. A local tinge is lent to the film from the fact that a portion of it was taken in this city and Messrs Proctor and Sanderson secured it for display at their theatre through cooperation with John Carty, sales manager in this district.

"The Telephone Girl" shows a young girl applying for a position at the central office, her acceptance and course of instruction previous to taking her place as a full-fledged "hello" girl. One of New York's big exchanges is next shown with scenes of operators handling calls, a sight that is a revelation to the uninitiated. In conclusion, the course of a hurry-call from a frantic mother is depicted, showing the start of a fire by a child knocking over a lamp, "Central" ringing fire headquarters, the response of the apparatus and the saving of the home. A second film of a *similar nature, showing even more in*teresting features, will be displayed at the Proctor Theatre on December 4 and 5, under the title of "The Telephone Way."

SEEKS TO RECOVER HEAVY FIRE LOSS

Somerville Water Co. Defendant in a U. S. District Court Action.

Before Judge Haight in the Newark *branch of the United States Dis*trict Court, the suit for $200,000 against the Somerville Water Company, of Somerville, brought by Benjamin Lissberger, of New York, was continued yesterday. It is alleged that the water company failed to furnish water and pressure at the fire which destroyed the Somerville Iron Works, owned by Lissberger, on July 8, 1909.

Under a contract between Lissberger and the water company the latter concerned agreed to furnish water for fire protection at the rate of $18 a year. Employes of the iron works were placed on the stand and told that very little water could be drawn from the hydrants when the fire broke out. The delay in securing water and the low pressure of the stream when it did come is alleged to have caused the total destruction of the foundry buildings.

Hugh Gaston, treasurer of the Somerville Water Company, and Charles Wyckoff, engineer, gave testimony as to the plans of the company for furnishing water. They described the pipe equipment leading from the main to the iron works. Wyckoff declared that two four-inch pipes leading to the iron works were fed from a six-inch main. Richard Boardman, of this city, is one of the counsel for the plaintiff.

MISSSIONARY AND AID SOCIETY'S MONTHLY MEETING

The monthly meeting of the Missionary and Aid Society, of Warren chapel, was held at the home of the president, Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, 61 Grandview avenue, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Louis Stites led the devotional meeting.

Mrs. James Goodwin gave the home reading on "New Mexico," and Mrs. R. O. Stewart read the foreign paper. After the meeting a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The next sewing meeting will be held at the home of Mrs Henry Woodland, Grandview avenue, Wednesday afternoon, December 2 at 3 o'clock.

E. E. PARVIN TO SPEAK AT WARREN CHAPEL

Emerson E. Parvin, of Watchung avenue, will give his illustrated talk, "Belgium Before the War," at Warren chapel tonight. Mr. Parvin has delivered the talk several times during the last few weeks, and it has been received with much interest and atention wherever delivered. He shows pictures of many of the buildings which have been destroyed by the German invasion of Belgium. No admission will be charged for to*night's meeting.*

SUDDEN DEATH OF JOHN B. OAKLEY

Widely Known War Veteran is Stricken With Heart Trouble in Elizabeth.

John B. Oakley, aged 74 years, of Elizabeth, widely known throughout Union county, as well as in this city, where he has visited many times, died suddenly of heart disease in a stationery store on Broad street, Elizabeth, Tuesday night, of heart trouble. On several occasions Mr. Oakley has addressed temperance meetings in this city, and has been a welcome guest at gatherings of the G. A. R.

Mr. Oakley was a native of Ellenville, N. Y. At the outbreak of the Civil War, when still a young man he enlisted in the One Hundred and Fifty-sixth New York Volunteers. He participated in a number of battles, and at Cedar Creek, Va., he was captured by the Confederates and was taken to one of the Southern prisons.

After the war he lived in New York State up to about twenty-five years ago, when he went to Elizabeth, where he since resided. He was an honorary members of several patriotic societies and he was a regular attendant at their meetings where he frequently made addresses. A year ago he was made an honorary member of the Second New Jersey Cavalry Association, and he was also connected with Henry Hobart Drake Commandery, P. O. S. of A., W. A. M. Mack Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A. Mr. Oakley was also a past officer of Lincoln Division, Sons of Temperance.

Mr. Oakley leaves a widow, Mrs. Cynthia T. Oakley, two daughters, Mrs. William H. Foose and Mrs. George Sayre, and three sons, John B. Oakley, Jr., Raymond N., and Harold C. Oakley.

CLEARING KY. BANK TROUBLES

Paris, Ky., Nov. 19—The creditors of the defunct George Alexander & Co. State Bank, are to receive 30 per cent. on their accounts in an early distribution of the funds on hand. The total indebtedness of the bank is $306,151.81 and there is on hand for the distribution $188,908. The banking commissioner also reports worthless paper and doubtful paper on hand to the extent of $86,000, and he has brought suit to recover collateral from other banks which had been deposited by the Alexander bank for lesser sums than the amount received. The directors of the defunct bank have been sued for $48,000, the amount paid in dividends since the bank has been insolvent. An avalanche of suits in connection with the bank failure have been filed, and the directors are joint defendants in a suit brought in the name of the bank to recover the entire shortage caused by the misman agement of Mr. Alexander.

WATSON TRIAL OFF AGAIN.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 19—Because Judge Emery Speer has filed a certificate of disqualification in the case of the United States vs. Thomas E. Watson, the famous case is again postponed until another judge is designated to sit in the United States District Court here. Watson, who is an editor and author, and was the nominee of the People's Party for the Presidency in 1904, was to be tried this week on an indictment rendered by the Federal Grand Jury two years ago today, charging him with sending obscene matter through the mails. Watson claims that if he were guilty of the charge, it would be a violation of the Federal laws to send a Bible through the mails. The articles which brought about the indictment were published in his magazine. They denounced the Roman Catholic church, and after their publication, Watson defied arrest, on the claim that the articles are as proper matter for the mails as is the Bible.

CARING FOR OUR OWN.

Through appeals which are appearing regularly in the Plainfield papers, the Charity Organization Society is adopting a systematic method of soliciting aid, so that it may continue to relieve suffering and distress during the winter. The temperature of the last few days has not been what would be called severe, but it has been cold enough to bring acute distress to all who have not adequate fuel, sufficient protective clothing, and at least the minimum amount of nourishing food. Hence the Society has many demands, and it hopes to be able to supply the wants of all who apply to it.

Plainfield and all the other American cities have been generous in the promptness to extend relief to the suffering poor of foreign lands, and the mildness of our autumn season has contributed in that direction. It has allowed Plainfielders and other Americans to make thier donations of mercy and brotherhood with more liberal hand. The demand from our own poor, those at our very gates and doors, was not so compelling.

With the swift turn in the weather, the sudden drop in the temperature, this condition changes. The demand of the day is for a prompt and more liberal assistance to the poor of Plainfield made prisoners in the trenches of poverty through unemployment they are powerless to oppose. No one can find fault with the large hearted of this and other American cities if they now turn their attention more forcibly to the relief of the distress among the men, women, and children of their own land, and restrain the enthusiasm that has drawn them to the relief movement in foreign countries.

There are means enough and kind hearted people enough to provide for all who may be suffering, but the common impulse of every-day humanity will direct the first effort at relief to the poor of Plainfield. Their claim rises higher than the poor of foreign lands, however much their sufferings may touch our sympathies.

The distress here is deep. Just how far it runs perhaps no one knows precisely, but the number of poor, stricken by extreme poverty through no fault of their own, is great. To the normal causes for unemployment the war in Europe added its influence, and Plainfield and every other large American city has its army of distressed and unemployed.

That the suffering ought to be removed and relieved promptly and thoroughly is a point which admits no denial. If the public does its duty through a motive with the wrong label it may be regrettable because of the imperfect vision, but if the distress is banished that is the main point. If the more fortunate of the community put their hands to the duty of bringing comfort to take the place of cold, and hunger, and general distress, the act will somehow appear to be better.

No matter what the motive that drives the deed, the insistent fact is that Plainfield has its army of suffering poor whose distress is sharpened by this first blast of winter, and that misery must be removed—not after a while, next week, or next month, but now. The more liberally we do it, the more we press into the act the warm impulse of brotherhood, the better.

It is somewhat refreshing to realize that the people of Plainfield, who are most familiar with the famous North Plainfield rabbit case, seem to think that there is little or no necessity for the hub-bub which has been created over it. The facts are well known to our residents, and almost to a man they agree that Justice Snape was exactly right. Evidently from the stories that have come from the Court of Pardons session on Monday, the investigation by the Governor has resulted in that body not rushing its action because of the "sob" stories that have appeared in newspapers which did not stick to the exact facts.

As the topic of conversation when two or more people get together in variable turns to the European War, so have the Saturday editors drawn lessons in recent issues from that titanic conflict. The preparedness of the Kaiser for the struggle, when it came, has prompted the article which will appear on Saturday, and a moral is drawn for the young people who expect to take up business life later. The article has been written by a young man well known in Plainfield and identified with a business which has sent hundreds of young people forth, better prepared for the business world.

A facetious individual wrote the Daily Press to ask if Mrs. Phillipson gave her son Oscar a "bunny hug" when he returned from the Somerville jail. We were not present at the family re-union, so cannot answer, but have been told that the young man will practice the "hesitation" before making any more rabbits dance to the "double shuffle" from a repeating rifle. Call the wag on.

Former Governor Stokes has given out an interview in which he says that the Republican Legislature will do some things, and not do a whole lot of others. Will some one kindly explain by right of what office Mr. Stokes becomes the spokesman of the party in this State?

"Turkey Attacks Americans," is the headline one newspaper used yesterday. Well, what's the use of getting excited about it? Wait until next Thursday, and note how the Americans will attack turkey. Hey what!

And the list of the unemployed at the Mayor's office grows each day. The situation is far from pleasant.

MYSTERIOUS KIDNAPPING MYSTERY IS SOLVED

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Day, of Dunellen avenue, Dunellen, received a postal card last evening, informing them that a niece, Louise Hyatt, nine years old, who was believed to have been kidnapped while returning from the Lincoln School, Dunellen, at noon, on Tuesday, was safe and sound in the home of her mother, Mrs. Louise Hyatt, of Brooklyn.

Louise, who has been making her home with Mrs. Day since June, was romping home from school with a group of children when a man called to her from the opposite side of the street. She skipped across the street, and the man, who is now believed to have been her uncle, after exchanging a few words with her, took her hand and led her off.

When Louise failed to appear for dinner Mrs. Day hurried to school to find out the reason. When she was apprised of a man having led Louise off she believed her to have been kidnapped and became frantic. Only the receipt of the postal last evening has saved her from a siege of illness.

Louise's mother had spent the last week in October at the Day home. While there she asked her daughter to come into Brooklyn and spend Thanksgiving week with her. Louise told her mother that she didn't want to do that. It is believed that the peculiar manner in which the child was taken away was due to jealousy incited by a belief upon the part of the mother that Louise was commencing to care more for her aunt than she did for her mother.

MEETING POSTPONED.

The meeting of the High School Commercial Club which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, has been postponed for two weeks, the date finally settled upon to be announced later. Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, was to have been the speaker.

DEATH OF MRS. W. C. JENKINS.

Mrs. May Louisa Jenkins, wife of William C. Jenkins, of 815 South Second street, died yesterday afternoon after a lingering illness. The funeral services and interment will be private.

"PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK"

E. A. Mead Gives Fine Interpretation of the Famous Play.

The popularity of the series of free entertainments which the Board of Education is giving this winter was well attested by the crowded audience which, last night, filled the capacious auditorium of the Washington School, to enjoy a most sympathetic and interesting monologue interpretation of Jerome K. Jerome's famous play, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," by the well-known entertainer, E. A. Mead.

Mr. Mead, who is no stranger to a Plainfield audience, more than sustained his reputation in this city by his performance, and his success was shown by the close attention of the audience and their sympathetic response to the moods of the moonligat as well as by the liberal applause which greeted him at the evening's conclusion.

The well-known story of the play with its scarcely veiled Christian symbolism will bear repeating here.

To a boarding-house full of mean, bettish, sordid and unscrupulous people, harrassed by lack of money, lack of character and lack of human kindliness and affection; people in short who greatly resembled most of us at our worst; comes a mysterious stranger who takes the third floor back room, and settles down as a fellow lodger.

In a month, by persistently treating every one as though he or she were really the fine sort of person they secretly wanted to be; instead of the worthless sort of person they actually were; he changes the unpleasant little boarding-house into a community of sincere, lovable, large-minded and mutually helpful people; leading useful and happy lives. Then he passes on saying that he is only a traveler in the world who represents the best self of each person he meets, and will return to them again.

There is much that appeals to the emotions in the idealism of this little play. What is not so readily recognized is that it presents what is, when exercised within the limits of common sense, the only workable philosophy of life mankind has yet discovered.

Blind faith in the best in people frequently leads to disaster; but so does blind distrust of everyone. Nothing is more sardonicly amusing than the way "practical" men as they call themselves; by which they mean men unversed in all the values of life except monetary ones, are in the end betrayed by their own "practical" distrust, and lose the only thing they value, their money, as completely as do those whom they call contemptiously, "the idealists."

Intelligence and common sense is needed to make any philosophy work. Blind faith and blind distrust are alike dangerous. Yet our faith in ourselves is the only thing that makes us grow better; and this must be fed by the faith of others in the best in us, if it is to develop and live.

That at heart we all feel this truth, however frequently we fail to practice it, was well shown by the close interest and keen enjoyment of the people who listened, with moved attention, to Mr. Mead's monologue.

HEARS COST OF SEWER

Lincoln avenue instead of Washington avenue as formerly planned. The Mayor answered that there was insufficient fall to do that. He also stated that according to Mr. McChatock this was not necessary anyway, as the gutters could be arranged so as to carry all of the surface water of the section in question to Lincoln avenue, where it could empty into the sewer. Mr. Peters wanted to know whether the gutter would be able to take care of the water in the cellars of that section. The Mayor's admission that it would not resulted in considerable discussion.

Borough Engineer Churchill was called upon by the Mayor for his views as to how the section should be properly drained. He favored laying the line of sewer from Washington avenue along North avenue to Bound Brook road and down Bound Brook road to Bonegat Brook, stating that a splendid fall could be obtained by so doing. The water in the vicinity of Madison avenue could be taken care of by laying pipe in such a manner that there would be two flows of water, one flowing towards the sewer running along North avenue and the other down Madison avenue to Greenbrook. The discussion ended with the appointment by Mayor Latham of a committee of three, composed of Assessor Peters, Borough Engineer Churchill and Segard Nicholaysen. This committee will interview the citizens benefitted by the improvement and get a general idea of what is wanted. The committee will report at an informal meeting of the Council to be held on Tuesday evening.

A communication was received from Frank Mohan, of Jackson avenue and Third street, informing the Council of an alleged public nuisance in the form of eleven pigs and a goat owned by one Albert Rajotte, which are allowed to romp loose in their neighborhood!!

Mr. Mohan stated that either himself or wife were obliged to chase the herd off of his premises on an average of five or six time a day. Mr. Mohan further stated that his wife had spoken to Mr. Rajotte about the matter and had told him that she would be obliged to make a complaint with the borough authorities if he did not take measures to keep the herd off her premises. Mr. Rajotte's reply was, "Go ahead and do what you can." The matter was placed in the hands of the law and ordinance committee.

A notice of an appeal filed by Miss Louise M. Trust with the Middlesex County Board of Equalization of Taxes was read and ordered filed in the borough's archives. Miss Trust appeals against the $1,000 assessment of a two-year-old automobile and asks that its valuation be lowered to $500.

Among the bills ordered paid was one for $1,283.19, representing the borough's share of the joint sewerage expense to date.

CARNIVAL CONTINUES.

The indoor carnival of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps was continued last evening. Dancing was the feature. The various booths were busy throughout the evening, and the committee report that their expectations for the success of the affair has thus far been greatly exceeded. The carnival will continue until the close of the present week.

TRADE IN PLAINFIELD

dents of the city.

Under the plan proposed, fares will be refunded to buyers out of town purchasers, according to the amount of the purchase. Where Plainfield can be reached by trolley, the refund will be of the fare by that route, and where there is no trolley, the auto bus and railroad fares will be refunded. The schedule of fare refund will be published in ample time for prospective purchasers to become thoroughly familiar with it.

Not only will the people coming direct from the outside towns get their fares refunded, but a farmer residing near any of the places listed in the schedule will also get his fare or an amount equivalent to the price of a trolley ticket refunded to him whether he comes by auto, team or rail. A rate has also been made for the inland towns in the radius of the sale so as not to show any partiality in the matter. It is the intention to offer this same inducement to every person who comes to Plainfield to trade during "Special Bargain Week" or Merchants' Co-operative Trading Festival, as the occasion is to be known. This, of course, is in addition to the many special bargains to be offered by the merchants during this big co-operative sale.

Another pleasing feature of this part of the arrangement is the fact that a person is not compelled to make his purchases all at one store, but he can on the contrary trade at as many stores as he may like, the only provision being that the aggregate amount of his purchases equal the sum designated in the published schedule. Say, for instance, a person coming from a town where the amount to be purchased is $20, can, if desired, trade at twenty different stores, spending one dollar at each place, and still be entitled to his fare back, just the same as though he spent the $20 at one store. The purchases, however, must all be made at the stores which are participating in the sale and whose names are listed on the back of the refunding slips furnished by the merchants to each customer. Full instructions as to how these refunding slips are to be used will be published on the first page of the special edition of the Daily Press containing the announcements and the special bargains of the merchants which will be issued in a few days. Watch for it and post yourself thoroughly on this and many other features of the big sale. This edition will also direct you where to trade to get real genuine bargains.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

EXCISE BOARD MEMBERS HELD

Five Elizabeth Officials Are Accused of Malfeasance in Office.

Elizabeth, Nov. 19.—Five members of the Board of Excise, Michael P. Devine, William Greisheimer, Cornelius Kane, Michael Cummings and William Dunn, were arraigned before Justice James J. Bergen in Quarter Session Court, yesterday, charged with misfeasance in office. Former Judge C. Addison Swirl, representing them, entered a plea of not guilty. Each was released in $[illegible] bond for trial on December [illegible].

The indictments followed a presentment by the October grand jury criticising board members for giving contract work for saloonkeepers.

The court denied a motion to quash the indictments.

The presentment came as the result of an extensive probe begun more than a week ago, during which many prominent citizens, including Mayor Mravlag, General Dennis F. Collins and Elwood W. Phares were called before the inquest. The findings of the grand jury were that members of the board accepted contracts for carpenter and mason work from the breweries, and while there is no law prohibiting an excise commissioner from accepting such contracts, the presentment held that this sort of business dealing tended to bias the excise commissioners in the consideration of license transfers and renewals.

The three assemblymen-elect will be asked to have a law enacted making it impossible for the commissioners to accept contracts and the findings of the jury were ordered sent to William N. Runyon, Arthur N. Pierson and Charles Morgan, who will represent this county at the next session of the State Assembly.

QUARANTINE ON HAY AND STRAW MODIFIED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—The provisions of the Federal quarantines declared on account of the foot-and-mouth disease have been somewhat modified in so far as they apply to shipments of hay and straw. The new regulations provide that hay and straw cut prior to August 1, 1914, and baled prior to October 1, 1914, may be shipped without disinfection from any of the quarantined areas, provided that it has been stored away from cattle, sheep or swine. Hitherto it was necessary that hay should not only have been cut before August 1, but that it should also have been baled before that date.

NEWS OF SOMERSET BOYS AT RUTGERS

Trials for College Play Have Been Held During the Week.

Ray M. D. Richardson, of Bound Brook, has been selected as an understudy for a part in the new college play entitled "The Rutgers Spirit." Trials were held in VanNest Hall this week, seventy-five students trying for the eight characters in the cast. Richardson was chosen as an understudy to George Whistler, who will impersonate "Ted" Wilks, senior. The play this year was written by Earl Red Silvers, of the class of 1913, and will be presented in New Brunswick during junior week. It will also be given in ten cities during the winter, possibly Plainfield and Somerville.

Robert Bowlby, of Somerville, and Howard Mason, of Bound Brook, will undoubtedly play in the big football game with Stevens, Saturday. Both of these boys have been first string substitutes this season, Mason at guard and Bowlby at half-back. As Rutgers will play three games in the space of seven days, every effort will be made to save the regulars as much as possible, and the second team players will be given every chance to show their ability. Bowlby especially has been showing great form in practice, and will probably start in the contest with Stevens.

The tennis championship of the college has been won by C. E. Childs, of Hackensack. Roy Richardson, captain of the varsity tennis team, was eliminated by Heitkamp, runner up, by scores of 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. Chester Wells, of Bound Brook, one of the best players in college, was beaten by Childs, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Ned O. Howlett, head cheer leader of the college, has charge of all arrangements for a Rutgers night at one of the New York theatres Saturday. Three hundred seats have been reserved for students.

ANNOUNCES A NEW INDUSTRIAL POLICY

Prudential Insurance Company Takes An Advance Step for Patrons' Benefit.

The Prudential Insurance Company is again pioneering the way in life insurance. It has recently announced a new Industrial policy which is payable in weekly instalments instead of in one sum. It is the belief of the company that there is a widespread field of usefulness for an Industrial policy providing for the payment of a certain amount each week in order to tide a household over a reasonable period, until the members have had a chance to readjust themselves to the changed conditions after the breadwinner is gone. By the terms of this new policy the beneficiary named in the policy receives the amount of insurance in regular weekly instalments for thirteen or twenty-six weeks, as the insured elects at the time of his application. Such a policy is in accord with the original purpose of The Prudential, as shown by its charter, which sets forth that one of its objects is to provide for the wants of widows and families after the death of the insured.

It is not intended that the new offering shall replace the regular Industrial policy, payable in one sum, but that it shall be supplementary to it, thus making the protection of the family more complete than has hitherto been possible for Industrial policyholders.

Under the Prudential Weekly Income Industrial policy wage earners can assure to those dependent upon their earnings in any way for support, the continuance, for a reasonable time, of at least a part of the income which death would otherwise take from them. Too frequently, because of the desire of the members of the family to give a final expression of their love and devotion to the departed one, the entire amount received under the regular Industrial policy is expended for funeral expenses, or it may be that the cost of medical attendance through a protracted illness has wiped out their resources, with the result that they are forced to begin their struggle with the world deprived of the breadwinner and practically penniless. It is to guard against such a condition that The Prudential's new Weekly Income Industrial policy is issued, and it is believed it will prove a bulwark of family safety, keeping the house together and giving the dependent ones an opportunity to consider and determine upon the best course to follow. With a regular Industrial policy to meet funeral expenses and a Weekly Income policy to aid in caring for the family for three or six months insurance protection of an ideal order is afforded.

Little Oddities In the European War News

French military surgeons in Lyons called for volunteers to give their blood to save the wounded soldiers from the effects of hemorrhages and had a gratifying response. Fifty persons offered themselves immediately.

On a British torpedo boat destroyer in a recent action the ship's pet monkey, evidently not relishing the noise and scurry, became terrified. He flew into the galley and climbed on the top shelf. There he hastily selected a big fish saucepan and hid himself until the firing ceased.

Miss Felice Gunther, stenographer in the office of the Austro-Hungarian consulate general in New York, who has returned from an extended trip in Austria and Hungary, says that Austrian soldiers going to the front are reported to have been supplied with vials of poison to take in case of capture by the Servians to escape torture at their hands.

"The coolest thing I ever saw in action was that of a big highlander, who milked a cow under rifle and shell fire to get something for his wounded mates to drink when the water ran out," says Private Clarke of the King's Royal rifles in a letter home.

MRS. CARMAN'S TRIAL RECALLS BAILEY MURDER.

Famous Case Overshadowed by War Comes Up For Decision.

The trial for murder of Mrs. Edwin Carman at Mineola, N. Y., called attention anew to a mystery which attracted worldwide notice in the early summer, but which has been overshadowed by the war. Briefly, the facts in the case, so far as known, are as follows:

Mrs. Edwin Carman bought a dictograph, which she had installed in her physician husband's office in Freeport, N. Y., with one end in a closet in her room on the second floor. She admitted she wished to hear what was said by his patients to him.

Two weeks later, on June 30, 1914, Mrs. Louise Bailey, a patient, was shot and killed in Dr. Carman's office. The bullet came from a revolver which was thrust through a window shattered by an unknown hand.

Dr. Carman admitted he saw a white hand appear through the hole, leveling the revolver at him. He hid behind a chair. Mrs. Bailey was instantly killed.

A box of cartridges, 38 caliber, were found in the home of Dr. Carman. The bullet that killed Mrs. Bailey was 38 caliber.

Mrs. Carman was a witness at the inquest and admitted being jealous and to have slapped the face of a nurse who was in the office of her husband at one time.

She was [illegible] indicted for manslaughter, and later this was superseded by an indictment alleging murder in the first degree.

Since the shooting and while his wife has been confined in the jail at Mineola Dr. Carman has appeared very devoted to her and has kept her supplied with fruit and flowers. He declares his belief in her innocence and that the crime was committed by a man.

The negro maid employed in the Carman home first declared that her mistress did not go downstairs on the night of the shooting, but later admitted that she came into the kitchen in a kimono, went out of doors and in a few minutes, immediately after the shot, rushed back and through the kitchen, saying to her, "Celia, go to your room, and for God's sake keep quiet."

Frank J. Farrell, a vagrant, says he was about to enter the Carman grounds when he saw a woman in a kimono at the window of the doctor's office. He says he saw her break the glass and fire the shot. Fearing to get into trouble himself, he fled, but later, after reading of the case, he came forward to tell what he knew about it.

URGE CHRISTMAS PEACE.

Ministers Want Powers to Declare Armistice on Christ's Birthday.

The London Daily Mail received a dispatch from its correspondent in New York saying that leading clericals and educators there have under discussion a movement to have the warring powers agree to an armistice on Christmas day.

The correspondent said of the movement:

"This idea is in its infancy, but it has already enlisted the sympathies of such distinguished leaders as Cardinal Farley, Bishop David H. Greer of the Episcopal diocese of New York and Rabbi H. Pereira Mendes of the Jewish synagogue.

"The larger movement looking to a permanent cessation of hostilities is at present subordinated apparently to the movement for an armistice on Christmas day.

"Bishop Greer said details of the plan were still to be worked out but that probably, if the movement met with the expected support of all creeds and denominations, the proposal for a Christmas armistice would be made through President Wilson or the state department at Washington.

"The movement is all the more remarkable in that the idea should have come from a rabbi, Dr. Mendes."

The Merchant...
The Goods...
The Prices...
The Consumer...

Plainfield merchants are in business to sell good goods, at fair profits and prices, and the consumers should be willing to take that fact into consideration in doing their shopping.

Merchants are in business to make money. They sell their merchandise for that purpose. The consumers desire to purchase what they want, when they want, at the price they want, and their wants can be readily satisfied in this city.

One good turn deserves another. When the merchant feels that he can depend upon the local mechanic for business, he immediately patronizes the mechanic of the home town, proving that labor creates wealth, and the circulation of wealth creates labor.

BY MORRIS MILLER

More figures are at hand to furnish the fans with food for thought during the off season on what the past big league races developed. It is seen by a perusal of the unofficial records that Sam Crawford of the Detroit Tigers led the American league in extra base slugging. "Wahoo Sam" pounded out eight home runs, made twenty-two two-baggers and twenty-six three-baggers. He was not quite up to Cactus Cravath's mark in the National league, as his hitting netted him ninety-eight extra bases, as against 100 for Cravath. Tris Speaker was the second best slugger in the American, his long wallops netting him a total of nine-one extra bases, or six less than the second man in the National league, Sherwood Magee. The older league, therefore, carried off the palm for slugging. But in respect to speed on the base paths, the American league excelled. Whereas Burns stole sixty-one bases, Maisel of the Yankees pilfered seventy-three. Eddie Collins topped Herzog and Dolan, who had forty-four and forty-one, respectively.

Joe Engel, the Senators' young pitcher, who was slated to barnstorm with the All-American team, has canceled his engagement. It was announced that Connie Mack of the Athletics had requested from Griffith the loan of a slabbist, and the Senators' manager selected Engel, believing that in so doing Engel would profit not only financially, but in point of experience as well. When the news was broken to Engel the lad beamed with joy and he immediately began preparations for the trip. But a week later Joe's pa purchased a farm in Virginia, and with the acquirement of this land Joe's hopes of making the trip vanished. The elder Engel was of the opinion that his son would be more valuable to him doing chores than to the All-American team. Joe has a flock of fancy pigeons, and besides these the pigs, cows and horses must receive attention each day. So Joe is still barnstorming, but not with the Mackmen.

Knowlton L. Ames, Jr., quarterback of Princeton's football team, couldn't help playing fine football for Princeton if he wanted to. Ames is a son of Snake Ames, the man whose great playing gave Princeton the championship twenty-five years ago. In 1889 Snake Ames was the greatest fullback in the game. His smashing attack gave Princeton victories over Yale and Harvard that won the Tigers the national championship. Snake Ames now is chairman of the Princeton coaching committee. He does more than any one else in building up Princeton's attack. In this capacity he this year is coaching his son. Young Ames, a sophomore, scored the first touchdown made in the Palmer stadium.

A surprising lack of generalship has been shown by the various quarterbacks this season. It would appear possible through some course of special instruction to pound into the heads of these young warriors the general theory and practice of offense.

Louis Stoddard will captain the American team of poloists when they go to England to play for the cup. Just who will make up the team has not been decided, as the day of the challenge is too far off to think of the personnel of the team at the present time. But one thing is certain: Stoddard will not only be a member of the team if he is alive and in good physical health when the challenge is sent, but he will be the captain on the field. This much was settled recently by members of the committee of the Polo Association. H. P. Whitney will continue to act in an advisory capacity and will coach all the players who will strive for positions on the team. An effort will be made to have Mr. Whitney again take active part in the games for the cup, but there is not much likelihood that he will resume playing in international matches. When the subject was broached to him some time ago he said that he was out of polo as an active participant for the possession of the international cup. He stated that the ordeal of training was too severe for him and that the young players must stand the brunt of the battle to recover the cup.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Oscar Phillipson, who gained some renown through the Metropolitan newsies last week in the role of a rabbit slayer, starred in another act Tuesday night. Oscar entered the athletic world in the Y. M. C. A. senior league activities introducing the bunny leap by clearing three feet, eight inches in the running high jump.

Inasmuch as Dunellenites are so reluctant to consolidate with Plainfield along government lines and are leary of doing anything that will bring the two communities closer together, it is a wonder to us that the Monarch football warriors of that borough would condescend to meet Holy Cross on the football gridiron.

Notwithstanding this fact a contest between these two elevens would be the event of the season here and would prove a grand finale as a Thanksgiving Day combat. Recently the Dunellenites have loomed up as real championship contenders and would probably give Holy Cross a good scuffle for its money.

Some idea of the relative strength of the Holy Cross and Monarch elevens will be obtainable Saturday when the locals lineup against the Michelins, of Milltown, on Cricket Field. The Monarchs were twice held to a scoreless tie by the Milltown players.

Rumor has it that Jack Ricketts has severed his connection with the local football squad. This may eventually prove groundless, however, inasmuch as Captain Jack Wilson sprang some of the same publicity stuff last Saturday.

Baseball stars have taken a particular liking to billiards and bowling of late and the diamond luminaries have set up some astonishing records in these tamer lines of sport recently. The other night Katz Miller broke into the limelight with a 298 on the alleys and Katz will be remembered as somewhat of a ball player, too.

It is so long between those Plainfield High School football contests these days that we frequently forget there is a team lurking around Ninth street. Football, on the whole, has not been the success it usually is at the High School this season and there is apparent disinterest in the gridiron game.

High Schools in Scranton have decided to substitute soccer for rugby football next season. There is a general sentiment for more kicking and less mass play and this is the way the Scranton authorities have elected to solve the question.

But three teams in the eastern collegiate football circle have not been beaten this season. They are the Army, Harvard and Union. Harvard has twice been tied. Dartmouth leads the scoring with a total of 319 points.

Professional prizefighters will tell anyone willing to listen that fighting is their chief enjoyment. They would rather fight than eat. Their notion of a good time, they will tell you, is engaging another in a brawl and endeavoring to make him regret it. Wreaking their wrath upon most anything at hand is their only means of happiness. However true that may be, it still appears that quite a few fighters have neglected a great opportunity in the present European trouble.

LEADERS AND TAIL-ENDERS MEET ON ALLEYS TONIGHT

The Plainfield Eagles' bowling team will go to Somerville tonight and roll the "birds" of that place in a league match. These two teams met several times before the league opened this year and they were about evenly matched. Somerville now holds down last place with six defeats, while the local quintet tops the list with as many victories.

The Elizabeth team is scheduled to play at Rahway. The next game for the locals will be a return match with Somerville next week.

BRESNAHAN TO MANAGE CUBS.

Cincinnati, Nov. 19—Joseph Garretson, confidential man of C. P. Taft, said yesterday: "C. H. Thomas, president of the Cubs, and Roger Bresnahan will be in Cincinnati Thursday to discuss the future management of the Cubs. Bresnahan undoubtedly will succeed O'Day."

ELKS' LEAGUE GAMES.

The Jersey City Elks are due in Paterson tonight for a regular match. The Hoboken-New Brunswick games, which were to be played on the latter's drives tonight, has been indefinitely postponed.

BOROUGH GIRLS DROP INITIAL ENCOUNTER

Stellar Playing of Roselle Park Sextet on Home Court too Much for Locals.

The borough girls' sextet met defeat yesterday at Roselle in their opening game against the Roselle Park girls. There was a big delegation from North Plainfield present at the game and although the borough girls did not win they put up a very good fight. The Roselle Park girls have an exceptionally good team this year and have played quite a few games already this season.

Formerly the North Plainfield girls have been used to playing as a quintet and as Roselle Park would not play unless the girls played both halves of the game with six players they were decidedly at a disadvantage.

In the first half the borough team was unable to do much at all against the good team work of the Roselle girls and they scored only five points against their opponents' fourteen. In the second half, however, things were not quite so easy for the Roselle team, and the boroughites scored six points in this half to the Roselle team's eight.

Miss Burtis played a good game for North Plainfield and made all the field goals which were scored by her side. Miss Hale and Miss O'Shay played the best game for Roselle and were the mainstays of that team.

HEAD COACH AYRES DISMISSED FROM STEVENS

As an aftermath of the incident during last Saturday's football game with New York University, when the Stevens coach substituted a player who had been ruled out of the game, Head Coach Ayres has been dismissed by the Stevens athletic council. Ayres was a member of the West Point team several years ago.

The unusual action on the coach's part was taken when the manager of the team was off the field and when the captain was out of the game disabled to such an extent that he could take no part in the affairs of the game. The substitution did not come to the notice of the college authorities until yesterday, when President Humphreys and the athletic council started an investigation.

During the investigation it was learned that the coach had been guilty of deception in sending back a man disguised by plasters over his face and wearing a different sweater. As a result the athletic council promptly dismissed the coach, and in spite of the fact that it is within four days of the end of the season and one of the biggest games, that with Rutgers, is all that remains on the Stevens schedule.

The college authorities, alumni and student body are indignant beyond all measures at the action taken by the coach in substituting a man under these conditions. All are strong in their expressions that it is entirely contrary to the policy of honesty in sports in the college life that always has characterized the work at Stevens.

Stevens was one of the first colleges—back in the '70s—that took up football as an intercollegiate sport. In all these years not a word of reproach had been said against the honor and credit of Stevens sportsmanship.

JOHNSON ACCEPTS TERMS.

Billy Gibson, the fight promoter of New York, received a cablegram last night from Jack Johnson, in which the heavyweight champion stated that he had accepted Gibson's terms of $30,000 and the privilege of 50 per cent. of the moving picture rights to fight Sam McVey for the heavyweight championship in Havana, Cuba. Johnson, in his cablegram, suggested that the fight be held next April.

POOL TOURNAMENT AT Y. M. C. A. STARTS

First Round Will Be Started Immediately—List of Players.

The Y. M. C. A. handicap pool tournament is under way and will extend through December. The handicaps have been given out and the highest is 25 points. There will be only one preliminary match, this being between George C. M. Smith, one of the association's best players, and Dave Clarin, who will receive a handicap of 25. The winner of this match will meet F. O. Dunning in the first round.

The first round must be played off before December 5, the second before December 12, the semi-finals before December 19 and the finals at a later date. Two prizes will be awarded, one to the winner and one to the runner-up. They will be handsome pool cues and are well worth trying for.

The matches of the first round will be played as follows: Preliminary: G. C. M. Smith vs. Dave Clarin (handicapped 25); winner vs. F. O. Dunning; S. Frederick Smith vs. Raymond Bell (handicapped 25); H. E. Parker vs. Albert Brynarski (handicapped 25); James E. Kimble vs. Harry Moulton, J. E. Manning vs. Henri Welle, Gus Engle vs. C. R. Muhphy (handicapped 10); C. William Bingeman vs. John McLaughlin (handicapped 25); Henry V. Kinney vs. J. C. Blanchard.

SPORTING NOTES

Glen Warner may leave Carlisle to coach University of Pittsburgh.

Jack Curley is in England arranging for the Johnson-Willard match.

The Yankees will be owned by New Yorkers, if the team is sold.

K. O. Brown and Young Dyson are matched to clash at Thornton, R. I., this week.

Ralph Stroud, formerly of Detroit, will be McGraw's addition to the flingers' squad next season.

Porky Flynn is matched up with Cleve Hawkins for a bout at Montreal next week.

Both Boston teams will train at the same place; are they conspiring to corner the pennant market?

St. Joseph fans are waiting for Thanksgiving Day, when as an aid to indigestion Bud Logan and Ferns will match wallops.

Rumors of internal troubles continue to come from Philadelphia concerning Connie Mack's action in cleaning out his star pitchers.

The change of politics in New York State may mean the death knell of boxing there. The outlook is none too good, but it's better than in California.

Milwaukee has gone the marathon one better by holding a 50-mile race. Kallas, a Greek runner, made the distance in 5 hours, 18 minutes and 3 seconds.

An Indiana judge discharged John Lundgren, whose opponent died as the result of a boxing bout at Michigan City.

Jack Donaldson, the world's greatest professional sprinter, will defend the title against W. R. Applegarth, British amateur champion, on Saturday, at Manchester, England.

FRED MERKLE MARRIES.

Grand Rapids, Nov. 19.—As the culmination of a romance which began when Fred Merkle, first baseman for the New York Giants, was a member of the Tecumseh club of the Southern Michigan League in 1908, the ball player was married here Tuesday to Miss Ethel Bronson, of this city. The fact was not made public until yesterday. Merkle has spent the last two winters working as a compositor on the Fennville (Mich.) Herald. Merkle and his bride will take a short wedding trip before taking up residence in Toledo, Ohio.

P. H. S. ALUMNI WILL BE HARD PROPOSITION

Annual Thanksgiving Day Tilt With City School Team Should Be Interesting.

James Lindsay alias "Ginger," formerly of Plainfield High School, is getting together one of the best Alumni elevens that ever faced a city High School aggregation for the annual tilt on Thanksgiving Day. Many of Plainfield's old-time stars and heavyweights, who held the opponents' rush in days gone by, will put away business or studies and again don football togs to show the present football generation that they still know the game.

The team this year will be composed of last year's men and also some players who were in the limelight as far back as 1909. One of these players is "Shaky" Clarke, who played on the team for three or four seasons. Along in the same class with Clarke is "Piggy" Bristol, who was another valuable man lost when he graduated. Joe Carty, the retired Holy Cross center, will be with the Alumni and will probably play the pivot.

Two players who will undoubtedly prove "terrors" to the school team are Jim Nash, of the Temple School, of Philadelphia, and Monroe Good, a member of the Colgate eleven. Both have been playing all season and are in fine condition to rip up their opponents. Nash will probably play an end and Good fullback. Captain Lindsay is trying to sign up Joe Widowson, the 200-pound Welshman, to play his old position on the line. Lindsay also has several others in line, but would like to hear from any alumnae who wants to play in the game. All will be given a chance. Although the team will not have had much practice they will undoubtedly give the 1914 eleven a good rub.

500 YARD RECORD WAS BROKEN BY MEREDITH

James E. (Ted) Meredith, wearing the Meadow Brook A. A. of Philadelphia colors, won the 500-yard invitation run and incidentally shattered the indoor record at the athletic carnival held jointly by the Prudential and Metropolitan A. A. at the First Regiment Armory, Newark, last night. He stepped the distance in one minute flat, shattering the old figures, which were held by Melvin Sheppard, by a second. There were five contestants. Hal Heiland, of the Xavier A. A., led up to the last 200 yards, when Meredith forged ahead and won easily by seven yards. Hugh Huhson, of the Irish-American A. A., just nosed out Heiland for second place.

J. H. Graham, of the Prudential, who won a place in the Parker Field meet July 4, was first in the 75-yard dash.

W. F. Kelly, of the Prudential, who also won prizes in the big meet, New Jersey State champion, was the fleetest in the half-mile run.

EUGENE LIDGATE WILL PLAY BASKETBALL WITH CO. F

Eugene Lidgate, of Fanwood, who is well-known in this vicinity as a baseball and basketball player, has signed up with the Company F five, of Elizabeth, and will have a regular berth on that team all season. "Liddy" is one of the best basketball players that the Plainfield High School ever turned out and, although his position is center he can play either forward or guard.

The Company F aggregation has booked some fast teams this year, among them being several colleges. One of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A.'s rivals, the New York University Law School team, appears on the Elizabeth schedule, and Penn. and Yale varsity teams will also appear in Betsytown. The schedule follows:

Nov. 7—St. John's Five.
Nov. 14—Bellevue Medical School.
Nov. 21—Manhattan College.
Nov. 28—New York University Law School.
Dec. 12—Fordham University.
Dec. 19—71st Regiment, N. Y.
Dec. 26—Niagara University (pending).
Jan. 2—Toronto University.
Jan. 9—University of Pennsylvania.
Jan. 16—Princeton Elm Club, Princeton University.
Jan. 23—Seton Hall College.
Jan. 30—Lehigh University.
Feb. 6—Union Medical School.
Fev. 13 — Swarthmore College (pending).
Feb. 20—Yale University.
Feb. 24—Seton Hall at South Orange.

Pittsburgh will have a commission to govern boxing.

N. P. H. S.-Y. M. C. A. THANKSGIVING DAY

Match Likely to Be Played on Association Court Next Thursday Night.

Although the game has not yet been settled upon, the Y. M. C. A. basketball team will probably meet the North Plainfield High School quintet on the Y. M. C. A. court Thanksgiving night and the borough team will no doubt prove to be a fine holiday attraction. The North Plainfield team has not played a game this year, but the members of the squad have been practising hard for the past three weeks and are in fine condition.

The association players have taken part in two games so far and have lost them both. This team is handicapped greatly because it can only practice one night a week and that is where the "Canucks" will have it on their city opponents, as they are in far better form. Last year these two aggregations came together in the first game of the season and the boroughites put up a strong game although they were finally forced to admit defeat. The school schedule does not start for several weeks and this game will be fine practice for them.

IROQUOIS STILL HAVE A HOLD ON FIRST PLACE

The Iroquois basketball team, of the Indian League of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Department, continued to win yesterday, when it defeated the Wawayanda team and maintained a hold on first place in the standings without a single defeat. The score was 5 to 2, and the other game, between the Omaha and Sioux, resulted in a victory for the latter, the score being 16 to 0.

Smith did the best work of the day, scoring six baskets for his team, while Henry made all the points for his team.

JENNINGS MAY GO TO M'GRAW'S CLAN

Rutgers College Pitcher Offered Contract in Two Ways by That Manager.

Harry Jennings, the Rutgers College star pitcher, is being trailed by John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and has already had two propositions offered him. Though McGraw has nearly a score of pitchers under reserve now he is not overlooking anything of promise and thinks that Jennings has the goods of a big league twirler.

McGraw has made the Rutgers boy a good offer to quit that institution and to report to Marlin Springs next spring when the team goes there for practice, and he has also offered to take Jennings on after the college closes next summer should he wish to continue his education until he graduates in June. Jennings earned a reputation as a pitcher on the Hartford High School nine and since he has been on the Rutgers pitching staff has pitched two no-hit and one one-hit contest. He has appeared here many times and last season pitched two of the city series for the Pets against Saurer.

PLAINFIELD EXHIBITORS.

Several Plainfielders have birds on exhibition at the Somerville poultry show that is now being held at that place. W. C. Trembath, of the borough, has a pen of campines and C. B. Smith is exhibiting the same variety. There is a White Leghorn show from the Endicott Farms and Frank McInerney and William Briggs have Rhode Island Reds in the exhibit.

FIRST BILLIARD MATCH.

Jack Cregar took the lead in the billiard tournament for the championship of Plainfield, at Conway's parlors, last night, when he defeated George Miller in the first game of the tourney. The score of the first game was 100 to 79. This pair will play two more games later and if Miller loses all he will be out of the running. Tonight R. DeCamp and M. Gilman will be the contestants.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS.

A hunting party composed of George Hooley, "Sun" Claasen, Chris Lambertson and Sam Caliph, motored to Monmouth county, yesterday, and hunted in the vicinity of Middletown. Inside of three hours they bagged twenty rabbits and several game birds. They report rabbits in that part of the State to be unusually plentiful.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 9, 1914.

AN ORDINANCE

To Establish, Regulate and Control the Fire Department of the City of Plainfield, (Revision of 1914).

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1. The Fire Department force shall consist of the officers and permanent firemen now members of the present Fire Department of said City and of such additional officers and men as the Common Council shall from time to time deem necessary and by resolution order to be appointed. The members of the force shall rank as follows: Chief, Assistant Chief, Captains, Privates. Whenever two or more officers have the same title, they shall rank in relation to each other in the order of the respective dates of appointment to their offices.

Sec. 2. The duties of the several officers and members of the said force shall be those prescribed by the laws of the State, the ordinances of the City and the Fire Department rules and regulations now in force, or such as may from time to time be prescribed and established by resolution of the Common Council.

Every member of said force shall perform such duties as may from time to time be assigned to him by his authorized superior officer.

Sec. 3. Members of the force other than officers shall be divided into five classes according to their respective terms of service, as follows:

Class A.—Fifth year of service and over.
Class B.—Fourth year of service.
Class C.—Third year of service.
Class D.—Second year of service.
Class E.—First year of service.

Provided, that the Common Council, upon recommendation of the Mayor, may advance any regular member of the force from a lower to a higher class for especially good work or meritorious service, whether he shall have served his full time specified above or not.

Sec. 4. The pay of the force is hereby fixed as follows said rates to take effect on and after January first Nineteen hundred and Fifteen:

Chief	$1800 per annum
Assistant Chief	1,350 per annum
Captains	1,300 per annum
Class A	1,100 per annum
Class B	1,060 per annum
Class C	1,024 per annum
Class D	964 per annum
Class E	892 per annum

Sec. 5. Subject to the ultimate control of the Common Council, the Chief shall have authority to station officers and privates belonging to the force at such Fire Houses of the City as he may deem proper, and also to detail such officers and men to such duty in connection with the Department as he shall deem for the best interest of the department, and he may change any such station or revoke any such detail at his discretion.

Sec. 6. The Chief and Assistant Chief shall constitute and be called the "Board of Engineers." They shall make such rules and regulations for conducting the Department, not inconsistent with the laws of the State or ordinances of the City, as they may deem advisable, subject to approval by the Common Council.

Sec. 7. All officers and privates, except those now serving in the Department, shall be nominated by the Mayor and confirmed by the Council, in the same manner as other City officers, and they, after confirmation, as well as the officers and men now serving, shall hold their offices and continue in service as such during good behavior, efficiency and residence in the City, and shall not be removed from office or employment for political reasons or any other cause than incapacity, mis-conduct, non-residence, or disobedience of just rules and regulations which are or may be established for the government of the Department.

Persons to be eligible to membership in the Department must be citizens of the United States, of good moral character and able to read and write the English language. They must be in good health, sound in body and mind, and capable of performing the duties required of them; they must present the certificate of the City Physician that they are physically capable of performing the duties required of them. They must be nominated by the Mayor, recommended by the Board of Engineers and confirmed by the Common Council, and before entering upon their duties as members of the Department, they shall sign an agreement, to be deposited with the Chief that they will abide by and conform to the ordinances of the City and such rules governing the Fire Department as have been or may be approved by the Common Council. All applications for membership shall be made in the handwriting of the applicant, who shall present the same in person to the Mayor, the Committee on Fire and Buildings or the Board of Engineers.

Sec. 8. Any applicant or applicants for membership in said Department may be required, by resolution of the Common Council, to submit himself to trial at active fire duty under service conditions for a period not exceeding six months. Such service shall be regarded as part of an examination as to the qualifications of the applicant. But no such service shall be deemed to entitle such applicant to membership in said Department nor to continue such trial after proper notice to discontinue the same. During the continuance of such trial the applicant shall be entitled to be paid at the rate of Sixty ($60.00) Dollars per month. When any applicant is nominated, recommended and confirmed as a member of the Department after such trial service, the period covered by such trial service shall be deemed and counted, for the purposes of classification only, as service in Class E, and he shall be entitled to pass into Class D at the expiration of one year from the date when his trial service began. But he shall be entitled to the pay provided for Class E members only from the time of his confirmation by the Council.

Sec. 9. In the Department the day shall commence at eight o'clock in the forenoon, and no leave of absence shall begin before that time. Every member of the Department shall devote all his time to the duties of his office, and even when absent on leave shall be subject to immediate recall by the Chief or Acting Chief.

Sec. 10. The Common Council shall from time to time establish such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with the laws of the State, or the Ordinances of the City, for the government and control of the Fire Department as may be necessary to make the Fire Department efficient, prompt and useful, and may provide therein such penalties or forfeitures as may be deemed necessary or expedient. These rules shall be established by Common Council by the passage of a resolution or resolutions embodying the same, and when so established shall be binding upon all the officers and members of the Fire Department. Printed copies of such rules shall be supplied by Common Council and delivery of at least one copy thereof shall be made to each officer and member of the Fire Department. Such delivery shall be deemed conclusive of the making and contents thereof.

Sec. 11. No persons shall, during a fire, drive a wagon, cart or other vehicle over any hose or other fire apparatus under penalty of Ten Dollars for each offense.

Sec. 12. No person shall hinder or molest or attempt to do any violence to any officer or member of the Fire Department while in the performance of his duty, under penalty of Twenty Dollars for each offense.

Sec. 13. No person or persons shall raise, create or continue a false alarm of fire under penalty of Twenty Dollars for each offense.

Sec. 14. The Chief shall be the Fire Marshal and Fire Inspector of the City of Plainfield, and shall perform such duties as shall devolve upon him as such by the laws of the State, and the ordinances of the City of Plainfield. He shall keep an accurate record of the names of the officers and members of the Department and all appointments and transfers, resignations and removals of firemen as the same shall take place from time to time, and such other particulars as may be necessary and proper. He shall have sole and [illegible] command at fires and alarms, and over all members of the Department, apparatus and appurtenances belonging to the same, and all other persons [illegible] ling and assisting the Department. In addition to performing his duties as Building Inspector he shall devote his whole time to the service of the Department, and shall report the condition of the Department to the Committee on Fire and Buildings as often as they shall request. He shall order officers, men and apparatus out to work, wash, drill or for inspection, at such time and place as he may designate, and whenever he may deem it necessary for the efficiency of the Department. In the absence or disability of the Chief, the Assistant Chief, and in the absence of both the Chief and Assistant Chief, the ranking captain shall assume command and perform the duties of the Chief, and in such case shall be known and designated as "Acting Chief."

Sec. 15. The Chief or Acting Chief shall be responsible for the property of the Department. He shall see that all engines, motors, hose wagons, trucks, hose and horses, and all other apparatus and property belonging to the Department are kept constantly in order for immediate and efficient service, and shall report immediately any repairs that may be necessary to the property in his charge to the Committee on Fire and Buildings.

Sec. 16. Upon going to or returning from an alarm of fire, in no case shall persons not connected with the Department be allowed to ride on any apparatus of the Department.

Sec. 17. All complaints to the Chief, or Assistant Chief, against any member of the Department for mis-conduct or neglect in the performance of his duty, shall be forthwith reported to the Committee on Fire and Buildings. All complaints made by citizens or persons of good repute to the Mayor or any member of the Common Council against any member of the Fire Department for mis-conduct or neglect in the performance of his duty, shall be forthwith reported to the Committee on Fire and Buildings.

Sec. 18. No intoxicating beverage of any description whatsoever shall be allowed on the premises of the Fire Department. Any member of the Fire Department may, for intoxication, be deprived of his badge and suspended for or dismissed, at the option of the Common Council.

Sec. 19. No person or persons except officers and members of the Department shall at any time enter any of the houses of the Department, except the Mayor of the City, members of the Common Council, visitors accompanied by a member of the Fire Department, or any police officer in the proper discharge of his duty, and no boys shall be permitted in any house of the Department, or to have any access whatever to the apparatus in going to or returning from fires or alarms. The members are hereby enjoined to enforce the provisions of this section. No bills for expenses incurred for the Fire Department shall be presented to the Council until the same shall have been certified by the Chief as correct.

Sec. 20. Any member of the Department who shall violate any section of this ordinance or any rule or regulation made pursuant to the authority of this ordinance shall be liable to reprimand, fine, suspension without pay, or dismissal from the Department, at the discretion of the Common Council.

Sec. 21. The office of "Call Men" is hereby abolished.

Sec. 22. The ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance to Establish, Regulate and Control a Fire Department in the City of Plainfield," approved May 6, 1899, and all amendments thereto are hereby repealed, and all other ordinances or parts thereof inconsistent with this Ordinance are, so far as inconsistent herewith, repealed.

Sec. 23. This ordinance shall take effect on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifteen, at eight o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Widen East Second Street from the northeasterly side line of Watchung Avenue to the southwesterly side line of Church Street," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at 8 o'clock p. m., on Monday, the seventh day of December, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.
JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., November 9, 1914.

AN ORDINANCE

To Widen East Second Street from the Northeasterly Side Line of Watchung Avenue to the Southwesterly Side Line of Church Street.

WHEREAS, The Common Council judge that the public good requires the widening of East Second Street between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That East Second Street, in the City of Plainfield, from the northeasterly side line of Watchung Avenue to the southwesterly side line of Church Street, be widened and laid out so that said East Second Street shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof as established by this ordinance, which said centre line is described as follows: Beginning at an iron manhole head, marked in the centre line of Watchung Avenue, said point being distant four and seventy-four hundredths (4.74) feet in a southeasterly direction along said centre line of Watchung Avenue from an iron monument in the intersection of the centre lines of said Watchung Avenue and East Second Street as at present laid out and opened; and running from said first mentioned point in a northeasterly direction a distance of three hundred and ninety-four and two tenths (394.2) feet to an iron monument in the intersection of the centre lines of Church and East Second Streets as now laid out and opened.

The land to be taken for the widening of said East Second Street on the northwesterly side of the same from the northeasterly side line of Watchung Avenue to the southwesterly side line of Church Street, includes all that part of the property now or formerly of The Home Real Estate Company, William A. Woodruff, Charles M. Raybert and John H. Borman, which lies between the present northwesterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street as established by this ordinance and distant therefrom twenty-five (25) feet in a northwesterly direction.

The land to be taken for the widening of said East Second Street on the southeasterly side of the same from the northeasterly side line of Watchung Avenue to the southwesterly side line of Church Street, includes all that part of the property now or formerly of The United States of America, The Plainfield Milk and Cream Company, The Trustees of the Rahway and Plainfield Monthly Meeting of Friends and Joseph C. Allen, which lies between the present southeasterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened and a line parallel with the centre line of said street as established by this ordinance, and distant therefrom twenty-five (25) feet in a southeasterly direction.

The land to be taken and the lines of the above described portion of East Second Street, as the same is hereinabove ordered to be widened, are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled "Map Showing proposed laying out and widening of East Second Street, from Watchung Avenue to a point 225 feet northeast of the centre of Washington Street, June, 1914."

Corporation Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 9, 1914.

A further amendment to an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to License Inns and Taverns and to Regulate and Prohibit the Sale of Spirituous and Fermented Liquors," approved February 19, 1892, and amended by several ordinances approved respectively April 7, 1894, July 12, 1898, February 7, 1901, November 17, 1904, September 5, 1905, and May 3, 1909.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Section Twenty-seven of the amended ordinance, the title whereof is recited in the title of this ordinance, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Sec. 27. That in order to enable the Common Council more effectively to regulate the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors within said city as they deem most conducive to the public good, the place in which any applicant for license to sell spirituous and fermented liquors, or for licenses to sell spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors, under any of the preceding sections of this ordinance proposes to carry on his business under such license, is hereby required to be accurately set forth in the application for such license, and to be within the territory comprised within the following boundary lines, to wit:

Beginning at a point in the city line at Green Brook distant one hundred and fifty (150) feet northeasterly from the centre line of Watchung Avenue; thence running southwesterly along said city line to the centre line of Grove Street; thence southeasterly along the centre line of Grove Street to the centre line of West Front Street, thence southwesterly along the centre line of West Front Street to a point distant one hundred and fifty (150) feet southwesterly from the centre line of Central Avenue, then southeasterly in a course drawn parallel with the centre line of Central Avenue distant one hundred and fifty (150) feet southwesterly therefrom to the tracks of the main stem of the Central Railroad of New Jersey as the same now lies; thence northeasterly along said tracks to a point on said tracks distant one hundred and fifty (150) feet southwesterly from the centre line of Park Avenue; thence southeasterly in a course drawn parallel with the centre line of Park Avenue and distant one hundred and fifty (150) feet southwesterly therefrom to a point in said course and the production thereof distant one hundred and fifty (150) feet northeasterly from the centre line of Watchung Avenue; thence northwesterly in a straight line to the point of beginning.

PROVIDED, nevertheless, that the foregoing provisions of this section shall not prevent the granting of any renewal of any license lawfully in force at the time this section takes effect.

ANNOUNCE JUNIOR ELKS TEAM FOR TOMORROW

Captain Stout, of the local Elks Junior League bowling team, announced the lineup of the team this morning as follows: Charles Woolston, Walter Vail, J. E. Waldorf, Edward A. Laing and C. F. Stout.

This lineup may not be permanent particularly as to Vail and Laing. These men have been rolling on the senior league team, but have shown a fine spirit in offering to assist Captain Stout in the initial contest at Jersey City tomorrow night.

The senior league team has used seven men thus far this year, the extra men being called upon because of the injury sustained by Blatz and the inability of Kiely to roll Tuesday night. Both Kiely and Blatz will be back in the lineup next week, which will make it necessary to lay off at least one man who is considered as a regular. As the bowling committee and Captain Nash, of the senior team, were not ready to announce their plans, and Captain Stout was set on getting for the junior team, the regular to be laid off by the seniors, in order that his services might not be lost to the locals altogether, the happy solution of rolling both Laing and Vail at Jersey City was hit upon.

Having rolled only three games in the senior league since the junior league was launched, both men are eligible to compete in the junior league, while their rolling tomorrow night will in no way effect them as to rolling with the senior league team in future contests.

The team will leave Plainfield on the 6:19 train.

LOCAL FOOTBALL FANS WILL SEE GREAT GAME

Plainfield will be represented at New Haven at the Yale-Harvard football game by some ardent Yale supporters. A party will make the trip in Herbert Johnson's automobile and those in the party will be Charles Lee, Joseph Carty, Herbert Johnson, Edward Bremble and Jack Bremble. The party will start from this city at 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

STINE WILL PLAY AGAINST ARMY TEAM NEXT SATURDAY

Herbert Stine, of the borough, will play in the game for the Springfield Training School team against the Army at West Point, Saturday afternoon. Stine has been out of the game for some time, but has recovered and will play guard.

Some of his friends in this city expect to take the trip and see the team play. There will be a special train from New York. The other local boys, George Townley and Donald Sminck, will probably take the trip from Springfield with the team.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Kentucky Democratic vote fell off 35 per cent. from 1912 figures.

The suffrage cause has been won by women in eleven States; and they're still busy.

The Lame Duck Brigade can be seen most any day next month in the national capital.

Hammond's election in Minnesota was a surprise to the Republicans, who blame the prohibition question.

The rivers and harbors appropriation bill will be lean picking when it is finally dratted. Pork barrels are growing unpopular.

Colonel Roosevelt enjoys the sally that he's doomed to be known in future as Nick Longworth's father-in-law.

Peter Goelet Gerry, son of Elbridge T., retires from Congress, despite the great campaign waged by Mrs. Gerry.

Reduction of appropriations is said to be on the Wilson program for the next two years.

Warren G. Harding, the new Senator from Ohio, tells how he was "fired" while a reporter for boosting Blaine in a Democratic paper.

Redfield may head the new Federal Trade Commission, is the rumor in Washington. Another vacancy in the cabinet, and it's available to a lame duck.

The joker in the Underwood Tariff Bill is the five per cent. discount clause. The Democrats concede the humor and difficulty in the provision.

Presidential timber talk is heard in all Republican camps. Ohio offers Burton, Willis, Harding or Herrick; New York points to Root, Whitman and Wadsworth; Pennsylvania boasts of her Brumbaugh as a vote-getter.

PRACTICAL WAY TO KILL CHICKENS

Expert Gives Demonstration at Meeting of Local Poultry Association.

EXPLAINS METHODS

Prof. Victor Aubrey Gives Interesting* Talk On Conditioning Fowls For Show Purposes—Miss Pomeroy and William Briggs Elected Members.

Practical demonstrations of killing and dressing poultry were the feature of the monthly meeting of the Plainfield Poultry Association held in Coward's Hall, last night. Many visitors, besides the members, attended to learn the best ways to kill and pick chickens. The demonstration was preceded by a business session, at which W. H. Taverner, president of the association, presided. Two members were elected, Miss Florence Pomeroy, of Scotch Plains, and William Briggs, of this city breeder of Rhode Island Reds.

After the business had been adjourned Mr. Taverner introduced Prof. Victor Aubrey, a graduate of Storr's College in Connecticut, and at present at the New Jersey Experimental Station at New Brunswick. The speaker outlined the work that was to follow and told of the various ways of killing a chicken, such as chopping it's head off, wringing the neck, bleeding, braining and other ways. He stated that the first two ways were not as good as the others as it did not leave such a good carcass and that the bird was not so clean after such a killing as bleeding it in the proper way.

Prof. Aubrey told of the proper way to bleed a chicken and also stated that if not careful the knife would not hit the right arteries and would not make the fowl bleed properly, and the chicken would not be at its best. He told how a chicken has control of the fathers of the back and that if certain arteries are cut this power relaxes and the feathers can be plucked from the bird with ease. The dry picking is far better than wet picking, he said. The speaker then introduced Mr. Mosher, of the Wilburtha Farms, Trenton Junction, which are owned by former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of this city. The audience gathered around Mr. Mosher and he killed about a dozen chickens and dressed them with great rapidity. He showed the best ways to kill, handle and pick the bird, and then answered all question that were put to him. He killed and dressed a bird in one minute and a half, but his record is thirty seconds. Mr. Mosher has been in this business for over thirty years and surely knows his business, as he demonstrated last night.

After the demonstration, Prof. Aubrey again took the floor and gave a lecture on "Conditioning Birds for the Show-room." The lecture was very interesting throughout. He told of the various ways and cautions to take with prize birds in keeping them in condition. He told of the treatment of birds to keep their feathers from turning and other matters of importance concerning them. The demonstration was under the direction of D. C. Keyler, of Wilburtha Farms.

PLANS FOR ANNUAL POULTRY EXHIBIT

Show Will Be Held at Columbus Auditorium December 28-31 and January 1-2.

The annual exhibition of the New Jersey Poultry Association will be held here December 28 to 31 and January 1 and 2 in Columbus Club, West Front street. Elaborate preparations are being made by the committee and the premium list, which has been arranged, is considered the best ever. There will be more money prizes than before, including a $200 donation by former Mayor Charles J. Fisk. Other donations have been received and the list of prizes is a fine one.

The premium list will be announced in a few days. There are fourteen men on the show committee, of which George W. Endicott is chairman, and W. J. Trembath, secretary and treasurer. W. F. Isenmann has been chosen superintendent. The remainder of the committee consists of W. H. Taverner, president of the local association; Charles J. Fisk, Rufus Delafield, R. H. Armstrong, T. H. Whitney, Frank Legge, Frank McInerney, Thomas Lindsay, William Briggs, Frederic Thomas and Morris Mendelsohn.

Three of the best judges obtainable have been secured in Henry P. Schorb, Irondequoit, N. Y.; Reese V. Hicks, Browns Mills, N. Y., and Louis Paul Graham, Vineland.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side, headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

CHAPTER II.

The Meeting.

IT was interesting to see how they took the proposal to drop that Christmas from the calendar there in Old Trail Town. It was so eminently a sensible thing to do, and they all knew it. Oh, every way they looked at it, it was sensible, and they admitted it. Yet, besides Mary Chavah and Ebenezer Rule, probably the only person in the town whose satisfaction in the project could be counted on to be unfeigned was little Tab Winslow. For Tab, as all the town knew, had a turkey brought up by his own hand to be the Winslows' Christmas dinner, but such had become Tab's intimacy with and fondness for the turkey that he was prepared to forego his Christmas if only that dinner were foregone, too.

"Theophilus Thistledown is such a human turkey," Tab had been heard explaining patiently; "he knows me—and he knows his name. He don't expect us to eat him—why, you can't eat anything that knows its name."

But every one else was just merely sensible. And they had been discussing Christmas in this sensible strain at the town meeting that night, before Simeon and Abel broached their plan for standardizing their sensible leanings.

Somebody had said that Jenny Wing and Bruce Rule, who was Ebenezer's nephew, were expected home for Christmas and had added that it "didn't look as if there would be much of any Christmas down to the station to meet them." On which Mis' Mortimer Bates had spoken out, philosophical to the point of brutality. Mis' Bates was little and brown and quick, and her clothes seemed always to curtain her off, so that her figure was no part of her presence.

"I ain't going to do a thing for Christmas this year," she declared, as nearly everybody in the village had intermittently declared—"not a living, breathing thing. I can't, and folks might just as well know it, flat foot. What's the use of buying tinsel and flimflam when you're eating milk gravy to save butter and using salt sacks for handkerchiefs? I ain't educated up to see it."

Mis' Jane Moran, who had changed her chair three times to avoid a draft, sat down carefully in her fourth chair, her face twitching a little as if its muscles were connected with her joints.

"Christmas won't be no different from any other day to our house this year," she said. "We'll get up and eat our three meals and sit down and look at each other. We can't even spare a hen—she might lay if we didn't eat her."

Mis' Abby Winslow, mother of seven under fifteen, looked up from her rocking chair—Mis' Winslow always sat limp in chairs as if they were reaching out to rest her, and indeed this occasional yielding to the force of gravity was almost her only luxury.

"You ain't thinking of the children, Mis' Bates," she said, "nor you either, Jane Moran, or you couldn't talk that way. We can't have no real Christmas, of course. But I'd planned some little things made out of what I had in the house—things that wouldn't be anything and yet would seem a little something."

Mis' Mortimer Bates swept round at her.

"Children," she said, "ought to be showed how to do without things. Bennet and Gussie ain't expecting a sliver of nothing for Christmas—not a sliver."

Mis' Winslow unexpectedly flared up.

"Whether it shows through on the outside or not," she said, "I'll bet you they are."

"My three," Mis' Emerson Morse put in pacifically, "have been kept from popping corn and cracking nuts all fall so's they could do both Christmas night, and it would seem like something that was something."

"That ain't the idea," Mis' Bates insisted; "I want them learnt to do without"— ("They'll learn that," Mis' Abby Winslow said; "they'll learn.") "Happening as it does to most every one of us to have no Christmas, they won't be no distinctions drawn. None of the children can brag—and children is limbs of Satan for bragging," she added. She was remembering a brief conversation overheard that day between Gussie and Pep, the minister's son:

"I've got a doll," said Gussie.

"I've got a dollar," said Pep.

"My mamma went to a tea party," said Gussie.

"My mamma give one," said Pep.

Gussie mustered her forces. "My papa goes to work every morning," she topped it.

"My papa don't have to," said Pep, and closed the incident.

"I can't help who's a limb of Satan," Mis' Winslow replied doggedly. "I can't seem to sense Christmas time without Christmas."

"It won't be Christmas time if you don't have any Christmas," Mis' Bates persisted.

"Oh, yes it will," Mis' Winslow said. "Oh, yes it will. You can't stop that."

It was Mis' Bates, who, from the high backed plush rocker, rapped with the blue glass paper weight on the red glass lamp and, in the absence of Mr. Bates, called the meeting to order. The Old Trail Town society was organized on a platform of "membership unlimited, dues nothing but taking turns with the entertaining, officers to consist of, president, the host of the evening (or wife, if any), and no minutes to bother with." And it was to a meeting so disposed on the subject of Christmas that Simeon Buck rose to present his argument.

"Mr. President," he addressed the chair.

"It's Mme. President, you 'ninny geese," corrected Buff Miles, sotto voce.

"It had ought to be Mme. Chairman," objected Mis' Moran. "She ain't the continuous president."

"Well, for the land sakes, call me Mis' Bates, formal, and go ahead," said the lady under discussion. "Only I bet you've forgot now what you was going to say."

"Not much I did not," Simeon Buck continued composedly, and, ignoring the interruptions, let his own vocative stand. Then he presented a memorandum of a sum of money. It was not a large sum. But when he quoted it, everybody looked at everybody else, stricken. For it was a sum large enough to have required, in the earning, months of work on the part of an appalling proportion of Old Trail Town.

"From the day after Thanksgiving to the night before Christmas last year," said Simeon, "that is the amount that the 300 souls—no, I guess it must have been bodies—in our town spent in the local stores. Now, bare living expenses aside—which ain't very much for us all, these days—this amount may be assumed to have been spent by the lot of us for Christmas. Of course there was those," continued Mr. Buck, looking intelligently about him, "who bought most of their Christmas stuff in the city. But these—these economic traitors only make the point of what I say the more so. Without them, the town spent this truly amazing sum in keeping the holidays. Now, I ask you, frank, could the town afford that, or anything like that?"

Buff Miles spoke out of the extremity of his reflections.

"That's a funny crack," he said, "for a merchant to make. Why not leave 'em spend and leave 'em pay?"

"Oh, I'll leave 'em pay all right," rejoined Simeon, significantly, and stood silent and smiling until there were those in the room who uncomfortably shifted.

Then he told them the word he bore from Ebenezer Rule that as they had feared and half expected, the factory was not to open that winter at all. Hardly a family represented in the rooms was not also representative of a factory employee, now idle these seven months, as they were periodically idle at the times of "enforced" suspension of the work.

"What I'm getting at is this," Simeon summed it up, "and Abel Ames here backs me up—don't you, Abel?—that hadn't we all ought to come to some joint conclusion about our Christmas this year and roust the town up to it, like a town, and not go it blind and either get in up to our necks in debt, same as city folks, or else quit off Christmas, individual, and mebbe hurt folks' feelings? Why not move intelligent, like a town, and all agree out and out to leave Christmas go by this year? And have it understood thorough?"

It was very still in the little rooms when he had finished. There seems to be no established etiquette of revolutions. But something of the unconsciousness of the enthusiast was upon Mis' Mortimer Bates, and she spoke before she knew:

"So's we can be sure everybody else'll know it and not give something either and be disappointed too," she assented. "Well, I'll bet everybody'd be real relieved."

"The churches has sanctioned us doing away with Christmas this year by doing away with it themselves," observed Mis' Jane Moran. "That'd ought to be enough to go by."

"It don't seem to me Christmas is a thing for the churches to decide about," said Simeon, thoughtfully. "It seems to me the matter is up to the merchants and grocers and the family providers. We're the ones most concerned. Us providers have got to scratch gravel to get together any Christmas at all, if any. And speaking for us merchants, I may say we'll lay in the stock if folks'll buy it. But if they can't afford to pay for it we don't want the stock personally."

"I guess we've all had the experience," observed Mis' Jane Moran, "of announcing we wasn't going to give any gifts this year and then had somebody send something embroidered by hand, with a solid month's work on it. But if we all agree to secede from Christmas we can lay down the law to folks so's it'll be understood: No Christmas for nobody."

"Not to children?" said Mis' Abby Winslow doubtfully.

"My idea is to teach 'em to do entirely without Christmas," harped Mis' Bates. "We can't afford one. Why not let the children share in the family privation without trying to fool 'em with makeshift presents and boiled sugar?"

Over in a corner near the window plants, whose dead leaves she had been picking off, sat Ellen Bourne—Mis' Matthew Bourne she was, but nearly everybody called her Ellen Bourne. There is some law about these things—why instinctively we call some folk by the whole name, some by their first names, some by the last, some by shortening the name, some by a name not their own. Perhaps there is a name for each of us if only we knew where to look, and folk intuitively select the one most like that. Perhaps some of us, by the sort of miracle that is growing every day, got the name that is meant for us. Perhaps some of us struggle along with consonants that spell somebody else. And how did some names get themselves so terrifically overused unless by some strange might, say, a kind of astrological irregularity. Ellen Bourne sat by the window and suddenly looked over her shoulder at the room.

Over In a Corner Near the Window Plants Sat Ellen Bourne.

"If we've got the things made," she said, "can't we give 'em? If it's to children?"

"I think if we're going to omit we'd ought to omit," Mis' Bates held her own; "it can't matter to you, Ellen, with no children, so"— She caught herself sharply up. Ellen's little boy had died a Christmas or two ago.

"No," Ellen said, "I am't any children, of course. But"—

"Well, I think," said Mis' Jane Moran, "that we've hit on the only way we could have hit on to chirk each other up over a hard time."

"And get off delicate ourselves same time," said Buff Miles. From the first Buff had been advocating what he called "an open Christmas," and there were those near him at the meeting to whom he had confided some plan about "church choir Christmas carol serenades," which he was loathe to see set at naught.

Not much afterward Simeon Buck put the motion:

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Every normal girl is charmed by a new, pretty frock. This one is made with a straight skirt that can be either plaited by machine or gathered so that it is one of the simplest things in the world to make.

The apron drapery is distinctly new, and it forms becoming sash ends at the back.

The bodice portion is charmingly youthful in effect and consists of a plain blouse on which the net chemisette portions and shoulder draperies are arranged.

For the medium size will be needed five and one-half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide for the plaited skirt, one and one-eighth yards twenty-seven inches for the foundation blouse, with one-half yard net for the chemisette portions and two and one-half yards twenty-seven inches for the apron and shoulder draperies.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for misses sixteen and eighteen years and small women. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8119, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

GEORGIAN HANGS TOMORROW.

Ocilla, Ga., Nov. 19—Charles Graham, white, convicted of the murder of Lawrence Newbern, chief of police of Broxton, Ga., in a gun battle last March, is to be executed tomorrow by hanging. He was sentenced October 22 by Judge Walter F. George. At the time of the shooting, Graham's brother was also accidentally shot.

Household Hints

SAVING STEPS FOR MOTHER

Teach each member of the family to turn their colored or black hose inside out before putting in laundry. They can be washed without straining or preparing special water, as no lint remains on the outside and it saves mother from turning a bunch of stockings on wash day.

Have a laundry bag for each member of the family, requesting each to put all soiled laundry in its place and not leave around for mother to pick up.

Teach the children to turn their bedding back upon arising in the morning, to put all their things away and leave the dressing table tidy. At noon they can make up the bed and the room is neat.

Take a small table, put casters on and nail some little strips around the top, to prevent dishes slipping off, and allow the children to clear the dining table. Stack the dishes on this wheel table and push it to the kitchen. They will think it fun.

Where the family is large, use paper towels.

No matter if a child is small, it can be taught to hang up its own garments, on low hooks provided for it, and it can also help to keep the house clean, by just a little training.

Among their toys, don't forget to give them a fly swatter, and as soon as they are large enough, teach them to swat every fly they see.

THE TABLE

New Salmon Dish—Take one can salmon, pick out all bones, retaining the liquid; beat five or six eggs (according to number to be served), add salt and pepper, mix eggs and salmon together, one-fourth cup of sweet cream (milk will do). Have a good-sized lump of butter in frying pan. When hot turn in salmon and eggs, stir till it is set and flaky, place on platter garnished with parsley. An onion chopped fine makes a pleasing change for this dish.

Quick Noodles—Break an egg into a bowl; don't beat; stir in as much flour as you can and drop a little at a time in the boiling soup, then simmer or put in fireless cooker about thirty minutes. A fine thickening for soups, if not cooked too fast. The little noodles are very light and tasty.

Orange Salad—Cut oranges in half, remove pulp and cut in small slices, mixed with white grapes cut in halves and seeded and a few nut meats. Fill orange shells with mixture and serve with dressing.

Economical Cookies — Two cups granulated sugar, one cup lard or shortening, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon baking soda dissolved in hot water, one cup finely cut raisins, grated rind of one lemon, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Stiffen with flour so that dough may be easily rolled out. Cut with cookie cutter. Bake in moderate hot oven until light brown.

Cheap Dark Cake—One cup brown sugar, one tablespoon (heaping) of lard, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, a little nutmeg, pinch of allspice, a little salt; mix, then add one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda. Bake in slow oven.

Chocolate Icing—Take about fifteen chocolate drops. Set in oven and, when melted, stir well, then add one tablespoon hot water, after which it is ready for the cake.

Steam Pudding—One egg, one cup molasses, one and one-half cups flour, one cup boiling water, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon each of ginger and cinnamon. Sauce: One cup pulverized sugar, one-half cup butter; beat very light, then add two eggs and beat until creamy.

NIGHT RAIDERS IN KENTUCKY.

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 19—A reign of terror is spreading over the western part of Kentucky, as a result of the operation of night raiders. A band of fifty masked men has been visiting various homes and whipping many victims, apparently without cause. Among the victims was a wealthy timberman, Frank Hayes, of Rochester. At least one negro has been killed, numbers of whites and negroes have been whipped, and warnings by the wholesale have been left in homes.

SPECIALTY MEN MEET.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19—Specialty manufacturers from many States are in Philadelphia today for the annual convention of the American Specialty Manufacturers' Association, which meets today and tomorrow for the discussion of trade problems.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — What Columbus Did Not Know.

Would Have Looked Like a Bird.

"WELL, kiddies, I'm going to tell you tonight about some of the things that the great Columbus did not know, as brave and bright as he was.

"Daddy, I thought Columbus knew everything," said Jack.

"No; he didn't," replied Daddy. "He knew a heap of things, but he didn't know, for instance, that he had discovered another continent.

"Nor did he know that upon this vast continent would grow up a great nation that would in time become one of the greatest the world has ever known.

"And do you know how many persons live on this continent? Why, there are millions!

"That doesn't mean a thing to you kiddies, because you haven't learned to think in big numbers, but you will one day.

"But there is another wonderful thing about this nation. It wishes to be at peace instead of at war, and Columbus didn't know that.

"Neither did Columbus know about the telephone or the telegraph, nor the cable line that connects us with the countries of the old world.

"Then there are the aeroplanes and the wireless, things that Columbus did not dream of. The moonlight and electric lights, the steam engines that take ships out to sea and across the ocean in five or six days. It took Columbus about ten weeks to cross, you remember. He sailed the 3d of August and landed the 12th of October.

"Then we must talk about the little things he didn't know about—mamma's electric iron that Katy uses in the kitchen to iron clothes with, for instance.

"By turning on a little button and waiting for a few minutes the iron gets hot, but all we can see is the little wire attached.

"When gas is used or a fire is built of wood or coal we see the fire and feel the heat and our eyes show us what the heat comes from, but when electricity is used we see nothing. We only feel the heat, and yet heaps of people say they won't believe what they can't see.

"Wouldn't Columbus have been surprised to have looked up in the sky one day and see what would look like a bird, but when it came nearer and would light upon the ground it would be a man with wings that he had made for himself?

"I think Christopher Columbus' eyes would have opened and stuck out like big glass marbles, don't you, Jack?"

"Yes," said Jack, "but who'd have thought that there were so many things that Columbus didn't know?"

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

More than a year had passed since Angie Porter had come as a bride to the lonesome spot on the prairie where her husband was employed as station agent. It had been a happy year. Lacking many things that help make life pleasant, they had risen above the untoward conditions and achieved a rare comradeship.

They took turns going to town to buy books and delicacies not to be obtained at the station, for Angie could carry on the business at the depot as well as her husband. The summer had been very trying, as almost no rain had fallen. The August heat was intolerable; the drought had parched the prairie till the brown grass was like wire and the leaves of the vine hung limp.

"Angie, will you go to the station? It is nearly train time and I must lie down a little while. I feel sick," said Carl Porter one hot afternoon, coming into the darkened living room and sinking down on the couch.

"Oh! I am so sorry, dear," said his wife, as she hurried away to the office.

When she returned half an hour later he had sunk into a troubled sleep. All night he tossed with a high fever and in the morning was delirious. She went to the office and telegraphed to a doctor who lived in a town forty miles away. He came on the noon train, and his kindly face was troubled as he looked the situation over. He called her out on the porch and sitting down by a table wrote out his directions.

"What ails him? What must I do?" she asked with wide, anxious eyes.

"He has typhoid fever," said the doctor. "I will leave what medicine he needs, but typhoid is more a matter of nursing than medicine. I will write out full directions. You can telegraph two or three times a day and keep me posted. I will come down whenever necessary. Who can you get to help you?"

"There is a fourteen-year-old girl at the grocery store who will come, I think," she answered in a dazed way.

All through the hot September and far into mellow October she watched with feverish anxiety by the bedside. With the help of the operator at the next station she had fitted up a telegraph instrument in the living room, so that part of the work of the station could be conducted near the bedside of the sick man.

The girl and a neighbor woman relieved her watch in the daytime and enabled her to get some rest between trains every day. Everyone tried to ease the wife's heavy burden. The doctor came and stayed night and day during the crisis and brought the patient through. "It's the nursing, little woman," he said as he wrung her hand at parting.

Slowly the patient came back to health and strength. One evening they sat on the porch watching the leaf shadows and white patches of moonlight on the floor.

"Dear little bread winner," he whispered, "how have you ever stood these dreadful weeks doing the work of three people?"

"I am so glad I knew what to do so that I could run the station," the wife replied. "As it is, the doctor's bill will not make a very big hole in our savings. The wife's money has helped out this time," and she stroked the thin hand lovingly.

CHRISTMAS PLAN TO BE REVIVED

Community Santa Claus Will Again Be in Evidence This Year.

TO MEET AT Y. W. C. A.

Officers Call Public Gathering to Discuss Plans For This Year—Treasurer's Report of Work That Has Been Done.

Plans for a Community Santa Claus, similar to the scheme worked out so successfully in Plainfield last year, are under way for 1914. The movement was inaugurated last year by the Federation of Men's Church Clubs and Federation of Men's Bible Classes, and they were materially aided by other societies and individuals, both men and women. Because of the great number of unemployed in the city, it is felt that there will be more demand than ever for such work in Plainfield this year, and as a result a meeting has been called for Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the parlors of the Young Women's Christian Association, at which time organization will be perfected and new officers chosen. It is especially hoped by the Federation officers that women will attend this gathering. The call is sent out by President Richard A. Claybrook and Secretary William H. Murray, M. D.

In order that some idea may be gained of the work being accomplished, the treasurer's report for last year, of the Community Santa Claus movement, is today made public. Each of the cases which was aided was investigated by a committee of five, and found to be worthy. The officers say, in referring to the meeting that "if all of those who contributed to this fund could have seen the joy and happiness made possible by their generosity, of the little ones as well as the others who were in sore need, we know they have been many times repaid."

The report of Treasurer Charles A. Rice is as follows:

Total contributions		$769.50
Expenditures:
Toys	$179.34
Clothing	166.56
Flour	29.72
Coal	84.35
Industrial Home	10.00
Christmas candy	45.25
Christmas, Bonnie Burn	47.95
Cartage	1.56
		$564.73
For Charitable work as approved by Committee in charge of remaining funds distributed to eight families	152.50
		717.23
Balance on hand Plainfield Trust Company		$ 52.27

The above funds were used last Christmas in the homes of about 200 families and reaching about 700 children.

The surplus fund has been partially used during months of this year to aid needy families and these cases have all been carefully looked into by committee and approved as being worthy cases.

You will also understand that there were 30 families furnished with half ton of coal and a sack of 25 pounds of flour to each, which has used up the amount of $717.23.

HOLD ITALIANS FOR GRAND JURY TRIAL

Pair Who Assaulted Main Line Conductor Committed to Await Hearing.

Alleged to have slashed James McGinnis, a conductor on a Main Line trolley car, with a razor, Tony Annatio, an Italian, was held in $500 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning. Alexander Niti, his companion, who is a material witness, was held in $300 bail. The commitment of the two Italians followed a preliminary hearing in the police court, this morning, a number of witnesses put on the stand by the complainant all being certain of their identity of Annatio as the man who did the stabbing and that Niti was his companion.

The incident occurred on the Main Line car going east last Sunday night shortly after 8 o'clock. Annatio is alleged to have said, "Oh, you kiddo," to an American woman who left the trolley at Terrill road, and when the conductor remonstrated with him he became abusive. According to the witnesses, two other Italians, one of whom was Niti, came to their fellow countryman's assistance and loud and profane language ensued.

According to the evidence the men got a strangle hold on the conductor and Annatio is said to have slashed him with a razor, inflicting a slight flesh wound and cutting through his thick uniform and underclothing from shoulder to waist. The third assailant escaped and is said to have set sail for Italy.

The witnesses who testified that they saw Annatio do the stabbing and that his two companions assaulted the conductor were Edward Heath, of Scotch Plains, a passenger; John R. Marsh, of Westfield, a passenger; Gabriel Grollettro, of Scotch Plains, a passenger; William Brarnum, of Saybrooke, a conductor, and Charles C. Hover, of Elizabeth, motorman.

MISS LOUISE JENNINGS DIED WHILE ON A VISIT

The funeral services of Mrs. Louise Jenkins, aged fifty years, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Young, 815 South Second street. Mrs. Jenkins, who was a native of this city, died suddenly Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Young, whom she was visiting. She was a native of this city, but for several years had resided in Philadelphia.

One sister, Mrs. Adam Seader, of the borough, and three brothers, Alexander Ayers, of this city; Edward Ayers, of Dunellen, and Jesse Ayers, of Bound Brook, survive. Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, will officiate at the services. The interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

BAZAAR CLOSES.

The two-day bazaar at the St. Peter's German Lutheran church, under the auspices of the women of the church, came to a close last evening. While the inclement weather interfered considerably with the attendance, a substantial amount was realized from the sale of goods.

TIER PROPERTY BRINGS $40,000

One of the Biggest Real Estate Deals of Recent Years Consummated.

PLANS MANY CHANGES

Adolph Bohren Buys Property Held by William N. Tier for Sixty Years—Will Conduct Up-to-date Ice Cream Business.

One of the biggest real estate deals consummated here in many years was closed yesterday afternoon when the Tier property on East Front street, comprising approximately three acres, was sold by William N. Tier to Adolph Bohren, of Greenbrook road, for a consideration said to be in the neighborhood of $40,000. Mr. Tier has been the owner of the property for sixty odd years and conducted one of the oldest established businesses in Plainfield. He was the first one to make and sell ice cream in this city and had conducted his business on a large scale.

Mr. Bohren, the new owner, intends to continue in the ice cream business at that place. Mr. Tier will remain in his employ and will act as manager of the new firm. His knowledge of the work, gained through a half century's experience, makes him well qualified to take charge of the project.

Included in the sale are the lake, the ice cream pavilion, the ice houses and the Tier estate, comprising several residential buildings on Bank place. It is the intention of the buyer to remodel the present structures and conduct an up-to-date establishment with all of the modern features of this particular line of business.

It is possible that several of the smaller buildings will be razed and in the ground that is available Mr. Bohren will set out a recreation park. The site is especially adaptable to this feature and in the opinion of Mr. Tier the proposed plans will make the business one of the largest and best paying of its kind in this section of the State. Recently the buildings on the premises have depreciated greatly in value and the sale is welcome news to property-owners in the immediate vicinity. It comprises a piece of ground with boundary lines about fifty feet from Watchung avenue to the west, seventy-five feet from Pearl Terrace on the north, runs nearly to Washington street on the east end and a portion of it extends out to East Front street on Bank place.

WILLIAM STITES GRANTED DIVORCE BY CHANCELLOR

Chancellor E. R. Walker, sitting in the Court of Chancery in Trenton, has awarded William H. Stites, of this city, an interlocutory decree of divorce from his wife, Martha J. Stites, of the borough, on the ground of desertion.

Mrs. Stites, before her marriage was Miss Martha Jellig. Counsellor Robert Newton Crane, of this city, appeared as counsel for the petitioner, Mr. Stites.

MANY FEATURES PROMISED FOR HOSPITAL DANCE

The first of the series of dances to be given at the Plainfield High School, Thanksgiving Eve, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, promises to be one of the successful social functions of the season. The committee in charge of the affair has completed all arrangements and many features will combine to make it most enjoyable for the patrons.

Music for the dancing will be furnished by an orchestra and a popular program of the latest dances will be offered. Persons who are interested in the hospital and there are many such in Plainfield, will find this an enjoyable way of contributing something towards its support.

MISS SPINNING'S FUNERAL.

The funeral services of Miss Hattie Spinning, of 999 Leland avenue, aged forty-nine years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Spinning, will be held at Millington, Sunday, at 12:30. The interment will also be made at that place.

DECISION RESERVED IN SOMERVILLE CASE

Counsel for Defense Alleges Suit Was Brought by Insurance Companies.

While cross-examining a witness in the $200,000 damage suit brought by Benjamin Lissberger, of New York, owner of the Somerville Iron Works, of Somerville, against the Somerville Water Company, Robert H. McCarter, counsel for the defense, yesterday afternoon again asserted that the suit was brought by interested fire insurance companies. The suit is on trial in the Newark branch of the United States District Court before Judge Haight and a jury.

The company's plant was destroyed by fire in 1909, and it is alleged by the complainant that the water company failed to supply sufficient water at the plant during the fire. Mr. McCarter's statement was made after he had asked William J. Kirby, manager of the Somerville Iron Works, how much Mr. Lissberger had collected from the insurance companies as a result of the fire. Judge Haight announced that he would rule on the question later.

WEST POINT CHAPLAIN PLEASED MEN'S CLUB

Army Man Punctuated Excellent Remarks With Many Amusing Stories.

H. Percy Silver, chaplain of the West Point Military Academy, was the principal speaker at the beefsteak dinner given by the Men's Club of Grace church, last night, in the parish house. It was one of the most delightful occasions of the kind ever held in the church, being attended by about sixty men. The dinner was excellently served, the feature, of course being individual beeksteaks for each man, and after it was over W. H. P. Veysey, as toastmaster, introduced the speakers.

During the evening, Randall Trumpe sang three solos, and a quartet from the choir, with S. Frederick Smith, the organist, at the piano, sang several selections, in some of which the audience joined. Those in the quartet, aside from Mr. Smith were William Tallamy, E. A. Sprowl and D. Patterson.

Chaplain Silver told his hearers how much more they could do to help along the work of the church in addition to what they are already doing. His remarks were constantly interrupted by gales of laughter by the score or more of new stories which he used to illustrate his points. Many declared that they had never listened to a speaker who seemed to have such an inexhaustible supply of yarns they had never heard before. Chaplain Silver told his hearers that the citizens who elected a man to office, and then sat back and left the official to work out his own salvation was not a good citizen, and that in the same way the churchman who selected a minister, and then left him to do all the work of the parish, was not the best kind of a churchman. He said that there was too much tendency on the part of the men nowadays to let the women do all the real work in the church, while the men take the offices. His hearers were urged to become more active in assisting the church to grow and occupy a strong place in the community.

Dr. Silver has a most pleasing personality, is a forceful speaker and would be welcomed at last night's audience as often as he could be persuaded to come to Plainfield. J. W. Johnson, of Montclair, who has spoken at a previous dinner of the club, was also present last night, and addressed the men on their duty to the church. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, was the last speaker, and he made a few remarks of appreciation of the work which the men in Grace church have helped him to accomplish.

HOPE CHAPEL SALE.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel, will hold a sale of home made cakes, pies and bread tomorrow at 153 East Front street. Foodstuffs and household goods will also be on sale, in conjunction with which a pure food exhibit will be held. A committee, of which Mrs. James Heron is chairman, is to have charge of the sale, which is to open at 10 o'clock.

Annual Dinner of Local Organization Held at Country Club Last Night.

COLLEGE SPIRIT STRONG

Interesting Discussion As to How Club Can Best Serve University—E. A. Stevenson Chosen Member of Alumni Advisory Board.

Interesting and forcible speeches following an excellent dinner, were features of the annual gathering of the Plainfield Yale Club, which was held at the Plainfield Country Club last night. There was a fine demonstration of college spirit, and altogether it was one of the best affairs yet held by the club here. The one purpose seemed to be, how the club can best serve Yale University, and in the speeches and discussion of the evening there were a number of timely suggestions which will undoubtedly enable the college men to accomplish their aim. Inasmuch as the club has attained a membership of 110 it is now entitled to representation on the Yale Alumni Advisory Board, and Edward A. Stevenson, the newly-elected president, was chosen as the local representative.

Mr. Stevenson, the new president, who was the toastmaster of the evening, was introduced by Henry L. DeForest, the retiring president. Samuel T. Carter, Jr., president of the Plainfield Princeton Club, was the first speaker, and he gave an interesting talk on "College Spirit," which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. John Leal, of Leal's School, who, with Mr. DeForest, was appointed as a committee to inquire into and suggest how the club can be of more value to the university, gave an informal talk along that line, explaining that he corresponded with a number of Yale men and the results were not very satisfactory. However, he did make some suggestion, as did also Mr. DeForest, and they will be taken up by the club during the year.

Mr. DeForest read a letter from George P. Day, treasurer of the university, in which further suggestions were made to the local club along the line of service. Henry Crofut White who was introduced as the "sole representative of North Plainfield present," spoke somewhat in a humorous vein and then concluded his remarks by saying that the best way to advance the interest of the club was to have it stand for something in the community, suggesting that the members become identified with public affairs.

Dickinson W. Richards, of East Orange, Class '80, who is a member of the Yale Alumni Advisory Board, told of the purpose of the board, what it is doing and what it means for a club to have a representation in that body. This was followed by the election of Mr. Stevenson to membership in the advisory board.

Interspersing the speeches, the men sang favorite college songs led by Harry E. Butler and A. W. Andrews, both of whom are former members of the Yale Glee Club, and this aided greatly in promoting the spirit of good fellowship. The dining-room was attractively decorated with Yale colors, including a large university banner which covered one side of the room. It was expected that Mayor-elect Leighton Calkins would be one of the speakers of the evening, but he was detained.

NOTIFIED TO VACATE HOUSE ON NEW SITE

Postoffice Authorities Take First Step Toward Federal Building.

Occupants of the house located on the new postoffice site on Watchung avenue, have been given a month's notice to vacate the premises. The notification came from Washington, this morning, and with it came the information that the Government would start razing the present structures December 1.

An appropriation of $150,000 has been made for the construction of the new building and the purchase of the land and actual work will probably be started early in the year. The old Force property at East Second street and Watchung avenue is the only structure on the postoffice property and with the demolishing of this place the piece of land will be entirely free for building.

Several months ago the government authorities sent men here to obtain samples of the soil on the new acquisition so that contractors making bids for the work would be able to get acquainted with the quality of ground they would encounter in digging the cellar

J. HOWARD WRIGHT DIES IN NEW YORK

Donor of Muhlenberg Hospital Pavilion and Father of Mrs. John B. Dumont.

John Howard Wright, father of Mrs. John B. Dumont, of Stelle avenue, passed away at his home, 41 East Fifty-first street, New York city yesterday afternoon, at the age of eighty-eight. Mr. Wright was a life long resident of New York city and one of the best known civic workers in the metropolis. Born there in 1826 he has continued a long residence and became widely known for his many philanthropic acts. His father was the late John D. Wright, organizer of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, which now has established branches in all parts of the country.

He early became associated with the Standard Oil Company and for twenty-one years preceding his retirement he was its purchasing agent. Mr. Wright retired from active life fifteen years ago and has visited Plainfield many times in recent years. During the time he spent with his daughter he became interested in the work of Muhlenberg Hospital and is the donor of the magnificent Wright Memorial Operating Pavilion at that institution. This addition necessitated an expenditure of $12,000, contributed by Mr. Wright as a memorial to his two grandsons.

The deceased was an enthusiastic advocate of outdoor recreation and took particular interest in golf. Many times he had been the opponent of John D. Rockefeller on the links and was the latter's favorite companion in this sport. He was vice president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Besides his daughter in this city, Mr. Wright is survived by one son, J. Dunbar Wright.

Mr. Wright was an honorary member of the governing board of Muhlenberg Hospital and has taken an active interest in all the work conducted by that institution.

MISS RYNO ENTERTAINS FRIENDS AT HER HOME

Miss Helen Ryno, of Watchung avenue, entertained a number of friends at her home, last evening. Dancing was the feature of the evening and all present joined eagerly in the fascinating pastime. There was also some good singing by a few of those present who are especially talented in this line. Refreshments were served shortly before midnight.

Those present were the Misses Helen Ryno, Marjorie Chandler, Anna Rogers, Rose Cooper, Emma Mantz and Harriet Denny, Robert Hebert, John Howe, Vincent LaPorte and Edson Ryno.

RODE BLIND BAGGAGE.

John Hogan, of New York city, was taken from a blind baggage that arrived at the North Avenue depot at 2:10 this morning, and held for a hearing on a charge of illegal train riding. He said he was bound for Philadelphia to search for work and was allowed to go on a suspended sentence.

LESSEN STRIFE IN GREAT BATTLE

Both Infantry and Artillery Attacks Reported to Have Dropped Off.

RUSSIA AIDS SERVIA

Czar Said to Have Sent Troops to Help Little Ally—Austrian Boat Sunk and Nearly All Passengers and Crew Lost.

Paris, Nov. 20.—According to the official statement issued by the War Office this afternoon, there was scarcely any infantry attack by the Germans yesterday, and their artillery activity also was unimportant. The text follows:

"The day of November 19 was marked by the almost total absence of infantry attacks on the part of the enemy. At the same time their artillery fire was much less violent than on the afternoon of November 18. To the north the weather has been very bad and snow has fallen.

"All the region of the Yser canal to east of Dixmude is invaded by the waters. There has been a very fairly intense artillery fire to the south of Ypres.

"On the centre there have been no important actions to report.

"In the Argonne the vigirous attacks on part of the enemy's infantry have been repulsed.

"On our right wing the Germans have reoccupied the section of Chauvoncourt, which was destroyed. Farther to the east we have made some progress."

The village of Schoore, five miles north of Dixmude, and half way between Dixmude and the coast, has been reoccupied by British soldiers and French marines, who reached the rear of the German positions on rafts and boats. The rear attack by water over the inundated region was simultaneous with an advanced by the British in armored automobiles over the only road not under water. The Germans in retiring abandoned many guns, ammunition, stores and their dead and wounded.

Two hundred Americans, the last of the stranded tourists caught by the war, left Switzerland yesterday, for Genoa, where they will sail tomorrow on the steamship Kroonland for New York, says a despatch from Berne. On the same ship will go a number of Swiss emigrants whose departure was arranged by the American consular officials.

Copenhagen, Nov. 20 (Central News Cable).—Russia has already responded to Servia's requests for help, according to despatches received here from German sources. It is reported that the Servian army, which has been forced to fall back before the Austrians, has been reinforced by a considerable number of Russian troops. The Servian army is said to have been seriously depleted in the many battles in which it has engaged since the war began, and to have been reduced from 300,000 to about 100,000.

Rome Nov. 20 (Central News Cable).—The Austrian Lloyd Steam Navigation Company steamer Metkovish struck a mine in the harbor of Salonica and sank. Most of the passengers and crew drowned.

The Hague, Nov. 21.—A despatch from Berlin reports that the official statement given out in Berlin today tells of progress by the Germans west of St. Quentin and Roye. No advances are reported in Flanders,

OPPORTUNITY TO SEE PLAINFIELD FRIENDS DURING BIG TRADE WEEK

FARE REFUND FEATURE OPERATIVE, EVEN IF PRIMARY PURPOSE IS TO PAY VISIT TO FRIENDS IN CITY—DAILY PRESS PLAN MEETING WITH FAVOR FROM CITY'S MERCHANTS.

Readers of the Daily Press will have an opportunity to urge their friends to kill two birds with one stone during the Fare-Refund co-operative sale which the merchants of Plainfield will conduct in conjunction with the Press from December 5 to 12. It has been suggested that Plainfielders write to their friends within a radius of thirty miles of Plainfield, and tell them about the sale. They can then come to Plainfield to pay a visit, and incidentally take advantage of the big bargain offerings which the merchants will be able to make.

Not only are the merchants going to refund the fares of all out-of-town customers during this sale, but in addition to this inducement, they will offer special bargains in every line of merchandise.

A subscriber telephoned to the office yesterday to make inquiry regarding the fare-refunding feature of the sale. She has a sister residing in North Branch and is writing her to come and do her shopping here during the big co-operative sale, and at the same time make a visit. It is a splendid suggestion, and the Press wishes to encourage the movement among all of its readers.

Plainfield has never before inaugurated such a great and comprehensive co-operative trading festival as this, in which the merchants of

What Organization Means in War

Suppose the army of the Allies was in the field with no commanding general, no "general staff." Suppose instead of one huge army, there were twenty smaller armies each operating by itself and not telling the others what it intended to do. Suppose that ten of them planned to attack at the same point, trusting to luck that some other force would protect other endangered places. How much of France would be free today?

Imagine the same state of affairs in charitable relief work at this time of universal suffering. If you send money or clothing to Belgium, you do not send it to any particular refugee, but to the Red Cross or to the Government, which knows where it is most needed. Any other course would bring hopeless confusion and waste.

Does not the same principle apply right here in Plainfield? Co-operation in charitable work is as essential as among army corps. Proper administration is as important as actual relief. The head must guide the heart.

THE CHARITY ORGANIZATION SOCIETY promotes such efficiency. There is room in the work for everyone who values this ideal. It needs YOUR help and YOUR interest NOW. Let us explain it to you. Call, write or telephone, 323 Babcock Building.

DUNELLEN

All the Happenings of the Day In Plainfield's Hustling Suburb.

ADVANTAGES OF DUNELLEN PORTRAYED IN A BOOKLET

The following article about Dunellen taken from the booklet published for the seventh annual convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association of the Affiliated Boards of Trade of Middlesex County, will be of interest to the boroughites:

"Dunellen is 26 miles from New York on the main line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Quick connections can be made at either Liberty or Twenty-third Street Ferry for Dunellen. There are 30 trains a day to New York and 36 trains a day New York to Dunellen, and the running time is less than one hour.

"Dunellen is on the main line of the trolley line of the Public Service Railway Company and the trolley rides possible in this section will delight the lovers of such trips. Historic old New Brunswick is nearby and the beautiful ride to New York is available to those who can devote to it the necessary time.

"Dunellen is a seventy-acre tract laid out on a section of the great Central New Jersey plain. Its compactness is an asset; the greatest distance is 15 minutes walk from the station and there are building sites one minute from the station. Lots are generally 50x150 feet and the place is very attractive for New York business men, many of whom reside here.

"Healthfulness is a characteristic of the borough. Soil is sandy and air dry and of great value to anyone with any ailment approaching the tubercular nature. Malaria is almost unknown and diseases arising from swampiness in the land are, of course, conspicuous by their absence. The same may be said of mosquitoes. During the past ten years not one case of typhoid fever existed in the borough that originated here. Hydrants are established wherever property needs require. The fire department has fine machines and a well-drilled fire company.

"The borough is supplied with both gas and electricity. The municipal lighting is by electricity only, but in the private homes of many of the houses are piped for gas and wired for electricity, and both illuminants are employed. The finest sewerage system in the State in which the very last word in modern sanitary science will be applied is about to be installed in the borough. The First National Bank of Dunellen, affords the residents of our borough ample facilities to handle their financial affairs in every detail.

"Abundant factory sites are available along the line of the railroad and any person interested in this line would do well to communicate with the Dunellen Board of Trade. Two flourishing Building and Loan Associations exist in the borough with their practical assistance along financial lines in home building."

Plains & Fanwood.

The young people of the Baptist church will meet for a social in the church parlors this evening.

The regular meeting of the Junior League was held at the home of the president, Miss Elizabeth Babcock, of North avenue, yesterday afternoon, and despite the disagreeable weather the attendance was large. A profitable time was spent sewing.

A dance, arranged by friends of a local young man, will be held in Excelsior Hall this evening beginning at 8 o'clock. Tickets for about forty couple have been sold and the affair promises to be a success. Music for the dancing will be furnished by Suhr's orchestra.

The funeral services of Mrs. Thomas A. Gere, who died in Muhlenberg Hospital on Wednesday, will be held at the home of her daughter tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church, of which she was a member. She had been a resident of the Plains for the past ten years and was the widow of Thomas A. Gere, who died a few years ago. She was well-known locally, being a member of the Lend-a-Hand Society of the Baptist church, and other organizations. Those in the immediate family that survive her are three daughters, one of them being Mrs. Thomas Paff, of Westfield road, with whom she made her home. Interment will be made in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn.

The total accident on South avenue in Westfield, the second in two days between Fanwood and Westfield, when an Italian was struck and killed by an automobile, marks the second one in which an auto has figured at the same spot in the past month. Three weeks ago a large car owned by a New York party was completely demolished and the occupants received a severe shaking up and a miraculous escape from fatal injury when the machine left the roadway and crashed into a large tree. That section of South avenue was repaved last spring and has a surface of amesite. This is said to be the cause of the mishaps as the headlights shining on the smooth boulevard makes a glare that blinds a person for the time being. This applies particularly said, as it is at the bottom of a long grade and the headlights on autos coming down the hill give a long sweep.

The second and third quarterly conferences will be held in the Methodist church tonight. Rev. F. A. Hallman, district superintendent, will be the principal speaker and prior to the conference will conduct a special vesper that will take the place of the daily prayer meeting.

Miss Evelyn Clark, of Bath Beach, L. I., is the guest of Miss Dorothy Hoar, of Martine avenue.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Christ Episcopal church is spending all of the time at the weekly meetings in the preparation for the annual bazaar for the benefit of the church which will be held in the Fanwood Borough Hall.

The weekly meeting of the sewing class was held last evening at the home of its teacher. After the regular session a social hour was held.

Miss Marion Hock, of Brooklyn, is the guest of Miss Hazel Gardiner, of North avenue, for a few days.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE COURSES FOR ADULTS

Practical Instruction in Cooking to Be Given at Plainfield High School.

In response to a large number of applications for an extension of the domestic science courses in the Plainfield schools, the Board of Education is planning to start a course of practical instruction in cooking shortly after the Christmas vacation. The course is open to all residents of Plainfield without regard to age, who are not already attending school.

It is expected that a large number of the housekeepers of Plainfield will take advantage of this opportunity to learn the latest methods in marketing and cooking. Already Charles R. Bostwick, in charge of the practical arts department of our schools, has received many applications for registration in this new department.

One or more of the following courses will be given. Bread, rolls and biscuits, practical serving of meals, puddings and deserts, house[illegible] [illegible] marketing and menu [illegible]. Ten lessons will be given in each course. The hours will be in the afternoon probably from [illegible] to [illegible] to accommodate housekeepers without seriously interfering with the care of household duties.

In discussing the proposed course [illegible] it was stated that [illegible] to be an unusual [illegible] interest in the science work which is [illegible] on the part of the pupils. No [illegible] of this is to be [illegible] due to the [illegible] this [illegible] in one way [illegible] of the effect of the European war on business [illegible] consequently anything [illegible] at keep in touch [illegible] cost of living, and the domestic [illegible] are planned for this [illegible] special interest at the present time. Persons desiring to take these special courses should [illegible] their names and addresses, with [illegible] of the above courses they wish to take, to Charles R. Bostwick, at the Plainfield High School. Full information of the time and subject of the courses offered will be sent them.

TRYING TO SOLVE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

The Poverty Lunch Club, a new club organized for experimental purposes regarding the high cost of living, held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. D. J. Randall, of Mercer avenue, yesterday afternoon. There are eight members in this club and it will meet eight times during the winter once at the home of every member. The meetings are in the form of luncheons and a six-course meal was served for forty-nine cents. The menu consisted of melons, soup, fish, veal croquets, cream beans, jelly, potatoes, tomatoes, salad, coffee, nuts and pickles.

The bountiful repast was prepared and served by the hostess. The next luncheon will be held at the home of Mrs. George Babcock, of West Eighth street, on December 4. Those who are members of this organization are Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, Mrs. Lawrence VanBuren, Mrs. George Babcock, Mrs. W. J. Roome, Mrs. D. J. Randall, Mrs. Lewis Williams, Mrs. Archibald Cox and Mrs. William Ash.

S. W. DOWNER HEADS STATE ASSOCIATION

Rain Interferes With Bible School Parade in Newark Last Night.

The closing session of the annual convention of the New Jersey Sunday School Association was held last night in the North Reformed church, Newark. It was planned to have a monster parade of about 2,000 men precede this session, but weather conditions prevented. The Dutch Arms Band, of this city, was to have accompanied the local representatives but did not go to Newark.

Several members of the Men's Bible classes of this city, attended the last meeting and heard W. C. Pearce of Chicago, associate general secretary of the International Sunday school Association, speak on "Essentials of Adult Bible Classes." W. C. Hubbard, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, this city, was elected a district vice-president of Essex and Union counties.

Samuel M. Low, of Gloucester county, was elected president of the association at the meeting yesterday afternoon. It is the first time in fifteen years that the president has been a resident of South Jersey. He succeeds Edward W. Cooper, of South Orange. Rev. Samuel D. Price, of Camden, was re-elected recording secretary, and this makes his fourteenth year in this office. Edward W. Dunham, of Trenton, was chosen treasurer.

WILL ENTER MEXICO CITY UNOPPOSED

Washington Learned Today That Villa Will Be Given Free Rein.

Washington, Nov. 20.—That no resistance will be offered to the occupation of Mexico City by the convention troops led by General Villa was assured today by the receipt of despatches from the Mexican capital to the State Department, to the effect that Carranzista troops were rapidly evacuating the city. Unrest continues in the Mexican capital, the despatch stated, and disorder and lawlessness continues. The evacuation of Querretaro by Carranza's men has not been definitely confirmed. The State Department learned unofficially today of the reported movement of General Carranza's capital from Cordoba, about 40 miles from Vera Cruz, to Orizaba, a few miles further inland.

With his army sweeping all resistance out of its path without a fight, General Villa, according to latest advices received at the State Department, is now [illegible] about Iraputo, about [illegible] Mexico City than Leon, which was taken without resistance yesterday. As the Villasistas progress the troops loyal to Carranza fall back and will probably make their first stand at Querretaro.

where the water presents an obstacle to both armies, but the German positions before Ypres have been strengthened. Attacks in force have been directed against the French father south.

Nish, Servia, Nov. 20.—Admission that Servian troops have been withdrawn from Valievo is made in an official announcement. The Austrians, according to the statement, tried to prevent the movement, but were repulsed by artillery fire by the Servians.

London, Nov. 20 (Central News Cable).—An official statement given out by the Turkish War Office, which has reached here by way of Germany and Amsterdam, declares that the strongly fortified Russian position near Azet has been taken by Turks.

Servia is taking steps to remove the government from Nish to Uskub if it becomes necessary, according to an Athens despatch.

A despatch from Amsterdam says that during the bombardment of the Turkish port of Trebizond, on the Black Sea, by the Russian fleet, the Russian consulate was demolished and the Consul was severely wounded.

A despatch from Vienna says that the subscriptions to the Austrian War Loan during the first two days aggregated 700,000,000 crowns (about $170,000,000). The announcement of Austrian victories over the Servians, it is said, stimulated public investiment. Much depression is reported in the city of Trieste.

The Swedish steamship Murjek has been in collision in the Downs, according to word which reached London today. The Murjek was seriously damaged. The vessel left New York on November 3 bound for Stockholm. She has a tonnage of 2,336.

A despatch from Berlin says that advices were received there from Constantinople that a Turkish fleet had engaged Russian war boats off Sebastopol. According to the word received at Berlin one Russian battleship was badly damaged and the other fled with the Turkish warships in pursuit. There were two battleships and five cruiser sin the Russian fleet, the message said.

Commenting on the act of the Turks in firing on launch from the United States cruiser Tennessee, the Daily News says: "The proceedings of the Turkish authorities appear to be of a quite inexplicable imbecility. Only one thing is clear and that is that Turkey is already beginning to cost Germany a great deal more than she is worth."

Berlin, Nov. 20 (Via London).—The following statement was given to the press this afternoon: "In West Flanders and in north France no appreciable change in the situation has taken place. Heavy rains and snows, which first soaked and then partly froze the ground, have made our movements very difficult. A French attack at Combrex to the southeast of Verdun was repulsed. The situation on the East Prussian frontier remains unchanged. East of the line of Mazurian Lake region the Russians captured an unoccupied fort, in which were some old, obsolete cannon. The retreat of the enemy through Lipno and Neawami continues. Our attack has made progress to the south of Plock. No decision yet has been reached in the fighting around Looz and to the east of Chenstochowa."

DUNELLEN OFFICER HELD FOR PERJURY

James McCauley Alleged to Have Offered False Testimony at Trial.

Alleged to have perjured himself in the trial of Frank J. Farrell, a Dunellen real estate broker, before Recorder Campbell, Tuesday night, November 10, Special Marshal James McCauley, of the Dunellen police force, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rene P. F. Von Minden, last night, and held in $200 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Farrell alleges that the officer gave false testimony when he (Farrell) was arraigned charged with taking money from the pocket of one Grover Cashin.

According to Farrell, the change which he took off the bar at Taylor's Hotel was his and that McCauley's charge classing him as a "dip" was without foundation.

McCauley avers that he arrested Farrell on the request of Cashin. The latter, however, failed to appear before the court to press the charge. Marshal McCauley claims he saw Farrell reach into Cashin's pocket and take the change.

DELEGATES REPORT ON CONGRESS WORK

North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association Receives Valuable Information.

Reports of the six delegates who attended the Mothers' Congress held recently in Atlantic City, were received at the meeting of the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association held in the Somerset School building yesterday afternoon. The reports dealt with the convention in a general way and many interesting features were cited, some of which may possibly be brought into the routine of work being conducted by the Parent-Teacher Association.

In the absence of Mrs. M. H. Ewart, president of the association, Mrs. Allen Laing presided at yesterday's session. Among the special subjects of the congress commented on by delegates was one given by Mrs. Guy D. Peck. She dwelt at length on several outstanding incidents and her talk was listened to with interest. Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst, of the North Plainfield schools, culminating the reports, by summing up in a general way the work accomplished by the congress and commented briefly on the remarks made by the speakers who preceded him.

Considerable discussion was aroused over the subject of requesting the borough Board of Education to engage a trained nurse to do special duty among the pupils of the North Plainfield schools, but no definite conclusion was arrived at. The matter will come to the attention of the body at a later meeting and some disposition will be made of it at that time. Those who addressed the meeting were Mrs. Judd Stewart, Mrs. Cora Ryno, Mrs. Guy D. Peck, Mrs. W. O. Taylor, Principal Albert Earley and Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst.

SPENCER CONWAY DIES AFTER LINGERING ILLNESS

Spencer Conway, of West Fourth street, one of the best known colored citizens of this city, and one of the oldest ash carters here, died yesterday, after a lingering illness. Mr. Conway, who was fifty-four years of age, was one of the founders of Calvary Baptist church, as well as the Shiloh Baptist church, being a member of the latter congregation. His wife died several years ago. One son Samuel Conway, of Washington, survives.

The funeral services will be held at his late residence, 541 West Fourth street, Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, and at Shiloh Baptist church at 2 o'clock.

STATE COMMISSION REPORTS FALLING OFF

Riparian Body, of Which Newton B. Smalley is a Member, Affected by War.

Trenton, Nov. 20. The European war has affected business to such an extent that the Riparian Commission, of which Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, is a member, reports a falling off in its revenue this year. The annual report of the commission was presented to Governor Fielder yesterday and it is stated that the amount received by the State for riparian lands during the past fiscal year reflects the general business condition in the country. A total of $133,797 was collected during the year. In addition to this there are three important applications for grants pending, and if these are made, an additional half-million dollars will come to the State.

The report shows the following receipts for the year ending October 31: Grants, $24,397; conversions, $18,002; leases, $52,600; limited lease, annual rental, $13; licenses, $25; rentals on leases, $38,315; annual licenses, $365; interest on grant delayed and accepted, $81.

The report renews the suggestion of the board to secure the location of such exterior lines as will best serve the development of enterprises seeking a location along the New Jersey shores, and it is particularly pointed out that there is great necessity for the establishment of lines in New York Bay.

The Riparian Commission takes the position that this matter has not received all the consideration it deserves and that any request to the Federal government to expend any great amount of money for the improvement of the Jersey waterfront will not be successful until there is a definite understanding as to the status of the exterior lines.

REV. CHARLES E. SCUDDER TO SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Rev. Charles E. Scudder, who is well known here, where he lived for several years, but who is now pastor of the M. E. church at West Brighton, S. I., will be the special preacher at the revival service in the First M. E. church, tonight. He will talk on the subject of "Young People," and it is especially urged that as many young people as possible attend the service.

Rev. Charles Woodruff, of Elizabeth, spoke at last night's meeting, which was not largely attended owing to the stormy weather. Mr. Woodruff, however, gave a strong practical talk, which was inspiring and helpful to the small number present at the service. The music, which is of a special character, is in charge of a large chorus choir. These services will be continued until November 22.

GIVEN BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

William Goeller, of West Fourth street, was given a surprise by twenty friends, last night, in honor of his fifty-first birthday. An informal program of vocal and instrumental music passed several hours in an enjoyable manner. Mr. Goeller received numerous gifts in honor of the occasion.

RESCUE MISSION MEETING.

Miss Clyde Burnet will conduct the meeting at the Rescue Mission at 8 o'clock tonight. There will be special music.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

President Daniel McNamee of the senior class, has appointed the following advisory committee to meet with Mr. Hubbard, to choose the form of exercises to be held by the senior class at Christmas. The committee consists of the Misses Sadie Rothberg, Margaret Tubbs, Gladys Dickerson, and LeRoy Ellis, Randolph Stelle and Ernest Higgins.

A writing class has been formed by John C. Evans for those pupils whose writing is not up to the standard and who have no vacant periods in school. The pupils in this class spend twenty minutes of practice at home and bring their work for criticism every Monday and Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Eaton was presented with a certificate as "official snake charmer" of the Plainfield High School by Principal Best, this morning, in the auditorium. The certificate was received from Allan S. Williams and presented to Miss Eaton for opening a bag and taking out a reptile while blindfolded.

The Glee Club held its first meeting in the auditorium under the direction of Miss Engstrand, and practised a few Christmas songs. The enrollment to date is 131 people. One point will be awarded toward graduation to all members who do not miss more than three rehearsals.

Miss Elizabeth Martin announced the date for the opening of the reserved seats for the play, "A Case for Sherlock Holmes," to be presented by the Girls' Athletic Association on December 5, in the auditorium, this morning. The price of the tickets will be twenty-five and thirty-five cents, and they will be on sale at Miller's drug store on Saturday morning, November 28. A dress rehearsal will be held on Friday afternoon, December 4, for the grammar schools and the admission to this rehearsal will be ten cents.

Dr. VanHorn has been at school for the past two days givig the pupils physical examinations.

The telephone has been removed from Miss Greene's desk and is now installed in Mr. Best's office. There is also a 'phone at Miss Moore's desk. A pupil wanting to use the 'phone will be charged five cents for each call.

Mr. Patch has given the Bank Clerks the privilege of using the High School gym tomorrow afternoon in preparation for their game with the High School basketball team on November 27.

GYMNASIUM CLUB TO BE NEW RECREATION FEATURE

The Public Recreation Committee has under way arrangements for another activity which will prove a valuable adjunct to its already large scope of work, in the form of a gymnasium club, to be organized Tuesday evening at the High School building. The new organization will be under the direction of Ralph S. Patch, physical director of the High School. A small fee as dues will be charged the young men who affiliate with the club, the amount to be no more than is necessary to cover the expenses of operating the club.

GLEE CLUB RECEPTION.

The Unknown Glee Club, colored, of this city, held its third annual reception in Saengerbund Hall, last night. The affair was well patronized by friends of the organization. Music for dancing was furnished by Naylor's orchestra. The hall was attractively decorated for the reception. The latest dances were led by Prof. Parker, of New York.

IT'S A GIRL.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Kramer, of Cranford, former residents of Plainfield, are parents of a girl who arrived on Tuesday.

LOUIS P. WALTER IS SERIOUSLY ILL HERE

Louis Peleki Walter, aged 7 years, father of Mrs. Mesier, wife of Rev. Henry Mesier, the new rector of St. Stephen's church, is critically ill at the home of his daughter on Belvidere avenue, having suffered a stroke of paralysis two days ago.

It was for this reason that Mr. Mesier was unable to speak to the Men's Club dinner at Grace Episcopal church, last night. Mr. Walter's home is at Far Rockaway, and he came here recently to visit his daughter.

HOME FROM GERMANY.

Mrs. James Sutton, of Pearl street, has returned home after a six months' visit with relatives in Germany. She was prevented from leaving by the outbreak of the war and finally reached Holland, securing passage from Rotterdam.

LITTLE "MISS" WHITE.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. White, of Park avenue, are parents of a girl, who arrived this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Nugent, of West Third street, are the parents of a ten-pound girl, born to them yesterday.

DISEASE AND POVERTY.

The normal person will not sink into poverty. Illness, disease, deformity and weak-mindedness are subnormal. David Starr Jordan says. "Strong men seek education and make opportunity," and to this might be appropriately added, "They bring things about; they make events occur." Weak men are the opposite of this, says Dr. J. N. Hurty in The Journal of the American Medical Association. Disease is itself not an evidence of physical or mental strength.

"We were getting along splendidly," said the poverty-stricken woman, "until my husband took consumption." And who must be told of the great poverty that trails consumption. A farmer died of typhoid fever when the mortgage, given in part payment for his farm, was only one-half paid off. His wife and little daughter took the disease and survived only finally to fill fuller the slums of a city where she went with the child when the rich man foreclosed the mortgage. Yellow fever prevented the French from building the Panama Canal, and thousands who had invested their all in canal shares were pauperized.

In Mexico there are thousands who have been made blind and pauperized by small-pox. There are at least two million blind beggars in China, all made blind by small-pox. It is only when epidemics come, when the great proportion of lives are threatened, that we realize the meaning of sickness and disease. The ramifications of disease are so complex and far reaching we can have but a hazy idea of what disease means.

It is curious to note that, because of our stupidity, one's very industry may bring poverty. This is illustrated by the occupational diseases. Until very recently society permitted greed to force phossy jaw on workmen who afterward in many instances became paupers. To rear and protect industries, one product of which is poverty, is a queer condition. The prevention of phossy jaw will certainly also prevent all the poverty which might come from it.

Cigar-makers, printers and tailors, are especially afflicted with tuberculosis; and on the pauper records appear the names of hundreds who have followed these occupations. A proprietor who does not surround his employes with the best conditions of health is a breeder of disease, poverty and crime.

Feeble-mindedness is a disease condition and produces a world of poverty. There is no cure for feeble-mindedness; it may only be prevented; and there are only two rational methods for its prevention, neither of which society will adopt. And so it happens, as we "blunder on through love and hunger," that the highest services of medical science are rejected, prevention is disregarded and disease follows civilization with ever lengthening train of degeneracy, defectiveness, delinquency and dependency.

In co-operation with the leading merchants of Plainfield, the Daily Press will bring about a "fare-refunding week" from December 5 to 12, at which time suburban shoppers will have their carfares refunded to them, when they make purchases at the local stores. The plan is one which will appeal to merchants and shoppers alike, for with the former it will stimulate business largely and introduce to many shoppers the advantages of buying in Plainfield, and the latter will be able not only to get full value for their money, but also be able to reach town without expense. The plan has recently been tried in Perth Amboy and Paterson with great success. In the Middlesex county city it proved to be such an excellent method of attracting business that the merchants are continuing it with a sale every Wednesday, at which times fares are refunded to suburban purchasers. The sale will be fully described, with the offerings of the merchants, in a greatly enlarged edition of the Daily Press to be printed and circulated in ample time for the people to become familiar with the bargains prior to the opening day. Copies of the paper will be placed in every home for miles around Plainfield.

Plainfield has had different designations in the past, but not until recent times was a slogan adopted by local citizens for general usage. "Do It For Plainfield," originated by the Press, has been instrumental in awaking the civic pride of the city. Now that the original purpose has been accomplished to a great degree, may we not adopt a new slogan as follows: "Plainfield, Progress and Prosperity—The Three Twins."

If someone should tackle the job of straightening the sidewalks on North avenue, between Park and Watchung avenues, they would receive the thanks of hundreds who have stubbed their toes on the innumerable rough places. The condition of some of them is a disgrace to such an important street.

"Want Borough Form of Government," newspaper headline. Well, considering the number of dwellings put up in South Plainfield during the past season, we should judge the village is entitled to a place on the map.

Newspapers, metropolitan, suburban and rural, are now all agreed that prosperity is on the way. How soon it reaches us depends upon the attitude which the reading public takes in regard to the question.

Speaking of consolidation, whatever became of the scheme of consolidating local civic organizations?

Tomorrow's editorial has been written by Hugh B. Sweeney. His subjejct is "Are You Prepared?"

The man who waits for something to turn up seems to always be turned down.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

My personal debt to the Plainfield High School is so great that I wish I could help our people to understand in some measure what a High School education means to a boy or girl. Perhaps, now that election is over, and the High School issue is not being used to get votes, a few words on this subject will not be out of place.

Few people realize that the people of this country are becoming increasingly interested in the High School movement. Some evidence of this can be seen in the beautiful High School building now being constructed at a cost of half a million dollars in Flushing, N. Y., to minister to 30,000 inhabitants. Our High Schools are more generously supported now by larger numbers than ever before. Since 1900 these schools have increased over one hundred per cent. in number and attendance. About half a million boys alone are now in High Schools, and some of the best records made in college are by High School boys. Witness Willard McKay at Yale, and Carter Goodrich at Amherst, from our own High School. More and more High School boys and girls go to college every year.

Boys as well as taxpayers ought to be impressed with the money value of an education. The United States Commissioner of Education says:

"Two boys fourteen years old are interested in mechanics. One goes to the shop and the other to a technical school. The boy in the shop starts at $4 per week and by the time he is eighteen he is receiving $7 per week. At that age the other boy is leaving school and starting work at $10 a week. At the age of twenty the shop trained boy receives $9.50 and the technical graduate $15; at twenty-two the wage of the former is $11.50, of the latter $20; and by the time they are both twenty-five the shop worker receives $12.75 per week while the technically trained man draws a salary of $31."

Statistics show that the uneducated man's yearly wages is $450; the grammar school man's is $600; the High School man's is $1,000; the university man's is $2,000. "That is,' as a recent writer says, "the High School graduate in forty years earns $16,000 over and above what the grammar school man earns in the same time ($1,000—600x40 years) To gain this increase the High School man went to school four years or 720 days longer than the grammar school man. If $16,000 is the lifetime gain resulting from attending High School 720 days, then the value of attending High School one day is $22.23. Again in a similar manner the university man received in his lifetime of forty years $40,000 more than the High School man. He attended college four years or 720 days longer than the High School man if this four years in college is worth $40,000 increase in a lifetime, then attending college one day is worth $55.56. That is, over $55.56 is said to be the net return for every day spent in securing a college and university training. Go to school, young man! Get all the training possible, for in the coming years the destiny of the nation, or of any leading vocation or movement, is to be more and more in the hands of professionally trained men."

One who is giving his life to advocating higher education for young men recently wrote:

"There is a general statement among economists and sociologists to the effect that a grammar school training increases the chances of a person's earning capacity 50 per cent., a High School training increases his efficiency 100 per cent., and a university training from 200 to 300 per cent.

"So far as I know many people in estimating this matter attribute $1,000 per year as the minimum salary of a graduate from an efficient and strong High School course of study. This is, the average High School graduate earns that amount as a minimum during the rest of his life. In this similar connection the corresponding minimum salary per year for life for the average man who has nothing more than a grammar school training is only about $600 to $720 per year. In all of these cases there are, of course, very many exceptions both above and below the reported averages."

These figures and arguments it seems to me ought to appeal to us taxpayers. Few better uses can be made of our money than to help our boys and girls to qualify for more useful and more satisfactory lives.

Of course the money return from education is one of the lesser benefits. Education gives a man a broader, more unselfish, altruistic view of life, that makes it more worth while. That our taxes are helping to do this ought to be motive enough for our support of our own splendid High School.

"GOD IS LOVE."

Tomorrow's program for the moving picture entertainments at the Y. M. C. A. will include: "God Is Love," a great picture based upon Tolstoi's well known story; "An Old, Old Song," "A Brightening Up Crusade," two comedies.

Harry Newcombe, of Portland, Me., left for home yesterday, after a six weeks' visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Ryder, of Grant avenue.

THE SITUATION IN MEXICO DISCUSSED

Miss Janet Richards Gives Second Talk in Series on "Current Events."

Upon the request of many patrons of the series of lectures, Miss Janet Richards, of Washington, instead of continuing her discussion of the European War at the Hartridge Auditorium, yesterday, briefly presented some of the latest information concerning the situation in Mexico, the facts of which are more or less familiar to newspaper readers. Miss Richards did not attempt to give any personal opinions or go into the merits of the claims of certain leaders, simply giving the facts as they exist today.

Miss Richards then took up the cotton question, and stated that the establishment of the new bank reserve system would make it possible to move our large cotton crops in the South and would have a tendency to ease up the money market of the United States. By this system Miss Richards said that ready cash would now find its way into various channels of trade and should go a long way toward relieving the present stringency. The speaker did nothing more than to very briefly touch on some of the other world happenings which have been engaging the attention of people within the past few weeks and days and from her great fund of information she was able as usual to impart many interesting facts.

MRS. PYATT'S FUNERAL IS HELD AS PLANNED BY HER

The funeral of Mrs. Mary N. Pyatt was held at her late home on Clinton avenue, Samptown, at 2:30 o'clock, yesterday, being largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. C. W. F. Attlee, former pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Henry M. Prentiss, of the Congregational church, Woodbridge. Mr. Attlee delivered the address of eulogy, and Mr. Prentiss offered prayer.

The remarks were based on the text Isaiah 25-4, which was selected by Mrs. Pyatt in April, 1905, it being her wish that the Scripture verse be read at her funeral. At that time she made all of the arrangements for her funeral, which were practically carried out yesterday. The burial was in Hillside cemetery, Samptown, and the pall-bearers were Charles Blackford, Isaac Winans, W. R. Wyckoff, William Manning, O. E. Thorn and George Harris.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

There will be an important meeting of the Sigma Gamma Kappa this afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. This meeting was called to discuss what the society will do during the winter months and to lay some definite plans for this work.

The first inter-class basketball game of the season, will be played this afternoon, when a team of girls from the freshman class line up against a team of sophomore girls.

The junior class rings have come and will be given out to the prospective owners as soon as all the money is collected for them.

"TEST OF DEMOCRACY" THEME OF SPEAKER

Interesting Service Held Yesterday Under Auspices of Women's Federation.

The inclement weather of yesterday afternoon interferred considerably with the attendance at the inter-denominational gathering of the Federation of Women's Missionary Societies at Trinity Reformed church. The service was in keeping with the spirit of the "week of prayer" being held in this city under the auspices of the Federation.

Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury, one of the workers of the Congregational Missionary Board, was the speaker of the afternoon, the subject being "The Test of Democracy." The address resolved itself into a greater missionary activity on the home field, especially among the colored race, both in the North and the South.

Mrs. Charles L. Rice, president of the Federation, presided at the gathering. The offertory solo was by Miss Etta Raybert, of the Trinity Reformed church choir.

A service for young people between the ages of eight and twenty years is being held at the Y. M. C. A. Hall this afternoon, and is being addressed by Arthur M. Harris, on the subject, "The American Indian." The lecture is illustrated by stereopticon slides.

The officers of the Federation include the following: President, Mrs. Charles A. Rice; vice presidents, Miss Emily C. Marsh, Mrs. Noah Pike, Mrs. J. C. Pierson, Mrs. Charles Leggett; secretary Mrs. Henry E. Titus; assistant secretary, Mrs. John Groendyke; treasurer, Mrs. William C. Hubbard.

OUR EARLY FLAGS

Colonial Emblems That Led Up to the Stars and Stripes.

THE STORY OF OLD GLORY.

Twice Has the Design Been Changed Since the Official Adoption of Our First Flag In 1777—The Stars the Distinctive Feature of Our Banner.

The American flag is a growth rather than a creation. Its history can be traced back to the twelfth century, or nearly 600 years prior to the first "flag day," June 14, 1777.

During the first crusade in 1195 Pope Urban II. assigned to all of the Christian nations as standards crosses varying in color and design, emblematic of the warfare in which they were engaged. To the Scotch troops was assigned the white saltire, known as the white cross of St. Andrew, on a blue field. The British used a yellow cross, but a century and a quarter later they adopted a red cross on a white field, known as the red cross of St. George.

When James VI. of Scotland ascended the throne of England as James I. he combined the two flags and issued a proclamation requiring all ships to carry the new flag at their mainmasts. At the same time the vessels of south Britain were to carry at their foremasts the red cross of St. George and the ships of north Britain to carry the white cross of St. Andrew.

The new flag was known as "king colors," the "union colors," of the "great union" and later as the "union jack" and was the one under which the British made all their permanent settlements in America.

The people in the New England colonies were bitterly opposed to the cross in the flag. In 1635 some of the troops in Massachusetts declined to march under this flag, and the military commissioners were forced to design other flags for their troops with the cross left out. The design they adopted has not been preserved. In 1652 a mint was established in Boston. Money coined in this mint had the pine tree stamped on one side of it. The pine tree design was also used on New England flags, certainly by 1704 and possibly as early as 1635.

At the outbreak of the Revolution the American colonies had no flag common to all of them. In many cases the merchant marine flag of England was used with the pine tree substituted for the union jack. Massachusetts adopted the green pine tree on a white field with the motto, "An Appeal to Heaven." Some of the southern states had the rattlesnake flag with the motto "Don't Tread on Me" on a white or yellow field. This flag had been used by South Carolina as early as 1764.

In September, 1775, there was displayed in the south what is by many believed to be the first distinctively American flag. It was blue with a white crescent and matched the dress of the troops, who wore caps inscribed "Liberty or Death."

The colonists desired to adopt a common flag, but they had not yet declared independence and were not at first seeking independence. They took the British flag as they knew it and made a new colonial flag by dividing the red field with white stripes into thirteen alternate red and white stripes. This is known as the Cambridge flag, because it was first unfurled over Washington's headquarters at Cambridge, Mass., on Jan. 1, 1776. It complied with the law of 1707 by having the union jack on it; it also represented the thirteen colonies by the thirteen stripes.

As the colonists gradually became converted to the idea that independence from the mother country was necessary they began to modify the flag, first by leaving off the union jack and using only the thirteen horizontal stripes. The modified flags were not always red and white, but regularly consisted of combinations of two colors selected from red, white, blue and yellow. The final modification was the replacement of the union jack by the white stars on a blue field.

The stars are the only distinctive feature of the American flag. The charming story which credits Betsy Ross with making the first flag of stars and stripes is still accepted by historians. When Washington suggested the six pointed star she demonstrated the ease with which a five pointed star could be made by folding a piece of paper and producing one with a single clip of the scissors.

The official adoption of our first flag was in 1777. On June 14 of that year the Continental congress passed an act providing that "the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white on a blue field, representing a new constellation." The thirteen stars were arranged in a circle to symbolize the perpetuity of the union of the states.

Vermont was admitted to the Union in 1791, and Kentucky in 1792. It was felt that these two new states ought to be recognized on the flag, so in 1794 congress passed an act making the flag fifteen stars and fifteen stripes.

This remained the flag of the United States throughout the war of 1812, until there were twenty states in the Union. In 1816 an effort was again made to modify the flag so that all the new states would be represented on it. To be continually adding stripes would make the flag very awkward in shape and appearance, so after arguing the matter for two years congress decided to return to the original thirteen stripes and one star for each state.

WANDERING ISLANDS.

Those of the Rio Grande Made Trouble For Us With Mexico.

The wandering islands of the Rio Grande in their migrations from side to side of the water course have caused years of diplomatic correspondence and discussion between the United States and Mexico. The refusal of certain small bodies of land to remain permanently attached to one or the other of the river's banks deprived them of a fixed legal status as either Mexican or American territory and brought about their participation in many illegal adventures, which in turn led to misunderstandings between the two countries.

In no river is spirit more evident than in the Rio Grande. Along its sinuous route below Rio Grande City it pushes its way through miles of level sand in its final reach for the gulf, twisting and doubling upon itself like a sea serpent. In 1848 it was fixed upon as the boundary line between the United States and Mexico. The boundary was to be the "middle of the river, following the deepest channel." But the river possessed characteristics that had not impressed themselves upon the framers of the convention as possible causes of friction between the people living along its banks. In addition to its eroding power, exercised through long months of low and mean water, it could during flood periods leap with torrential force across a narrow neck of land at the base of one of its long loops and cut for itself a new channel. Through such avulsive action of the river Texas soil would sometimes become Mexican, and on occasions a plantation occupied by jacals and Mexican citizens would overnight find itself a part of Texas.

An example will serve to show both the extraordinary actions of the river and the difficulties in the way of any satisfactory adjustment of conflicting interests. A certain Josiah Turner began to farm the Galveston ranch, on the Texas bank. Eight years later he was surprised when 221 acres of Mexican land came across the river and attached itself to his ranch. An arrangement was effected by which he became the owner of this land. Six years later the river cut off a piece of Mr. Turner's land and took it to Mexico. Twenty-one years later the river made up its mind to repay the farmer for what it had taken from him and so carried back into Texas a piece of land far larger than the tract originally lost. The Mexican owners claimed possession, and a new convention dealing with the questions under dispute became necessary.

Brigadier General Anson Mills, U. S. A., appointed to represent the United States, recommended that the "cutoffs" be forever eliminated from the boundary line, all those occurring on the right of the river to pass to the jurisdiction of Mexico, those on the left to that of Texas. The inhabitants, if any, should retain their citizenship in the country from which they had been so suddenly and violently detached, or they might acquire the nationality of the country to which they were now attached. Any cutoff exceeding 650 acres in area and having a population of over 200 souls was not to be considered a banco, and the old bed of the river should remain the boundary. A convention embodying his recommendations was finally ratified by both countries. Thus the great turbid, silt bearing river is left to pursue its way untrammeled, but the terrors so long synonymous with its name have through the operation of this equable arrangement become a part of the storied, romantic past.

Corpuscles In Normal Blood.

Normally there are approximately 5,000,000 red blood corpuscles in the cubic millimeter. The number is temporarily diminished during fatigue and after the ingestion of much fluid. Fasting and profuse sweating increase the number of red blood cells by concentrating the blood. In high altitudes the number is also increased. There are 5,000 to 10,000 white cells in the cubic millimeter, the ratio of white to red cells being about 1 to 500. In health the blood amounts to about one-thirteenth of the body weight.

New Zealand Oddities.

The crow in New Zealand strikes as sweet note as any head in the woodland. The robin has no song and no red breast. The native hen is the greatest of rat killers. There is a caterpillar which turns into a plant. These and some other productions of nature have done for New Zealand what the kangaroo and the ornithorhynchus have done for Australia—given it the suggestion of oddity and the marvelous.

READY FOR BUSINESS

MONTHLY MEETING OF PROBASCO BIBLE CLASS

The monthly meeting of the Probasco Bible class, of the First Baptist church, was held last night in the boys' rooms of the Y. M. C. A. The regular business meeting was held and plans were made for the annual play that is given by the class, although no date has as yet been set. Plans for the regular Christmas charity work that the class does every year, was talked over.

Dr. Norman Probasco, teacher of the class, gave the members a talk on several subjects after which the class orchestra entertained. This orchestra is led by Alfred A. Korff, of Watchung avenue, and is the first time it has played. Harold Davis is the pianist; Robert Butler and Lee Manning, violinists, and Gascon Hartley, mandolinist. Mr. Korff also played the French horn, and there were several pleasing solos. During the evening refreshments were served.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

There were ten present at the October-November birthday party held last night. Carnations were given to all as favors.

There was a slim attendance at the membership meeting last night because of the weather, and another has been called for next Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock. The subject of plans for the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Contest was discussed and the local association will be represented. The parts that the association will enter into has not yet been decided.

Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock Miss Ethel Colton will have charge of the "home hour."

Miss Harriet Mattison, of the local Board of Health, wil give the third of a series of lectures at the association Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. She will talk on "Water and Plainfield's Supply." All are invited to attend.

A group of girls who are planning to sew for the Belgians will meet next Tuesday night for the purpose of forming a club.

The Association building will be open all day Thanksgiving Day and visitors will be welcomed to visit and see the building. Tea will be served from 4 to 6 o'clock.

POSSESSION OF NEW HOME.

Charles Schwepp, purchasing agent for the Ingersoll-Rand Company, has taken possession of the Werr property on Jackson avenue, which he recently purchased through the agency of Frederick A. Martin, of North avenue. Mrs Weir is now living abroad, where her daughters went several years ago to complete their art studies.

BY MORRIS MILLER

Joe Cantillon of the Millers undoubtedly made an advantageous deal when he turned Henri Rondeau over to the Washington club in exchange for five ball players, every one of whom is almost sure to make good for the Millers. In Holland and Morley Jennings, Cantillon obtains a pair of infielders who are sure to be among the best in the association, while in "Mutt" Williams he will have a pitcher who is sure to develop into a star of the first water. Tom Wilson, the young catcher, is certain to develop into a star because he has a world of natural ability and needs only experience to bring him to the front. He is sure to get a lot of that, for Cantillon does not carry many catchers, and Wilson is apt to work most of the games. Carl Cashion, the fifth player to go to Minneapolis, also should prove of value. Joe will try to develop him into a first baseman. Cashion is a great hitter, and when played regularly will show this to be a fact.

Ad Wolgast, who strove so valiantly to regain his title from Freddie Welsh in a recent bout, has earned more money in the ring than any lightweight in the history of the game. Adolph has poured a mite over $300,000 into his coffers since he adopted boxing as a profession seven years ago. Wolgast has engaged in no less than eleven fights in which the receipts aggregated more than $25,000. Little Ad has never suffered the ignominy of a knock-out, and has been floored but twice in his ring career—once when he won the title from Nelson and the other time when he lost to Ritchie. Adolphus has the betting fever in the most aggravated form. He never fails to back himself heavily for a fight, as he says that is the inspiration he needs to battle in his best form. In his championship battle with Nelson, Wolgast backed himself to the extent of $5,400, which he won, and he lost $7,000 in wagers when he passed over the title to Ritchie.

Among the many experiences that have been encountered by Three-fingered Brown, the noted pitcher, was a criticism by a youthful knothole rooter. This was several years ago, and the club with which Brown then was associated was having a run of losing games. One day the team happened to be putting forth a game which was particularly sad. Brown was not pitching that afternoon and had occasion to pass along the fence on his way across the field. This was what he heard in the voice of a disgusted urchin on the other side of the barrier: "Hey, you, if you guys can't play better ball dan dat I'm gonna quit comin' out to see ya!"

If one had to select the five best catchers in the game at least four would have been born or reared in the west—i. e., Archer, Bresnahan, Gowdy and Schalk. If the best infielders had to be picked, all would be eastern born—Daubert and McInnis at first, Collins and Evers at second, Maranville and Barry at short, Baker and Loubert at third. If one had to pick the five best outfielders, at least four would report from the south, in Cobb, Speaker, Jackson and Milan. Which would furnish more material for another intersectional argument as to where sport flourishes with the most vivacious eclat.

Any manager in his first season with a club that finishes higher than it did in the previous season may rightly claim to have been successful. That claim belongs to Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn team this season by landing the Dodgers in fifth place. Robinson has a long-term contract with Brooklyn, and it would not be surprising to see him land a winner before his term of service expires. This year he had the best hitting club in the National league, the Dodgers having led the league in team hitting from the beginning of the season. However, the team lacked pitchers, but with the large number signed for next year, Robinson has hopes of developing a strong staff of twirlers.

"BOOSTER" SAYS

There is an old saying that "a bad beginning means a good end." If that is true the various athletic teams of this city should all have their best seasons this year. Both in football and basketball the city and borough teams are getting poor starts and the latest to enter into this class is the North Plainfield girls' basketball team. Last season the Roselle sextet was not in it with the boroughites, and Wednesday they won the first game that the North Plainfielders played. At the beginning of the football season Holy Cross lost a number of games before they started to win and it now looks as if a fair season could be recorded. The Y. M. C. A. basketball team was walloped in its first game and the Hope Chapel aggregation has already had its home record spoiled. The Plainfield High School football team did win the initial football game of the year.

However, the borough "lassies" need not worry about this defeat spoiling their season, as it was their initial tilt and was the sixth for the Roselle Park girls. When that team comes to Saengerbund Hall later in the season there will be a chance to win back that game.

Manager VanMater, of the borough High School five, will start the ever popular night games and dances next Friday, when he expects the Roselle High team to appear in the borough hall for a game. VanMater expects to have many of these games during the season, and several of his High School attractions will be shifted to night games.

In an effort to develop good basketball material before the students enter the High School, Saengerbund Hall has been given over to the borough boys of the seventh and eighth grades several hours a week. During these periods the hall is always in use as the grade athletes are constantly in the game.

Eugene Lidgate will play basketball this year for the first time in several seasons. The last team he played with was the Scotch Plains Parish House five, but he will enter into some fast company this season. The Company F team, of Elizabeth, has signed him and he will appear in the armory at that place every week.

Captain Chauncey Stout will take his Junior Elk bowling team to Jersey City, tomorrow, and he hopes to put the local team in the average column right at the start. No definite team has been selected as yet, and Laing and Vail, who have been with the senior team, will go with the team.

Harry Jennings, the Rutgers pitching wonder, who has made several good records while twirling for that team, has come into the limelight once more and has had an excellent offer from the National League. McGraw likes the style and ability that Jennings possesses and is anxious to get him to sign a contract. He is so anxious to get the big fellow that he has offered him a contract in two forms and has given Jennings his choice.

The manager of the P. H. S. Alumni football team that is to play the High School aggregation on Thanksgiving Day is going to make sure that the youngsters will not defeat the "old timers," and is getting all the stars possible to play. The team that Lindsay expects to put on the field looks like a winner.

The billiard tournament for the championship of this city was launched last night, and there will be a game every night now until the winners are found. Whether or not this tourney will show the real champion or not is a question, but all sharks of the city have a chance to enter free of charge, so there can be no kick coming after the best man wins the watch.

Seventeen entries have been listed in the Y. M. C. A. pool tournament and the first round will be played right away. The odd number of entrants made it necessary to have a preliminary round and one of the association's best players was drawn for this round.

Out of five bowling teams from this city, represented in four leagues, the Eagles' quintet is the only one that has upheld the reputation of the city in this game. The local aerie is now leading the State League and looks as if it will make a great run for the numerous trophies that have been offered. Up to the present time, the local team is leading for all of the trophies now being fought for. Of course there are many changes that can be made in a single match and the Queen City birds have not won the league yet by any means—just made a good start, that's all.

PLAINFIELD FIVE PLAYS OPENING GAME TONIGHT

Five basketball players from this city will go to Westfield tonight and meet the K. B. aggregation of that place. This quintet has quite a fine reputation and has won its only two games so far this season. The locals will present a strong lineup and will appear under the name of the Plainfield Five.

The trip will probably be made by automobile and there is to be dancing after the game. The contest will be played in St. Paul's parish house, on Main street.

BOROUGH GIRLS WILL PLAY FIRST HOME GAME TUESDAY

The North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team will play its first home game in Saengerbund Hall, next Tuesday afternoon, when the team from Kearney High School will appear here.

The borough sextet is anxious to annex this contest, being their first before their own rooters, and are practicing hard. Last year both teams won a game, each on their respective courts.

HOLY CROSS SHOULD DEFEAT MICHELINS

Game Will Be Played on Cricket Field Tomorrow Afternoon at 3:15.

When Holy Cross takes the field against the Michelin eleven, of Milltown, tomorrow afternoon, there will be three players out who have been on the first team all season. One of those is Jack Ricketts, who has been playing fine ball in the back field, and the other two are centers. Carty has announced that he is through for the present season and Stiglitz is out because of an injured arm. However, the boroughites will not be weakened so much as to fear losing the game as they are now going at their best and, from all dope, should have an easy time with the delegation from Milltown.

One valuable player who will be back in the game is "Turk" Webster, who did not play last Saturday, and he will probably take his old position at right end. If the team plays like it did last week, and there is no reason why it should not, the tire-makers will have to go some to win and for that purpose they will bring the strongest lineup possible to meet the Canucks on their own ground. For the past two Saturdays the Milltowners have played scoreless ties with the Dunellen aggregation, while the local boys have been winning by large scores. Of course, this is no sign of victory, but acording to dope the borough team should take the long end of the score. The teams will probably lineup as follows:

Holy Cross	Michelin
Caulfield, Manning	Engle
left end
Lee	Tunison
left tackle
Howarth	Heitzenroader
left guard
Glover	Smith
centre
Smith	Fritts right guard
Mair	Christ
right tackle
Webster, Cumming, Mullin	Mammond right end
Coyle	Crabiel
quarterback
T. Ricketts	Hudson
left halfback
J. Manning, Fritts	Edgerton
right halfback
Wilson	Evans
fullback

PATERSON INCREASES LEAD IN SENIOR ELKS' LEAGUE

ELKS' LEAGUE RECORD.

	W.	L.	H.S.
Paterson	14	4	1035
Jersey City	12	6	1058
Newark	9	6	1016
New York	7	8	1029

Hoboken	7	8	967
New Brunswick	5	7	967
Rahway	6	9	912
Rutherford	7	11	997
Plainfield	4	11	958

Paterson bowlers, who are showing the way in the Elks' League, increased their advantage last night by taking two games out of three, on their own alleys, from their closest rivals, the members of the Jersey City quintet. The Silk City pin-knights are now enjoying a lead of two games each way over the Hudson county opponents. There was a lot of clever pinning last night. In the second game the Patersonians came through for an even 1,000, the Jersey City five stopping at 904. In the next game the visitors were there for 942, while the Patersonians totaled 886. In the first game Paterson scored 932, while Jersey City was there for 873. Ernest scored 225 and 213 for Paterson, and had an average of 196-2. Taylor was there for 245 and 204, averaging 204-2, and Wright scored 222. Russell rolled 211, Corydon 204, and Wright 200.

The scores:

JERSEY CITY.
Wright	193	200	155

TALBOT PREDICTS VICTORY FOR YALE.

New Haven, Nov. 20.—Capt. Nelson Talbot has predicted a Yale victory over Harvard in the new Bowl Saturday. Talbot said:

I'm sorry and Coach Hinkey is sorry that we had so much secret practice this year, but we were driven to it. We've got a tough job ahead of us. You needn't worry about those fourteen points in the Princeton game. We had to save some of the big fellows for tomorrow. We're going to give the best we've got, and it will be enough."

HANK O'DAY OUSTED; BRESNAHAN MANAGER

Toledo Duke Will Receive $18,000 a Year From Charley Taft.

Rober Bresnahan, the one time fiery catcher of the New York Giants, will lead the Chicago Cubs in the 1915 campaign. Yesterday in Cincinnati, Roger signed a three years' contract as manager of the Chicago Nationals. The document was drawn at the offices of Charles P. Taft between Bresnahan and President Thomas, of the club.

Bresnahan's appointment clears the National League atmosphere in several spots. It relegates once more to the common ranks the long suffering Henry O'Day. Governor Tener, of the National League, has assured Hank a hearty welcome to his old berth on the umpiring staff, and it is likely that O'Day will avail himself of the position. He returned to the arbiter's job once before after he had failed to lead the Cincinnati Reds out of the wilderness.

From a "trustworthy source" in Chicago it is learned that Bresnahan signed for a salary of $6,000 a year as a player and $12,000 a year as Cub chieftain, or 18,000 iron men for each of the next three years. Roger is therefore getting $500 a year more than Tris Speaker, of the Red Sox, proving conclusively it pays to be a commissioned officer.

RAHWAY EAGLES TOOK ODD GAME AT HOME

Two games out of three went to the credit of the Rahway team, on its own alleys last night, in an Eagles' League bowling match with the Elizabeth five. Here are the scores:

RAHWAY.
Kelly	152	159	189
Repeka	201	192	137

HOPE CHAPEL WILL MEET PEERLESS FIVE TOMORROW

The Hope chapel basketball team will meet the Peerless Five, of Elizabeth, tomorrow night on the Fourth street court. Captain Tommy Heron has had his charges out this week for practice and they are in the best of shape.

The Elizabeth quintet has played several games so far this season and will bring its strongest lineup to do the "miracle" act.

N. P. H. S. AND WESTFIELD ON KEARNEY H. S. SCHEDULE

Twenty-eight games are on the basketball schedule of the Kearney High School, including two with North Plainfield and a pair with Westfield High School. The boroughites will play at the latter place at night and it will be Kearney's second game. The Westfield team will also play its game at Kearney at night.

The dates for the games follows:

Dec. 2—North Plainfield at Kearney (night).

Dec. 18—Kearney at North Plainfield.

Dec. 23—Westfield at Kearney (night).

Jan. 23—Kearney at Westfield.

P. H. S. MEETS MET. ELEVEN TOMORROW

Morris High School Team Will Appear on Parker Field Tomorrow.

Plainfield High School football enthusiasts will have a chance to see their team perform once more on Parker Field, tomorrow afternoon, when the Ninth street eleven will meet the strong Morris High School aggregation. This team is one of the best in scholastic circles in Brooklyn and will undoubtedly make the local warriors go some for the game.

Plainfield suffered a defeat last Saturday at the hands of Phillipsburg that taught them a lesson and they will be all the more on the guard for "fluke" plays tomorrow. All of the regulars will be in the game against this metropolitan team and "Bill" Peacock will take a place on the line instead of in the backfield. Bill injured himself in one of the early games and cannot play his old position any more, so he will play tackle.

The Morris eleven has made a fine showing against all of the Brooklyn and New York teams and is now in mid-season form. The game will start at 3:30.

Y. M. C. A. FIVE WILL PLAY SUMMIT CHAPEL

Second Home Game for Locals Will Undoubtedly Prove Exciting.

After finding out their faults from several critics that witnessed Saturday night's game, and after practising hard to overcome them Wednesday night, the Y. M. C. A. basketball team will take the floor again tomorrow night against the Summit Chapel Club. This team is one of the local team's best rivals and appears here every year in the early part of the season. The visitors are fully as speedy a bunch of basketeers as the Newark aggregation that played last week, but the local team hopes to make a better showing tomorrow night by taking their opponents into camp. The Summit squad has been practising as hard as the association players and are coming with a great determination to win.

Several new plays have been worked up by the local team and the players have derived great benefit from the two defeats they have already suffered. The big attraction will begin at 8:15 sharp and there will be a preliminary contest at 8 o'clock.

ANDREW STIGLITZ NOT PERMITTED TO PLAY

Andrew Stiglitz, of the Holy Cross football squad, will be out of the game for the rest of the season because of an injury sustained to his arm in the game against the Midwouts. He tore the ligaments and bruised the elbow bone, but at the time nothing was thought of the injury. Dr. Thomas Blair is attending Stiglitz and has forbidden him to play.

Stiglitz played in the back field during the first part of the season, but lately has been playing center. Glover will probably play that position now.

LOCAL EAGLES LOSE FIRST PLACE GRIP

Dropped Three at Somerville Last Night and Are Now Tied for High Honors.

Standing of the Teams.

	W.	L.	P.C.	H.S.
Plainfield	6	3	.667	984
Elizabeth	4	2	.667	898
Newark	2	1	.667	860
Progress, Newark	3	3	.500	859
Rahway	3	6	.333	917
Somerville	3	6	.333	875

Plainfield Eagle bowlers took a drop last night, and also relinquished their hold on first place, dropping into a triple tie for first honors. Elizabeth also fell with the locals, and the Newarks, which was idle last night, is the third member of the tie. The local team went to Somerville and handed the county seaters three games, which put Somerville into the average column.

The Plainfield pinners were way off their real form and their highest score was 750, which was made in the first game against Somerville's 859. Crowley started off the match with a 124 against Spenk's 201, while McCarthy's 144 was followed by Bradley's 200. Mahoney made the best score for the locals in this game, which was a 176. The locals became worse as the match progressed and in the second game Miller was the only one that pinned anywhere near his usual form when he made a 198. A 203, made by Schwab in this game, was high score of the match, and in the third game the locals lost all chance of retaining the lead when Crowley had some bad luck and counted 99.

The two matches that were played last night effected all the teams that took part, Rahway and Somerville tying for last place. The local five has played more games than either of the other two leading teams, so is practically leading. The next match of the league will be played Tuesday night when the Somerville birds will appear on the Second street alleys.

NEW YORK TEAM WILL PLAY IN THIS CITY

The Plainfield All Stars will lineup against the fast St. Christopher colored aggregation, of New York, on Wednesday night, December 30, in Saengerbund Hall. The visitors will be under the management of John R. Gates and are heralded as being a classy bunch of basketeers.

Harry Moulton will be at the head of the home team and will have with him Brynarski, Naylor, Ricketts and other stars.

HE'S ONE OF STAGG'S CLASSY FOOTBALLERS

Stegeman.

Having played classy ball in all he big Maroon contests to date, Stegeman seems reasonably sure of his "C." His job is left guard.

PARROTS BEAT CROWS IN INITIAL CONTEST

Strappe's Birds Defeated Opponents in Two Games Out of Three Last Night.

The Crows and Parrots opened the Knights of Columbus five-man bowling tournament, last night, on the club's alleys and the latter team took the first two games and dropped the third. The Parrots bowled very consistently while their opponents flashed up now and then with scores over the two hundred mark, but could not annex either of the first two games.

In the first setto, the Parrots started off poorly, but finished stronger than the Crows, who lost out by over twenty points. Both teams pinned better in the second game than in the opener and the Parrots kept well

Kyle, of the Crows, started off by making high score with a 208, and McCarthy, of the same quintet, made a 200 in the same game, but the other three members of the team pulled the score down to 822 while the Parrots made 861. A reverse score was registered in the last game when the Crows came out ahead easily. The Parrots took a big slump and only chalked up a team score of 779, while the blackbirds made their best score, 855. The next match will be played Monday, when the Quails and Robins will roll.

MILLER-CONNOLLY DUO TOOK THREE GAMES IN BOROUGH

George Conover and Luthman dropped three games to the Miller-Connolly combination in the borough bowling tournament played on Gates alleys last night. Two of the games were close and interesting, but the winners took the second game with fifty points to spare.

The score of the first game was 350 to 331 and the third was only separated by eight pins. Connolly made individual high score in the first game when he hit for 189. The scores and standings:

BRYNARSKI WINS FIRST MATCH WITH HANDICAP

Secretary Herbert E. Parker, of the Y. M. C. A., was the first one to be eliminated from the association handicap pool tournament, last night, when he was defeated by Albert Brynarski, the score being Parker 51, Brynarski 50. The latter's large handicap of 25 could not be overcome and he also played his best, seldom missing a shot.

This handicap has been given to several of the players of the third class and it is likely that some of the best players who are at scratch will be put out. Brynarski qualified for the second round.

EIGHT TEAMS TIED IN SIX-DAY GRIND

Gruelling Madison Square Garden Struggle Nearing Its End.

Showing little strain from their steady grind, but carefully watching each other, the twelve teams in the six-day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden, New York, continue to circle the banked oval, with eight teams in the lead more than three miles ahead of the record.

The early hours of the day were marked by continual sprinting, which resulted in the Walthour-Halstead team losing a lap. The sprint was ceaseless for eighteen minutes and was said to have been the fastest in the race. Early in the sprint Walthour lost a lap, but Halstead picked him up and tried to make up the lost ground. Round after round the riders raced, but the leaders clung on determinedly to Halstead's fast flying wheel. Exerting himself to the utmost, he was unable to shake off the leaders, and for the first time in the race the team fell behind.

Hansen, teamed with Kopsky, and Piercey, mated with Dupuy, made a lap during one of the sprints, but the pace was too much for Kopsky and he withdrew from the race, as Dupuy had done.

Piercey then teamed up with Hansen, making his third riding mate, Kavanagh having been first, to be followed by Dupuy. During the evening the Bedell Brothers also withdrew.

The scores at 2 o'clock follow:

Goullett and Grenda	2,149.8
Moran and McNamara	2,149.8
Fogler and Hill	2,149.8
Root and Clarke	2,149.8

Lawson and Drobach	2,149.8
Walthour and Halstead	2,149.7
Thomas and Hanley	2,149.5
Mitten and Anderson	2,149.3
Piercey and Hansen	2,148.7

Record 2,146.3.

DUNELLEN FOOTBALL.

The Monarchs, of Dunellen, will play the fast Garwood team, of that place, at Dunellen, tomorrow. The game should prove a good attraction as both teams are of about the same calibre. The game will start promptly at 3 o'clock, in order to get the contest over before dark.

NO REASON TO SELL AT MINIMUM RATE

Smalley Says Local Firms Should Not Suffer Because Bid Was Too Low.

Replying to the announcement made yesterday by E. L. Bader, of Atlantic City, who has the contract for building the sewerage disposal works on the Darling farm in Piscataway township, in which the contractor declared that he intended to import the stone to be used in the constructural work, Newton B. Smalley, vice president of the Plainfield Trap Rock Company, this morning, made the following statement to a Daily Press reporter:

"The local quarries are in a corporation for the purpose of doing business on a sound basis and if they furnish stone for the sewerage construction purpose they expect and should receive a profit. It requires several years to establish the business and the expense of labor and general maintenance are heavy aside from the danger attending the getting out of stone. The location selected for the sewer beds, being a long distance from the crusher, adds more than double the price of hauling, and makes it more expensive to deliver. The accepted bid being thousands of dollars lower than the rest is no reason why stone should be sold at a ridiculous price to help out the contractor. The prices quoted in your paper last night referred to stone in the mountain back of the proposed location, which if used would not result in helping labor in Plainfield or producing the quality required by the specifications. The first cost of the stone is the least expense attached to the finished product. Much has been said about combinations and the stone business. The lack of knowledge of the truth was the basis of many of them."

Mr. Bader has submitted to Engineer George W. Fuller, who has supervision of the work, a sample of the stone which he proposes to use in the work and says that he will bring it to Plainfield from a point in South Jersey.

Queer Things In The War News

The Austrian army is being fed with horseflesh, the supply of cattle having decreased materially.

An eyewitness writes that the army of the czar has more musicians than there are soldiers in the armies of the United States.

The favorite name in France for Germans is "Boches," pronounced "bosh." There is doubt of its derivation, but no doubt of its having a pleasing sound to the French.

The Paris Temps tried to publish the number of German prisoners in France, and when the censor got through this is the way it appeared: "The number of prisoners in France a few days ago was blank plus blank, including German civilians interned, making the minimum blank."

The Germans are said to be building a new type of large submarine which will be used for the transportation of troops. The main object is to enable the troops to reach shore without being detected by the forces on land. The new boats can also be employed as pontoons on the surface.

Le Temps of Paris appeals to Parisiennes to send their woolen petticoats for use by the wounded. "When the soldiers are suffering from leg wounds it is impossible for them to wear trousers, and they suffer extremely from the cold before being transported to the hospital," says the paper.

DOCTOR FINDS WAY TO DISINFECT MAN'S INTERIOR.

Method Kills Intestinal Bacteria With Antiseptic Solution.

J. T. Ainslee Walker, fellow of the Royal Society of Medicine, a chemist of New York city, who is well known to the scientific world as the codiscoverer of a test for standardizing disinfectants, made an important announcement relative to intestinal disinfection in American Medicine.

If the tests which are being carried out independently by several physicians are as successful as those already announced the future treatment of typhoid fever, dysentery, cholera and other diseases arising from the presence of bacteria in the intestinal tract will consist in a large measure of the introduction of an antiseptic solution directly into the alimentary canal by means of a tube passed through the mouth, oesophagus, stomach and into the duodenum.

Efforts in the past to achieve satisfactory results by the employment of intestinal antiseptics have failed for the reason that the substances used have been of a strength sufficient to damage the tissues or to endanger life itself. According to Dr. Walker, the solution he uses does neither and is strong enough to kill the disease germs.

The new antiseptic consists of a solution of sodium sulphate, to which has been added a quantity of trimethylmethoxy-phenol in the form of gelatin emulsion.

"Of past attempts to bring the contents of the alimentary canal under the influence of disinfection," says Dr. Walker, "little need be mentioned here beyond the fact that of the long array of chemical reagents and other substances put forward from time to time in the hope of solving the problem all have failed in one or more respects to fulfill the requirements essential to the successful action of an intestinal disinfectant.

"Recent research has brought to light a chemical product which fills all requirements. This, with the introduction of the 'duodenal enema' of Dr. Ellice McDonald and, at his suggestion, the application of the new product by this method, makes disinfection of the intestinal canal at once possible."

LEAD THE BOER REVOLT.

De Wet and Beyers Prominent Figures In South Africa's Recent History.

General Christian de Wet, leader of the new revolt of Boers in South Africa against British rule, was one of the greatest leaders of the Boer war as commander in chief of the Orange Free State forces and the assistant of General Cronje in the taking of Ladysmith, after which he was placed in full command.

In the latter days of the war he caused the British army much embarrassment because of the tactics by which he made vain for a long time the pursuit of his remnant of an army by fully twenty British columns. At the Vereeniging peace conference he was one of the signatories, and in the union government that followed he accepted the office of minister of agriculture.

Brigadier General Christian Frederick Beyers has been as openly bitter in the present matter as General de Wet. He made a demonstration of his opposition to the British plan for conquering German Southwest Africa by resigning his office as commandant of the forces of defense last September, and in his letter to General Smuts, minister of defense of the South African Union, wrote that he could not be convinced of the righteousness of a war against Germany.

General Beyers was chairman of the Vereeniging peace conference, when the Boers swore allegiance to Great Britain.

Last Saturday Before Thanksgiving---Women's Coats, Suits, Dresses, Skirts

Almost a Thousand New Garments at Special Prices

350 Women's Coats, $16.75, $18.75, $19.50 and $25

Warm coats for winter weather. Silk plush, zibeline, caracal cloth, pony cloth. Warm interlinings. Guaranteed satin linings.

Coats cut with flaring skirts, some with the new belt effects. Big warm collars—some of fur.

At $16.75—five styles—they would be good at $25.

At $18.75—coats of zibeline such as we have had in our $45 coats.

At $19.50—fifty-five coats of silk plush such as we would expect to price $30.

At $25 — smart, rather short plush coats with Russian fitch collar; longer flare coats with skunk dyed raccoon collars; perfectly plain plush coats with belt effect and flaring skirt.

The Tailored Suits, $16.50, $18.75, $23.50

$16.50 suits are so remarkable that they fairly insist upon being described.

Gabardine, extra good quality. Short waistline jacket banded with fur—a foreign idea. Circular skirts. Old blue, navy and black. Broadcloth suits at the same price.

$18.75 suits are exact duplicates of models formerly here at $45.

Same exquisite broadcloth, same good raccoon fur, same double-breasted military style. Pretty good news to save more than $25 on a suit at the beginning of the season.

At $23.50 broadcloth suits with short flaring coats fur trimmed.

Also corduroy with a new kind of coat; broadcloth with yoke coat, skirt interestingly pleated; all richly trimmed with fur.

Another Style at $23.50 Duplicates an Earlier $48.50 Model

With its buttons down the back, its bandings of fur, its long tunic.

Black, navy, brown and green. We never offered such exceptional suits for these small prices before Thanksgiving.

New Dance Frocks, $15

Duplicates of pretty frocks here a little while ago specially priced, $27.50.

Velveteen corsage over a skirt made of three pleated taffeta flounces. Charming colors.

250 Skirts, $2.95

Flare skirts, short skirts, skirts with pockets and belts—good service skirts for the trip to the country.

Corduroy, dark blue and green plaids, and plain colored and black. Second floor, Old Building.

230 Boys' Overcoats Special—$7.75

27 are $9 grades
101 are $10.50 grades
61 are $12.50 grades
38 are $13.50 grades
3 are $18 grades

Made by one of the good manufacturing tailors who made a large part of our regular stocks of boys' overcoats for this season.

Chinchillas mostly; in Balmacaan, fitted back, double-breasted, Russian and polo models; some full-lined; some half lined; some with velvet collars, some with self collars; some with belted backs; sizes 4 to 18 years.

Extra Knicker Suits at $6.75

Norfolk models in fancy cassimeres and cheviots; serge lined throughout; knickers full lined; grays, browns, blue mixtures; sizes 7 to 18 years.

165 Blue Suits at $7.50

Extra knicker suits of blue serge and blue cheviot; sizes 7 to 18 years.

Norfolk knife pleat models, lined throughout with serge; knickers full lined.

Boys' Shoes
(Burlington Arcade floor, New Building)

At $2.75—Sturdy box calfskin blucher with heavy sole of old-fashioned oak-tanned leather with all the grain on; extra serviceable; very popular with economical parents.

At $3.50—A practically wear-proof box calfskin blucher, with broad toe and tough, but flexible, leather sole.

Dress Shoes, $3 and $4—lighter than the foregoing, and of patent leather or dull calfskin.

Second floor, Old Building.

PRIMARY OBJECT OF COUNTY ROADS

It is to Build Market Highways and Not to Improve City Streets.

METHOD OF ASSESSING

Many Large Cities Are Taxed for State-aid Highways, But Not a Mile Has Been Built Within Corporate Limits.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20—The road building specialists of the Department of Agriculture, in Bulletin No. 136, entitled "Highway Bonds," have the following to say about the benefit of a well constructed highway to property owners whose property is not directly on the road to be improved:

"In planning the highway system or the main market roads, it will be found necessary to omit many roads the improvement of which is greatly desired by abutting landowners. The fact that such property holders must pay a tax for the bond issue is only an apparent injustice, for if the highway system is well planned the entire county will feel the benefits of the improvement. As a rule, main market roads reach the majority of producing areas, and when they are improved all land values tend to increase.

"The fact that cities and large towns are frequently taxed for bond issues to build highways outside of their own limits is sometimes made a point of debate in bond elections. It is argued that because a large part of the county wealth is within the corporate limit of such cities and towns, highway bond money should also be used to construct their streets. It is even urged that the expenditure should be made proportionate to the assessed valuation within the city limits. If the proceeds of highway bond issues were distributed in this way, their purpose in many cases would be defeated. The primary object of the county highway bond issue is to build county market roads and not to improve city streets, although a high percentage of the assessed valuation may be city property. It is now known that the expenditure of city taxes on country roads is a sound principle and that it is one of the best features of State aid for highways. In Massachusetts the city of Boston pays possibly 40 per cent. of the total State highway fund, but not a mile of State-aid highway has been built within its limtis. New York city also pays about 60 per cent. of the cost of the State highway bonds. Some State laws prohibit the expenditure of proceeds of State highway bonds within corporate limits of cities or towns.

"The improvement of market roads results in improved marketing conditions which benefit the city. Most cities are essentially dependent upon the surrounding country for their prosperity and development. The development of suburban property for residence purposes is also dependent upon highway conditions and it is becoming evident yearly that whatever makes for an increase in rural population must be encouraged. Since the introduction of motor traffic, country highways are used to an increasing extent by city residents. In fact, the cost of maintaining many country highways has been greatly increased by the presence of city-owned motor vehicles. The general advance in facilities for doing country business from town headquarters when roads are improved is no inconsiderable factor in the commercial life of the community."

ELECTION EXPENSES OF $40,000 ARE PAID

Freeholders Also Adopt Resolutions on Death of John Kean.

Elizabeth, Nov. 20—The Board of Freeholders paid election expenses agregating $40,000 at a special meeting yesterday afternoon. Resolutions eulogizing former United States Senator John Kean were introduced by Freeholder Krouse and adopted by rising vote.

The resolutions were ordered sent to the bereaved family. They praised the late Mr. Kean for his integrity, forcefulness and ability.

Roselle Park officials sent a complaint against the city of Elizabeth for blocking up Roselle Park's storm sewer. It was referred to the county attorney.

CRACOW IS THE POLISH MECCA

City Which is Now Threatened by Russians, Has Proud and Splendid Past.

One must approach Cracow, as the Russians now do, from the eastward in order to get a proper impression of the old Polish capital, now in the melancholy sunset of its proud and splendid past. It is from the east one sees the multitude of towers and turrets, steeples and domes of Cracow, and sees them untarnished by the network of narrow, tortuous and dirty streets which characterize the city that was the glory of the Polish kingdom when it was the rival of Russia and Prussia.

In Cracow lived Kasimir the Great, the author of the celebrated edict of tolerance to the Jews in the fourteenth century. Here was performed the marriage which fused Poland and Lithuania. And here, too, in 1525, the fatal mistake was made by King Sigismund of granting to Albrecht of Brandenburg the Duchy of Prussia in perpetual fief—that Duchy which in course of time grew to be the Prussia of Frederick the Great, the gravedigger of Poland. Although the capital was removed to Warsaw in 1600, the kings continued to be crowned in Cracow and buried in the Cracow Katedra, the cathedral which still survives.

Legend attributes the origin of the city to the Slav Sagas, Krakus, who lived in the ninth century. Legend tells of his beautiful daughter, Wanda, who was driven by the importunity of her numerous suitors to such despair as to throw herself into the Vistula. Certain it is that in the eleventh century Cracow, on the crossroads from three seas and four great rivers, enjoyed prosperity. It counted among its bishops the martyr Stanislas, subsequently canonized by the Roman Church, who had been slain before the altar by King Boleslas the Great.

For three centuries during the feudal period, it passed from hand to hand, now captured by the Germans, now sacked by the Tartars, and again siezed by the Bohemians. Casimir the Great was its greatest leader, founding, in 1364, the university which two centuries later was to become one of the seats of humanism and the arena of long battles between the Jesuits and the numerous students. At that time Cracow had a population of 100,000, and traded with all Europe, including England. The city received a moral blow when the capital was transferred to Warsaw.

In 1655, Charles Gustavus of Sweden sacked Cracow, disarmed its citizens, expelled its clergy and professors, destroyed the schools and churches, and exacted a heavy tribute. No sooner had he gone than the Transylvanian prince, the famous Prince Rakoczy, came and completed the work of devastation. Again, in 1702, Charles XII of Sweden, suffering defeat everywhere, wreaked his vengeance on Cracow by plundering and burning it. Russia and Prussia were already on Poland's track, and the so-called Confederation of the Bar, with its seat at Gracow, was formed to offer resistance. But Suvaroff took Cracow by storm in 1772. Twice was Poland partitioned, and then came the great rising under Kosciusko in 1794, which brought about the end of Poland. Cracow was pillaged by the Austrians and Prussians, and the latter carried off the contents of the royal treasury.

Cracow now became an Austrian city, but with the restoration of the Duchy of Warsaw by Napoleon it was incorporated with it. By the treaty of Vienna, it was made an independent State, but in 1846, Austria attacked and annexed the little Republic, against the protests of England and France.

Since that time the city has been turned into a fortress. The royal palace is a military barracks and the university a German school, although, in 1870, its Polish character was restored.

The Russians will find it a difficult city to take, for there are now two belts of forts guarding it, one thirty, the other twelve miles in circumference, and barracks and depots without number.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

Improved business conditions are reflected in many of the trades.

The report of progress of women's unions was not the least of the important papers at Philadelphia.

A demand for 30 cents an hour was made by Newark, N. J., teamsters, and they were obliged to strike to get it.

According to tabulators, there were in the world in 1912, a total of 12,094,490 members of trades unions.

It is also reported that over 9 per cent. of the total population of Australia are union men; and that England has over 8 per cent.

The fur manufacturers and fur workers, after lengthy negotiations, have agreed in Boston on a scale of wages.

Some of the typos seek to recover from President Lynch the $10,000 voted to him at the recent international convention.

Figures at hand show an increase of 46,000 union men in Canada in two years; the total this year is 175,799.

A great victory for unionism was registered recently in Cleveland, when the head of the public schools was found guilty of contempt for ousting union teachers.

Because both sides in a controversy were not explained to members, a St. Louis judge has retrained the trainmen from calling a strike there.

Praise of the Clayton Act and condemnation of war as an added burden on the workers were two measures most heartily endorsed at the Federation convention.

A hundred-year strike has just ended in London. The printing pressmen of the London Times in 1814 struck when steam presses were installed. The Times decided after a hundred years that the union was a good thing to recognize.

It cost $4,389,510 to conduct 957 strikes in America last year. But the result benefited 74,350 workers, according to the report presented to the delegates at Philadelphia.

The retirement of Judge Daniel Thew Wright at Washington is hailed with glee by union men. His endeavors to put Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison in jail are vividly recalled by his resignation while under fire.

JR. C. E. DEPARTMENT TO HOLD A CONFERENCE

Rahway, Nov. 20—A very interesting conference is being arranged by the Junior Department of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union, which will take place in the Reformed church, of Linden, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Miss Clara Drake, junior superintendent of the Essex County Christian Endeavor Union, will be the principal speaker. There will be other speakers also.

Supper will be served and the entertainment committee is very desirous of knowing by Saturday, just how many Endeavorers from each society wish to have a place reserved at the supper table. Send these names on to Ralph Custin, Linden.

The session is the second of a series of conferences being conducted by the county organization, this particular event being in charge of Miss Mary Hoagland, of Elizabeth, the county junior superintendent. A large attendance is expected.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The patrons of Proctor's Theatre were given a genuine treat yesterday, in the tabloid melo-drama, "The Law of the Plains," presented by a high-class company. It tells a story of Texas life in a realistic manner, full of thrills and heart interests. William A. Howell in the principal role of "Neal Kendall," is ably supported by Frances Meade, Charles Long, Frank Moore and a group of ranchmen. It is one of the "biggest" acts Proctor's has had in several months and is the feature number of a well balanced bill for the last half of the week. The other offerings include Sylvester, the "Nut" magician, who hands out a bunch of laughs with his "nuffy" line of talk; Fox and Burkhardt, comedians, who mix good comedy with parodies sung in "classy" voices; Sullivan, Harris and Ferguson, presenting a comedy sketch, and Tate and Tate, talking acrobats.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crater, of West Fourth street, have gone to Meadville, Pa., for a visit with relatives.

Miss Beatrice Pope, of Summit avenue, has returned after spending two weeks with relatives at High Bridge.

Mrs. Elmer DeKayne, of New Brunswick, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Jaeger, of East Second street.

BROADWAY AND THIRTY-THIRD STREET, NEW YORK

The GIMBEL Christmas Toy Store and "Santa Claus Land" Open Tomorrow—Come Children, You're All Invited!

It Will Be "Getting Acquainted" Day With the Most Wonderful Toy Stock You Have Ever Seen, in Spite of War Times, in

New York's Greatest, Brightest, Most Fascinating Toy Store

Read the interesting story printed here, told by our Toy Chief himself, and you will understand not only how it happened that we are able to make the finest display of toys in our store history, but also what good reason we have to be truly proud of our achievement.

The GIMBEL Toy Chief's Own Story

Peasant Women Bringing Toys Into Sonneberg, Germany.

"If you had asked me six weeks ago what the chances were of my being able to show you all the toys you see gathered here, I would probably have told you that they were very slim.

"But miracles have been happening since then, and—you'd hardly believe it—there are 95% of my foreign toys under the GIMBEL roof to-day; the other 5% are within sight of New York, and I will have them by December 1st. And when you add the far greater amount of American toys, which I bought when our chances for getting our European toys seemed pretty poor, you have a toy stock that is actually much larger than any we have ever had at any Christmas time.

"So the little children of New York won't have to go without their toys this Christmas."

"But how did you get all these toys over?" we asked.

"Well, I suppose I'll have to start at the beginning.

"To begin with, I sailed for Europe on February 17th of this year, and headed straight for the great Leipzig Fair, to commence the gathering of the toys for this Christmas.

"You know the toy industry in Germany is practically a home industry. It gives employment to thousands of families; each member, from grandfather to the youngest toddler, having his or her particular job, from carving the toy out of the smooth blocks of white wood, to painting spots or sticking on tails.

"These toys are gathered from house to house and brought into the nearest big town to make it more convenient for the merchants who come to buy them.

"For instance, when I was at Sonneberg I took some kodak views, although it was a rainy day, of the peasant women trudging into the town with huge baskets of toys on their backs.

(The pictures in this story are the reproductions of these kodaks.)

"After Leipzig, I visited all other toy towns in turn—Berlin, Sonneberg, as I have already said, then Lauscha, Neustadt, Coburg, Gotha, Walterhausen, Nuremberg, Giengen, then over to Vienna and back to Paris and London, and sailed on the Lusitania for New York on April 11th. I was gone over two months, you see.

"Everything went smoothly after I got back, until July. The toys I bought were arriving regularly, and from my experience in my ten toy-buying trips abroad, I imagined that it would be the same this year.

"Then I had a 'hunch' that things were going to happen in Europe, and I suggested to the firm that our European offices in London, Paris and Berlin should be instructed to gather our German toys with all possible speed and ship them to England, whose ports I felt sure, would remain open to commerce, even if the German ports were blockaded.

"But when the war actually did break out, it found the steamer 'Bermuda' with forty cases of our toys aboard, caught in Hamburg harbor—a closed port.

"It didn't seem possible to get these toys from the 'Bermuda' before the end of the war. But our Berlin Office succeeded in getting these cases from the 'Bermuda' and shipped via Rotterdam.

"Then, our forwarding agents in Bremen notified us that many cases of toys were lying on the piers at that port. Our Berlin manager went to Bremen and had these toys shipped to Rotterdam. Toy makers in Saxony and Bavaria told us that our toys were ready for shipment, but that it was up to us to find ways and means of getting them across the Atlantic. Our German organization was equal to the task; and the toys were shipped up the Rhine on barges and canal boats to Holland, and thence by little cargo boats like the Eibergen, Soestdyk, Tomsk, Corredyk, and other little steamers that have never before come to New York.

"In the mean time, I was not idle over here in America. I bought, from importers in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago all the foreign toys I could secure, and increased my orders with American makers, to make up, as far as possible, for the shortage I expected in our foreign shipments.

"And so, thanks to the way our foreign offices stuck to their colors and the aid we received from America, I'm able to offer to the parents and children New York the finest collection of toys it has ever been my good fortune to gather. There are not in New York, if in all America, assortments equal to ours.

"We have a bigger and better arranged Toy Store this year, too, than ever before. We drew a map of the store the day it opened last year, and all through the season, until Christmas, we marked on it every change that it proved desirable to make. And the plans for the new 1914 Toy Store were complete on January 1st!

"And here it is, all ready, and I think it will bring more joy and pleasure to the children than ever a Toy Store did before."

Great Loads of Toys Are Carried for Miles on Peasant Women's Heads.

Then come as early as you can tomorrow with your parents or grown-up friends and see everything for yourselves.

Everything will be ready in this airy, merry Toy Store, with its 60,000 square feet of floor space, an acre and a half---

Here is a very small part of what you will see:

The Bewitching Collection of Dolls

From littlest to biggest, dressed and undressed, including the new Jointed Dolls from Germany, with eyes that move side-wise, and the cutest little moving tongues. Beautiful Paris Dolls, and the great variety of American Character Dolls, complete a gathering that would delight every little girl in New York.

The Great Parade of the Lead Soldiers

Every boy is playing soldiers, of course, and we are glad to have unquestionably the finest collection of toy soldiers in this country. Reinforcements are hurrying to us from London, captured there by our London office. Soldiers of every nation; and all sorts of other material things, such as drums, cannons, uniforms, and muskets.

More Animals Than You Ever Saw in a Zoo

Here is a long avenue of them, from the miniature Animals, true to nature, from Pfeiffer of Vienna, to the big Wooly Lambs, Bears and other comfy Pets. A whole new group of Animals, that squeak when you squeeze them.

The Wooden Toys Have a Room to Themselves

They make a brave showing which includes Battleships, Automobiles, Trains, Ten-pin Games, Trick Boxes, and many other interesting things—mostly from Germany.

So we could go on indefinitely, giving a chapter to each of the following:

The Busy Railroad Yard With Its Whizzing Trains

Including a complete Elevated Railroad, like the Sixth Avenue Line.

The Long Avenue Devoted to Mechanical Toys

With such interesting construction devices as Meccano, Erector, Structo and others.

Mechanical Ships and Other Toys that Swim
The Complete Collection of New Board Games
The Dazzling Christmas Tree Ornaments
The Colored Picture Books for Children

And then the Magic Lanterns, the Doll's Houses, the Children's Furniture, each in its conveniently arranged section. Fourth Floor

What a Realm of Delight Is "Santa Claus Land!"

See the Traveling Circus, the Fairy Story of Snow White, the Animals' Court in the Jungle, and the Real Live Santa Claus!

Thousands of French children were thrilled last year with the Traveling Circus presented at the famous Galeries Lafayette in Paris, and now brought to New York by GIMBELS. There are Trapeze Performers, Acrobats, Swings in full motion, Wild Animals in Cages,—in fact, a whole sure-enough Circus in miniature.

Then you'll see the Prince driving in his carriage in search of Snow White, who is sleeping an enchanted sleep, in the castle of the wicked dwarfs. And King Lion in the jungle, holding court over the other animals.

ONE NEED HAVE NO FEAR OF MEAT

According to the Specialists of the Department of Agriculture.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20,—According to the specialists of the Department of Agriculture people even in States quarantined for the foot-and-mouth disease need have no fear of eating meat, provided they cook it thoroughly. The foot-and-mouth disease is not easily communicated to human beings through food, although milk from a diseased cow might transmit the disease to a human being. In the case of milk, however, pasteurization will render it entirely safe. Human beings who do get the disease commonly get it from direct contact with a sick animal. It is wisest, therefore, for people to keep away from all animals having the disease, unless they are properly provided with rubber gloves, coats and boots, and these are thoroughly disinfected after each visit to the animals.

In the case of meat, as in the case of milk, it must be remembered that all herds which actually show the disease are quarantined, and neither milk nor meat from the sick animals can be sold. Sixty per cent. of the meat used in this country is produced in the nearly nine hundred Federally inspected slaughtering and packing establishments located in two hundred and forty cities. In these establishments no animal is slaughtered until it has passed an ante-mortem inspection and also a most rigid post-mortem inspection by a veterinarian at time of slaughter. After slaughter its meat cannot leave the establishment until it has been carefully examined and stamped "U. S. Inspected and Passed." In all these establishments no animal showing any symptoms whatever of foot-and-mouth disease is allowed to go to slaughter, and no meat which, on post-mortem inspection, shows any suspicious symptoms of this complaint can be shipped out of the establishment. All meat suspected of coming from an animal suffering with this complaint is sent, under Government seal, to the tanks to be rendered into fertilizer. The Federal inspection stamp on meat, therefore, means that it is entirely safe.

The Federal Government, however, has no jurisdiction over local slaughter houses which do not ship meat outside of the State in which it is slaughtered. If, however, meat from such an animal did escape from one of these local slaughter houses, which are purely under State or municipal control, all danger of its communicating the disease to human beings would be removed when it is thoroughly cooked and sterilized. Those who are located near an infected region and wish to be absolutely certain of the safety of their meat should cook it thoroughly.

The disease when contracted by adults is not at all a serious illness. It commonly takes the form of slight fever sores in the mouth and a slight eruption on the fingers. In the case of small or sickly children, it may take a more serious form, especially if complicated by other illnesses.

the city are combining to show the residents of the surrounding territory the advantages of coming here to trade. There is no city in the State where trading can be done more advantageously than in Plainfield and in quality, variety and general up-to-dateness of her stores, Plainfield is far superior as a trading centre to many cities several times her size.

Remember the fare of every out-of-town customer who comes from any of the towns named in the schedule will be refunded. Rural residents who do not travel here via the railroads will have an equivalent of their fare refunded also, so no one will be discriminated against because he does not happen to live on a railroad.

And remember also you will not have to trade any certain or definite amount at any one store. Trade where you please with any of the merchants on the list and when you get through come to the Daily Press office and get the price of your railroad fare.

The special inducements to be offered by the Plainfield merchants represented in this trade movement will certainly be sufficient to recompense all who take advantage of them.

The Daily Press assures all visitors from outlying sections especially those who have not heretofore come to Plainfield to trade, that they will be given a cordial welcome, fair and honorable treatment by our merchants, and will learn to their full satisfaction that Plainfield is the best retail trade centre in this section of the State.

AT ONCE! CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN, HEAD COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

Breathe Freely! Clears Stuffed-up, Inflamed Nose and Head and Stops Catarrhal Discharge—Cures Dull Headache.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone!

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Adv.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Meat Regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

"Mis' Chairman," he said, "I move you—and all of us—that the Old Trail Town meeting do and hereby does declare itself in favor of striking Christmas celebrations from its calendar this year. And that we circulate a petition through the town to this effect, headed by our names. And that we all own up that it's for the simple and regretful reason that not a mother's son of us can afford to buy Christmas presents this year, and what's the use of scratching to keep up appearances?"

For a breath Abel Ames hesitated; then he spoke voluntarily for the first time that evening.

"Mr. President, I second the hull of that," said he, slowly, and without looking at anybody, and then sighed his vast, triple sigh.

There was apparently nobody to vote against the motion. Mis' Winslow did not vote at all. Ellen Bourne said "No," but she said it so faintly that nobody heard save those nearest her, and they felt a bit embarrassed for her because she had spoken alone, and they tried to cover up the minute.

"Carried," said the chair, and slipped out in the kitchen to put on the coffee.

At the meeting there was almost nobody who, in the course of the evening, did not make or reply to some form of observation on one theme. It was:

"Well, I wish Mary Chavah'd been to the meeting. She'd have enjoyed herself."

Or, "Well, won't Mary Chavah be glad of this plan they've got? She's wanted it a good while."

Or, "We all seem to have come to Mary Chavah's way of thinking, don't we? You know, she ain't kept any Christmas for years."

Unless it was Abel Ames. He, in fact, made or replied to almost no observations that evening. He drank his coffee without cream, sugar, or spoon—they are always overlooking somebody's essentials in this way, and such is Old Trail Town's shy courtesy that the omission is never mentioned or repaired by the victim—and sighed his triple sigh at intervals, and went home.

"Hetty," he said to his wife, who had not gone to the meeting, "they put it through. We won't have no Christmas creditors this year. We don't have to furnish charged Christmas presents for nobody."

She looked up from the towel she was featherstitching—she was a little woman who carried her head back and had large eyes and the long, curved lashes of a child.

"I s'pose you're real relieved, ain't you, Abel?" she answered.

"My, yes," said Abel, without expression. "My, yes."

CHAPTER III.

A Sane Christmas.

THEY all took the news home in different wise. "Matthew," said Ellen Bourne, "the town meeting voted not to have any Christmas this year. That is, to ask the folks not to have any—'count of expense."

"Sensible move," said Matthew, sharpening his ax by the kitchen stove.

"It'll be a relief for most folks not to have the muss and the clutter," said Ellen's mother.

"Hey, king and country!" said Ellen's old father, whittling a stick. "I ain't done no more'n look on at a Christmas for ten years and more—with no children around so."

"I know," said Ellen Bourne, "I know."

The announcement was greeted by Mortimer Bates with a slap of the knee.

"Goodby, folderol!" he said. "We need a sane Christmas in the world a good sight more'n we need a sane Fourth, most places. Good work."

But Bennet and Gussie Bates burst into wails.

"Hush!" said Mis' Bates peremptorily. "You ain't the only ones, remember. It's no Christmas for nobody!"

"I thought the rest of 'em would have one an' we could go over to theirs," sobbed Gussie.

"I'd rather p'tend it's Christmas in other houses even if we ain't it!" mourned Bennet.

"Be my little man and woman," admonished Mis' Mortimer Bates.

At the Morans' little Emily Moran made an unexpected deduction:

"I won't stay in bed all day Christmas!" she gave out.

"Stay in bed!" echoed Mis' Moran. "Why on this earth should you stay in bed?"

"Well, if we get up then it's Christmas, and you can't stop it!" little Emily triumphed.

When they told Pep, the minister's son, after a long preparation by story and other gradual approach and a Socratic questioning cleverly winning damaging admissions from Pep, he looked up in his father's face thoughtfully:

"If they ain't no Christ's birthday this year, is it a lie that Christ was born?" he demanded.

And secretly the children took counsel with one another. Would Buff Miles, the tenor in the church choir, take them out after dark on Christmas eve to sing church choir serenades at folks' gates or would he not? And when they thought that he might not, because this would be considered Christmas celebration and would only make the absence of present giving the more conspicuous, as in the case of the Sunday schools themselves, they faced still another theological quandary. For if it was true that Christ was born then Christmas was his birthday, and if Christmas was his birthday wasn't it wicked not to pay any attention?

Alone of them all little Tab Winslow rejoiced. His brothers and sisters made the time tearful with questionings as to the effect on Santa Claus, and how would they get word to him, and would it be Christmas in the city, and why couldn't they move there and other matters denoting the reversal of this their earth. But Tab slipped out the kitchen door to the corner of the barn, where the great turkey gobbler who had been named held his empire trustingly.

"Oh, Theophilus Thistledown," said Tab to him, "you're the only one in this town that's going to have a Christmas. You ain't got to be et."

The placard was tacked to the Old Trail Town postoffice wall between a summons to join the army and navy of the United States and the reward offered for an escaped convict—all three manifestoes registering something of the stage of society's development.

NOTICE.

Owing to the local business depression and to the current private decisions to get up very few home Christmas celebrations this year, and also to the vote of the various lodges, churches, Sunday schools, etc., etc., etc., to forego the usual Christmas tree observances, the merchants of this town have one and all united with most of the folks to petition the rest to omit all Christmas presents, believing that the Christmas spirit will be kept up best by all agreeing to act alike. All that's willing may announce it by signing below and notifying others.

THE COMMITTEE.

There were only 300 folk living in Old Trail Town. Already two-thirds of their signatures were scrawled on the sheets of foolscap tacked beneath the notice.

On the day after her return home, Jenny Wing stood and stared at the notice. Her mother had written to her of the town's talk, but the placard made it seem worse.

"I'll go in on the way home and see what Mary says," she thought, and asked for the letter that lay in Mary Chavah's box, next her own. They gave her the letter without question. All Old Trail Town asks for its neighbor's mail and reads its neighbor's postmarks and gets to know the different writings and to inquire after them, like persons. ("He ain't got so much of a curl to his M today," one will say of a superscription. "Better write right back and chirk 'im up." Or, "Here's her that don't seal her letters good. Tell her about that, why don't you?" Or, "This writing's a stranger to me. I'll just wait a minute to see if birth or death gets out of the envelope.")

As she closed Mary's gate and hurried up the walk, in a keen wind flowing with little pricking flakes, Jenny was startled to see both parlor windows open. The white muslin curtains were blowing idly as if June were in the air. Turning as a matter of course to the path that led to the kitchen, she was hailed by Mary, who came out the front door with a rug in her hands.

"Step right in this way," said Mary; "this door's unfastened."

"Forevermore!" Jenny said. "Mary Chavah! What you got your house all open for? You ain't moving?"

A gust of wind took Mary's answer. She tossed the rug across the icy railing of the porch and beckoned Jenny into the house and into the parlor. And when she had greeted Jenny after the months of her absence:

"See," Mary said exultantly, "don't it look grand and empty? Look at it first and then come on in and I'll tell you about it."

The white papered walls of the two rooms were bare of pictures; the floor had been sparingly laid with rugs. The walnut sofa and chairs, the table for the lamp and the long shelves of her grandfather's books—these were all that the room held. A white arch divided the two chambers, like a benign brow whose face had long been dimmed away. It was all exquisitely clean and icy cold. A little snow drifted in through the muslin curtains. The breath of the two women showed.

"What on earth you done that for?" Jenny demanded.

Mary Chavah stood in the empty archway, the satisfaction on her face not veiling its pure austerity. She was not much past thirty-three, but she looked older, for she was gaunt. Her flesh had lost its firmness, her dressmaking had stooped her, her strong frame moved as if it habitually shouldered its way. In her broad forehead and deep eyes and somewhat in her silent mouth you read the woman—the rest of her was obscured in her gentle reticence. She had a gray shawl, blue bordered, folded tightly about her head and pinned under her chin, and it wrapped her to her feet.

"I feel like a thing in a new shell," she said. "Come on in where it's warm."

Instead of moving her dining room table to her kitchen, as most of Old Trail Town did in winter, Mary had moved her cooking stove into the dining room, had improvised a calico curtained cupboard for the utensils, and there she lived and sewed. The windows were bare.

"I'll let the parlor have curtains if it wants to," she had said, "but in the room I live in I want every strip of the sun I can get."

There were no plants, though every house in Old Trail Town had a window of green, and slips without number were offered.

"You can have flowers all you want," she said once; "I like 'em too well to box 'em up in the house."

And there were no books.

"I don't read," she admitted; "I ain't ever read a book in my life but 'Pilgrim's Progress' and the first four chapters of 'Ben-Hur.' What's the use of pretending, when books is such a nuisance to dust? Grandfather's books in the parlor—oh, they ain't books; they're furniture."

But she had a little bookcase whose shelves were filled with her patterns—in her dressmaking she never used a fashion plate.

"I like to make 'em up and cut 'em out," she sometimes told her friends. "I don't care nothing whatever about the dresses when they get done—more fool the women for ornamenting themselves up like lamp shades, I always think. But I just do love to fuss with the paper and make it do like I say. Land, I've got my cupboard full of more patterns than I'd ever get orders for if I lived to be born again."

She sat down before the cooking stove and drew off her woolen mittens. She folded a hand on her cheek, forcing the cheek out of drawing by her hand's pressure. There was always about her gestures a curious nakedness—indeed, about her face and hands. They were naive, perfectly likely to reveal themselves in their current awkwardness and ugliness of momentary expression which, by its very frankness, made a new law as it broke an old one.

"Don't you tell folks I've been house cleaning," she warned Jenny. "The town would think I was crazy, with the thermometer acting up zero so. Anyway, I ain't been house cleaning. I just simply got so sick to death of all the truck piled up in this house that I had to get away from it. And this morning it looked so clean and white and smooth outdoors that I felt so cluttered up I couldn't sew. I begun on this room, and then I kept on with the parlor. I've took out the lambrequins and 'leven pictures and the whatnot and four moth catching rugs and four sofa pillows, and I've packed the whole of 'em into the attic. I've done the same to my bedroom. I've emptied my house out of all the stuff the folks and the folks' folks and their folks—clear back to Grandmother Hackett—had in here. I mean the truck part, not the good. And I guess now I've got some room to live in."

Daily Christmas Hint

A Charming Gift For the College Girl

The girl who goes back to college after the Christmas vacation will be happy if in her bag she can pack away one of these charming "really" Japanese kimonos. This kimono was made of pale blue, embroidered in iris. The wonderful shades of mauve in the iris find a very effective background in the pale blue.

But if you desire to make a useful gift for the college girl and do not wish to make a kimono of such expensive material the shops are filled with lovely goods. Crapes, cotton and silk, Japanese silk, with flowers rioting over it for all the world like an old fashioned garden; silks of every quality and hue are piled upon the shopkeepers' shelves ready to be bought and fashioned by nimble fingers into kimonos.

But cotton crape will hold its own for these negligees so long as kimonos are worn. It is not so fragile as silk, the colors have staying qualities which recommend it, and it is inexpensive.

The fact that cotton crape will launder well is an important item to the college girl who would much prefer to be immaculate in cotton crape than to be shabbily genteel in soiled silk. The cleaning expenses mount to an alarming budget in the course of a college year, and of course these handsome kimonos of embroidered silk must visit the cleaner when soiled, as no laundress would undertake to clean them. However, the girl who is given one of these exquisite silk, hand embroidered kimonos will be glad, doubtless, to undertake the cleaning bills.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Susan, I wish you would let me have $150 for tile," said Mr. Baxter. "If I could drain that wet pasture I could raise a big crop of corn next year. I have been wanting to do it for a long time."

"I have no money except what is out on good first mortgage security, and I don't care to call it in," said Mrs. Baxter, a bride of a month. "It took all the ready money I had to fix this house up so I could live in it. You and the boys had things in bad shape."

"But don't you see, Susan, that the crop on that field would bring more than six per cent? The whole farm needs a lot of money spent on it to bring it up where it should be," and Mr. Baxter passed his cup for more coffee.

"Look here, Lyman," said the wife, holding the coffee pot poised in the air, "I have $5,000 that I have got together by the hardest kind of work. I am getting $300 a year interest on it. That is what I used to get my wedding clothes and furnish this house. I shall have no more money for six months, and a good part of that is spoken for, as I am helping James' boy through college, so you see I shall have no money to spend on the farm for a year," and she poured the coffee and handed it to her husband.

"Women don't know anything about business. That field would be good security. I'll give you six per cent for the money," and Mr. Baxter rose in his chair and speared a slice of bread.

"Lyman, for goodness sake, ask to have things passed! You men have lived here alone until your manners are something awful," exclaimed Mrs. Baxter in an irritated voice.

"Never mind my table manners. The thing that's biting me is to find a way to drain that field. Will you lend me the money, since you haven't enough interest in me and your home to give it to me?" and Mr. Baxter poured his coffee into his saucer to cool.

"No; once and for all, I will neither lend nor give you a cent. If the field is such good security, borrow it at the bank. The thing is as broad as it is long. You managed to live before I married you and you can keep it up; if not, you——"

But Mr. Baxter had risen from the table, kicked his chair back with a heavy boot, caught up his hat from the floor and banged out of the house.

This was the beginning of trouble. The father and two boys, sixteen and nineteen, entered on a consistent course of persecution. Every means to obtain possession of the wife's money was adopted, from pleading to violence. One day, after a particularly distressing scene, the men left the house and Mrs. Baxter, seizing paper and pen, wrote to her brother, living fifteen miles distant, begging him to come and take her and her furniture away. She named a particular day the following week when Mr. Baxter would be absent from home as the most propitious time. When the day came she carefully packed all her possessions and watched with increasing nervousness for her brother.

The boys were at work in the barn when the brother and father rattled into the yard, but came out to see who had arrived. Without ceremony the newcomers began loading the furniture. The boys determined to prevent this, and when the men emerged from the kitchen door they shouted:

"Drop that furniture! Not a thing goes from this house!" These commands were seconded by angry brandishing of clubs.

The father was seventy-five years old, but wiry as a youth, and it did not take him long to disarm one of the boys. The brother managed the other, shouting, "Now take to the timber!"

The cupboard full of well-cooked food was all that remained for Mr. Baxter when he returned. His venture into matrimony as a financial enterprise had turned out less well than he had hoped.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Why the Mice Lived In the Music Room.

It Sang a Song.

"WE are all ready for our story, daddy," said Evelyn as she and Jack climbed up on the big settee and cuddled up close to daddy.

"Very well, kiddies; I'll tell you about the singing mice," said daddy, and began:

"In a pretty little cottage in the south of England a lady lived alone save for two faithful servants, a man and his wife. Her two sons had gone to war.

"It was a pretty cottage, all covered over with vines and set in the midst of tall pines and elms and poplars.

"The great room of the house was the music room, because this lady was once upon a time a great singer, and occasionally even after she grew old she would sit at the piano and play and sing some of the wonderful songs that had made her famous.

"One day when she was singing she heard a funny little noise behind her. She turned upon the stool, and there standing in the center of the room upon its hind feet and waving its little forepaws in the air was a little mouse.

"This lady didn't happen to be afraid of mice, so she didn't scream or faint or jump up on the piano stool. She just sat there quietly and said:

"'Why, you cunning little thing! Did you come to visit me?'

"The little mouse watched her for a moment and then, to the lady's surprise, began to sing.

"It sang and sang, ran up an octave and tried to trill, then scuttled away under a divan.

"But the next day at about the same time when the lady was singing the little mouse came back and did the same thing over again.

"Now, the lady was very lonely because her two sons had gone to war, and she was glad to see the mouse again, and this time she threw some crumbs of cheese to it that she had brought in from the dining room, because she thought perhaps the little mouse might return.

"The next day it came, and with it was another one, and two or three days afterward the maid was dusting and under the sofa found a cunning little nest, and in it were three baby mice.

"So the two big mice must have been the papa and mamma mice."

"Daddy, do mice really sing or was that just a story?" asked Evelyn.

"Yes, dear; there are mice that sing, although this story was just a story.

"So good night, now, kiddies."

"Good night, daddy."

Household Hints

PIES

Apple-Custard Pie—Six apples put through coarsest knife of food chopper. Beat yolk of one egg with tablespoon of water and half cup sugar; mix with apples. Bake in rich crust until crust is done, then take white of egg, add one tablespoon water and little salt and beat until stiff; add sugar, spread over pie, put in oven until brown. It is delicious and economical, as it only takes one egg.

Crumb Pie—One cup sugar, one cup lard, three and one-half cups flour; rub together fine with hand. Mix one cup sugar or molasses, one cup hot water, one and one-half teaspoons soda, pinch of salt. Flavor with cinnamon, nutmeg or lemon. Put juice in pans first, then the crumbs sprinkled on top. This is an excellent, old, tried recipe. It makes four pies.

Vinegar Pie—Take the vinegar in which you had spiced peaches or pears and, if it is not sweet enough, put more sugar in and about two large spoonfuls of flour to each pie. Bake in one crust. Cut some pie dough in strips and put on top of pie.

Pineapple Pie—One pint pineapple chopped finely, one-half cup butter, one cup sugar, two eggs. Cream butter and sugar together, then add well-beaten yolks of eggs and, next, the pineapple. When done frost with the beaten whites of eggs and put in oven again to brown. Bake with under crust only.

Pumpkin Pie Without Eggs—Stir with every pint of pumpkin a tablespoonful of flour wet with cold milk, then salt, cinnamon, ginger and sugar to taste, stirring the whole to consistency of thin mush with rich, sweet milk. This is well worth knowing when eggs are so high.

Mock Cherry Pie—One cup uncooked cranberries, one-half cup chopped raisins, one cup water, one cup of sugar, butter size of a walnut, one tablespoon flour and one teaspoon vanilla. Mix flour and sugar together, then add other ingredients and bake with a double (rich) crust.

Buttermilk Pie—One cup sugar, yolks of three eggs mixed together, then stir in one tablespoon flour, butter size of an egg, one cup buttermilk and one-half teaspoon lemon extract. Bake with under crust only. When done cover with beaten whites of the eggs and put back in oven until browned. This makes two pies.

Mock German Pie—Two tablespoons cornstarch, one and one-half cups boiling water, one cup sugar, yolks of two eggs, three tablespoons good vinegar, two spoonfuls butter; flavor with lemon. Use the whites to frost top and bake with one crust. Flour can be used instead of cornstarch.

Lemon Pie—Yolks three eggs well beaten, three-fourths cup sugar, pinch of salt, grated rind and juice of two lemons, four cups water, nine large soda crackers broken in small pieces. Line two pie tins with pie crust, then pour all ingredients into crust and bake until filling sets; then use whites of three eggs and one tablespoon water; beat it up and add three tablespoons sugar. Cover pies and brown. This recipe makes two pies and is different from the cornstarch lemon pies.

Pumpkin Pie—One cup cooked pumpkin, one egg beaten, one cup brown sugar, one tablespoon melted butter, one teaspoon flour, one teaspoon molasses, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon ginger. Pinch salt. Add last one cup hot milk. Bake on crust.

THE TABLE

Tomato Rarebit—Put a little piece of butter into chafing dish or double boiler; add two cups soft rich cheese cut into small pieces and stir until melted. To this add one 10-cent can tomato soup and when mixture is hot add two eggs that have been beaten in three-fourths cup milk or cream. Cook until thick and stir constantly. Season with salt and a few drops of tobasco sauce or cayenne pepper. Serve on crackers or toasted bread.

FURS! FURS! FURS!

THIS IS THE OLD FUR SHOP OF SATISFACTION

HAVE YOU EVER STOPPED TO CONSIDER

that this is the only permanent fur shop in Plainfield. Seven years of honest dealings in one location is your guarantee that you will get a square deal, for the benefit of your pocketbook and for the sake of honesty. Don't be deceived by temporary sale stores, who stay just long enough to get rid of inferior furs.

3COOP, THE CUB REPORTER — IT'S VERY SAD ISN'T IT— — BY "HOP"

SHERIFF SELLS LAND.

Two more of the forty land sales left as legacies for Sheriff Otto by his predecessor, former Sheriff Wright, were completed at the weekly sales Wednesday. The property of one action is located in Rahway and brought $1,500, and the other is in Plainfield. It brought only $50. The complainant was the purchaser of each. Mary M. Tompson appeared as the complainant in the suit involving the Rahway land. It was formerly owned by Carl Ernst and is located at Fulton street and Hazelwood avenue. The Plainfield property was bought by Mary E. Barny. It is located in Summer avenue, near George street, and was formerly owned by Margaret C. Masters.

HEARING POSTPONED.

Arthur Neuman, of 602 Spooner avenue, appeared in the city court, this morning, as complainant against Lewis Fulton, an automobile driver, whom he charges with fast and reckless driving. Through his counsel, Assemblyman William N. Runyon, Neuman was granted an adjournment until Wednesday morning. Neuman's auto was hit by the one piloted by Fulton, at Seventh street and Park avenue, yesterday morning.

LITERARY

Among the many articles which appear in the December Wide World Magazine is one by Joseph Heighton entitled "Among Head-Hunters and Cannibals." It relates the manifold experiences of Captain W. Sinker, who has for many years been cruising among the South Sea Islands, lately in command of the Melanesian Mission steamer "Southern Cross." Captain Sinker has seen many strange sights among the islands, where cannibalism, head-hunting, and fierce intertribal feuds still continue, despite the efforts of the Government and the missionaries. Her Highness the Ranee of Sarawak continues her "Adventures in Sarawak" and Mrs. Fred Maturin commences a series of well illustrated articles entitled "Our Travels in Safari-Land." Among the purely adventurous experiences may be mentioned "The Mutiny of the 'Ziza,'" "The Bluffing of Din Mahomed," "The Runaway Train" and "The Night-Watchman's Story." The magazine is profusely illustrated with seemingly hundreds of photographs.

Several important articles dealing with the European war appear in the Strand Magazine for December. Conan Doyle contributes an interesting and valuable paper which he entitles "The War: A Statement of the British Case." This article clearly and convincingly explains exactly where Great Britain stands in the present European embroglio and should be read and digested by all, whether they are Pro-German or in favor of the Allies. Saint Nihal Sing supplies the first of a series of extremely interesting articles entitled "Our Friends the Fighting Rajahs" and gives us some intimate character-studies, anecdotes and personal impressions of the Indian Princes who have placed their armies, their services and even their jewels at the disposal of Great Britain in her hour of trial. Another article which will be read with especial interest deals with Lord Kitchener. The series of papers entitled "How They 'Broke Into Print'" reaches No. 5, the contributors being Montague Glass, Louis Joseph Vance, Mary Stewart Cutting, Emerson Hough, Irvin S. Cobb, and others. The fiction includes stories by some of the best writers of the day.

The Christmas Century preserves a fine sense of proportion. It presents striking and powerful stories, several essays, articles of constructive and more pure description, a broad treatment of the present European situation in several articles, two poems inspired by the war, a story and vivid serial pages in color by Paul J. Meylan, Lester G. Hornby, W. T. Benda, Maxfield Wright Enright, John Sloan, Tela a Cod'lipp, and a delightful humorous department. Mr. Schoonmaker in his article "From Caesar to Kaiser," sees the shadow of Caesarism and militarism moving steadily northward on the continent. As it rose from Italy twenty centuries ago and lowered over France in the time of Napoleon, so it now hovers over Germany. Russia, says a well known English author (in the title of his article) is "A Nation United by War." He prophesies that after the war the revolutionist influence in the government will make the Czar the head of a State much more like England in its constitution, with no need for violent internal revolution, and that the Russian peasant's word will have a weight in councils of state which it never had before. In a third article, "If Germany Loses," an English Privy Councilor is persuaded that the defeat of the Kaiser will precipitate a movement against his dynasty that may become too violent to check.

New Haven, Nov. 21—Seventy thousand rabid football followers, the largest mob that ever witnessed a gridiron struggle in this country, filled the monster Yale "Bowl" here this afternoon, gayly dressed women adding color to the brilliant spectacle. Fifteen minutes before playing time the husky Crimson warriors remained a 10 to 8 favorite, and $140,000 had been received from ticket sales at the turnstiles of the greatest of present day stadiums.

Despite the gala scene coincident with the gathering of football clans, New Havenites were downcast. The hearty supporters of old Eli saw little to rejoice over and were apparently resigned to defeat. Yale money remained in Yale pocketbooks.

The players were greeted by clear, cool weather, and a light south wind was blowing when they took the field. The gridiron was covered all night with a thick layer of hay and was in good shape when the teams romped on the field.

The lineups were announced as follows:

Yale	Harvard
Brann	T. Coolidge
left end
Talbott	Parson

LION ON HORSEBACK TO APPEAR AT PROCTOR'S

At Proctor's on Monday will be presented D'Artagan the Equestrian Lion, now creating a sensation at the Lyric theatre, Newark. The Newark Evening Stars says: "One of the most extraordinary novelties that Newark has seen in years. The lion is seen in company of a dog and both are on the most friendly terms, even eating their dinner out of the same plate. The two animals romp and play all over the stage, the little Irish terrier not a bit afraid of his big companion and the lion apparently enjoying the fun.

The climax to the act comes when the lion leaps upon a horse's back and rides about the stage on the animal. It is truly a wonderful act and met with great favor from the audience last night."

CAKE SALE.

A sale of cake, candy, useful and fancy articles, and small dolls will be held under the auspices of St. Ann's Guild of St. Stephen's church, at the parish house, Woodland and South avenues, Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

DUNELLEN SCOUTS IN BURGLAR HUNT

Scour the Borough for Trace of Early Evening Prowlers.

Returning to their home shortly after 8:30 o'clock last night, after making a call nearby, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Fowler, of 257 Washington avenue, Dunellen, found that the place had been ransacked by burglars. Entrance to the place was gained through a dining room window which was found opened, but little of value was taken. It is the supposition of the police that the intruders were frightened away before they had completed their search.

Mrs. W. A. Houghtling, a neighbor, opened a window of her house shortly after 8 o'clock and noticed a surrey standing in front of the Fowler home. This vehicle is thought to have been the property of the crooks who used it in making a getaway. When Mrs. Houghtling slammed her window shut the intruders were probably frightened and beat a hasty retreat.

A troop of Boy Scouts, meeting at the home of E. J. Dusel, president of the Board of Trade, in the immediate neighborhood, were acquainted with the burglary and a posse was immediately formed to run down the mysterious surrey and its occupants. Investigation revealed a bundle of clothing that had been dropped near the window by the thieves as they made their getaway and all that was missing was a suit of clothes. The second floor of the place was ransacked.

The Boy Scouts scoured the town assisting Marshal Tarpey, but no trace of the looters was revealed.

FORMER PLAINFIELD GIRL'S ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Announcement has been received of the engagement of Miss Helen Elizabeth Platt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Platt, formerly of this city, to James V. Carlin, of Brooklyn.

Miss Platt is well known in this city, having graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1912, where she was active in academic and social work.

APPEAL FOR DONATIONS AT MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL

The board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, as well as the Women's Auxiliary, hope that Plainfielders will not forget the institution at this season of the year. Donations of fruits, vegetables, and other things which can be used for the patients. Donations of money will also be acceptable at any time. The needs of the hospital are so great that it is necessary that the people of Plainfield give their hearty support to maintaining this worthy institution.

WILL ORGANIZE COUNTY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

Stock raising among school children was the subject discussed by the members of the Union County Principals' Association at their meeting in Elizabeth, Monday afternoon. In an address to the association, Principal Scherff, of Elizabeth, advocated the organization of clubs for poultry raising among school children. The question of the formation of Teachers' Associations in this county was also discussed and the centers for this movement were decided upon as follows: Westfield, a centre for Fanwood, Mountainside and Clark; Roselle, a centre for Kenilworth, Roselle Park, Garwood, Cranford and Linden; Springfield, a centre for Union, Unionville, New Providence borough and township.

It was definitely decided to organize such an association and committees will arrange details for a meeting to be held in the near future.

FRANK W. TALLMAN, JR.

Frank William Tallman, Jr., the fifteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tallman, of South Front street, died yesterday afternoon, after a short illness. The funeral services will be held at his parents' home Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

SCOPE OF WORK AT THE HOSPITAL

Annual Report of Board of Governors Gives Many Interesting Facts.

The extent and wide scope of the work carried on at Muhlenberg Hospital the past year is shown in the annual report of the institution, which has just been published by the Board of Governors. There was an increase of 282 patients received this year over the previous one, the total being 1,253. The total number of hospital days was 18,109, and the total number of visits to dispensary was 2,595. The diseases and injuries treated in the different departments are as follows:

Medical, 558; surgical, 784; eye, ear, nose and throat, 464; contagious, 25, of which number of cases there were cured 1,296; improved, 158; unimproved, 42; died, 82, and at the time of the report there were 55 patients remaining. There were 510 general surgical operations, and 455 eye, ear, nose and throat operations, of which number 1,023 recovered and 23 died, remaining, 19. The summary of work in the dispensary shows the following figures: Medical, 101; surgical, 230, eye, ear, nose and throat, 545; dermatological, 22; X-ray, 268.

Included among the members of the staff there is Dr. Charles G. Davis, dental surgeon. The out-patients department has the following staff:

General medical and surgical clinic, Chiefs, Drs. F. E. DuBois, Charles F. Lufburrow, H. D. Corbusier, N. W. Currie, A. H. Dundon, E. S. Krans; clinical assistants, Drs. C. Howard Pratt, Sidney Titsworth, Thomas R. Blair, Grace R. Powell; eye, ear, nose and throat clinic chiefs, Drs. A. F. VanHorne, H. V. Hubbard; clinical assistant, Dr. Ray T. Munger; dermatological clinic chief, Dr. J. H. Carman; orthopedic clinic, chief, Dr. H. D. Corbusier, genito-urinary clinic, chief, Dr. F. E. DuBois; dental clinic, chief, Dr. Charles G. Davis.

The following additions have been made to the Board of Governors this year: Mrs. Frank D. Warren, Mrs. John Gray Foster, to serve one year; members ex-officio, Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield; honorary members, George H. Goddard; Training School committee, Mrs. Noah C. Barnhart and Dr. A. F. VanHorne.

The general report is one full of interest to the people of Plainfield and by a study of it, the reader will be able to familiarize himself with the great amount of work being done at Muhlenberg Hospital.

WOULD-BE AUTO THIEVES WERE FRIGHTENED AWAY

Automobile thieves were caught in the act and frightened away early last night, when they attempted to steal an Overland automobile owned by P. Frank Stone, of West Front street, the local photographer, which he left standing in the driveway of a friend's home in Dunellen during a visit. The crooks were evidently inexperienced in operating the machine and created a big disturbance in getting the engine going.

Mr. Stone was attracted to the front door by the noise and found his machine in the road some distance from the house. Indications were that the mechanism had been tampered with and the thieves had probably been working some time when frightened away. No trace of the culprits could be obtained last night.

SANTA CLAUS COMMITTEE WILL MEET AT Y. M. C. A.

The Community Santa Claus committee from the Federation of Men's Church Clubs and religious organizations will meet at the Young Men's Christian Association at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at which time all members of the several organizations comprising the federation are urged to be present and assist the committee in perfecting plans for the work, which will without doubt be more needful this year than at any time in the past.

It is the purpose of the committee to bring good cheer and something more substantial to the homes of worthy families in this city. The same plan was adopted last year and proved to be a great success. It will be carried out this year along the same lines and it is hoped that many Plainfielders will lend their interest.

PLANNING TO PERFECT MOTOR SLEIGH TRAVEL

Local Young Genius Working on a Model That Promises Much.

An invention that promises to revolutionize motor vehicles, and give the world a new form of energy, is being perfected by Joseph Stavish, an ingenuous young mechanician, who resides on Monroe avenue. His working models have proved so satisfactory that several local financiers have interested themselves and are supplying the funds for exhaustive experiments. Temporary patents have been granted pending the completion of governmental investigation of previous grants.

Mr. Stavish is but twenty-one years old and is a graduate of the United States Naval Machine Shop at Charleston, S. C. He entered the navy when only sixteen years old, rising to the post of quartermaster in four years. He has always been of an inventive turn of mind and introduced several mechanical ideas of value while under instruction at Charleston. The plausibility of a motor sleigh suggested itself to him shortly before the completion of his enlistment, rapidly converging into a concrete idea. On returning to Plainfield a year ago he set to work proving the practical value of his theory, his experiments drawing him into the new form of energy. What this is he cannot reveal at present, but it is certain that it will prove of great commercial value. The motor sleigh has been made a realty by means of it, a fact which he has already proven to the wonderment and surprise of expert in mechanics. The young man hopes to have his full patent rights registered in the course of the next few months when he will give the public more details.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY OF BOROUGH COUPLE

Councilman and Mrs. U. G. Tingley Hosts at Reception Given Last Night.

Borough Councilman and Mrs. Ulysses G. Tingley, of Grove street, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home last night, entertaining about thirty guests from this city, Newark and other nearby points. The evening was spent in playing '500' and other card games and dancing was enjoyed by many of the guests. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion.

Prior to her marriage Mrs. Tingley was Miss Linda Myers, of Bound Brook, and the couple were wedded by the Rev. Richard Johns, of that place. They have been residents of North Plainfield for the past five years, where Mr. Tingley has taken an active part in municipal affairs. He has been a member of the borough Council for the past two years.

TO NOMINATE OFFICERS.

PHILLIPSON CASE HAS ITS PARALLEL

Jersey City Motorman Fined $103 For Snaring a Cottontail.

The zeal of the New Jersey game wardens, which was first brought to light in the case of nineteen-year-old Oscar Phillipson, of North Plainfield, who faced a 120-day jail term for killing a rabbit and who this week was released, is further exemplified in the bringing to light of a similar case against Martin Slakum, a motorman in the employ of the Manhattan Transfer Company, residing at 119 Storms avenue, Jersey City, who was recently fined $103.60 for unwittingly snaring a rabbit.

Slakum set a trap for muskrats in the marshes near the Manhattan transfer station, Jersey City. A short time later he found a rabbit snared in the trap. The animal, according to Slakum, was dead. The motorman, who claims he was unaware of the nature of the game laws, skinned the animal and stretched the pelt across the door of the employes resting room.

Edward Rayner, a deputy game warden, residing at 64 Garden street, Hoboken, spied the skin and inquired who had killed the rabbit. Slakum replied that he had and explained the circumstances of the capture; also that he was ignorant of the law.

Rayner, however, placed him under arrest and Slakum was arraigned before Judge Friedman, of Harrison, who fined him $103.60.

Not having the wherewithal to pay the fine, Slakum was committed to the Hudson county jail for ten days. His friends, however, raised the money in a few days and the motorman thus secured his freedom.

Superintendent J. F. O'Rourke, of the Manhattan company, was indignant when he learned of the episode and immediately placed the matter in the hands of Lawyer William McLaughlin, of Jersey City. Mr. McLaughlin will appeal the fine to the State Game Commission in an endeavor to have it remitted.

There is much criticism of the State fish and game laws which permit such punishment to be administered. The case of the North Plainfield youth and that of Slakum have raised considerable protest and a modification of the laws will be sought at the next session of the Legislature.

DONALD WEBB WEDS MISS MARION COOMBE

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Marion Coombe, daughter of H. B. Coombe, of Madison avenue, and Donald Webb, of Bound Brook. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Baxter, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Brooklyn Heights, at the latter place. Both the bride and bridegroom are well known here. Both formerly attended the Plainfield High School, Mr. Webb being a member of the class of 1913.

FIRST OF NEW BANK NOTES RECEIVED HERE

Among the first of the out of town banks to secure some of the new Federal Reserve Bank notes, is The Plainfield Trust Company, which now has on exhibition in its teller's cage the new issue in denominations of $5 and $10. Up to date it has been very difficult to get any of these notes and people are naturally curious to see them. The patrons of The Plainfield Trust Company will appreciate its efforts to satisfy their desire and to keep pace with the large New York city banks.

The new notes are very attractive and by many are considered of better design than some of the old ones. The $5 note bears a fine likeness of Lincoln, while on the $10 note is an excellent picture of Jackson.

SAID TO HAVE ROBBED AND BURNED A HOUSE

West Dunellen Man Held for the Grand Jury on Serious Charges.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rene F. P. Von Minden in the Dunellen police court, this morning, Samuel Anderson, of West Dunellen, was held in $500 bail for the action of the Grand Jury to answer serious charges preferred against him by Paul Pilkington, of New Market. Anderson is alleged to have entered and ransacked the Pilkington house in the absence of the owner on October 23, and to hide his crime he is said to have set fire to the place.

At the time the incident occurred Mr. and Mrs. Pilkington were near Binghamton, N. Y., engaged in a vaudeville tour and upon their return home instituted an investigation. Among the ruins was found a steel trunk, one of two similar receptacles used for the storage of clothing. The remains of the second trunk could not be located by the searchers. One of the neighbors informed Mr. Pilkington that she had seen a trunk similar to the missing one in the home of Anderson and an application for a search warrant resulted. Justice Von Minden issued this and the second trunk belonging to the Pilkingtons was located in Anderson's home.

His arrest followed and he was subsequently arraigned this morning, entering a plea of not guilty to the allegations. Anderson was arrested on November 10 on the complaint of David Wynkoop, of New Market, who accused him of stealing chickens and is at present out on bail awaiting trial before the Middlesex County Grand Jury on this charge. He is a factory employe and has a wife and four children dependent upon him.

KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO, MAY BE HURT INTERNALLY

Andrew Judge, of Grove street, is confined to his home with posible internal injuries, the result of an automobile accident at Dunellen, yesterday, while at work in the rear of a yard where Cunniff Brothers, by whom he is employed, are completing a contract, when a passenger car backed down on him. He was felled to the ground and dragged for fully twenty feet before the driver, Oscar Nippon, heard his cries.

Mr. Judge was only partially conscious when picked up and after receiving first aid was hurried to his home in the borough. He is now under the care of Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, who has not fully diagnosed the extent of his hurts.

BODY OF "MICHAEL NO. 23" IS STILL BEING HELD

The body of the Italian who was killed Wednesday night by an auto driven by Felix Wahlberg, in the Graceland section of Westfield, after having jumped from behind an auto truck in front of the machine which struck him, is still being held at the undertaking parlors of George W. Cole & Son, on West Second street, awaiting a claimant. The man was known as "Michael No. 23," being employed by the Plainfield-Union Water Company at Westfield. At one time Michael lived at Spring street, Westfield, where he was supposed to have had two brothers. The man's last name is not known.

ACCUMULATE SUPPLIES

French War Office Reports Little Change in Situation—Troops Suffer From Cold—Strange Boat Seen Near Boston.

Paris, Nov. 21. The French War Office gave out the following statement this afternoon: "The day of the twentieth of the month was as a whole similar to the two preceding days in Belgium. Our artillery assumed the advantage over that of the enemy from Dixmude to a point south of Ypres. There have been intermittent artillery actions both on our part and on the part of the enemy. At Hollebeke two infantry attacks of the enemy were swiftly repulsed. From the Belgian frontier to the Oise there is nothing of importance to report.

"In the region of the Aisne and in Champaigne the advantage seized by our batteries over those of the Germans has been increased, preventing the enemy from continuing the construction of trenches previously begun.

"In the Argonne we have blown up some of the enemy's trenches on the Verdun slope and in the Vosges we have made advances establishing our trenches at certain points at less than thirty metres from the German positions."

Petrograd, Nov. 21 (Centrals News Cable).—A Russian military doctor, who was imprisoned in Germany, has reached Bucharest and reports that the most extensive preparations are being made for the defense of Berlin from the side of Kuestrin, the fortress covering Berlin on the east. The strongest fortifications are approaching completion. Guns of the heaviest calibre have been mounted, large quantities of supplies have been accumulated and a great bridge has been newly erected at the confluente of the Rivers Warta and Oder, where are fortified positions of great strength. Military patrols prevent the examination of the progress of the work.

Rome, Nov. 21 (Central News Cable).—Heavy snowstorms are paralyzing the operations of the Austrian army in Servia. Many soldiers have perished from cold and sick and wounded men have been found dead in the hospital beds at Cham.

FEATURE 'PHONE PICTURES BEING SHOWN AT PROCTOR'S

The protection ably afforded by the quickness and despatch of the modern telephone was demonstrated in a series of remarkable pictures at Proctor's Theatre, yesterday afternoon and last night. The photographs were secured through co-operation with the New York Telephone Company and show how calls are handled in a big exchange, a part of the 'phone system that is only conjecture with most subscribers. An interesting story is told by the pictures under the title of "The Telephone Girl."

The film will again be shown this afternoon and tonight and will be followed on December 4 and 5 by another special series entitled "The Telephone Way," a section of which was taken in Plainfield.

COMMUNION AT GRACE CHURCH.

The celebration of the Lord's Supper will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30, at the Grace M. E. church, Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor, officiating. The ordinance of baptism will be administered to both infants and adults, with a reception of members on probation, from probation, and by letter. Special music by the choir and a Thanksgiving service will mark the evening service at 7:45.

DR. HERRING TO PREACH.

Arrangements have been completed for the union Thanksgiving service to be held at the First Baptist church next Thursday morning at 10:30. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon, and will be assisted in the services by the pastors of the other churches in the centre of the city. Special music will be provided.

SIGMA GAMMA KAPPA TO AID EUROPE'S SUFFERERS

The Sigma Gamma Kappa, of North Plainfield High School, held its regular monthly meeting in the parlors of the Y. W. C. A., yesterday afternoon.

At that time Mrs. Goddard, a member of the board of the Y. W. C. A., presented a plan to the members of the society which will not only be a means of furnishing enjoyment for them, but which will also be of benefit to others. Her plan is to have the girls do some charity work for the war sufferers by means of a sewing circle, which will meet every other week at the Y. W. C. A., and sew undergarments for the Belgians and other war sufferers. This plan met immediate approval by all those present.

Mrs. Percy Stewart has kindly promised to supply all the materials for this work and all the girls will have to do is the sewing.

Mrs. Goddard also suggested that the society choose a leader to direct their work and also to direct the workings of the society in all other lines.

The first sewing meeting will be held December 4 and regularly every two weeks thereafter.

HELPFUL WORDS.

From a Plainfield Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?

Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region?

These symptoms suggest weak kidneys.

If so there is danger in delay.

Weak kidneys get fast weaker.

Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Your neighbors use and recommend them.

Read this Plainfield testimony.

Mrs. S. Driscoll, 1009 South Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had a dull pain across the small of my back and any hard work made me worse. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, especially when stooping or lifting and I felt weak and run down. I tried plasters and other remedies, but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's drug store. They made a lasting cure. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as I did some years ago when they cured me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Driscoll had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

to a despatch from Vienna. To the Austrian embassy here today the despatch reads: "The battle of Russian Poland proceeding favorably. According to report up to the present our troops have captured seven thousand prisoners and have taken thirteen guns and several cannon.

Berlin, Nov. 21 (Wireless).—A despatch from Vienna gives the following official communication issued by the Austrians: "Allies have been successful but so far there is no decision in the fighting. The number of Russian prisoners is increasing before Przemysl. The enemy, while endeavoring to bring up reinforcements to the southern front of the fortress, was thrown back suffering unfavorably."

Advices from Vienna say the fighting in the southern war theatre there have been partial batties on the entire front. Our attacks are progressing favorably. The weather is unfavorable. There is one metre, about three feet, of snow on the heights. The flat country is inundated."

Boston, Nov. 21.—For the second time in two days a mysterious warship, the name of which has been painted out, was seen off the Massachusetts coast near the entrance to Princetown Harbor, today. The vessel was made out when a heavy fog lifted temporarily, but the craft immediately put to sea. She is believed to be the British converted cruiser Caronia.

YALE-HARVARD GAME

the field. Brickley started practice kicking goals. He missed the first from the ten-yard line and then kicked eleven straight from the 15-yard line to the 40-yard line.

Captain Brickley, of Harvard, won the coin flip and elected to defend the north goal. The Crimson leader also decided to kick off to Eli.

FIRST QUARTER.

Harvard opened the tussel with a kick to Yale's ten yard line, LaGore running the ball back thirty yards. Knowles failed at centre on the next play and LaGore kicked to Harvard's twenty yard line, where Mahan caught and ran the ball back to Yale's thirty-two yard line. Bradlee gained two yards through centre, Mann gained four yards at the same spot, and Francke took another three at the same place. Bradlee made the distance going through centre again for five yards. He followed this up with another five yards. Bradlee tore off two more five yard gains through left tackle. With the ball on Yale's five yard line Mahan failed at centre, but Bradlee, on a forward pass, Mahan to Hardwick, to Bradlee, scored the first blood. Hardwick failed to kick the goal.

Mahan kicked off to Yale's fifteen yard line and Knowles ran back fifteen yards. On a double pass Yale lost ten yards. On next play Yale lost five yards more and LaGore punted to midfield, Mahan catching the ball and being downed in his tracks by Conroy. Francke went through centre for eight yards. Yale was penalized five yards for off-side play. Mahan made five yards through right tackle. Mahan took two more through centre. A forward pass went out of bounds. The ball was brought back to Yale's thirty yard line and it was given to the Bulldog warriors. Ainsworth went through right tackle for Yale's first big gain, netting five yards. LaGore punted over Mahan's head and the ball rolled over Harvard's goal line, where Mahan dropped on it for a touchback. The ball was brought back and put in play on Harvard's twenty yard line. Mahan went through centre for ten yards and collected twenty yards through the same spot.

Francke went through for ten yards. Hardwick went through tackle for fifteen yards. Harvard was penalized fiften yards for holding. On a fake kick formation Mahan tried a forward pass, but was tackled and thrown on Harvard's forty-five-yard line. With thirty yeards to go Mahan punted to Yale's twenty yard line and LaGore ran it back twenty yards. Wilson went through center for four yards. He failed on his next attempt at the same spot. LaGore punted to Harvard's ten-yard line and Mahan ran it back five yards. The ball was brought back and Yale was penalized five yards. Standing in mid field LaGore again kicked to the Crimson's fifteen-yard line. Mahan ran it back to Harvard's thirty five yard line. Mahan went through center for five yards, the first period ending with Harvard in possession of the ball an her forty-yard line.

Score—Harvard 6, Yale 0.

SECOND QUARTER.

Mahan opened the second period by taking eighteen yards on a pretty run around right end. Hardwick followed this up by running the ball through the field for twenty-two yards, placing the ball on Yale's twenty yard line. Mahan collected five more through left tackle. Watson replaced Logan at quarterback, after he was laid out for the second time. Bradlee took five yards through centre and Mahan got seven more through the same spot.

Harvard fumbled and the ball rolled across the goal line with Mahan and several other players after it. It was Watson's fumole and Watson droped on it for a touchdown. Mahan failed to kick the goal.

Walden kicked off to Harvard's twenty-five-yard line where Francke caught it and was downed in his tracks by Brown. Carter replaced Stillman at end for Yale. Hardwick failed at center. Mahan punted to Yale's twenty-five-yard line and LaGore ran it back for thirty yards. Ainsworth went through left tackle for five yards. Knowles reeled off seven yards through center.

Knowles went through right tackl for four yards. On a forward pass Ainsworth to Braun, Yale gained four teen yards, placing the ball on Harvard's twelve-yard line. Knowle took two yards through centre.

The ball was placed on the Crimson's five yard line by Knowles, who went through centre. One more yard was chalked up by Knowles at the same spot and on the fourth down, four yards from the goal line. Knowles fumbled and Coolidge grabbed the ball and ran the entire length of the field for a touchdown. He covered ninety-six yards. Harwick kicked the goal.

Score—Harvard 19, Yale 0.

OUR NATIONAL GAME.

Baseball as Now Played Is Essentially American In Origin.

Some authorities trace baseball to an old English ball game called "rounders," which dated from the eighteenth century. "Rounders" was played in an open field marked out by a five sided figure, the points being called bases, first to fourth and home bases. The "feeder" (modern pitcher) stood in the middle of the pentagon; the batsman ran the bases and scored a run if he made the circuit without being put out, but he was retired if a hit ball was caught on the fly or on the first bounce or when he was struck out by having the ball thrown at him while running the bases.

"Rounders" was played in this country before the Revolutionary war and baseball possibly was an outgrowth of it, but if so it was a long time coming. The game as now played is essentially of American origin, through the different stages of two old cat, three old cat, four old cat, town ball and bull pen.

The Washington Baseball club, the first known, was formed in New York in 1843, and the first regular code of rules was drawn up in 1845 by the Knickerbocker Baseball club of New York. The first national association was organized in 1853, and the first convention of baseball financiers and managers was held in Philadelphia in 1867, about 500 organizations being represented.—Philadelphia Press.

An Indulgent Father.

The Duke de Richelieu one day visited his son, who was a student in the University of Paris. "Do you need any money?" he asked in the course of the conversation.

"No," said his son. "I still have 20 louis from last month's allowance."

On hearing this the duke took the boy's purse and, handing it to his servant, said: "There, John, are 20 louis. My son, the Count de Fronsac, presents them to you. Go and drink his health."

But to his son he said: "Young man, remember that you are the son of the Duke de Richelieu. Be more generous with your money."

How many youths in college today would like to have so thoughtful a father!

Living on a Salary.

Living on a salary is a more or less precarious form of existence, but it is not always wise for every man to go into business for himself. Some men are not fitted for that responsibility, and there are a great many failures of men who strike out for themselves without sufficient backing of capital or experience. However, if you never save any money out of your salary you will never get ahead financially. You always will be the tail of another man's kite, always stoking to keep up steam in the boilers of somebody else's business.—Rochester Sentinel.

JOHN M'CORMACK TO SING IN ELIZABETH

Irish Tenor to Give a Concert in the New Armory on December 1.

Under the auspices of and for the benefit of the National Association for the Education of Exceptional Children, of which Dr. M. P. E. Groszmann is the head, John McCormack, the celebrated Irish tenor, will be heard in a concert at the new Armory, Elizabeth, Tuesday evening, December 1. This will be Mr. McCormack's last concert in the East and it will afford an excellent opportunity for music-lovers to hear a singer of exceptional talent.

The committee in charge of the concert has arranged for the sale of tickets in all the nearby cities and towns, those for Plainfield being obtainable at E. A. Laing's store on West Front street. An exceptionally good block of seats have been reserved for Plainfielders, and those purchasing tickets here will be assured of sitting in one of the best places in the Armory, a place where Mr. McCormack can be heard to the best advantage. Mr. McCormack is known throughout the world as one of the best tenors now in concert work and it is believed it will be a real treat to hear him in a popular program.

ARE YOU PREPARED?

Each person has his own idea as to the outcome of the great struggle now taking place across the ocean. Most persons hope of peace brought about by the victory of the nation for which their sympathies are aroused. However that may be, irrespective of who wins in this terrible war, it matters not with whom we, as individuals or as a nation, sympathize; the predominant fact that will stand out in history when this terrible strife is over is that GERMANY WAS PREPARED.

In all particulars, with keen regard for every detail and embracing facts almost beyond imagination, Germany's giant machine of destruction has been in course of preparation for years. When the time came to put this machine in action, it tore its way through "impregnable" forts; it rolled on, breaking through hastily prepared defences; it scaled hills, it traversed swamps, it made a beaten path through miles of forest and it stopped only when at the very walls of Paris. Every rattle of the infantry, every boom of the giant guns, every foot-beat, seemed to call out in tones of triumph, GERMANY WAS PREPARED.

What were the Allies doing? From surface indications, they, like many individuals, were waiting for something to happen. Surely there was a great deal going on behind the scenes, as it were, to give the "powers" ample opportunity to become prepared to meet conditions. But, notwithstanding this "inside diplomacy," how different is the story of the Allies. While death and devastation of lands was progressing with relentless fury, allied armies were hastily gathered; men were drawn from every walk of life and sent out to bar the progress of the wonderful machine which seemed to be an absolutely perfect working unit. What was the result? We know that the defence was futile for such a time as to practically cause France to be laid to waste. We know that the Germany army has retreated from its position, but the reason for this retreat seems to be that the persons temporarily in charge of the "machine," in their enthusiasm to crush the country, had blundered, and then we have the story of the retreat of this German army, which, according to one of the high officers in our own army, has been one of the most marvelous feats in military history. The lesson of that retreat, for the individual, for the business house, for the nation, is one that must not be lost sight of; we must prepare for adversities or errors of judgment.

The men who led the German army could not foretell wherein they would err, but the men who directed the preparation of the army provided for retrieving the possible errors of those who should lead it in battle. Hence, the marvelous discipline and fortitude displayed by the retreating army.

People generally, connect the War in Europe with BUSINESS in the United States and the association of the two ideas has become quite prevalent. Let us consider the condition of business in the United States. We must not deceive ourselves. By taking thought, we cannot convince ourselves that business, at this present time, is GOOD. Saying that business is good when such is not the case, does not create business, because there is the element of untruth to contend with and GOOD BUSINESS is not based on false statements. We know that in this part of the country, at least, business is not good. Therefore, let us face the fact and deal with conditions as they are, not as we wish they were. Let us look to the future; the very near future.

It is not a wild prophesy to assert nor a false doctrine to preach, that the year 1915 will develop into a most prosperous year. Every prospect and every contingency points that way. Condition will be adjusted in this country to conform to the conditions in Europe. The countries of Europe have terminated their usual relations with us in order to settle certain principles in which they believe themselves to be vitally concerned, and in the following out of that program they are destroying life and property and spending billions of dollars. We have our own country, with its vast resources, and we shall have to cut Europe from our visiting list and use our wealth for the development of our resources. We shall, under the new conditions, manufacture goods in this country, sell the goods in this country, buy our goods in this country; and we shall produce, manufacture and sell to the rest of the world in the markets created at this time. Let us convince ourselves; we can prepare for the revival of business in all lines of endeavor. The time to prepare is BEFORE the commercial giant awakens and, throughout the length and breadth of this land, the call shall go forth for TRAINED WORKERS. Remember, Germany was prepared with TRAINED SOLDIERS. This nation must be ready with TRAINED WORKERS. The quotation so applicable to Europe, "In time of peace, prepare for war" may be changed to suit present conditions in this country and should read, "in times of business depression, GET READY, so that you may take your place when the business world calls for you." Young people face a condition at this time that will develop into an opportunity of a lifetime and those young men and young women who, earnestly, conscientiously and enthusiastically get down to the business of GETTING READY FOR BUSINESS will grasp the opportunities which the year 1915 shall offer. The question which is brought to you is, ARE YOU PREPARED? If you are, there will be plenty for you to do before the expiration of many months. The question which the business man will ask applicants in 1915 is, ARE YOU PREPARED TO DO MY WORK? What will your answer be? If your reply to such a question today would, perforce be, "No, I am not prepared," then you should give earnest heed to the lesson which the struggle in Europe gives to all people; the value of adequate preparation. This is a true doctrine, based on our firm belief in the strength, stability and resources of the government under which we live.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The bill at Proctor's Theatre for the first half of next week will be headed by a novelty production entitled "The Aeroplane Girls," an act which has been meeting with great success in the metropolitan houses. Another novel number will be the equestrian lion, a full grown "King of the Jungles," which rides horseback much the same as the bareback men in the circus. The Temple quartet will introduce a budget of new songs; Walter D. Nealand and Company will present a comedy sketch, and the Dancing Franks, who perform difficult dancing steps on skates, with comedy features will complete the bill. The special film, "The Telephone Girl," showing how telephone messages are handled in the exchanges, were shown for the first time yesterday and made a decided impression. A part of the pictures were taken in this city. They will be shown again this afternoon and tonight, and no Proctor patron should fail to see it. The eighteenth episode of "The Perils of Pauline" will be shown Tuesday, and the twenty-first episode of the "Million Dollar Mystery" will be displayed Wednesday.

Dress, Suit and Coat Lengths of Wool and Silk-and-Wool Fabrics

At a Fraction of Their First Prices

Not in this generation has there been such an opportunity.

Sometimes the cost of an entire dress or coat length hardly equals the usual cost of one yard of these materials.

Coatings and suitings are mostly 54 inches, soft and warm, in plain and fancy weaves, in a variety of street shades and black.

3½ yard lengths are now $2.95, usually $8.75 to $14.

4 yard lengths are now $3.40 usually $10 to $16.

The silk-and-wool fabrics are rich and soft as silk, but warmer and more durable. Suitable for evening and afternoon wraps, afternoon dresses and suits.

5 yard lengths, now $5, usually $10 to $20.

6 yard lengths now $6, usually $12 to $24.

A HOLIDAY GIFT COMBINATION of a dress pattern of silk and wool material and a coat length of woolen cloth, costs $9.40, regularly $22 to $30.

Women's Corduroy Service Suits at $18.75 and $25

One of the prettiest corduroy suits we have seen this winter has an animal fur collar with a rose, and the coat has the straight, youthful lines of a Norfolk; the skirt is wide for easy cross-country tramping. Brown, blue and dark green. $25.

Belted suits of corduroy with turn-over military collars are $18.75.

Dignified Suits of Gabardine

are adaptations of an unusually interesting foreign model. The short coat has a pleated peplum which also gives to the skirt fullness. Coat trimmed with fur. Black and navy blue. Specially good for $27.50.

The Merchant... The Goods... The Prices... The Consumer...

Plainfield merchants are in business to sell good goods, at fair profits and prices, and the consumers should be willing to take that fact into consideration in doing their shopping.

Merchants are in business to make money. They sell their merchandise for that purpose. The consumers desire to purchase what they want, when they want, at the price they want, and their wants can be readily satisfied in this city.

One good turn deserves another. When the merchant feels that he can depend upon the local mechanic for business, he immediately patronizes the mechanic of the home town, proving that labor creates wealth, and the circulation of wealth creates labor.

PLAINFIELD LEADS AMERICA IN NEVER FAILING IN ESSENTIAL LAUDABLE DEEDS

What greater laudable deed may a man accomplish than by boosting his town by patronizing home trade and mechanics.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

THE FEEDING OF THE FIVE THOUSAND

Rev. C. E. Scudder at M. E. Revival Preaches a Strong Sermon.

A large congregation assembled at the First M. E. church, last night, to listen to Rev. Charles E. Scudder, of the Trinity M. E. church, Staten Island, who preached a powerful sermon from the text, "How many loaves have ye? go and see," Mark 6, 38. The occasion under which these words were spoken by Jesus was the feeding of the five thousand in a desert place, when He took the five barley loaves and two fishes, which probably was the little boy's lunch in whose basket the loaves were found, and fed the hungry multitude, and all were satisfied.

The speaker said: "Jesus never sends a hungry soul away. He says to us as Christians, 'Give ye them to eat.'" The preacher pointed out very forcibly how to feed the hungry multitudes which throng about us on every side. Continuing he said:

"The first loaf which we are to offer them is bread, which stands for physical or bodily health, clean bodies outside and inside are essential; great possibilities for efficiency lie in bodily cleanliness, good habits and pure lives. We are to instruct our children in these matters, and seek to make men clean in their personal living. The second loaf is faith—'man does not live by bread alone.' These disciples had faith in Jesus: we must have faith in God. In these distressing times men and women are asking 'have we lost faith in God?' Nothing brings love and joy to the home or banishes fear from the life so effectually as faith. Whatever may be the outcome, do not let your faith in God waver for one moment.

"The third loaf is obedience. If we are to feed the multitude we must obey the command, 'give ye them to eat.' We are to go out after the unconverted and invite them to the gospel feast. The responsibility rests largely with Christian men and women as to whether the bread of life is furnished the hungry multitude.

"The fourth loaf is prayer. Prayer is sadly neglected in many homes. Jesus looked up and gave thanks before He blessed and broke the loaves; do we in the presence of our children give thanks to God before partaking of our meal? Prayer sustains life, and by prayer we are enabled to feed other lives whom we touch.

"The fifth loaf is service. The Christian life is an active life, men are hungering for that bread which alone can satisfy the soul and they expect us to present it to them in our own life, so that if we are to be the true servants of Jesus Christ we must be positive Christians, in faith, and obedience, and in the prayer life, and real service for others."

The chorus choir led in very hearty singing. The meetings will be continued next week, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring preaching Monday night. Among other prominent speakers will be Bishop Luther B. Wilson, Wednesday night, and Christian Reisner, of New York, Friday evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, has announced his sermon subjects for tomorrow as follows: Morning, "A Call to Thanksgiving;" evening, "The Harbor Bell."

Special music will mark the morning service at the Monroe Avenue Methodist church. A sermon appropriate to the Thanksgiving season will be preached by the pastor, Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph.

A men's prayer service will be held tomorrow morning at the Congregational church at 10:15. The pastor, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, will give a five-minute sermon to the younger boys and girls at 11:25.

Thanksgiving sermons and music will predominate at the churches tomorrow, as will special music in keeping with the season.

Rev. William A. Holliday, of this city, will preach at Bethel chapel at both the morning and evening services.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has announced his sermon-subject for tomorrow as follows: Morning, "Have We Lost Faith?" Evening, "Jesus, the Carpenter's Son."

Sidney T. Perrine, of West Seventh street, will speak at the Rescue Mission tomorrow evening.

The Epworth League of Grace M. E. church, the borough, will have charge of the mid-week prayer service next Wednesday evening.

The mid-week prayer service at Hope chapel will be omitted next week, while a Thanksgiving service will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

The first meeting of the season of the Girls' Club gymnasium class of Hope chapel will be held Monday evening.

The Girls' Protective League of Hope chapel will meet Tuesday evening.

Trinity Reformed church will continue its custom this year of giving Thanksgiving dinners and distributing fruit to the ill.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will conduct the Thanksgiving service at Evona chapel Thanksgiving morning at 10:30.

The annual meeting of the Trinity Reformed Bible school is to be held Monday, December 7.

The special evangelistic services at the First Methodist church will be continued next week. Special music will be rendered at these services under the direction of the organist, Clifford A. Braider. The speakers have been announced as follows: Monday, speaker to be announced later; Tuesday, Rev. G. Franklin Ream, of Westfield; Wednesday, Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of New York city; Thursday, Rev. F. J. Hubach, district superintendent; Friday, Rev. Christian F. Reisner, of New York city.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

It is most gratifying to find the name of Judge Runyon so prominently spoken of for leader of the 1915 House of Assembly. While it is seldom that a first year man holds this honor, we feel sure the selection of Mr. Runyon would prove a wise and popular move, acceptable throughout the State, and would reflect credit on the party as well as bring distinction to Union county.—Westfield Standard.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

Sport Snap Shots

BY MORRIS MILLER

Boxing promoters of New York and others of the Empire state interested in the ring game are planning a campaign to have the New York boxing law changed so that the referees will be permitted to render decisions. If they put their plan through, New York city, and not New Orleans, will become the boxing center of the United States. With the ring game abolished in California and a new governor and legislature elected in New York, those behind the movement see a chance for their plans to go through. Ever since the Frawley law, limiting bouts in New York state to 10 rounds without decisions, became effective, followers of the ring game there have been dissatisfied with the sport. Boxers have stalled through bouts because the records would not show whether they won or lost. The public has been bunkoed out of a lot of money on poor fights. If the law is changed to permit decisions, New York will have championship fights of 10 rounds that will give the fans their money's worth and rob New Orleans of lots of big bouts.

Ex-University of Pennsylvania players are proving big successes as football coaches. Three members of the great Penn teams of 1906 and 1907 are heading crack elevens this year. Bob Flowell is the football tutor at Washington and Jefferson. Bill Hollenback is the boss instructor at Penn State, and John Macklin tops the Michigan Agricultural college. These three teams are ranked in the top class this fall. This isn't the first season, either, that they have all been in front. Hollenback, Flowell and Macklin were stars of the first water in their playing days.

Lehigh university is claiming a Charley Brickley and Sammy White all in one. Billy Cahall, who prepped at Germantown academy, is the cause of Lehigh's enthusiasm. Against Penn State Cahall kicked a field goal from the 30-yard line in the first period. In the second he scooped up a loose ball on the 40-yard line and ran for a touchdown. His best feat came in the third period, when he shot a field goal from the 47-yard line. His work netted 12 of the 20 points Lehigh scored in handing State her first defeat of the season.

Notre Dame has lost two games in six seasons, both to eastern teams and both by overwhelming scores. The defeat administered by Yale a few weeks ago marred a slate that had been kept clean through five seasons, and on November 7 the Army, securing a sweet revenge for last season's disaster, almost duplicated Yale's triumph.

Another little tangle for the comparative score guys to work on. A few weeks ago Tufts held Harvard to a 13 to 6 score. A bit later Dartmouth lost to Princeton, 16 to 12. Then Harvard smashes Princeton, 20 to 0, and Dartmouth smothers Tufts under a 68 to 0 count.

Packey McFarland beat up six brewery workers who were caught trying to drink his new establishment dry. This was rather unpleasant, but what would Larry McLean have done if similarly provoked?

There's a warning for Jimmy Clabby in recent fight results. Jack Dillon knocked out Charley Weinert in the second round at Philadelphia, Mike Gibbons stopped Young Mike Donovan in six rounds at New York. Mike and Jack are claimants to the middleweight title Clabby won by outpointing George Chip at San Francisco recently. They evidently are tuning up their haymakers for Clabby, whom they hope to meet soon.

Clark Griffith says there isn't any reason why Carl Cashion shouldn't make the best first baseman in baseball. Nor is there any reason why we shouldn't be a millionaire, except, of course, that we lack the million.

Germany Schaefer, greatest practical joker in baseball, shivered until his teeth chattered recently when guests of Charley Comiskey at Camp Jerome, Wis., played a joke on him. Schaef turned in early one night. The gang discovered him and carried Schaef, cot and all, out of doors, where he was exposed to the cold while the jokers delivered orations over him. Schaef showed he is a good sport by grinning all the while.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Bowling seems to be the popular winter sport in these diggins this year. More than at any previous instance has the alley sport asserted itself and several hundred sportsmen are engaged in the recreation in Plainfield and the borough at the present time. All of these pin drivers are not members of teams, but are doing their share of the individual pin splitting hereabouts.

It would seem that now would be a good time to start that city league on its way. With the horde of bowlers teed up as they are at the present time it would be a comparatively easy matter to organize a four, six or eight team circuit and some good matches would be the issue.

Although the Elks and Knights of Columbus members have drives and teams of their own they would no doubt enter enthusiastically into such a scheme and some good competition would be the issue.

Basketball is not the only sport thriving at the Y. M. C. A. this winter. Unlike previous years the pool and billiard sharks have been given an opportunity to engage in their favorite pastime and the tournament now in progress gives promise of being one of the successful features of the winter's association schedule.

Announcement has been made of the fact that "Cutey" Glover will make his debut as a Holy Cross center this afternoon. Glover appears to be the "man of the hour" for this job and inasmuch as he has been one of the most faithful performers for the past three years he will make a valuable man to fill in this gap with.

Some feminine sportswomen from Kearney will invade North Plainfield territory Tuesday afternoon when the boro maidens are due to stack up against the basketeers representing Kearney High School. The Canadians will undoubtedly be given an opportunity to launch their winning campaign on this occasion.

That's certainly one flighty league the Columbus Club pin spillers are pushing along. The Parrots' score soared just a little higher than the Crows' in the opener.

Summit basketball players are due for a trimming on the Y. M. C. A. court tonight. The Plainfielders are just about due to get started and when they do woe be to the aggregation that attempts to put the damper on.

Why not a cross-country team in this city just now? The outdoor pastime is popular in nearby towns of this size and some good Saturday afternoon jaunts are indulged in by the enthusiasts. Plenty of material is lurking around the Queen City confines and organization is all that is necessary.

PATERSONIANS RETAIN LEAD IN ELKS' SENIOR ALLEY TOURNEY

Paterson holds fast to the top rung berth in the Elks' Senior Bowling League after a busy week of buffeting the other nine contenders. Jersey City hangs close to the top and Newark is running third. Plainfield is still the cellar champion floating the flag in the pit three contests in arrears of the Rutherford clan.

Harry Taylor, of Paterson, is the individual leader with a percentage of 198.7 to his credit. Erler, of Newark, is a runnerup to Taylor and A. Walters, of Rutherford, is third.

Captain Nash continues to lead the Plainfield herd in the individual race and Kiely leads Blatz by one rung.

Newark bowlers, champions in the Elks' League, captured two games out of three on their own alleys, last night, in a match with the New York quintet. Newark holds third place, being three games each way behind the leading Patersons and a game behind the Jersey City team. The New York team, which was tied with Elizabeth for fourth place, has dropped to fifth place. There was a lot of classy pinning last night, but the Newarks missed a clean sweep when they dropped to 798 in the second game, the New Yorks, with 878, being far to the front. The Newark five started with 955, while the New Yorkers only accounted for 839. In the third and deciding game the Newarks were there for 970, New York totaling 884. Dick Erler led the Newark team with 215, Connie Leick had 212, Howard Williams 207 and Billy Weingarth 201. The mark of 201 to the credit of Lee Johns was the only double-century count made by the visitors.

BOROUGH CRIMSONS LOST TO HEAVENLY REST TEAM

The Crimson basketball five, of North Plainfield, lost a hard fought game to the team of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, on the latter's court last night, the final count being 21 to 15. The match was close throughout and at one time the boroughites led their opponents, but a great spurt at the finish gave the home team victory.

The Crimsons would like to hear from teams such as the Heavenly Rest and Hope Chapel Boys Club, who have home courts. Address Arthur Townley, Grandview avenue, borough.

N. P. H. S. SOPH SEXTET TRIMMED THE FRESHIES

The sophomore girls' basketball team, of North Plainfield High School, easily defeated a team of freshmen girls, yesterday afternoon in the first inter-class game of the season at Saengerbund Hall, the final score being 25 to 5.

The outcome of the game was just as was to be expected, however, as the freshmen team has had very little practice or experience and this is the first time that some of them have ever played in a game of basketball before, while the sophomore team is composed of some of the stars of the girls' first team of the High School, and all of them have had previous experience in the game.

Miss Spencer scored the most points for the sophomore team, caging six field goals and three fouls. Miss Chandler came next with four field goals and three fouls. Miss Ricketts played a fine game at guard. For the freshmen, Miss Barry made all the points by shooting two field goals and one foul in the first half. There were no points scored by the freshmen in the second half.

SPRINGFIELD BOYS MAKE A FLYING WEEK-END TRIP

George Townley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Townley, of the borough, who is attending Springfield Training School, is visiting his parents at their home today. He came down from Springfield with the football squad and made use of this chance to make a visit home.

"Hub" Stine will play with the team against the Army at West Point this afternoon, and will also attend the banquet that will be given to the members of the Springfield squad in New York tonight. Stine may come home tonight.

STOUT'S FEDERALS LOST ODD CONTEST

Skeetertown Minors Overwhelm Plainfielders in Opening Junior Tilt.

Captain Chauncey Stout's Federal League pin artists, Federal inasmuch as three of the notables have had more or less experience with organized bowling on the Elks' Senior circuit, invaded Jersey City, last night, and dropped two contests out of a three-game series to the Skeetertown Junior Leaguers. The Plainfield juniors inaugurated their season's schedule with four Senior League faces in the batting order, this quartet comprising Captain Stout, Ed Laing, Jake Waldorf and Walter Vail. The Feds, despite the fact that they were trimmed in the series, gave a good account of themselves and Captain Stout expects to retrieve lost ground when his colts get into real working order.

Stout, anchor man on the aggregation that represented the Queen City, was decidedly off form last night, and his tallies of 131, 168 and 160 came as a big surprise to his constituents. Vail, who has been subbing on Captain Nash's "O. B." quintet this season, was a tower of strength to the minors last night, as was also Waldorf. Charlie Woolston also broke into the limelight, and Ed Laing pinned in excellent style in the two openers.

Starting off with a flourish the Plainfielders were returned victors in the initial setto by a margin of twenty-two splinters, but the second went to Jersey City with a majority of forty-six iron men. A 214 by Tiecher was largely responsible for the trolley dodgers' come-back. In the final setto Plainfield dropped into the rear by seventy counters, double centuries by Mauchet, Hudson and MacKay overwhelming the visitors, Hudson hung up the high tally of the evening in the final match with a 224.

SPORTING NOTES

—The football classic at the new Yale stadium today spells the end of the season.

Packey McFarland and Freddie Welsh are matched for a January bout. New York gets the battle.

Coach Courtney reached his sixty-fifth birthday last week, but he is on the job as usual and still getting results.

California will share honors with Marlin Springs in entertaining the Giants next spring, according to present plans.

Abe Attell in his stage debut cut out the time-worn sparring contest, and did some real dancing and monologue stuff.

Bob Shawkey will be Connie Mack's mainstay next year. Thirty-eight wins and sixteen losses last year is his great record.

Californians will test the legality of the anti-boxing amendment, on the ground that it is "class" legislation.

Rock Island instead of Springfield, and Davenport instead of Ottumwa are the changes in the Three I League.

The performance of Parker, the Frisco sprinter, in equalling the 220-yard record, received strong endorsement for official credit at the A. A. U. meeting.

—That Gaffney will sell the world's champion Braves for $400,000, buy the Dodgers and take Stallings along with him, is a Boston rumor that will not down. Gaffney is out for the coin; that much is generally conceded.

WEEK-END BASKETBALL.

The regular week-end basketball games will be played tonight, the Y. M. C. A. and Hope chapel courts being in use. Summit chapel will invade the former and the Peerless Five, of Elizabeth, will play on the Fourth street court. Preliminaries will precede both of these games and the big attractions will commence at 8:15 o'clock.

BLATZ CINCHES THE INDIVIDUAL TITLE

Kiely Meets His Waterloo in Middle Games of Two Series Bowling Well.

Frank Blatz practically clinched the Columbus Club's individual bowling title on the club's alleys, last night, by taking three well pinned games from Strappe. The initial pair of contests were annexed by the coming champ in eash fashion, but his opponent mounted to within one pin of his final in the final tilt, forcing Blatz to turn out a 213. In his match with Blatz, John Duffy copped two out of three games in the series. Blatz came back with a 222 in the last game and saved himself from a whitewashing.

Kiely took the first and third from Duffy, doing two pins better than his rival in the final match, the latter setting up an even double century. Kiely accounted for the evening's best score in his third encounter with Strappe, annexing a 245. In the latter series the big fellow also managed to win the first and third.

The scores:

Kiely	192	172	202
Duffy	169	150	200
Blatz	191	180	213
Strappe	169	174	212

LOCAL LUMINARIES SWAMPED RIVALS

Westfielders Prove to Be No Match for Fast Traveling Plainfielders.

The Plainfield Five won at Westfield, last night, from the K. B. Fraternity team of that place in the parish house of St. Paul's church. The final score was 62 to 37. The locals were supreme at all times, although their opponents showed some classy playing teamwork and shooting in the last part of the gabe, but the big lead which the locals had obtained was too much to overcome.

The home team started off well and took the lead by a few points, but the Queen Cityites soon struck their pace and rolled up a score of 38 to 18 in the first half. The second period was rougher than the first and there was not much scoring done. Taylor played the best game for the locals, getting eleven baskets, while Sisserson and Ewing were the Westfield stars.

The score:

TWENTY WORKING FOR P. H. S. BASKETBALL SQUAD

The Plainfield High School basketball team has been practicing hard in the High School gym. None of the basketball men who have been playing on the football team have reported yet, but a squad averaging about twenty players has reported to each practice.

Clarence L. Woodman, a teacher in the school, and an old time player of note, was out yesterday afternoon, assisting to round the squad into form. Mr. Woodman picked a first team which lined up with Captain McNamee and Arthur O'Leary, forwards; James Noonan, centre; Edward Ryder and Sheldon Coudray, guards.

This team was put through a hard drill and then was given a couple of plays which will be perfected at the next practice on Monday.

WILL HOLD PRIZE SHOOT.

The Plainfield Independent Shooting Club will hold a prize shoot at their grounds on Maple avenue, Thanksgiving Day. Spectators as well as shooters will be welcome. Turkeys, chickens, a goose and a young roasting pig will comprize the prize list offered.

LOCAL KICKERS ENTER.

A drop kicking and punting competition will be held at the Newark playgrounds on November 28, under the supervision of James Alverson. An invitation has been received by the Plainfield High School to enter two players in each contest. Coach Patch intends to enter Bennie Rosenson and Herbert Peacock in the drop kicking contest and Rosenson and Noonan in the punting contest.

WALTER M'ALLISTER GETS HIS FREEDOM

Last of Slayers of Paterson Silk Mill Girl Goes Home.

Walter A. McAllister, one of the slayers of Jennie Bosschieter, the Paterson silk mill worker, was standing in the corridor of Trenton Prison, yesterday afternoon, talking to his sister, Miss Eleanor McAllister, who has been a frequent visitor to him since he began his sentence of thirty years.

While they were talking Head KeKeper Madden approached McAllister and said:

"You have been paroled."

McAllister hardly seemed to realize what was said to him. When he did he burst into tears. Then he embraced his sister. Madden told McAllister that he could leave the prison as soon as he chose, after he had completed certain formalities.

McAllister lost no time. He was one of eighteen men on whose application for clemency the prison inspectors acted yesterday.

McAllister told the prison authorities that he was going to return to his home in Paterson, but he did not know what work he would pursue there. The fact that he is well off and that his record is on file in the prison seemed to make this question unnecessary, and he was not pressed for a more explicit answer before being permitted to go.

The only article McAllister took to prison with him, besides his clothes, was a razor. This was returned to him. His sister then gave him a watch, which she had purchased for him.

GETS $419 FOR THE BITE OF A LOBSTER

Metuchen, Nov. 21.—As a result of a hand-to-hand encounter with a lobster in June, 1913, in which the lobster drew first blood, Tony Masso yesterday in the Middlesex County Court was awarded $410 plus court costs, physicians' fees and hospital bills.

Tony was employed as dish washer and servant in the Hotel Klein, New Brunswick. Acting under orders of Peter Klein, one of the proprietors, he went into the kitchen to put a crate of lobsters in boiling water. Masso went bravely to his task and took no special notice of any specific lobster. However, one was on the job, and went to his death fighting to the last ditch.

"He bit me on the index finger," said Tony in court today, "and for six months I was laid up, five weeks of the time in the Long Branch Hospital. The finger is out of commission yet."

The action to recover was brought under the New Jersey Workman's Compensation act.

FEDERAL QUARANTINE ORDERED IN NEW JERSEY

Jersey City, Nov. 21—Dr. Robert Mullings, head of the Bureau of Animal Industry, in Jersey City, today received a Federal quarantine order from Secretary of Agriculture David F. Houston, which prohibits the shipment of cattle beyond the borders of the State. It is said that 1,000 quarts of infected milk have been received in Jersey City within the past few days and the local health department is striving to trace this milk. It has been suggested that those persons who drank the milk may be examined for signs of the foot and mouth disease.

WILL PREACH TO JUNIORS.

Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will preach the annual sermon to the local members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., Sunday night, November 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Marill, of 419 John street, are parents of a boy born yesterday.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

GIRLS' "FRAT" BREAKS INTO PUBLIC LIMELIGHT

The Muta Eta, another new girl's "frat" of North Plainfield High School, held a meeting last evening, at the home of Miss Marguerite Barkalew. This is the third meeting of the new organization, but heretofore nothing has been heard about it.

Bertha Keller has been elected president of the new society, Elsie Debele vice president, Murielle Dunham treasurer, and Margaret Brizzie secretary.

Of late there have been at least three new girls' "frats" organized among the members of the High School. Some have been formed in opposition to others and quite a lot of talk has been created about them.

Those present at the meeting were the Misses Madeline Blair, Marguerite Barkalew, Marion Avery, Gladys Sullivan, Bertha Keller, Elsie Debele, Murielle Dunham, Edith Dally and Margaret Brizzie.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The play committee apointed by the senior class to select a subject for their Christmas entertainment have chosen a two-act farce entitled "A Box of Monkeys." This will be presented by the senior class December 18, at which time the "knocks" will also be out. Following the entertainment there will be a dance. The play will be acted by Katherine Giddings, Lucy Douglas, Ann Hull, Lester Chandler and Elmer French. Miss Helen K. Ray will coach it.

*The boys' first and second basket*ball teams of the High School held practice in Saengerbund Hall, last night. Most of the members of both teams were present.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Woman's Equality Proclaimed by the Catholic Church.

Equality! Does the Catholic church deny the equality of woman with man? Distinguish and keep apart things that are not the same. There is the individual or personal equality. It means equality of the dignity of human nature, the dignity of the human soul. It means the equal position before God, the Creator of both sexes, in the natural as well as the supernatural order. There is here no difference between man and woman, so we are often told in the Bible. Hear the Apostle St. Paul for instance, speaking to the Christians of his time on that great question that was agitated for so many years, right in the beginning of Jewish and Pagan converts, though his answer reached far beyond. The Apostle says: "There is neither Jew nor Greek; there is neither bond nor free; there is neither man nor woman; for you are all one in Jesus Christ." We are all equal and all have equal rights. This was the Apostle proclamation of that great personal and individual equality of woman, proclaimed by no one but the Catholic church. This was the great proclamation of woman's liberty and woman's rights, when the church declared, from the day of her birth, that woman before God was equal to man, and man before God had no preference or privilege over woman.

Woman's Right to Full Development.

From this follow a number of important consequences. It follows, for instance, that woman has just as much right as any man to the full development of all the great powers and faculties that God has given her, that she has a perfect right to the fullest development of everything good in her, just as well as man. But all this in accordance with the high and noble purposes for which God has made woman. If, for instance, woman has the talent, if she has the inclination, to pursue higher studies, there is no reason why she should not do it. She has the right to do it, whenever it does not interfere with her God-given vocation. You see at once, how, if only we hold to fundamental principles, the Catholic woman is as easily in advance of all others, as by the divine proclamation of her personal equality with man. The Catholic church has defied long ago one of the great questions in this woman's movement, the higher studies or the higher education of women. From the very beginning and the earliest ages we find in the history of the church learned and highly educated women, just as we find them through all ages. Why, in the Middle Ages, those ages that the enemies of the church like so much to call the Dark Ages or the ages of ignorance, this part of the woman question has been solved by the Catholic church when she placed women as teachers and professors in the universities and institutions. The highest studies were cultivated in the convents of sisters and nuns. Our Protestant and other enemies know nothing of this, because they never took the trouble to find out and study up the real facts of the case.

The personal equality of woman with man reaches its highest perfection in the supernatural order. It cannot be understood by the world. Women are in every regard as much as men children of God, brethren of Christ, temples of the Holy Ghost and heirs of heaven. In all these divine gifts and honors and privileges they share equally with men, and many women will shine brighter in the glory and blessedness of heaven than many men will.

Vocational Distinction Between Man and Woman.

There is another teaching of the church that both man and woman have each a special vocation, a different purpose and a separate field assigned to them by Divine Providence, all for the good of mankind. Philosophy teaches this; nature itself teaches it; history teaches it; the universal experience of mankind teaches it. Everybody with common sense knows and is convinced that the work pointed out for man is not the same as that pointed out for woman; that in the life of the human race woman has another work to carry on and perform than man. It was for this very purpose that God created the two sexes. It is an unworthy, absolutely unworthy, a low disgusting and offensive theory to say that the distinction between the sexes is only for the purpose of putting people into this world or satisfying an animal instinct. That is not Christian teaching. Propagation of the race, the bringing forth of children, is only a condition required for the nobler work intended by the Creator, for a work that is not confined to the ages and centuries of this perishing world, but reaches into never-ending Eternity. It is a divine work. But in carrying out and fulfilling this great work, for which God made mankind, woman and man have very peculiar fields assigned. These are the very different and strongly marked characteristics, in soul and body of one sex and the other. Some of these modern men and women tell us that this is all the result of a faulty education, of a false or wrong training, that women got during the past centuries, and that if the men had not treated the women as slaves and absolute inferiors, why, the women of today would be just the same as men. Never. No man with sense, who knows what woman or man is, who has studied their characteristic features, whether in their physical or in the mental being, can ever maintain a theory like this.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIELD

BUILDING OPERATIONS CONTINUE INACTIVE

Little New Work is Being Started at This Season of the Year.

Plainfield's building operations still continue somewhat slow and uncertain, with practically little or no new work of large proportions being started about the city. During the course of the past week but three permits have been issued by Inspector T. O. Doane, calling for the expenditure of $5,225. One dwelling, one garage and stable, and one tank for the storage of volatile liquids is the extent of the operations about to be started.

In addition to these buildings, a number of alteration jobs of minor importance, for which no permits need be secured, have been started, thus relieving, to a certain extent, the tenseness of the existing industrial conditions. Among the notable improvements along these lines are the alterations to the store in the Depew building at North and Park avenues. The entire wall on the Park avenue store is being bricked in, replacing the store front at that point.

The feature of the week from a local viewpoint is the permit granted to James C. Manning, for the erection of a two-story and attic frame dwelling at 1034 West Seventh street. The structure will have a frontage of thirty-two feet, with a depth of thirty. A hot air system is to be installed. The building is to be modern throughout, while the architecture is to be the latest, in keeping with other dwellings in various portions of the city designed by the architects, Marsh and Gette, of New York city. The estimated cost has been placed at $5,000. Leland Manning has been awarded the mason contract, while the carpentry work will be accomplished by the owner.

Leslie R. Stewart is to erect a 12x20 foot frame garage at the rear of his residence at 1219 Lenox avenue. The cost has been estimated at $200. George Hummer, of the borough, has the contract.

John S. Haskard is to install a tank for the storage of volatile liquids at 308 McDowell street. The cost is $25.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY WILL SPEND $3,000,000

Bayonne, Nov. 21.—Work has been started by the Standard Oil Company on improvements to its plant at Constable Hook, Bayonne, the largest in the East, which will cost more than $3,000,000. A contract has been awarded for the construction of the first of seven reinforced concrete piers 350 feet long in the Kill von Kull, and they will cost $150,000 each.

Massive warehouses are to be erected and 110 acres will be filled in along New York Bay and added to the plant. Part of this ground will be used for the erection of two piers, 1,250 feet each in length, by the Bethlehem Steel Company for docking its vessels.

The piers along the Kills will be on a diagonal line, so vessels may dock without having to turn around in the narrow stream.

—Your "for sale" ad will be found and considered—probably investigated—by some of your "logical buyers."

ACTIVITY REPORTED IN CONSTRUCTION OF TENEMENTS

In the field of tenement house construction a large increase was noted, both in the number of permits and the valuation of buildings to be erected, according to the reports made by the State Board of Tenement House Supervision. Six plans for new buildings were approved by the State Board during the week ending last Saturday, calling for the expenditure of $74,000, while five plans for alterations were approved, the improvements to cost $4,600. These figures show a total expenditure of $83,600, as against $28,500 for the previous week.

Jersey City again led the State last week in approval of plans of this type of building. Included in the above report is the $12,000 building now in the course of construction at 338 West Third street, of which Morris Rabinowitz is owner.

R. G. DUN REPORTS A DECREASE OF 11 PER CENT

In spite of generally favorable weather conditions, there was a continued restriction of building activity during October, permits issued for new construction, according to returns received by Dun's Review from eighty leading centres of the United States, showing a decrease of about 11 per cent., as compared with a year ago. Considered as a whole the cities outside of New York make an unsatisfactory exhibit, with a decline from last year of 16.7 per cent. Of the seventy-nine cities outside New York, twenty-seven reported more or less improvement in comparison with October a year ago, the best showing being made by San Francisco, which alone revealed an increase of notable size. On the other hand, there was a sharp falling off at a number of important centers, including Detroit, Kansas City, Baltimore, Boston and Buffalo.

Of the New Jersey cities making reports to "Dun's," Newark shows a substantial gain, while Trenton, the capital city, shows a falling off of about thirty-three per cent.

LAY CORNER STONE OF GARWOOD BOROUGH HALL

Garwood, Nov. 21.—Plans for the laying of the cornerstone of the new borough hall and firehouse were discussed at the meeting of Council this week. Mayor Ericksen, who presided, expressed himself in favor of a simple ceremony. Several prominent men of neighboring towns, however, have been invited to speak. The borough government will be represented by the members of the Board of Education, Board of Health, School "Council" and Borough Council. The firemen will attend in uniform. The school children, through arrangements made by Principal Rozelle, will sing several selections. The exercises will begin about 3 o'clock this afternoon.

JUST NOTES

The following sales have been reported by the New York Suburban Land Company: At Garwood, N. J., a plot 40x100 in Hazel avenue to Sarah L. Hunter, and a plot 40x100 in Willow avenue, to E. Grauman.

Advices from English sources are to the effect that the influence of the war on its industries is beginning to show itself in the official returns relating to unemployment. In some cases a seasonable decline had already begun before the war broke out so that all of the idleness was not due to that cause. In many trades and very largely in the building industry short time had been resorted to in order to avoid laying off workmen. The figures of unemployment among members of the insured trades show that the percentage of idle among carpenters at the end of August was 5½ per cent.; bricklayers, 5.7 per cent.; masons, 3.8 per cent.; plasterers, 7.3 per cent.; painters, 9.7 per cent.; plumbers, 4.9 per cent., and laborers, 6.2 per cent. Taking all the occupations together the percentage of idle was 6.2 per cent.

"Many articles are appearing in the technical journals, written in the interest of special paints and coatings for concrete surfaces, in which it is stated that cement waterproofing, in powder or liquid form, decreases the strength of the cement or affects the metal used for reinforcement. These statements, as applied to the standard brands of waterproofing, are far from the facts in the case. Millions of pounds of waterproofing powder are used yearly by the leading engineers and cement-workers of the country, and the makers of standard waterproofing material have great numbers of tests, by reliable authorities, which show not the slightest injurious effect on strength. As to the claim that a material like good waterproofing, which is absolutely neutral, insoluble, inert and unchanged with age, could attack the metal reinforcement is too absurd to be discussed. There is no doubt that the many attacks on cement waterproofing by parties interested in promoting other materials have done much to deter inexperienced users from adopting waterproofing material of recognized value, but trained engineers pay little attention to loose statements unsupported by proof, and base their judgment on reliable records of long-time tests."—Exchange.

New York, or more properly Manhattan, has nine buildings exceeding 400 feet in height as follows: Woolworth Building, 750 feet; Metropolitan Life Building, 700 feet; Singer Manufacturing Building, 612 feet; Municipal Building, 560 feet; Bankers Trust Building, 539 feet; New Equitable Building, 485 feet; Adams Express Company Building, 424 feet; Times Building, 419 feet; West Street Building, 404 feet.

According to the New York State College of Forestry lumber has increased in price 30 per cent. every decade for the last fifty years, and forest products generally are bringing such high prices that more and more attention is being paid to the closer utilization of forest products.

A feature of the Country Life Permanent Exposition in the Grand Central Terminal, New York city, will be a full size model bungalow containing seven rooms and equipped with up-to-date electrical appliances. It will be one and a half stories high and will be constructed of North Carolina pine.

Plans have been filed by the Central Railroad of New Jersey for a postoffice building at the Communipaw terminal, Jersey City. The site is 49x97 feet, and the cost has been placed at $40,000.

WILL VOTE ON QUESTION OF BUYING SCHOOL LANDS

Roselle Park, Nov. 21.—At the meeting of the Board of Education, Tuesday night, in the High School building, it was decided to hold a special election at the High School building, Tuesday night, December 8, to vote on the purchase of nineteen lots for the purpose of erecting a school building. These lots face on Grant avenue, Filbert street, and Clay avenue, and the assessed valuation is $6,400, and it was explained by the agent that they could be purchased for $7,000. They are opposite the present High School building, on the oppisite side of Filbert street, and an ideal location for a school building. The agent explained that the owners would hold the offer for a reasonable length of time, giving the Board and people time to decide.

PAINTERS LEAD IN THE NUMBER OF MEN EMPLOYED

The Building Trades Council met in regular session last evening, transacting considerable business of a routine nature. The report of the business agent as made by William H. Lunger indicated that local conditions continue about the same as they have been for the past several weeks, with the painters in the lead in the percentage of men employed. One or two prospective contract jobs were in sight, which would possibly mean work for a number of building mechanics.

Several matters pertaining to the local school system were discussed in an informal way, especially regarding the prospective buildings now under consideration by the Board of Education.

Jenny looked at her admiringly and asked: "How did you ever do it? I can't bear to throw things away; I can't bear to move things from where they've been."

"I didn't use to want to," said Mary, "but lately—I do. The winter's so clean, you kind of have to to keep up. What's the news?"

"Here's a letter," Jenny said and handed it. "I didn't look to see who it's from. I guess it's a strange writing, anyway."

Mary glanced indifferently at it. "It's from Lily's boy, out west," she said, and laid the letter on the shelf. "I meant what's the news about you?"

Jenny's eyes widened swiftly. "News about me?" she said. "Who said there was any news about me?"

"Nobody," Mary said evenly, "but you've been gone 'most a year, ain't you?"

"Oh," Jenny said, "yes."

For really, when Old Trail Town stopped to think of it, Jenny Wing was Mrs. Bruce Rule and had been so for a year. But no-one thought of calling her that. It always takes Old Trail Town several years to adopt its marriages. They would graduate first to "Jenny Wing that was," and then to "Jenny Wing What's-name" and then to "Mis' Rule that was Jenny Wing."

"You tell me some news," Jenny added. "Mother don't ever write much but the necessaries."

"That's all there's been," Mary Chavah told her. "We ain't had no luxuries for news in forever."

"But there's that notice in the postoffice," cried Jenny. "I come home to spend Christmas, and there's that notice in the postoffice. Mother wrote nobody was going to do anything for Christmas, but she never wrote me that. I've brought home some little things I made"—

"Oh—Christmas!" Mary said. "Yes, they all got together and concluded best not have any. You know, since the failure"—

Mary hesitated—Ebenezer Rule was Bruce Rule's uncle.

"I know," said Jenny, "it's Uncle Ebenezer. I don't know how I'm going to tell Bruce when he comes. To think it's in our family, the reason they can't have any Christmas."

"Nonsense," said Mary, briskly; "no Christmas presents is real sensible, my way of thinking. It's been 'leven years since I've given a Christmas present to anybody. The first Christmas after mother died, I couldn't—I just couldn't. That kind of got me out of the i-dea, and then I see all the nonsense of it."

"The nonsense?" Jenny repeated.

"If you don't like folks, you don't want to give nothing to them or take nothing from them. And if you do like 'em you don't want to have to wait to Christmas to give 'em things. Ain't that so?" Mary Chavah put it.

"No," said Jenny, "it ain't. Not a bit so." And when Mary laughed, questioned her, pressed her, "It seems perfectly awful to me not to have a Christmas," Jenny could say only, "I feel like the winter didn't have no backbone to it."

"It's a dead time, winter," Mary assented. "What's the use of tricking it up with gewgaws and pretending it's a live time? Besides, if you ain't got the money, you ain't got the money. And nobody has, this year. Unless they go ahead and buy things anyway, like the city."

CHAPTER IV.

The Little Nephew.

JENNY shook her head. "I got seven Christmas present relatives and ten Christmas present friends, and I've only spent $2.80 on 'em all," she said, "for material. But I've made little things for every one of 'em. It don't seem as if that much had ought to hurt any one."

Jenny looked past her out the window, somewhere beyond the snow.

"They's something else," she added. "It ain't all present giving."

"Nonsense!" said Mary Chavah. "Take the present trading away from Christmas and see how long it'd last. I was in the city once for Christmas. I'll never forget it—never. I never see folks work like the folks worked there. The streets was Bedlam. The stores was worse. 'What'll I get him?' 'I've just got to get something for her.' 'It don't seem as if this is nice enough after what she gave me last year.' I can hear 'em yet. They spent money wicked. And I said to myself that I was glad from my head to my feet that I was done with Christmas. And I been preaching it ever since. And I'm pleased this town has had to come to it."

"It ain't the way I feel," said Jenny. She got up and wandered to the window and hardly heard while Mary went on with more of the sort. "It seems kind of like going back on the way things are," Jenny said as she turned. Then, as she made ready to go, she broke off and smote her hands together.

"Oh," she said, "it don't seem as if I could bear it not to have Christmas—not this year."

"You mean your and Bruce's first Christmas," said Mary. "Mark my words, he'll be glad to be rid of the fuss. Men always are. Come on out the front door if you're going," said Mary. "You might as well use it when it's open."

As Jenny passed the open parlor door she looked in again at the bare room.

"Don't you like pictures?" she asked abruptly.

"I like 'em when I like 'em," Mary answered. "I didn't like 'em I had up here—I had a shot stag and a fruit piece and an eagle with a child in its claws. I've loathed 'em for years, but I ain't ever had the heart to throw 'em out till now. They're over behind the coal bin."

Jenny thought. "They's a picture over to mother's," she said, "that she ain't put up because she ain't had the money to frame it. I guess I'll bring it over after supper and see if you don't want it up here, frame or no frame." She looked at Mary and laughed. "If I bring it to you tonight," she said, "it ain't a Christmas present—legal. But if I want to call it a Christmas present inside of me the town can't help that."

"Don't you tell folks I've been housecleaning," she warned Jenny.

"What's the picture?" Mary asked.

"I don't know who it represents," said Jenny, "but it's nice."

When Jenny had gone Mary Chavah stood in the snow shaking the rug she had left outside and looking at the clean, white town.

"It looks like it was waiting for something," she thought.

A door opened and shut. A child shouted. In the northeast a shining body had come sparkling above the trees—Capella, of the brightness of a hundred of our suns, being born into the twilight like a little star.

Mary closed the parlor windows and stood for a moment immersed in the quiet and emptiness of the clean rooms.

"This looks like it was waiting for something, too," she thought. "But it ought to know it won't get it," she added whimsically.

Then she went back to the warm room and saw the letter on the shelf. She meant to go in a moment to the stable to make it safe there for the night; so, with the gray shawl still binding her head and falling to her feet, she sat by the stove and read the letter:

—because she wasn't sick but two days and we never thought of her dying till she was dead. Otherwise we'd have telegraphed. She was buried yesterday, right here, and we'll get some kind of stone. You say how you think it'd ought to be marked. That's about all there is to tell except about Yes. He's six years old now and, Aunt Mary, this ain't a place for him. He's a nice little fellow and I hate for him to get rough and he will if he stays here. I'll do the best I can and earn money to help keep him but I want he should come and live with you—

"I won't have him!" said Mary Chavah, aloud.

—he could come alone with a tag all right and I could send his things by freight. He ain't got much. You couldn't help but like him and I hate for him to get rough. Please answer and oblige your loving nephew, JOHN BLOOD.

Mary kept reading the letter and staring out into the snow. Her sister Lily's boy—they wanted to send him to her. Lily's boy and Adam Blood's—the man whose son she had thought would be her son. It was twenty years ago that he had been coming to the house—this same house—and she had thought that he was coming to see her, had never thought of Lily at all till Lily had told her of her own betrothal to him. It hurt yet. It had hurt freshly when he had died, five years ago. Now Lily was dead, and Adam's eldest son, John, wanted to send this little brother to her, to have.

"I won't take him," she said a great many times, and kept reading the letter and staring out into the snow.

For Lily she had no tears—she seldom had tears at all. But after a little while she was conscious of a weight through her and in her, aching in her throat, her breast, her body. She rose and went near to the warmth of the fire, then to the freedom of the window against which the snow lay piled, then she sat down in the place where she worked beside her patterns. The gray shawl still bound her head, and it was still in her mind that she must go to the barn and lock it. But she did not go—she sat in the darkening room with all her past crowding it.

She Sat by the Stove and Read the Letter.

That first day with Adam at the Blood's picnic, given at his homecoming. They had met with all that perilous, ready made intimacy which a school friendship of years before had allowed. As she had walked beside him she had known well what he was going to mean to her. She remembered the moment when he had contrived to ask her to wait until the others went, so that he might walk home with her. And when they had reached home there on the porch, where she had just shaken the rugs in the snow, Lily had been sitting, a stool—one of the stools now at length banished to the shed—holding the hurt ankle that had kept her from the picnic. Adam had stayed an hour, and they had sat beside Lily. He had come again and again, and they had always sat beside Lily. Mary remembered that those were the days when she was happy in things—in the house and the look of the rooms and of the little garden from the porch and of the old red cushioned rocking chairs on the tiny "stoop." She had loved her clothes and her little routines, and all these things had seemed desirable and ultimate because they two were sharing them. Then one day Mary had joined Lily and Adam there on the porch, and Lily had been looking up with new eyes, and Mary had searched her face, and then Adam's face! and they had all seemed in a sudden nakedness, and Mary had known that a great place was closed against her.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

This polonaise that flares at its lower edge is one of the very newest and smartest garments for fall wear.

In the picture it is made of gabardine over a skirt of satin, and the sash is of satin ribbon, while the collar and cuffs are of ribbed silk, but the design is one that can be copied again and again in different materials and, consequently, to give different effects.

For the medium size the polonaise will require six and three-fourth yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with three and one-half yards of ribbon for sash with bow.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8258, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

PLANNING THANKSGIVING.

The Tuskabatchee Bible Class, of the Congregational church, are making arrangements to provide a number of needy families with Thanksgiving dinners, as has been their custom for a number of years. The committee in charge is composed of Donald Updyke, Louis Zeck, Holmes Clawson and Harold Tomlinson. James McClymont is the teacher of the class.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

A few leaves clung to the very tops of the trees and fluttered against the dull gray sky, while below them the hills showed through the lacy brown twigs. A flock of white pigeons circled and sank behind the dark roofs, over which a thin white line of smoke rose from one tall, dark chimney and was spread in a gray cloud by the wind.

A woman with a pale, anxious face sat at the window looking out on the dreary street. She smiled as she saw a trim-looking young man come up the walk and wave a greeting to her.

"Hello mother!" he called as he hung up a fine new overcoat.

"Come here, Harry, I want to talk to you," she called. As he entered the room she asked him to close the door and motioned to a chair near her.

"Is anything the matter, mother?" he asked, dropping into the chair.

"Yes, dear. All these bills are due and I have no money to pay them with. It isn't fair to ask your Aunt Fanny to use up all her school money feeding the four of us. You will have to help on this. You have done nothing to help out and you have been here ever since your marriage three months ago. Gertrude has not assisted with the work, either."

"You know I have had no steady job," answered the young man. "I had work for three months before my marriage with the census bureau, but my wedding expenses took all that. All I have earned since then has gone for clothes and incidentals," and a temporary shadow crossed the habitually cheerful face.

"You should have counted the cost before you married. I do not see how you can expect Fanny to support you and your wife," and the mother began going over the items on the bills.

"I thought we could get along. Gertrude's father gave her that fine house on Arbor street, about half paid for, and we planned to rent rooms enough to keep up the payments and taxes. Being rent free, I thought I could earn enough to support us, as last year I worked pretty steadily. Her people would not consent to our renting rooms, so we decided to rent the house until it is paid for. We get $55 a month rent," and he took a cigar from his pocket and lit it.

"How much are the payments?" asked the mother.

"Thirty-five dollars; so we have $20 clear," he answered, thrusting his hands into his trousers pockets. "Gertrude has banked every cent of that. She's thrifty," he added, smiling.

"That would be a great help with the bills, though it would not cover all the additional expense. What I suggest is this: If Gertrude will help with the work, you can stay here and we will share expenses. I have the rent of Mr. Foster's room. That and Fanny's board and room rent will enable me to pay my half," and she looked appealingly at her son.

"Well, I will go and talk to Gertrude," and laying his cigar on the tray he swung up the stairs whistling.

Presently there was a swish of silken skirts on the stair and a tall, girlish figure, stylishly gowned, entered the room.

"Harry says you would like me to pay board from the rent of my house," she said with her head in the air. "I am not willing to do it. Harry married me, let him support me. I shall keep my money and put it out at interest."

"Harry is not earning much of anything and I am not able to board both of you for nothing, besides going without the rent of the room. My home produces all the income I have," said the mother.

"Why don't you talk to him about it? If your son can't support his wife, you, not I, am to blame, and you should suffer the consequences," and she rustled up the stairs.

The weary mother sighed and gazed out of the window.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Adv.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Lament Of the Forest Spirit.

"What is the matter with the towering pine?"

"THE Forest Spirit stood under the shadow of a Towering Pine, wringing her hands and crying and crying as if her heart would break.

"'What is the matter?' asked the Towering Pine.

"'I'm afraid; I'm afraid!' wailed the Forest Spirit.

"'Poor thing!' said the Towering Pine. 'Tell me what you are afraid of, won't you? Perhaps I can help you.'

"'No; you can't help me!' sighed the Forest Spirit, fluttering her green robes. 'No one can help me but the people who own the forests.'

"'Well, tell me about it anyhow,' said the sympathetic Towering Pine.

"'You see,' began the Forest Spirit in a low voice, 'I'm afraid the country is going to be ruined if the forests are not preserved.

"'I remember a long time ago—oh, hundreds of years ago!—I was in a country called Palestine. It was a wonderful country. Fine forests crowned the hilltops, and upon the sides of the hills grapevines bearing luscious grapes flourished.

"'The people gathered the grapes and made wine, the honeybees that fed upon the blossoms made much honey, and the people were all very jolly and happy because they were well fed and well clothed and had nice houses to live in.

"'Then some one began cutting down the trees on the hilltops. I remember how I wandered around through the forests and wept and wept just as I am doing now.

"'But it did no good, and after awhile the hilltops were bare. Then rains came—not one rain, but many rains as the years passed. The rain would rush down the sides of the hills, and after awhile it washed away the vineyards. The bees, of course, went away, and then the people began to grow poor, and, of course, as they grew poor they didn't get any happier, because, in my opinion, poor people, if they are happy at all, are happy in spite of poverty.

"'And then the population grew less and less and went away to other lands, and the ones who remained were very miserable.

"'That is why I am crying, because I don't want my trees taken away, and the people ought to know how much they need them.'

"'Oh, well, I wouldn't cry any more!' comforted the Towering Pine. 'Although I, too, have something to fear, I know that several men have been looking me over to see if I would make good lumber. So, you see, they need me, but in a different way.'

"'Well, men are queer animals anyhow!' sighed the Forest Spirit."

Household Hints

BREADS

Make a sponge the night before (if the weather is not too warm). Use one pint boiling water to scald part of the flour; then add warm milk, or milk and water enough for the baking. One teacup of yeast is enough for three or four small-sized loeves. Stir in flour enough to make a stiff batter and beat well. (If the weather is warm, the milk can be scalded in the morning, when the sponge is made into dough.) Knead well, but not too stiff. When it is kneaded long enough it will not stick to the hands or the tray. When it has raised up light, knead it down without adding more flour. It will shortly come up again. Make into moderate-sized loaves. When they are light, wet the loaves with cold water and bake. Bake them through. Good bread that is so slack-baked that you can make dough of it by pressing the fingers upon it is not fit to be eaten by anyone who has not a digestive apparatus like an ostrich. When bread is baked enough it will spring back, like a sponge, when pressed down by the fingers.

Egg Bread—One pint meal, one teaspoon salt, one-half pint buttermilk, tablespoon lard, one-half teaspoon soda, two eggs. Pour over meal sufficient boiling water to thoroughly scald, then add lard and salt. Thin with buttermilk into which has been dissolved the soda. (When having no buttermilk, omit soda and use one teacup sweet milk with three teaspoonfuls baking powder.) Beat eggs separately and add them the last thing. Have an iron skillet hot and slightly greased; pour batter in and bake inside oven till nicely browned. Serve piping hot.

THE TABLE

Breaded Veal Cutlet—When buying veal cutlet, always have it cut very thin. Cut into pieces (a medium-sized cutlet will make six or eight pieces); dust with salt, pepper and flour; dip in egg (one egg and one tablespoon milk, beaten together); then in bread crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat. Drain on stale bread or brown paper. Serve with green peas.

Green Peas—Drain and rinse one can of green peas; put into sauce pan with one-half cup boiling water; season with salt and pepper, and heat through. Serve around veal cutlet.

Mashed Potatoes—Wash and pare one quart potatoes. Cover with boiling water and cook until tender. Drain, sprinkle with salt, shake and put through potato ricer or fruit press. Put potatoes on center of platter, lay veal cutlet on potatoes and put green peas around the edge. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Princess Pudding—Two cups soft white bread crumbs, two cups milk, three eggs, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one tablespoon raisins. Put well-beaten eggs, sugar and salt into a bowl; add soft bread crumbs. Butter six custard or handleless cups and put part of the raisins in bottom of each cup. Pour in egg and bread. Set cups in pan of cold water and bake in hot oven until pudding is firm. When cool run a spatula or pliable knife around edge and turn out on a sauce dish. It can be eaten with milk or fruit juices.

Cream Soda Biscuits—One pint sour cream, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda dissolved in cream, enough flour to make soft dough. Pat out one inch thick (do not roll), cut, lay one-half inch apart in pan, bake fifteen minutes in quick oven.

Maryland Biscuits—One pint flour, one-third cup lard, one teaspoon salt, milk and water in equal quantities. Mix and sift flour and salt, work in lard with tips of fingers and moisten to a stiff dough. Toss on slightly floured board and beat with rolling pin thirty minutes, continually folding over the dough. Roll one-third inch thick, shape with round cutter two inches in diameter, prick with fork and place on a buttered tin. Bake twenty minutes in hot oven.

Safety—First of All

Safety is, after all, the first requirement of a bank from the standpoint of the depositor, and

Safety has been the rock foundation upon which has been built the business of this Company. To it all other considerations have been subservient. If you want to satisfy yourself as to the Safety of this institution come in and let us tell you of what our assets consist—of the close attention which our strong Board of Directors gives to our affairs and of the frequent examinations which are conducted by the State examiners, as well as by certified public accountants. Our Officers are always glad to talk with inquirers on this subject.

NOVEL TEACHING METHOD ADOPTED

Board of Education Rents Six-room Dwelling for Housekeeping Center.

MODERN INSTRUCTION

Pupils to be Taught the Domestic Sciences Arts in a Practical Way—Boys Included in New Scheme to Help Furnish House.

In connection with the domestic science courses, in the public schools, the local Board of Education has secured a six-room dwelling adjoining the High School on Arlington avenue, which is to be used as a housekeeping centre. This house is available for use of classes from all departments of the school system. At the present time, classes of High School girls and boys are developing a comprehensive scheme of remodeling and furnishing and decorating the house.

The whole scheme of equipping is to be compatible with good taste and economy of material, practically all the repairs, painting and slight alterations, being executed by the High School shop work classes. The decorations, interior furnishing, etc., are being planned and done by High School girls. Working with the instructors in an advisory capacity is a committee of women from the High School Parent-Teacher Association.

Each High School girl in the home arts course will perform a certain number of hours of work in the model cottage in actual housekeeping practice. In this manner, as nearly as possible, the actual conditions under which a housekeeper works are duplicated. In general, a class of girls in the house will be divided into three departments of work, Kitchen and dining room work, general housekeeping, and laundry work. Each girl will do a certain amount of work in each department. A class entering the house for a "day's work" will put in sufficient time to go through a day's routine, including the preparing of at least one meal.

The unit of work is the family. A class will presume a certain income and study the division of income, basing the menus and living expenses upon that income. Practical marketing will be taught upon this same basis, and by sending girls in turn to market for certain things to be obtained within a specified limit. The surplus products of the kitchen will be sold to the High School lunch counter.

There will be special classes from the lower grades formed for housekeeping practice. Along the same lines, also, as previously announced, special domestic science classes for adults will meet in this house for study of housekeeping problems.

The model cottage represents the most practical application of domestic science in school work, and is highly endorsed by the educational authorities of the State Department of New Jersey and other States.

MISS CORA GANO AND LESLIE CRANE TO WED

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Gano daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manning F. Gano, of North Plainfield, and Leslie Crane, son of O. P. Crane, of Westervelt avenue, this city. The couple will be married on Thanksgiving Day, and after a trip will reside for the present at Mr. Crane's home.

DUDLEY BARROWS AND MISS ASHWELL ENGAGED

Mrs. William C. Ashwell, formerly of Plainfield, but now of New York, announced today the engagement of her daughter, Miss Madeline Ashwell, to Dudley Hammond Barrows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, of West Eighth street, this city. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Ashwell made her debut three years ago, her introduction to society being a notable social function. She is popular in the younger society set of both Plainfield and New York.

Mr. Barrows is a graduate of Princeton University, class '07, and is also active in the younger society set. He is well-known as a golfer, being a member of the Plainfield Country Club. During the past few years he has been a successful contestant in a number of golf tournaments. At present Mr. Barrows is engaged in business in Brooklyn.

SUCCESSFUL SALE.

The Ladies' Aid Society conducted a most successful sale of home-made cakes, pies, bread and other goods Saturday afternoon, a neat sum being realized as a result. The proceeds are to be used for church work of the chapel.

ELKS PLAN ANNUAL LODGE OF SORROW

J. Power Donellan, New York Jurist, Will Be the Orator.

The committee of arrangement for the annual lodge of sorrow to be conducted by the local Elks in the Plainfield Theatre on Sunday night, December 6, announced to day that J. Power Donellan, a prominent New York jurist, had been secured as orator. He is a member of New York Lodge, No. 1, and is considered one of the ablest speakers in the metropolis. Former City Judge William N. Runyon will deliver the eulogy, a feature of the service that forms one of its most impressive parts.

Exalted Ruler Frank H. Smith will be in charge of the exercises and the other officers of No. 885 will assist. The musical numbers are to be provided by Paroubek's Symphony Orchestra, assisted by the Colonial Male Quartet, of New York, and Miss Marie Adele Hays, soprano soloist. As in previous years, the public will be admitted to the service.

Five members of the Plainfield lodge have passed away during the year, their names now being added to the list from which there is no response when the secretary calls the roll. In the order of their demise, these were Captain James H. Daly, David J. Carney, John H. Kitchen, Clarence T. Brokaw and Frederick Sanford.

The memorial committee completing arrangements is composed of Clarence E. Teel, chairman; S. P. T. Wilbur, Louis A. Bellis, Dr. C. L. Crist, William J. Tallamy and Francis J. Blatz.

PLEASING MUSICAL BY CHORUS CHOIR

"A Song of Thanksgiving" Given at First Baptist Church Last Evening.

The quartet and chorus choir of the First Baptist church gave a pleasing musical service, last night, singing for the first time in this city, Maunder's "A Song of Thanksgiving," an exceptionally tuneful cantata. It comprises considerable work for solo parts, and these were taken in a most acceptable manner by Mrs. Edith Frank, soprano; Miss Leontine de Ahna, contralto; William Holmes, baritone, and George Smith, tenor. The work of the chorus was up to the usual high standard, its singing being a marked feature.

In addition to the solo numbers there were trios, duos and quartet selections, all of which were sung in a way that pleased the congregation that filled the large edifice. The whole service was under the supervision of Howard M. Case, organist and choir director, and the work of the quartet and chorus reflected much credit on his training. Another feature of the service was the prelude, organ and violin, Miss Florence Wohlfert being the violinist. The offering was for the Belgian Relief Fund.

MISS SUSAN COREY DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Miss Susan Corey, daughter of Mrs. Ella J. Corey, died yesterday at her mother's residence, 930 Hillside avenue, after a serious illness of many months. Miss Corey was born at Elmira, N. Y., and during her life had traveled extensively abroad and in this country. Her father, William F. Corey, died several years ago.

Miss Corey had been a resident of Plainfield about ten years, and endeared herself to a large circle of friends. She took a deep interest in musical and literary matters and was constantly and unselfishly devoted to helping those in trouble and ministering to the unfortunate. She was a loving daughter and sister and a faithful friend and her death is a distinct loss to a great many people. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Ella J. Corey; a brother, Robert B. Corey, and a sister, Miss Alice Corey, all of this city. The funeral will be private.

F. M. B. A. MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Plainfield Branch, No. 7, Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association, has been invited by the State organization to attend the annual memorial exercises in memory of the brothers who have passed away from 1896 to 1914. They will be held in Keeney's Theatre, Newark, Sunday afternoon at 2:15. The exercises will be of an interesting nature, comprising music and addresses. A delegation of local firemen will attend.

LOCAL POLICE ASKED TO JOIN IN SEARCH

Richard Von Krebs, Alleged Murderer, Still at Large Eluding Many Detectives.

Chief of Police Kiely has received circulars from the New Brunswick and Middlesex county authorieies requesting him to keep a lookout for Richard Von Krebs, wanted for murder in that place. A picture and a minute description of the man accompanies the request.

John Fagan, engineer of the New Brunswick local from New York, reported to Prosecutor Florance's office that a man answering the description of Richard Von Krebs, wanted for murder, jumped upon his train at the roundhouse near New Brunswick as he was taking the train to Millstone Junction and rode as far as the junction, when he got off and ran toward the woods. Detectives made a search, but found no trace of Von Krebs.

Von Krebs is wanted for the murder of Mrs. Henry Riehle at the Von Krebs farm, near New Brunswick, on November 4. At that time he also shot Riehle, who has since been discharged from the hospital and has returned to the farm.

COLLEGE CELEBRATES SISTER'S NAMESDAY

Mt. St. Mary Pupils Take Part in Festive Event and Render Program.

Services to commemorate the Feast of St. Cecelia, the namesday of the Mother Superior of Mt. St. Mary College, were conducted in the college chapel Saturday, the celebration lasting throughout the entire day. The day was inaugurated with a big mass at 6:30 o'clock, accompanied by a special program of music, in which the students of the institution participated.

In the afternoon a reception was tendered by the visiting sisters, about fifty members, representing the various mission houses of the Sisters of Mercy being in attendance. The following enjoyable program was rendered by the pupils in the academic department for the entertainment of the guests: Floral Greeting, primary department; orchestra, Carnation Waltz; vocal chorus, Happy Birds, High School; Thanksgiving Day, grammar grades; orchestra, Carnival March; recitation, The Ruling Passion, Gladys Gilmartin; vocal chorus, Sweet Evening Bells, High School; orchestra, Boston Beauty March; presentation of flowers, primary grades.

The Mother Superior was the recipient of numerous handsome gifts including unusually attractive specimens of art, needle-work, water colorings and china paintings.

Students of the college will participate in a second entertainment this evening, when they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gillison Lott, of Westfield, at a chrysanthemum luncheon. This affair is given especially for the members of the High School and upper grammar grades, and is given in honor of the thirteenth birthday of their daughter, Miss Emma Lott, who is a pupil in the freshmen class of the college. Covers will be laid for sixty and immediately following the luncheon a pleasing program will be given in the gymnasium of the institution.

F. W. LOOMIS PASSES AWAY IN JERSEY CITY

Frank W. Loomis, aged 52 years, father of Walter J. Loomis, of John street, died last night, at his home in Jersey City, following a brief illness, after recovering from a more serious one. While visiting his son in this city several months ago, Mr. Loomis was taken seriously ill and underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital. He returned home recently.

Mr. Loomis contracted a heavy cold last Thursday, while out in a heavy rain and the following day his condition became alarming. On Saturday, Dr. T. S. Davis, of this city, who treated Mr. Loomis while he was in Plainfield, was summoned to Jersey City, but the latter's condition was such that he was beyond medical aid and died last night. Mr. Loomis leaves a wife and three sons, Walter J. Loomis, of this city, being the oldest.

WILL HOLD A SOCIAL.

A social time is to be held tomorrow evening at the German Reformed church, the borough, at which time reports from the committee on the Red Cross subscriptions are to be made. A full attendance of the committee and congregation is desired as a full report will be made.

LITTLE PROSPECT FOR UNEMPLOYED

G. T. Dunham is Made Temporary Secretary of Citizens' Committee.

The Citizens' Committee appointed to look after the interests of the unemployed men of Plainfield, met last night, in the office of Mayor Percy H. Stewart to further discuss problems arising out of the present situation. Little progress was made, however, and the hour that the committee was together was spent in talking over various matters pertaining to the general subject. Garret T. Dunham was made temporary secretary for the committee, this being thought advisable for the reason that he is the overseer of the poor and naturally comes in contact with those seeking help.

It was reported that Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett is working street gangs alternately, thus making it possible to give employment to a larger number of men. Just how long this can be continued is not known.

There was a discussion of the proposed sanitary sewer work and the possibility of this giving employment to a large number of men, but nothing definite could be learned last night. It is expected that the Cauldwell-Wingate Company, of New York, which has the contract for building the trunk sewer, will begin operations very soon, weather permitting.

FORESTERS WILL HE HOSTS AT RECEPTION TO FRIENDS

Following a short business meeting in their headquarters, members of Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Independent Order of Foresters, will be the hosts at a social gathering tomorrow night, to which wives and lady friends will be the invited guests. The entertainment committee has arranged an enjoyable program of amusement for those who attend and a large number of those indirectly affiliated with the work of this organization is expected.

The business meeting will be held promptly at 7:30 and the reception will take place immediately afterward. Among the features will be card games and music. Valuable prizes have been contributed and will be awarded to successful winners.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL WILL HAVE SPECIAL EXERCISES

Pupils of the Washington School will conduct their annual Thanksgiving exercises in the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon at 1:30, to which parents and friends have been invited. This event is one of the biggest of pre-holiday occasions for the school-children and an especially appropriate program of music and recitations has been arranged by those in charge.

The numbers on the program include the following: Singing, "Thanksgiving," by the school; recitation, "Tommy Bob's Thanksgiving," by Ellis Galloway; song, "Thanksgiving Day," by the 6-A grade; dialogue, by Edith Schlick and Myrtle Jackson; singing, by the school; "Our Pilgrim Fathers," original stories, by five members of seventh grade; song, "Popping Corn," 11 girls and boys from 3-A; recitation, "Betty's Dream," by Dorothy Joyce; song, "Thanksgiving," by the 6-B grade; playlet, "Thanksgiving Dinner," by 3-B and 4-A grades, song, "Thanksgiving Hymn," by the seventh grade; playlet, "The Brownie's Thanksgiving," by the girls and boys from the fourth and fifth grades; singing, by the school.

DRUM CORP'S CARNIVAL PROVED GREAT SUCCESS

Members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps concluded a seven days' indoor carnival in the Company K armory, Saturday night, the last evening culminating a successful series of entertainments planned and supervised by committees of corps members. The event was a success in every way and the results far exceed the anticipations of those in charge.

Dancing, together with a special program of music, was the feature each night of the carnival and large attendance were recorded at each meeting. The hall was attractively decorated for the festive occasion and the amusements provided were thoroughly enjoyed.

ARTHUR M. HARRIS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Community Santa Claus Committee Elects Officers and Plans Work.

The Community Santa Claus Committee from the Federation of Men's Church Clubs and religious organizations met at the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon and elected officers and discussed plans for this year's work. There was a good attendance of members. A. M. Harris, of Central avenue, was elected president. The other officers are S. T. Carter, Jr., vice-president; C. A. Rice, treasurer, and Dr. William H. Murray, secretary. Five committees were appointed to arrange for the securing of funds to carry on the work this year and it is hoped that all Plainfield people will aid the committee in bringing cheer to poor families during Christmas time.

Last year there was much interest taken in this work and much good was done and even greater interest is being taken in caring for the poor and needy this year. The meeting was adjoudned until next Sunday afternoon when there will be a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. parlors at 4:30 o'clock.

WOMAN INJURED IN HUNT CLUB RUN

Mrs. Rufus C. Finch Hit By Limb While Jumping Fence.

As her horse jumped a fence on the Steengraff farm near South Plainfield, Saturday afternoon, in the chase of the Watchung Hunt Club, Mrs. Rufus C. Finch was struck in the face by the limb of a tree, which made a deep cut on the upper eye-lid. She narrowly escaped a permanent injury to the eye. Mrs. Finch pluckily finished the run, after which a physician was obliged to take six stitches to close the wound.

The hounds were met at South Plainfield, the first check being on the Hamilton farm. The second check was at Metuchen and the run ended at Samptown. The jumping was good and the pace fast from the start.

The following riders finished: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; Harry A. Bourne, Mayor H. W. Evans, of Westfield; R. H. Towner, Mrs. Rufus C. Finch, Fred Alpers, S. D. French and Huntsman Harrison.

PARTY TENDERED TO LITTLE ONE IN HONOR OF BIRTHDAY

A delightful birthday party was given Saturday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Benton in honor of the seventh birthday of their daughter, Alice Marie, at their home, 406 East Third street. There was a large attendance and the time was passed pleasantly with games, dancing and singing. Refreshments were served.

Those present were Gertrude Marie Faucett, Harriet Benton, Dorothy Miller, Dorothy Rice, Hazel Fisher, Margaret McKay, Dorothy Adelberg, Alice Marie Benton, and Jack Faucett, Paul Hannigan, Harvey Sturgis, Henry Bowers, Brooks Benton, Charles Adelberg, Carl Adelberg.

SPECIAL MASS IN MEMORY OF FATHER W. H. MILLER

A special Thanksgiving mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph's R. C. church, the borough, Thursday morning at 8 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. Father Peter Hart. The mass will be in the nature of a memorial service to the late Father William H. Miller, for many years rector of the church. The Holy Name Society of the church will attend in a body.

CHILDREN'S HOME PLEA.

As the time of Thanksgiving approaches, the Children's Home again presents its claim for remembrance to its many friends. The increasingly large family this year will make doubly acceptable all gifts of provisions, or supplies of any kind, and the little band of dependent children gives the management courage to present their plea for some of the abundance with which so many are blessed.

RASORES MEETING.

The Rasores will meet tomorrow morning, at the home of Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, of Stelle avenue.

KEROSENE LAMP SET FIRE TO DWELLING

Carelessness on the part of a tenant, last night, caused a fire loss of $300 to a house owned by Joseph Himmelfarb, at 506 East Second street, and entailed an hour's fight by the firemen. The occupant of the place, Harry Parnes, left home shortly after 7 o'clock and neglected to extinguish a kerosene lamp which was burning on a bracket on the wall of a room on the first floor. The bracket became turned in such a way as to direct the heat from the top of the chimney against the woodwork and shortly after the family left the house it is thought that the woodwork caught fire.

The flames ate their way through the partition and along the beams dividing the first and second floors. The smoldering fire spread along the flooring and when it burst forth the entire second floor appeared to be afire. Fire headquarters was notified and when Chief Doane and his men arrived the structure appeared to be doomed. Flames and smoke were shooting from all corners and only quick action on the part of the fire fighters saved any part of the building.

A stream of water was directed at the heart of the fire and the men got it under control, keeping the damage at a minimum figure. Interviewed by a Daily Press reporter this morning, Chief Doane expressed the opinion that the conflagration was due to sheer carelessnes in leaving a lighted lamp in this position.

DR. ANNA SHAW TO VISIT PLAINFIELD

Will Speak at High School on Monday Evening December 7.

Announcement was made today by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, that Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, the widely-known suffragist leader, will speak at the Plainfield High School, Monday evening, December 7. At the present time Dr. Shaw is devoting considerable time in New Jersey, it being one of the critical States in the suffrage movement at the present time. She is also scheduled to speak in Elizabeth during December.

The sale of tickets for Dr. Shaw's lecture will begin at Suffrage Headquarters, Depot Park, tomorrow afternoon. The suffragists are to hold a Thanksgiving sale at 2 o'clock, immediately preceding their monthly meeting. At this sale cakes, pies and Thanksgiving dainties will be offered in anticipation of the annual feast, and in anticipation of a feast of suffrage reasons, tickets will be offered for Dr. Shaw's lecture.

Dr. Shaw was recently re-elected president of the National Woman Suffrage Association and her policy for that association was enthusiastically endorsed. She is considered the most eloquent suffrage speaker in America.

The local suffrage headquarters will be open hereafter from 10 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the afternoon. On Saturday afternoon the association held a successful cake sale.

ELKS TO HAVE CABARET ON THANKSGIVING EVE

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., have plans completed for a general jollification to be held as the annual Thanksgiving Eve entertainment. A cabaret show furnished by professional talent from Frank Fogarty's New York agency will hold the attention of the members from 9 o'clock until midnight when "turkey" will be served. There will also be impromptu numbers by the lodge's talented members. The arrangements are being perfected by a committee composed of Jack Todd, chairman; Harry N. Blimm, W. G. Smith, W. N. Runyon and Harry Weber.

The local Elks have plans under way for a cabaret show every Saturday night. The week-end gathering has become an important factor in the social life of the clubhouse and a regular entertainment would almost double the attendance and interest. The details of the plan will be announced later by the special committee to make arrangements.

DINNER FOR CHILDREN.

The Open-Air School, located on Muhlenberg place, would be pleased to receive contributions of fruits and vegetables between now and Wednesday, when a Thanksgiving "spread" is to be tendered the children.

RUSSIANS CLAIM MORE SUCCESSES

Reported to Have Captured Gumbinnen After a Five Day Battle.

SHELLS WRECK YPRES

Wintry Weather Will Prevent Austrian Advance Into Servia—Tuapse Bombarded by Turks, Killing 36—Boers Deserting DeWet.

London, Nov. 23—A report of Russian success in East Prussia is received by the Telegraph from Petrograd. The despatch is as follows:

"Although official despatches only mention skirmishes in East Prussia, a despatch from a correspondent with the active army reports with circumstantial details, the Russian capture of Gumbinnen after a battle lasting five days, the Cossacks being the heroes of the most stirring incident of the struggle, capturing the enemy's batteries by a daring charge, which put the gunners to flight. The German defenders declined to await a bayonet charge and the Russians entered in triumph to discover the town half demolished by shell fire and abandoned by the population."

A despatch from Constantinople received by a news agency here by way of Athens, declares that a large force of Turkish troops has sacked the shops owned by Christians in Trebizond, and that in the resultant street fighting three Christians were killed.

The alleged official communications from Constaninople received last night by way of Berlin and Amsterdam, telling of Turkish successes against the British on the bank of Suez Canal, and against the Russians in the Murad River valley, are apparently fabricated by the Germans according to notification issued to newspapers and news associations by the official press bureau.

Paris, Nov. 23—According to the official bulletin issued by the French war office at 3 p. m. today, Ypres was subject to a very severe artillery fire yesterday. Many of the important buildings were destroyed by fire.

The text of the statement follows: "The day of yesterday was marked by violent cannonades. The enemy directed his blows particularly upon Ypres, where the cathedral belfry, the halls and numerous houses were

CARTRIDGE EXPLODES MUTILATING CHILD

Eleven Year Old Girl Has Arm Cut Off After Accident.

Mary Gober, the eleven-year-old daughter of Peter Gober, superintendent on Judge Hudspeth's farm near Millington, met with an accident near her home, yesterday, by which she later lost her left hand by amputation and sustained a mangled thumb on the right hand. The child found a gun cartridge while walking through a field and without realizing the seriousness of her action, she hit it with a stone while holding the cartridge in her left hand. The missile was loaded with dynamite or white powder and the resultant explosion shattered her hand as far as the wrist.

The child's screams brought her family to the scene and she was hurried home after a tourniquet had been applied to stop the flow of blood from the severed arteries. Dr. Kate McGrath was summoned from Stirling and ordered the little victim removed to Overlook Hospital, Summit, where Dr. Lawrence amputated the hand at the wrist. The child is in a serious condition because of shock.

How the cartridge came to be in the spot where the child found it is a mystery but the belief exists that it was dropped by a careless hunter.

U. S. FORCES BEGAN TO LEAVE VERA CRUZ TODAY

Vera Cruz, Nov. 23—The United States forces of occupation under the command of General Frederick Funston, today began embarking on steamers which will bring them back to the United States. The outposts commenced to fall back at 9 a. m. and two hours later the first United States soldiers were on board transports.

H. E. NELSON RISKS HIS LIFE TO STOP RUNAWAY

Dashing out of the Edward Pennock pharmacy in front of which he has his stand, Herbert E. Nelson, taxicab driver, on Saturday afternoon at the risk of his life diverted the course of a runaway horse, which attached to a landeau had emerged from the Central Railroad park and was making straight towards the sidewalk and the large plate glass window in the postoffice.

The rig was standing at the station and its owner, an out-of-town party, was on the station platform awaiting the arrival of the 2:40 o'clock train from New York. The train had no more than pulled in than the engineer commenced letting the surplus steam of his engine off via the exhaust. The noise scared the horse and it bolted. The heroic action of Nelson in dashing straight towards the approaching runaway resulted in the horse turning west along North avenue. The runaway was stopped in front of the Park Hotel by Street Commissioner Isaac V. Smalley, who hurled himself at the frantic horse, fortunately obtaining a firm grip on the bridle. Smalley was dragged fully 25 feet by the animal before he succeeded in bringing it to a standstill.

CROSS-COUNTRY HIKE.

Twelve members of the Rooster Patrol, Boy Scouts of America, headed by Scout Master E. J. Dusel, enjoyed a cross-country hike to the Marconi wireless station near New Brunswick, Saturday morning. The township authorities have been put to a great deal of expense during the last week by the devastation of hen roosts by dogs. On Monday evening Mrs. Griffith's ducks were attacked, but fortunately the marauders were frightened by the barking of her dog which was tied on the premises, and only one duck was lost. On Wednesday evening Gerard H. Underhill's hennery was visited and twelve choice pullets were destroyed. Friday evening Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton lost eight prized geese and two pecan ducks. The township has had to pay so far $35 for damage. The Township fathers have therefore declared war on all untied and unlicensed canines.

THE WAR UPON WAR.

It is of world-wide significance, that the international congress called to meet at Copenhagen, December 6, to discuss means to shorten, or possibly to end, the slaughter in Europe, is in the hands of the working class—the labor movement. This is the first definite attempt to mobilize the millions in the army of labor.

The world will do well not to expect too much from this congress. But the pulse of the world, no doubt, will beat just a little faster to know that there is at least one organized force willing and able to grapple with the ghastly demon of military assassination.

The big significance of this international congress is that it is the only definite effort to devise means to shorten or terminate the bloodshed. The second point is that this first movement is in the hands of the army of labor, the only force adequate to cope with the gigantic murderer of Europe.

National passions are still hot, perhaps, too hot to admit of much headway being made at this first meeting. Jingoism is still a powerful impulse in the minds of the unthinking and those whose intelligence has been forced into a temporary eclipse. It may happen that the national animosities may still be too strong to be overcome by the ties of international fraternity.

What can be done, and what will be done no doubt, will be for this international congress to gather up the torn ends of internationalism and outline the position of the army of labor when peace terms come to be considered by the chancelleries. And what seems inevitably a part of this international program, the shaping of the demands which the international army of labor will make on these chancelleries when the time arrives to talk of peace terms.

It is the duty of the labor army which furnishes the food for cannon to have much to say whether the peace that follows this war is to be a mere truce, as the royal politicians have predicted, or a permanent and unbreakable peace. The humiliation of labor in the failure of the Socialists to avert the war may be lessened if that is done.

PROBING THE ROADS.

The Trenton Times says that Chairman Hennessy, of the Appropriations Committee, in his introductory statement last week, said that his committee intended to find out whether road-building in New Jersey is being done wisely, economically, permanently and honestly. The testimony of the first two witnesses was probably sufficient to convince the committeemen that none of the four conditions was met in the recent award of the $104,000 contract for repairing roads in Monmouth, Ocean and Atlantic counties.

When the committee reconvenes, it may spend an hour or two with advantage and profit by inquiring into the report that while the fees from motor vehicle licenses and penalties greatly increased during the fiscal year 1913-14, the amount of money paid out for road improvement and maintenance was much less than in 1912-13.

That will, of course, lead up to an inquiry concerning the amount of money actually in the State treasury on October 1, where it came from, and why the distribution of the automobile funds was held up and the payments of bills deferred—if that shall be found to be the fact. Probing by a friendly hand is not likely to be so painful as when the probe is in possession of one who is prejudiced against the patient.

SONGS OF THE WAR.

Can we imagine anything more impressive than hundreds and thousands of men singing patriotic and popular songs in the midst of battle? The news from London the other day told us that along a certain section of the battle line the centre was occupied by the regiment of the First Irish Guards, on the left were the Munsters, on the right the Leisters and Connaught rangers. The fate of the day wavered in the balance. Ruthlessly the sheer weight of numbers pressed them hard, back from the point of vantage. It was a critical moment when suddenly a faded flag, green and tattered, was raised aloft with a lusty "Erin Go Bragh" ringing out above the volley firing, the click of machine guns, the roar of heavy cannon and the general tumult of battle. "It's a long way to Tipperary," then the familiar strains of an old ballad, rose among the panting lines:

"Like lions leaping at a fold when mad with hunger's pang"

And then the same air with these slightly altered words:

"Right up against the German lines those Irish heroes sprang."

"Deutschland Uber Alles," came back the answering cry. "Die Wacht Am Rhein," "Gott und Koenig," "Deutschland Uber Alles."

Each and every one of the armies has its war songs, and trench songs. When the clash is fierce and the day looks glum they make men fight, or when there's no fighting they keep men's spirits up.

French soldiers prefer the Marsellaise. It is said though they have learned "Tipperary," the most popular battle song of the Allies. "Deutschland Uber Alles" is the chief inspiration of the Kaiser's men.

There are dozens of improvised songs, songs which may not stand the acid test of art and music, but they have a value and an undying echo.

Thus it was that "A Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight," was the most popular tune in the Spanish-American War. Everybody, musical or unmusical, can whistle or hum "John Brown's Body," or "Marching Through Georgia," the most famous of the Civil War songs of the battle lines.

It used to be the pastime of our soldiers in the war with Mexico to entertain the enemy across the lines with "Green Grow the Rashes, O!" and it came to be believed by many the song was the inspiration of the contemptuous "gringo" as applied by Mexicans to Americans ever since. There is, however, no authoritative basis for this explanation of gringo.

The Asbury Park Press has started a strenuous campaign in favor of commission government in that city. Here's hoping that they succeed, and the place joins the other progressive New Jersey municipalities now working under the improved method. As each one is added to the list the necessity for a change in Plainfield will become more and more impressed upon our people.

"TWENTIETH CENTURY PATRIOT" DISCUSSED

Arthur E. Warner Gives an Interesting Talk at Evona Chapel.

In speaking at Evona chapel, last evening, upon the "Twentieth Century Patriot," Arthur E. Warner, of Elizabeth, said that the political conditions of the State, county and city represented the morality, intelligence, patriotism and religion of the people and the responsibility for government was directly placed upon the voters. "Every man who remains away from the primary and the election is throwing away his own birthright of citizenship," said the speaker. "It is as much the duty of the men who to go to the ballot box on primary day and on election day, as it is for him to attend church services on Sunday. It is a lamentable fact that many of the most intelligent citizens remain at home and let others, less qualified, select the candidates and influence the legislation. It is a surrender on the part of the intelligent rather than a victory for the ignorant when things go wrong.

"The citizenship of the United States is different from that of any other nation, as it is based entirely upon manhood and not upon lineage, or privilege, or property, as in many of the countries of Europe. It is founded upon intelligence, upon political virtue, freedom, patriotism and religion. So when these elements are not represented in the majority of the ballots cast, then our government must suffer and with it every one of us."

Mr. Warner said that the people should not be backward about letting the legislators know how they feel toward the officials acts at Trenton during the coming session of the Legislature. "Do not hesitate to give your legislators words of appreciation and confidence if they deserve it, and I feel sure that they will, for they are all men of splendid character and ideals.

"Study for yourselves the problems that are affecting our State and nation, think of the solutions and help by your ballots and your voices in remedying existing evils whether they be social, economic or political.'

"EVANGELISM" THEME AT M. E. REVIVAL

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson Heard by Large Congregations Yesterday.

The evangelistic services were continued at the First M. E. church, yesterday, when Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, the pastor, preached excellent sermons, morning and evening, before large congregations. "Evangelism" was the theme of the discourses. In the morning Dr. Anderson preached from the text Zech. 4-6 "Not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit saith the Lord of Hosts.' He said in part:

"The ministry receives its authority and inspiration from the revealed Word of God, and while there may be differences in minor matters between different religious denominations, there is unity in the underlying and fundamental principles of religion, and a recognition of the fact that the Spirit of God is the primary power that operates upon the heart of man, causing him to repent of his sins, and enabling him to come into fellowship with Jesus Christ."

The essential steps to this end were conversion, repentance, justification, regeneration and santiification. All of these essential features of the Christian life were forcibly presented and explained by the preacher, giving emphasis to the fact that the Holy Spirit was the direct and efficient power in them all.

The preacher stated further that while the Holy Spirit was moving upon the hearts of men and preparing them to accept Jesus Christ, he was at the same time moving upon the hearts of Christians to take the message to men, and so co-operating with God in their salvation, and this thought was illustrated by the examples recorded in the Bible of Philip and the Ethiopian, Peter and Cornelius, Ananias and Saul of Tarsus. "We would be wise if in obedience to God's Spirit, we were to go and do as these early disciples did, and carry the gospel message to those whose hearts the Spirit is preparing to receive it."

The evening sermon was based on Christ's words recorded in the tenth chapter of Mark and the eighteenth chapter of Luke. "Peter said, Lo we have left all and followed Thee," and Jesus said, "No man that hath left house, or parents or brethren or wife or children for the Kingdom of God's sake, who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life everlasting."

The preacher stated that a contract consisted of at least two parts: The party of the first part and the party of the second part. The first party was to render some service and the second party was to remunerate the other for that service.

Peter had said to his Master, "We have left all, what shall we have therefore?" and Jesus proceeds to emunerate the things recorded in the text, that a man must surrender to become his follower, which, as the preacher stated, must include everything that a man has, however dear that they may be to him. Anything and everything that stands between us and God must be given up and even persecution suffered if need be that we may have the things promised for this life and the life to come.

Our wills, our property, our friends and loved ones, our very life, all must be committed to Jesus Christ if we are to have Him perform His part of the contract which, as He has promised, includes forgiveness of sins, deliverance from the power of the tempter, comfort in trouble and in the end everlasting life.

The sermon was followed by an urgent invitation for anyone who had not made this surrender to do so now, also for professing Christians who had special burdens on their hearts to signify that fact by standing, after which many went forward to the altar and a brief season of prayer followed.

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring will preach at the service tonight, and the chorus choir will sing. The meetings will be continued throughout the week, except Saturday evening. Everybody welcome.

TOYLAND OPENING

After months of careful planning we are pleased to announce the opening of our

Greatly Enlarged Toy Department

In spite of war times we are able to present the biggest and best assortment of foreign and domestic toys ever shown in this city. We began as early as last January to provide for this great event. Many of the toys were actually in the store when the war broke out, while others were on the way, and all were bought at the low prices prevailing at that time; so that in addition to big stocks, you will also find our toys priced the lowest in the city.

A feature that will appeal to the grown-ups who bring the little tots to see the toys, is that they are shown right on the main floor; there's no climbing up or down stairs. Another feature is, the toys on exhibition are the samples that we sell from. We don't send you the ones that have been handled and played with; your order is filled from fresh new stocks, just as they come from the maker.

It would require a page to enumerate all the toys shown; many of them exclusively by us, so come and see for yourselves and bring the children. Make your selections now while the stocks are at their best. Deliveries can be made at your convenience.

Remember the crowds on your last Christmas shopping tour! Avoid them by doing your shopping now.

LARGE CHURCH ACCESSION THE RESULT OF REVIVAL

More than two hundred persons attended the communion service at Grace M. E. church, yesterday morning, at which time forty new members were received, fifteen being from other denominations, twelve from probation and thirteen on probation. Ten adults and one infant were baptized.

This large accession is the result of the three weeks' evangelistic services that were recently held at the church under the direction of Rev. C. C. Cain, the pastor. In the evening there was a Thanksgiving service, when the pastor preached an appropriate sermon.

The choir gave a special musical program. The record for attendance was broken at the session of the Sunday-school, yesterday, when 230 persons were present. Fifty attended the meeting of the Epworth League, which preceded the evening service. Miss Stella Vermeule was the leader.

TWO PHASES OF FIRE FIGHTING EXHIBITED

Exponents of the Old and Those Handling the New Equipment Side by Side.

Smoke-eaters operating twentieth century fire fighting conveniences and those still clinging to the crude equipment in vogue forty years ago fought side by side in the Watchung hills Saturday night, when that section of North Plainfield township was stirred to sudden activity by the crackling of flames in a large barn in the rear of the Wilson stone crusher. A fire, the origin of which is shrouded in mystery, was discovered early in the evening and a general alarm was sent out.

The Watchung Chemical Company responded to the call and when the fire laddies arrived the structure resembled a huge furnace. Contained in the structure was a quantity of hay and flammable refuse and this gave the dilapidated frame building a good start toward destruction. So intense was the heat and so dense was the smoke that ensued from the burning mass that the firemen encountered extreme difficulty in getting at the heart of the flames and confined their attention largely to saving an outbuilding containing vehicles of various kinds belonging to J. P. Wilson.

A second alarm was sent in by one of the villagers and this brought out the North Plainfield department. The borough firemen, however, ran to the boundary line of the two municipalities and seeing that it was way out of their limits, turned back. Supplementing the efforts of the chemical department, an army of villagers organied a bucket brigade which carried water up the steep incline to the crusher and did good work in supplying those near the blaze who were attempting to save other buildings.

The flames from the fire lighted up the sky for miles around and many curious witnesses were attracted from parts for miles around. Many from this city went to Watchung and a number assisted in the efforts to stop the blaze.

PERSONAL.

George Madden, of West Fifth street, has returned home after a two months' trip to Porto Rico. He reports business conditions in that country to be in a bad condition because of the European war and stoppage of commerce.

Ralph Laurral, of West Third street, who recently passed through a critical illness at Muhlenberg Hospital, continues to improve and will be able to leave the institution within a week or ten days.

Thomas DeNeza, of Duer street, returned Saturday after a week's trip to Baltimore and Washington.

Miss Grace Morgan, of West Sixth street, has gone to Rochester for an over Thanksgiving visit.

Mrs. C. C. Burnett, of Madison avenue, has returned from Atlantic City.

STIRLING DWELLING DESTROYED BY FIRE

$6,000 Blaze Occurred Saturday Night—No Water Pressure.

The handsome home of Harold Genung, located on the hill above Sterling, was totally destroyed by a mysterious firewhich broke out about 8 o'clock, Saturday night. The local firemen responded prompetly to an alarm, but owing to the low pressure in the mains and low water in the wells, could only save surrounding buildings. All the furniture in the house, with the exception of a piano and a few other heavy articles, were saved. The damage is placed at $6,000, partially covered by insurance The cause of the fire is unknown, but may possibly have been caused by a defective flue.

Copenhagen, Nov. 23 .(Central News Cable).—Wintry weather, which has already covered the mountains of the Balkans with snow, will probably stop the Austrian advance into Servia, says a despatch from Berlin. An official communication from Vienna announces that the Austrians have crossed the Kolubra River in considerable force, capturing 2,440 prisoners in the last two days.

Petrograd, Nov. 23 (Central News Cable).—The bombardment of the Russian port of Tuapse on the Black Sea by the Turkish cruiser Hamadieh, resulted in the death of thirty-five soldiers and one civilian. The Hamadieh was driven away by the guns of the Russian fort. The damage to property was slight.

Johannesburg, S. A., Nov. 23 (Central News Cable).—Following the battle on the Vet River, General Christian De Wet and his rebel forces, harried by the commandos of the four Bothas, have made for the Vaal River. One of his staff officers, who was captured, states that only twenty-five per cent. of the Boers who took part in the original revolt remain faithful to General De Wet, and that the rest are sneaking home gradually and surrendering.

Pretoria, Nov. 23 (Central News Cable).—The rebellion under the leadership of General Christian De Wet has been crushed and the leaders are in full flight, according to an official statement issued here today by the Union War Office. Only six followers of the rebel Boer general now compose his commando. His pursuit will be continued to prevent further efforts to recruit.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—All the Berlin newspapers comment favorably this morning and very hopefully on the possible outcome of the fighting in Poland. They express the opinion that these engagements may decide the entire Russian campaign if not the outcome of the war.

The following report dated yesterday, was given out at army headquarters today: "In the western arena of the war, the situation remains unchanged. In Poland the fighting continues and the struggle is going on to the south of Plock, in the vicinity of Lodz, and near Greenstochau."

CUNNINGHAME SAFE.

New York, Nov. 23.—The newspapers about a month ago printed a report that R. J. Cunninghame, the celebrated naturalist and guide who was with Colonel Roosevelt on his African hunt, and has been with other Americans as well, had been captured by the Germans in German East Africa and shot as a spy. In order to ascertain the facts in the case A. Barton Hepburn communicated with Newland Tarlton Company, big game outfitters of Nairobi and London, asking for information. He is this morning in receipt of cable reading: "Contradict immediately reports of Cunninghame's death. He is expected to arrive in London next week."

CLARKE SAYS "NOTHING DOING."

Washington, Nov. 23—Congress will not do anything at the coming session except to pass appropriation bills," declared Speaker Clark today, as he was leaving for New England to fill speaking engagements. "It cannot,' he said, "do very much more than that as I see it. There isn't going to be any extra session, I believe."

Mr and Mrs. Frederick W. Thompson, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Hartford, Conn., are spending a few days with friends here. Mr. Thompson was for several years employed at the Pond Tool Works.

FIND ALLEGED LOOT IN ANDERSON HOUSE

Constable Pierce Made Further Search of Accused Man's Premises Today.

Constable Robert Pierce, of New Market, made a further search of the house occupied by Samuel Anderson, in West Dunellen, this morning, and discovered numerous articles, which he alleges belong to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pilkington. Anderson is at present an inmate in the Middlesex county jail at New Brunswick, pending trial before the Grand Jury on a charge of ransacking the Pilkington home in New Market and then setting fire to the place as a means of destroying any resultant evidence.

Anderson entered a plea of not guilty to the allegation and maintains that the articles found in his house by the searchers are his personal property. Constable Pierce, however, maintains that the goods found, including clothing, dishes and other household furnishings, belong to the Pilkingtons.

ORDERED TO PAY HIS WIFE $100,000 ALIMONY

Mrs. Elizabeth Bowen Foster who, on Saturday, was granted a divorce from her husband, Pierepont B. Foster ,of New Haven, by Judge W. S. Cast, of the latter place, was awarded $100,000 alimony. She receives a divorce on the grounds of desertion, with the custody of a daughter nine months in the year, the father to have her three months. Mrs. Foster asserted that her husband was worth $750,000.

WILSON LEAVES TOMORROW FOR MASSACHUSETTS

Washington, Nov. 23.—President Wilson will leave tomorrow at midnight for Wiliamstown, Mass., to spend Thanksgiving Day with his daughter, Mrs. Francis B. Sayre. With his party he will return some time on Friday.

Formal announcement was also made at the White House today that all social functions, both public and private, would be abandoned in the coming season. This had been forecasted because of the bereavement of the President, in the death of Mrs. Wilson.

BRYAN RESIGNATION STORY LAUGHED AT IN CAPITAL

Washington, Nov. 23—"Absurd, ridiculous and not worth dignifying by denying." This is the characterization of a report that Secretary Bryan was to retire from the cabinet March next. Secretary Tumulty laughed when the report was brought to his atention. "If Secretary Bryan was about to retire, or contemplated such a step," he said, "I think we would know of it. It can be said with emphasis that there is not a shadow of foundation for the rumor."

Baseball loses a conspicuous figure in the passing of dear old Jack Sheridan, the veteran umpire, who passed away at San Jose, Cal., a few days ago, from a sudden attack of heart failure. Sheridan was sixty-two years old, and had been an umpire for thirty years. He was the dean of umpires. Sheridan was a native of Illinois, born in Decatur, who made his winter residence in recent years in San Jose, Cal. He began his baseball career in 1884 as second baseman for the Reno team of San Francisco. The following year he was with Chattanooga in the old Southern league. It was in this league that he did his first umpiring. Beginning in 1886, Sheridan umpired four years in the California league. In 1890 he cast his lot with the Brotherhood league, returning to the coast after the war. The National league obtained his services in 1892, but in the following year he was back in the Southern. The Western league added Sheridan to its staff in 1894, and when it became the American he remained with it until the end with the exception of two seasons, which he spent in the National. Sheridan made the trip around the world last winter with the Comiskey tourists.

If a peace pact is arranged by the Federal league and organized baseball, it will be because of the efforts of Charles Weeghman and Garry Herrmann and not because Ban Johnson has made any overtures toward bringing the war to an end. Johnson is of the opinion that the Federal league will kill itself if given sufficient rope. His argument is said to have been that organized baseball has all of its stars, with a few exceptions, signed up to contracts that have one or two years to go, thus preventing the Federal league from attaining the ranking of a big league; that because of possession of the great majority of star players the Feds would be compelled to try to bluff their way through again as a big league and meet the same lack of financial recognition that greeted it last season; that the Feds lost close to $400,000 during the last year, and that they would lost as much again if war continued. Ban, of course, admits that organized baseball has lost a lot of money, but figures that it would be poor policy to arrange for peace now the other fellow is licked.

"The real reason for the bewildering smashup of championship teams," says Bert Cunningham, star pitcher of the long ago, "is generally because the veteran pitchers have lost their strength and do not realize it. When an old twirler comes to the downward slope of the hill, his own league, as a rule, doesn't know it. With his experience, his crafty skill, and, above all, his knowledge of the various batters, he can go along and win a majority of his games. He is getting hit a little harder than before, and they are getting more runs off his delivery, but he uses the wise old head more effectively than ever, and comes to the end of the season apparently unshaken. Then he goes against a club of strangers, fellows who neither fear nor respect him, and he gets the lining beaten out of him by men whom he would have easily defeated a couple of years before."

Illinois and Wisconsin are two western conference worms that turned this year. Last fall Chicago beat Wisconsin 19-0. A 0-0 tie was the result of their game this year. In 1913 Minnesota downed Illinois 19-9 and this year Illinois beat the Gophers 21-6. Illinois and Wisconsin have improved and Chicago and Minnesota have slipped backward a little.

Willie Ritchie has turned down an offer to meet Johnny Dundee over the twenty-round route on the coast Thanksgiving afternoon, claiming that he would not do 135 pounds at 1 p. m., asked of him by Promoter Tom McCarey. He repeated that he would do weight only for Freddie Welsh and for no one else. Willie plans to attend the bout in Milwaukee Nov. 9 between the champion and Charlie White.

With huge football stadiums springing up all over the country, it looks as if the numbering of the players would follow in the natural course of events. It has proved itself a success wherever it has been adopted, and when catering to a crowd of something over 50,000 persons it is just as well to make every effort for their comfort.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Plainfield High School's downfall on Parker Field, Saturday afternoon, was without a doubt the most spectacular football scene of the season here. With fifty-eight seconds to play the Morris High School boys executed a seventy-yard forward pass and on the next play booted the pigskin between the uprights for a field goal. Pretty tough to fall from one point ahead to one point behind with only seconds remaining.

From the result of Saturday's contest on Cricket Field it would seem that Manager Doyle would do well to substitute another team for the Dunellenites as a Thanksgiving Day attraction. Any team that couldn't score against the Michelin clan ought to be playing something else besides football.

The Milltown aggregation was without exception the weakest squad of football talent seen here in several seasons. Where they earned a right to participate in the gridiron sport as a team is a mystery to us.

When we stated that Joe Carty was angling for publicity we did not fall far short of clipping the nail on the head. Thursday, Carty breaks into the sport news of another local chronicle with the announcement that he has quit the game for good and left the Holy Cross team cold. Saturday, just two days later, he offers his services to the red and white. We endorse Carty as another addition to our Publicity Club.

After Thursday they'll all be retiring. Joe, so stick around and be in at the finish.

Holy Cross was not the only local team to pick a lemon Saturday. The Y. M. C. A. manager must have been glancing around for a little practice when he picked up Summit.

Notwithstanding the weakness of the opposition the Plainfield basketeers put up a clever exhibition of the court game Saturday night. Take a tip from us: The Y. M. C. A. team is the one best bet for the city title this year.

Seventy thousand football fans flocked to Yale bowl at New Haven, Saturday. Indicating that baseball has nothing on the college pastime as a drawing card or coin producer.

N. P. H. S. is due to start the scholastic basketball bee buzzing this week. P. H. S. winds up its football schedule Thursday, and the court sport will be taken up in earnest by the local athletes after that date.

Frank Blatz looks like the rightful claimant to that Columbus Club bowling handle. The Elks' former captain has taken a particular liking to the Columbus drives and he has done some good work there this season.

MICHELIN TEAM IS SLAUGHTERED

Holy Cross Routs Milltown Aggregation by a Count of 44 to 12.

VISITORS WERE WEAK

Invading Clan Expressed Surprise at Being Beaten—Came Here Prepared to Meet "Strong" Team and Got An Overdose.

Coming here with a lineup that resembled the front flank of the Turkish army after it had been riddled by the Allies' bullets, the Michelin football team, of Milltown, was put to rout by the fast traveling Holy Cross warriors on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 44 to 12. The Holy Cross backs ripped through the opposition like so much parchment and the visitors offered practically no resistance to their attack. Forward passes, intermingled with straight old-fashioned football, netted the locals yard after yard and from start to finish the Plainfielders ruled a popular favorite. Tackling was another department that the local aggregation loomed up in, "Turk" Webster and Jack Caulfield being particularly conspicuous along this line. Glover's work at the centre portion of the line and Smith's breaking up of the enemy's interference were also prominent features.

The Plainfielders, along presenting a shattered battle front, put up one of their best exhibitions of the gridiron sport and many long runs featured their playing. Coyle's work at quarterback was far above his ordinary style and he pulled off a couple of long sprints that set the small crowd wild. The Michelin eleven, coming here tooted to the sky because of the fact that they had twice held Dunellen to a scoreless tie, were looked upon as a formidable proposition, but actual playing soon showed that the Milltown pigskin chasers were far inferior to the Plainfielders. Little was left to be wanted for by the Holy Cross team in the way of football. The locals presented a happy mixture of stellar offensive and defensive playing and sensationalism appeared to be their specialty Saturday afternoon. Several times the Holy Cross end failed to uphold their part of excellently executed lateral and forward passes, but because of the fact that the score was so one-sided these slip-ups counted for little and soon passed out of the memory of the spectators. When the Plainfielders got a grip on the pigskin they seldom released their hold until the oval was snuggled safely behind the goal line. The slippery condition of the gridiron lent many thrills to the rushing of the respective forces. Time and time again the backs got off to long runs only to slip and be downed by a rival.

TThe teams lined up as follows:

Michelin		Holy Cross
Edgerton	left end	Webster, Cumming

GOULLET AND GRENDA FIRST IN BIG GRIND

Thrilling Finish of Record-Breaking Six-day Race at Madison Square Garden.

Goullet and Grenda won the six-day race, Saturday night, and smashed the 1913 record made when Alfred Goullet, paired with Joe Fogler, won the long grind.

The score made this year by Goullet and Grenda was 2,758 miles and one lap. The record last year was 2,751 miles.

Drobach and Lawson were second and McNamara and Moran third. Egg, who was a sure-thing winner in the minds of many six-day fans, was fourth.

The finish was conducted on what is known as the Berlin system. Instead of riding a final mile sprint to decide the winner, as heretofore, the six teams tied for the lead at the conclusion of the 141st hour were left to battle it out, riding a series of sprints, each at a mile and a half, and fifteen in number. The rider finishing first in the field of six in each dash was credited with six points, the second with five and so on. Goullet and Grena, the winners, thus accumulated sixty-seven points. Lawson and Drobach had sixty-one and Moran and McNamara fifty-eight.

It was announced after the race that the prize money would go as follows: To the winners, $1,600; second team, $1,000; third team, $750; fourth team, $500; fifth team, $400; sixth team, $350, and seventh team, $250.

Order of Finish.

		Pts.	M.	L.
1	Goullet-Grenda	67	2758	1
2	Lawson-Drobach	61	2758	1
*3	Moran-McNamara	58	2758	1
*4	Fogler-Hill	50	2758	1
5	Verri-Egg	50	2758	1
6	Kaiser-Cameron	34	2758	1
7	Magin-Lawrence		2758	0
8	Clark-Root		2758	0

*Fogler-Hill and Verri-Egg tied for fourth.

Clark-Root forfeited seventh place to Magin-Lawrence.

FRITTS AND RUNYON TO COMPETE AGAIN

Will Take Part in I. A. A. C. Games Next Saturday at Madison Square.

Jack Fritts and Ralph Runyon, two of Plainfield's best athletes, will take part in the Irish-American A. C. games at Madison Square Garden next Saturday night. Both belong to the pastime A. C., of New York, and will compete under the colors of that organization. Runyon will enter in the pole vault event, which is his specialty, while Fritts will run the three-quarter mile race.

Fritts' main point in entering this race is to get into condition for a medley race which he will run in for his club in the Bronx Church House meet on December 12. When the Pastime A. C. won the Small Club championships at Washington Park several months ago, the Mohawk A. C. and Bronx Church House claimed the medley championship with the Pastime. The matter was never settled but will be in the meet that will be held on the twelfth of next month. Fritts will run the mile stretch and will have for his opponents Harry Smith, ten mile champion, and Frank Joyce, of the Mohawk Club, who captured the ten mile race and the Ritz watch at Parker Field several years ago.

The local runner will have to put on top speed if he wants to win this run and he will be the last to run, the first man going 449 yards, the second 880 yards and the third three-quarters of a mile.

MURPHY WITH HANDICAP LOSES TO GUS ENGLER

Despite a handicap of ten against him, Gus Engler defeated C. R. Murphy by a score of 60 to 42 in a first round match in the Y. M. C. A. pool tournament, Saturday night. With this handicap Murphy had to make fifty points, while his opponent was scoring sixty, but fell eight points short of this mark.

This puts Murphy out of the running and Engler qualifies for the second round and will meet the winner of the Manning-Welle match, both starting from scratch. This match Saturday night was the second of the first round, which was to be played before December 5.

HARD DEFEAT FOR PLAINFIELD BOYS

Morris High School Sprang the Inevitable With Less Than a Minute to Play.

FINAL SCORE 9 TO 7

Locals Set the Pace, Getting Touchdown Early in the Game—Seventy Yard Run and Kick From Placement Won the Game.

After forty minutes of hard fighting on Parker Field, Saturday afternoon, the Plainfield High School football team was forced to swallow another defeat, this time at the hands of the fast Morris High School team by the score of 9 to 7. Both teams played real football from whistle to whistle with the ball in Morris' territory most of the time. Plainfield High School looked upon the game with Morris as one of the hardest of the season, and had it not been for Broufman's seventy yard run in the last minute of play the locals would have been returned victors by a score of 7 to 6.

Captain Manley at quarterback, Broufman at right halfback, and Weinheimer at right end starred for Morris. These men were really the life of the team and it was their individual playing that put the finishing touches on Plainfield's defeat.

The game began with Plainfield kicking off to Morris, who made four feeble attempts to rush the ball and then were forced to kick. Plainfield then tried rushing the ball, but could gain no ground, so Rosenson kicked. During the rest of the first quarter the ball swayed back and forth around mid-field. Neither team had gotten warmed up, and seemed unable to get started after receiving the ball. With the beginning of the second period the ball lay about mid-field in Morris' possession. They attempted rushing the ball and in the necessary number of downs they failed to gain the ten yards, so the ball went to Plainfield. The Red and Blue then worked the open split formation to great advantage and rushed the ball slowly but surely down the field to the five yard line, where slippery little "Jim" Greene circled the left end for a touchdown directly between the goal posts. Rosenson then booted the ball over, making the score, Plainfield 7, Morris 0.

Morris had not been looking for anything like this and it made them fight all the harder. They received the kick-off and started up the field, but did not travel very far before being forced to kick. Greene caught the ball and slipped back up the field to Plainfield's forty yard line. The ball then passed back and forth until the whistle blew ending the first half with the score, Plainfield 7, Morris 0.

Plainfield received the kick-off at the beginning of the second half and was downed on the thirty five yard line. After two rushes an attempted pass from Peacock to Mutnick resulted in a fumble, giving the ball to Morris on Plainfield's thirty five yard line. Morris tried an end run, which failed, and then a very cleverly executed forward pass from Manley to Weinheimer, who made a neat catch, resulted in the latter racing thirty yards for a touchdown, but he failed to kick the goal.

Plainfield fought back hard and as the game progressed the ball slowly edged up into Morris' territory, so that it looked as if Plainfield had the game well sewed up and all that they had to do was to play safe. In the last period Rosenson tried a drop-kick from the thirty yard line, but the ball fell short, giving it to Morris on their own twenty yard line. After several rushes a fumble gave the ball to Plainfield. Line bucking brought the ball to Morris' five yard line, and with a minute and thirty seconds to play the locals were held for downs, giving the ball to Morris.

On the first play Broufman tore off his seventy yard run around left end, before Rosenson pulled his down. Then Weinheimer dropped back and made a beautiful kick from placement, which turned defeat into victory, the game ending with Morris 9, Plainfield 7.

The lineup:

Miller	left tackle	Sherwin
Pennock	left guard	Ellis
Wheelan	center	Treanor
Mumford	right guard	Jamesen
Chamberlain	right tackle	Schweidel
Daniells	right end	Weinheimer
Greene	right halfback	Broufman
Mutnick	fullback	Collett
W. Peacock	quarterback	Manley

Score by periods:

Morris	0	0	6	3—9
Plainfield	0	7	0	0—7

THREE MORE GAMES FOR BOROUGH TEAM

Holy Cross Will Play Two of Three Home and Will Take a Trip to Newark.

The Holy Cross football team is due to play three more games before the close of the season. Manager Doyle has booked two good attractions for local fans and for the first time in several years will take his team out of town at the request of the Franklins, of Newark. Although the boroughites should be easy winners next Thursday afternoon, the much heralded Monarchs, of Dunellen, expect to put up a tough fight and will play every inch of the way to down their opponents. Although scores can never be depended upon, the locals should have no trouble with the suburban team after a big turkey dinner. This game will start promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

After a rest of one day, the "Canadians" will tackle the Vikings, of Bayonne, on Cricket Field, Saturday, and this should be a fine attraction and will be the last home game of the season for local enthusiasts. Doyle has decided to prolong his schedule and has consented to have the team go to Newark on December 5 to meet the Franklins. This will be the third meeting, the first being a tie game and the second being a walloping for Holy Cross.

HOPE CHAPEL FIVE WON SECOND GAME

Had Easy Time Defeating the Peerless Five From Elizabeth Saturday.

Hope Chapel had an easy time taking the measure of the Peerless basketball outfit, of Eliabeth, on the Fourth street court, Saturday night, and the curtain count was 40 to 21. There was nothing to it but Hope Chapel from start to finish, the home team outclassing its opponents in every department and scoring when points were needed. Captain Tommy Heron tried out all of his candidates and the opposing forwards were held to nine field goals while the chapelites counted for 17 and Heron dropped in six from the fifteen foot mark.

Walls started the game in forward with Heron and the little player completely lost his guard and dropped eight in that counted for sixteen points. The home team was working like a machine and the passing kept the Elizabeth men on the goe all the time looking for their opponent, and the ball. Wardrop played center in this game and Schott played guard. The first half ended with the locals possessing a good lead which was never in danger.

Two new guards were substituted on the Fourth street aggregation in the second period, while the visitors kept their same lineup. Grisley and Clark replaced Schott and Anderson and proved to be as good basket preventers as the first pair.

TWO BIG CONTESTS LEFT ON 1914 CARD

Cornell and Penn and the Army and Navy Have Yet to Clash on Gridiron.

The most sensational football season in recent years will close this week with the playing of the Pennsylvania-Cornell game at Philadelphia, Thanksgiving Day, and the Army-Navy game on the same field two days later. Compared with the Yale-Princeton, Princeton-Harvard and Yale-Harvard series, these annual games are of comparatively modern origin. The interest, however, is keen and each season the elevens play before crowds that tax the capacity of the stands.

The Cornell-Pennsylvania series began in the autumn of 1893 and has continued without interruption for twenty-one years. During this period Pennsylvania has won eighteen games, Cornell two, and one resulted in a no-score tie. In total points Pennsylvania leads with 392 to Cornell's 118, and the victories have been accumulated in strings. From 1893 to 1900 Pennsylvania won continuously. After being defeated in 1901, the Quakers were triumphant until 1906, when the no-score tie occurred. From 1907 to 1912 Pennsylvania won regularly, Cornell's second victory coming last season, when the Ithaca team won 21 to 0.

The Army-Navy game began three years earlier than the Cornell-Pennsylvania series, but, owing to breaks in the service matches, but eighteen contests have been held. Of these contests the Navy has won nine, the Army eight, and one resulted in a tie. Although the Navy has a one-game lead, the Cadets have scored the greater number of points, their eight victories totaling 182 points to the Middies' 139. It is a peculiar feature of the series that in a majority of the contests both elevens have scored. The Army has succeeded but once in shutting out the Navy, while Annapolis teams have six times defeated their West Point opponents without being scored upon.

TWO HARD GAMES FOR Y. M. C. A. THIS WEEK

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team will have a busy time this week with three nights on the floor and two hard games coming. Wednesday night a light practice will be held. Although the team put up a good game Saturday it is not working in the proper way and Captain Brynarski will have several new schemes to try out at the practice. Thursday night the Trenton Central Y. M. C. A. will be the holiday attraction and a fast game is expected.

One of the best games of the season will be played Saturday night, when the Chathams, of Brooklyn, acknowledged amateur heavyweight champions, will appear here. This aggregation is the best in Brooklyn and is brought here at big expense.

EAGLES VS. SOMERVILLE, ELKS PLAY PATERSON

Plainfield Eagle bowlers will get a chance for revenge tomorrow night, when the Somerville pinners will play on the Second street alleys in the regular scheduled match of the Eagles' League. Last week the locals went to Somerville and lost three straight, which dislodged them from first place and they may regain those three tomorrow night on their home alleys. The next match in this league will be Friday night, when Progress, of Newark, will go to Rahway.

Four senior Elks' teams will get into action tomorrow night, Paterson coming to Plainfield and New Brunswick going to Jersey City. The locals will have a hard time with the league leaders, but will have the advantage of their home drives. Two matches will be played Friday night.

The teams of the Junior league will be idle for over a week, the next match being scheduled for December 1, when the Newark team will come to this city.

Y. M. C. A. QUINTET WON INITIAL GAME

Defeated Summit Chapel Club on Local Court by Score of 52 to 26.

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basketball team won its initial victory Saturday night, on the local court over the Summit Chapel Club five, the final score being 52 to 26. The visitors were never dangerous and the association players took the lead in the first minute and maintained it throughout the entire forty minutes of play. From the first whistle to the last one in the first half the home team was in the game at all times and showed the best form yet displayed. The fast passing and accurate shooting were too much for the Summit players and locals rolled up the score almost at will.

Dean started the scoring for the chapel quintet when he dropped a foul, but their first field goal was not made until the home team had rolled up ten points. Gavett proved too much for his opponent in the initial period and was the main scorer, getting ten baskets that counted for two and outjumped his rival every time. The score at the end of the first half was 42 to 17.

Captain Brynarski put in practically a new team in the last period with the exception of Moulton, who still played forward, and the new players tallied only ten points while their opponents fell one short of this mark. Bill Taylor made three field goals in this half, while Dean and Newton played best for the visitors.

THIRTY CANDIDATES OUT FOR THE TRACK TEAM

The Plainfield High School track team is rounding into fine shape under the direction and coaching of John R. Fritts. Fritts is preparing them for dual meets with other schools and, although only light practice has been held so far, the coach is planning a schedule for the team with special events for the athletes. Among the most promising candidates are Chamberlain, Causbrook, Mills, Ralph Runyon, F. Baille and Trowbridge.

There are now about thirty that have signed up for the team and the outlook for the Union county championship is very bright. Peyton Schenck, manager of the track team, is trying to get the Union county meet for this city next spring. He has received dates from Morris High School for an outdoor meet here and is trying to arrange for indoor meets with Somerville and Westfield for next month in the local gym. Schenck expects to make this the best track season for the local school and with such fine material and a good trainer, the Ninth street school should make a good showing against other schools of this section.

P. H. S. ALUMNI WILL HAVE PRACTICE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

All graduates of Plainfield High School who would like to get into the Alumni football game on Parker Field next Thursday afternoon, are requested to notify Acting Captain James Lindsay by telephone or appear at Marshall Field at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, when the team will practice and work on signals. There are about eleven men now willing to play but all who have played on the school team in previous years can get into the game if they desire.

The old timers will have an aggregation that will make the present team hustle for the decision and expects to win the game on one night's practice.

LOCAL ROOTERS SAW WEST POINT GAME

"Hub" Stine, a Local Boy, Proved Himself a Brilliant Mudlark.

Herbert Stine, of the borough, played a full game at left guard for the Springfield Training School eleven against the Army at West Point last Saturday afternoon, when his team lost a hard contest by the score of 13 to 6. The twenty-two players who were on the field just wallowed around in mud with a water-soaked football under their arms.

Two inches of snow covered the field and it soon became a mud hole. The length of the gridiron was cut from 100 to 90 yards and touchdowns were made on the five yard line. The condition of the field was a great handicap to Springfield's famous open playing, while the Army's backs plunged through the line when they did not slip or fumble. The borough player held his own throughout the entire game and in all made thirteen tackles and once recovered the ball on a punt by his own player on the Army 10 yard line.

The Army rushed the ball over the line for both of its touchdowns while the Springfield score was the result of an 80 yard run by the quarterback who picked up the ball on a fumble on his own 10 yard line mark just as the soldiers were going for a third score. If the field had been dry the Springfield team would have made a much better showing and would have stood a good chance of winning the game.

Among the local fans who witnessed the game are W. O. Taylor, William Taylor, Walter Stine and Schuyler Line, who is now at Springfield.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS WILL PLAY FIRST HOME GAME

Captain Marjorie Burtis and her team of North Plainfield High School girls will open their home basketball season at Saengerbund Hall, tomorrow afternoon, against the team from Kearny High School. The boroughites are all prepared for the occasion and, playing on their home court, are sure to put up a good exhibition and probably will come out a winner. Last year these two teams met twice and close games resulted both times.

All of the candidates for the North Plainfield team may get a chance to prove their worth and show the borough supporters the material that will try to win back the city title that was lost by one point last winter.

The team will lineup as follows: Forwards, Marjorie Burtis and Lillian Spencer; center, Lucy Douglas; side center, Adelaide Ricketts; guards, Elsie Debele and Bertha Keller.

FIELD HOCKEYISTS TREATED TO DEFEAT

Plainfield Eleven Played Good Game Against Staten Islanders

The Plainfield Women's Field Hockey Club met defeat at the hands of the Staten Island Cricket and Tennis Club field hockey eleven on Parker Field, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 3 to 2. The game was hard fought throughout the entire four periods and it was not until the last whistle blew that the local team acknowledged defeat. The two points credited to the local team were made by the Misses Gwendolyn Gough and Gertrude Butler.

All of the eleven local players fought hard but their opponents managed to put one between the goal posts that spelled victory. The local team will play the Hartridge squad this afternoon on the latter's field, and tomorrow will play a return game at Staten Island.

BARACA FIVE TOOK THREE STRAIGHT FROM Y. M. A.

The Baraca bowling team, of Dunellen, continued its winning streak Saturday night, on the Presbyterian alleys, when the Y. M. A. five of Bound Brook, lost three straight to the Dunellenites. All of the home team's scores were in the 800 class while the visitors' highest team score was 763.

Oakley and Braun pinned high score marks with 215 to their credit, while Whitnack, of the Bound Brook aggregation, fell one point below this score.

Since then house and porch and garden and routines had become like those of other places. She had always been shut outside something, and always she had borne burdens. The death of her parents, gadflies of need, worst of all a curious feeling that the place closed against her was somehow herself—that, so to say, she and herself had never once met. She used to say that to herself sometimes. "There's two of me, and we don't meet—we don't meet."

"And now he wants me to take her boy and Adam's," she kept saying. "I'll never do such a thing—never."

She thought that the news of Lily's death was what gave her the strange, bodily hurt that had seized her—the news that what she was used to was gone; that she had no sister; that the days of their being together and all the tasks of their upbringing were finished. Then she thought that the remembering of those days of her happiness and her pain, and the ache of what might have been and of what never was, had come to torture her again. But the feeling was rather the weight of some imminent thing, the ravage of something that grew with what it fed on, the grasp upon her of something that would not let her go.

She had never seen them after their marriage, and so she had never seen either of the children. Lily had once sent her a picture of John, but she had never sent one of this other little boy. Mary tried to recall what they had ever said of him. She could not even remember his baptismal name, but she knew that they had called him "Yes" because it was the first word he had learned to say and because he had said it to everything. "The baby can say 'Yes,'" Lily had written once; "I guess it's all he'll ever be able to say. He says it all day long. He won't try to say anything else." And once later: "We've taken to calling the baby 'Yes,' and now he calls himself that. 'Yes wants it,' he says, and 'Take Yes,' and 'Yes is going off now.' His father likes it. He says yes is everything and no is nothing. I don't think that means much, but we call him that for fun." But Mary could not remember what the child's real name was. What difference did it make? As if she could have a child meddling round the house while she was sewing! But, of course, this was not the real reason. The real reason was that she could not bring up a child—did she not know that?

"He's six years old now, and, Aunt Mary, this ain't a place for him. He's a nice little fellow and I hate for him to get rough and he will if he stays here."

She tried to think who else could take him. They had no one. Adam, she knew, had no one. Some of the neighbors there by the ranch—it was absurd to send him that long journey—so she went through it all, denying with all the old denials. And all the while the weight in her body grew and filled her, and she was strangely conscious of her breath.

"What ails me?" she said aloud, and got up to kindle a light. She was amazed to see that it was 7 o'clock, and long past her supper hour. As she took from the clock shelf the key to the barn, some one rapped at the back door and came through the cold kitchen with friendly familiarity. It was Jenny, a shawl over her head, her face glowing with the cold, and in her mittened hands a flat parcel.

"My hand's most froze," Jenny admitted. "I didn't want to roll this thing, so I carried it flat out, and it blew consider'ble. It's the picture."

"Get yourself warm," Mary bade her. "I'll undo it. Who is it of?" she added, as the papers came away.

"That's what I don't know," said Jenny. "But I've always liked it around. I thought maybe you'd know."

It was a picture which, in those days, had not before come to Old Trail Town. The figure was that of a youth, done by a master of the times—the head and shoulders of a youth who seemed to be looking passionately at something outside the picture.

"There it is, anyhow," Jenny added. "If you like it enough to hang it up, hang it up. It's a Christmas present!" Jenny laughed elfishly.

Mary Chavah held the picture out before her.

"I do," she said; "I could take a real fancy to it. I'll have it up on the wall. Much obliged, I'm sure. Set down a minute."

But Jenny could not do this, and Mary, the key to the barn still in her hands, followed her out. They went through the cold kitchen where the refrigerator and the ironing board and the clothes bars and all the familiar things stood in the dark. To Mary these were sunk in a great obscurity and insignificance, and even Jenny being there was unimportant beside the thing that her letter had brought to think about. They stepped out into the clear, glittering night, with its clean, white world, and its clean, dark sky on which some story was written in stars; Capella was shining almost overhead, and another star was hanging bright in the east as if the east were always a dawning place for some new star.

"Mary!" said Jenny, there in the dark.

"Yes," Mary answered.

"You know I said I just couldn't bear not to have any Christmas—this Christmas?"

"Yes," Mary said.

"Did you know why?"

"I thought because it's your and Bruce's first"—

"No," Jenny said, "that isn't all why. It's something else."

She slipped her arm within Mary's and stood silent. And Mary still not understanding—

"It's somebody else," Jenny said faintly.

"Why, Jenny!"

"Soon," said Jenny.

The two women stood for a moment, Jenny saying a little. Mary quiet.

"It'll be late in December," Jenny finished. "That seems so wonderful to me—so wonderful. Late in December, like"—

The cold came prinking about them, and Jenny moved to go. Mary, the shawled figure on the upper step, looked down on the shawled figure below her and abruptly spoke.

"It's funny," Mary said, "that you should tell me that—now. I haven't told you what's in my letter."

"What was?" asked Jenny.

Mary told her. "They want I should have the little boy," she ended it.

"Oh," Jenny said. "Mary! How wonderful for you! Why, it's almost next as wonderful as mine!"

CHAPTER V.

Coming.

MARY hesitated for breath. But she was profoundly stirred by what Jenny had told her—the first time, so far as she could recall, that news like this had ever come to her directly, as a secret and a marvel. News of the village births usually came in gossip, in commiseration, in suspicion. Falling as did this confidence in a time when she was reliving her old hope, when Adam's boy stood outside her threshold, the moment quite suddenly put on its real significance.

"We can plan together," Jenny was saying. "Ain't it wonderful?"

"Ain't it?" Mary said then, simply, and kissed Jenny, when Jenny came and kissed her. Then Jenny went away.

Mary went on to the barn and opened the door and listened. She had brought

"We can plan together. Ain't it wonderful?"

no lantern, but the soft stillness within needed no vigilance. The hay smell from the loft and the mangers, the even breath of the cows, the quiet safety of the place, met her. She was wondering at herself, but she was struggling not at all. It was as if concerning the little boy something had decided for her in a soft, fierce rush of feeling not her own. She had committed herself to Jenny almost without will. But Mary felt no exultation, and the weight within her did not lift.

"I really couldnt do anything else but take him, I s'pose," she thought. "I wonder what'll come on me next?"

All the while she was conscious of the raw smell of the clover in the hay of the mangers, as if something of summer were there in the cold.

Mary Chavah sent her letter of blunt directions concerning her sister's headstone and the few belongings which her sister had wished her to have. The last lines of the letter were about the boy.

"Send the little one along. I am not the one, but I don't know what else to tell you to do with him. Let me know when to expect him and put his name in with his things. I can't remember his right name."

When the answer came from John Blood a fortnight later it said that a young fellow of those parts was starting back home shortly to spend Christmas and would take charge of the child as far as the city and there put him on his train for Old Trail Town. She would be notified just what day to expect him, and John knew how glad his mother would have been and his father, too, and he was her grateful nephew. P. S.—He would send some money every month "toward him."

The night after she received this letter Mary lay long awake, facing what it was going to mean to have him there—to have a child there.

She recalled what she had heard other women say about it—stray utterances, made with the burdened look that hid a secret complacency, a kind of pleased freemasonry in a universal lot.

"The children bring so much sand into the house. You'd think it was horses."

"The center table looks loaded and ready to start half the time, but I can't help it, with the children's books and truck."

"Never would have another house built without a coat closet. The children's cloaks and caps and rubbers litter up everything."

"Every one of their knees out and their underclothes outgrown and their waists soiled the whole time. And I do try so hard."

Now with all these bewilderments she was to have to do. She wondered if she would know how to dress him. Once she had watched Mis' Winslow dress a child and she remembered what unexpected places Mis' Winslow had buttoned—buttonholes that went up and down in the skirt bands and so on. Armholes might be too small and garters too tight, and how was one ever to know? If it were a little girl now—but a little boy. What would she talk to him about while they ate together?

She lay in the dark and planned—with no pleasure, but merely because she always planned everything, her dress, her baking, what she would say to this one and that. She would put up a stove in the back parlor and give him the room "off." She was glad that the parlor was empty and clean—"no knickknacks for a boy to knock around," she found herself thinking. And a child would like the bedroom wall paper, with the owl border. When summer came he could have the room over the dining room, with the kitchen roof sloping away from it where he could dry his hazelnuts—she had thought of the pasture hazelnuts first thing. There were a good many things a boy would like about the place—the bird house where the martins always built, the hens, the big hollow tree, the pasture ant hill. She would have to find out the things he liked to eat. She would have to help him with his lessons; she could do that for only a little while until he would be too old to need her. Then maybe there would come the time when he would ask her things that she would not know.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Every mother wants to see some fancy dresses in the layette, no matter how many of the plainer, more practical ones there may be.

This one is quite new, having the effect of a panel at the front, yet it is simple, as all baby's garments should be. In the picture there is a ruffle of lace at the lower edge and a group of tucks above.

The lace insets are narrow as a matter of course and should be fine. The little bit of handwork above the panel is pretty and dainty. French nainsook is one of the best materials for dresses of the sort and the one illustrated.

The frill is of fine swiss embroidery and the insertion very narrow valenciennes lace.

The dress will require two and one-eighth yards of material thirty-six inches wide, one and seven-eighths yards forty-four inches wide, with two and one-quarter yards of embroidery for the ruffle and two and one-quarter yards of insertion.

This May Manton pattern is cut in one size. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8404, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

All members and their friends are invited to attend the "open house" Thursday, when the association building will be open all day. Visitors will be shown through the buildings and tea will be served from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The adjourned membership meeting will be held tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock and a large attendance is desired as important business will be discussed.

The training class for volunteer workers will not meet this Thursday, being a legal holiday, but will start again on December 2.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Did you know I had my maid back?" asked Mrs. Lawrence as they rolled over the smooth driveway in the comfortable electric.

"Not Jane, the one that was married?" replied Mrs. Curtis.

"Yes, Jane. She came back last week Friday, knocked at the door and asked for me, and said with some embarrassment: 'Can I talk to you a few minutes, Mrs. Lawrence?'

"When seated in the dining room she looked steadily out of the window as she said: 'I'm looking for a place, ma'am. Do you know of anyone who wants help?'

"'Why, Jane, how is this?' I asked.

"'Well,' she said, 'I gave him notice and quit. I'll tell you about it. You know my brother urged the marriage; said it would be so fine for me to have a home in my old age, and I finally thought so, too. I knew he had a girl who needed a mother, and I thought we could be happy together. I went down there with my trunk full of the nice things you and Mrs. Carson gave me, and I wish you could see the place he took me to.'"

"Who is he, and where did he come from?" interrupted Mrs. Curtis.

"He is a stonemason and lives in a town thirty miles from here. Her brother inquired about him and learned that he was a good, steady man."

"Excuse me for interrupting. Let's drive down by the old bridge. Do you mind? Now go on with the story," and Mrs. Curtis settled back in the cushions.

"She said he took her to a little, tumbled-down house way back in a field. A sourfaced, dirty-looking girl was in the room.

"'Su, Molly,' said the father, 'I've brought you a new ma.'

"The child never answered, but backed up against the wall and looked at Jane defiantly. You know what a good-hearted woman Jane is. She walked up to the child and kissed her, saying: 'We're going to be friends, I know.' The girl turned, struck her, and ran away.

"The place was so dirty that Jane never sat down, but changed her clothes and cleaned the whole afternoon. They sat down in a clean kitchen to baking powder biscuit, baked potatoes and apple sauce; that was all there was in the house to eat.

She tried hard to make friends with the girl, made her clothes, fixed up the house with her pretty things, and did everything to win the child, but she was ugly and impudent. Besides this, Jane could not get hold of a cent of money. Her husband claimed the boss did not pay him for his work, but she found out by chance that he had been paid regularly. Finally she said to him:

"'I have used nearly all my money.' She fortunately did not draw her savings from the bank. I advised her not to.

"'I know you have been getting pay for your work, so hand over some money for food.'

"From what she said there must have been quite a scene. As soon as he left the house Molly, his little girl, began:

"'You are very fond of playing mistress and laying down the law. I suppose it is because you have been a servant all your life.'

"This was too much for Jane. She thrust the child into the closet, locked the door, and while Molly kicked and screamed, she gathered up her possessions, packed them in her trunk, hailed a passing wagon, and was carried to the depot. She barely had money to pay her fare here."

"Did she leave Molly locked in the closet?" asked Mrs. Curtis.

"Yes. I imagine she would be ready to come out by the time her father came home," said Mrs. Lawrence.

"Well, you were glad to get Jane back, I know," and Mrs. Curtis prepared to get out.

"Yes, indeed. She will not leave me again, I am sure."

RECIPES FOR THE THANKSGIVING DINNER

Stuffed Ham—Pour boiling water over ham and set aside until cool enough to handle. With a coarse bristled brush clean thoroughly, rinse in cold water and put on to boil. Use large kettle with sufficient water to cover ham. Bring to boiling point, then simmer steadily one-half hour to keep water just at boiling point and not above that. Turn ham over once or twice and, when done, take out and put in large bakingpan. Dip hands in cold water and pull off the skin as you would peel an orange, then put the lean side down and set in moderate oven to bake for an hour. This brings out all superfluous grease. When removed from the stove, set aside until ham is cold, then it is ready to stuff.

Prepare stuffing in the following manner: One pint bread crumbs, two hard-boiled eggs, a little mace or thyme, one tablespoon butter, one-half cup fat meat, black and red pepper, salt to taste. With a sharp knife make incisions in ham as deep as possible and fill with the stuffing, of course chopping the eggs and fat meat as finely as possible. Into each incision pour a few drops of fruit juice or cider. Over the whole surface spread a paste made with the yolk of one egg, a little sugar, a dash of pepper, prepared mustard and bread crumbs. Put in the oven until thoroughly browned.

Caramel or Candied Sweet Potatoes—Select two or three large sweet potatoes and boil them until a fork can be stuck into them with ease. Remove from water and peel. It may be necessary to hold potatoes on a fork to be able to handle, for few objects in the world are hotter than a hot sweet potato. Slice in lengthwise slices, lay in baking dish and dot with butter. Melt heaping cup brown sugar in cup of water and boil to a sirup. Pour sirup over sliced potatoes in baking dish, sprinkle top layer with sugar and bits of butter. Set in oven and let bake for an hour. When done there should be a thick sirup in bottom of baking dish and a candied brown crust over the top slices. The addition of small bits of dried orange peel lends a flavor liked by many, or a stick or two of cinnamon may be laid in the bottom of dish.

Another old and tried way of making candied potatoes is as follows: Nine sweet potatoes, two large cups brown sugar, three cups cold water, one-half lemon sliced thin, three-fourths pound beef fat. Peel and cut up potatoes and put them in kettle or large saucepan with the fat, sugar, water and lemon; have heat very slow and cook from two and one-half to three hours, when the sirup should be quite thick and the potatoes brown and soft.

Steamed Hickorynut Pudding—One-half cup melted butter creamed with one-half cup sugar, two eggs beaten separately, one cup milk, two cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one and one-half cups hickorynuts, two teaspoons baking powder. Steam two hours in buttered mold. Sauce: One cup powdered sugar, one tablespoon butter, yolks of two eggs; all creamed together. When nearly ready to serve add one-half pint whipped cream.

THE TABLE

Molasses Cake in Crust—One cup New Orleans molasses, one cup thick milk, almost a cup of sugar, shortening size of an egg, one teaspoon soda, three cups flour. Bake with under crust made as ordinary pie crust.

Snow Pyramid—Whip one pint good rich cream until firm, chill in ice box. Serve in small glasses. Beat the whites of four eggs (or if small use about six), sweeten, and gradually stir in a cup of any kind of good fruit jelly. When you are ready to serve, drop a spoonful of the egg in the center of each dish of cream in shape of pyramid. This is fine when one is entertaining.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — First Day Of School For Turkish Children.

Turkish Children Start to School on a Fine Pony.

"THE first day that a child starts to school in Turkey is a very important day, indeed, in his life," said daddy as the kiddies curled up beside him on the great divan, while the fire leaped in the grate and made funny dancing shadows on the wall.

"H'm," said Jack; "the last day is pretty important here in America!"

Daddy and Evelyn laughed at Jack's rueful face.

"But what do you think?" replied daddy. "When the Turkish child starts for school a fine pony all decked out in ribbons of the gayest colors is taken to his door. The priest, who is also the teacher, and the entire school meet there too.

"Then the priest says a short prayer and puts the child, who is dressed in his best, on the pony. The pupils march in double line, singing hymns, while the new pupil follows.

"When this procession reaches the temple of learning he finds it a very plain temple. These schools are held in little rooms or holes in the wall, in which the only furniture are long benches for the pupils and a seat for the teacher.

"The children sit cross legged on the benches, holding their books and writing materials on their knees, and a funny thing about it they recite aloud, all at the same time, making all the noise they possibly can.

"They are taught grammar, addition, substraction, multiplication and division and are taught to read from the Koran. Of course this is all in Arabic.

"This is about all the schooling the common people receive, though it is quite astonishing how many different languages they manage to pick up without difficulty.

"But the rich people employ European teachers and are very highly educated in languages and sciences.

"Then children of all the people from early childhood are told wonderful stories, which influence them in later life.

"They are taught to not be afraid of death, that death is kind since it takes them to a better place, that it is bad breeding to show surprise at any thing and that they must never say anything against their own interests.

"So the little Turk starts out with a pretty good equipment for life, after all, doesn't he, kiddies?"

"I'd like to ride that horse," said Evelyn.

"Well, kiddies, it's high time you went to beddie," said daddy.

"Good night!" called the children as they scampered away.

WIDENING OF MADISON AVENUE.

The undersigned, Commissioners heretofore appointed by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield to make an estimate and assessment of damages that any owner or owners of land will sustain by the widening of Madison Avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Widen Madison Avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved December 22, 1913, and also to ascertain the amount of damages that shall be assessed as aforesaid, and of all necessary expenses incident to such laying out and opening and to make a just and equitable assessment thereof among the owners and occupants of the lands, tenements and real estate benefited thereby, in proportion to the benefits each shall be deemed to acquire, said assessment to be made pursuant to the amended charter of the City as amended or modified by general statutes of the State, and particularly by the act entitled, "An Act respecting assessments in cities," approved April 21, 1876, hereby give notice that they have this day filed their report and assessment in the office of the City Clerk, and that the same is open to inspection of the public, and will be presented to the Common Council at the meeting of that body to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, on the seventh day of December 1914, at eight o'clock p. m.

The character of the work and improvement is the widening of Madison Avenue between the points stated in the above mentioned title of said ordinance.

The lands taken are designated on a map and schedule accompanying said report and assessment, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, November 10, 1914, entitled "Assessment Map for the Widening of Madison Avenue, from West Front Street to the Central R. R. of New Jersey, City of Plainfield, N. J.," dated November 10, 1914, to which map reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

The lands assessed for benefits are the lands fronting on Madison Avenue, as ordered to be widened by said ordinance, and other lands fronting on said Madison Avenue between West Front Street and Green Brook, and between the Central Railroad of New Jersey and West Fourth Street; also on the northerly side of West Front Street between No. 216 and No. 320, and on the southerly side of said West Front Street between No. 221 and No. 317; also on the northerly side of West Second Street between No. 126 and No. 316, and on the southerly side of West Second Street between No. 125 and No. 317, and are also shown and designated on said map and schedule, to which reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Marion Blanchard was the hostess for a party of friends at her home Saturday evening. The young people enjoyed an evening of games and dancing after which refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Jennie Peacock, Clare Britton, Marion Lockewood, Hildegard Hamilton, Marion Blanchard, and James Buckle, John Heron, Benjamin Harris, William Peacock, Davis Blanchard and Herbert Peacock.

Charles Phelps gave a dance Saturday evening at the Bound Brook Country Club. About thirty people from the High School attended and passed a very pleasant evening of dancing.

Schuyler Line, P. H. S. '12, and Donald Sminck, P. H. S. '14, both students at Springfield Training School, visited High School this morning to look over the new building and renew old acquaintances.

The basketball game scheduled between High School and Yonkers for January 17 has been canceled because of the fact that it is on a school day and the faculty will not permit a long trip on that day. Manager Zelmas is endeavoring to arrange it on another date.

STILL ALARM.

The North Plainfield Fire Department responded to a still alarm yesterday morning, shortly after 8 o'clock, to the store of Louis B. Goldstein on Grove street, where an overheated stove was the cause of a fire. The fire, however, had been extinguished before the arrival of the department. The damage to the building and to the goods amounted to $25.

Safety—First of All

Safety is, after all, the first requirement of a bank from the standpoint of the depositor, and

Safety has been the rock foundation upon which has been built the business of this Company. To it all other considerations have been subservient. If you want to satisfy yourself as to the Safety of this institution come in and let us tell you of what our assets consist—of the close attention which our strong Board of Directors gives to our affairs and of the frequent examinations which are conducted by the State examiners, as well as by certified public accountants. Our Officers are always glad to talk with inquirers on this subject.

THE LATEST HUDSON TOWN CAR

TO the 1915 Hudson line of enclosed cars has been added the Landau Limousine. Built on the popular Light Six-40 chassis, it combines all the advantages of the completely enclosed limousine and the airiness of the open phaeton. Like all Hudson Closed Cars, the Landau bodies are really works of art. This newest model already has been accorded a surprising welcome. The roof is of aluminum and can be guaranteed waterproof. The seat plan is the same as the Six-40 standard Limousine. The car easily accommodates six or seven adults. The auxiliary seats fold into the back of the front seat. They may be so adjusted that their occupants face either to the front or to the rear, as desired. There are many other exclusive features

MANY BIDS FOR $167,000 ISSUE

Redmand and Co. Awarded Contract for Purchase of Sewer Bonds.

WILL CONDEMN LAND

Fourteen Proposals Received Despite Unsettled Condition of Money Market—Bids received on Two Separate Sales—Property-owners Balk.

Representatives of twelve New York concerns and two Plainfield banking houses were present at the special meeting of the Common Council, last night, when bids for the sale of $167,000 worth of five per cent bonds were opened and read. The proposal of Redmand & Company, of New York, to buy $75,000 worth of bonds for $105.693 and $92,000 worth for $105,943, was accepted. The total premium on the $167,000 is placed at $9,625.31. The issue of $92,000 is authorized for the purpose of refunding the sewer extension debt, and to retire certain short term notes that have been issued from time to time as the work of sewer extension progressed. These bonds will be retired between the years 1925 and 1944.

The $75,000 issue will be retired between the years 1925 and 1939. This amount is for carrying on the work of constructing a trunk sewer in connection with North Plainfield and Dunellen. Owing to the unsettled condition of the money market a short time ago considerable apprehension was felt over the possibility of disposing of the bonds at a reasonable rate, but since then a favorable change has been noted and the proposals last night were above those anticipated. Two of the bids were rejected because they did not conform with the rules of the sale. These were offered by D. W. Wycoff of New York, who made a bid on two of the $92,000 issue at 102 per cent., and A. L. Rosenburg, also of New York, who offered a proposal of 100 per cent. on two bonds of $2,000 of the $75,000 issue.

The bids received and opened last night, offered the following figures:

	$75,000	$92,000
Redmand & Co.	$105.693	$105.84
J. S. Rippel	101.666	101.79

Plainfield Trust Co.	100.66	100.66

Several protests were received by the Council regarding the service being accorded patrons of the Public Service Railway Corporation residing along the Arlington avenue line. It is the opinion of many that the schedule now in use is not what it should be and certain individuals have requested the members of the Council to take action in the matter. The committee on Public Affairs will look into the matter and possibly bring about some satisfactory adjustment.

Following the Council meeting the members of the Joint Sewerage Committee held a short meeting, at which time a resolution was adopted providing for the institution of condemnation proceedings against certain property owners who have refused to obtain to the Commission's proposal to clear a right-of-way for the proposed trunk line. It is understood that while several of the property owners have given their consent and tentative settlement has been made with them, others have refused, thus making condemnation proceedings to secure the right-of-way necessary.

STATE TRUST COMPANY BOOKLET IS COMMENDED

The current issue of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, New York's foremost financial paper, comments as follows on the booklet recently issued by The State Trust Company.

"A booklet, written in conversational style, called 'It Served John Havens Right,' is now being distributed by the State Trust Co., of Plainfield, N. J. This 'novelette' presents a charming little story describing all the personal services which the trust company performs. It is as good a piece of advertising matter as we have seen in many a day."

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 29 degrees; 11 a. m., 37 degrees; 1 p. m., 37 degrees.

RAGS CAUSE SMALL FIRE IN APARTMENT

Left on Steam Radiator They Caught Fire and $25 Damage Is Done.

Rags left lying on the steam radiator in the apartment of George W. Westcott, on the third floor of the Manning building near Depot Park, caught fire shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the blaze entailing damage amounting to about $25 before it was extinguished. Mrs. Westcott had been hanging lace curtains earlier in the afternoon and it is thought that she left some of the material lying on the hot radiator.

Locking up the apartment Mrs. Westcott left it to do some shopping and about an hour afterwards smoke began to issue from the crevices. Other tenants on the third floor claim that they had smelled smoke an hour previous to the alarm was sounded. When the firemen arrived clouds of smoke were coming from the third floor and for a time it looked as though a serious blaze was in progress. Chemicals were used to extinguish the flames. The fire consumed a rocking chair, a pillow and a small piece of carpet.

Mrs. Westcott was met by a friend at North and Park avenues shortly after the fire had been put out and when told that her place had been ablaze she swooned. The woman was taken into Armstrong's drug store and revived.

SOCIETY TO DANCE FOR MUHLENBERG

First of Series of Social Functions at High School Tomorrow Night.

The arrangements for the dance to be given tomorrow evening in the High School Auditorium for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, have been completed. Mrs. William B. Tyler is chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment and is assisted by Mrs. Daniel Runkle, Mrs. Lewis E. Waring and Mrs. R. S. Rowland. J. Hartley Mellick has charge of the music. It is the first large entertainment to be given in the new building and the supper, which is in charge of Mrs. Daniel Runkle and Mrs. L. E. Waring, will be served for a nominal sum.

The hours of the dance will be from 9:00 until 1:00 o'clack and the tickets may be obtained from Randolph's drug store or from any of the above-named committee. As this is such a worthy cause it is hoped that the receipts will be large so that a good return may be made to the hospital. The floor committee includes the following:

Messrs. C. Ames Brooks, Henry W. Brower, J. M. Charles, Arthur M. Collens, Robert H. Cox, Thomas M. Day Jr., C. L. Dana, Jr., Harvey Fiske, Hendy T. Eaton, J. Hartley Mellick, Daniel Runkle, Murray Rushmore, R. S. Rowland, W. B. Tyler, Mellick Tweedy, John Valiant and Lewis E. Waring.

YALE DRAMATIC CLUB TO PRESENT THREE PLAYLETS

Three one-act playlets, the roles to be played by members of the Yale University Dramatic Association, will be presented in the Plainfield Theatre, Thursday evening, December 31. The productions include "At the End of the Passage," a dramatization of Kipling's story by H. R. Crawford; "Behind the Beyond," a dramatic adaption from Stephen Leacock, by H. R. Crawford, and "St. Bartholomew's Eve," by F. W. Tuttle, '13.

The local committee of Yale graduates in charge of the affair is comprised of Lewis A. Wallace, Jr., '03, chairman; John Leal, '74; Thomas M. Day, '86; Louis R. Hyde, '87; Edward M. Stevenson, '88; Frederick W. Wallace, '89; Percy H. Stewart, '90; Henry L. DeForest, '97, and Murray Rushmore, '13.

BIBLE SCHOOL ANNUAL.

The annual meeting of the officers and teachers of Trinity Reformed church Bible school will be held at the church Monday night, December 7. There will be a supper, followed with excellent speeches. The reports of the delegates to the recent State convention in Newark will be received, also the officers and visitors of the home department.

—Thirty dozen bunches of fancy table celery at 15 and 18 cents a bunch will be among the offerings at the Neuman Grocery Company market tomorrow. All sorts of fine fruits and vegetables for Thanksgiving will also be found there.—Adv. ***

LAUNCH ARMORY CAMPAIGN HERE

Company K Members Seek Petition Signers Endorsing Public Building.

STRUCTURE IS NEEDED

Present Quarters Not Adaptable to Use to Which It is Now Being Put—Freeholders Visited Company Here Last Night.

Armed with petitions, the entire squad of Company K members in this city and nearby suburbs, is circulating among residents and business men for the purpose of securing the endorsement of hundreds of taxpayers favoring the erection of an armory in Plainfield. For years past agitation has been rife in certain quarters for a structure of this character, but never before has an organized crusade of this kind been launched to bring about the movement to build an armory. Members of the Union County Board of Freeholders visited the quarters now in use last night, and witnessed the inconveniences with which the soldiers have to contend in going through their maneuvres. It was the consensus of opinion among the visitors that Company K is sadly in need of a modern army and the co-operation of the county body is assured in the new project.

For the past ten years the local company has ranked among the first six in the order of merit in the Second New Jersey Regiment of the National Guard and this year heads the regiment in the figure of merit. Notwithstanding the fact that other companies of its size and calibre enjoy

PAYS COMMISSION TO EDGAR A. KNAPP

William J. Buttfield Settles Suit for Adjustment of Fire Loss.

The suit of Edgar A. Knapp, of Elizabeth, against William J. Buttfield, of this city, in which the former sought to recover $1,000 as his commission for settling the fire loss for the latter on his residence on Rockview avenue, which was destroyed about two years ago, has been settled. Mr. Buttfield paying to Mr. Knapp's counsel, G. W. V. Moy, $1,000, together with the costs and interests of the suit.

Mr. Knapp, who is an insurance adjuster, settled the loss for Mr. Buttfield, collecting about $55,000 for the loss on his dwelling and contents. Afterward Mr. Buttfield is said to have denied that he had made any arrangements with Mr. Knapp to settle his loss and the suit was taken up on appeal. On the appeal Mr. Buttfield did not appear to continue the case, and since then he made a settlement with Mr. Moy for his client.

THREE LOCAL DEFENDANTS ALLEGED "BAIL JUMPERS"

Although they have been at liberty on $200 bail awaiting trial before the Grand Jury on a charge of assault and battery, John and Patrick Long and John Diano, of this city, failed to answer the summons to court in Elizabeth, this morning, where their trial was slated to be held. Andrew Denviscol, a fourth member of the same gang, showed up and entered a plea of not guilty.

Bench warrants were issued for the Long Brothers and Diano, all of whom are well-known to the local police and have caused considerable trouble in the past. They are alleged to have beaten a gardener on the L. V. F. Randolph estate last August when he attempted to chase them from the premises while they were stealing apples.

UNIQUE DANCE FOR MEMBERS OF CLUB

Inconsistent Costume Event Planned for Next Friday Night.

Unique invitations have been issued by the members of the Park Club for their "Inconsistent Costume Dance" to be held in the clubhouse Friday night and a large attendance is expected at the event. The departure from the usual formal entertainment has met with hearty response from all quarters and it is expected that the new idea will result in the affair reaching far greater proportions than it has in previous years.

The entertainment committee of the club has also completed a series of events for the winter months which are looked forward to with considerable interest and pleasure. The committee comprises Mr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Jarvis, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Laing, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Milne, Miss Helen Joy and George M. English.

The form of invitation is as follows:

Come, fellow members, one and all
And join us in a "Tarky Ball,"
Friday, November twenty-seven,
To start at nine, and not seven.
By Tarky it is meant, you know,
To designate a funny show,
This "Inconsistent Costume Dance"—
Such as full dress coat and tennis pants,
Or, speaking for the gender fair,
Why not golf skirts and shoulders bare?
Some will come quite picturesque,
While others try to be grotesque.
It all will be a splendid go
If you will help to make it so.

YOUNG FOLKS' LEAGUE FOR TEMPLE SHOLEM MEMBERS

A new department of work of Temple Sholem was organized last evening, at the home of Mrs. William Newcorn, of West Front street, at which time the Young Folks' League was formally brought into working order with a membership of fourteen. Rev. Dr. H. L. Martin, Rabbi of the Temple, addressed the gathering on the prospective work of the league.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Morton Hockberger; vice president, David Rothstein; secretary, Miss Pauline Buttonstein; treasurer, Miss Rae Preger. The next session of the League is to be held Monday evening, November 30.

ALLEGED GAS METER THIEF IS ARRAIGNED FOR TRIAL

Charles Hardway, colored, of this city, was arraigned before Judge James C. Connolly, in Elizabeth, this morning, to answer to an indictment charging him with robbing gas meters. In the hearing Chief of Police Kiely, City Judge William G. DeMeza and Sergeant Maurice Higgins gave testimony. The case went to the jury this afternoon.

Hardway, who is an ash carter, was caught by the local police several months ago after a careful surveillance had been kept over his actions for a long time. He as first denied having any knowledge of the deed, but finally confessed and since his commitment to the Union county jail the local police have not received a single report of similar robberies.

HEADS COMMITTEE FOR THE JUNIOR ASSEMBLIES

Mrs. Pierre Mali, wife of the Belgian Consul, Madison avenue, New York, whose summer home is on East Front street, has been appointed chairman of the committee of arrangements for the Junior Assemblies in New York city. The first assembly will be held next Tuesday, December 1, at Sherry's.

C. O. S. HOPES TO SOLVE PROBLEM

Money-Raising Campaign Suggested as Means of Helping Unemployed.

SITUATION IS GRAVE

Mayor Stewart Admits Citizens Committee Has Accomplished Nothing—Mass Meeting May Be Called to Discuss Question.

The problem of caring for the unemployed men of Plainfield and North Plainfield, as well as their families, is now in the hands of the Charity Organization Society for a solution, it being turned over to the Board of Trustees of the society by Mayor Percy H. Stewart, when the former body met, last night. Mr. Stewart was free to confess that the Citizen's Committee recently appointed and which has been meeting Sunday nights to consider the local situation had accomplished practically nothing, and in his opinion the whole matter was one which the Charity Organization Society should look after.

It was explained by Mr. Stewart that the city could not issue bonds, neither was there any other way by which the city could legally provide a fund, outside of the regular appropriation to the poor department, which is practically exhausted. The Mayor further stated that the funds for street work are about exhausted and there is now no money with which to carry on public improvements. As pictured by Mr. Stewart the situation is a grave one. He said that 300 men had registered in his office for work and how it was to be provided was more than he could tell at this time. The caring for 300 idle

COUNTY PRISONERS TO GET LESS MEAT

Hereafter Vegetables Will Form Principal Part of Diet.

Elizabeth, Nov. 24.—Sheriff George C. Otto, Warden Charles W. Dodd, Dr. Horace R. Livengood, jail physician, and members of the jail committee of the Board of Freeholders, held a long conference at the jail yesterday afternoon, relative to changing the jail menu so that the health of the prisoners would be better conserved.

The conference took place at the behest of the sheriff, who has given considerable study to the problem of dieting. Although he was himself engaged in the butcher business downtown for many years Sheriff Otto pins great faith in fruit and vegetables and he announced after the conference that his colleagues there agreed with him that more vegetables and less meat would be a good thing for the county's offenders and would no doubt put a stop to the inroads made by "beri-beri," a blood disease which has ravaged the jail for the past two years.

Dr. Livengood agreed with Sheriff Otto that a constant change of diet throughout the week would be a good thing and the bill of fare will accordingly be revised at once.

Sheriff Otto will also ask the Board of Freeholders to appoint a teacher to instruct the prisoners. He will endeavor, he says, to train them and keep their minds occupied and in feeding them will keep in mind the fact that their diet must be such as can be digested by persons in close confinement and getting but little air and exercise.

LOIZEAUX LUMBER CO. GETS VERDICT FOR $34.16

Elizabeth, Nov. 24.—The J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company, of Plainfield, got a judgment of $34.16 from Judge David in the District Court, yesterday, after he had tried the company's suit against Francois Berube, of Plainfield, to recover on a book account.

MAYOR SEES NEED FOR IMMEDIATE RELIEF

Says Problem of Unemloyed is Rapidly Becoming Serious—May Call Meeting.

Mayor Stewart, in an interview with a representative of the Daily Press, this morning, stated that conditions with the unemployed in the city were becoming very serious, and in his estimation it would be necessary within the next week to call a mass meeting of the citizens, to consider ways and means to relieve conditions. The Mayor has turned over to the Charity Organization Society a list of over 300 names of men who have been out of employment for varying periods of time, and he says that the condition with some of these is very serious.

Many pitiful scenes have been witnessed at the Mayor's office since it has been thrown open for registration of the list of the unemployed. Men and women have called and said they must get work of any kind, in order to continue to live, and the callers during the last few days have presented desperate cases. The Mayor feels that under the circumsiances the time has come when extraordinary measures must be taken, and he thinks that a mass meeting of influential citizens must be called for some time soon, at which time ways and means will have to be found to care for the unemployed, many of whom are liable to become paupers.

CHURCHES TO UNITE ON THANKSGIVING

Services to Be Held in Both City and Borough Edifices.

The congregations of the First Baptist, First Methodist, First Presbyterian and Trinity Reformed churches will hold a union Thanksgiving service at the First Baptist church, Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon and the ministers of the other churches will assist in the service.

At the same hour the congregations of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, Congregational and Seventh-Day Baptist churches, will hold a similar service in the Crescent Avenue church. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, minister, will preach the sermon and the offering will be for the Charity Organization Society.

Other Thanksgiving services will be held at Hope and Evona chapels, as well as at the Episcopal and Catholic churches of the city and borough. A special mass will be held at St. Joseph's church in memory of Father W. H. Miller, who was rector there for many years.

DROP BOMB BEFORE U. S. CONSULATE

German Airship Kills Russian in Front of Building in Warsaw.

RUSSIANS CLAIM GAINS

Ten Days' Battle Between Vistula and Wartha Is Said to Have Resulted in German Retreat—Deny Sinking of Submarine.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Dropping a high explosive bomb immediately over the American consulate in Warsaw, Russian Poland, a German Zeppelin balloon today caused the death of several persons and wrought considerable damage to American property. The information was conveyed to the State Department in a despatch from the American consul, Hernando De Soto. All the windows of the consulate were blown out, but it is believed that no attaches of the consulate were injured. The department has cabled for further details.

Petrograd, Nov. 24 (Central News Cable)—On the battle front, between the Vistula and the Wartha, the Germans have commenced to retire after ten days of stubborn fighting, in which they purshed forward more than half way from the frontier to Warsaw. The line of their retirement extends from the upper reaches of the Bzura, toward the southeast as far as Seradzh.

The entire movement of the Germans both in their advance and in the retirement which has now begun has been entirely in accordance with the Russian plan of campaign.

The following official statement regarding the fighting in the Caucasus has been made public today:

"Russian advance parties continue to repulse the enemy. Several caissons of an ammunition train were captured south of Karakilisse and Alaschgerd. Engagements against the Kurds, who have been reinforced by regulars, have been favorable to us. The Turks have been defeated in the region of the Khanessur Heights and the Dilman and Kotur Heights, the Russians capturing part of the enemy's artillery."

Berlin, Nov. 24 (By Wireless).—The official press bureau made denial today of the statement of the Secretary of the British Admiralty, which was given out yesterday, that a German submarine had been sunk off the coast of Scotland by a British patrolling vessel. British reports concerning the destruction of German submarines, says the press bureau, are unconfirmed. No submarines are missing.

Paris, Nov. 24.—The French War Office gave out the following statement at 3 p. m. today:

"In general the situation did not undergo any modification during the day of November 23. On the greater part of the front the enemy manifested his activity by an intermittent cannonade, less violent than on the preceding days. Here and there nevertheless there were some infantry attacks. All were repulsed, however, as usual.

"The attacks were particularly violent in the Argonne, where we gained some ground in the region of Fort De Paris. There is nothing to report as to the situation between Argonne and the Vosges. The fog has ecome very thick in that entire section, impeding operations. The health of the troops is good."

A private despatch from Petrograd declares that the Russians have gained a new and important success between the Warta and Vistula Rivers.

OVER DOZEN LEADING MERCHANTS IN PRESS CO-OPERATIVE SALE PLAN

Buying Public For Miles Around Will Be Given Strongest Inducements to Do Their Christmas Shopping Early—Plan Makes It Possible to Buy at Several Stores and Still Get Fare Refunded.

Over a dozen of the leading merchants of Plainfield have already agreed to co-operate with the Daily Press in the big co-operative sale, which has been planned for the period from December 5 to 12. They are thoroughly enthused with the plan to refund carfares on the co-operative plan to their out-of-town customers during this sale, and when this, in addition to the splendid and timely holiday bargains of the progressive merchants, is taken into consideration, the event will pass any effort of the kind ever made in Plainfield.

By the plan, as previously announced in The Press, practically every leading merchant in Plainfield will make a special effort to draw people here to trade during their big co-operative sale. There will be special bargains at the stores, and the wise economical buyers can certainly save money by taking advantage of the unusual opportunity to do their shopping in Plainfield during the week of December 5 to 12.

Shoppers may distribute their patronage among as many stores as they desire, and then by coming to The Press office, will be presented with the cash total of the railroad fare from their home to Plainfield and return.

FREEHOLDERS DECIDE TO BUILD NEW BRIDGE

The meeting of the Boards of Freeholders of Middlesex and Somerset counties, with some of the interested residents of this borough and North Plainfield township at the old wooden span bridge over Green brook at Madison avenue, yesterday morning, resulted in a decision by the joint Boards to surplant the old wooden structure with a concrete arch bridge. This decision was reached in the Borough Hall, to which place the Boards had adjourned after inspecting the old bridge. The first vote was not a unanimous one, three of the sixteen freeholders present voting against replacing the present structure with a concrete bridge. The minority fully realized that the present bridge was unsafe and that a new one was needed but they thought that a new bridge of the same type as the old would answer every purpose. They were, however, after considerable discussion, won over to the majority's way of thinking. The new bridge will be 57 feet long and 32 feet wide. It will cost in the neighborhood of $6,000. The work on the plans will commence at once. Actual work on the structure, however, will not be begun until spring. The borough was represented at the meeting by Mayor E. B. Latham and Paul Reusch.

After the meeting the freeholders partook of an excellent dinner in the Park Hotel.

Miss Florence Gordon, of Bound Brook, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon.

DUNELLENITES CAUTIONED AGAINST SECOND-STORY MEN

Chief Marshal Mohan, of the Dunellen police force, has issued a warning to residents of the borough to take personal precautions against second-story men who operate with great success at this particular time of the year. The two attempted burglaries perpetrated Saturday night, have been investigated by the police, but not the slightest clue to lead to the identity of the culprits has been revealed. F. W. Fowler's house was entered and an attempt was made to get away with P. Frank Stone's automobile which was left standing in front of the residence of George W. Churchill.

The police have requested the residents of the community to report immediately the presence of suspicious-looking characters on the streets at night and to lock all windows and doors.

High Bridge-Califon.

Charles Hildebrant sold on Saturday his household effects at Fairmount and will go to Plainfield, where he has accepted a position.

Ross Hoffman, of Easton, Pa., was a week-end visitor at his parents' home at Califon.

Lester Sutton, a student at Lehigh University, who was ill with typhoid fever for several weeks, has recovered, and is visiting his grandparents, former Postmaster and Mrs. John Neighbour, Sr., at Califon.

Mrs. Lydia Sutton, of Plainfield, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Cora Apgar, at Califon.

Thanksgiving exercises will be held in the High Bridge School tomorrow afternoon. Rev. John May, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church, will give an address.

Mrs. William Hardy is ill at her home in Mill street, High Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. William Whitely, of Elizabeth, spent last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Seigfried, of Main street, High Bridge.

RENEW FIGHTING AT MEXICO CITY SOON

Villa and Obregon Both Rushing Troops Toward Capital of Country.

Washington, Nov. 24—Renewal of hostilities in Mexico aparently are about to begin around the capital. Advices received through State Department sources and through the Constitutionalist agency here today, indicate that General Villa's forces and an army under General Obregon, an adherent of General Carranza, are now racing for the prize. In the meantime the Carranza representative here declares that heavy reinforcements are flocking to the Carranza standard.

Measures for the protection of noncombatants, citizens of Mexico and for foreigners and their property, have been taken by General Villa, Consul Carrothers notified the State Department. The commander of the army now marching on Mexico City has issued a manifesto to the men of his army promising to mete out instant death to any of them convicted of looting or annoying women.

The Ward Line S. S. Antilla, chartered by the United States Government to bring refugees from Vera Cruz to this country, sailed from that port yesterday with the fleet of army transports.

LOUIS TELEKI WALTER DIES IN HIS 75TH YEAR

Louis Teleki Walter, aged 75 years, of Far Rockaway, N. Y., died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mesier, wife of Rev. Henry Mesier, rector of St.Stephen's church. Mr. Walter came to Plainfield a month ago to visit his daughter and recently suffered a fourth stroke of paralysis which resulted in his death last night.

Mr. Walter had been a resident of Far Rockaway for a number of years, where he was widely known and respected. Beside Mrs. Mesier, Mr. Walter is survived by two sons and another daughter. The funeral and interment will be private.

WAR NEWS

"It is now but a question of how many of the Germans in General Von Hindenberg's army will succeed in returning to Germany," says the despatch. A terrific battle is now raging between Czentocha and Cracow in which the Russians have so far had the advantage. The Russians have taken thousands of prisoners.

London, Nov. 24.—A news agency despatch from Petrograd says that it has been officially announced there that between the Vistula and the Warthe, the Germans have retreated from the line running from Strykow to Zgierz, Szadek, Zounskawola and Wozniki. The line runs from the northeast of Lodz, down past that town and to the southwest.

It is officially announced that in an attack of British forces on the railway terminus in German East Africa, which occurred on November 4, that the attacking force was repulsed after desperate bayonet fighting. The British returned to their base after losing 795 men of the detachment, including 141 British officers and troopers.

The German torpedo boat destroyer H-124 founded in a collision with a Danish steamer in the Baltic Sea. All but two of her crew were drowned.

An official bulletin issued at the War Office last night says that Lieutenant Briggs, commander of the aero squad in the raid on Freiderichshafen, was brought to earth, wounded, by the Germans, and made a prisoner.

The official report issued says that the aerial squadron, after a remarkable flight of 250 miles over German territory, destroyed several Zeppelins at Friedrichshafen.

It is officially announced that British troops have occupied Basrah, a town at the mouth of the Euphrates on the Persian Gulf, in Turkish territory. The occupation took place on the twenty-first. Basrah is an important cable station, the line from that place running to Bushire, Persia.

It is officially announced by the Marquis of Crawe, secretary for India, that the British operations against the Turks at the head of the Persian Gulf have been successful. The Turks were defeated and fled in disorder, leaving eight guns and many wounded. Baara, a river port outside of Shab El Arab, sixty miles from the Persian Gulf, was occupied on Saturday. All the British at Baara are reported safe.

A British naval prize court has ordered the release of a cargo of wheat consigned to Rotterdam by Muir & Co., of New York, and seized on the British steamship Miramichi, in the Mersey, after the outbreak of hostilities. The court held that the cargo had left an American port before war was declared.

Amsterdam, Nov. (Central News Cable).—"There is yet no decision in the fighting in Russian Poland," declares the official statement issued last night by the War Office in Vienna. The statement continues:

"The Austrians took 2,400 prisoners in the capture of Pilitz. Yesterday (Sunday) the Austrians abandoned some of the passes through the Carpathians, but this evacuation is only temporary and the positions will be recovered from the hands of the enemy."

Berlin, via London, Nov. 24.—The following official communication was issued last night by the army headquarters:

"Fighting continues at Nieuport and at Ypres. A small British squadron twice approached the coast, but was driven off by our artillery. The British naval guns had no effect.

"In the forest of the Argonne we are gaining ground step by step, one trench after another, and one point of support after another being wrested from the French, and a number of prisoners taken daily.

"A violent reconnoitering expedition against our position on the east of the Mosell River was made ineffective by our counter attacks.

"In East Prussia the situation remains unchanged.

"In Poland the appearance of Russian reinforcements is postponing a decision of the battle. In the region to east of Czenstochowa and to northeast of Cracow the Austro-German offensive has been maintained."

New York, Nov. 24.—Henry Van Dyke, American minister to Holland, arrived today on the Holland-American liner Rotterdam. He gave out a statement in which he said: "An American displomat's first interview must be with his chief. I have just learned another language, the Dutch, but its main use is to hear and not to talk. I have come back to get my eyes patched up. When that is done I hope to return to my post and go on working for our country and for the cause of world peace, in the spirit of our President's declaration. The position of Holland is absolutely unchanged since the begining: Neutral, firm and friendly."

The Rotterdam brought 1,854 passengers, of whom 294 were in the saloon, 1,242 in second class and 318 in the steerage.

COLONEL HARDY ON THE WITNESS STAND

Denies Certain Allegations Made Against Him by Other Witnesses.

Colonel John M. Hardy, who is making a fight to establish the ownership of $350,000 worth of securities held in joint name with his wife, the late Mrs. Hannah H. Hardy, took the stand this morning when the hearing was continued before Vice-Chancellor Howell, in Newark. During cross-examination the colonel denied a number of allegations made against his character and the treatment of his wife by witnesses put on the stand by the defense. One of the charges made against him was that he told his wife she was not fit for heaven and the devil didn't want her. He made a dramatic denial of this allegation. He was on the stand this afternoon when the hearing was reopened after the noon hour.

Mrs. Margaret Griggs, a servant in the Hardy household, when the couple lived together here, was placed on the stand in rebuttal as a witness for Hardy and she corroborated Hardy's statement that he was never cruel to his wife. David Carvalho, a hand-writing expert, was called as a witness to establish the identity of the writer of a proviso to the will.

GIVE!

There is to be a universal cry this winter all over this land. It will be "Give! Give! Give!" 7,000,000 Belgians without homes and without anything to eat are crying for aid, and here in our own land are thousands of families in want and privation, only removed from the condition of the Belgians by the fact that war is not ravaging the country, destroying all means of shelter. Other than that there are plenty of people in this country who are in dire want. Most of our suffering ones will be able to find roofs for their heads.

The condition of the Belgians calls for instant relief for great numbers of people. The condition of our residents is such that the demand for relief only comes from scattered cases, principally in the cities. But neither can be exaggerated. Plainfielders will not be called upon to do one bit more in this relief work than will the residents of every other city and town in the United States. The Charity Organization Society in this city needs help, and the local Belgian Relief Committee is striving to add our share to the great fund being raised in this country.

We are in that season of the year when the spirit of Christmas grows upon us every day, and peace upon earth and good will to men and charity is in the atmosphere and in our hearts. It means that every red-blooded American will economize more or less, and will do his share toward relieving the distress both at home and abroad. The Belgian money will keep people from starving. That given to the Charity Organization Society will be so placed that not only will it aid the worthy, but it will also help an organization which is striving to show those in need how to help themselves. Be true to the first principles of humanity, by opening your purse strings and quickly giving all you can possibly afford to give.

WANT NO SPOILS SYSTEM.

Nearly sixteen hundred residents of Plainfield recorded themselves at the polls early this month on the subject of civil service for county employes. The vote in this city was nearly five to one in favor of protecting the employes, the figures being 1318 for the adoption of the act, and 273 against. And yet in spite of that expression on the part of the people of the city, we are told that the principle of civil service can "go hang," as it were, so far as the city clerkship is concerned. Mr. MacMurray must be thrown out of an office he has faithfully and efficiently filled, so that a man who has served the Republican party well can be put in his place. If such action should be taken by the City Council when it organizes for 1915, it will be a sad reflection on what the members of the Council think of the opinion of the voters of Plainfield.

All sorts of arguments are brought up against Mr. MacMurray except any insinuation that he has failed to be a most successful city clerk. One of these is that he has held the office for a long while, and it is time for a change. The same arguments were used in the campaign against County Clerk James C. Calvert and County Register Frank H. Smith. The election returns demonstrated pretty clearly what the people think of that kind of talk. And if it applied to Messrs. Smith and Calvert, it certainly applies to Mr. MacMurray. The argument, apparently, by those who want to make the change is that it's all well enough to say there is nothing against a man who has held the office for a long time, when those self-same persons want to see him retained, but it is a fine reason when they want him thrown out! Consistent, isn't it?

Another thing they say against Mr. MacMurray is that he gets $3,000 a year out of the job, and "it's time to give some of the rest of the party adherents a chance to feed at the public crib." We are told that in addition to the salary of $1,200 which the city pays the clerk, he gets about $600 a year in fees. That makes a total of $1,800 gross, and out of that sum Mr. MacMurray pays his assistants nearly $1,600 annually, leaving him a little over $600 for the time which he gives to the city work. Does the aspirant for the office think he can do it all alone?

It doesn't seem possible that the councilmen of Plainfield will so absolutely disregard the wish of the people, as expressed at the polls on civil service, as to throw an efficient public servant out of office, and place the important position of city clerk under the spoils system. It is far better to retain a man whom everyone knows has done his work well than to make a change which, while it may eventually develop an efficient substitute, will result in more or less confusion while he is learning the ropes.

All South Jersey is protesting against a raise in fares by the railroads running in that section. Here in North Jersey a lot of people have an idea that we are to be affected too, but the Central Railroad officials say that only when tickets are purchased which carry the passengers to lines other than those of the Central, will there be any increase in rates. The Public Utilities Commission has suspended the increases for three months, pending an investigation of the entire matter, and the protestants in South Jersey are to have an opportunity to argue against the increase.

RECEIVE $500 FOR CHILDREN'S WARD

Improvements at Muhlenberg Hospital Are About Completed.

The improvement and alterations started two years ago at Muhlenberg Hospital, mae possible by the wonderful results of the "Whirlwind Campaign" are about completed. The last work to be undertaken was the alteration of the administration building, so as to provide a much needed children's department, cheerful and sunny in character, and more room, office facilities necessary to handle the constantly increasing details of the institution's management.

This work is just about completed the new offices are already occupied and the children's ward is ready to be equipped and occupied. In this connection, it is gratifying to note the effort to develop in the growing members of the community, an interest in charitable affairs, and particularly in that phase of the work which has to do with the care of the children themselves.

The pupils of the Hartridge School, at their fairs held during 1913 and 1914, raised a substantial sum for the children's department of Muhlenberg Hospital, and this week the hospital authorities received a check for $500, appropriated by the pupils of that school from their fund the amount appropriated to be used in the purchase of the initial equipment for the new children's ward.

The results already achieved by the pupils of the Hartridge School deserve the greatest commendation; but that which is of far greater value, is the development in the children of an interest in charitable work, which at a later period of their lives will undoubtedly result in greater and more substantial benefits to the community.

POSTPONED HEARING IN ROUNDEY CASE

Vice-Chancellor Howell Also Defers Question of Alimony.

William Newcorn, counsel for Mrs. Florence E. Roundey, of Truell Court, in her suit for separate maintenance which came before Vice-Chancelor Stevens, in Newark, this morning, made his application for a hearing in the matter, but the court postponed the case indefintely owing to the illness of Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., counsel for John K. Roundey, her husband. A representative from Mr. Hetfield's office was in court and explained that owing to illness the counselor had been unable to file an affidavit to the counter charge. In disposing of the matter, Vice-Chancellor Stevens said that inasmuch as Mrs. Roundey received $3,500 from her husband last July, he did not think there was immediate need for alimony and that the postponement would work no hardship. Mr. Newcorn said that a large portion of this money had been used by his client to cancel outstanding debts.

Mr. Roundey is president of the Endress Company, butchers, with headquarters at 131 West Front street. In her application for alimony Mrs. Roundey declares that she was married to the defendant August 1, 1898, in New York city. Up to six years ago, she says, her husband gave her meagre support, but since then she has practically received nothing from him. She has been compelled to work for the Endress Company, of which she was treasurer, she says, for $15 a week. At one time she owned some of the shares of the concern, but last April she says she sold her shares to her husband. The sale gave him absolute control of the company, she says, and since then she has received nothing from him.

It developed after the last hearing in the case that Mrs. Roundey, in one of her affidavits, had charged that her husband, besides neglecting and abusing her, had been guilty of misconduct with a woman who is prominent in this city. Although the woman's name appeared in the affidavit, her identity was not disclosed by the lawyers at that time and it was thought that this feature would be revealed today. Mr. Roundey, although he admits his wife has been separated from him for three years, denies the other allegations and declares that last July he paid her $3,500 in lieu of alimony.

MRS. JOHN POWERS DIES AFTER A BRIEF ILLNESS

Mrs. John Powers, of Essex street, who is one of the best known of the older residents of Piscataway Township, but of late a resident of this city, died suddenly at her home shortly after 1 o'clock last evening. Mrs. Powers had been enjoying good health until recently.

For a period of over fifty years Mr. and Mrs. Powers lived on a farm in the New Market vicinity of Piscataway Township, and had a wide circle of friends at that place. They only recently came to this city to live. Mrs. Powers was a communicant of St. Mary's church.

Mrs. Powers is survived, beside her husband, by two daughters, Mrs. Phillip Maguire, and Mrs. Harry Dencklau, and an adopted daughter, Miss Mary Flynn. The funeral services will be held Friday morning at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, at which time a solemn high mass of requiem will be said. The interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

DEATH OF J. L. DECAMP OCCURRED THIS MORNING

James L. DeCamp, aged 35 years, of Linden avenue, the borough, died this morning after an illness of six months, although confined to his home but a few weeks. Mr. DeCamp was a native of North Plainfield, where he had lived all his life, except for a short time, during which he resided at Springfield, Ill. He was a steam fitter by trade, and had a wide circle of friends.

Among those who survive are his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeCamp, of Linden avenue, two brothers, Albert DeCamp, of Linden avenue, and Frank DeCamp, of Somerset street, two sisters, Mrs. Lewis Drake, of Smoerset street, and Mrs. Harold Cook, of Newark, and three children, two daughters and one son.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon from the residence of his parents, 23 Linden avenue, at 2:30, when Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, will officiate. Interment will be made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

WILL MEET FRIDAY.

The regular meeting of the Red Cross Society of Fanwood and Scotch Plains will be held this week on Friday afternoon, instead of Thursday, at the home of Miss Kyte on Martine avenue, Fanwood, to continue its work of sewing for the Belgians. It is urged that all of the members attend.

TOYLAND OPENING

After months of careful planning we are pleased to announce the opening of our

Greatly Enlarged Toy Department

In spite of war times we are able to present the biggest and best assortment of foreign and domestic toys ever shown in this city. We began as early as last January to provide for this great event. Many of the toys were actually in the store when the war broke out, while others were on the way, and all were bought at the low prices prevailing at that time; so that in addition to big stocks, you will also find our toys priced the lowest in the city.

A feature that will appeal to the grown-ups who bring the little tots to see the toys, is that they are shown right on the main floor; there's no climbing up or down stairs. Another feature is, the toys on exhibition are the samples that we sell from. We don't send you the ones that have been handled and played with; your order is filled from fresh new stocks, just as they come from the makers.

It would require a page to enumerate all the toys shown; many of them exclusively by us, so come and see for yourselves and bring the children. Make your selections now while the stocks are at their best. Deliveries can be made at your convenience.

GROWING INTEREST IN M. E. REVIVAL

Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring the Special Preacher at Last Night's Service.

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the speaker at the evangelistic service held at the First Methodist church last evening. A large congregation was in attedance. There is a growing interest in these services, every one of which has been characterized by unusual spiritual power.

Dr. Herring took for his subject "Our Lord and Master Jesus Christ." In a most interesting and helpful way he showed that the word Master is the translation of seven distinct Greek words. It is like light which can be resolved into the seven component colors of the spectrum.

The first translation to which the speaker referred is found in 2 Tim. 21-22, where the word Master means despot or sovereign. The fact of God's ownership is so real that when one does not give one's self to Jesus Christ he is denying the one who owns him.

The second meaning is found in Matt. 6-24. "No man can serve two masters." When Christ is in the heart a man follows the law of his being. The law of our being can be followed only as we recognize His sovereignty. The word here refers to Jesus Christ, power over life.

The third use in Matt. 23, 8-10, refers to the leadership of Christ as the one who is to be set before us and given pre-eminence. This is the Christ who is conqueror and who will conquer. The world is to be brought under His mastery.

The fourth use of the word in Matt. 17-13, refers to Jesus' ability and willingness to take care of us in feebleness, weakness and temptation. He is our overseer directing us in all our work.

The fifth use in Matt. 10-24, refers to Jesus as teacher, the Master teacher, always suiting his instruction to the need and condition of the one taught. As teacher he is making and moulding us.

The sixth use found in Juda's question, "Is it I Master?" refers to Jesus as a teacher of authority. His 'verily, verily," is absolutely finality, so that Paul cauld say, "I know whom I have believed."

The seventh use in John 20-16 refers to Jesus as the world's teacher. But he is not only the world's teacher for every individual can say as Mary Magdalene said, "He is my Master." The Gospels show that no where did Jesus bid men to call him King. He told no one to call him the Son of God. He was both. But he did tell men clearly that they did right to call him Master.

Dr. Herring said in closing, that there is no trust to be compared with the trust which can be reposed in him, as Sovereign, as Leader, as Overseer, as Teacher, or the World's Master, as My Master.

Tonight the speaker will be Rev. G. Franklin Ream, pastor of the Methodist church, Westfield. There will be special music under the direction of Mr. Braider. All are invited.

A SLIGHT FIRE.

Sparks from a passing locomotive set fire to the grass in the corner of the Potter Press Works yard at the railroad and Grant avenue, shortly before 10 o'clock last night. A portion of the high fencing caught and a brisk blaze was in progress when No. 3 hose company arrived in response to a still alarm from Galloway's drug store. The fire was put out with chemicals before any great damage had occurred.

COLDEST IN SEVENTEEN YEARS.

According to statistics compiled by Weather Prophet John Neagle this is the coldest November 24 in seventeen years. In 1897, the theremometer registered fifteen degrees. The temperature taken this morning showed the figures to be sixteen degrees. On this date last year the lowest point reached was thirty-four degrees.

The annual Thanksgiving prayer meeting will be held at Warren chapel tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

REVIVAL SERVICES BEING HELD AT SO. PLAINFIELD

Evangelist Wilson A. Pugsley, of Trenton, began a three weeks' evangelistic campaign in the South Plainfield Baptist church, Sunday, when large congregations greeted him both morning and night, and again last night when he spoke on "Personal Work." Mr. Pugsley has already won the people and they are coming at each service with increasing numbers.

Mr. Pugsley is an attractive speaker and his talks are marked by forcefulness as he speaks at each service. Rev. J. J. Allen, the pastor, has charge of the singing and is aided by a large chorus choir. Special selections each evening by the chorus and gospel hymns by Mr. Allen prove attractive. The services are held at 7:30 o'clock each night. All interested are cordially invited to attend and bring their friends.

JOHN M'CORMACK FACES A REMARKABLE ASSEMBLY

"Pity' tis that some of the theatre stars who boast their drawing power on Broadway could not have seen John McCormack's great crowd Sunday afternoon, in Carnegie Hall, and on a Sunday, too," says the Evening Sun. "Harry Lauder himself never faced a more remarkable assembly. Packed stage and standing room counted up a full 3,000, and the Irish tenor sang to each one there as simply and directly as if heard in a drawing room. His encores, 'Mother Machree,' 'The Next Market Day,' 'I Hear You Calling Me,' held the throng spellbound. The quality of the audience was shown by over a hundred waiting automobiles."

Mr. McCormack will sing at the Elizabeth Armory on Tuesday evening, December 1, for the benefit of the National Association for the Education of Exceptional Children.

CHIEF MARSHAL WEISS TO ENFORCE THE LAW

Chief Marshal George Weiss, of the borough police force, has been notified to enforce the laws which call for the placing of lights on bicycles and horse-drawn vehicles, as well as automobiles after dark. It appears that in many parts of the State that this law is not enforced to any degree, and accidents are continually occurring because of the lack of lights on one vehicle or another.

While this city and the borough have been fairly free from accidents from this cause, the section has been extremely fortunate, but not because drivers have been over obedient to the law. It is probable that a crusade will be inaugurated in this city as well as the borough in this respect, and it would be well for drivers to comply with the law in having lights placed on their wagons and carriages.

THIS LITTLE PIGGIE MAY BE FIRE LADDIES' MASCOT

Borough firemen are today celebrating the arrival of a new-comer in the Somerset street headquarters and despite protests lodged by certain individuals and bodies the laddies intend to hold fast to their prize. The little guest is a suckling pig for which comfortable accommodations have been provided in the fire-house. Plans for the new mascot's future were the subject of discussion among members of the hot-stove league there this morning, and various means and devices were suggested for keeping the animal under cover.

It is a well known fact that harboring pigs within the borough limits is against the rules and regulations of the borough Board of Health and a series of protests are awaited from the farmers who own pig-pens in Warrenville and other nearby districts. The little pig appears resigned to his new home and has singled out a couple of North Plainfield's best looking bluecoats as his particular chums. In view of the fact that pig-de-gives promise of developing into a half-ton porker the firemen have despaired of the opportunity to develop him into a mascot to lead the fire teams to and from blazes.

TOOTH HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN

Boston, Nov. 24.—The Forsyth Dental Infirmary, donated for the free treatment of the school children of Boston, was dedicated today. Governor David I. Walsh, Mayor James M. Curley and Thomas A. Forsyth, one of the donors, were the speakers. The recognition of the care of the teeth as the greatest aid to health of children was the incentive of wealthy Bostonians to provide adequate means of carrying out this philanthropic project.

A. A. VanderVeer and family, of 24 Grandview avenue, have removed to 642 Sheridan avenue.

Miss Winifred Rapalje, of Carlton avenue, has returned after spending three weeks at Baltimore.

BY MORRIS MILLER

Walter Camp is welcome to his job of picking an All-American backfield this year. He's bound to be censured severely no matter what quartet he selects. Backfield material is better this year than for many seasons. A few of those Camp must consider in naming his men: Mahan, Bradlee and Hardwick of Harvard; Maulbetsch, Splawn and Hughitt of Michigan; Whitney, Dartmouth; Spiegel and Fleming, W. & J.; Miller, Pittsburg; Julian, Michigan Aggies; Legore and Knowles, Yale; Eichenlaub, Notre Dame; Gray, Chicago; Pogue, Illinois; Glick, Princeton; Barrett, Cornell, and some twenty or thirty others.

The action of the American league potentates last week in electing President Frank Farrell of the Yankees to membership on the board of directors was taken solely to ease Farrell's embarrassment in his present trying circumstances.

Though there is nothing to be ashamed of in a man wanting to sell something he owns, it is not pleasant to realize that the whole world knows he is up against it and obliged to turn his property into cash. Accordingly Farrell's friends in the league brought about his public vindication in the way they did.

However, it was not Farrell by name but "the president of the New York club" who was elected to the board, which means that whoever may be the eventual purchaser of the Yankees will fall heir to that office. Thus, because of the added influence the place on the board carries, the value of the New York property is increased, making it all the more salable.

Jimmy Dime, Newcastle, Pa., manager of boxers, soon will be coming back from the coast, prepared to start over again. Dime took George Chip and Tom McMahon to California, hoping to annex a few victories with them. Chip did well until he ran into Jimmy Clabby and lost what claims he had to the middleweight championship. Then Sam Langford stopped McMahon in the sixth round.

Of course Charlie Murphy hasn't anything to do with the Cubs. Still it was he who announced Henry O'Day would lose his job, Roger Bresnahan would be named manager, Weeghman wouldn't buy the club, and the park site would not be changed.

Every ball player has a pretty exalted idea of his own value to the team he is playing with. He thinks that there are any number of managers who would jump at the chance to secure his services and oftimes bemoans the fact that he isn't a free agent to offer himself to the highest bidder. But in the closing months of the past season few and far between are the players who wouldn't have gone through unmolested on the request for waivers. Money was a mighty scarce article with the ball magnates.

With Walter Johnson panning the league executive, threatening to jump to the Feds, and working both ends against the middle in salary matters, our respect increases for the scribe who first termed Matty the Master Man.

While no announcement has been made to indicate that a change will take place in the umpirical staff of the American league, it would not be surprising if more than one new face broke into the limelight next season. Old Jack Sheridan's place must be filled, and there is room for improvement in one or two other spots.

Charlie White, Chicago lightweight, carries a small horseshoe around in his pocket. He says it brings him luck. Freddie Welsh says he doesn't know anything about the horseshoe, but he is pretty certain Charlie carries a brick around in his glove.

Only four players were drafted from the American association this year. The White Sox captured First Baseman Bunny Brief of Kansas City, Brooklyn took Pitcher Fred Toney from Louisville, the Giants drew Pitcher Fred Cook from Columbus, and the Cardinals bagged Pitcher Karl Adams of Indianapolis.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Several members of the Monarch football team, of Dunellen, were seen lurking along the Holy Cross sidelines Saturday afternoon. Some of the wiseacres accused the suburbanites of "scouting" for dope on the Thanksgiving Day rivals. Yougottahandit to them.

For the first time in several years the Holy Cross outfit will stray away from the apron strings attached to Cricket Field a week from next Saturday when they are expected to make their debut in New Jersey's metropolis. A horde of local enthusiasts will probably accompany the red and white to Newark to witness the struggle with the Franklins.

Those scouring the city for bets on the Holy Cross-Monarch tilt scheduled for Thursday are having troubles of their own. Hard times, however, cannot be assigned as the cause for the scarcity of shekels rolling out of the Dunellenites' camp.

New York papers heralded "Hub" Stine's doings on the West Point gridiron Saturday afternoon under the handle of "Stein." Must think North Plainfield is a regular Milwaukee.

Desite the fact that the Summit aggregation was outweighed by about twenty pounds to the man on the Y. M. C. A. court Saturday night, the visitors put up a great exhibition against the locals and deserve all the credit that can be pushed in their direction.

Taking a casual peek at that Alumni lineup for the Plainfield High School tilt on Thanksgiving Day we note that Captain Lindsay is paying particular attention to avoirdupois this fall. Rumor has it that the schoolboys are praying for snow to fall about six feet deep on that date.

Local basketball managers and coaches will be able to glean some valuable tips on the court sport by giving the dope published in another column of this issue the "once-over."

Hope Chapel basketball has been entrusted to a host of new stars this season under the leadership of Tommy Heron. The old-timers are among the missing at the present time and indications do not seem to point to another city title for the churchboys just at this time.

Walls apears to be about the most promising of the new luminaries on the chapel squad. This little forward was one of the main factors in the trimming handed to the Elizabetheans here Saturday night. He happens to be another product of the old school, being reared on the Fourth street basketball rendezvous where they make real court stars out of the raw product.

Manager Peyton Schenck's efforts to bring the Union County High School athletic meet to Plainfield this year are to be commended. The Plainfield High School track manager has the right dope when he thinks that Parker Field is as good as any other rendezvous in the county for this feature athletic festival. Elizabeth had the affair last year, but the athletic field at the county seat falls far short of measuring up to the facilities offered on Randolph road. The Plainfielders were leading factors in organizing the meet last year and rightfully entitled to have it in the Queen City in its inaugural year.

Jack Fritts has taken full charge of the red and blue athletes and is rounding out as good a squad as ever represented a local institution on the field and track. In Runyon, the pole vaulter and high jumper, Fritts has a world beater. The tall, lanky leaper can set figures that will establish first place over any other athlete in the county in his two specialties and Plainfield is assured of at least ten points in these particular numbers.

While you're at it, John, why don't you start a little enthusiasm along the swimming line down at old P. H. S. In previous years the red and blue swimmers always maintained that they could not support a team because water was scarce on Ninth street. Now that we have that fine new pool it might be well to start something along the aquatic line.

News item—The sportsmen's fish and game commission will hold its annual shoot on the Trenton Interstate Fair Grounds tomorrow." This is an opportunity that certain rabbit slayers around these parts should seize to get "in strong" with the commission.

Roger Bresnahan has signed a contract to manage the Cubs for $18,000 a year. Wonder how long it will take the European war to invade the baseball occupation?

Yale's monster stadium seating 70,000 persons was dedicated Saturday afternoon. Following this announcement comes one from Sheepshead Bay where they're erecting one to seat 90,000. The only difference between the two is that one is built to accommodate football bugs and the other will fence in automobile bugs.

It cost Cornell $93,148 to run her athletics last year and the income of the athletic association was $90,148, according to the financial statement for the year ending August 31, made public last night. The deficit of $3,000 was incurred mainly through the cost of permanent improvements to property. Fotball brought in $36,000 and cost $26,000; track and cross-country cost $15,000 and brought in $5,300. It cost $15,000 to develop the crews; the receipts were $5,100. Cornell also spent $3,000 on boathouse improvements and $1,000 in boat building. Baseball cost $13,500 and brought in $14,200. Direct undergraduate support through the purchase of season tickets brought in about $20,000. Spring day showed $4,000 profit.

Members of the Flushing Country Club have received a pamphlet entitled "The Duffer's Dictionary." While the name of the author does not appear on the cover Ellis Parker Butler is the suspected author. He lives at Flushing and is a confessed duffer so far as golf is concerned. A few sample definitions follow:

A Poor Lie—The one you hand the minister after a Sunday on the golf course.
Casual Water—What comes along when you order a little Scotch.
A Bunker—One who hands out the bunk.
A Slice—Your share of the gate money.
A Pull—The royal road to political prominence.
An Approach—The preliminary to a touch.
The Home Course—Corned beef and cabbage.
A Duffer—The fellow you are playing with.
A Handicap—The difference between what you play and golf.
Teeing Up—Having too many sour mashes.

TWO LEAGUE MATCHES.

Two local bowling teams will be in action on their home alleys tonight, when the Elks will entertain the Paterson "Bills" on the Watchung avenue drives and Somerville Eagles appear on the Second street alleys for the second match of the season with the local birds. Before the Eagles' League started, Plainfield took a series from the Somervillians, but last week the county zeaters copped three straight and now the locals are looking for revenge.

PATERSONIAN COLTS WIN A PAIR FROM BRUNSWICK

Bowling in a Junior Elks' League match on the New Brunswick alleys last night, the Paterson pin-knights succeeded in capturing two games out of three. In the first game the Silk City bowlers were there for 847, winning by sixty-three pins, but the home five, with 831 in the second affair, came through three pins to the good. The final and deciding game saw the Patersons account for 868 and they won by eighty-two pins. Bissett was high with 201.

FIELD HOCKEY TEAM WILL PLAY NO GAMES THIS WEEK

The Plainfield Ladies' hockey team was to have played two games this week, but for some reason both have bene postponed. The team was to meet the Hartridge eleven, yesterday afternoon, but the game was not played and today they were to go to Staten Island for a return game with the team of the Staten Island Cricket and Tennis Club that defeated the local eleven last week in a close contest. These matches may be played some time later.

GIANTS AND ATHLETICS WILL BE RIVALS AT THE Y. M. C. A.

The gym class for the High School boys in the Y. M. C. A., was divided into two teams at the last meeting and they will be known as the Giants and Athletics, and will compete against each other all winter. Louis Zeek has been elected captain of the White Elephants and will have for his teammates Randolph Stelle, Russell Beekman, Alfred Willett and Irving Manley. Alva Brawnlee will lead the New York team which is composed of H. Clawson, H. Zeek, H. Tomlinson and L. Brower.

This class has started on a program of athletic events and beginning next week on Thursday afternoons, they will play a regular schedule of basketball games. Besides the athletics and basketball there will be a program of gymnastic work and regular tests in aquatics.

BRUGGY RANKS ELEVENTH IN N. Y. STATE LEAGUE

According to the official standings and averages of the players in the New York State Basketball League, Frank Bruggy, who one time played baseball in this city and who was a member of the New England League champions last season, is ranking in eleventh place and is third among his teammates in the standings. Bruggy plays for the Gloversville team, which now holds first place in the league and the former local ballist is playing a guard position.

Besides being a stellar goal-preventer Bruggy is an excellent basket getter and has helped his team win many games by his scoring. He has played in every game so far, which is twelve, and has made 22 field goals which, together with a dozen counts from the fifteen foot mark, gives him a total of 56 points. One of Bruggy's teammates, a forward, leads the league with 74 points in eleven games with an average of almost 7 points per game. There is one other Gloversville man ahead of Bruggy in the standings.

EMPLOYED BOYS' CLASS ORGANIZED INTO TEAMS

The employed boys' class, of the Y. M. C. A., which meets Monday and Friday nights, has been divided into two teams, the Ajax and the Vikings. Seymour Day was elected captain of the former while Linwood Marsh will lead the Vikings. The members of these two teams are: Ajax—Day, Velard, Coffey, Todd, Ross, Force, Causbrook, Woolston, Perrine, Coon, VanWinkle, Dawe, Seidel; Vikings—Marsh, Debele, Marshall, Smith, Gerhold, Bohl, Bennett, Miller, Roy, Bach, Hafner, Walters and Kirch.

On Monday nights the teams will compete in a series of athletic events, and Fridays will be the regular basketball night. After the classes each night the members will enjoy a social time in the boys' rooms. Last night Linwood Marsh, Walter Debele and Lindsey Bohl formed the committee in charge.

VALUABLE TIPS FOR HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL LEADERS TO FOLLOW

Teamwork is the Main Factor in This Game—Short Criss-cross Passing Brought the Title to North Plainfield Last Year—Too Much Practice is Harmful—Early to Bed, Early to Rise Maxim Should Be Adhered to—Scholarship Rules a Good Thing, But Some High Schools Neglect Them.

To develop a successful basketball team in High Schools the coach must look for certain qualities which are indispensable in good players. The player must qualify not only physically, but also in scholarship, for unless he "passes" his work at school he is, under the strict rules now in force in both the Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools, prohibited from representing his school in any branch of sport.

It can be said safely that the High Schools now adhere strictly to scholarship rules. For that reason it is best for the local and borough High Schools to stay in their own class, for they find that when they play schools that do not adhere to the strict rules of scholarship they are generally defeated, for they are apt to be opposed to stronger teams of older boys whose strict account to the particular institution may be in question.

To play basketball a man must be strong, fast, alert and able most of all to use his head. Without the last requisite very little can be expected. Many light men have played on heavy teams, but a good big man is generally better than a good little man.

To play when not in condition is impossible, so that the best of care must be taken to keep physically fit. Not many years ago Meletber represented Columbia for four years, and was picked on the All-Eastern team three of these four seasons. His wonderful playing ability was due to his all around skill ,and the excellent care he took of himself.

He was invariably in bed before 10 o'clock, ate good, wholesome food and never smoked or indulged in anything which might be injurious physically. If a man really wants to give the best there is in him he must keep in good condition.

All regular systematic athletic training and gymnastic work assists a player greatly, for a good basketball player is the combination of a good runner, jumper and gymnast.

To practice until one is exhausted is indeed harmful. Many coaches play their teams in practice to such an extent that tney are unfit for their regular games. Of course, one cannot play basketball unless he has good lung power, for it requires much more endurance to play basketball than it does baseball or football.

Regular systematic practice will do wonders in developing endurance. The tendency is to practice too much rather than too little.

Team play is the only real kind of basketball. Individual starring cannot win a game against a good team. A team that works together should win from a team of individual stars every time.

The short criss-cross passing game is the game of most of the High Schools that have any sort of team work. That was the style that gave North Plainfield the Interscholastic League title last year.

Let us take up the essentials for each position. A forward should be faster than his guard and be able to get the ball. He should be an accurate shot from all angles of the court, but his chief duty is to get the ball. On a good team there is no man who cannot guard. A forward should therefore guard when his opponents have the ball.

He should also break away and become unguarded when his side has the ball. Of course, he must be an accurate passer.

The centre is the most important man on the team. If he out-jumps his opponent signals can be worked. He should also be able to shoot well and guard effectively. He should be the all-around man on the team.

Practice in jumping helps the centre a great deal. He should learn to place the ball and not to slap it haphazard. The centre should play forward or guard, depending on whether his team or his opponent have the ball.

A good guard is one who can outscore his forward. To do this he must not only guard his territory, but assist in the shooting. He should be strong, an accurate passer and a good long-distance shot. After shooting he should return to guard if the other side gets the ball. He should always stay behind his forward who has the ball to get in front of him. As a general rule, therefore, it is safe to say that every player of a wisely organized team should be able to play either of the other positions besides his own.

The following are some good general rules which a good High School basketball team should follow:

1. Bring the ball up the field with your fastest speed.
2. Pass the ball aroung the court until you get a free shot for the basket.
3. Adhere to short criss-cross passing. Do not dribble, for it is the easiest way toward a foul in the High School game.
4. Shout for the ball when you are in a position to receive it.
5. Get the ball. A good player is one who obtains the ball often.
6. Try to get set for your shot and jump, lean or lay out toward your basket when attempting to shoot a goal.
7. Cover on opponents' outside ball and break away when your side has the ball.
8. Do not hold the ball. Pass it as soon as you receive it. Watch your pass and make it short, speedy and accurate.
9. Do not take long shots unless all men are covered or when one goal is needed to win, or make long passes unless your man is uncovered.
10. Play hard, fast, but cleanly. Remember your opponents may know the game better than you, so be a good loser and, above all, a gentleman.

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. MAY HAVE RUNNING SQUAD

Lost Interest in This Branch of Sport is Revived by Runners.

The local Y. M. C. A. may be represented by a cross-country team this fall, according to dope handed out by Physical Director Meermans, this morning. Some of the members of the association wish such a team could compete in dual meets with other Y. M. C. A.'s and club teams in this section of the State, and Alfred Day, of Dunellen, is one of the leaders in the organization of this team. Day was a member of the team that was defeated by the Elizabeth association five several years ago over the Mountain avenue course and since that defeat there has not been much interest taken in this branch.

Mr. Meermans is willing to organize such a team to represent the association if enough members show a willingness to make the undertaking a success and all who are interested should see him as soon as possible. Practice will be held two nights a week and a manager appointed to arrange for runs as long as the weather permits.

EMPLOYED BOYS' CLASS HELD FIRST EVENT LAST NIGHT

The first athletic event of the year for the employed boys' class of the Y. M. C. A., was held last night and was the running broad jump. John Dawe, of the Viking team, won first place with a jump of 14 feet 10 inches. This was nine inches farther than the second man, who was Marsh, captain of the Viking team. The first Ajax man to place was Velard, who did 13 feet 10 inches. There were twenty-three members of the class who took part.

After the class a social time was enjoyed and Mr. Bingeman outlined the work for the coming month. Mr. Meermans gave a short talk on the advantages of gymnasium work and dwelt especially on the place of calisthenics and apparatus work for all-around development. Howard Perry led the boys in the singing of old songs after which refreshments were served. Walter Debele was chairman of the refreshments committee.

The results of the running broad jump follow: Dawe, Vikings, 14.10; Marsh, Vikings, 14.1; Velard, Ajax, 13.10; VanWinkle, Ajax, 13.7; Larson, Ajax, 13.4; Force, Ajax, 13.3; Roy, Vikings, 13.1; Coffey, Ajax, 12.11; Adams, 12.10; Day, Ajax, 12.10; Gerhold, Vikings, 12.4; Bohl, Vikings, 12.4; Seidel, 12.2; Bennett, Vikings, 11.6; Miller, Vikings, 11.4; Todd, Ajax, 11.2; Ross, 11.1; Coon, Ajax, 11; Perrine, Vikings, 10.10; Smith, Vikings, 10.11; Marshall, 10.9; Scarborough, 10; Woolston, Ajax, 9.11.

SPRINGFIELD QUINTET WILL PLAY Y. M. C. A.

Good Preliminary Game to Association Contest Will Be Played Thanksgiving.

The preliminary game to the Y. M. C. A.-Trenton basketball game Thursday night, will be a good attraction in itself as a team composed of Springfield Training School players will be one of the teams in this game. The manager is trying to sign up the Plainfield High School five to meet the college team. The Springfield team will be composed of present members of the school and alumni and George Townley, of the borough, will act as captain.

There are at present four basketball players of this city who are attending Springfield and they will all play and the fifth man will be C. William Bingeman, boys' secretary of the local association, who graduated in 1906. Townley and "Hub" Stine have both played on and captained borough High School teams and Don Sminck was a member of the P. H. S. team two years ago. Schuyler Line has had some experience on his class team while in the local institution.

The Central Y. M. C. A. team, of Trenton, is coming here with its best men and will give the local team a good run for the game.

SCRIMMAGE WORK FOR P. H. S. BASKETBALL TEAM

The Plainfield High School basketball squad was given its first real practice, yesterday afternoon, in the High School gym, when a squad of thirty players turned out. They were in charge of Coach Ralph S. Patch, who was assisted by George Wriston, a teacher in the school, who turned out one of the best teams that ever represented the red and blue on the basketball court three years ago.

This team hung up an enviable record by not losing a game during the season on its home court. Mr. Wriston promises to be out often and will give many valuable pointers to the red and blue basketball tossers. Mr. Patch had another assistant out yesterday in the person of Mr. Dickes, teacher of the special class in the Stillman School. Mr. Dickes played basketball several years while at Trenton Normal, and promises to be of great assistance to the High School team.

Besides the individual assistance each player was given under the guidance of the three coaches, two squads were picked and lined up against each other in scrimmage. The first team consisted of O'Leary and McNamee, forwards; Noonan, centre; Ryder and Peacock, guards. The second team line up with Coudrey and Canter, forwards; Pollock, centre; Parvin and Dunham, guards. The team is rapidly rounding into form and will be in first-class condition when it lines up against the Bank Clerks on Friday night.

ALUMNI TO PRACTICE.

Plainfield High School Alumni footballists will practice signals on Marshall Field tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. All who wish to play against the High School eleven Thanksgiving Day should report to Captain Lindsay at that time.

STAMFORD HIGH SCHOOL CHALLENGES P. H. S. ELEVEN

Coach Ralph Patch of the Plainfield High School football team, received a letter yesterday afternoon from Stamford (Conn.) High School offering the local football team full expenses for a game to be played in Stamford on Thanksgiving afternoon.

The local team will not be able to accept the offer, however, as they play the Alumni on Thanksgiving morning.

BROWNLEE AGAIN A WINNER IN INDIAN LEAGUE EVENT

Jim Brownlee, captain of the Iroquois team of the Indian League of the Y. M. C. A., again copped first honors in the athletic event of that league, yesterday afternoon, when he went 5 feet 9 inches in the snap-under bar event. The next best mark was 4 feet 6 inches, made by Krausse of the Wawayanda tribe.

Twenty-four took part in this event with the following results: Brownlee Iroquois, 5.9; Krausse, Wawayanda 4.6; Brown, Omaha, 4.2; Smith Sioux, 4.2; Gates, Sioux, 4.2; Hollister, 4.0; Goss, Wawayanda, 4.9 Stover, Wawayanda, 3.11; Markey Wawayanda, 3.10; Bellis, Sioux, 3.8 Willett, Omaha, 3.7; Allen, Iroquois 3.7; Wilson, Wawayanda, 3.7; Boyle Wawayanda, 3.6; Spicer, Iroquois 3.6; Angleman, Omaha, 3.5; Wiglau Wawayanda, 3.4; Kornfield, Sioux 3.4; Windham, Omaha, 3.3; Alexander, Sioux, 3; Feaster, Iroquois, 2.10 Kennedy, Sioux, 2.9; Whitford, Omaha, 2.9; Fletcher, Sioux, 2.9.

LINE FOR FOOTBALL MANAGER

Schuyler Line, of this city, who is now studying at Springfield Training School at Springfield, Mass., is a candidate for manager of the football team for next season. There are several other candidates trying for this honor, but the Plainfielder stands a good chance of being elected. Next year will be Line's last at the school, the course being a three-year one.

MAY DROP BILLIARD TOURNEY.

The interest in the billiard tournament for the championship of Plainfield is decreasing and unless there is more, Mr. Conway, who is running the tourney in his pool parlors, intends to throw up the job. Two of the best players who entered have decided to drop out and the real champion could not be decided even if the tournament was finished.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Manager Van Mater received a card this morning from the manager of the Roselle Park basketball team cancelling the game which they had scheduled with N. P. H. S. for Friday night. Van Mater has had a lot of trouble in this way and that is one of the reasons why he has not yet completed his schedule. He expects, however, to have another team scheduled for this date as the players are quite anxious to start the season going.

At a meeting of the "knocks" committee yesterday afternoon, the manner in which the roasts are to be given out at the senior Christmas entertainment was definitely decided upon. The scheme has been kept strictly secret, however.

A rumor came out yesterday that the date for the senior Christmas entertainment would have to be changed from December 18 to some time the following week, as there is something else scheduled for the use of Saengerbund Hall that night.

The girls' basketball team had a hard practice yesterday afternoon, so as to be in good trim for the game against Kearny this afternoon. This is the first game they have played on the home court and they expect to put up a splendid fight for it. After the game the girls have planned a feed for the Kearny delegation and they have no doubt that this will meet the hearty approval of the visitors.

The school will contribute its annual Thanksgiving offering to the Children's Home tomorrow. In former years the students have responded splendidly to this offering and it is expected that this year's contribution will be even larger than those of the past.

The senior fellows who ordered watch fobs about ten days ago from a Massachusetts firm expected their arrival this morning, but as yet they have not turned up. It is expected however, that they will arrive by tomorrow.

WILL TRY TO SOLVE PROBLEM

men during the winter was no small proposition, was the opinion of Mr Stewart, but he thought the Charity Organization Society should take up the question in the future.

After Mr. Stewart had presented the matter in detail, the Board of Trustees of the society took the matter under advisement. While it realizes fully the importance of the situation, it is confronted with the difficulty of securing funds with which to help those who are out of work It was reported that the superintendent of Bonnie Burn Sanitorium had telephoned to Plainfield that he could use fifteen men. They were sent there, but when they were put to work, several union painters who are now employed at the county institution threatened to quit if the Plainfielders were allowed to work there In consequence they were sent back to this city.

The trustees also learned that in view of the distressing situation the union men of Plainfield were willing to waive certain rights so that if the idle men were given an opportunity to get work they would not insist for the present that they be union men. The trustees, however, felt as though they could not agree to take over the care of 300 men just now unless the society's funds were greatly increased.

It was decided to refer the matter to a special committee comprising W. H. Wherry, Jr., H. L. DeForest, Albert Lane and Henry E. Haws for the purpose of having those men make a thorough investigation of local conditions and report to the board.

If the conditions are as bad as Mayor Stewart led the trustees to think, last night, it may be necessary to conduct a money-raising campaign here for a couple of weeks similar to the one that was held in the interest of Muhlenberg Hospital. It is believed that in this way a sufficient amount of money could be secured to take care of those who are in need.

The trustees today sent ten men to Street Commissioner A. J. Gavet to be employed on street work, with the understanding that the Charity Organization Society will pay for the hire of the men. This raises the question, however, as to why the society should be expected to hire men to do city work.

The special committee appointed last night will first ascertain the true conditions here as regards the unemployed and then how much money will be needed to carry on this plan of relief. It may be thought wise to call a mass meeting to publicly discuss the question.

Several men who attended last night's meeting increased their subscriptions to the work of the society thereby helping the movement. It seems to be the opinion of those who have been interested in the proposition that many of the skilled laborers in the city have found employment while a majority out of work are in the unskilled class. Another fact is that of the 300 men reported out of work, at least fifty are now on the list at the Charity Organization Society and have been receiving aid there for sometime. However, as one of the trustees of the society said today, "We propose to get down to brass tacks in this matter and then we will be in a position to take some action."

RALPH RUNYON CAPTAIN OF P. H. S. TRACK TEAM

Ralph Runyon was elected captain of the Plainfield High School track team at a meeting of the candidates yesterday. Runyon well deserves this honor as he is one of the best athletes in the school and will make an excellent leader.

The following list of events has been arranged by Coach John R. Fritts for the duel meets to be held in the near future: 15 yard dash, running high jump, standing broad jump, standing high jump, standing hop, step and jump, twelve pound shot-put. The team meets every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon from 2 to 3 o'clock for practice.

Temperance

NEWS AND VIEWS

Conducted by THE W. C. T. U.

Petrograd, Nov. 23.—There were extraordinary scenes here last week as the result of the order that no alcoholic drinks are to be sold anywhere, not even in the restaurants. The order was published some days ago, but it was apparently not until last week that the people realized what it would mean. Consequently there was a great rush to wine shops and to the big, expensive grocery establishments. These were crowded with householders, all anxious to lay in a stock sufficient to last until the end of the war.

Outside many shops long queues of anxious persons stood awaiting their turn. Until late at night wine dealers were packing baskets, filling cans and cases with claret and sauterne and booking orders for instant delivery. Only light wines were obtainable. Port and sherry were prohibited and spirits, of course, were forbidden. Beer was not bought in large quantities because it is too light to keep.

Most of the restaurants intend to close. The proprietors say that people will not dine out if they cannot get wine, preferring to dine where they have their own cellars.

French Colonies Bar Deadly Drinks.

Bordeaux, Nov. 23.—An official decree promulgated last week extends to the French colonies in Africa the prohibition of the sale and consumption of absinthe and kindred drinks at present being enforced in France.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—The national council for industrial safety, 1,000 delegates present, representing companies employing more than 1,000,000 employes, adopted without a dissenting voice the following resolution:

"Whereas, It is recognized that the drinking of alcoholic stimulants is productive of a heavy percentage of accidents and of disease effecting the safety and efficiency of workmen, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the national safety council place itself on record as being in favor of eliminating the use of intoxicants in the industries of the nation.

Sixty per cent. of the industrial accidents in the United States are charged to liquor, R. L. Palmer, chief inspector of the Pennsylvania department of labor and industry, told the delegates.

"It will not be long," the speaker said, "before the saloon will be as much separated from the industrial plant as it is now from the church. As a matter of business, we will have to furnish workmen better entertainment than saloons do. We also will have to pay in cash to prevent men from going to saloons to convert their checks into currency."

E. K. Prichett, representing a manufacturing concern of Grand Rapids, Michigan, asserted that after employes had been forbidden to use alcoholic beverages, arrangements were made for milk wagons to call at the factory at a certain hour every morning.

"We then permitted the men to stop work and go out and buy fresh bottles of milk," Mr. Prichett said "We found this arrangement virtually has solved the drinking problem."

Melville W. Mix, president of the Dodge Manufacturing Company and head of the manufacturers' bureau of Indiana, placed the blame for 75 per cent. of factory accidents to the disinterested and different attitude of the employer toward employe. Inasmuch as Mr. Mix was selected to represent the manufacturers before the congress, his stand may be considered as being pretty close to the real facts of the case.

At the final session recently of the National Carriage Builders' Association a resolution barring wine or other intoxicating liquors from future banquets of the association was adopted unanimously.—Atlantic City Press Dispatch.

Just from the standpoint of good business, isn't it a good thing for Colorado to go dry? The fact is going to be advertised all over the country and it is going to prove a great inducement to families looking for places to spend the summer vacation

Whatever may be a man's own inclinations regarding liquor, he always wants to keep its influences away from his family. He wouldn't for the world have his family live next to a saloon. He prefers that liquor be not sold in the neighborhood in which his home is situated.

On the north shore of Massachusetts there is a great summer hotel which has always been the most successful on the coast. Its owners believe one reason for this is that it never has had a bar. Families looking for a place for the summer will choose a hotel where no liquor is sold.

Colorado is now going to be able to hold out the absence of saloons as one of its important advantages as a summer resort. It's an advantage that people will seriously consider.—Kansas City (Mo.) Star.

There is every reason for temperance people to congratulate themselves. They are making excellent progress. These gains will be continued from year to year until the territory of the whole country is included. The supreme need now is patience and persistence. When cities like Chicago and New York are tackled, the fight will be very difficult and long drawn out.—Council Bluffs (Io.) Nonpareil.

With a single exception, the States in which prohibition was the issue November 3, and in which women vote, went dry. That single exception was California, where the wine industry plays a very important part. Arizona, Colorado, Oregon and Washington banished the liquor traffic through the votes of the women. California and Ohio failed to do so.

Perhaps this fact should receive no comment, however, for it may be the cause of the liquor interests' spending even greater sums to defeat woman suffrage. Still, it will require more than money to defeat the will of the good women of this country.—Gadsden (Ala.) Journal.

MERCHANTS IN PRESS PLAN

The pleasing feature of this part of the arrangements is the fact that a person is not compelled to make his purchases all at one store, but he can, on the contrary, trade at as many different stores as he may like, the only provision being that the aggregate amount of his purchases equal the sum designated in the published schedule. Say, for instance, a person coming from a town where the amount to be purchased is $20, can, if desired, trade at twenty different stores, spending $1 at each place, and still be entitled to his fare back just the same as though he spent the whole $20 at one store. The purchases, however, must all be made at the stores which are participating in the sale, and whose names are listed on the back of the refunding slips furnished by the merchants to each customer. Full instructions as to how these refunding slips are to be used will be published in The Press, containing the special bargains of the merchants which will be issued on December 3. Watch for it and get thoroughly posted on this and all other features of the big sale. That edition will also direct where to get genuine bargains.

The list of participating merchants will be found in another column.

LAUNCH ARMORY CAMPAIGN

up-to-date facilities for drilling, etc., Company K has managed to maintain this high degrees of efficiency and many are of the opinion that it is time something was done for the soldiers. Petition bearers are encountering little difficulty in getting signatures and it is proposed to push the thing through as rapidly as possible.

In order to provide the city with a structure of creditable size a large appropriation will be necessary and the usual amount of prombling that is bound to be brought to light when a proposition of this kind is launched has already been encountered Whether or not the taxpayers will endorse the resultant boost in the rate remains to be seen. The county Board of Freeholders has the power to provide a sum equal to $20,000 for the site, the excavation necessary for the cellar and the grading and laying of sidewalks. Another $25,000 will come from the State Military Board

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Proctor's Theatre again comes to the front with another bill of exceptional merit for the first half of this week. The audiences yesterday afternoon and last night were loud in their praises of the excellence of each number, not a dull moment occurring from the rise to the fall of the final curtain. Miss Aurora's animal act is the headline feature and not only astonishes the old but delights the younger element. The sight of a lion, a horse, and a dog performing together in perfect friendliness is as startling as it is unusual. "D'Artagnan" is a truly wonderful beast and his equestrian feats make everyone marvel. Another big number is the Temple Quartet, four classy singers who put across a half dozen good songs without the comedy that usually mars vocal work of this kind. Walter D. Nealand & Co. present a comedy sketch that has real comedy, real drama and a real plot. Mr. Nealand's portrayal of Bud Williams, a breezy circus advance agent, produces a succession of spontaneous laughs. The Aeroplane Girls have an aerial acrobatic act, producing many new and novel trapeze stunts, and the final number on the bill is the Dancing Franks, a man and woman team who accomplish terpischorean intricacies while balanced on roller skates. The eighteenth episode of "The Perils of Pauline" will be shown at the theatre this afternoon and tonight, and the twenty-first episode of the thrilling series, "The Million Dollar Mystery," is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and night.

WILL HOLD JAPANESE SALE.

An exhibition and sale of Japanese miniature gardens and materials for making them, the proceeds of which will be used for carrying on the work of St. Margaret's Guild, will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Tetsuka, 556 Belvidere avenue, on Wednesday, December 2, from 3 to 6 in the afternoon and from 8 to 10 in the evening. The affair will take the form of a Japanese tea, members of the guild presiding.

OUR NEW-YORK LETTER

Exclusiveness of style and ultra smartness in Women's Dresses and Wraps, are quite independent of costliness at Miss White's Establishment, 46 West 46th St. For instance: I was charmed with a sweet little dancing frock of orchid chiffon taffeta, whose chief beauty lies in its graceful simplicity. (As you may see by my sketch.) This frock is $35. There are some for $25; others $50 and $60, but all are unusual and exclusive. The same may be said of the serge dresses at $15 to $50.

Christmas or wedding gifts in copper, nickel and brass, await your choice in almost endless variety at Joseph Heinrich's Fifth Avenue or Broadway Shops. French steam coffee percolators, Chafing dishes, egg boilers in unique and unconventional designs. Luxurious demi tasse services of copper lined with silver, or of rich hammered brass. These may all be had with electric or alcohol heating attachments 461 Fifth Ave., or 948 Broadway

Quite a new and very smart glove is "The Fielder," which is shown exclusively by P. Centemeri & Co. at 296 Fifth Ave. It is a six button length, adaptable to the new sleeve, and has a sacque wrist effect with the front gore (as shown in my sketch) of a color to match the embroidery. This unusual glove may be had in French kid (black or white) at $2.50 pair.

You are sure of satisfaction if you make your Christmas gift glove purchase at Centemeri's. They have handled nothing but gloves for Forty-four years.

Listen! Men's smart shirts made to order in lots of three or more for $1 each. This sounds almost incredible, doesn't it? I could hardly believe it myself, but I've seen the good shirts and examined the careful workmanship. While the materials are dependable and patterns very new—madrasses, repps and mercerized effects—women are perfectly safe to decide upon these as Christmas gifts. Those who cannot come to the City, may send 25c and book of samples will be mailed. The 25c will either be credited on purchase or refunded on return of book of samples. Orders will shipped within one week of their receipt. Write or call. The L. & S. Sales Company, Suite 511, Fifth Afenue Building at 23d St.

I could not help complimenting a friend of mine, quite recently, on the lovely gown she wore. "My dear," said she, "It's my wedding dress rebuilt by Madame Homer." It really was perfect, evincing the touch of the true artist in its suitability to the wearer. Homer, 11½ W. 37th St., will make a stunning creation from your seemingly worthless gown of yesterday and save you two-thirds of the price of a new one.

I know of a salon where women, who are accustomed to have their corsets made to order, may affect big savings without any detriment to the quality. The corsets are constructed in the most scientific way, to give the newest lines, suit present modes in dresses and to be healthful to the wearer. If you cannot come to this pretty little shop, send for measurement blank to L. & S. Sales Co., 511 Fifth Avenue Building, at 23d Street. Prices range from $2.75 to $15.00 per garment.

For artistic photographs take the children to Edward P. Foley, 383 Fifth Ave. (at 36th St.). His work is delightful.

This studio has produced many famous portraits, among them "The Choir Boy," and a study of Chas. Dana Gibson's son.

Friday has been selected as Children's day at the studio, and a specially attractive large sepia portrait will be given at each setting.

Artists proofs, soft sepia tones, or art sketches in black and white; special $12 dozen. Very acceptable Christmas gifts. Souvenir portrait reproductions of his famous subjects mailed upon request.

Mahogany screen tables, in unique designs, may be acquired by gift seekers at the charming shop of Mrs. Kate Collins, 4 West 37th St. My sketch shows one in particular which is unusualy cheap at $15. You may also choose from a variety of Mahogany-Palm Stands with claw feet at $5 each, Tip-Top Tables at $6.50 each and foot stools from $3 upwards.

Can you imagine a whole village of Kewpies? No, indeed! You must go to LORD & TAYLOR'S wonderful toy shop (four floor) to really appreciate a "Kewpie Village." There's a Kewpie mansion, with the family and guests dining, dancing, swimming and what not; Kewpies motoring, playing tennis and—well, just go and see it and the hundreds of other surprises in this beautiful shop. There is a huge water tank, where miniature boats are demonstrated at all prices, from 50c for a torpedo destroyer up to a working model of the superdreadnought "New York," with electric engines, electric lights, movable turrets, sailors, etc., at $55. The sweetest line of dolls from the tiny tots at 25c up to the doll heiresses with their trousseaux at almost any price. Revelation in celluloid toys, especially the animals and the famous Steiff toys from $2 up to $30 each. The boys will love the mechanical tops and should hurry to see the newest types of electric trains. Take the children now. You will very soon learn their wants, and are sure of better choice.

Have you seen the new and dashing military boots at McCREERY'S. They are an ultra stylish creation of the famous Sorosis Shoe Co. Very high (as I show in my sketch), laced style with over-gaitor. Top of red, blue and gray cloth, trimmed with various effects in gold or colored military braid; plain foxing, Spanish heel; altogether a charming innovation and well worth their price, which is $14 pair. The designs of braiding vary from the simple to the most elaborate; these shoes have all the merits of construction which has made the name "Sorosis" famous from ocean to ocean.

McCreery's, 34th Street (shoe sections), second floor.

Those women who have sent their hemstitching or pleating to Mehrlust & Grossman, have expressed entire satisfaction. The work is well done and promptly handled. Buttons made from your own fabrics. Write for booklet, which gives instructions how to prepare materials. Address Mehrlust & Grossman, 3160 Broadway.

An exclusive waist shop, where painstaking attention is given to every detail of style and workmanship, is the house of JOHN FORSYTHE & SONS, 3 West 42d St. The values are most extraordinary. For instance: I saw yesterday real Irish lace blouses, lined with chiffon and finished with touches of velvet and girdle effects in various shades, at $5. The same low pricing is evident throughout the whole magnificent stocks.

She fell asleep wondering how he would look. Already, not from any impatience to have this done, but because that was the way in which she worked, she had his room in order, and her picture of his father was by the mirror, the young face of his father. Something faded had been written below the picture, and this she had painstakingly rubbed away before she set the picture in its place. Next day while she was working on Mis' Jane Morann's bead basque, that was to be cut over and turned, she laid it aside and cut out a jacket pattern and a plaited waist pattern just to see if she could. These she rolled up impatiently and stuffed away in her pattern book case.

"I knew how to do them all the while, and I never knew I knew," she thought with annoyed surprise. "I s'pose I'll waste a lot of time pottering over him."

It was so that she spent the weeks until the letter came telling her what day the child would start. On the afternoon of the day the letter came she went downtown to the Abel Ames emporium to buy a wash basin and pitcher for the room she meant the little boy to have. She stood looking at a basin with a row of brown dogs around the rim when over her shoulder Mis' Abby Winslow spoke.

"You ain't buying a Christmas present for anybody, are you?" she asked warningly.

Mary started guiltily and denied it.

"Well, what in time do you want with dogs on the basin?' Mis' Winslow demanded.

Almost against her own wish Mary told her. Mis' Winslow was one of those whose faces are invariably forerunners of the sort of thing they are going to say. With eyebrows, eyes, forehead, head and voice she took the news.

"He is! Forever and ever more. When's he going to get here?"

"Week after next," Mary said listlessly. "It's an awful responsibility, ain't it—taking a child so?"

Mis' Winslow's face abruptly rejected its own anxious lines and let the eyes speak for it.

"I always think children is like air," she said; "you never realize how hard they're pressing down on you, but you do know you can't live without them."

Mary looked at her, her own face not lighting.

"I'd rather go along like I am," she said; "I'm used to myself the way I am."

"Mary Chavah," said Mis' Winslow sharply, "a vegetable sprouts. Can't you? Is these stocking caps made so's they won't ravel?" she inquired capably of Abel Ames. "These are real good value, Mary," she added kindly. "Better su'prise the little thing with one of these. A red one."

Mary counted over her money and bought the red stocking cap and the basin with the puppies. Then she went into the street. The sense of oppression, of striving, that had seldom left her since that night in the stable made the day a thing to be borne, to be breasted. The air was thick with snow, and in the whiteness the dreary familiarity of the drug store, the meat market, the postoffice, the Simeon Buck Dry Goods Exchange, smote her with a passion to escape from them all, to breed new familiars, to get free of the thing that she had said she would do.

"And I could," she thought; "I could telegraph to John not to send him. But Jenny—she can't. I don't see how she stands it."

The thought may have been why, instead of going home, she went to see Jenny. A neighbor was in the sitting room with Mrs. Wing. Jenny met Mary at the kitchen door and stood against a background of clothes drying on lines stretched indoors.

"Don't you want to come upstairs?" Jenny said. "There ain't a fire up there, but I can show you the things."

She had put them all in the bottom drawer, as women always do, and, as women always do, had laid them so that all the lace and embroidery and pink ribbons possible showed in a flutter when the drawer was opened. Jenny took the things out, one at a time, unfolded, discussed, compared, with all the tireless zeal of a robin with a straw in its mouth or of a tree blossoming. "Smell of them," Jenny bade her. "Honestly, wouldn't you know by the smell who they are for?" "I dunno but you would," Mary admitted awkwardly and marveled dumbly at the newness Jenny was feeling in that which, after all, was not new.

When these things were all out a little tissue paper parcel was left lying in the drawer.

"There's one more," Mary said.

Jenny flushed, hesitated, lifted it.

"That's nothing," she said; "before I came I made some little things for its Christmas. I thought maybe it would come first, and we'd have the Christmas in my room, and I made some things—just for fun, you know. But it won't be fair to do it now, with the whole town so set against our having any Christmas. Mary, it just seems as though I had to have a Christmas this year!"

"Oh, well," said Mary, "the baby'll be your Christmas. The town can't help that, I guess."

"I know," Jenny flashed back brightly, "you and I have got the best of them, haven't we? We've each got one present coming, anyway."

"I s'pose we have," Mary said.

She looked at Jenny's Christmas things—a ribbon rattle, a crocheted cap, a first picture book, a cascade of colored rings—and then in grim humor at Jenny.

"It'll never miss its Christmas," she said drily.

"Don't you think so?" said Jenny soberly. "I dunno. It seems as if it'd be kind o' lonesome to get born around Christmas and not find any going on."

She put the things away and closed the drawer. For no appreciable reason she kept it locked and the key under the bureau cover.

"Do you know yet when yours is coming?" Jenny asked as she rose.

"Week after next," Mary repeated, "two weeks from last night," she confessed, "if he comes straight through."

"I think," said Jenny, "I think mine will be here—before then."

When they reached the foot of the stair Mary unexpectedly refused to go in the sitting room.

"No," she said, "I must be getting home. I just come out for a minute anyway. I'm—I'm much obliged for what you showed me," she added and hesitated. "I've got his room fixed up real nice. There's owls on the wall paper and puppies on the wash basin," she said. "Come in when you can and see it."

CHAPTER VI.

Old Accounts.

It was almost dusk when Mary reached home. While she was passing the billboard at the corner—a flare of yellow letters, as if color and the alphabet had united to breed a monster—she heard children shouting. A block away and across the street, coming home from Rollesston's hill, where they had been coasting, were Bennet and Gussie Bates, little Emily, Tab Winslow and Pep. Nearly every day of snow they passed her house. She always heard them talking, and usually she heard across at the corner the click of the penny in the slot machine, which no child seemed able to pass without pulling. Tonight as she heard them coming Mary fumbled in her purse. Three, four, five pennies she found and ran across the street and dropped them in the slot machine and gained her own door before the children came. She stood at her dark threshold and listened. She had not reckoned in vain. One of the children pushed down on the rod in the child's eternal hope of magic, and when magic came and three, four, five chocolates dropped obediently in their hands Mary listened to what they said. It was not much, and it was not very coherent, but it was wholly intelligible.

"Look at!" shrieked Bennet, who had made the magic.

"Did it?" cried Gussie and repeated the operation.

"It—it—it never!" said Tab Winslow at the third.

"Make it again; make it again!" cried little Emily, and they did.

"Gorry!" observed Pep in ecstasy.

When it would give no more they divided with the other children and ran on, their red mittens and mufflers flaming in the snow. Mary stood staring after them for a moment; then she closed her door.

"I wonder what made me do that," she thought.

In her dining room she mended the fire without taking off her hat. It was curious, she reflected. Here was this room looking the way it looked, and away off there was the little fellow who had never seen the room, and in a little while he would be calling this room home and looking for his books and his mittens and knowing it better than any other place in the world. And there was Jenny with that bottom drawerful, and pretty soon somebody that now was not, would be, and would be wearing the drawerful and calling Jenny "mother" and would know her better than any one else in the world. Mary could not imagine that little boy of Lily's getting used to her—Mary—and calling her—well, what would he call her? She hadn't thought of that.

"Bother," thought Mary Chavah, "there's going to be forty nuisances about it that I s'pose I haven't even thought of yet."

She stood by the window. She had not lighted the lamp, so the world showed white, not black. Snow makes outdoors look big, she thought. But it was big—what a long journey it was to Idaho. Suppose something happened to the man he was to travel with? John Blood was only a boy; he would probably put the child's name and her address in the little traveler's pocket, and these would be lost. The child was hardly old enough to remember what to do. He would go astray, and none of them would ever know what had become of him and what would become of him? She saw him and his bundle of clothes alone in the station in the city.

She turned from the window and mechanically mended the fire again. She drew down the window shade and went to the coat closet to hang away her wraps. Then abruptly she took up her purse, counted out the money in the firelight and went out the door and down the street in the dusk and into the postoffice, which was also the telegraph office, one which the little town owed to Ebenezer Rule, and it a rival to the other telegraph office at the station.

Grandmothers' Gifts to the Tiny Tot

These tiny bootees were made of swansdown and ornamented with a design in cross stitch. The little cap was made of the same material and also was embroidered. If grandmother has idle moments these gifts would be particularly timely for the baby granddaughter or grandson.

But "grandma" may have no idle moments, so perhaps she would be glad to know that all of the layette shops keep these articles on hand. The shops now are filled with dainty articles for the tiny stranger who selected this holiday time to make his protesting debut.

No development of the favorite basque idea yet seen is prettier than this one.

It shows the characteristic finish over the skirt, yet it is short enough to be dressy for dinner and evening wear, and the half low chemisette with the high rolling collar not alone represents the newest fashion; it also is very generally becoming, the collar making a most effective frame for the face.

The sleeves are plain, but may be cut to any preferred length. Such a basque would be charming made of one of the fashionable soft satins.

For the medium size the basque will require three yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with one-fourth yard thirty-six inches wide for the chemisette and one and one-half yards of lace six inches wide for the sleeve frills.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8406, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon

SOUTHERN RICE DISHES

To Boil Rice and Keep the Kernels Whole—Put one-half cup rice in the double boiler, add one pint milk and a pinch of salt. After it has boiled ten minutes stir carefully from the bottom and again in five minutes more. Do not touch it again. Let it cook one hour. The kernels will be white and whole. One of the best uses for rice is served as a vegetable. Arrange the boiled rice as a wreath around the platter with any kind of meat, and serve with gravy over it.

Rice Croquettes—Season one cup cold boiled rice with one teaspoon lemon juice, two tablespoons sugar, and a dash of allspice, form into croquettes, dip in bread crumbs and fry. Serve on a lettuce leaf garnished with lemon jelly.

Fish Stuffed With Rice—One cup of rice, one cup of bread crumbs, one cup cold chopped meat. Mix and season with salt chopped mango, onion and celery, one teaspoon each. Clean a whitefish, fill with this preparation and bake as usual. Serve with tomato sauce.

Rice Pancakes—Put one cup cooked rice through the vegetable press. Add one pint milk and a pinch of salt, flour to the consistency of ordinary pancakes and one teaspoon baking powder. No eggs are required. They will be very light.

Rice Salad—Place a lettuce leaf on an individual salad plate. Make a nest of rice and fill with diced celery and hard boiled egg. Cover with mayonnaise. This can be varied by filling the nest with any kind of cold meat, nuts and celery or different vegetables. Both pretty and good.

Use Left Over Rice in omelettes, soups and stews. It is a great assistant in giving varied menus at small cost.

THE TABLE

Creamed Baked Beans—A delicious dish may be made of the ordinary small white beans. Soak half pint in cold water over night. In the morning drain and cook in salted water until broken to pieces. An hour before the meal for which they are wanted, rub beans through colander. Add to pulp a white sauce made by cooking together one tablespoon each of butter and flour; add large cup milk and stir until thick and smooth. Mix bean pulp thoroughly with sauce, add well beaten egg and pepper and salt to taste. Beat for a minute, turn into buttered pudding dish, sprinkle fine bread crumbs, buttered, over top and bake in hot oven until lightly browned. Serve at once.

Baked Noodles—Make noodles by ordinary method and boil in beef or chicken broth about twenty minutes. Then put in earthen bake dish with a layer of cracker crumbs on top. Bake half hour and serve hot in same dish.

Deviled Oysters—Take twenty-five nice, fat oysters, one-half pint cream, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons flour, one tablespoon chopped parsley, yolks of two eggs, salt and cayenne pepper to taste. Drain oysters and chop fine; drain again, put cream on to boil, rub flour and butter together and stir into cream while boiling. As soon as it thickens, take from fire and add the other ingredients; beat yolks before adding them with mixture, sprinkle lightly with bread crumbs, put them in baking pan and in quick oven for five minutes. Serve in shells. Garnish with parsley.

Banded Apples—These are very nice for first course or dessert, and make a pretty dish. Pare apples, leaving a half-inch band around the middle; core and set in pan with a little water; bake. After removing apples from oven, fill cavities with quince or apricot marmalade mixed with finely chopped nuts. Serve hot on individual dishes with whipped cream.

Fruit Blocks—Mix one cup each of raisins, figs, dates and nuts. Put through food chopper twice. Add to this pulp enough lemon juice so it can be kneaded on a board with confectionary sugar. Roll one-fourth-inch thick and cut into squares. Dip each square into unsweetened chocolate and set away to cool.

She Rode Gallantly Upon the Sunlit Sea.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Argonaut And His Fairy Ship.

"'I WANT to go up on top of the water and sail a little while!' cried the tiny argonaut as his mamma rocked him gently in his beautiful cradle down at the bottom of the sea," said daddy, beginning his bedtime story.

"'But we can't go up now, dearie. There is going to be a terrible storm, and you must stay down here all comfy and safe,' said his mamma.

"But the tiny argonaut, as this fish is called, which lives away out in midocean and sails in a beautiful shallop, was unhappy and discontented down at the bottom of the sea.

"The wonders of the ocean, which it knew all about and lived among every hour of the twenty-four, seemed very tame, and it sighed to be up on top of the ocean sailing and seeing the sights up there.

"Patiently Mamma Argonaut explained and argued, but little Argonaut wouldn't listen.

"So at last Mamma Argonaut was persuaded, and she spread her arms and rose to the surface of the ocean, carrying the tiny argonaut with her in the fairy ship.

"Mamma Argonaut has eight arms, you know, kiddies, but two of them are flattened out at the end, so they make very nice sails, and I suppose the six other long, narrow, tapering arms are used to help balance and navigate the fairy ship, though it is mainly carried through the water by a funny siphon system, which I will explain to you when you grow a little older.

"Now, Mamma Argonaut feared the storms because she only sits in her fragile boat, and if she were to be tossed and pitched about by the waves she might lose her beautiful ship.

"When she got to the top of the ocean, though, the storm had blown away and the sun was just setting over the sea. A whole fleet of her friends and neighbors had joined her, and they spread their tiny sails and rode gallantly upon the calm sunlit sea decked in a thousand brilliant colors.

"'There; what did I tell you?' said the little Argonaut, peeping out from the fairy ship where it snuggled beside its mother.

"'Oh, well, when you grow older and have little ones of your own to care for you won't be so bold!' said Mamma Argonaut, catching the slight evening breeze with her wings and sailing very fast, indeed, which pleased the little Argonaut very much.

"Pretty soon a great ship was seen in the offing, and then Mamma Argonaut folded her sails and sank down, down to the bottom of the sea.

"Good night, kiddies."

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Why, what's the matter, Lucile?" asked Mrs. Dale, going up to her niece, who was sitting in a dejected heap in kimona and cap by the uncleared breakfast table.

"Oh, I never can learn to take care of myself," moaned the limp little figure.

"When Jack was alive I had such care; all I had to do was to ask for money and I had it. Now—" and the voice was drowned in a flood of woe.

"I know it is hard to bear responsibility, but you see that one develops a stronger character by bravely facing conditions," said the aunt soothingly.

"I don't want to develop. I want to be comfortable and happy," and the delicate little blond sopped her eyes and gave a pile of letters, evidently bills, a vicious little push and turned her back on them.

"It would have been more truly kind if Jack had insisted that you learn to manage on an allowance."

"Don't say a word against Jack; he was kindness itself," she cried, with a fresh burst of grief.

"The trouble is that girls ask their fathers for money and when they marry they ask their husbands, as if money came from a living spring and bubbled up spontaneously," her aunt continued. "Life is too uncertain to make such perpetual children of women. Let's see how much you owe," she added, reaching for the bills.

The niece pushed them toward her drearily, then rose and began piling the breakfast dishes.

"Suit $35, alterations $5, total $40," read the aunt. "Why do you get so expensive a suit? You can't dress that way on $60 a month, and that is all you have."

"Because it was the only thing I could find that I looked decent in," said Lucile, starting for the kitchen with a pile of dishes.

"Hat $15, shoes $7, dry goods $29.75, groceries $32.70," read Mrs. Dale.

"How in the world can you have a grocery bill of $32.70 when there are only two of you?" asked the aunt, as her niece re-entered the room.

"I had quite a number of evening affairs last month. I just have to, or I nearly die of the blues. In company I forget for a little while," and she piled more dishes on the tray with a tragic air.

"What did you do with your last month's money?" continued the inquisitor in a businesslike tone.

"I don't know. It was all gone four days after I got it and I did not have enough left for postage and car fare," and she showed signs of fresh tears as she seized the tray, pushed it against the kitchen door and disappeared, leaving the door swinging behind her.

Left alone, the aunt added up the figures on the accounts before her. "It comes to $124.45," she said aloud as Lucile appeared with the crumb tray. "Here you have $6 to pay $124.45 with."

"I know it," groaned Lucile.

"If you will let me help you manage I will try to get you out of debt, and then you must keep out," said Mrs. Dale with emphasis.

"Oh, I'll do anything you say," was the encouraging response. "You don't know what a relief it will be to get started right."

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Lustre and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Adv.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council has fixed the 30th day of November, A. D., 1914, at eight o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 140 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., as the time and place for William H. Abbott, Elias H. Bird and Charles L. Parker, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled: "An Ordinance for the Laying Out and Opening of East Fourth Street from a point 388.6 feet northeast of the centre of Washington Street to the southwesterly side line of Richmond Street," approved July 6, 1914, and the resolutions of the Common Council in the premises adopted November 2, 1914, to meet and proceed with the discharge of their duties and hear all persons interested in the premises, and make their estimate and assessments under said ordinance and said resolutions and the statutes in such case made and provided.

The street to be laid out and opened to extend from a point 388.6 feet northeast of the centre of Washington Street to the southwesterly side line of Richmond Street, the centre and side lines of which street, as well as the width thereof, are particularly described in said ordinance, and shown on map therein referred to and on file in the office of the City Clerk, entitled "Map Showing proposed Laying Out and Opening of East Fourth Street, from a point 388.6 feet east of Washington Street to Richmond Street, City of Plainfield, N. J., 1914."

The lands, real estate and appurtenances intended to be taken for such purposes (the larger part of said street having already been dedicated to the public) include that part of the property now or formerly of the Estate of John Rafferty and Ernest White described as follows: Beginning at a point where the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as formerly laid out and opened is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as herein laid out and opened, and running from said point in a northeasterly direction along said line as formerly laid out and opened, a distance of 61.45 feet to a point in the northeasterly line of said property now or formerly of the Estate of John Rafferty; thence along said line in a southeasterly direction a distance of 21.62 feet to the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as herein laid out and opened; thence along said line in a southwesterly direction, a distance of 65.42 feet to the place of beginning, as shown on said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for a more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.
JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

TWENTY-FIVE cents a day isn't much much money to some, is it?

The weekly saving is about the cost of an orchestra seat.

But it will buy considerable life insurance.

Why, if you are even 44 years of age when you start to save that amount it will buy you a policy for $3,000.

And if you are 21 years of age when you commence you can get $6,000 of insurance.

Either one of these amounts would smooth many cares.

Safety—First of All

Safety is, after all, the first requirement of a bank from the standpoint of the depositor, and

Safety has been the rock foundation upon which has been built the business of this Company. To it all other considerations have been subservient. If you want to satisfy yourself as to the Safety of this institution come in and let us tell you of what our assets consist—of the close attention which our strong Board of Directors gives to our affairs and of the frequent examinations which are conducted by the State examiners, as well as by certified public accountants. Our Officers are always glad to talk with inquirers on this subject.

of tomorrow is the one who saves today.

The best way to save is to outline a definite plan and follow it out carefully. It is far better to lay aside a small amount with unfailing regularity than to make only occasional deposits, even if they be for large amounts.

Our 4% Savings Bond Plan is designed to help those who wish to save systematically. Particulars for the asking.

COLONEL HARDY LAST WITNESS

Taking of Testimony in $300,000 Suit Completed at Hearing Held Yesterday.

ARGUMENT JANUARY 18

Defendant Denies Allegations Made Against Him by Complaining Witnesses—Admits that He and Mrs. Hardy Had Made Mutual Wills.

Newark, Nov. 25.—Taking of testimony in the suit over $300,000 worth of securities brought by Henry V. A. Parcell against "Colonel" John M. Hardy was concluded before Vice Chancellor Howell, yesterday, and argument was set down for January 18 and 19.

As the last and principal witness in his own behalf, "Colonel" Hardy admitted that he and Mrs. Hardy had made mutual wills, which admission, considering the disparity in their ages, will doubtless be dwelt upon by Ralph E. Lum, chief counsel for the complainant stepson, when he argues the case.

"Colonel" Hardy admitted also that he did once say to someone that his wife had deceived him by taking her will out of the strong box, in which both had been placed, unbeknown to him.

He admitted further that he had asked Mrs. Sallie P. Krug to try to induce his wife to make a will.

It is in evidence that Mrs. Hardy separated from her husband in October, 1912, but Mr. Hardy was not permitted to tell what had led to the separation.

"Colonel" Hardy's further examination by Mr. Coddington took on about this form:

"Did you ever say your wife was not mistress of the house?"

"No.

"Did you order Mary Reed not to take orders from your wife?"

"No."

"Did you object to your wife's going into the kitchen when you had guests?"

"Yes; I thought it wasn't treating them right."

"Mrs. Krug testified that while your wife was at Pocono she was in great distress and in tears; was that so?"

"No."

"Did you fly into a rage because Mrs. Hardy received letters from her son?"

"No."

"Did you say your wife was incapable of running the house?"

"Most likely I did."

"Did Mrs. Hardy have to wait for her meals until you came?"

"No."

"Did you tell Sarah Cabin that all your wife did was to talk to niggers?"

"I have no recollection of it."

"It has been testified that the gates were locked and your wife had to climb over them; was that so?"

"The gates were closed some times, but it was easier to crawl through than over."

"Did you tell anyone that you didn't know what to do with your wife when you went away. That her son and family would be there if you

MISS EDITH COON TO WED EDWARD TUOHIG

Ceremony Will Be Performed Tonight at Warren Chapel by Rev. J. O. McKelvey.

Miss Edith May Coon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Coon, of Chatham street, and Edward Tuohig, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tuohig, of Millington, will be married in Warren chapel tonight at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. J. O. McKelvey. The bride will be gowned in white crepe meteor and Gorget crepe with pearl trimmings and will carry a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. She will be attended by her sister, Miss Mabel A. Coon, as maid of honor, who will wear a gown of duchess satin over rose and lace trimming and will carry a bunch of pink roses, and Joseph E. Kirch, of the borough, will be best man.

The bridesmaids will be the Miss Elizabeth and Lilian Tuohig, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Beatrice DeCamp, of Mountain avenue, will be flower girl. The bridesmaids will wear gowns of pink satin and crepe de chine with beaver fur trimmings and will carry pink roses while the flower girl will be dressed in white and carry a basket of roses. Chauncey S. Hickok, 2nd., of Summit, will play the wedding march.

After the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents and there will be many out town guests present. The home has been very artistically decorated, the color scheme being cream and white and the couple will receive congratulations under a bower of laurel and carnations. A collation will be served after which the bride and groom will leave on an extended trip. They have kept their destination a strict secret and upon their return will reside on Springfield avenue, near Stirling.

The bride has received many beautiful and useful gifts. The attendants were given handsome articles of jewelry by the couple. Mr. Tuohig holds a responsible position in the First National Bank in Summit. Sthe ushers will be Joseph J. Tuohig, of East Orange; Daniel T .Tuohig, of Roseville, and John Voegtlen and John D. Mood, of Summit.

ELKS PLAN ATTRACTIVE THANKSGIVING EVE AFFAIR

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., has arranged for a fine Thanksgiving Eve celebration at the clubhouse on Watchung avenue, this evening. One of the principal attractions will be a cabaret show, and the rest of the program will be given by professional entertainers. Another feature will be the "spread" to be served under the direction of the committee in charge.

It is always customary for the lodge to have some kind of entertainment on Thanksgiving Eve and this year's affair it is expected, will be one of the most elaborate yet arranged by the Elks.

Double Quartet Scheduled to Appear in Two School Programs.

ATTRACTIVE EXERCISES

Rev. John Y. Broek Speaker at N. P. H. S. Observance—Rev. J. Sheridan Zelie to Deliver Address at Plainfield High School.

Annual Thanksgiving exercises were held in all of the public schools of the city and borough this morning and afternoon. Many of the schools will have simple informal programs, while others will have a special speaker and music. The North Plainfield High School was addressed by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, of this city, and the rest of the program consisted of singing, recitations and readings. In the primary grades of the Somerset School, each class will have its own exercises, because of the change that has been made in the classrooms, which makes it impossible for all the classes to get together.

Quite a long program was arranged for the Washington School, consisting of singing and recitations by the members of the various grades. The Irving School exercises began at 9:30 o'clock and they were very interesting as several stories were read that were composed by members of

NOVEL PROGRAM FOR FORESTERS' GUESTS

Turkeys, Flour, Coal and Other Household Necessities Offered at Euchre.

Entertainment of a novel and pleasing variety was provided by members of Court Plainfield, No 1144, Independent Order of Foresters, in their lodge rooms last night when they were hosts at a complimentary euchre. The affair was largely attended and the card games furnished amusement for the guests throughout the evening. Some keen contests were played and the unique array of prizes in store for the most expert card manipulators lent interest to the event.

W. T. Bingham, of Elizabeth, supreme deputy of the order, was present last night, and gave a short speech in which he lauded the local council for its work and complimented the members on the excellent program of entertainment they had furnished.

The following articles were distributed: Mrs. Nicholas Harris, 1808 Myrtle avenue, one barrel of flour; Mrs. William Hiner, 349 Manson place, one turkey; Mrs. E. P. Connolly, 527 West Sixth street, one sack of potatoes; Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald 434 West Fourth street, one ham; Harold Hansen, 334 East Second street, one ton of coal; Patrick O'Brien, 611 East Sixth street, one sack of potatoes; Daniel Galbraith, 611 Spooner avenue, one turkey; William Ricketts, 6 Fritts place, one ham; John P. Casey, 108 Park avenue, one gold piece; James McCarthy 226 Richmond street, one gold piece

The awarding of the booby prize furnished much enjoyment to the large assemblage. This trophy was a large live rooster and went to Miss Ellen Burns, 977 West Fourth street. Following this portion of the program the members and their friends retired to the banquet hall, where a tasty collation was served.

LEVGAR COMPANY LAY OFF ITS NIGHT GANG

The night shift of seventy-five men which has been working at the Levgar Structural Works, South avenue, Dunellen, for the past three or four months, was laid off last night, owing to the fact that the rush experienced during that time has been completed. As further orders are expected in the near future, it is probable that the shift will be re-engaged shortly. The prospects of several orders sufficient to keep the plants busy for some time are exceedingly bright at this time, and the officials of the company believe the lay off of the night shift is only temporary.

Conditions in other shops still continue to improve to some degree, although the gains are somewhat slow, yet sufficient to be noticeable. With the improvement in the general industrial conditions throughout the country at large, it is expected by many of the finance kings that the arrival of the spring of 1915 will see conditions very near to normal.

WILL PERSONALLY INVESTIGATE CASES

Charity Organization Society Plans to Learn Condition of Unemployed.

Following a conference of officers of the Charity Organization Society and Mayor Percy H. Stewart, yesterday, plans were adopted whereby it is hoped that, the true conditions among Plainfield's unemployed may be ascertained. The Mayor turned over to the society a list of 300 names of men who are out of work and want help. Now the society proposes to personally investigate each case for the purpose of learning the exact conditions and to that extent the 300 men want assistance and furthermore see what can be done toward finding employment for them as soon as possible.

A representative of the society has been instructed to call on each one of the 300 men and in this way first-hand information will be obtained. Another plan, which has been adopted, has been to open a wood-yard, where men will be given work at one dollar a day. This, it is thought, may be the means of aiding some men who are able to cut wood.

Other suggestions such as holding a mass meeting to discuss the situation, a money-raising campaign, etc., are still under advisement, but nothing definite along those lines have been adopted. In fact, nothing can be done until those in charge of the mater learn exactly what is needed.

The Charity Organization Society fully realizes the importance of its task, and will make every effort to cope with it as seems best and wise. It is highly important that all allied interests co-operate with the society in solving this problem and the various organizations of the city will no doubt be called upon to lend their assistance in relieving the distressing situation.

WILL RE-ADVERTISE FOR SCHOOL BIDS

Board of Education to Receive Proposals on December 9.

The Board of Education held a special meeting in the High School last night, when it was decided to re-advertise immediately for bids on the Evergreen avenue school, which will be received by the Board Wednesday, December 9.

Local contractors and others are advised that plans and specifications may be obtained from Messrs. Wilder and White, the architects, 50 Church street, New York city, on deposit with said architects, of a certified check for $25.00, which will be refunded when plans and specifications are sent back.

Re-advertisement was deemed advisable on account of several changes made in the heating and plumbing specifications, which, it is believed, will result in materially lower bids than were at first submitted. Many local contractors have signified their intention of bidding again on this school.

Y. M. H. A. BALL.

The tenth annual ball under the auspices of the local Young Men's Hebrew Association has been arranged for tomorrow evening, at Columbus Auditorium, for which elaborate plans have been made. Indications point to one of the most successful balls held under the direction of the association during the past ten years. Special music has been engaged for the occasion.

TAX BOARD GIVES LARGE REDUCTION

In Favor of Dr. P. J. Zeglio on Property in Business Section.

MANY CASES PENDING

Grants Made With the Consent of the Local Tax Assessors—Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Represented the City at Hearing.

Appeals from local taxpayers, several of which were adjourned from last week, and many new ones, were brought before the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxation at a hearing held in the city building on North avenue, this morning. In a majority of the cases brought to the attention of the Board the members upheld the local tax assessors and the reductions made were granted with the members' consent.

One of the largest reductions granted was that of Dr. Peter J. Zeglio, who sought a $41,200 decrease on property located at 205-209 West Front street and occupied by Shaw's pharmacy and others.

The following appeals were disposed of this morning:

Mary E. Alpaugh, 131-141 East Sixth street, assessed valuation $16,000, owner's valuation $13,650.

Hearing adjourned.

VARIETY OF EVENTS FOR THANKSGIVING

Devotional Exercises in Episcopal and Catholic Institutions.

Thanksgiving Day, inaugurating the holiday season, will be observed in a variety of different ways here tomorrow, special exercises and programs having been arranged by almost every church and association. Athletics head the program, there being plenty of this entertainment on the schedule for morning, afternoon and night. Devotional services will be conducted in a number of the local churches tomorrow morning, when special programs of music will be rendered. The Episcopal and Catholic institutions lead in the religious work on Thanksgiving Day and all of the local and borough churches will conduct services.

The circulation department and reading-room of the Public Library will be closed all day. The local barber shops and banks will also shut down while some of the grocery and butcher stores will keep open for a short time in the morning.

Football will feature the athletic program in the morning, there being a game at Parker Field. In the afternoon basketball games will be played in the Hope chapel gym and there will be two more football games, one at Parker Field and the other at Cricket Field. In the evening the Y. M. C. A. will be the rendezvous for basketball fans, two good games being on the bill.

Motion pictures and vaudeville at Proctor's and motion pictures at the Y. M. C. A. will be among the attractions sought by some.

WILL DANCE FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF STATE

Elaborate preparations have been made by the committee in charge of the second annual ball of the Jefferson Democratic Club to be held at Sebring's Auditrium this evening. A prize waltz for the championship of the State is to be one of the features of the evening, for which a prize of $10 in gold has been offered. Music by the Irish pipers, McDonough and Boyle is also to be featured during the course of the evening. Halbfoster's full orchestra will furnish music for the affair. The committee has made arrangements to care for a large number.

ALLEGED BIKE THIEF.

Charged with stealing a bicycle, Harold Bert, sixteen years old, of 353 East Third street, was arrested at the North Avenue station last night, by Patrolman Vanderweg. The boy told Chief Kiely that the wheel which was in his possession when arrested had been given to him. He will be arraigned for hearing Saturday morning before Judge DeMeza.

WIFE'S CONFESSION OF HUSBAND'S GUILT

Mrs. Samuel Anderson Tells Court of Prisoner's Wrong Doings.

Summoned before Justice of the Peace Rene P. F. von Minden, in the Dunellen Borough Hall, yesterday morning, when the authorities deemed it advisable to conduct an investigation into conditions surrounding the robbing and burning of Paul Pilkington's house in New Market on the night of October 24, Mrs. Samuel Anderson, wife of the prisoner now confined in the Middlesex county jail, alleged to have committed the acts, it is said, made a partial confession to the court which may have some direct effect in bringing about the accused man's conviction. Under a fire of cross-questioning the woman, it is said, broke down and acknowledged that she knew her husband robbed the Pilkington home on the night of October 23, the night before the fire was started by an alleged fire-bug.

Attempts to make the woman confess that she knew her husband set the place on fire as a means of covering up the crime, however, were futile. She steadfastly denied that she knew nothing of the latter deed and that her husband not even so much as intimated to her that he intended to take this drastic step. She further stated that Anderson was confident that his deed would never be discovered and she claims that when she admonished him after the act had been committed he stated that the Pilkingtons would not be back until next summer and the goods would be disposed of by that time.

Queried concerning the part she had in the depredation the woman convinced the court that she was not a party to the crime, although she admitted having been called downstairs by her husband the night of the robbery when she helped him put the stolen articles away.

Investigation conducted by the police revealed a secret room in the cellar of the Anderson home in West Dunellen which was boarded up on all four sides. No door could be found, but when a portion of the woden partition was removed the searchers found a typewriter, a clock and a revolver, the goods, it is said, being stolen fro mthe offices of the National Pure Food Company, at Lincoln, some time ago.

Petty robberies similar in character to the one at the Pilkington home have been reported in New Market and vicinity frequently of late and a large majority of these crimes are attributed to Anderson, who is now confined in the New Brunswick jail in default of $500 bail awaiting trial before the Grand Jury.

PIETRO CATROVIEGNE STOLE A BICYCLE FROM HOP LEE

Because he rode a bicycle without a light through the streets of Roselle on Monday night last, Pietro Catroviegne, was arrested by the police of that place. When he gave his residence as Plainfield the police became suspicious and when questioned about where he got the wheel he was unable to give a satisfactory explanation and Chief of Police Kiely was notified.

Chief Kiely went to Roselle yesterday afternoon and identified the prisoner as a man formerly employed at Smelson's restaurant on West Front street. When queried by the chief he admitted having stolen the wheel from Hop Lee, a laundryman, with a place of business next to the restaurant. He will be given a hearing in the local police court this afternoon, having been brought to this city.

RUSSIANS ROUT GERMAN ARMY

Indian Troops Make Noteworthy Recapture of Trenches Taken From Them Yesterday—Germans Request Armistice, But it is Refused.

Petrograd, Nov. 25.—The following official statement from the headquarters of the Russian army in the Caucasus has been given out:

"In the Teroroka region the action developed yesterday into a rout of the enemy. In the direction of Erzerum the enemy has been overthrown along the whole front, and driven in precipitate retreat. The enemy is being vigorously pursued. There have been no changes elsewhere."

Rome, Nov. 25 (Central News Cable).—The correspondent of the Corriere de la Seras, at Petrograd, reports that the Russian offensive movement has been victoriously conducted along the entire eastern front, and that considerable re-inforcements have been brought into action. "Cracow and Przemysl," says the correspondent, "have again been attacked with heavy artillery. Cholera is reported to be raging in the garrison of Przemysl."

A message from official sources in Lemberg reports that ten hours of severe fighting followed the last sortie of the Austrians from Przemysl on November 20. The Austrians lost heavily and retreated, leaving a large number of guns and many prisoners.

Train service in Lemberg is now in the hands of the Russians and trains are arriving direct from Kiev and Petrograd.

London, Nov. 25.—Announcement was made by the Press Bureau today that certain detachments of the Indian troops in Flanders had gallantly retaken some trenches that had been lost by the British yesterday. The Indians captured three German officers and more than one hundred men, together with one mortar and three machine guns.

The French steamer Admiral Ganteaume, sunk October 26, while bound from Calais to Havre with 2,000 refugees, was the victim of a German torpedo, according to an Admiralty statement issued today. Examination revealed a fragment of the torpedo in a life boat. Forty lives were lost. The Admiralty furnished a picture of the torpedo fragment.

Paris, Nov. 25.—There has been little fighting during the last twenty-four hours along the 200 mile battle line in northern France and Belgium, according to the official statement given out at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the French war office. The statement reads as follows:

"From the North Sea, to Ypres there have been no infantry attacks. Between Landzemarck and Zonnezke we have gained ground. At the edge of LaBassee the Indian troops have retaken from the enemy some trenches which had been captured from them the night before. From LaBassee to Soissons the lull in the fighting is almost complete.

"We have made some slight progress near Berry au Bac, and in the Argonne. At Bahincourt, northwest of Verdun, a general assault has been repulsed. An armistice, requested by the enemy, has been refused.

"In the region of Pont a Mousson, our artillery has succeeded in bombarding Arnaville. Nothing has happened in the Vosges."

OPPORTUNITY TO KILL TWO BIRDS WITH ONE STONE IN BIG SALE

Friends From Out of Town Should Be Urged to Visit Plainfield, as They Can Have Fare Refunded by Making Purchases at Plainfield Stores During Co-operative Sale.

With a score of merchants now participating, and others agreeing to take part every day, it is assured that the biggest week of sales ever held in this city will be that from December 5 to 12. The co-operative fare-refunding sale, inaugurated by the Daily Press, and immediately entered into by practically every big merchant in the city, will be something unique in the history of local merchandising, and the success of the plan in other cities assures similar success here.

The publishers of the Daily Press and the merchants wish to emphasize a suggestion made in a former account of the sale. That is that regular subscribers make mention of this sale to their relatives and friends within a radius of thirty or forty miles of Plainfield. It will be a splendid opportunity for them to save money in doing their Christmas shopping, and to make a visit to friends in Plainfield at the same time.

This will be absolutely the biggest trading event ever known in this section. The popular slogan therefore, in every letter and on every postcard mailed out of the city for the next two weeks should be "Come to Plainfield to trade from Saturday, December 5, to Saturday, December 12." The big bargain edition of the Daily Press, setting forth the seasonable holiday offerings of the Plainfield merchants, will be issued on December 3, and will be well worth waiting for and preserving. This edition will contain the advertisements of every merchant in the city who will offer special inducements during the big sale and there will be more and greater bargains enumerated in these advertisements than ever before in the history of Plainfield. This is but natural, as never before has such a gigantic trade movement undertaken for benefit of the out-of-town buyers, been attempted in the city.

And not only will the people have the oportunity of making extensive purchases at low prices, but they will have their carfare refunded, the full particulars of which will be explained in the Big Bargain Edition on December 3.

A partial list of the stores that will take part in the Big Co-operative Sale will be found at the head of the centre column on page one today. Addition will be added as the merchants are interviewed on the subject.

PROPOSED SEWER CAUSES DISCUSSION

Dunellen Council Hears Many Views Expressed on the Subject.

The committee appointed by Mayor E. B. Latham, at the adjourned meeting of the Borough Council, November 17, to investigate the matter of the proposed storm sewer about town and get the consensus of opinion of the citizens as to just what is wanted, made its report at an informal meeting of the Council held in the Borough Hall last evening.

Chairman J. H. L. Peters, for the committee, reported that the consensus of opinion of the citizens is that the line of sewer along North avenue should run from Washington avenue to Madison avenue instead of Lincoln avenue to Madison avenue, in order to take care of the cellar water of the section lying between Washington and Lincoln avenues. According to the proposed plans of the Fuller firm, submitted at the last meeting of the Council, the line of sewer as concerns North avenue was to run only from Lincoln to Madison avenue. The reason that the Fuller firm gave for reducing the stretch of pipe along North avenue was the fact that the stretch was too long to obtain a sufficient grade to run the water along North avenue and thence down Madison avenue to Greenbrook.

In his report, Mr. Peters furthermore stated that a six foot sewer was wanted by the property-holders along North avenue. Considerable discussion arose as to just how to get a cut sufficient for a six foot sewer. Borough Engineer Churchill stated that the cut could be obtained by running the North avenue pipe down Prospect avenue to Bonegut Brook instead of down Madison avenue into Greenbrook. According to Mr. Churchill's plans pipe could be laid down Madison avenue, but would be separate from the North avenue system. Running the pipe down Prospect avenue to Bonegut Brook will necessitate going under the Central Railroad tracks. The borough would be assessed at the rate of $300 a track for permission to do this. The Mayor stated in this connection that if the plan to run the North avenue pipe into Bonegut Brook south of the tracks was advisable that it might be a good idea to run the pipe into Bonegut Brook via Grove street instead of Prospect avenue, the Mayor stating that the sanitary sewer pipes are going to be laid under the Grove street railroad tracks and the cost of placing the storm sewerage pipes under the tracks could probably be saved by laying them under the tracks at the same time that the sanitary pipes are being laid.

John Fedderman, G. Sumner Smith and Sigard Nicolaysen also spoke on the subject.

Mayor E. B. Latham continued the committee. Another meeting will be held on Monday evening.

"MASQUE SOIREE DANSANT."

Invitations are out for a "Masque Soiree Dansant," to be given in the Dunellen Theatre on Monday, December 14, at 8:30 o'clock. The affair has been arranged by Mrs. Ford Eckerson. The patronesses are Mrs. John Z. Kelly, Mrs. E. B. Latham, Mrs. J. G. Tuttle and Mrs. Paul Carpenter.

GAVE A LUNCHEON.

Mrs. L. T. Churchill, of Fourth street, entertained Mrs. A. L. Barton, Mrs. Raymond Hamley and Mrs. S. Todd Kennedy at a luncheon Monday noon. The luncheon was arranged as a temporary farewell to Mrs. A. L. Barton, who leaves the borough on December 1 with Mr. Barton to spend the winter in New York city.

Richard Trewin and family move on Saturday from the Van Middlesworth house on Front street to the Doyle house at the corner of Jackson and North avenues.

Mrs. Paul Ratti, of North avenue, was taken seriously ill yesterday morning. Dr. T. H. Platt, Jr., the physician in attendance, hadn't diagnosed Mrs. Ratti's ailment up to 9 o'clock this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Wilson, of Dunellen avenue, have returned from a three weeks' trip to Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson spent a week with Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. John G. Beaton, of Durham, Ontario.

Mrs. Charles Painter, of East Orange, is visiting her parents, Captain and Mrs. B. A. Cole, of Washington avenue.

William T. Piddington, of Orange, spent the week-end with his brother, Harry Piddington.

Raymond Hodge, of Plainfield, was a visitor in the borough last evening.

John Egan, of Prospect avenue, was a recent visitor in Elizabeth.

BISHOP WILSON TO PREACH AT REVIVAL

Distinguished Prelate Will Speak at First M. E. Church Tonight.

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of the Methodist Episcopal church, considered one of the great Christian statesmen of the time, will speak at the evangelistic service to be held in the First Methodist church this evening. Everyone is cordially invited to this meeting which will begin at 8 o'clock.

Bishop Wilson is one of the leaders of the largest Protestant denomination in America. He is a Baltimorean born and was graduated in medicine at the University of Maryland. But the feeling that he should devote his talents to the ministry was overpowering. Entering that calling, he served as pastor and presiding elder in Maryland and Washington, D. C., and in 1904 was elected a bishop. Since 1912 he has been resident bishop at New York city, Northern New Jersey and Western Connecticut.

For many years, Bishop Wilson has been president of the Anti-Saloon League of America. As the leader of this movement of the church, he has seen this organization strongly established in every State in the Union.

Bishop Wilson is a preacher of strong conviction, aspiring faith and tremendous emphasis on the fundamentals of Christianity. His education as a physician and his wide travel and extensive acquaintance with men of every type have given him a broad overlook on modern life. He is one of the notable preachers of the time and his presence in Plainfield affords an unusual opportunity for our citizens of every shade of religious faith or unfaith to hear him.

George Townley and Herbert Stine, of the borough, and Schuyler Line and Donald Sminck, of this city, are spending the Thanksgiving holidays with their parents in this city. All are students in the Springfield Training School, at Springfield, Mass. They will return to their studies next Monday.

A unique and pleasant donation social was given in Wilson chapel, last evening, by the Ladies' Aid Society. The chapel was converted into an old-time settler's home and illuminated with candles in quaint pewter ware. As each traveler came in his donation was left at Plymouth Rock. The program included tenor and baritone solos by Douglas W. Demler and Edward F. Bodin; readings by Mrs. Charles E. Spier and Mrs. Margaret Griffiths; old-time songs by the choir; contests and games of indescribable amusements. Coffee and crullers were served by the Puritan ladies, Mrs. William H. Cleaves, Mrs. Harry B. MacDonald, Mrs. John Bodenheimer and Miss Marietta Cass.

Hiram O. Hance has returned from his trip to Haiti, where he has been on a business trip since last spring, to his home on Mountain Boulevard. Mr. Hance arrived in New York city with a straw hat and clothed in a light summer suit, for the temperature when he left Haiti was 102 in the shade, and found that when he arrived the temperature was somewhat colder, being 18 above zero. He went quickly to the nearest clothing house where he bought an overcoat and skating cap.

AUTO DELIVERY AND TOURING CAR COLLIDE

Tepper Brothers' auto delivery car and a large machine belonging to Boice, Runyon & Co., driven by Charles D. Rice, manager, came together at Somerset street and Jackson avenue, today forenoon. The former car was turning from Somerset street into Jackson avenue and the other one was going west on Jackson avenue, when the delivery machine struck the rear of the heavier car.

The axle and steering gear of Tepper Brothers' auto were damaged and the rear mud-guard and tool box of the other machine were put out of commission.

FIGHT ON TROLLEY CAR, FOUR ARE APPREHENDED

Alonzo Gibbs, twenty-two years old, of 309 Arlington avenue; Howard Hall, 237 East Third street; Harry Williams, 607 West Third street; Henry Nesbit, 432 East Fourth street; all colored, were arrested at 1:40 o'clock this morning at the trolley depot as alleged participants in the fight that took place on a Main Line trolley car going west. The fight took place between Westfield and this city. They will all be arraigned for a hearing late this afternoon before City Judge William G. DeMeza.

Nesbit was badly beaten up in the fracas and required medical attention. The prisoners blame each other for the disturbance.

EMIL CLOSS ENTERTAINS BAPTIST BIBLE SCHOOL

Under the auspices of the Temple Baptist Bible School, the monthly social was held at the church, last night. It was probably the best entertainment yet arranged and was enjoyed by an audience that filled the edifice. Instead of the usual formal social, the audience was entertained by Emil Closs, "The Man With the Bells," from Brooklyn. Mr. Closs presented a choice collection of stories, pantomime, costumed monologue and also introduced his famous Swiss hand bells, on which he played many fine selections.

During the evening a purse was presented to the sexton, Mr. Meyers, in appreciation of his faithful services and he in turn presented each of the officers with a cane. An original game by the superintendent of methods, George E. Hall, which was intended to promote sociability and get people acquainted, completed the evening's program and just before closing souvenirs were given to all present. The committee in charge comprised Edward Baker, Jr., Mrs. Evarts C. Conover and George E. Hall.

GEORGE SMITH DEFEATS DAVE CLARIN IN PRELIMINARIES

George C. M. Smith won the preliminary match in the Y. M. C. A. handicap pool tournament last night from David Clarin, who had a handicap of 5. Clarin made his opponent work hard all the time and both were very good on long shots.

This was the only preliminary match of the tournament, there being an odd man, and Smith will now meet F. O. Dunning in the first round match.

RUNYON CHOSEN MAJORITY LEADER

Plainfielder Opposed by Crosby Wins Out by Vote of 23 to 14.

Trenton, Nov. 25.—Carlton Godfrey, of Atlantic county, will be Speaker of the House of Assembly at the coming legislative session. Upton S. Jefferys, of Camden county, will be the clerk, and William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, will be the majority floor leader.

These nominations were made at yesterday's caucus of the Republicans and are tantamount to election.

Godfrey was chosen for the Speakership over John B. Kates, of Camden county, and George H. Dalrymple, of Passaic. Runyon was opposed for the leadership by W. Clive Crosby, of Essex, but won by 23 votes to 14.

VERDICT RETURNED IN $200,000 SUIT

Somerville Water Company, the Defendant, Gets Decision.

A verdict in favor of the defendant was rendered last night by a jury in the United States District Court in the $200,000 damage suit instituted against the Somerville Water Company by Benjamin Lissberger, of New York, owner of the Somerville Iron Works, of Somerville.

The foundry buildings owned by Lissberger were destroyed by fire on July 8, 1909. Lissberger charged that insufficient water pressure was responsible for the loss. The jury rendered its verdict after deliberating for nearly eight hours.

Robert H. McCarter represented the company, and the complainant was represented by Hartwell Cabell and Richard Boardman, of this city.

SIGMA DELTA PHI PLANS FOR MEMBERS' REUNION

The Sigma Delta Phi fraternity of this city, held a meeting and dinner at the home of William V. Rafferty, of Sandford avenue, last night. There were only a few present, as many are away on business trips but plans were made for a reunion of all the members to be held in New York on Monday night, December 30.

Final plans will be made later and at that time all of the members will gather together.

AMERICAN SENTIMENT.

That the American people, a majority of whom apparently favor the Allies in the war abroad, are friendly to the German people as a whole, but are opposed to the individuality of the Kaiser and Prussian militarism, is shown by a canvass which has been made by the Literary Digest. Three hundred and sixty-seven replies to letters sent to newspapers were received by the magazine, and out of these only twenty were pro-German. One hundred and five favored the Allies and two hundred and forty-two said that the feeling in their fields was neutral, but against the Kaiser personally, as already stated.

The thing that hurts Germany is the irretrievable violation of Belgium's neutrality. It is open to serious question whether altogether altruistic motives inspired some of the nations to hurl themselves into the conflict. The geographical location of Belgium and the advantages of a Germanized Belgium to the commercial rivals of Germany would be sufficient to furnish them a motive other than Belgium's neutrality, yet no one can say positively such was the motive. On the other hand the violation of Belgium's neutrality is an accomplished fact. In this country it had the immediate effect of making strong sentiment in favor of Belgium first and then for those who went into the war as defenders of Belgium and crusaders of right. Belgium's smallness and the puny size of her army and war resources intensified sympathy for her. Everything of importance that has happened in the war since has made the trail of ruin in Belgium all the broader and increased pity for that nation. In the face of these things Germany's explanation that she violated Belgium because it was life or death with her to strike first and hard at somebody else is not accepted by the preponderant mass of people in the United States as a just warrant. It is this one thing more than the militarism that is talked about that has sentimentally interested the people of some of the neutral nations in favor of the Allies.

The German character is not assailed by the people of the United States of partisan feeling. This is safe. The world recognizes and does honor to the rugged integrity of the German people, their sobriety, their morality, their thoroughness, their ardent loyalty to German tradition, their deep spirituality, their mastery of science and its great and beneficent contributions to mankind, their home and devoted family ties and their aggressiveness in the world of trade and commerce. None of these things are minimized or not appreciated. It is simply that the best of the qualities of the German people are subordinated by the developments from day to day in the most stupendous and consequential war that man has ever witnessed, or heard of, a war that has resulted in the most defenseless and innocent victim being made the chief victim through the arbitrary disregard of a solemn pact of the nations to be godfather and guardian to the victim. German people should not permit their excusable partisanship to fill their minds with the belief that the non-Germans of the United States are unfriendly to them. As a nation we are neutral, as a people we count the Germans, native and foreign born, citizens of a most desirable class.

In selecting William N. Runyon, of this city, as floor leader of the Republican majority in the House at the coming session of the Legislature, the party is assured an able, conscientious and honest man for the place. There will undoubtedly be much important legislation under consideration this year, and Mr. Runyon has indeed been honored by his associates, for it is seldom that a new member of the House secures the coveted position which has come to the Plainfielder.

While we hope that you will do your full share for the Belgians, don't forget that the Charity Organization Society needs help to care for the deserving poor in Plainfield. The situation here has become serious, as is evidenced by Mayor Stewart's statement given to the papers yesterday.

The ups and downs of the armies in the war abroad are enough to confuse a Philadelphia lawyer. First the Russians are successful, then the Allies, and then the Germans, and then the whole program is turned around.

As the Belgium fund mounts higher, and more ships are sent across the seas to aid the refugees, the more we revert to that song of yesterday: "When it's all going out, and nothing coming in." But it's all in a good cause.

An exchange says that although the Mexican constitutionalist army may be badly equipped and poorly fed, there is no reason why it should do without fine cut as long as General Carranza's whiskers hold out.

There is more than one man who visits the theatre with his wife who has found that it is much safer to dwell on the homeliness of the chorus girls, than on the charms of the leading lady.

As the Paterson Call rises to remark, "Pity the poor turkey!" There is a price on his head,—and also on his wishbone, drum stick and other essential parts.

It cost General Collins $1,386 to be defeated when he sought the Elizabeth Mayoralty. He certainly did not get much of a run for his money.

One thing is sure in the way of forecasts. There will be plenty of indigestion on Friday.

THE FORUM

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

Referring to W. D. Murray's published letter of the 19th inst. regarding Plainfield High School, I cannot refrain from endorsing his views, as my son was graduated last June from the High School and found no difficulty in entering the Yale-Sheffield Scientific School without a condition, and his preparation was so thorough (especially in mathematics) that he has considerable time for athletics and also outside reading.

This is written in appreciation of what is being accomplished by "P. H. C."

Yours truly,
ANGUS McKENZIE.

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

Now that the smoke of the battle of November third has cleared away and the forces of the defeated enemy are scattered far and wide, we can rest for a while on our victorious weapons, rejoicing in the possession of laurels won, and planning for still more glorious conquests in the days shortly to come.

Much has been done to prove to the present administration that its knell has been sounded, and that it is destined to perish, buried in the ruins of the free trade stronghold, so ruthlessly and so arrogantly erected.

Let us rejoice that we have been able to elect to Congress one worthy in every way to bear the Republican standard in the Fifth Congressional District. John H. Capstick, our new representative, is a man imbued with the highest commercial principles and skilled far beyond the ordinary in his application of them. His own success as a business man is ample proof of this. He is, moreover, by natural ability and also by earnest study, well able to grapple with the tariff problem, and, with all matters relating to the manufacturing interests of the country. With such as he in control, we may look forward to a most successful administration, productive of such beneficial results both private and public as to ensure in 1916 a repetition of the success just achieved.

But while we pride ourselves upon what we have already accomplished, let us not forget those whose undying zeal and unflagging energy contributed to our sweeping victory. Let honor and gratitude be the reward of all, and especially of one whose abnegation of self stands out most conspicuously even among the many examples of self-sacrifice which the recent campaign has furnished. I refer to Charles N. Fowler.

Mr. Fowler, as everyone knows, is a man experienced in the government of his country. As chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee in Congress, where he served with honor for sixteen years, he proved himself an authority on the Banking and Currency question. In connection with this, he may not always have stood for those measures which his colleagues could fully endorse, but what he did stand for has been recognized long since, both by colleagues and by opponents, as that which alone was right.

Mr. Fowler has always been a loyal and steadfast adherent of the Republican party, though recognizing and revealing in his actions at times, the belief that every man has the privilege to decide what is the true course to follow. An illustration of this independence was seen in his attitude towards Roosevelt in the Chicago Convention of 1912. Realizing, however, that the policies he supported were not those of the Republican majority, Mr. Fowler sacrificed his own opinions for the good of the party, and with whole-souled loyalty fought with all his might for the return of the regular nominee, Mr. Taft. Since then no more energetic worker, no more true soldier of the Republic, no more faithful adherent to his party can be found than Charles N. Fowler.

Nor has this loyalty, this zeal, this generosity been revealed only in political life. In every phase of social life, too, in which he could help and benefit his fellow-citizens Mr. Fowler has been most prominent. In educational affairs, in matters relating to municipal improvement and expansion, in philanthropic and charitable activities, Mr. Fowler has been always a leader, and to him, more than to anyone else, the town of Elizabeth owes a debt of undying gratitude.

This self-sacrifice will bring, as it has already brought, its own reward. It has brought it in the election of John H. Capstick, whose position was undoubtedly made secure by the energy and hard work of Mr. Fowler. It will bring it, it must bring it, in the election of Mr. Fowler to that office for which the electors of Union and Morris counties have reserved him. I mean that seat in the Senate to which he is to be elected in 1916.

From what has been said no one can do anything but acknowledge Mr. Fowler's deserts. Let us elect him that he may support the Republican president whom we also intend to elect, just as we intend Edward Casper Stokes to be our next Governor. Then, when the good old party is again in power, we may hope for a renewal of those days of prosperity which have for only a brief period been interrupted, but which shall never long be wanting to our beloved country so long as we have such men as Charles N. Fowler to guide the councils of the nation.

STORE OPEN THIS EVENING

TOYLAND OPENING

After months of careful planning we are pleased to announce the opening of our

Greatly Enlarged Toy Department

In spite of war times we are able to present the biggest and best assortment of foreign and domestic toys ever shown in this city. We began as early as last January to provide for this great event. Many of the toys were actually in the store when the war broke out, while others were on the way, and all were bought at the low prices prevailing at that time; so that in addition to big stocks, you will also find our toys priced the lowest in the city.

A feature that will appeal to the grown-ups who bring the little tots to see the toys, is that they are shown right on the main floor; there's no climbing up or down stairs. Another feature is, the toys on exhibition are the samples that we sell from. We don't send you the ones that have been handled and played with; your order is filled from fresh new stocks, just as they come from the makers.

It would require a page to enumerate all the toys shown; many of them exclusively by us, so come and see for yourselves and bring the children. Make your selections now while the stocks are at their best. Deliveries can be made at your convenience.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The best thing in town on Thanksgiving Day and for the remainder of the week for that matter, will be the big vaudeville bill at Proctor's Theatre. Beginning with tomorrow, Messrs. Proctor and Sanderson will provide an offering second to none. The bill will be headed by LeHoen & Duprecia, presenting a spectacular novelty production that is described as "the pretttist act in vaudeville. In this number, a big surprise awaits the Proctor patrons. May Elinor, who is a sister to the famous Kate Elinor, will be seen with Robert Franckins in a singing and comedy act. Those who have seen the Elinor sisters in the past know that they are capable of only the best in the comedy lines. The Five Bell Ringers will give an unusual musical act and Carl Stetzer and Company will present a comedy sketch entitled "The Coon Detective." Coates, Keene & Johnson, colored singers and dancers, will complete the bill.

left, and you didn't want them there?"

"Yes, they would poison her mind against me."

"Did you refuse to let your wife have medical attention?"

"No; that is absolutely false."

"What were your relations with your wife's son before and after your marriage?"

"Unpleasant."

"What were your relations with the Krugs up to 1909 and 1910?"

"Friendly till the period of that difficulty which resulted in my ejecting them from the premises."

"Did you offer to work for your board at Mrs. Taylor's Hotel at Schroon Lake in the Adirondacks?"

"No; absolutely not."

"Did you ever say you wanted the property for your sister?"

"No."

Colonel Hardy's cross-examination was exceedingly brief. Here is the whole of it:

Mr. Lum—"The title of 'Colonel' is borrowed, isn't it?"

Colonel Hardy—"I never gained it."

Mr. Lum—"Ah! Merely an honorable title."

"VISION OF CHRIST FOR HIS CHURCH"

Rev. George F. Ream Preaches Strong Sermon at Evangelistic Service.

Rev. George F. Ream, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, of Westfield, preached at the evangelistic service in the First M. E. church, last evening, from the text John 20-21: "As my Father hath sent me, even so I send you."

The preacher said: "This was Christ's farewell commission to his desciples," in his discourse he developed three great thoughts which was in the mind of Christ when he spoke these words. First, the development of a more intense devotion to Him; second, to square personal character with His will; third, to work out in personal service His great plan in the salvation of the world.

None of us can say that he is what he ought to be in devotion, character, or service when we catch the vision of Christ for his church, every one must confess that he falls far below the standard which Christ has set.

The question for us to face, said the preacher, is, how can we move up from our low level in these three particulars in Christian life and experience? at the same time the speaker pointed out some of the difficulties and hindrances which prevent one from rising to the higher levels, from out of the mist and fog, into the clear sunlight of God's favor, when he could have the vision that Jesus Christ meant we should have when He said, "As my Father hath sent me even so I send you."

"What was that vision?" said the speaker. "It was the unfinished task which Christ himself left to his church to complete in the establishment of His Kingdom in this world." Among the difficulties cited by the preacher which stood in one's way of realizing this vision, was the fact that people are apt to think that as individuals they have small talents and limited opportunities; this the speaker said was superficial thinking and must be put aside if we were to rise to the place where Christ would have us stand in point of devotion to Him, personal character and service.

This controlling vision which Christ had, and which we as his disciples must have consists, first, in having a proper conception of God as our Father, until Christ came no one thought of God, as a kind, loving father; but Jesus shows us that we may have that same personal knowledge which he had that God is our father with all that that implies of comradeship,and love and the victory which comes with such knowledge. Secondly, Jesus had a great conviction of the sinfulness of sin; because of the contrast between the infinite and perfect holiness of that atmosphere which he left behind him when he came into this world, his conception of sin was beyond anything that we have ever conceived; so that He was willing to die that men might be saved from their sins.

Thirdly, He saw the value of a man—of human life—the worth of an immortal soul—and he undertook the task of reconstructing fallen, sinful man and of building up a perfect character, not by patching up the holes which sin had made in the life, but by making the man over and giving him a new nature. This is what gives value to every man in this vision of the Christ. And we must catch this vision in its eternity if we would fulfill our mission as those sent out to do the work which he has committed to us, and of completing his great task in the establishing of his Kingdom in the hearts of men.

THANKSGIVING DAY OF HALF CENTURY AGO

The Thanksgiving Day of 1864, which fell on November 24, was perhaps the most touching in our history. It was a gloomy day in the lines of the North and the South. Worn by battle and privations, just as the contending armies in Europe are today exhausted by the rigors of warfare, this November holiday was a trying event.

We read in the chronicles of the time that 59,000 pounds of turkey was sent to the Army of the Potomac, and 36,000 pounds to Sheridan's troops in the Shenandoan Valley. But turkey did not relieve the weariness, the heart-sickness of the armies. And while the little feast was being spread, Lee's men had neither food nor festivity in abundance. November was their hardest month. They were short on rations, which promised to become shorter. The granaries of the Shenandoah were closed to them, and Sheridan had the key in his pocket. Their communications with the South had been narrowed, and though Lee talked cheerfully in public, his private letters to Richmond betrayed how desperate he considered th fortunes of the Confederacy.

The civil population of the South was suffering for salt on that Thanksgiving Day, while tea and coffee were but fragrant memories. All of the Confederacy was suffering together, just as the Belgians and the French are suffering today. The appearance of the Confederate soldiers pained observers. One of the observers wrote:

"We were shocked at the condition, the complexion, the expression of the men, and of the officers too, even with the field officers. Indeed, we could scarcely realize that the unwashed, uncombed, unfed and almost unclad creatures we saw were officers of rank and reputation in the army."

To the North, Thanksgiving brought a more cheerful atmosphere, for here the horrors were not so acute and there was at least comfort and food and partial happiness. It was the fourth Thanksgiving since the war began, and it was hailed as likely to be the last that would see the rebellion still active. As they sat about the board, the people of the North realized that the South had lost Mobile and Atlanta. Lee had been penned up in Petersburg; the Alabama had been sent to the bottom; Lincoln had been re-elected. The memory of the carnage of the Wilderness campaign was dimmed by the triumphs of Farragut, Sherman and Sheridan. The trend of events was unmistakable.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

The Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., will receive sealed bids at the Board room in the High School Building, corner West Ninth Street and Arlington Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at a meeting to be held on Wednesday, December 9, 1914, at 8 p. m., for the construction of a school building on Evergreen Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Plans and specifications can be obtained by bidders on application to Messrs. Wilder & White, Architects, 50 Church Street, New York City, on deposit with the said architects of a certified check of $25.00, payable to the order of the Board of Education of Plainfield, which check will be returned on the return of the drawings and specifications.

The work will be let in four contracts: 1. For the general construction. 2. For the Heating and Ventilating work. 3. For the Plumbing work. 4. For the Electrical and Vacuum Cleaner system, and separate bids will be received on each contract.

All bids are to be on forms furnished with the specifications and accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank or trust company, payable to the order of the Board of Education, Plainfield, N. J., or a surety bond of a company authorized to do business in the State of New Jersey, in the amount of five per cent. of the estimate submitted.

All bids or proposals are to be in writing and sealed, and addressed to the Secretary of the Board. Each bid must state explicitly upon what portion of the work it is based.

Upon receipt of bids or proposals, the Secretary will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce their contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received by the Board previous to the hour designated and none will be received thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive any or all formalities.

'PHONE DIRECTORY HAS 121,500 NAMES

150,000 Copies Will Be Distributed Throughout New Jersey Territory.

The fall issue of the New York Telephone Company's New Jersey Telephone Directory is now being distributed in Plainfield and elsewhere in the State. The new directory contains 121,500 names on 436 pages, and it will have a circulation of 152,000 copies.

When the New York Telephone Company, in February, 1913, combined the local and suburban New Jersey directories into one book, so as to make it easier for subscribers to use the telephone information provided for them, the company distributed 140,000 telephone directories. The 1913 fall issue of the New Jersey book had a circulation of 150,000 copies, and the new fall directory shows a circulation gain of 2,000 copies, despite the fact of the business depression upon the telephone business. The new directory has 6,500 more listings and it is 20 pages larger than the directory issued in the fall of 1913.

The telephone company at this time is also distributing new city directories in New York city and new local directories in Long Island and Westchester. New York will receive 606,000 directories containing the names of 325,000 subscribers on 952 pages. These figures show a gain of 41,000 copies, 20,000 names, and 64 pages over the 1913 fall edition.

A new feature of the New York directory is the addition of another central office known as "Cathedral." This exchange is in the Manhattan-Bronx district, and will serve about 3,000 subscribers at the start. New York city now has 74 local offices handling messages sent over nearly 554,000 telephones.

Approximately 57,000 local directories will be delivered in Westchester and about 40,000 in Long Island, so that the combined directory distribution in the company's territory in New Jersey and its down-state divisions of New York State totals 855,000 books.

As usual, the directories now in use will be collected as the new books are delivered, so that only the most up-to-date directory information may be in circulation.

That Connie Mack, the baseball wizard, can put a team of nine men into the field, not one of whom ever touched a drop of liquor, and but one of whom knows the taste of tobacco, was the statement of Ira Thomas, catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, made recently at a dinner given in honor of the American and National league stars when they played in the far west. The Philadelphia $100,000 infield ocnsists of men who do not know the taste of liquor, and only one has ever used tobacco, according to Thomas, who dwelt upon the subject of sobriety among players of the national game.

Elmer E. Dugan, Philadelphia, has invented a machine that weighs, measures and detects the load in a bowling ball all at one operation. The machine will show up a loaded ball better than the mercury bath. Dugan's invention probably will be adopted at all big tourneys where dodo balls are barred.

One of the greatest quarterbacks the world has ever seen was Vincent Stevenson, who piloted the Pennsylvania teams in 1904 and 1905. Stevenson was of course a marvelous individual player, but his generalship, his ability to size up an opponent's weakness and strength were what made him most valuable. The coaches seldom told Stevenson how to plan his attack in a game. He developed his campaign as he went along, as he felt out his opponents.

Football has been robbed of much of its former brutality and fatality by the almost universal adoption this year of the open single game. The season is nearly over, yet the reports of deaths and serious injuries among the tens of thousands who play the game have been fewer so far than in any similar period in the history of the college sport.

The proverbial hard luck of Long Tom Hughes, for years with the Washington club, evidently followed him to the Pacific coast, where he pitched all season just closed with the Los Angeles team. An enterprising automobile concern had offered a $3,000 machine to any Los Angeles pitcher winning 25 games. Hughes had 24 to his credit when he was sent in to hurl the game on the last day against a second division club. Long Tom tried so hard to win that he lost, if only by a single run. However, with 24 victories to his credit, Hughes' season could hardly be considered other than a success, even though he did lost the game that meant a machine.

Columbia university had only two paying sports, according to the recent statement of the year ending August 31. Basket ball cleared $1,030.43 and baseball $456.15. The greatest loss was the crew, the amount being $6,628.50, with no gate receipts.

His thumb sound again, Champion Johnny Kilbane has begun active training for his coming clash with Joe Mandot, which is set for December 7. Kilbane donned the gloves for the first time Friday, and handed his sparring partners some stiff facers. "The thumb's all O. K. again," chirped the little champion, as he wound up the day's work.

Bob Folwell, wizard coach of the Washington & Jefferson college team, need not remain buried at Washington, Pa., if he cares to tackle a bigger football proposition. If Folwell says the word he will be installed as coach at the University of Pennsylvania next season. George Brooke, present coach of Penn, has a contract for 1915, but if Penn can secure Folwell, a former Penn star lineman, Brooke's contract will be disposed of. Washington & Jefferson authorities will put up a big fight to retain Folwell.

This certainly is a tough old world. Chicago scribes this fall have written much about the secret meetings between Charley Weeghman, owner of the Chifeds, and Charley Taft, owner of the Cubs. Every meeting furnished a story about Weeghman dickering for the Cubs. But there should be no more of those stories. Someone has let the cat out of the bag. Several of Weeghman's restaurants are located in buildings owned by Taft. They meet to discuss leases, improvements, etc.

ELKS TOOK A PAIR FROM PATERSONIANS

League Leaders Fall Before Plainfielders Who do Some Good Rolling.

ELKS' LEAGUE RECORD.

	W.	L.	H.S.
Paterson	15	6	1035
Jersey City	13	8	1070
Newark	11	7	1016
New Brunswick	7	8	1039

Hoboken	7	8	976
New York	8	10	1029
Rahway	6	9	912
Rutherford	7	11	997
Plainfield	6	12	975

In the two Elks' League bowling matches that were decided last night, there were some lively doings. The leading Paterson five dropped two games out of three on the Plainfield alleys, but retained first place by a two-game margin, for the Jersey City pin-knights, who were second, lost two games out of three, at home, to the New Brunswick pin-knights. In the last match the pinning was extraordinary, five of the six totals being 1,000 or better. Jersey City had counts of 1,070, the latter being a season's league record, 1,033 and 1,000, for an average of 1,034.1. New Brunswick was there for 1,039 and 1,006 in the first two games, in which they recorded victories by margins of six pins in each contest, but fell to 962 in the final game. They averaged 1,002.1. High individual scores, of course, were numerous. Wright marked 253, 226 and 220, for an average of 233. Mahlenback was there for 250, 221 and 210, averaging 227. Corydon had tallies of 221 and 212 and averaged a pin better than two hundred. For the visitors Coyne rolled 237 and 216, and his average was 212.1. Burton comes through with 218 and 216, McCormick scored 213 and 206, averaging a pin better than 200, and Harkins had a 224.

In this city the pinning was not quite as sensational, but there was some excellent work. Plainfield started with 919, showing the way by sixty-two pins; came back with 975, for a victory by fifty-eight pins and wound up with 822, the visitors, with 895, being seventy-three pins to the good. Taylor rolled 205 twice for the Paterson team. Hausin was there for 213. Blatz rolled 212 for Plainfield. Kiely had 214, Vail 208 and Campbell 206. The scores:

ORIOLES WILL PLAY THE STRONG PRINCETON ELEVEN

Two of the fastest colored elevens in New Jersey will try for football honors on Parker Field tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Orioles, of this city, and the Princeton Colored Y. M. C. A. eleven. The Princeton team played here last Thanksgiving Day, beating the locals by the score of 6-0, but as the Orioles are much stronger this year a great contest is expected. Manager Hobson has been giving his men the hardest kind of drilling for this encounter.

Captain Harry Kline says his men are in fine condition and is confident of winning. Princeton scouts have been watching the Orioles in practice to get a line on their rivals' style of football. A large delegation from Trenton and Princeton will witness the game. On Saturday, November 28, the Orioles will journey to Maurer Oval, Dunellen, to play the Monarch A. C.

The Orioles will lineup as follows: Somerville, centre; H. Pollard, right guard; Pollard and Ford, left guard; L. Gibbs, right tackle; Rogers and Sanders, left tackle; C. Barnes, left end; Roberts and Clay, right end, Maden, quarterback; H. Kline (Capt.), left halfback; E. Ford, right halfback; Robingson and McQuay, fullback.

BORO GIRLS TROUNCE KEARNY H. S. SEXTET

Playing on Saengerbund Hall Court, Visitors Had No Chance for Game.

The North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team ran away from the Kearny girls' team in Saengerbund Hall, yesterday afternoon, and registered a 32 to 11 victory. The visitors were never in it from the time the first whistle blew until the game was over, as the great passing of the boroughites completely outwitted them. The home girls were out to win this contest and never let up one bit during the whole half hour of play, although their opponents did show a good spurt for a few seconds during the last half.

The passing of the North Plainfield team was the keynote to their victory and the way the ball was worked from their opponents goal to their own forwards shows the result of hard practice. In the first half when a side centre was used, the six borough girls worked like a machine and kept the ball in their territory most of the time.

Miss Marjorie Burtis, captain of the team, again led the boroughites in the scoring line and proved that she is still the mainstay of the team. She was too quick for her guard and made some very difficult shots. Playing with her as her right hand helper, was Miss Lillian Spencer, who played last year, and she also showed old time form in shooting and passing. In the first half the Kearny forwards were completely helpless in the hands of the local guards and they did not score a field goal, the only points being three fouls while the home team scored 14 points.

In the second half Miss Frederick slipped away from her opponent long enough to cage two field goals and her teammate, Miss Carling, scored one in this half and two fouls. In the latter part of the period the visitors showed some fast playing, but only for a minute or two. Many fouls were called on the Kearny team for overguarding, but both Miss Burtis and Miss Spencer were unable to make but few of them good.

After the game the Kearny delegation was the guests of the borough girls at a "feed," which was held in the manual training rooms of the school. A return game will be played at Kearny.

The score:

KEARNY.	G.	F.	P.

MASON AND BOWLBY IN RUTGERS LINEUP

Star Football Players to Face New York University Team Tomorrow.

Robert Bowlby, of Somerville, and Howard Mason, of Bound Brook, will play with Rutgers in the game with New York University on Thanksgiving Day. Both of these men played throughout the Stevens contest last Saturday. Bowlby was one of the biggest ground gainers for Rutgers and scored two touchdowns. His line-plunging was the feature of the game. Coach Sanford says that the Somerville boy is the best plunging half-back in college and predicts a regular place on the team for him next season.

Mason is rapidly developing into one of the best line men in the squad. He is exceptionally fast for a heavy man and is rapidly gaining football experience. He has already played in several games this year and will probably make the varsity letter. As a centre he passes well and has replaced Miller, the regular pivot man, during the past few games.

Rutgers will play two games this week, both in New York. The big game of the season will be staged in the Polo Grounds with Washington and Jefferson. This will practically decide the minor college championship. Both teams have shown exceptional form this year and should furnish some stirring football. The game will start at 2 o'clock. Tickets can be purchased for one or two dollars.

TRENTON CENTRAL Y. M. C. A. TOMORROW

Will Be the Main Attraction on the Y. M. C. A. Court Tomorrow Night.

The Y. M. C. A. will be the scene of the only basketball games in town tomorrow night, when the strong Central Y. M. C. A. aggregation is due to appear here for a hot fight. Hope Chapel's game in the afternoon leaves the Y. M. C. A. the only one in action and a record crowd is expected to see this game and also the preliminary that will undoubtedly prove a fine contest.

The Trenton quintet has been playing all the teams in that vicinity and has made a good record. The local association players will get in a good short practice tonight and expect to win their second verdict of the year.

The preliminary match will be between the local Springfield Training School students and an All-Star Interscholastic team and should prove to be very exciting. The first game will begin at 8 o'clock sharp and the main attraction will be started at 8:15.

HOPE CHAPEL WILL PLAY INDEPENDENTS

Perth Amboy Junior Title Aspirants Will Be the Local's Opponent.

The Hope Chapel basketball team will lineup against the strong Independent A. A. quintet from Perth Amboy tomorrow afternoon, on the local court at 3 o'clock. The Independents were runners-up for the Junior title last season, and made the fine record of 21 victories and 5 defeats during the season.

The Fourth street team will be greatly strengthened in tomorrow's game as several of the old players will don basketball suits and get into the game for the Chapel again. Johnny Heron will play with his brother at forward and the Snyder brothers, Guy and Allen, will probably take care of the opposing forwards. Wardrop will play the pivot position.

The teams will lineup as follows:

Hope Chapel.	Independents.
T. Heron	Sullivan
forward
J. Heron	Baker
forward
Wardrop	Smith
centre
A. Snyder	Baker
guard
G. Snyder	Ankosko

LOCAL HORSE FANCIER GUEST AT TESTIMONIAL

John J. O'Donohue, the well known local horseman and owner of Donnybrook Farms in Plainfield, was one of the guests of honor at a testimonial dinner given to Harry Content, in Hotel Biltmore, last night. Content was for many years president of the Long Branch Horse Show Association and is well known to local exhibitors.

The dinner was a complete surprise for the guest of honor, and as he entered the banquet room he was greeted by a blast of coach horns from the party. The table was decorated to represent a miniature horse show ring, and the waiters wore riding breeches and red hunting jackets.

MRS. STOCKTON SELECTED A MEMBER COMMITTEE

The executive committee of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association has selected the nominating committee which will name the officers of the association for 1915.

Mrs. Howard F. Whitney, Nassau, is the chairman of the nominating committee, and the other members are Mrs. T. B. Neilson, Hackensack; Mrs. Frederick J. Reynolds, Essex County; Mrs. H. R. Stockton, Plainfield, and Mrs. J. A. Philbrick, Montclair.

The annual meeting of the W. M. G. A. will be held on January 28.

P. H. S. ALUMNI SEXTET WILL PRACTICE TONIGHT

The Plainfield High School girls' Alumni basketball team that will meet the High School team in the first game of the season on the Ninth street court, Saturday night, will practice tonight in the gym and all Alumnae who wish to play in that game should report at that time.

Miss Helen Brynairski, who is acting captain of the team, has a good squad to put against the 1914 sextet and a good contest will undoubtedly be the result. Many of the players who were stars in former years will play again. The practice tonight will start at 8:15.

GEORGE LEIGHS RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF HOPE CHAPEL

George Leighs, manager of the Hope Chapel basketball team, resigned from that office at the practice of the squad which was held on the Chapel court last night. Leighs has been manager of the team for four years previous to this and has always put out a fine schedule for the Fourth street aggregation. This year he took the position but found that he could not keep it.

However, Leighs, being familiar with many teams and managers in this vicinity, held the job until the schedule had been practically completed and now has games booked for every playing day up to Washington's Birthday. No action was taken on the matter last night, but a special meeting of the squad will probably be called in the near future to fill the vacancy. The team practiced under the direction of Coach Martin last night.

N. P. H. S.-ALUMNI ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Game and Dance to Be Held in Saengerbund Hall at That Time.

The North Plainfield High School basketball team will play its first game of the season Friday night, in Saengerbund Hall, but the match will be in the form of a practice game. Manager VanMater intended to have a regular High School team here at that time and give the students another of the popular Friday night dances, but the team from Roselle has cancelled and left the borough booker in a hole. After trying to get another contest with a local aggregation for that date the manager has turned to the ever-ready "Alumni," who have consented to play.

This will be only a practice game and will be the best thing for the boroughites just before opening their schedule. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock and will be followed by dancing. The teams will probably lineup as follows:

N. P. H. S.	Alumni.
Townley	Stine
forward
Conroy	Taylor
forward
VanMater	Dunning

Abrams (Capt.)	Burner

GRADUATES TO PLAY CITY SCHOOL TEAM

Annual Holiday Battle to Be Fought on Parker Field Tomorrow Morning.

The annual Plainfield High School-Alumni football game will be played at 10:30 tomorrow morning at Parker Field, and although the school team has been playing all season and is in good form they will be forced to travel at top speed. Some of the players who will be pitted against the schoolboys are also training, but most of them have not played any this year. The best possible material has been signed by Captain Lindzey and the squad will practice tonight at 7:30 o'clock on Marshall Field. All who wish to get into the scrimmage tomorrow morning are urged to report tonight or be on the field in football togs tomorrow at 9:30. Jim Nash and Mills will probably hold down the halfback positions and Lindsey will be in fullback.

"Piggy" Bristol is in the lineup and will probably play on the line. Joe Carty will play the pivot position with Sminck and VanZandt holding down the ends. The High School team will consist of the regular players and it will be the last contest of the season for the school team. The teams will probably lineup as follows:

P. H. S.	Alumni
Semer	Sminck
left end
Miller	Dunwell
left tackle
Pennock	Widowson
left guard
Wheelan	Carty
centre
Mumford	Bristol

Plainfield merchants are in business to sell good goods, at fair profits and prices, and the consumers should be willing to take that fact into consideration in doing their shopping.

Merchants are in business to make money. They sell their merchandise for that purpose. The consumers desire to purchase what they want, when they want, at the price they want, and their wants can be readily satisfied in this city.

One good turn deserves another. When the merchant feels that he can depend upon the local mechanic for business, he immediately patronizes the mechanic of the home town, proving that labor creates wealth, and the circulation of wealth creates labor.

GOOD FOOTBALL BILL ON FOR TOMORROW

Holy Cross and Monarchs Will Battle on Cricket Field in Afternoon.

The much talked of Holy Cross and Monarch football game is at last near at hand and, although the former team is a great favorite there will undoubtedly be a great crowd present to see just what the North Plainfield eleven can and will do to the Dunellen warriors. Manager Doyle was practically forced to give the Dunellen aggregation a game and as a holiday attraction both teams will have their full list of supporters out to cheer them on.

Results of previous games between teams that both of the contenders of tomorrow's battle have played, give Holy Cross the game before it is started, but scores cannot be counted on to pick winners, and the team from up the line may spring something in the coming game that might even turn the tide of the battle.

The Dunellen team will have its best players on the field and only injuries of a serious nature will weaken it by substitutions. Holy Cross will also use its regular men and are anticipating an easy win. The game will start promptly at 3:15 o'clock. The teams will probably line up as follows:

Monarchs	Holy Cross
"Ded" Maurer	Webster, Cumming
left end
Benson	Lee
left tackle
Gray	Howarth
left guard
Harris	Carty center
Rinehart	Glover

JACKSON WON EVENT IN COLLEGE LEAGUE

Eleven members of the College League of the Y. M. C. A., took part in the standing broad jump event at the association, last night, and Jackson came out ahead with a jump of 7 feet 9 inches. Harvard had the most men in the final column with the following results:

Jackson, Harvard, 7.9; Lathom, Harvard, 7.8; Douglas, Yale, 7.5; Weglau, Princeton, 7.5; Willett, Rutgers, 7.5; Angerbauer, Harvard, 7.5; Tomlinson, Harvard, 6.10; Snyder, Princeton, 6.8; Hammann, Yale, 5.6; Condict, Rutgers, 4.10; Keller, Harvard, 4.

FIRST DEFEAT HANDED TO SMITH-VAIL COMBINATION

Stryker-Ward	1	7	.125
VanAlstyne-Logan	1	11	.083

The Smith-Vail combination, of the Dunellen woman's bowling tournament, lost its first game last night, to the Arnold-Ryan duo. They won three and have a record of twelve victories and one defeat and still have a good hold on first place in the standings. The last game they played last night was a tie but in the extra frame they won easily.

The results and standings follow:

ZEEK WINS BROAD JUMP.

The High School class of the Y. M. C. A. held the running broad jump yesterday, and the event was won by H. Zeek, of the Giants, with a mark of 14 feet 9 inches. Brownlee and Clawson, both of the Giants, were second and third respectively, with jumps of 13.4 and 12.4. The results follow:

Zeek, Giants, 14.9; Brownlee, Giants, 13.4; Clawson, Giants, 12.4; Price, 11.9; Beekman, Athletics, 11.6; Brower, Giants, 11.3; Manley, Athletics, 10.8.

PLAINFIELDER ELECTED TRUSTEE OF K. OF C. CHAPTER

A delegation of members from Watchung Council, K. of C., attended the monthly meeting of Chapter No. 1, Knights of Columbus, at Newark, Sunday. In the election of officers, Charles L. Kling, of the local council, was elected a trustee.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the annual charity ball to be held under the auspices of the chapter in Newark, early in 1915.

The Plainfielders at the meeting were F. Otto Linke, John J. McCaffrey, Charles L. Kling, John Traynor, Fred J. Hillman and John T. Caulfield.

CHARACTERS SELECTED FOR GIRLS A. A. PLAY

The play to be presented by the Girls' Athletic Association, of the Plainfield High School, "A Case for Sherlock Holmes," is rapidly rounding into form under the careful eye of H. F. Biddle, faculty director of dramatics. If rehearsals speak for anything the play will be one of the best ever presented by the association. The reserved seat tickets will be on sale at Miller's drug store Saturday morning. The play will be held in the Plainfield High School auditorium on Saturday evening, December 5. The cast of the characters is as follows: "Eugenia Michalford," the bride, Ruth Voorhees; "Willfred Sherman," the maid of honor, Ruth Fuller; "Olive Lovering," Elizabeth Marchant; "Helen Pinkley," Elsi Stevens; "Julia Marden," Elizabeth Moyer; "Estelle Freeman," Dorothy Simons; "Ruth Winslup," Marion Van Zandt; "Margaret Mallorey," Ernestine Wilson; "Cyrene Whitcomb," Eugenia's aunt, Charlotte Taylor; "Louisa Whitcomb," Mildred Burnett. Miss Elizabeth Martin has been appointed business manager and Miss Margaret Eaton will assist her. Miss Edith Lowry is chairman of the stage committee and Arthur Brick is stage manager.

ZAPATA REPORTED IN MEXICAN CAPITAL

Fears Expressed at Washington for Americans—Carbajal Killed.

Washington, Nov. 25—Mexico City has been taken by General Zapata and his men, according to unofficial advices received at the State Department today. General Blanco, who declared he could police and protect the capital until some responsible authority was established, is said to have retreated, but no information is obtainable as to the direction in which he withdrew.

The greatest anxiety is felt for Americans and foreigners now in the Mexican capital. The Zapatistas, according to all information here, are in reality brigands and unaccustomed to discipline. It is hoped that General Villa and his army will reach Mexico City before Anarchy prevails. He was last reported only a short distance from the capital.

Galveston, Nov. 2—General Caraajal was killed and his command routed on November 18, according to authentic advices received here today. He revolted against the Carranza Government on November 15. He was slain in an attack on the garrison of that place.

DUNELLEN POLICE SEEK RELATIVES OF A SUICIDE

Requested by the police of Denver, Col., to locate a mysterious "Aunt Catherine," the Dunellen minions of the law are today sleuthing about that suburb in an effort to solve the strange enigma that has been suddenly thrust upon them. A letter was received today from the Denver authorities apprising the Dunellen force of the death of one Gottlieb Matter and the subsequent finding of a letter on his person coming from an "Aunt Catherine" living in Dunellen, N. J. The man was found dead in his home, 1408 Fifteenth street, Denver, having committed suicide by sending a bullet through his brain.

Being unknown in the western city the police at once set about to establish his identity but the aforementioned letter was the only scrap of information that was revealed by the investigators. The communication is written in German and the "aunt" announces in the letter that she is about to return home to Gottlieb's mother.

Who the aunt is the Dunellen police have not as yet been able to determine and it is the belief of the suburban authorities that she was just making a short visit to that borough when the letter was written.

DECIPLES OF JESSE JAMES ROUNDED UP BY POLICE

Alleged to have committed petty depredations in the business section of the city, Stephen Austin, fifteen years old, of Cottage place; Clarence Biggs, nine years old, of 106 North avenue; Eddie Conger, eleven years old, 222 New street; Jack Isaacson, twelve years old, 415 Plainfield avenue, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy in the rear of Proctor's Theatre on West Front street.

When caught the boys were gathered about a bon-fire discussing "Diamond Dick" stories. They will be given a hearing Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

WAR NEWS

forcements in the neighborhood of Lodz are merely the garrisons from the fortresses along the Vistula. The situation in Southern Poland is considered favorable for the Germans although it is admitted that the Germans, if victorious, will be unable to pursue the Russians with their present forces.

Amsterdam, Nov. 25 (Central News Cable).—The British bombardment of the Flemish coast in the vicinity of the German base at Zeebrugge continued yesterday until 5 o'clock when it slackened, apparently satisfied that it had silenced the German guns, says a despatch from Maasbode.

Reports reaching here this evening state that heavy German reinforcements are moving through Belgium to the west. It is believed another attempt to break through the Allies' lines is about to be made.

Lisbon, Portugal, Nov. 25 (Delayed, Centrals News Cable).—Parliament met Monday and the government proposed that Portugal intervene in a warlike manner, whenever it should be found expedient in the present European war. The proposal was unanimously accepted and the Allies were enthusiastically cheered.

Berlin, Nov. 25 (Via Wireless to London.—The following communication was given out at army headquarters:

"British warships again appeared off the Belgian coast yesterday and bombarded Lombaertsyde and Zeebrugge. Our troops suffered but slight damage from this bombardment, but a number of Belgian villagers were killed and injured. Otherwise no actual changes have occurred in the west.

"In the eastern war theatre the situation has not yet been decided. In East Prussian our troops are holding their own, to the northeast of the plain of the Mazur Lakes.

"In Northern Poland the fierce fighting which has been taking place still has been without result. In Southern Poland in the regions of Czenstochowa activities have come to a standstill.

"On our southern wing, to the northeast of Cracow, our attack is still progressing. The official Russian report that Generals Liebert and Tannewitz had been made prisoners in East Prussia is an intervention General Liebert is at present in Berlin, and General Tannewitz is at the head of his troops."

Vienna, Nov. 25 (Central News Cable, via Amsterdam).—The following official statement was given out late last night by the Austrian general army headquarters, making no admission of reverses for the Germans or Austrians:

"The battle in Poland continues vigorously despite the cold. The Austrians have made progress on both sides of the Pilica River, capturing many prisoners. There are now 110,000 prisoners at concentration camps in Austro-Hungary.

Sofia, Nov. 25 (Central News Cable).—Bulgaria is nearer war now than she has been at any time since the general European conflict began. Leaders of the Agrarian, National and Liberal parties in session yesterday at Sobranje declared in orations that the Austrian forces are approaching the Bulgarian frontier and that there is good reason to fear that they may cross Bulgaria with the object of assisting the Turks. A formal demand was drawn up for the formation of a new national ministry and the occupation by Bulgaria of Macedonia. An agreement with the Powers of the Triple Entente was also debated, but no decision had been reached when the meeting adjourned.

San Francisco, Nov. 25.—The steamers Olson and Mahony have been refused clearance from this port by Collector J. O. Davis, acting upon instructions from the Treasury Department at Washington. The steamers had been loading a cargo of ship supplies. The supplies carried were similar to cargo on the steamship Sacramento, reported seized off the coast of Chile by German cruisers several days ago.

STEPHEN FITZGERALD.

Stephen Fitzgerald, aged about 35 years, a former resident of the borough, died in St. Louis Monday night, following an illness with complications. He was a telegraph operator and before going West was employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company. He is survived by several relatives in the borough. The body will be brought East for burial.

POTTED PLANTS FOR LIVING ROOM

Flowers Should Be of the Same General Character.

GET POTTING SOIL

This May Be Prepared at Home, But Usually Takes Considerable Care and Forethought—Repotting of Plants.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Many lovers of flowers who have not the time to bother with an indoor window-box, enjoy keeping a number of potted plants in the living room during the winter. Some, in fact, have turned a bay window into a small conservatory or winter garden merely by an attractive arrangement of plants in separate pots. When a window-box is filled, the plants must be of the same general character to be successful, but if one's winter garden is made up of plants in separate pots, a greater variety may be kept, as each plant may receive different treatment in the matter of light, watering, soil, etc., and palms, rubber plants, and cacti, which call for special handling, may be added. Begonias, ivy, smilax, and aspidistra, all good plants for indoor culture, demand more or less the same treatment, as was explained in a previous article sent out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, describing the indoor window-box.

Those who do not have gardens would do better to get potting soil of the nearest florist for their potted plants. Good potting soil may be prepared at home but it usually takes considerable care and forethought. Those willing to take the trouble may prepare it by using one part compost, one part good loam and one part sand. The compost should be cow manure and good turf rotted together for a year and turned two or three times in the interim. Well decomposed leaf would answer as a partial substitute for the compost. One-twentieth part bone meal is a good addition to the mixture. If the loam is very heavy, containing much clay, its proportion should be somewhat diminished. If the loam is light and sandy, reduce the amount of sand, or in some localities omit it altogether.

Potted plants should be examined occasionally to see whether or not the plant requires repotting. This is done by holding the hands over the top of the pot, inverting plant and all, tapping the edge of the pot so as to loosen it, then lifting the pot off. This cannot be done unless the soil is moderately moist. If the ball of earth is completely covered with roots, the plant should be put in a slightly larger pot with new potting soil "firmed" about the old ball of earth by "firming" with the fingers. Then wet thoroughly.

A housewife who desires a few potted plants but does not possess the regulation flower pots, may prepare tin cans that will be quite satisfactory. A small hole should be made in the bottom of the can and a piece of broken crockery or a few stones put in the bottom of the can before the earth is added, in order to give the proper drainage. The stones or crockery should be also used in the regular flower pot.

Hanging baskets may be used advantageously to make an indoor winter garden attractive. They should be hung near a light window.

Geraniums.—If geraniums are potted so that the root growth is restricted, and if they are kept fairly dry, they may be forced to bloom during the winter. Geraniums are attractive in the ordinary window-box because of their foliage alone. They should not be placed in a window-box with the expectation that they will bear flowers.

Ferns.—Ferns as they come from the florists prepared for indoor culture should be placed in a strong light, though they grow well without sunlight. They should be watered sparingly but should be kept moist at all times. Improper watering, especially keeping the plant soaked or permitting it to get dry, is the foundation of most fern difficulties. It is especially difficult not to overwater when the fern is in a jardiniere, where drainage is necessarily poor. In spring and summer they will require three times the water necessary in fall and winter.

TWO SCOUTS SUCCESSFULLY PASS FIRST CLASS "EXAM"

The court of honor of the local council of the Boy Scouts of America, held a meeting in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church, last night, when two examinations for first class Scout were held. The Scouts who passed the tests were H. Willett and E. Addis.

Two merit badges were awarded for extra good service or deed in certain lines and Harold Zeek and Carroll Donovan received these. William D. Murray, chairman of the court of honor, and Allen E. Beals, Scout commissioner, were present and conducted the examinations.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wipsy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Adv.

"How much does it cost to send a telegram?" she demanded. "Idaho," she answered the man's question, flushing at her omission.

While the man, Affer by name, laboriously looked it up, covering incredible little dirty figures with an incredibly big dirty forefinger, Mary stood staring at the list of names tacked below the dog eared Christmas notice. She remembered that she had not yet signed it herself. She asked for a pencil, causing confusion to the little figures and delay to the big finger, and, while she waited, wrote her name. "A good, sensible move," she thought as she signed.

When Affer gave her the rate, thrusting finger and figures jointly beneath the bars, solicitous of his own accuracy, Mary filed her message. It was to John Blood and it read:

"Be sure you tie his tag on him good."

* * * * * * *

Ebenezer Rule had meant to go to the city before cold weather came. He had there a small and decent steam warmed flat, where he boiled his own eggs and made his own coffee, read his newspapers and kept his counsel, descending nightly to the ground floor cafe to dine on ambiguous dishes at tables of other bank swallows who nested in the same cliff. But as the days went by he found himself staying on in Old Trail Town, with this excuse and that, offered by himself to himself. As, for example, that in the factory there were old account books that he must go through. And having put off this task from day to day and finding at last nothing more to dally with he set out one morning for the ancient building down in that part of the village which was older than the rest and was where his business was conducted when it was conducted.

It had snowed in the night, and Buff Miles, who drove the village snowplow, was also driver of "the bus." So on the morning after a snowfall the streets always lay buried thick until after the 8:10 express came in, and since on the morning following a snowfall the 8:10 express was always late, Old Trail Town lay locked in a kind of circular argument and everybody stayed indoors or stepped high through drifts. The direct way to the factory was virtually untrodden, and Ebenezer made a detour through the business street in search of some semblance of a "track."

The light of a winter morning is not kind, only just. It is just to the sky and discovers it to be dominant; to trees and their lines are seen to be alive, like leaves; to folk, and no disguise avails. Summer gives complements and accessories to the good things in a human face. Winter affords nothing save disclosure. In the uncompromising cleanness of that wash of winter light Ebenezer Rule was himself, for anybody to see. Looking like countless other men—lean, alert, preoccupied, his tall figure stooped, his smooth, pale face like a photograph too much retouched—this commonplace man took his place in the day almost as one of its externals. With that glorious pioneer trio—mineral, vegetable and animal—and with intellect, that worthy tool, he did his day's work.

Simeon Buck Stood Wiping His Snow Shovel With the End of His Muffler.

His face was one that had never asked itself, say of a winter morning, What else? And the winter light searched him pitilessly to find that question somewhere in him.

Before the Simeon Buck North American Dry Goods Exchange Simeon Buck himself had just finished shoveling his walk and stood wiping his snow shovel with the end of his muffler. When he saw Ebenezer he shook the muffler at him and then over his left shoulder jabbed the air with his thumb.

"Look a-here," he said, his head reenforcing his gesture toward his show window. "Look what I done this morning. Nice little touch, eh?"

In the show window of the exchange—dry goods exchange was just the name of it, for the store carried everything—a hodgepodge of canned goods, lace curtains, kitchen utensils, wax figures and bird cages had been ranged round a center table of golden oak. On the table stood a figure that was as familiar to Old Trail Town as was its fire engine and its sprinkling cart. Like these, appearing intermittently, the figure had seized on the imagination of the children and grown in association until it belonged to everybody by sheer use and wont. It was a papier mache Santa Claus, three feet high, white bearded, gray gowned, with tall, pointed cap, rather the more sober St. Nicholas of earlier days than the rollicking, red garbed St. Nick of now. Only whereas for years he had graced the window of the exchange, bearing over his shoulder a little bough of green for a Christmas tree, this season he stood treeless and instead bore on his shoulder a United States flag. On a placard below him Simeon had laboriously lettered:

HIGH COST OF LIVING AND TOO MUCH FUSS
MAKES FOLKS WANT A SANE CHRISTMAS.
ME TOO. S. C.

"Ain't that neat?" said Simeon.

Ebenezer looked. "What's the flag for?" he inquired dryly.

"Well," said Simeon, "he had to carry something. I thought of a toy gun, but that didn't seem real appropriate. A Japanese umbrella wasn't exactly in season, seems though. A flag was about the only thing I could think of to have him hold. A flag is always kind of tasty, don't you think?"

"Oh, it's harmless," Ebenezer said; "harmless."

"No hustling business," Simeon pursued, "can be contented with just not doing something. It ain't enough not to have no Christmas. You've got to find something that'll express nothing and express it forcible. In business a minus sign," said Simeon, "is as good as a plus if you can keep it whirling round and round."

This Ebenezer mulled and chuckled over as he went on down the street. He wondered what the emporium would do to keep up with the exchange. But in the emporium window there was nothing save the usual mill end display for the winter white goods sale.

Ebenezer opened the store door and put his head in.

"Hey!" he shouted at Abel, back at the desk. "Can't you keep up with Simeon's window?"

Abel came down the aisle between the lengths of white stuff plaited into folds at either side. The fire had just been kindled in the stove, and the air in the store was still frosty. Abel, in his overcoat, was blowing on his fingers.

"I ain't much of any heart to," said he, "but the night before Christmas I guess'll do about right for mine."

"What'll you put up?" Ebenezer asked, closing the door behind him.

"Well, sir," said Abel, "I ain't made up my mind full yet. But I'll be billblowed if I'm going to let Christmas go by without saying something about it in the window."

"Night before Christmas'll be too late to advertise anything," said Ebenezer. "If I was in trade," he said, closing his eyes, "I'd fill my window up with useful articles—caps and mittens and stockings and warm underwear and dishes and toothbrushes. And I'd say, 'Might as well afford these on what you saved out of Christmas.' You'd ought to get all the advertising you can out of any situation."

Abel shook his head.

"I ain't much on such," he said lightly, and then looked intently at Ebenezer. "Jenny's been buying quite a lot here for her Christmas," he said.

Ebenezer was blank. "Jenny?" he said. "Jenny Wing? I heard she was here. I ain't seen her. Is she bound to keep Christmas anyhow?"

"Just white goods it was," said Abel briefly.

Ebenezer frowned his lack of understanding. "I shouldn't think her and Bruce had much of anything to buy anything with," he said. "I s'pose you know," he added, "that Bruce, the young beggar, quit working for me in the city after the—the failure? Threw up his job with me and took, God knows, what to do."

Abel nodded gravely. All Old Trail Town knew that and honored Bruce for it.

"Headstrong couple," Ebenezer added. "So Jenny's bent on having Christmas, no matter what the town decides, is she?" he added. "It's like her, the minx."

"I don't think it was planned that way," Abel said simply. "She's only buying white goods," he repeated. And Ebenezer still staring, "Surely you know what Jenny's come home for?" Abel said.

A moment or two later Ebenezer was out on the street again, his face turned toward the factory. He was aware that Abel caught open the door behind him and called after him. "Whenever you get ready to sell me that there star glass, you know"— Ebenezer answered something, but his responses were so often guttural and indistinguishable that his will to reply was regarded as nominal anyway. He also knew that now, just before him, Buff Miles was proceeding with the snowplow, cutting a firm, white way, smooth and sparkling for soft treading, momentarily bordered by a feathery flux that tumbled and heaped and then lay quiet in a glitter of crystals. But his thought went on without these things and without his will.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

No skirt could be easier to make than this one and none prettier to wear with one of the long basques or one of the deep girdles that make such features of autumn and winter styles.

The skirt is perfectly straight below the yoke and gathered at the upper edge; therefore it can be used for bordered materials and for flouncings as well as for plain or striped goods.

For a dancing gown a deep lace flounce over a skirt of charmeuse would be beautiful, or charmeuse satin would be pretty with a basque or girdle of velvet and there are various other suggestions that might be made.

For the medium size the skirt will require three and one-half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is one yard and thirty-one inches.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 24 to 32 inches waist measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8407, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

She breezed into the living room and dropped into an easy chair, laughing.

"What is it?" asked her sister, smiling in sympathy.

"You know Mrs. Aspir, the soprano in our church? I really believe we are going to be able to dispense with her valuable services. We have had our tempers and our musical ears ruined by listening to her flatting for the last ten years, and have feared death because we knew she would sing at our funerals, and now, deliverance has come!" and Constance Reynolds pulled off her gloves.

"Tell me about it," said Maud, seating herself with her little niece on her lap.

"You know old Mr. Deland has been failing for the last year, and he died last Tuesday. All arrangements were made to have the funeral on Friday. Mrs. Aspir's services had been secured for the occasion, of course. When the time came the friends gathered and the minister waited and waited for her to arrive. He finally went to the telephone, called her up and told her the funeral was being held up for want of her presence.

"What do you think she said? In some way she had mixed up her dates and thought the funeral was the next day. She was just ready to start for a picnic and said, 'I can't get there under half an hour.'

"'We can't wait, we must get someone else,' said the minister.

"'There is no one else,' replied Mrs. Aspir.

"Mr. Black thought otherwise. He spoke to a number of the women and they thought of Edith Pierson, who was right there, ready. She sang beautifully and everyone thought, 'Why have we been listening to Mrs. Aspir all this while with this beautiful voice to be had?'

"When the 'remarks' were well under way, in walked Mrs. Aspir, wearing her funeral expression. When it came time for the closing hymn she walked forward with her customary assurance. Poor Miss Pierson looked very uncomfortable, but made way for her. If Mrs. Aspir had been wise she never would have sung right after Edith, but she has no idea that anyone else has a voice.

"Mr. Black says many spoke to him at church Sunday about securing Miss Pierson for soprano. When the board had a meeting the subject was brought up; the vote was unanimous in her favor. The secretary was instructed to notify Mrs. Aspir that the board had decided to hire Miss Pierson as soprano for the next year and the meeting adjourned.

"Mr. Snow, the secretary, is a mild and pleasant man and he did not relish his task. His note was a pattern of conciliation, but no sugar coating could make that pill go down easily. Mrs. Aspir sat right down and wrote to the pastor, asking for her church letter, saying she could not worship in a church where a jealous faction was bent on depriving her of her means of livelihood."

"Oh! Is she so poor as that?" asked kind-hearted Maud.

"Mercy, no! Her husband earns a good living. She meant it would deprive her of her pin money. She has been financially independent so many years, I suppose she dreads being reduced to the level of the rest of us married women who must go into the ring and fight for our gewgaws."

"Poor woman! I am sorry for her, anyway," was Maud's final word.

TURKEYLESS THANKSGIVING MENUS

The following vegetarian menu for Thanksgiving will be of interest to housewives in these high-cost-of-living times:

Cream of Chestnut Soup.
Celery. Radishes. Ripe Olives.
Vegetable Turkey. Cranberry Jelly.
Caramel Sweet Potatoes.
Mashed Hubbard Squash.
Fruit Salad. Nut Bread.
Pumpkin Pie. Oranges. Apples.
Coffee.

Vegetable Turkey Recipe—Chop three cups nut meats quite fine and add three cups dry bread crumbs wet with milk, a tablespoon of butter melted in a little milk, one teaspoon sage, two teaspoons salt, then stir in six well-beaten eggs. Bake in well buttered tin twenty minutes. Serve hot with brown gravy.

Brown Gravy: Two cups boiling water, add six tablespoons peanut meal, season to taste, thicken to proper consistency with browned flour.

Vegetable Turkey — Two cups lentil, bean or peas puree, two eggs, one-half cup toasted bread crumbs, one-half cup browned flour, two teaspoons celery salt, two teaspoons sage, one cup strained tomato, two cups nut meal or finely chopped nuts, one-fourth cup cream, juice of medium sized onion, one teaspoon salt.

Cook the legumes (either lentils, peas or beans) until quite tender and dry. Make into puree by putting through colander. Beat the egg slightly and add the other ingredients in the order given. Then bake in a hot oven twenty to thirty minutes, or until nicely browned. If desired this mixture may be shaped with a paring knife or spatula to represent a fowl. Serve with cream sauce or brown sauce.

OTHER MENUS

Oyster Soup.
Roast Duck Stuffed with Apples.
Sweet Potato Croquettes.
Cauliflower. Fruit Salad.
Nesselrode Pudding. Coffee.

Escaloped Oysters.
Roast Chicken.
Mashed Potatoes. Succotash.
Cranberry Jelly.
Pumpkin Pie. Coffee.

THE TABLE

Escaloped Sweet Potatoes—Parboil, then peel; slice crosswise and pack in layers in pudding dish, seasoning each layer with butter, salt, pepper and a little sugar; cover thickly with cracker crumbs wet with cream; stick bits of butter in this coating, dust with salt and pepper; bake, covered, half an hour, then brown.

Honeycomb Cream — One pint milk, two eggs, four tablespoons sugar, four ounces gelatine. Beat yolks of eggs with sugar, add milk; pour this into granite sauce pan and stir over fire until it thickens, but do not let it boil; then add gelatine, stirring until thoroughly mixed. Let stand thirty minutes, then add whites of eggs beaten to a stiff froth; put into mold and let stand in cool place till set.

Chinese Cookies—Two cups pastry flour, one-fourth cup butter, two cups brown sugar, one-fourth teaspoon of soda, one-fourth cup of lard, one teaspoon vanilla, two tablespoons cold water. Mix well and form into little balls size of a nutmeg. Place four inches apart in unbuttered tins, bake twenty mniutes in moderate oven. When done, let stand five minutes, then remove carefully.

Prune Cake—One cup sugar, two eggs (one will do), one tablespoon shortening, one cup buttermilk or sweet milk (buttermilk preferred), two cups flour, one-half teaspoon soda (if sour milk is used) dissolved in milk; also one teaspoon baking powder. Use any flavoring desired. Last thing, put in one cup chopped prunes and one-half cup nut meats cut fine and dredged with one-half cup flour. Frosting: One coffee cup confectionery sugar, white of one of the eggs used for the cake (you need not beat it), two teaspoons orange juice, teaspoon butter.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Electric Eel And the Frightened Fisherman.

Then He Plunged His Hand Back and Seized the Fish.

"KIDDIES, I'll tell you tonight about an electric fish," said daddy as the children snuggled up on the divan and made ready to listen to the evening story.

"Oh, daddy, I never heard of such a thing!" cried Jack.

"Well, kiddies, there are heaps of things you haven't heard about more wonderful than any fairy tale that can be written.

"The fisherman whom I am going to tell you about hadn't heard of an electric fish either, and he was one of those wise men who never believe what they are told.

"This fisherman had been in South America and had boarded a sailing vessel bound home. This vessel was filled with fish, and in a tank was kept a live eel.

"This fisherman boasted that, though eels might be very slippery, he had never seen an eel that he couldn't hold if once he could get his hands on it.

"'But this is an electric eel,' said the mate.

"'Electric eel? There never was an electric eel!' cried the fisherman, and he laughed and laughed.

"He was so sure of himself and was so cocky that the mate of the ship began to feel like having a little fun with him.

"So the crew gathered around, and a bet was made that the fisherman couldn't hold the eel that was in the tank, though it was right there where he could get hold of it. If he could he was to have $5, and if he couldn't he was to give $5 to the crew.

"'That will be dead easy,' said the swaggering fisherman, barring his big brawny arms and looking around with a smile that seemed to say, 'This is very easily earned money.'

"He plunged his arms into the tank; then he drew back with a fearful yell.

"'It's been charged with electricity!' he shouted.

"Then he plunged his hands back in again and seized the fish the second time.

"This time he received such a shock that it almost maddened him, and, bowling with pain, he rushed to the side of the boat into the water.

"Of course he was rescued, but after that he was more inclined to believe strange things that were told him with authority.

"Each fish has some method of defending itself from its enemies, and the electric fish has about the best of all since it is a living electric battery."

TELL ON THE KIDNEYS.

Plainfield People Have Found This to Be True.

The strain of overwork tells on weakened kidneys. The hurry and worry of business men, the heavy lifting and stooping of workmen, the women's household cares, tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they can no longer filter the poison from the blood and the whole body suffers from the waste matter that accumulates. Weakened kidneys need quick assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills are prepared especially for weakened kidneys; tired, worn-out backs—have proven their merit in thousands of such cases. Convincing proof of their worth in a Plainfield citizen's statement.

Mrs. C. B. Coriell, 60 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered from kidney disorder for years and the principal symptom was a severe backache. Since I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I have taken them off and on and they have always acted like magic, giving me prompt relief."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Coriell had. FosterMilburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD? TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely; Dull Headache Goes; Nasty Catarrhal Discharge Stops.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely, fullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Adv.

HOSPITAL DANCE A GALA AFFAIR

Many Attended First Large Reception in New Plainfield High School Auditorium.

NEAT SUM IS DERIVED

Proceeds Will Be Devoted to the Work at Muhlenberg—Supper Served During the Evening—Modern Dances in Evidence.

Society was represented in round numbers at the annual dance and reception for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, which was held in the new Plainfield High School auditorium Wednesday night. As an inaugural event to the new and spacious ball room the charity dance was a most auspicious event and proved entirely successful both from a financial and social point of view. It happened to be the first large reception to take place in the recently erected addition to the Ninth street school and many took advantage of their initial opportunity to indulge in the terpsichorean amusement on the model dance floor.

The younger set was much in evidence Wednesday night and the occasion was made a thoroughly enjoyable one for all in attendance. Starting at 9 o'clock a continuous dance program was in progress until 1 o'clock and several hundred modern dance enthusiasts exhibited the latest steps that have been introduced to the society world. The fact that the proceeds of the event were to be donated to sweet charity occasioned the attendance of nearly as many onlookers as there were dancers. The large balcony surrounding the dance hall was well filled with spectators who gathered to enjoy the demonstrations of modern steps by more experienced exponents of the art.

Mrs. William B. Tyler, chairman in charge of the committee on arrangements, left nothing undone to make the affair one that would eclipse that of previous years and she was ably assisted by Mrs. Daniel Runkle, Mrs. Lewis E. Waring and Mrs. R. Storr Rowland. J. Hartley Mellick had charge of the special program of terpsichorean music. During the evening a supper, served at a nominal sum, was enjoyed by many of the guests and a good sized revenue was also subscribed through this medium. Mrs. Daniel Runkle and Mrs. Lewis E. Waring had charge of the serving of this repast.

The floor committee included Messrs. C. Ames Brooks, Henry W. Brower, J. M. Charles, Arthur M. Collens, Robert H. Cox, Thomas M. Day Jr., C. L. Dana, Jr., Harvey Fisk Hendy T. Eaton, J. Hartley Mellick Daniel Runkle, Murray Rushmore, R. S. Rowland, W. B. Tyler, Mellick Tweedy, John Valiant and Lewis E. Waring.

MISS BELLE LEWIS THE BRIDE OF W. A. GODFREY

Miss Belle S. Lewis, of Baskins Ridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lewis, of Somerset street, the borough, and William A. Godfrey, also of the borough, were married Wednesday evening at 230 Somerset street, by Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. Mr and Mrs. M. L. Crane, of Elizabeth, were the attendants.

After the ceremony there was a reception attended by a number of relatives and intimate friends. The couple will reside in the borough after a wedding trip.

PURCHASES PROPERTY.

Miss Florence H. Butler, of Cincinnati, has purchased the property at 520 Stelle avenue, formerly owned by Leonidas Dennis, and has taken possession. The sale was made through Harvey R. Linbarger, local real estate broker.

AGREEMENT ENDS HOOD LITIGATION

Mutual Settlement Effected Out of Court Today by Parties Concerned.

$10,000 FOR ALIMONY

This Amount Granted in Lieu of Permanent Compensation—House and Furnishings to Wife—$153,-103.32 Claim Cast Out.

Further litigation in the differences between Richard Haden Hood and Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood, a case which has been before the New Jersey judiciary for over two years was rendered impossible today when the two parties reached a mutual agreement thus taking the grievances out of the courts. In the settlement Mrs. Hood is granted the lump sum of $10,000 in lieu of permanent alimony from her husband and also possession of the handsome Hood residence on Stelle avenue and furnishings. The furniture and other household chattels were disposed of at a public sale held last week and the proceeds of this will be turned over to Mrs. Hood.

Another detail of the agreement forces one George Meade, a former partner of Hood's, to forego all claims to a judgment of $153,103.32 rendered in his favor when the firm dissolved. If this claim was allowed to stand it was thought that Meade would attempt to collect the outstanding sum by levying an attachment on the house and property which comes into Mrs. Hood's possession and in order to give her a clear title to the estate it was necessary to make this stipulation. In an opinion handed down by Clark McKay Whittemore, of Elizabeth, in June, 1914, it was stated that the suit brought by Meade against Hood to recover this amount was a "frame up." Hood at that time was making efforts to prove that he was insolvent in order to make the payment of the stipulated alimony out of the question. If he desires to collect the claim Meade will now have to single out another avenue of appeal. It was also agreed that each of the litigants in the court proceedings, Richard Haden Hood and Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood, were to pay their own costs, which amount to several hundreds of dollars in each case.

The trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Hood was started on September 6, 1912, when Hood inserted an advertisement in a local paper stating that he would no longer be responsible for debts contracted by his wife. On September 8, two days after the publication, she left him, and in October through the law firm of McCarter & English, she instituted suit for divorce. Her husband contested the suit and among other things Mrs. Hood was awarded bric-a-brac and other household articles valued at $50,000, and the Stelle avenue residence. The suit for alimony was then launched and Mrs. Hood was granted a decree nisi of divorce on February 25, 1914. On August 15, 1914, Mrs. Hood was granted temporary alimony and this left the permanent alimony outstanding.

PATROLMAN TAKES BRIDE ON THANKSGIVING EVE

Miss Mary Mullen, daughter of John Mullen, of 229 East Ninth street, and Richard Birmingham, of West Sixth street, were married in St. Mary's church before a large gathering of friends and relatives Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Father Bernard M. Bogan performed the nuptials and the couple were attended by Miss Jennie Mullen, a sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Joseph Doyle, of New York, as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Birmingham left for a short honeymoon trip to Atlantic City and upon their return will reside on West Sixth street. The bridegroom is a patrolman on the local police force and is well known locally. His bride has been active in the work of St. Mary's church and also holds a large circle of acquaintances.

FAMILY RE-UNION.

The Texier family, many of whom live at Watchung, held their eighth annual re-union yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John O'Connor, of New York city. The family has been holding their re-unions on Thanksgiving for the past eight years and have always been enjoyable occasions. Among those in attendance from Watchung and this city were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Texier and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leonce Texier and daughter, and Mrs. and Mrs. Hypolite Texier.

COYLE SERIOUSLY HURT IN CONTEST

Versatile Athlete Sustains Broken Leg in Holy Cross-Monarch Clash.

MAY BE OUT FOR GOOD

His Injuries Are Said to be of a Nature that May Retire Him Permanently as a Star Athlete—Harry Mumford Another Gridiron Victim.

Two serious accidents marred the two big football attractions in this city, yesterday, Harry Mumford, of the Plainfield High School eleven, sustaining a fractured collarbone in the game with the Alumni in the morning, and Billy Coyle, quarterback of the Holy Cross team, breaking his leg in the game with the Monarchs, in the afternoon. Of the two Coyle is in all probability the more seriously injured. His leg is broken between the ankle and the knee and he is also suffering from painful cuts and bruises about the face and head. It will be two months before he is able to walk again.

Coyle, who is widely known and recognized as one of the best quarterbacks in this section of the State, was injured during the second quarter of a loosely played contest. Like in all of the previous Holy Cross combats the little general was covering himself with glory and had just scooted away to one of his famous long runs when he was crippled. Coyle took the ball on the enemy's thirty-yard line and by some twisting and squirming managed to work his way past two Monarch tacklers and had but one man to elude before

HEAVY SENTENCES FOR CAR ROWDIES

Three Found Guilty of Disorderly Conduct and One is Acquitted.

Because he instigated a desperate fist fight on board a westbound Main Line trolley car, Tuesday night, Harry Nesbit, colored, of 432 East Fourth street, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, Wednesday afternoon. The local magistrate, in passing sentence on Nesbit and three others who were with him at the time, gave a seathing reprimand to the culprits whom he classed as the lowest of street car rowdies. Alonzo Gibbs, of 309 Arlington avenue, another defendant, had to pay a fine of $15, and Howard Hall, of 237 East Third street, the fourth member of the group, was acquitted on the charge of disorderly conduct.

Nesbit presented a badly battered countenance when arraigned for trial and the prisoners blamed one another for starting the disgraceful fracas. Testimony, however, pointed the finger of suspicion at Nesbit as the ringleader, hence the heavy sentence. This is the second big fight that has occurred on a Main Line car within the past week and Judge DeMeza announced his determination to put a stop to the practice of squabbling on cars. In this case all of the defendants were colored. Future prisoners arrested on this charge will be dealt severely with, as it is hoped by dealing out heavy penalties to break up the occurrences.

TWO GRASS FIRES.

The woods near the Butler farm on Central avenue were discovered burning yesterday afternoon, and an alarm sent into fire headquarters. The blaze was extinguished with little damage resulting. A small wood fire was put out by the firemen on the land in back of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp this morning.

SMALL FIRE IN HOUSE.

A blaze was discovered under the stairway of a house occupied by Mrs. William W. Fairchild, at Franklin place and East Sixth street, this noon, and before it was extinguished by the fire department damage to the extent of $25 was done.

At Smalley's Market.

Smalley Brothers' famous sausage is again to be procured at their market, 147 North avenue. They will continue to make the excellent quality sausage, which has gained for them such an enviable reputation in past seasons. The firm is also offering fine fresh killed guinea hens, broilers, roasting chickens. Jersey lamb and the very best cuts of meat. Another product of their own rendering is the lard which so many Plainfielders have found better than any other offered in the market, and the delicious hams and bacons of their own rendering.—Adv. ***

TURKEY NIGHT FOR ELKS IN "885"

Fine Entertainment Provided for Lodge Members on Thanksgiving Eve.

What was perhaps the most successful and most enjoyable social event ever held in the new Elks clubhouse on Watchung avenue, took the form of the annual Thanksgiving entertainment conducted Wednesday night. Members of the lodge to the number of 150 thoroughly enjoyed an elaborate evening of song and mirth and partook of the barnyard's contribution to the holiday season. As is to be expected when an affair of this nature is held on the eve of Thanksgiving, turkey with all the fixin's was the principal attraction for the pleasure seekers. The committee in charge headed by Jack V. Todd, supplied a program of novelty entertainment that has seldom had its equivalent at a function of this nature here and the professional talent supplied amusement for the diners prior to and after the feast and between the courses.

Nothing was left undone to place the reception on a pedestal by itself in the annals of the club and those who attended indulged in one continuous round of laughter and merriment. The outside performers' work was supplemented by an informal laugh producing comedy enacted by individual members of the organization and when the affair broke up in the wee small hours of the morning all were unanimous in their endorsement of the arrangement committee's program. Those who assisted Jack Todd were Assemblyman William N. Runyon, Harry Weber, Harry N. Blimm and William G. Smith.

The performers included a delegation from Frank Fogarty's theatrical agency in New York city, and the Temple quartet, which that night finished up a contract at Proctor's Theatre here.

The New York entertainers included Johnny Nestor, the little man with the big voice; Andy MacCloud, Scotch singer and story teller, and Willie Weston, imitationalist. George Wilson accompanied the entertainers at the piano.

WILL GIVE "THE RING AND THE ROSE"

College Club Will Present Thackeray's Well Known Pantomime.

"The Rose and the Ring," a dramatization from Thackeray's widely-known pantomime, has been chosen by the College Club of Plainfield for presentation Wednesday afternoon and evening, December 9, at the Hartridge Auditorium. It will be given in the afternoon for the children and in the evening for the grown-ups.

The production, a fairy play, is a delightful one, and will interest both children and older persons. The cast is a large one and those who have been assigned parts have been rehearsing faithfully for sometime until they are now line perfect. The proceeds from the play will be used for the scholarship fund of the club to help young women through college. Tickets may be secured from any of the members, and generous support of the production is earnestly hoped for by the club.

BURGLAR ESCAPES WITH $600 LOOT

Home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hubbard Entered Early Last Night.

WAS FRIGHTENED AWAY

Gained Entrance Through a Window—Found In Home When Family Returned After Visit to Friends in the Afternoon.

Jewelry valued at $600 was stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hubbard, 111 West Fifth street, by a second-story man between the hours of 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 8 o'clock last night. The Hubbard family had been visiting during the afternoon and early evening and as they approached the house on their return Mr. Hubbard noticed a light in a bedroom. Thinking that he had left it lighted he went into the house and from a switch in the front hall turned on the power that illuminated the entire house. Mr. Hubbard, being an electrical engineer, has a private lighting system that operates from one button and the sudden flicker of illumination in all parts of the house startled the burglar who was at work in a bedroom upstairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard had left the front door open when they entered, stepping into a reception room at one side of the hall. As they did so the intruder raced down the front stairs at top speed and out of the open door into the street. Mr. Hubbard gave chase and the man ran through the back yard and across a number of lots to Arlington avenue. At this point

WOMAN FELL THREE STORIES TO GROUND

Mrs. Katherine DeCourcey, Formerly of This City, Meets Tragic End.

Mrs. Katherine DeCourcey, widow of Michael DeCourcey, a resident of Plainfield for many years, but who has been residing at 28 Green street, Newark, for some time, either fell or threw herself out of the window at her home, yesterday afternoon, and was instantly killed. The body will be brought here today and the funeral services will be held at 8:30 tomorow morning at St. Mary's church. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. DeCourcey, who was about 46 years old, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flynn, of Madison avenue, and was well-known here. For many years she lived on East Second street.

Mrs. DeCourcey had been living in Newark for several months. She leaves one daughter, Miss Katherine DeCourcey, about sixteen years old, who until recently had been living in Plainfield. After the accident, Assistant County Physician Minningham was summoned and pronounced death due to accidental causes. The body was then removed to a morgue in Newark and later brought to this city.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB'S DANCE REPLICA OF 1913 SUCCESS

Guests to the number of 600 enjoyed an elaborate program of entertainment provided by members of the Jefferson Democratic Club, in Sebring's Auditorium, Wednesday night, the affair being a replica of the successful reception conducted under the auspices of that organization last year. In the waltz competition Miss Mabel Deady and William Kiely were awarded a prize significant of the State championship.

During the evening refreshments were served and dancing proved to be the main attraction for a majority of the pleasure seekers. Terpischoeran music for the occasion was supplied by Halbfoerster's orchestra, of Elizabeth. McDonough and Bayle, Irish pipers, rendered several pleasing selections during the evening.

C. S. LEE PROMOTED.

Charles S. Lee, formerly of Plainfield, who has been the general passenger agent for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company for many years, has just been made passenger traffic manager, and George W. Hay, general baggage agent, with headquarters at South Bethelehem, Pa., has been promoted to the position of general passenger agent. A. J. Simons and Paul S. Millspaugh have been made assistant general passenger agents.

ALL ENGLAND STUNNED BY THE BLOWING UP OF BATTLESHIP BULWARK IN THAMES; 800 LOST

NO EXPLANATION IS GIVEN AS TO CAUSE OF ACCIDENT, AND IT MAY NEVER BE KNOWN—MAY BE WORK OF SUBMARINE.

RUSSIAN VICTORY IS REPORTED NEAR WARSAW

60,000 Germans Either Annihilated or Taken Prisoners, in What is Said to Be Greatest Battle of Modern Times—Austrians Claim Some Successes Against Russians in Poland—French Make Gains.

London, Nov. 27.—All England is stunned by the destruction of the Battleship Bulwark, and the method of her destruction with 800 officers and men, mystifies and alarms the English. The boat blew up yesterday at her moorings, off Sheerness, in the estuary of the Thames, and barely thirty-five miles from London, and what caused the disaster is not known.

The known facts are that a tremendous explosion occurred while officers and crew were about their ordinary duties—it is reported that the band was playing—and in three minutes the shattered hulk of the ship had disappeared beneath the surface.

Of a ship's company of 815 all except fourteen were killed by the explosion or drowned after a few minutes' struggle in the water. The estimate of the loss was furnished to the House of Commons by Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty.

Government and public are shocked over the further loss of so many trained officers and seamen. A battleship of obsolete type can be spared, but naval officers do not pretend to conceal their concern over the destruction of so many men. Up to yesterday the British navy has lost 8,142 officers and men, if the estimate that 801 perished then is accurate.

The Admiralty issued a statement last night saying that there were fourteen survivors of the disaster. The ship was anchored in the muddy, tidal waters of the Medway. Suddenly the whole neighborhood rocked with a terrible detonation. People about the harbor saw a great pillar of fire thrown skyward, followed by dense smoke which hid everything. Three minutes later the smoke cleared and revealed nothing where the ship had lain but swirling waters whitened with foam and speckled with dark patches where pieces of wreckage, torn clothing, sailors' kitbags and other debris floated around the battleship's grave.

The consensus of opinion is that the aft-magazine exploded but the cause is merely a matter of speculation. The manner and results of the explosion convince experts that it is not possible that it was caused by a mine or torpedo.

Speculative gossip naturally centres on the possibility of the destruction of the vessel having been an enemy's work. The destruction of the Bulwark by a submarine seems to be impossible, in view of the defences of the Medway and the fact of the dirtiness of the water, which would prevent such an operation by a submerged vessel.

Any submarine that attempted to attack the Bulwark would be compelled to expose her periscope. The suggestion that the magazine of the

ERROR MADE IN COPYING FIGURES

No Reduction Made in Assessment on Dr. Zeglio's Property.

The reported reduction from $64,-650 to $23.450 in the tax assessment on property owned by Dr. P. J. Zeglio, located on West Front street, was the correction of an error made by Frank Dunham, the assistant in the office of Tax Collector William R. Townsend, in copying the figures from the field book of Henry Liefke, assessor in the Fourth ward. The change was made at the meeting of the Union County Tax Board, Wednesday, at the request of Mr. Liefke, who explains the matter as follows:

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

I notice in your valuable paper that you state that the county Board made a reduction from $64,650 to $23,450 in favor of Dr. P. J. Zeglio, on his property No. 205-207 West Front street.

In order that there may not be any misinterpretation permit me to say that there was no reduction, it was only a correction of an error. The amount I placed against his property was $23,450, but in copying this amount from the field book the clerk made the error in copying the amount assessed against the estate of Charles H. Stillman, No. 210-218 West Front street, amounting to $64,650 against the property of the doctor.

Inasmuch as the duplicate books had gone to the county Board and they having approved the valuations, it became necessary for Dr. Zeglio to make the appeal to said Board in order to correct this error legally. Said appeal stating that the amount had been assessed in error, and the assessor recommending that it be taken off and the correct amount placed thereon.

FARE REFUNDING SALE STARTS ONE WEEK FROM TOMORROW

List of Merchants Who Will Take Part is Nearing Completion—Regular Readers of Press Urged to Notify Out of Town Friends of Bargains to Be Found in Local Stores.

All roads will lead to Plainfield the week of Saturday, December 5 to Saturday December 12, the dates set for the Daily Press Big Co-operative Sale. The sale starts a week from tomorrow and will be advertised in the Press of December 3.

It is the purpose of practically every one of Plainfield's enterprising tradesmen that week to offer each day the greatest merchandise bargains ever offered in the history of this city.

It is not only the purpose of local merchants to offer to all buyers greater money-saving bargains than ever before, but to refund the fare of all out-of-town purchasers who buy a certain amount of merchandise.

The Press is not exaggerating it in the least when it makes the statement that it will be by far the premier shopping event that this section has ever known and should result in bringing to Plainfield hundreds of out-of-town buyers and the expenditure in this city of many thousands of dollars.

The Press is not exaggerating its announcements in this great Saturday-to-Saturday sale and will keep its readers posted from day to day on its progress giving a list of those merchants who will offer special bargains during this big Co-operative Sale.

Elsewhere is a partial list of the stores where bargains will be found and where fares will be refunded. The list will be added to as, after additional merchants are seen. Cut it out and send it to your relatives and friends residing outside of Plainfield. It will give them some idea of the magnitude of this sale and what it will mean to them.

In an old book about clothes I learned that the ancient Roman citizen wore a hat—not to protect his head, but—to show how good he felt. The whole empire wore hats when Nero died.

Nowadays the scarf has assumed the psychological function formerly filled by the hat.

Every morning a man picks out a scarf that tells how he feels and forecasts the attitude he will have toward people during the day. This is not invariable, nor is it often done consciously—but it is true that the variations in a man's neckwear are a fairly reliable index to his cheerfulness.

Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor, of the Baptist church at Scotch Plains, has sent a copy of the following to every family in the church:

"The Thanksgiving time is here and our Father has given much to be grateful for. I especially desire that we should make Lord's Day, November 29, a great day. We want a record attendance at the Bible school session at 9:30 a. m. Christmas music will be in order, At 10:45 o'clock we want every officer, teacher and scholar to go direct to the main room, where we will open the service with a brief dedicatory exercise in connection with our new piano, the gift of Dr. and Miss Coles. We would like very much to have the parents of our boys and girls present, as well as home department and cradle roll families. Twilight Council, No. 7, Junior Order United American Mechanics, will worship with us at this service, and Rev. J. Madison Hare, the pastor, will preach on 'The New Patriotism.' The Boy Scouts are invited to be present in uniform. There will be a special flag decoration and souvenir flags will be given to every one present. This will be a great service. Will not you and every member of the family plan to be present?

"At 7:30 p. m. we are having the first of a series of illustrated addresses on world conquest. Stereopticon will be used and fine views shown. This service will be in the main auditorium. This will be a great day, so will every Lord's day if you will help. Come and let us worship together."

SAYS IT IS NOT THE PEOPLE'S WAR

Rev. Dr. Herring Declares it is a Conflict of War Lords and Military Zealots.

AMERICA IS BLESSED

Her Great Opportunities Emphasized in Union Thanksgiving Day Sermon at First Baptist Church Yesterday Morning.

"I will bless thee, and make thy name great and thou shalt be a blessing," was the theme of Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring's discourse at the union Thanksgiving service in the First Baptist church, yesterday morning, the congregations of the First M. E., Trinity Reformed and First Presbyterian churches uniting. There was a large attendance. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong was in charge of the service and Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson and Rev. J. Y. Broek assisted. The music was in charge of Howard M. Case, and Miss Jewell, cornetist, also played. William Holmes sang the offertory, the money being given to the Children's Home.

Dr. Herring said that Americans should be thankful for the unique position they occupy in the world as contrasted with the natural advantages of foreign nations, and alluding to the President's proclamation said we should be thankful that we have "peace with honor."

"There is such a thing as cowardly peace," said Dr. Herring. "There is a time when we should gird on the sword when it is for the sake of righteousness and deliverance from some intolerable tyrant, but we do not believe in the particular need of demanding occasional war in order to develop virility.

"We are thankful that our land possesses great and worthy ideals, not ideals of empire but ideals centreing in a government by, for and of the people. America is the land where every man has a chance. We feel that it is not too rash a statement to make that every man has a liberty here which is not enjoyed.

"Glad indeed are we that the spirit of Russia regarding the Jews is not the American spirit. For example, here is the case of a Jew compelled to serve as a soldier in the Russian army for four years. During that time he is located in Batoum on the eastern shore of the Black Sea. At the end of his four years of service he regarded the city as his home and desired to remain there. That desire was not granted. Why? He was a Jew. If a young woman, a Jewess is anxious to study in some Russian city where there is an opportunity that opportunity is granted only if she has a yellow ticket, which means that she has sacrificed her virtue. Then she can travel anywhere in Russia. That Russia has met with any real change of heart is to be doubted. Perhaps she has. Contrast that with the liberty of this land.

"Think of poor Belgium about as large as the State of Maryland, but Maryland has but one and a half millions of people while Belgium has or had nearly eight millions. It is our privilege with the blessings that God has given us in abundance to help these unfortunate people who, through no fault of theirs, are in such dire want.

"This truth has been forced upon us that the world is becoming more and more inter-dependent. Nations need each other. Nationalism should give place to the 'new international mind.'

"We do not know exactly who General Von Disfurth is, but the spirit evinced in his utterance is not the spirit of the new international mind. Listen to it. 'It is of no consequence to us if all the monuments ever created, all the pictures ever painted, all the buildings ever erected by the great architects of the world be destroyed if by their destruction we promote Germany's victory over her enemies.'

"Perhaps these are the vaporings of some hot-headed writer and do not represent the spirit of his people. It is too bad, then, that his article was not censored out of public print.

"We are glad for this bit of optimism from the pen of Roger W. Babson: 'Do not become discouraged by present conditions whether you are a manufacturer or retailer, employer or employe, my advice is to hold on. Now is the time to prepare the ground for the great harvest ahead.

" 'This,' he says, 'will commence at the close of the war.' "

Mr. Herring then told three stories of heroism and brotherly sympathy on the battlefield.

"This is not the people's war, but the war of war lords and military zealots, yet out of this, we believe, there will arise a broader spirit of humanitarianism May the Lord hasten the day."

SOUTH PLAINFIELD HAS A RELIGIOUS AWAKENING

"South Plainfield is about to have the greatest religious awakening in all her history," said Rev. Wilson A. Pugsley, evangelist, in addressing a large congregation at the Baptist church, that place, last night. He chose for his subject, "Exploits," and rang the changes on doing great things for God. In response to an appeal about forty-five people pledged themselves to work for God.

Rev. Wilson A. Pugsley.

One of the features of these services is the singing by a chorus choir. The Gospel songs by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Allen, are also a feature. Last night, Whitney Frazee, cornetist, played "Will There Be Any Stars In My Crown?" Services are held each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Pugsley will preach to the Bible School Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, to women only at 3:30 and at 7:30 to everybody.

REV. C. F. REISNER WILL SPEAK AT M. E. REVIVAL

Rev. Christian F. Reisner, of New York, will speak at the revival service in the First M. E. church tonight at 8 o'clock. He will be remembered as one of the speakers at the Board of Trade dinner last year. Mr. Reisner is one of the most prominent of the Metropolitan clergymen, being known as a "twentieth century preacher."

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of New York, was the special preacher at the service on Wednesday night. He emphasized the power of the will in human achievement.

TELL OF THEIR WORK IN ALBANIA

Rev. and Mrs. P. B. Kennedy Describe Religious Condition in Mission Field.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Kennedy, recently returned missionaries from Albania, spoke at the monthly meeting of the First Presbyterian church, Wednesday night, before a large audience. Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, pastor of the church, led the song service and introduced the speakers. Mr. Kennedy was called upon first and told of the conditions and some of the work that was going on in that country, which lies directly across the Adriatic Sea from Italy.

Seven years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left this country to do missionary work in Albania and they want to go back there and continue their labors. Among his remarks Mr. Kennedy stated that Albania was about the size of New Jersey and that the people there were among the most ancient races in Europe. He also said that he believed that this people were related to us in some roundabout way. Albania is divided into two tribes and two-thirds of the people in the country are Mohammedans. There is a great field of opportunity for Christian work in such a land and much progress has been made recently although at first there were many difficulties.

For five hundred years Albania was under Turkish rule and anything but happy conditions existed. The natives are tired of that form of government and want a change, for with such a rule there is no security of either capital or life. When the first Balkan war broke out and the Albanians were called to fight many of them balked and even asked Mr. Kennedy, whom all had learned to hold in great respect, what they should do. Finally many went to the front while others would not go.

When Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy first went to that country they were very much suspected in their methods of holding school, prayer meetings in their own home and giving financial aid where it was needed. For a long time Mr. Kennedy was also suspected of working for political purposes, but that suspicion has worn off and they can now go back into the country. At the present time there is no missionary in Greece and it is one of the best fields for such work.

Mrs. Kennedy spoke more of the work and of the different views that the natives had on religious questions. There are several religions in Albania, two Christian, the Roman Catholic in the north and the Greek orthodox. The third is Mohammedanism. At first the natives did not like the coming of the Protestants into their land, but when they found out that it was only a different phase of the Christian to what they were used to, this feeling died out. The Mohammedans think the Christians are idolators because they believe in the "three in one" and they believe that Mohammed was the great prophet. The ancestors of Mohammed were Christians and they expect some time to return to their ancestors' belief. Many of the natives have both religions, Christian or Mohammedan, which might suit their convenience. Mrs. Kennedy made the comparison that the Albanian religion was like their clothes, they can put them on or off. In closing the speaker said that the Mohammedans were gradually breaking away from some of their old customs. He recited the Lord's Prayer in language of the natives. A collection was taken for the work in that country.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The first rehearsal for "A Box of Monkeys," was held Tuesday afternoon, by the members of the cast. Miss Helen K. Ray is coaching the play and with her aid the seniors hope to make the production a big success at their Christmas entertainment.

George Townley and William Taylor, two North Plainfield High School graduates, were visitors at the Thanksgiving exercises Wednesday.

A light luncheon was served after the game Wednesday afternoon, in honor of the Kearny delegation. The affair was attended also by many invited students of the High School and proved a great success.

Manager Van Camp has just scheduled a game with Seton Hall for the coming baseball season.

The Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, delivered an address Wednesday at the Thanksgiving exercises. There were also some recitations by James Goodwin and Gladys Sullivan. The singing was accompanied by an orchestra of students.

The annual Thanksgiving offering for the Children's Home was received Wednesday and a good supply of foodstuffs was contributed by the members of the school to this worthy cause.

VISITING DELEGATES HERE FOR RECEPTION

Hebrew Associations From Many Nearby Towns Enjoyed Annual Dance.

Delegations representing Young Men's Hebrew Associations in Elizabeth, Jersey City, Brooklyn, New York, Bayonne and other nearby places attended the annual reception and dance of the local association last night. In accordance with its usual custom the Y. M. H. A. took possession of the spacious Columbus Club Auditorium and during the evening this rendezvous was packed to its limit capacity by pleasure seekers.

Prominent in the assemblage were many professional men and their families from this city and the borough, who recently became exponents of the terpischorean art and all who attended thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment provided by the members of the local organization. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion and an excellent program of music was furnished by a full orchestra.

The visiting delegations came here in large numbers for the event and dancing proved to be the main source of enjoyment for a majority. During the evening refreshments were served by the Y. M. H. A. committee.

FATHER BOGAN ASSISTED.

Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, rector of St. Mary's church, assisted at the wedding ceremony of his cousin, Miss Florence Adele Platt, of Orange, and Daniel I. Crawford, of Trenton, in St. John's church, Orange, yesterday morning. Rev. Thaddeus Hogan, of Trenton, performed the ceremony and the mass was celebrated by Rev. Francis Reilly, assited by Father Bogan. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hunter, of Orange.

KELLY—DINUNZI.

Miss Catherine Kelly, daughter of Peter Kelly, of this city, and Dominick Dinunzi, of Raritan, were married Wednesday afternoon at St. Mary's church by Father Bernard M. Bogan. There were a number of relatives and friends present. A reception was held afterward at the home of the bride's father. Following a trip the couple will reside at Raritan.

ANOTHER GAME OUTRAGE.

If a man accidentally kills another, and the coroner's jury is convinced of the fact, he is not punished but permitted to go free. But not so in New Jersey when the man accidentally kills a rabbit and a game warden finds it out, and can find a friendly justice of the peace. Then he must pay $100 and costs, and the game warden gets $50 of the penalty.

It was the informer feature of the game laws that sent the Plainfield boy to jail for three months because he was unable to pay fines amounting to $120, and it was the same feature that compelled a Jersey City man to pay $103. Each had killed a rabbit out of season. In at least one case the killing was purely accidental.

Martin Flakum is employed on the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad and in October set a stel trap to catch muskrats on the meadows near the Manhattan Transfer. A rabbit strayed into the trap last October, and Flakum, who had recently come from Maryland and was not acquainted with the New Jersey law killed the rabbit and nailed the skin to the door of a shanty on the meadows.

Along came Edward Raynier, who saw the rabbit skin and inquired who had killed the rabbit. Flakum admitted that he had, and then discovered that Raynier was a deputy game warden who took him before a justice of the peace. The fine was imposed with a sentence of ten days in jail as the alternative. Now appeal has been made to the Fish and Game Commissioners for remission of the fine and return of the money.

No one will contend that the law was intended to apply to such a case, which was purely one of accidental and ignorant violation of the close-season law. If the case had been one where there was deliberate defiance, it would have been possible for the magistrate to use his discretion and impose a fine of $20; but then the informer would not have been able to claim half of the amount of the penalty.

No doubt it is necessary, in order to secure the detection of pot-hunters and others who kill game out of season, to employ informers and give them a share of the fines collected; but it is a plan that should be tolerated only when there is not the slightest doubt of guilt and there are no mitigating circumstances. A justice of the peace should not be permitted to dispose of such a case, involving the liberty of citizens.—Trenton Times.

SOME BILLS TO PAY.

Premier Asquith a few days ago made a statement that the war bill for Great Britain amounts to nearly $5,000,000 a day. It may have been a surprise to those who had not given much thought to the cost of the war, but it will be more of a surprise to the fellow who takes pencil and paper and figures approximately what it will cost if the war lasts eighteen months, as some think it will.

This is just the extra burden of one nation, and yet think what it means to the people of that nation after the noise has subsided, and all come back to their normal method of living. And if the crying evil of Europe has been the killing taxation due to the military fever, just think what the lot of the men now in the trenches will be when they get through with that phase and begin to work and pay for the damage they have caused, if any of them are spared to resume their normal method of living.

If they were crushed so hard by the costs of the military systems in times of peace, what do you suppose it's going to be like when they are forced to pay this extra bill? For, no matter who wins the decision, whether by a knockout or on points, these bills must be paid. And as all bills are paid by the producing class, the workers, the industrious, what do you suppose is to be the fate of these wage workers after they leave the trenches and take a look at the bills they ran up at the rate of millions every day? When the sovereigns told them about the life of their native lands being at stake, this matter of the extra expenses is something they didn't give them time to think about. If they had it is likely there wouldn't have been any war.

THE MODERN SCHOOL.

It is so seldom that we find anything which is really new in journalism that the following from the Lakewood Citizen is respectfully submitted as a candidate for honors in the newspaper hall of fame:

During the past week Mr. and Mrs. M Dreiblatt and daughter Miss Tillie of New York were the guests of Mr. Abe Jacobson at this home on Fifth street. There doesn't seem to be anything unusual about this fact does there? There is just the same, Miss Tillie is the fiancee of Abe and he thinks she is the nicest little bundle of human flesh he has ever beheld and why not. When all of us old married fellows were in a similar position did we not act just as kittenish as Abe, sure we did so get all out of life you can Abe whether married or single.

Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep, and you weep alone.

The contributing editorial for tomorrow will discuss Commission Government. It has been written by Brockholst K. Miller, who has made a thorough study of the question.

COYLE SERIOUSLY HURT

placing the ball behind the lime line for a touchdown. The husky exponent of the Dunellen team's secondary defense, however, proved Coyle's nemesis and the two figures clad in moleskins came together with a terrific impact. Both were running at full speed and the thud of human muscle as the two bodies met caused the crowd, which was one of the largest of the year, to let forth a wild scream.

Coyle lay on the ground his face buried in the turf and women and girls near the spot became hysteric. Men close to the spot where the little warrior fell ran to his assistance and when his insensible body was rolled over his countenance was besmeared with mud and grime. His right leg lay limp and it could be easily seen that that member had been badly hurt in the crash. An automobile was pressed into service and the injured youth hustled at all posible speed to the hospital. At that institution a more thorough examination of the player's injuries was made and the break set. Reports from Muhlenberg, this morning, say that he is resting comfortably as can be expected, but that his hurts will confine him to the hospital for many weeks. It was also stated that Coyle's day as a football player have been brought to a sad climax for he will probably never be able to don moleskins again.

He has gained wide recognizance as an all-around athlete in these parts and his accident comes as a source for keen regret. He has been a member of the Holy Cross team for seven years, playing quarterback the greater part of the time. He has also played with Plainfield High School. Besides being a football player of the highest calibre, Billy is also a star in basketball, football, baseball, swimming and on the track. He is one of the most versatile athletes that ever performed in this section and has the peculiar faculty of being able to star in each branch of sport in which he is a participant.

Mumford's injury is also one of a serious nature and will undoubtedly permanently retire him from the gridiron sport. While not as well known as Coyle, during his first year of football on the local scholastic eleven, Mumford has played well on the line and was a promising candidate for a regular berth next season. He was injured in a scrimmage.

BURGLARS GET $600 LOOT

he retraced his steps and the chase again led through the Hubbard yard where the thief successfully eluded his pursuers. Shouts of thief and burglar attracted considerable attention in the immediate neighborhood and by the time the burglar appeared in the yard for the second time a throng had gathered.

Chief of Police Kiely was notified and together with Sergeant Maurice Higgins started an investigation. By the time the police were acquainted with the burglary, however, the crook had ample opportunity to make a clean getaway and it is the supposition of Chief Kiely that an automobile awaited him in one of the thoroughfares near the scene of the depredation. He describes the man as being about five feet seven inches in heighth, of slim build and apparently about thirty-five years of age.

An inventory of the valuables in the Hubbard home this morning, revealed the loss of about $600 worth of diamonds set in stick pins and other small pieces and a small quantity of money. Chief Kiely made an examination of the premises this morning and it was found that the thief had gained entrance through a window in the west side of the house which he had pried open with a "jimmy." The man had made a search of one room when he was interrupted by the family's return.

WAR NEWS

vessel was maliciously exploded by an alien among the crew will probably never be proved or disproved as everything and everybody in the neighborhood of the magazine must have been blown to atoms.

None of the officers was saved. The survivors are a sergeant and private of marines, nine seamen and three stokers.

Petrograd, Nov. 27.—The Russians are reported to have won the greatest victory of modern times between the Warthe and the Vistula and about sixty miles of Warsaw.

It is said that the Grand Duke Nicholas' armies have utterly crushed a large part of General von Hindenburg's army, have captured 60,000 men and have cut off the retreat of the surviving corps.

The German counter offensive, under Lieut.Gen. von Makensen, was halted about twenty-five miles east of Czenstochowa and driven back Von Makensen was forced to abandon Van Hindenburg's troops to their fate. Meanwhile the Russian advance in East Prussia was never delayed an hour and is reported to be nearing Insterburg.

The unofficial news is that Cossack's are driving Austrian rear guards into Cracow and that Russian guns are shelling the city from the northeast and the southeast.

An official communication from the general staff of the army of the Caucasus says: "In the direction of Erzerum the pursuit of the routed enemy has been terminated. In the past few days a series of engagements have taken place south of the Valley of Alaschkert where we have disposed of considerable Kurdish forces who were reinforced this time by regular troops. In other sections no important changes have taken place."

Paris, Nov. 27.—The French War Office this afternoon issued the following:

"During the day of November 26 the slackening of the enemy's artillery fire was constant everywhere. Two attacks by infantry directed against the bridge which we have thrown up on the right bank of the Yser, to the south of Dixmude, were sharply repulsed. There was no fighting on the rest of the front, in Belgium and as far as the Oise. The same can be said of the situation on the Aisne and in the Champagne district.

"As usual, Rheims was very violently bombarded during a visit paid to the town by journalists from neutral countries.

"In the Argonne some infantry attacks have resulted in the taking and retaking of some trenches. The effective forces engaged have never reached a number of a battalion. The ground lost and regained has never exceeded twenty-five metres or eighty-one feet.

"On the Meuse and in the Vosges there is nothing to report."

A despatch from Petrograd to the Matin says: "One German army corps which was surrounded by Russian troops surrendered in a body. This represents nearly 50,000 prisoners. Another corps which also had been cut off, has now been completely put to rout. The Russians are attacking along the Czenstochowa-Cracow line with redoubled intensity."

Berlin, Nov. 27 (By Wireless.)—An official report issued in Vienna says:

"The fighting in Russian Poland has assumed the proportions of a continuous battle. In western Galicia our troops have repulsed the Russians. Marked progress has been made in the fighting in the Carpathians.

"Near the Kolubara River in Servia, the enemy's centre is in a very strong position near Lazaravatz, but we attacked and took 1,200 prisoners, three guns, four machine guns To the south of Ljid we took the eastern heights and 300 prisoners. From Valjevo our troops have advanced to Kosjovici."

BROCKHOLST K. MILLER WILL PRACTICE LAW HERE

Brockholst K. Miller, son of Isaac L. Miller, of Watchung avenue, has received notice that he has passed the New Jersey bar examinations, and he will be sworn in as an attorney-at-law at Trenton on Friday of next week. Mr. Miller has been a practising lawyer in New York State for the past six years, but has only recently taken the New Jersey bar examinations. He plans to practice in Plainfield, and will later announce to his friends the location of his office in this city. Mr. Miller has made considerable study of the Commission Government question, and has written a contributed editorial on that subject, which will appear in tomorrow night's Daily Press.

TOYLAND OPENING

After months of careful planning we are pleased to announce the opening of our

Greatly Enlarged Toy Department

In spite of war times we are able to present the biggest and best assortment of foreign and domestic toys ever shown in this city. We began as early as last January to provide for this great event. Many of the toys were actually in the store when the war broke out, while others were on the way, and all were bought at the low prices prevailing at that time; so that in addition to big stocks, you will also find our toys priced the lowest in the city.

A feature that will appeal to the grown-ups who bring the little tots to see the toys, is that they are shown right on the main floor; there's no climbing up or down stairs. Another feature is, the toys on exhibition are the samples that we sell from. We don't send you the ones that have been handled and played with; your order is filled from fresh new stocks, just as they come from the makers.

It would require a page to enumerate all the toys shown; many of them exclusively by us, so come and see for yourselves and bring the children. Make your selections now while the stocks are at their best. Deliveries can be made at your convenience.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which irritates and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

LOWERED LIGHTS IN ALL ENGLAND

Unusual Precautions Against Visit of Zeppelins.

INSURE PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Curtains of Passenger Train Coaches Must Be Drawn While Trains Are Traveling at Night—With Arrival of Short Days Discomforts of Darkened City Are Increased.

The lowered lights order issued to hide London from marauding airships now has been extended to the whole country, and, while the restrictions in the provincial cities are not as strict as those prevailing in the capital, these places will be deprived of sky signs and other conspicuous illuminations.

One of the peculiar features of the order is a clause providing that the curtains of passenger train coaches must be drawn while trains are traveling at night. The authorities evidently believe that such trains might act as guides to the enemy's airships, which could follow them into the cities for which they happened to be bound.

In London the majority of the population apparently is beginning to be resentful instead of appreciative of the precautions taken by the police. Nevertheless the authorities consider the menace of aircraft strong enough to justify insurance of some of the architectural landmarks. The famous guildhall, which is the town hall of the city of London, has just been insured against damage by aircraft for $2,000,000. The premium paid was $5,000. St. Paul's and Westminster abbey also have been insured, according to current reports.

Discomforts of Darkened City.

The insurance question was discussed at a meeting of the court of common council in the guildhall, and a letter from the chamber of commerce was read suggesting that representations be made to the government with a view to obtaining more favorable terms for the insurance of buildings against risk of aerial raiders.

Now that the short days, when artificial lights are necessary as early as 4 o'clock, have begun the discomforts of a darkened city are increased. Three deaths of persons killed on the streets at night have come from the coroners during the past week. The commissioner of police has issued an appeal to motor drivers to lessen the burden on the police.

There is a large spirit of rush and recklessness arising from the excitement of wartimes which accounts largely for careless driving. Hundreds of motors are employed on military duties, and these, carrying the magic sign "O. H. M. S." (on his majesty's service), dash through the streets at high speed and perhaps set a demoralizing example to the drivers of taxis and private cars.

Seaside Hotels Filled.

From the German wireless messages Londoners have heard that thousands are fleeing to Scotland from fear of the Zeppelins. This is the first news of any such exodus that had been divulged here. Old ladies and servant girls shiver at the word Zeppelin, but the general apathy of the British public in the presence of the possibility of invasion by land, sea or air is considered by the newspapers to be the greatest drawback to recruiting. The seaside hotels at Brighton, Folkestone, Eastbourne and other channel resorts are filled with their usual complement of the leisure classes, notwithstanding the chances of a bombardment, which the German dash to Yarmouth showed is a danger to be reckoned with.

England is to have its own fleet of Zeppelins by the beginning of next year, if the plans of a company recently formed, with a capital of $1,000,000, prove successful. Works are now being constructed, the promoter says, and these new airships, although smaller than the German Zeppelins, are described as vastly more dangerous and planned to be the handiest and fastest air craft yet built.

TO FIGHT THE HOOKWORM.

Rockefeller Foundation Opens Laboratories on Isthmus of Panama.

The international health commission, organized by the Rockefeller foundation, has opened laboratories on the isthmus of Panama for a systematic campaign against the hookworm. The disease has been found to prevail there to an unsuspected extent.

Out of the first thousand persons examined at one laboratory more than 700 were found to be harboring hookworms. The blood of a boy of ten years of age, from whom the parasites had been recovered, made only a pale yellow spot on a blotter, registering only about 10 per cent normal richness and color.

An Army Surgeon at Eighty.

One of the oldest active figures in the field in the German army is Dr. F. Hertwig, a staff surgeon, who, according to the Berliner Lokalanzeiger, has just celebrated at the front his eightieth birthday and the fiftieth anniversary of his army service. Dr. Hertwig served in the campaign against Denmark when Germany won Schleswig-Holstein and in that campaign won by his service the decoration of the order of the Red Eagle.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hopewell, of East Seventh street, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. S. Waldron, of Elizabeth.

DANGER TO AUTOISTS REMOVED

The hedge surrounding the property of Dr. F. J. Hughes, at Park avenue and West Seventh street, which has been a source of more or less danger to autoists and other vehicle traffic for some time, has been trimmed by the owner, so that drivers approaching the busy corner can now pass without the possibility of a collision. Dr. Hughes recently realized the danger of the hedge in obscuring one's vision and decided to have it cut.

GOES TO HAVANA.

William Newmiller, formerly an erector and machinist for the Walter Scott Printing Machine Company, has resigned his position and accepted a position as foreman of the press room of LaLucha, a Spanish and American newspaper at Havana, Cuba. Mr. Newmiller recently returned from Cuba, where he was engaged for several months erecting presses.

FUNERAL AND BURIAL IS HELD AT ST. LOUIS

The funeral services of Stephen Fitzgerald, formerly of this city, but for several years of St. Louis, who died at that place Tuesday, were held yesterday morning from the Catholic cathedral, of that city. The interment was made in the family plot of Thomas Doyle, with whom he had been living since he went West. Andrew Carney, Jr., of this city, who went West to make plans for the bringing of the body East for interment, found that it was Mr. Fitzgerald's last wish to be buried in the West. Mr. Fitzgerald was survived by two sisters, Miss Agnes Fitzgerald and Mrs. Andrew Carney, Jr.

TRAVELING MEN FORM CHAPTER OF GIDEONS

Under the direction of State President Leak, a local chapter of the Gideons, widely-known as the Christian Commercial Travelers' Association was organized yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A., when a number of local traveling men enrolled as charter members.

These officers were elected: President, Oscar W. Smith; vice president, L. H. Leggett; secretary and treasurer, George H. Davey; chaplain, Joseph C. Pierson. One branch of the work of this organization is the placing of Bibles in the guest rooms of hotels. The national association has been instrumental in placing 250,000 Bibles in hotels throughout the country.

MRS. FRANK G. URNER DIES IN FANWOOD

Mrs. Clara C. Urner, aged 57 years, wife of Frank G. Urner, of Martine avenue, Fanwood, died this morning after a short illness. Mrs. Urner was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Doe, of New York city, being born in that city. In early childhood, her family moved from the metropolis to Elizabeth, where she was a resident for many years. About eight years ago, with her husband, she moved from Elizabeth to Fanwood.

Mrs. Urner was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church of this city. Beside her husband, four children survive, Arnold and Charles A. Urner, and Mrs. Oscar Grant, Jr., of El Mora, and Gordon Urner, a student at Cornell University.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence, Martine avenue, Fanwood, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be in Elizabeth.

THINK VILLA HAS CONTROL OF TELEPHONE LINES

Washington, Nov. 27—The State Department received no overnight despatches from Mexico City or any other interior point of Mexico. This is taken as an indication that the Villa armies have gained control of the lines of communication between the capital and the coast.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Further indication that General Carranza has made preparations to leave Mexico reached the State Department today. Official advices declared that the Mexican gunboat Zaragosa is now in the harbor of Vera Cruz with steam up and a complement of men on board. Vera Cruz is reported quiet, all places of business having been reopened.

DEATH OF MRS. ROBERT JETER.

Sport Snap Shots

BY MORRIS MILLER

Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Browns, who never plays on Sunday—in fact, does not even go near a ball park on the Sabbath—is following in the footsteps of Billy Sunday. He attends church and preaches the religion which he tries to practice. There the ways part. Where Sunday "exhorts" in the old-fashioned way with a new-fashioned slang, Rickey is the quiet, trained speaker, the only reminder of the diamond in his talk being a use of baseball terms to drive home his facts to the every-day American audience he faces. Rickey spoke by invitation at one of the most fashionable churches in East St. Louis, Ill., recently. He put the same punch into his sermonette that he puts into his ball team on the field. He likened life to a box score and he urged the church folk to play the game, "play by play, and the result would take care of itself."

The Royal Rooter movement in Boston dates back seventeen years, but it was not until 1903 that it attained great proportions. In 1887, during the days of the old Temple cup series, Boston and Baltimore came together in what proved to be the final series for this trophy. A band of Boston rooters organized themselves and followed the team to the Oriole City after the Beaneaters, as Seelee's team was then known, had droped two out of three games in the Hub. The Rooters came home rather dejected, as the Boston team dropped two straight bames in Baltimore. But the movement that had its beginning in this series has been revived with every winning team that Boston has since had, and the Royal Rooters are now known from one end of the country to the other.

The coming winter promises to be a busy one for amateur and professional billiard experts. To the operations of the Champion Billiard Players' league and the Intercity Three Cushion league are to be added four tournaments by the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players, tournaments of the Inter-Elks Billiard league and a professional tournament to establish a world's championship at three-cushion caroms.

Despite the war, a strong team of Swedish athletes are coming here for the international track and field meet which will be held at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco next year. Ernie Hjertberg, trainer of the Swedish athletes, says in a letter to the manager of the games that he will bring over at least a dozen men. He says that in order to allow the men to make the trip the college championships have been postponed, which is supported by the government, has consented to finance the trip.

Frank Chance's troubles did not end when he resigned as leader of the Highlanders. The Peerless Leader arrived on the coast minus his big auto, in which he intended to make the trip from New York. Chance gave up the auto journey at Lewis, Ia., and shipped his car to Omaha, to which point he traveled by train. The railroad is still searching for his machine.

The United States will challenge for the Davis international lawn tennis cup for 1915. The fact that the war in Europe may prevent some of the other nations from challenging has been duly considered by the American officials. The opinion is that this nation should formally issue a challenge to the Australian association at the time of the annual meeting of the United States National Lawn Tennis association at New York in January.

Jennings just missed the leadership of the Brooklyn team last year. He was willing to lead the Robins, but President Navin of the Detroit club thought he was too valuable a manager to let go. And we guess the owner of the Tigers was right. Hughey is an attraction in himself and will draw a crowd anywhere he leads a team of ball players on a field.

Will the passing of Vean Gregg to the Boston Red Sox and Ivan Olson to the Cincinnati Reds serve as a warning to other disgruntled Naps? It was a foregone conclusion early last season that Gregg, Olson and a couple of other players who were not in strict accord with Manager Birmingham's policies would play in pastures new. Of course Gregg fared pretty well, as Boston is a great ball town, but no player ever jumped at the suggestion or appeared over-anxious to pastime in Redville.

TIE A VERITABLE P. H. S. VICTORY

Heavy Alumni Eleven, a Ruling Favorite, Could Do No Better Than Break Even.

FINAL SCORE 6 TO 6

Old Timers Exhaust Their Strategy in an Effort to Humiliate Youthful Rivals—Game a Thriller from Whistle to Whistle.

The Plainfield High School football team lined up against the Alumni football eleven in their annual football battle on Parker Field, yesterday morning, the result being a 6 to 6 tie. The Alumni had what is probably the strongest team they ever put on the field and the predictions before the game began were that the "High School kids" would be walloped at least 20 to 0.

The "old grads" were treated to a big surprise, however, when the High School team marched straight up the field for a touchdown in the first few minutes of play. The "old men" came back in the second half and tied the score.

The biggest factor on the Alumni and the man who ripped the biggest holes in the High School line was Monroe Good, P. H. S. '13, and now a sophomore at Colgate University. He has been playing guard on the Colgate eleven and he certainly made some holes for Ricketts and Nash to plough through. Another big ground gainer for the Alumni was Jimmy Nash, regular halfback on Temple University. His gains through center and around and were one of the chief reasons for the tie score, and several times he almost broke away for another touchdown. "Piggy" Bristol was also back in a suit and held down his end position with all of his old pep and ginger, so that a High School back had to do some tall hustling to slip past him for a gain. "Yellow" VanZandt and "Don" Sminck, P. H. S. '14, held down the other end in great fashion. "Ginger" Lindzey and Jack Ricketts both helped rip things up with the rest of the old timers and it was "Rick's" touchdown that kept the Alumni from defeat. The old man of the Alumni team was Gideon Fountain, Good's running mate at guard.

He played on the Plainfield High School football team in the year 1908, and showed up very well in the contest.

The High School team received the kick-off and two long runs around ends by Greene and Rosenson brought the ball to the Alumni 15-yard line. Then on a split play Rosenson was sent around left end for a touchdown, but he failed to kick the goal. High School then kicked off to the Alumni, but after several tries at running the ball they failed to gain the necessary ten yards, so Mills kicked to Greene, who ran the ball back to the 40-yard line before he was pulled down. The rest of the first half the ball swayed around the center of the field without anything spectacular happening.

Plainfield High School kicked off to the Alumni at the beginning of the second half. Then by straight football and more weight than the High School team, the Alumni pushed the ball straight up the field, Ricketts carrying the ball over from the 1 yard line. Good failed to kick the goal, tieing the score at six all.

Nash kicked off to Daniels, who ran the ball back to the 30-yard line, when time was called. In the last period the Alumni had several chances to score by kicking a drop kick, but thinking they could score a touchdown, Ricketts did not try a kick. In the last few minutes a fumble by Nash gave the ball to the High School on their own 10-yard line and the Alumni had lost their chance to score. The whistle blew with the ball in High School's possession on their own 30-yard line.

GREAT SPURT IN LAST HALF WINS

Hope Chapel Basketeers Defeat the Independents in Final Period.

Playing their opponents off their feet in the second half of the game and only allowing them four points in the final period, the Hope Chapel basketball team added another victory to its list yesterday afternoon, on the local court, when the strong Independents, of Perth Amboy, lost by the score of 40 to 18. The Hope team played poorly in the initial period and its opponents had things their own way but they were completely outclassed in the second half.

The Fourth street aggregation had their best men on the floor for this game and were forced to give their best. Johnny Heron and the Snyder brothers played and Chamberland played the pivot position. In the first half the visitors made some fine shots and displayed great teamwork and with the half ended they were three points in the lead, the score being 14 to 11.

In the second period they could not find themselves amid the fast playing of the home team and could only get in two field goals while their opponents were making 29 points.

TWO POINT VICTORY FOR LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

Large Audience Witnessed Exciting Game on Association Court Last Night.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team tucked away a well earned victory on the association court, last night, when it defeated the fast Central Y. M. C. A. five of Trenton, by the score of 28 to 26. The game was close and exciting throughout and kept the spectators on the jump at all times after the locals had gotten fairly started. The visitors outweighed the local players by at least ten pounds to a man and used their weight to good advantage in the first half. The Trenton players were fast and played well together, their teamwork in the first part of the game having the locals guessing in the early minutes of the contest.

Captain Brynarski started off in forward with Bill Taylor in the guard position and this formation worked with pretty good success, although the home team did not get a chance in the first half to show much. For several minutes after the game was on neither team could find the basket, but a pretty field goal from the center of the floor by one of the Trenton players, broke the ice. Two more of this kind immediately followed. Gavett tossed the first one in for the local team, but the score could not be tied in this half. The first period ended with the score 13 to 10 in favor of the visitors.

Near the end of the second half the excitement began when Moulton dropped in two fouls in quick succession that tied the score after the locals had made a great spurt and counted for three field goals. The score zigzagged back and forth until its was 26 all and then a field goal by Bill Taylor and some close guarding and covering on the part of the home players, kept the visitors scoreless until the final whistle blew. Another good attraction has been booked for tomorrow night, when the Chatham basketball team, of Brooklyn, will be the locals' opponents. The game will start at 8:15.

Jesusalem pinners of the Union County Masonic Bowling League, dropped three games to the Lafayettes on the local alleys Wednesday night and still holds down last place in the standing of the teams. The home players did not prove dangerous at any time and the visitors did not have to exert themselves to win.

Both teams pinned low in the first game, the scores being 691 to 645, but the Lafayette team pulled themselves up into the 800 class in the second, scoring a 856 against Plainfield's 662. The result of the third game was 780 to 739. A 91 in the first game proved the cause of the locals downfall, but they were completely outplayed in the last two games of the match.

LAST HOME GAME FOR HOLY CROSS TOMORROW

The last home game of the season for the Holy Cross football team will be played tomorrow afternoon, on Cricket Field, when the strong Vikings, of Bayonne, will be the boroughites' opponents. The game with the Monarchs yesterday was nothing more than a good hard practice for the Holy Cross players and they are anxious to annex this final home game.

The Vikings have been playing all the fast teams in and about the vicinity of Elizabeth and Newark and are a very strong aggregation. The game will start at 3:15.

MISS WILDEY AND M. J. DUMONT WIN FOURSOME

The holiday event at the Plainfield Country Club, yesterday, was a mixed foursome, which was won by Miss Edna Wildey and Morris J. Dumont, with a net score of 72. Stuart H. Paterson won the sweepstake event with a net score of 2. The leading scores in the foursome were as follows:

Miss Edna Wildey and Morris J. Dumont, 88, 16-72; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Stockton, 89, 6-83; Mrs. C. B. Lawrence and O. H. Fleming, 99, 16-83; Miss Florence Stewart and W. Lester Glenney, 96, 12-84; Mrs. Albert MacDonald and G. A. Bomann, 106, 21-85; Mrs. Allen Cowperthwaite and Albert MacDonald, 112, 27-85.

BOWLING TONIGHT

Two matches in the Elks' Senior Bowling League will be rolled tonight, Rutherford going to Hoboken for three games and Newark is due at Elizabeth for a match. There will be no games in the Junior League till next Tuesday.

In the Eagles' League the Progress team, of Newark, will meet Rahway, on the latter's alleys.

PRELIMINARY GAME WAS A CLOSE ONE

Only One Point Separated the Scores of the Two Contesting Teams.

The preliminary contest to the Y. M. C. A.-Trenton basketball game on the association court, last night, was almost as good a game as the big one and at the finish there was only one point difference, the score being 34 to 33. The team that played under the name of the Y. M. C. A. College took the larger end of the score from a team of Grace church players, who gave them a very hard fight. "Hub" Stine failed to appear to play with his college mates and an outside player had to be substituted.

In the first part of the game the Springfield team ran away from its opponents, but the local players scored many points in the last few minutes of the first half and came within three points of tieing the score. They acomplished this feat in the early part of the last period and the score remained tied most of the time. With only a few seconds to play Dan McNamee dropped in a foul which put his team one point in the lead. The ball was put into play and a Springfield man threw the ball just as the whistle blew. It went right through for a goal, snatching victory from the Grace church team.

HUNT RUN COVERS EIGHTEEN MILES

Thanksgiving Day Chase After Hounds Best of the Season.

The Thanksgiving Day run of the Watchung Hunt Club was one of the best of the season, covering a distance of eighteen miles. The hounds were met at the Baltusrol Golf Club, being thrown in nearby. The first check was at Mountainside. In this line Harry A. Bourne and Mayor H. W. Evans both took tumbles, but were able to continue. There were many post-rail fences and in and out jumps.

For the second line the hounds were thrown in on the Miller estate and led the riders a distance of six miles to R. A. Fairbairn's race course at Westfield, where they were checked for the second time. They were again taken up and thrown in for the final line near Garwood, taking the riders in a direct course to the Plainfield Country Club, the end of the chase.

The run started at 10 o'clock in the morning and was concluded about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and throughout there were about seventy-five post-rail fences negotiated. Many followed the chase in autos. Those who finished were:

Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H., H. A. Bourne, Miss Mary F. Baker, Mrs. Gertrude Mattlach, H. L. Finch, Mayor H. W. Evans, of Westfield; R. H. Towner, Edward R. Finch, J. J. O'Donohue, S. D. French, J. C. Fox and Huntsman Harrison.

LOCALS WALLOPED DUNELLEN'S PRIDE

Monarchs Soundly Spanked by the Holy Cross Warriors.

Completely outplaying their opponents in every department of the game, the Holy Cross football team walloped the Monarchs, of Dunellen, on Cricket Field, yesterday afternoon, before one of the largest crowd of football fans that has ever assembled at one time this season. The final score of the game was 47 to 0. The score itself shows the kind of a game that was put up by the much heralded Dunellenites and their defense was completely crumbled before the fierce attack of the borough backfield.

After the first seven minutes of play when Jack Wilson intercepted a forward pass and ran 35 yards for a touchdown, the result of the game was never in doubt and the time hung on the hands of the disappointed spectators who had expected to witness one of the best games of the season. The visitors were also padded for the occasion, but their playing was far inferior to that of their opponents and not once during the game did they become dangerous.

Holy Cross kicked off to the Monarchs and Manning started the battle with a bad return, but the visitors were held at bay. The ball exchanged hands twice and then Captain Wilson made a beautiful catch of the forward pass and ran around right end for a score. Jerry Manning failed to kick the goal and the score was 6 to 0. Holy Cross again kicked off and after several minutes of play Wilson grabbed another pass that was meant for the Monarch player and ran 25 yards. Lee carried the ball over after several plays. Manning placed the oval directly between the posts for an extra point. For the third time the Dunellen aggregation received the kickoff, but the ball was held in their territory. Caulfield proved himself a hero when he broke through the line, blocked a kick and then picked the ball up and crossed the line. That was the first score of the second quarter and Manning made another point easily. After several more minutes of play, Wilson rushed the ball over again.

"Bill" Coyle was seriously injured during the half and was taken out of the game, Tom Ricketts taking his place. In the third quarter Ricketts made a touchdown, but Manning failed to kick the goal. At this point, Jack Ricketts was put in at quarterback and his brother played a back position. On one of the best plays of the game, Ricketts tossed a forward pass to Tommy Mullin, who was playing end, and the little player ran the ball to the oponents 2-yard line. One buck failed, but Manning went over on the second and kicked the goal.

No time was taken out between the third and fourth quarters and in the last few minutes of play Wilson scored six points and Manning one. This is the highest score that has been piled up in this city this year.

HOPE CHAPEL AGGREGATION MEETS HIGH STREET CADETS

The Hope Chapel basketball team will play its regular week-end basketball game on the Fourth street court, tomorrow night, when the High Street Cadets, of Newark, will appear here. This team is one of the best junior teams in New Jersey's metropolis and is going to give the Chapelites a good game.

Practically the same team as was used in yesterday's battle will be played again by Captain Heron and there will probably be a preliminary.

LIVE STOCK AWARDED AT GUN CLUB SHOOT

Five events were held on the Independent Shooting Club traps on Myrtle avenue, yesterday afternoon, and prizes of live stock were awarded for the winners of first, second and third places. Pigs, chickens and turkeys were given as rewards. Sweepstakes were also run off and the meet was one ofthe most successful ever held. Almost 3,000 clay birds were broken.

The committee of arrangements included Captain Henry Haurand, Dr. C. W. Leonard, Myrton M. Dilts and L. M. VanDyke. The prizes were awarded as follows:

First event—First prize won by Clifford Manning, a pig; second prize, Roland McIntyre, chicken; third prize, Peter Terry, a chicken.

Second event—First prize, Dr. C. W. Leonard, turkey; John Terry, chicken.

Third event—First prize, John Terry, pig; Dr. C. W. Leonard, pig (tie for first place); second prize, Peter Terry, chicken! third prize, M. D. Dilts, chicken.

Fourth event—First prize, Peter Terry, turkey; second prize (tie between John Terry, Foster and D. Randolph), a chicken.

Made Three Points Toward Month's Prize in Last Night's Play.

Tone Overton scored three points for the monthly prize in last night's play of the handicap five-back tournament that is being held every week at the Park Club. Two other pinners were tied for second with a gross score of 167 and they each were awarded one and one-half points. They were Butler and Robison. Rice held the lowest handicap for the night, which was 8, and his gross score was 157, net being 149.

The handicap for the succeeding week are given out in proportion to the showing made by the players every night and they are not fixed at any one mark. J. J. Sharrets won the monthly prize for November with an average of 56 1-6.

The results of last night's play follows:

Butler	40	40	56
Dr. Hubbard	52	37	41
Robison	43	51	32
Rice	42	58	42
Perine	41	40	45
A. VanDeventer	40	33	31
Hand	37	41	32
T. Overtone	54	42	70
Sharrets	41	34	57

ORIOLES DEFEATED Y. M. C. A. ELEVEN FROM PRINCETON

The Oriole colored football team, of this city, defeated the strong Colored Y. M. C. A. team, from Princeton, on Parker Field, yesterday afternoon, the final score being 6 to 0. The game was well played and interesting, the score being made in the third quarter. Only once did the visitors prove dangerous and then the home team held on strong and kept their opponents scoreless.

The Orioles have played several games this season and have not yet been scored on. All of the games have been victories for the Plainfield aggregation.

P. H. S. GIRLS WILL PLAY.

The Plainfield High School girls' basketball team will play its first game of the season tomorrow afternoon, against the Alumni sextet. The school team has been practicing hard for the past two weeks and the game will undoubtedly prove interesting.

FAMILY CELEBRATED FOUR ANNIVERSARIES

Mr. and Mrs. George Barlow Hosts for Thanksgiving Day Guests.

Two birthdays, a wedding anniversary and a family reunion were celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Barlow, formerly of this city, on Riverside Drive, New York city, yesterday. Mrs. Barlow was formerly Miss Marion Porter, and many of her friends and relatives from Plainfield attended the reception.

Dinner was served for twenty guests, the affair marking the birthday anniversaries of Albert Porter and Mrs. Arthur McVoy, brother and sister of the hostess, and the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. David Shay, the couple having been wedded four years yesterday. Mrs. Shay is a sister of Mrs. Barlow.

The guests from this city included Mr. and Mrs. John Porter, Miss Anna L. Porter, Albert Porter, Mrs. Arthur McVoy and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Porter and John Porter.

CATTLE DESTROYED IN EARLY MORNING BLAZE

Several outbuildings filled with live stock and farming implements and furnishings were totally destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, near Landing Bridge road, between Bound Brook and New Brunswick. The property was owned by Franklin Baylis and occupied by Max Blasser.

The loss includes thirty head of cattle, ten horses, two mules, furniture and buildings, the insurance on which was carried by the Frederick A. Martin Company, of this city.

MAKE $150 FOR THE GERMAN RED CROSS

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church, held a social in the church parlors Wednesday night, for reports of the committees that were to collect the funds for the German Red Cross work. Not all has as yet been collected, but there will probably be a total of over one hundred and fifty dollars. The pastor made a short speech and coffee and cake were served.

During the evening a handsome tablecloth was presented to Miss Margaret Feeney.

MAY START SUIT AGAINST THE CITY

"McGregor" Col. C. E. S. Bellows' Valuable Hunter, Seriously Injured.

As the result of an accident at East Seventh street and Terrill road, yesterday morning, there is a possibility that the city may be made defendant to a legal action in which Col. C. E. S. Bellows, of Woodland avenue, may seek to recover damages for what now looks like a permanent injury to his valuation hunter, "McGregor." The colonel was riding his horse on the way to Baltusrol to join in the Thanksgiving Day chase of the Watchung Hunt Club and in turning from Seventh street into Terrill road, the animal slipped on the Amiesite pavement, which is as smooth as glass, and fell down, with its rider underneath. After much difficulty the colonel succeeded in getting the horse on its feet and an examination showed a deep cut in the left hind leg reaching to the tendon and a cut on one of the fore-legs.

The horse is now under special treatment. The colonel is also suffering from an injury to his leg, the same one which was injured two weeks ago in a hunt. He claims that some protection should be afforded for horses on such a pavement and has already taken the matter up with the city officials. If the horse is permanently injured he will demand heavy damage as the animal is a valuable one.

MISS CORA GANO WEDS L. M. CRANE

Rev. J. Y. Broek Performs Ceremony at Home of the Bride's Parents.

Miss Cora Gano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manning Gano, of Grove street, and Leslie M. Crane, son of Obadiah P. Crane, of Westervelt avenue, were married at 6 o'clock last evening, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity church. Owing to the recent death of the groom's mother, the wedding was a quiet one and only the members of the families were present. The couple was attended by Miss Helen Crane, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and J. Wilbur Garretson, of Somerville, as best man. As the bride entered the room on the arm of her father, the wedding march was played by Miss Mabel Garcia, of Brooklyn. The ceremony was performed beneath a vine wreathed rustic bower.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon and draped crepe de chine and old French dream lace. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley and wore a cap to match the gown, wreathed with lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a gown of white chiffon trimmed with cream silk lace and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The reception room and hall were decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums and the dining-room was decorated with large yellow chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a Thanksgiving dinner, after which the couple left on the 9:47 train for a few days' stay at Atlantic City. Upon their return they will be at home to friends at Mr. Crane's home on Westervelt avenue, where they will reside for the present. The bride has been active in church work for many years and both she and Mr. Crane are members of Trinity church. Mr. Crane holds a position in the Elizabeth Trust Company, of Elizabeth.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF MRS. JOHN POWERS HELD

The funeral services of Mrs. John Powers, of Essex street, were held this morning at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, when a solemn high mass of requiem was said, Father B. M. Bogan being the celebrant. Fathers Vincent Sciolia and John McDonald assisting.

A large number of friends and relatives were in attendance, while the floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Among these were two pillows bearing the inscriptions "Mother" and "Grandma." At the conclusion of the mass, Father Bogan spoke briefly, tending the family words of sympathy.

The bearers were Charles and Peter Flynn, Thomas Ruddi, Peter, Thomas and James Duffy. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

FAREWELL SERVICE.

Rev. Rabbi Schoenbraun, for the past year head of Temple Sholem, this city, will preach his farewell sermon this evening. Rabbi Schoenbraun has been in charge of the Temple since its inception a little over a year ago, and has been greatly instrumental in building up the congregation. He leaves Plainfield to take charge of a New York Hebrew congregation, and will be succeeded by Rev. Dr. Martin, who comes to this city from the metropolis.

"The Most Wonderful Toy Store I Have Ever Seen"

Louise Brigham's Nursery
Furniture and playthings planned scientifically for children.

Wotsat
(the spirit of curiosity)

Optick
(the boy who sees everything)

Santa Claus
(The real-est Santa there ever was.)

If this is so, as a world-traveler says it is, it would be a pity if anybody who lives in or comes to New York failed to see it.

Most Toy Stores are mummified; like disinterred cities. This Toy Store is a real living Toy World, "on the go" every minute—a place to dream in, to play in, to live in. It occupies the entire Fourth Gallery, New Bldg.

Most Toy Stores have restricted stocks—assembled carelessly "just for Christmas." This is an all-the-year 'round Toy Store that bulges out at Christmas to three times its size to give room to its enormous stocks.

WARNING IS GIVEN TO STOCK OWNERS

Foot and Mouth Disease Responsible for Quack Remedies.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—Reports are now beginning to come in to the Department of Agriculture from several of the States quarantined for the foot-and-mouth disease that persons who have no connection whatsoever with the department are attempting to pass themselves off as Federal inspectors. There are several possible motives that might account for the existence of these imposters. In the outbreak of 1908 there were instances of men who obtained money from credulous victims who believed that in this way they would escape the inconvenience of quarantine and disinfection. This is, of course, a very simple form of extortion. Another motive may be the sale of some quack remedy for the disease.

Stock owners can protect themselves very easily against this fraud, for there is no specific remedy for the foot-and-mouth disease. Since the germ has never been isolated, it has never been possible as yet to find any serum that would act either as a cure or preventive, and the public may be quite certain that anyone who says that he is an employe of the Department of Agriculture, and at the same time attempts to sell, or even recommend anything of the sort, is simply an imposter. For this reason, stock owners are warned not to allow strangers to visit their stock or attempt any demonstrations of so-called cures by injections or otherwise.

There is, moreover, very great danger that such people might disseminate the disease. It is a well-known fact that the germs can be carried on clothing. In infected territory, therefore, it is quite possible that a man who has come in contact with stricken animals may bring the disease to a perfectly healthy herd. This also accounts for much of the spread of hog cholera.

The department therefore recommends all farmers to keep their animals from contact with all save those who have definite business with them.

REMAINS RETURNED.

The body of Randolph Giles, who recently died at Los Angeles, Cal., was returned to the East today, having been returned to the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles E. Johnson, of New Market. The funeral services will be held this afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph Raynor, of Leland avenue, has returned home from a trip to Berumda.

Mrs. C. J. Ross, of East Seventh street, has been visiting friends in New York city for the past few days.

CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN AT ONCE. HEAD COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

In One Minute Your Stuffy Nose and Head Clears, Sneezing and Nose Running Cease, Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Adv.

ISLAND GOVERNED BY PORTO RICANS

Councilman Edmund Rushmore Gives Interesting Facts of Recent Trip.

Councilman Edmund Rushmore, of North Plainfield, has just returned from Vega Baja, Porto Rico, where as president of the Spanish American Fruit Company, he spent several weeks inspecting the company's plantations. On the trip home, Mr. Rushmore was accompanied by Governor Yager, Attorney-General Pitkin and Assistant Secretary of Interior Mr. Wheeler.

Mr. Pinkin has just resigned to accept the position of adviser to the King of Siam. Governor Yager, following out the policy of gradually turning the affairs of Porto Rico over to the natives, has appointed a native of the island for Secretary of State and secretary of the interior and in the opinion of Mr. Rushmore he will appoint as Mr. Pitkin's successor a native for attorney-general. During Governor Yager's absence the island is now being governed by a native for the first time in its history.

Mr. Rushmore, in commenting on his trip, said he feels at home on the island. He has a wide acquaintance there, and especially among the Government officials, which makes his visits pleasant. While on this last trip, Mr. Rushmore had his camera and he took many pictures as well as colored photographs of grape fruit and pineapples growing. In commenting on coditions in general in Porto Rico, Mr. Rushmore said:

"The general feeling in Porto Rico is very much better than here in the States. This has been occasioned in part by the advance in sugar, which has not only kept some of the Centrals from bankruptcy, but actually put them in a strong position. When I left the island sugar planting had started and will continue for some time. The new crop will soon be cut, and in anticipation of this, the Centrals were busy putting their plants in order for the grinding.

"I visited the greater part of the fruit section on the north side and found the planters generally optimistic. Fruit prices took a big drop a few weeks ago, which is often the result after the first big shipments. There are some growers who try to rush their grape fruit to market for the first prices which are usually high. These growers are their own worst enemies for in their zeal to be first, they send green and often immature fruit which swamps the market with a lot of fruit not fit to eat. This was the case in New York the latter part of October, when prices were demoralized on this account. Since then better fruit is being shipped and prices are much higher.

"To realize how important the fruit industry is to the Island of Porto Rico, one must examine the exports for the past year. Fruit exports increased in value for 1914, $238,882 over 1913, making a total value for all fruits exported for the year of $3,201,832. The exports of the island for the year past fell off approximately $6,000,803, making the total value of $43,102,762. This was occasioned almost entirely in sugar on account of a shortage of nearly 60,000 tons and also a big decline in price. The high price of sugar this year will mean much for the whole island and has already created a more optimistic feeling there.

"On our own plantations our development is progressing rapidly. We are planting about 10,000 grape fruit trees, planting having started before I left on the eighteenth. We shipped something like 4,000 crates of pineapples this year and out of all this lost but 13 boxes by spoiling, which is a remarkable record and is due to the manager's fine ability. The Bull-Insular S. S. Line has done much for the fruit business since they have insulated the decks of their boats and installed forced ventilation, which means much for the transportation of the fruit to New York. I believe the other line is now also installing some such system."

JOHN MOORE FINED $25 AND COSTS OF COURT

John Moore, a captain of the Volunteers of America, was arraigned before Justice Toucey, at Westfield, Tuesday afternoon, and fined $25 and costs of court, on complaint of Mrs. S. G. VanHoesen, agent for the S. P. C. A., who charged the defendant with driving a horse in an unfit condition.

The animal was killed at Westfield last week. When notified, Moore threatened suit with the result that Mrs. VanHoesen had the man in court yesterday, when he was found guilty of being aware of the true condition of the horse and making no efforts to remedy it. Mrs. VanHoesen, it is said, was supported by eye-witnesses and two veterinaries.

RUTGERS IN A ROMP.

In a football game played at University Field in New York, yesterday, afternoon, the Rutgers College eleven romped away from the New York University team, 33 to 0. The New Brunswick collegians used a lot of their second-string performers, wishing to save their regulars as much as possible for the game with Washington and Jefferson at the Polo Grounds, in Manhattan, tomorrow.

CHAPTER VII.

A Christmas Carol.

BRUCE'S baby! It would be a Rule too. The third generation, the third generation. And, accustomed as he was to relate every experience to himself, measure it, value it by its own value to him, the effect of his reflection was at first single—the third generation of Rules! Was he as old as that?

It seemed only yesterday that Bruce had been a boy in a blue necktie to match his eyes and shoes which for some reason he always put on wrong, so that the buttons were on the inside. Bruce's baby! Good heavens! It had been a shock when Bruce graduated from the high school, a shock when he had married, but his baby! It was incredible that he himself should be so old as that.

This meant, then, that if Malcolm had lived Malcolm might have had a child now.

Ebenezer had not meant to think that. It was as if the thought came and spoke to him. He never allowed himself to think of that other life of his, when his wife, Letty, and his son, Malcolm, had been living. Nobody in Old Trail Town ever heard him speak of them or had ever been answered when Ebenezer had been spoken to concerning them. A high white shaft in the cemetery marked the two graves. All about them doors had been closed. But with the thought of this third generation the doors all opened. He looked along ways that he had forgotten.

As he went he was unconscious, as he was always unconscious, of the little street. He saw the market square, not as the heart of the town, but as a place for buying and selling, and the little shops were to him not ways of providing the town with life, but ways of providing their keepers with a livelihood. Beyond these was a familiar setting, arranged that day with white background and heaped roofs and laden boughs, the houses standing side by side like human beings. There they were, like the chorus to the thing he was thinking about. They were all thinking about it too. Every one of them knew what he knew. Yet he never saw the bond, but he thought they were only the places where men lived who had been his factory hands and would be so yet if he had not cut them away. Ben Torrey, shoveling off his front walk with his boy sweeping behind him; August Muir, giving his little girl a ride on the snow shovel; Nettie Hatch, clearing the ice out of her mail box, while her sister—the lame one—watched from her chair by the window interested as in a real event. Ebenezer spoke to them from some outposts of consciousness which his thought did not pass. The little street was not there, as it was never there for him as an entity. It was merely a street. And the little town was not an entity. It was merely where he lived. He went behind Buff Miles and the snowplow—as he always went—as if space had been created for folk to live in one at a time and as if this were his own turn.

When he reached the bend from the Old Trail to the road where the factory was he understood at last that he had been hearing a song sung over a great many times:

One for the way it all begun,
Two for the way it all has run
What three'll be for I do forget,
But what's to be has not been yet.
So holly and mistletoe,
So holly and mistletoe,
So holly and mistletoe,
Over and over and over, oh.

Buff, who was singing it, looked over his shoulder, and nodded.

"They said you can't have no Christmas on Christmas day," he observed, grinning, "but I ain't heard nothing to prevent singing Christmas carols right up to the day that is the day."

Ebenezer halted.

"How old are you?" he abruptly demanded of Buff—whom he had known from Buff's boyhood.

"Thirty-three," said Buff, "dum it."

"You and Bruce about the same age, ain't you?" said Ebenezer.

Buff nodded.

"Well," said Ebenezer, "well"— and stood looking at him. Malcolm would have been his age, too.

"Going down to the factory, are you?" Buff said. "Wait a bit, I'll hike on down ahead of you."

He turned the snowplow down the factory road, as if he were making a triumphal progress, fashioning his snow borders with all the freedom of some sculpturing wind on summer clouds.

One for the way it all begun,
Two for the way it all has run,

he sang to the soft push and thud and clank of his going. He swept a circle in front of the little house that was the factory office, as if he had prepared the setting for a great event; and Ebenezer, following in the long, bright path, stepped into the hall of the house.

For thirty years he had been accustomed to enter the little house with his mind ready to receive its interior of desks and shelves and safes and files. Today, quite unexpectedly, as he opened the door the thing that was in his mind was a hall stair with a red carpet and a parlor adjoining with figured stuff at the windows and a coal fire in the stove. And thirty-five years ago it had been that way, when he and his wife and child had lived in the little house where his business was then just starting at a machine set up in the woodshed. As his project had grown and his factory had arisen in the neighboring lots the family had moved farther up in the town. Remembrance had been divorced from this place for decades. Today, without warning, it waited for him on the threshold.

He had asked his bookkeeper to meet him there, but the man had not yet arrived. So Ebenezer himself kindled the fire in the rusty office stove in the room where the figured curtains had been. The old account books that he wanted were not here on the shelves nor in the cupboards of the cold adjoining rooms. They dated so far back that they had been filed away upstairs. He had not been upstairs in years, and his first impulse was to send his bookkeeper when he should appear. But this, after all, was not Ebenezer's way, and he went up the stairs himself.

Each upper room was like some one unconscious in stupor or death and still as distinct in personality as if in some ancient activity. There was the shelf he had put up in their room, the burned place on the floor where he had tipped over a lamp, tattered shreds of the paper she had hung to surprise him, the little storeroom which they had cleared out for Malcolm when he was old enough and whose door had had to be kept closed because innumerable uncaged birds lived there.

When he had gone through the piles of account books in a closet and those he sought were not found among them he remembered the trunkful up in the tiny loft. He let down from the passage ceiling the ladder he had once hung there and climbed up to the little roof recess.

Light entered through four broken panes of skylight. It fell in a faint rug on the dusty floor. The roof sloped sharply and the trunks and boxes had been pressed back to the rim of the place. Ebenezer put his hands out, groping. They touched an edge of something that swayed. He laid hold of it and drew it out and set down on the faint rug of light a small wooden hobbyhorse.

It Was Malcolm's Hobbyhorse, Dappled Gray.

He stood staring at it, remembering it as clearly as if some one had set before him the old white gate which he bestrode in his own boyhood. It was Malcolm's hobbyhorse, dappled gray, the tail and the mane missing and the paint worn off—and tenderly licked off—his nose. When they had moved to the other house he had bought the boy a pony, and this horse had been left behind. Something else stirred in his memory, the name by which Malcolm had used to call his hobbyhorse, some ringing name—but he had forgotten. He thrust the thing back where it had been and went on with his search for the account books.

By the time he had found them and had got down again in the office the bookkeeper was there, keeping up the fire and uttering, with some acumen, comments on the obvious aspects of the weather, of the climate, of the visible universe. The bookkeeper was a young man, very ready to agree with Ebenezer for the sake of future favor, but with the wistfulness of all industrial machines constructed by men from human potentialities. Also he had a cough and thin hands and a little family and no job.

"Get to work on this book," Ebenezer bade him. "It's the one that began the business."

"I don't think it seems"— the man began doubtfully.

"Well, don't think," said Ebenezer sharply, "that's not needful. Read the first entries."

The bookkeeper read:

Picking hops (four days)	$1.00
Sewing (Mrs. Shackell)	.50
Egg money (3¼ dozen)	.75
Winning puzzle	2.50
	$4.75
Disbursed:
Kitchen roller	$ .10
Coffee mill	.50
Shoes for M.	1.25
Water colors for M.	.25
Suit for M.	2.00
Gloves—me	.50
	$4.60

Cash on hand—25 cents.

The bookkeeper paused again. Ebenezer, frowning, reached for the book. In his wife's fine faded writing were her accounts—after the 25 cents was a funny little face with which she had been wont to illustrate her letters. Ebenezer stared, grunted, turned to the last page of the book. There in bold figures, the other way of the leaf, was his own accounting. He remembered now—he had kept his first books in the back of the account book that she had used for the house.

Ebenezer glanced sharply at his bookkeeper. To his annoyance the man was smiling with perfect comprehension and sympathy. Ebenezer averted his eyes, and the bookkeeper felt dimly that he had been guilty of an indelicacy toward his employer.

"Family life does cling to a man, sir," he said.

"Do you find it so?" said Ebenezer drily. "Read, please."

At noon Ebenezer walked home alone through the melting snow. And the thought that he did not think, but that spoke to him without his knowing, said:

"Winning a puzzle—$2.50. She never told me she tried to earn a little something that way."

Mock Lobster Salad.

When fresh lobster cannot be obtained mock lobster salad may be made as follows: Take large tomatoes, skinned and with all seeds taken out, chop fine and add salt, celery and cabbage (about half as much as the tomatoes), chopped fine and salted. Let stand an hour. Press juice out; mix all together. To make the dressing take the yolks of three hard boiled eggs mashed fine, sugar, salt, pepper and vinegar; mix well and pour over the salad and cut whites over the top. Serve in large dish lined with crisp lettuce leaves or in small salad dishes.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Before you go I want you to come to the cellar and see what John calls the agricultural exhibit," said Mrs. Fischer as her caller prepared to leave. "You see he has always had a garden to take care of and thoroughly enjoys it, and it is the finest kind of exercise, he says."

"I never could get George interested in a garden, but I think it would be such a saving and then your vegetables are so fresh and nice," and Mrs. Bassett followed her friend down the cellar stairs.

"Oh!" she exclaimed as the light was snapped on in the vegetable cellar. "I should say it was an agricultural exhibit."

"These tomatoes," Mrs. Fischer pointed to the vines hanging on the cellar walls, "are ripening faster than we can eat them. We pulled the vines up just before the heavy frost came. All these vines grew along the back fence and were fastened up with strips of leather cut from old shoes, so they took very little room in the garden."

"How large is your garden?" asked her friend.

"The lot is 40 feet wide. It extends across the entire end and is fifteen or twenty feet deep. John spaded it all himself and had a load of sand and a load of manure put on it. The manure lay on it all winter and was spaded in the spring. These are our carrots in this box buried in sand to keep them from withering. Here is the salsify and these are beets. They keep so fresh that way," said Mrs. Fischer with evident pride.

"That is a fine idea. I never heard of that before. Those big cabbages take my eye. Why do you have them hung up?" and Mrs. Bassett pointed to a row of solid heads strung by their roots on a wire.

"They keep better that way," answered Mrs. Fischer. "Here are the cauliflower and the turnips."

"They are certainly fine. What is in this bushel basket?" asked Mrs. Bassett.

"Those are our dried beans. John says he will shell them evenings while I read to him. There are all the beans we can use this winter and we are fond of baked beans, too. I must show you my canned vegetables," and Mrs. Fischer led the way to the fruit cellar. "All these string beans we raised and we lived on them while they were in season. The children are so fond of them. I did not can any peas. We kept two rows going clear across the garden. One was planted two weeks after the other. The row furnished peas for about two meals, then was pulled up and more seed put in. We had our first peas the last of June."

"Did you raise any corn?" asked her friend.

"Not this year. It takes so much room. I should like to have corn and plant lima beans to run up the stalks to save poling, but in a city one can't have everything."

"I am sure," said Mrs. Bassett, admiringly, "it must have meant a great deal of work."

"It did, but John says he enjoys it more than tennis or golf and it saves money instead of costing money. We find our living expenses greatly reduced by this garden," and Mrs. Fischer pushed the button to turn off the light and they ascended the stairs.

"I am going to ask George to come and see your exhibit. Perhaps I can get him interested in a garden," said Mrs. Bassett, as she took her leave.

HELPS FOR COAL FIRES

A great help in reducing the coal bill is to purchase a firebrick about two inches thick and when the fire is burning well and the coal all aglow, lay the flat brick on top. This will intercept the heat which would otherwise go up the chimney. When red-hot, the brick proves an efficient factor in heating the room.

If a strong brine of salt and water is thrown over the coals, less soot will collect in the flues and chimneys. The fire, too, will burn clearer and brighter.

FIXING THE TABLE IN THE BEST WAY FOR IRONING DAY

A brick, preferably a new and solid one, makes an excellent ironstand. It's a non-conductor of heat and for that reason is more satisfactory than a stand bought in the store.

Irons that are heated on the top of the range or fire should be set upon a piece of polished tin. They heat more quickly and are kept quite clean. The lid of a tin biscuit box does admirably for this.

The ironing board should be covered with a cloth in which there are no seams or patches, as these would mark fine linen, etc. The best board covering is flannel under a removable cotton cover.

THE TABLE

Codfish Dinner—Tear codfish apart and set it in pan of water on back of stove. Let it simmer, changing the water several times, until fish is freshened. Fry out a small piece of salt pork cut into bits. Have ready boiled potatoes and beets. Make a hash of three-sixths fish, two-sixths chopped potatoes, and one-sixth beets. Turn pork fat into hash, mix thoroughly, and fry brown. Boiled onions make an excellent side dish for this dinner, which is often prepared in New England.

Fish Hash—Fry one-fourth pound sliced bacon until crisp. Make a hash of freshened and cooked codfish and boiled potatoes, having half potatoes and half fish. Add half of the bacon fat and thoroughly mix. The remaining fat turn into a frying pan. Turn hash into this, spread carefully with a spoon, cover, and place on stove to cook slowly about twenty minutes. Uncover and cook a little faster and serve garnished with the bacon slices.

Coleslaw Dressing—One-half cup sugar, one heaping teaspoon flour, small teaspoon mustard, salt, one cup sweet cream. Put cream in sauce pan, let come to boil, stir sugar, mustard and flour together, then stir in cream. Stir until it's the consistency of cream, then put in little vinegar to suit taste. Chop cabbage, add dressing. Good hot or cold.

Graham Pudding With Hot Lemon Sauce—One-fourth cup butter, one-half cup of light (colored) molasses, one-half cup milk, one egg, one and one-half cups graham flour, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, one cup raisins. Sift flour, salt and two and one-half teaspoons baking powder together three times. Steam one and one-quarter to two hours. Hot lemon sauce to be served on graham pudding: One cup sugar, one egg, one-half cup butter, one teaspon nutmeg, juice of one lemon and the grated rind of one-half, and four tablespoons of boiling water.

Good, Cheap, Easily Made Cookies—Three cups flour (unsifted), one cup sugar, one cup mashed potatoes, one cup raisins (if you choose), half cup each of baking molasses and shortening, two teaspoons baking powder and one of soda; spice and salt to taste. Heat molasses, shortening and potato; add soda and stir well. Put flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and spices in mixing bowl and stir a minute. Mix the two and beat until smooth. Roll bits as large as walnuts in the hand and lay on upside-down dripping pan, about two or three inches apart. When ready for oven flatten with the hand. Sit by the oven while preparing the next panful and watch these baking. Grease the hands a little if necessary. This makes thirty-six cookies—good sized—about one-third inch thick.

No-Matters — Three tablespoons butter, one cup sugar, one teaspoon lemon extract, three cups sour milk, one teaspoon baking soda, one teaspoon baking powder, flour, nicely seasoned apple sauce. Cream butter and sugar together, add lemon extract, milk, soda, baking powder and enough flour to make a soft dough. Roll out and cut with a large cutter. Fry in hot fat, cover each with apple sauce and place two together.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

The Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., will receive sealed bids at the Board room in the High School Building, corner West Ninth Street and Arlington Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at a meeting to be held on Wednesday, December 9, 1914, at 8 p. m., for the construction of a school building on Evergreen Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Plans and specifications can be obtained by bidders on application to Messrs. Wilder & White, Architects, 50 Church Street, New York City, on deposit with the said architects of a certified check of $25.00, payable to the order of the Board of Education of Plainfield, which check will be returned on the return of the drawings and specifications.

The work will be let in four contracts: 1. For the general construction. 2. For the Heating and Ventilating work. 3. For the Plumbing work. 4. For the Electrical and Vacuum Cleaner system, and separate bids will be received on each contract.

All bids are to be on forms furnished with the specifications and accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank or trust company, payable to the order of the Board of Education, Plainfield, N. J., or a surety bond of a company authorized to do business in the State of New Jersey, in the amount of five per cent. of the estimate submitted.

All bids or proposals are to be in writing and sealed, and addressed to the Secretary of the Board. Each bid must state explicitly upon what portion of the work it is based.

Upon receipt of bids or proposals, the Secretary will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce their contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received by the Board previous to the hour designated and none will be received thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive any or all formalities.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — How the Silk Worms Spin Their Thread.

They Spin Right on For Five Days.

"TELL us about the silk worm, daddy," said Jack, and so daddy began the evening story:

"The changes which take place in the silk worm is one of the most wonderful things in nature. The worm is the larvae of a large moth which has a short thick body, stout legs and broad white wings crossed by several lines.

"In early summer this moth lays from 200 to 500 bluish eggs about as large as a pinhead. Any handy surface does for Momma Moth, as she glues her eggs fast, so they can't be blown away before she flies off.

"These eggs do not hatch out until the following spring. Then the larvae begin to feed and soon eat about their own weight of foliage and grow very rapidly in size.

"But this lasts for only about ten days, when they stop eating and cast off their old skins. The skin bursts near the front, and then the caterpillars wriggle and squirm their little selves right out of them.

"And then how those worms do grow! But before they are ready to spin their cocoon they molt, as this casting of the skin is called, four times.

"When it is time to spin their cocoon, which they do when they are about six weeks old, the caterpillars are about three inches long and half an inch in diameter, have bodies that look as if they were linked together in twelve different pieces; also they have seven legs.

"Then these funny little worms begin to grow smaller and turn a grayish white. Then they begin to spin, making first an outer network called 'floss.'

"Under this floss they wind and wind the silk around their bodies. Their bodies grow smaller, but they weave right on for five days.

"At the end of this time the insect has made between 2,000 and 3,000 feet of silk.

"All the time the spinning is going on there is a funny little purring noise inside the cocoons. When this ceases the expert caretakers know that the cocoons are finished.

"Then the cocoons are sorted into nine grades, according to quality, size and color. A separate lot is selected for breeding. Then the cocoons that are going to be used for the manufacture of silk are heated, so that the little insects within are killed.

"If that were not done the little insects would break through their silken prison and emerge butterflies.

"So, you see, kiddies, they must sacrifice their butterfly life so we can have their cocoon to make beautiful silks."

HARD TO DEFINE DIVINE FORCES

Connection Between God and Human Progress Must Be Realized Says Preacher.

The congregations of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, Congregational and Seventh-Day Baptist churches, joined in a union Thanksgiving service at the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday morning, the service being marked by a large attendance of members from each church.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie was in charge of the service, being assisted by Rev. Edwin Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church; Rev. Dr. R. F. Y. Pierce. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, was unable to be present.

Dr. Zelie preached the sermon. He said in part:

"There is a great temptation to the preachers in the pulpit to give this service over to explaining the various reasons or causes back of the present war. But the trend of Divine forces cannot be defined at this time. The gatherings such as this, being held throughout the entire country today are creating thought, dep and serious, a force which will be history making, taken into consideration, but God left out, and things have a tendency to go wrong.

"The praise service of the ancient Hebrew is vastly different from the praise service of today when the singing of praise is left to others. In the olden days there was in the individual a heart to love God, and a mind to know him. The way out of present troubles, is not through science, but by moving upward. Some there are who can point to the date when we pass from ancient into modern history, but since July 1, we have once more been plunged into ancient history. Some there are who refer to the Ten Commandments as a dream, but they are dreams which do not budge, as they start with, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God.' We shall see no real progress until such times as we realize the connection between God and human progress. Our own hearts are wrong in this age, as has been the case in all ages. A strange harvest is in store for 1914. The warring countries were planning for progress up until the last minute before the war. They were looking for the increase, but progress can only be derived by trust in God."

Special music was rendered by the choir, and an offering made for the local Charity Organization Society.

HOWARD GUINN BACK FROM WEST INDIES

Local Young Man Returns From Fruit Plantation for a Short Visit.

Howard Guinn, formerly of this city, but more recently a resident of Westport on the Isle of Pines, in the West Indies, is visiting his mother here, having arrived home for a short stay. Two years ago Mr. Guinn went West to take a position with the Maxson Company, importers, contractors and builders, who do considerable work in the grape fruit and pineapple groves in that section of the country. In an interview with a Daily Press reporter this morning, Mr. Guinn stated that the eastern business depression had not affected his business in the West and that grape fruit and pineapples were at present yielding a normal profit. He is enthusiastic over the part of the country from which he has come and declares that he will return there to live permanently.

The Plainfield young man is vice president of the Maxson Company and has been entirely successful in his new field of endeavor. The Isle of Pines is one of the best fruit growing centres in the world and abundant yields have been made during the summer.

Mr. Guinn will be remembered by many friends in this city as a former Plainfield High School athlete and played centre on the old Alis football team, one of the best elevens that ever played the gridiron game in this section. He is a brother of Raymond Guinn.

BOARD OF TRADE TO HEAR TALK ON "ILLUMINATION"

Members of the Board of Trade are laying plans for their December meeting scheduled to be held in the Exempt Firemen's Hall, on Park avenue, next Tuesday night. At that time representatives of the Public Service Corporation will be on hand and deliver a lecture on the subject of "Illumination."

Other informal talks will be given by members of the organization and the refreshment committee has been given instructions to provide a collation following the meeting.

WILL HOLD SALE.

A sale of fancy articles, homemade cake and candy, will be conducted in the Trinity Reformed church this afternoon and evening by the women of the church.

EDISON AIDS THE "WHITE PLAGUE" FIGHT

Prepares a Special Motion Picture Which Deals With Problem.

Thomas A. Edison has lent his aid in the anti-tuberculosis fight which, under the direction of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, has been for some time past a country-wide contest. Mr. Edison has assisted in the preparation of a motion picture play which deals with the problem of tuberculosis in children. A climax in the film tragedy shows a broken, infected employe gloating over his employer because the latter's two children have been found to be victims of the unsanitary conditions which the employer refused to correct.

The plot of the picture, which is entitled "The Temple of Moloch," is laid in a small village, the chief industries of which are some potteries, owned by Harrison Pratt. He also owns a group of dilapidated tenements, in which most of his employes live. Dr. Jordan, health officer of the village, finds that unsanitary working conditions in the Pratt pottery, together with the unhealthy state of the tenement homes of the workmen, have to do with the spread of tuberculosis. Pratt tells him it is no use to try to do anything in the matter.

Dr. Jordan has fallen in love with Eloise, the daughter of Harrison Pratt, and she has become interested in his work, particularly that at the preventorium of children from tuberculosis families. Three times Jordan appeals to Pratt, and each time he is rebuffed. Finally, he exposes conditions he has discovered through articles in the newspapers, in which he calls the Pratt potteries and tenements a modern "Temple of Moloch," in that they feed young children to the God of Greed. When Eloise, who is ignorant of conditions in the factory, sees a paper she immediately resents what she considers an insult to her father, and returns her engagement ring to Dr. Jordan.

Later Pratt's daughter and son are found to have tuberculosis. When Eric Swanson, a former employe of Pratt's, who had been discharged because he had contracted "potter's rot" in the mills, and was no longer able to work, hears of it, he exults over the calamity, which he views as a sort of personal vengeance. He musters all of his strength, and steals away to the Pratt home, where Eloise and her brother are taking the cure for tuberculosis on the porch, and there denounces Pratt, telling him that his son and daughter were originally infected as young children by Cora Swanson, when she served as nurse-girl for the Pratts several years before. So struck is Pratt by this denunciation and the graphic story of Swanson, which is affirmed by Dr. Jordan, that he decides to clean up conditions in his potteries and tenements at once.

The story ends with a Christmas scene, in which the engagement ring is returned to Eloise, and Dr. Jordan receive a liberal check for the employment of visiting nurses, the establishment of open-air schools, and other anti-tuberculosis agencies in the town.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Wyatt's Scotch lads and lassies, nine in number, giving songs and dances of their native land, headed the big bill offered at Proctor's Theatre for the first, yesterday afternoon and last night. This feature act was secured by Messrs. Proctor and Sanderson after considerable negotiation, but the fact it was appreciated by the audiences was shown by the rounds of applause that followed every number. Not only the Scotch but every one else enjoyed the skirlin' of the pipes and the difficult dances peculiar to the people from "the land of the heather." To miss this act means missing one of the best Proctor's has had in several months. Another feature offering for the last half of the week is LeHoen & Duprecia's scenic production, "By the Moonlight," which shows what is rightfully called "the prettiest act in vaudeville." The stage setting is worth the price of admission alone. May Elinor and Robert Franckins gave a high-class comedy and singing number full of laughs, and Coates, Keene & Johnson, a clever trio of colored performers, sang and danced as only the colored people can. Their act is one of the best on the bill. A comedy sketch, entitled "The Coon Detective," completed the program. It is presented by Carl Stetzer & Company and is a sure cure for the blues. Excellent photo-plays changed daily, aid in giving Proctor patrons the biggest value for the money in the city.

CONROY INJURED.

While practicing basketball in Saengerbund Hall, Wednesday afternoon, with the borough High School team, Ronald Conroy, who plays forward on the team, gave his ankle a bad turn and was forced to stop. Captain Abrams also received an injury to his weak knee but it is expected that both will start in the game against the Alumni tonight.

A COMMERCIAL BANK WITH SAVINGS and SAFE DEPOSIT DEPARTMENTS.
FOUR PER CENT. INTEREST PAID ON SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

The largest financial institution in Plainfield.

Safety—First of All

Safety is, after all, the first requirement of a bank from the standpoint of the depositor, and

Safety has been the rock foundation upon which has been built the business of this Company. To it all other considerations have been subservient. If you want to satisfy yourself as to the Safety of this institution come in and let us tell you of what our assets consist—of the close attention which our strong Board of Directors gives to our affairs and of the frequent examinations which are conducted by the State examiners, as well as by certified public accountants. Our Officers are always glad to talk with inquirers on this subject.

THE PROSPEROUS MAN

of tomorrow is the one who saves today.

The best way to save is to outline a definite plan and follow it out carefully. It is far better to lay aside a small amount with unfailing regularity than to make only occasional deposits, even if they be for large amounts.

Our 4% Savings Bond Plan is designed to help those who wish to save systematically. Particulars for the asking.

TO INQUIRE INTO MINING TROUBLES

Dr. H. K. Carroll Invited to Attend Sessions of U. S. Commission at Denver.

IMPORTANT MISSION

He Will Represent Federated Council of the Churches of Christ in America of Which He Is Associate Secretary.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, of Westervelt avenue, the borough, who is the associate secretary of the Federated Council of the Churches of Christ in America, has been invited as the representative of that important body to attend the sessions of the United States Industrial Commission at Denver, Col., December 1, held for the purpose of inquiring into the industrial and mining troubles in Colorado. This inquiry will be far-reaching and it is hoped that something definite will be accomplished looking toward a solution and settlement of the troubles among the miners which has upset industrial conditions in the West for a long time.

The invitation to attend these sessions as a representative of such a large church body is a high honor, and a recognition of ability on the part of Dr. Carroll. He is especially well fitted for this important mission, having been engaged in a somewhat similar work from time to time for the Government. At one time he was sent as a commissioner to Porto Rico to inquire into the general conditions there and make a special report to the Government. This mission he fulfilled in such a satisfactory manner that it was highly commended by Government officials.

The United States Industrial Commission, comprising a dozen or more members, is appointed by President Wilson, its duties being to investigate all labor troubles. It will meet in Denver on Tuesday, the sessions lasting probably for about ten days. Following the presentation of its report at Washington it is likely that some definite action will be taken by the Government looking to a settlement of the Colorado labor disturbance.

It is expected that from his wide knowledge of affairs in general, Dr. Carroll will be able to assist the commission in its work and at the same time gain considerable valuable knowledge himself.

After his mission is concluded in Denver, Dr. Carroll will go to Richmond, Va., where he will attend the annual meeting of the executive committee of the Federated Council of the Churches of Christ in America which will be held there from December 9-11, when he will make a report of his findings in Colorado. Dr. Carroll will return home from Richmond.

CHILDREN WILL PRESENT A SKETCH FOR CHARITY

The "Pied Piper of Hamlin" will be presented in the Plainfield High School Auditorium, Saturday night, December 12, under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee. The cast numbers nearly one hundred and elaborate costumes and scenery and interpretive dancing will add to the beauty of the production.

Children of the Franklin, Stillman and High Schools will take the various roles and have been rehearsing their respective parts for several weeks.

ADULT CLASS TO MEET.

Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, will take for his topic tomorrow morning, "Why We Believe There is a God." The service will begin at 10:30. The Adult Probation Class wil lhold its first meeting in the church parsonage next Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

PARK CLUB GIVES CHARMING AFFAIR

'Inconsistent Costume Dance' Most Novel Function of the Season.

The "inconsistent costume dance" at the Park Club, last night, was probably one of the most novel and enjoyable social functions ever given at the club. Nearly three hundred members and their friends attended the affair and carried out the plan of appearing in the most "inconsistent costume" possible. The men accepted this opportunity more generally than the women, being attired in negligee dress, consisting of flannel shirts and trousers, while some wore middy blouses, borrowing the idea from the women who found this style more to their liking.

Some of the women wore a black shoe and white stocking on one foot and the reverse on the other, but altogether the women looked charming in their attractive costumes, being the admiration of the large assemblage. There were not a few ridiculous "make-ups" typical of the olden time. A care-free spirit predominated and for this reason the popular program of dances furnished by Van-Eps Brothers' orchestra was all the more enjoyable for the guests.

The decorations were also a feature, especially about the stage. Here and there was an arrangement of an old fence and gate, scattered about which were pumpkins, corn stalks and in the midst of which was a familiar scare-crow, it being a typical farm scene.

During the evening refreshments consisting of cider and apples were served and later pumpkin and apple pies, crullers, sandwiches and coffee. One of the very amusing features was the display of large signs about the hall, some of which read "call the doctor," "engaged for the evening," "new beginners," and "look at me." These afforded much amusement, especially when a couple happened to sit beneath one of the signs.

The patronesses, comprising Mrs. DeWitt Hubbell, Mrs. J. Herbert Case, Mrs. L. D. Albin, Mrs. W. R. Faber, Mrs. H. H. Pond and Mrs. E. W. Robinson, received the guests, features of their costumes being dusting aprons and caps.

The whole affair was under the direction of the entertainment committee of the club comprising Mrs. Hugh Jarvis, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Milne, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Laing, Miss Helen Joy and George English.

BUT ONE UNEMPLOYED MAN IN THE BOROUGH

State of Affairs Revealed When Mayor Clark Seeks Relieve Stress.

Information given out by Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield, at last night's meeting of the Borough Common Council, indicated that but four men have been affected by the conditions produced by the internal troubles in Europe. The borough executive stated that four individuals had registered at the clerk's office as applicants for work and plans were immediately adopted to get employment for these men.

Mayor Clark ordered Street Commissioner Uhrhahn to put the four men to work on the streets in two gangs, thus giving all of North Plainfield's unemployed a chance to earn a livlinood during the "hard times." In order to do this it was necessary to do away with the horse and cart in use and to make other economical cuts.

The commissioner set about to carry out the executive's orders and Mayor Clark consequently visited him one day last week for a report. The commissioner turned in the time of one man and when asked what had become of the other three declared that they had previously secured work and that but one unemployed individual could be found lurking within the borough's confines. This is a truly remarkable condition of affairs when the fact that Plainfield has at present a total of 300 is taken into consideration. It means that all men out of work and who really want employment are supplied in the borough.

$19.98 INSTEAD OF $10.98.

The Saturday special in coats as advertised by Rosenbaum's in the Daily Press of yesterday, offering $25 and $27.50 fancy plush Persian crushed Caracul at $10.98 should have been $19.98. LARGE BEQUEST TO E. L. FINCH

Through Will of Miss Mary A. Harriot He Receives $25,000.

BESIDES COMMISSIONS

Mrs. E. G. Reed is Given Cluster Diamond Earrings, Painting and $1,000—Bulk of Fortune is Left to Charity.

New York, Nov. 28—Under the will and twelve codicils of Miss Mary A. Harriot, which is on file for probate here today and disposes of her estate of a fortune to many relatives, friends and charitable institutions, the bulk of the estate which goes to charity, Edward Lucius Finch, of No. 1106 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J., one of the co-executors, receives not including his commissions, $25,000—$15,000 immediately and $10,000 later on.

Mrs. Susan R. Reed, wife of Rev. Edward G. Reed, also of Plainfield, receives cluster diamond earrings, all china which was painted by testatrix's sister, maplewood suite of bedroom furniture, a water color painting, large and small Royal Worster pitchers, and $1,000.

Miss Harriot passed away here at her late home at No. 147 West 75th street, on October 26, and was laid to rest in the Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn. She was 83 years old, the daughter of the late James and Maria Harriot.

Among the many charitable bequests are, the sum of $5,000 and part of the residue to the St. John's Guild "the income is to be expended on what are now known as 'Floating Hospitals' whereby sick mothers and children may leave the heated streets of the city and gain health for body and mind in the pure air of the water."

The Crippled Children Friendly Aid Association—$50,000, "one of the ways in which it seems to me comfort be given would be to arrange for driving the little cripples through Central Park during the hot summer months."

MRS. SUSAN WILSON DIES IN DENVER

Former Plainfield Woman Succumbs to a Short Illness.

A large circle of friends will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Susan Taylor Wilson, on Thanksgiving Day at the home of her son, Edward T. Wilson, of Denver, Col. Mrs. Wilson had been ill for a few weeks with pleurisy and pneumonia, which proved fatal in her weakened condition, at her advanced age. She was born eighty-six years ago at Charlton, N. Y., the youngest of twelve children, who all lived to an advanced age. Her parents were Edward Taylor and Eunice Curtis.

Before her marriage to John R. Wilson, at Balston Spa, N. Y., she made her home with her sister, Mrs. David J. Yerkes, of this city, and there formed ties of friendship that have grown stronger with the passing years. After her marriage, she lived at Balston Spa, until the death of her husband, when she returned to this city with her only child, Edward T. Wilson. Their home was on Sycamore avenue, in the borough, until three years ago, when business interests took Mr. Wilson to Denver.

Mrs. Wilson's nature was one of rare geniality and her devotion to her family, her friends and the church, won her the love and esteem of all who knew her. Her sympathies were broad, her impulses generous and her view of life cheerful and optimistic, making her a delightful comrade and a true friend. She was actively interested in the First Baptist church, of which she was a member during her residence here and was vice-president of the missionary society for many years. This active interest she transferred to the Baptist church of Denver when she became a resident in the West, for her love for her Master was not controlled by latitude or her sympathies confined to one section of the country. The interment will take place at Balston Spa, N. Y., on Monday afternoon.

DEATH OF CHILD.

Henrietta A., the three months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Diem, of Cedar street, North Plainfield, died yesterday afternoon. The funeral services will be held from the parents' home tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey officiating. Interment will be made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

ARMY SCORES ON A BLOCKED KICK

Ball is Blocked When Blodgett Attempts to Kick From Behind Own Goal Line.

SCORE ARMY 14, NAVY 0

Many Fumbles and Plenty of Kicking Feature Last Big Game of the Season—Pritchard the Star of First Quarter.

Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Nov. 28—When the Navy team came on the gridiron at 1:56 this afternoon for its annual contest with the Army every one of the 30,000 seats in the big steel stadium was filled. The weather was ideal for spectators, but a little too warm for the combatants. Not a cloud was visible in the sky. When the teams ran through a short and snappy preliminary drill of signals for their twenty-fifth tussel the Army was ruling a popular favorite.

The lineups were announced as follows:

Navy		Army
Mills	left guard	Meacham
Perry	centre	McEwan
R. H. Jones	right guard	R. O'Hare
De Roode	right tackle	Weyand
Harrison	right end	Marrilat
Mitchell	quarterback	Pritchard
Blodgett	left halfback	Hodgson
Failing	right halfback	VanFleet
Bates	fullback	Coffin

Officials: Referee, Langford, of Trinity; umpire, Sharpe, of Yale; head linesman, Marshall, of Harvard. Periods, four—15 minutes each.

The Navy won the toss and decided to defend the east goal. The Army opened the contest with a kick-off to the Navy five-yard line and Failing ran the ball back to the twenty-five-yard mark. Bates hit the centre for three yards and Blodgett was called upon to kick. He booted to the Army's forty-yard line where the ball went out of bounds. On a fake kick Pritchard ran around left end for thirty yards to the Navy's thirty-yard line, Mitchell tackling him. A forward pass from Pritchard to Marrilat gained fifteen yards and put the ball on the Navy's fifteen-yard line. On the next play VanFleet fumbled the ball, but succeeded in recovering it for his side. Hodgson made two yards through left tackle, but Coffin was downed on the Navy's five-yard line. Pritchard tried for a field goal from the eighteen-yard line, but missed. Failing took the ball on the Navy's twenty-yard line but failed to make at the line attempt. Blodgett then made a pretty punt to the Army's forty-eight-yard line, Pritchard being thrown as he caught the ball. Pritchard then kicked to the Navy's twenty-yard line and Mitchell ran it back fifteen yards. Mitchell made four yards around left end putting the ball on Navy's forty-five-yard line. On a fake kick Failing made two yards through centre and Blodgett then kicked to Pritchard on the Army's twenty-eight-yard line. Hodgson was thrown for a yard's loss on an attempt around left end. A fake kick was stopped without any gain resulting. Pritchard punted to Mitchell on Navy's thirty-five-yard line. Failing then hit centre for three yards. Blodgett fumbled a pass for a kick but recovered it on his twenty-yard line, and then booted the pigskin to midfield. The ball was fumbled but later regained on the Navy's forty-five-yard line. Pritchard punted thirty yards, the ball hitting a

TRADES CRITICIZE BOARD METHODS

Object to Going to New York to Secure Plans for New School.

AN UNFAIR ADVANTAGE

Craftsmen Also Complain of Seeming Extravagance in Public School Buildings—Will Seek Board of Trade Co-operation.

School conditions in this city, the high cost of modern schools as found in Plainfield, and the reasons why Plainfield contractors had to go to New York to secure a set of plans in order to place a bid on the new Evergreen Avenue School, together with other kindred subjects were discussed at the weekly session of the local Building Trades Council, last evening.

A number of the members of the labor body felt that the condition placed upon local contractors in having to go to the office of Wilder & White in the metropolis to secure plans of the proposed school was unfair and an uncalled for advantage in favor of the outside contractor. This condition they lay at the door of the Board of Education. The seeming extravagance in Plainfield's public school buildings were spoken of in no uncertain terms. It was brought out by one of the members that Cranford had a twenty-two room High School, for which plans were drawn by an Elizabeth architect, costing the nearby town $65,000, while an eight-room building was costing the same town but $22,000, as against the $270,000 expended by the local Board of Education for an addition to a $140,000 building in this city.

The Council decided to send a committee to the Board of Trade at the meeting of the latter body to be held Tuesday evening of next week, in order, if possible, to secure the co-operation of the Board in looking into the question of rectifying a number of conditions alleged to be existing today in the local school system, the fault of which is generally laid with the Board of Education. The committee is composed of William H. Harding, James Cassidy, Fred Ehrhardt, John Cordova, Henry H. Corey, John Banner, Henry Schly and Thomas Brown.

Frank Farnham was seated as a delegate from the Carpenters' Union.

BOROUGH WILL SELL $150,000 IN BONDS

Borough Clerk Authorized to Advertise for Bids at Meeting Last Night.

An adjourned meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council was held last night, at which time $9,000 worth of firehouse bonds were disposed of, the offer of The Plainfield Trust Company being accepted. The local banking institution bought the bonds, the first of which will mature January 1, 1915, and will be interest bearing at five per cent. This action is taken to make provision for the payment of the debt on the Somerset street fire house, as it was found that nothing of this nature had been provided for when the structure was built.

A revision of the borough building code, to take effect December 22, was introduced by Councilman Alexander Milne and adopted. This provides for the establishment of a building line on all borough thoroughfares with the exception of Somerset street. Hereafter all buildings will have to be erected at least four feet from the front property line.

Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver was instructed to insert advertisements in the local and Somerset county newspapers for the sale of joint sewer and collecting system gold bonds. The borough will sell $50,000 worth of joint sewer bonds bearing interest at 5 per cent. and maturing between the years 1935 and 1954. The bids will be opened December 22.

Collecting system bonds valued at $100,000 will be sold December 24. These will also be interest bearing at 5 per cent. and will mature between 1916 and 1954.

RABBIT CASE MAY CHANGE GAME LAW

Plan Underway for a Sweeping Revision of Drastic Statutes.

Public sentiment aroused by the recent North Plainfield rabbit-shooting case, has resulted in a movement to bring about a sweeping revision of the New Jersey game laws. The initial steps have been taken by residents in this section, but it promises to be Statewide within a month. The proposition will be brought to the attention of the coming legislative session soon after it convenes on January 12.

Paradoxical as it may seem the proposed lessening in sentence severity for violations of the laws, is being fostered by the people they were primarily intended to protect, namely, the sportsmen. Prominent Union county hunters, several of whom live in Plainfield, were the first to take up the matter, while the aid of the National Sportsmen's Association was soon forthcoming. Action at Trenton is practically assured as several Assemblymen have pledged their help.

One of the chief grievances the sportsmen have against the laws is the section which permits the arrest of a man whose dogs chase game on his own premises during the closed season. It is almost impossible to prevent hounds from running the fields when released and many times an owner has been haled to court when he had no idea his dogs were loose. This is one injustice it is hoped to rectify and practically all that impose heavy fines for trivial offenses are to be given attention. The adverse public sentiment aroused by the Phillipson case has placed the drastic measures in the limelight, a fact that will aid in a proper hearing before the Legislature.

Speaking of the proposed changes a few days ago, a South Jersey Assemblyman said: "When I was campaigning previous to the recent election, my audiences frequently interrupted me by asking how I stood on the subject of a change in the game laws. They said they were more interested in that than anything else and I believe the time is ripe to give the entire list of game statutes a thorough overhauling."

THIRTY-TWO PERSONS AT THANKSGIVING REUNION

One of the most interesting family reunions in the city or borough on Thanksgiving Day took place at the home of Captain and Mrs. William E. Smith, of Grandview avenue, when a total of thirty-two persons partook of an elaborate turkey dinner. Those participating besides Captain and Mrs. Smith were seven of their eight children, five sons and daughters-in-laws, seventeen grandchildren and Captain Smith's brother, Alexander Smith, of Keyport.

The last named is eighty-eight years old and made the trip from his home unaccompanied. The only members of the parent family missing were a son, Edward Smith, who is supervising the construction of a bridge at Burlington; a son-in-law, Frederick Wagner, of Rahway, and a grandson, William Baglan, who is in the naval service of Uncle Sam at Vera Cruz.

LOCAL GIRL MARRIED TO FORMER PLAINFIELDER

Miss Sadie E. Williams, of Lee place, and Clarence Benson, formerly of DeKalb avenue, but now of Newark, were quietly married in Springfield, Thanksgiving Day afternoon by the Rev. Dr. Hoppaugh. Following a short honeymoon the newlyweds will live in Orange.

Miss Anderson, a cousin of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, and Arthur Anderson was best man. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Williams, of Lee place, and is well known in this city. The groom is the son of Mrs. Harry Bogert, of this city.

PLENTY OF SEATS LEFT FOR M'CORMACK RECITAL

Contrary to the rumor that has been in circulation during the past few days, there are plenty of seats left for the McCormack concert to be held in the Elizabeth Armory next Tuesday night. The $1, $2 and $3 reservations have not been entirely disposed of as yet.

The committee in charge of the arrangements has received the program from McCormack and it is one of the best he has ever presented. It includes a number of operatic selections and will appeal in its variety to every lover of music.

FRENCH CRIPPLE GERMAN BIPLANE

One Aviator is Killed and Two Others Are Made Prisoners.

AN INFANTRY ATTACK

Germans Still Fighting North of Lodz in Poland and Have Captured Great Mass of War Material.

Paris, Nov. 28.—The French War Office gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"In Belgium the artillery engagements continued during the day of November 27 without particular incident. The heavy German artillery is showing less activity. There was a single attack by infantry to the south of Ypres, which our troops repulsed. Toward evening our artillery brought down a German biplane manned by three aviators. One was killed and the two others made prisoners. In the region of Arras and farther to the south there is no change. The day was very calm. In the region of the Aisne in the Champagne district our heavy artillery inflicted very serious losses upon the enemy's artillery. From the Argonne to the Vosges there is nothing to report."

Rome, Nov. 28 (Central News Cable).—The newspaper Vita, of Cairo, publishes a report that a Turkish army has penetrated to within 8,000 kilometres of the Suez Canal at two different points, Naan and Ennukhl. Lack of water prevents a further forward movement of the threatening forces.

Copenhagen, Nov. 28 (Central News Cable).—An unofficial despatch from Berlin declares that the Germans are still fighting north of Lodz in Poland and have captured a great mass of war material from the Russians. The message admits that the conflict now in progress is the most serious battle which has yet taken place in the eastern theatre of fighting, if not in the entire war.

All subjects of the Allied Powers in Jerusalem have been interned and the Turks are advancing toward the Suez Canal, according to a despatch from Berlin. A force of 75,000 under Izzet Pasha, reinforced by 10,000 Bedouins, is building a railway to the Rich Oasis of El Nakel, which will henceforth be the base for the Turkish operations against the British in Egypt.

SUCCESSFUL EUCHRE HELD BY HOLY NAME SOCIETY

The Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's parish held a euchre in Debele's Auditorium, last night, that was largely attended. Cards and dancing were the features of the evening. Music was furnished by Paroubek's orchestra. There were about twenty prizes offered, consisting of money, pictures, cut glass and other articles. Miss Helen McDonough, of Fairview avenue, was awarded first prize which was a two dollar and a half gold piece.

Refreshments were served during the evening. The committee consisted of Robert McCormack, chairman; James Tobin and Thomas Meaney, who were assisted by all the members of the society.

Y. M. C. A. ARRANGE "COLLEGE NIGHT" AFFAIR

The first "college night" of the season was held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, last night, with an attendance of about fifty High School boys. Several of those who are attending colleges were present and spoke. The principal speaker was Rev. Christian F. Reisner, of New York city.

He took a religious topic and gave the audience many interesting and helpful hints. After Dr. Reisner's speech there were several other short talks by local fellows who are in college and they told of various experiences and phases of college life. Those who spoke were Craig Blair and Edmund Kenney from Penn State; Lawrence French, Rutgers; Egbert Fountain, Colgate; Harold Schenck, Rutgers; Donald Sminck, Springfield, and William Thomsen, Stevens. The object of this meeting was to get the High School students interested in college.

TO PREACH AT SCOTCH PLAINS.

Stylish Reliable

In an old book about clothes I learned that the ancient Roman citizen wore a hat—not to protect his head, but—to show how good he felt. The whole empire wore hats when Nero died.

Nowadays the scarf has assumed the psychological function formerly filled by the hat.

Every morning a man picks out a scarf that tells how he feels and forecasts the attitude he will have toward people during the day. This is not invariable, nor is it often done consciously—but it is true that the variations in a man's neckwear are a fairly reliable index to his cheerfulness.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Ireland, a Nation," which comes to the Plainfield Theatre for two days commencing Wednesday, has established itself in a class with "Neptune's Daughter" and "Cabiria" and is attracting equally as much interest among followers of the silent drama. For acting, scenery and historically, the film excels most of the screen plays thus far shown in this city. This motion picture is a bit out of the ordinary. Spots of historic or beauty interest are shown and then pictures of great Irish-Americans show what the sons of Erin have done. But it is the story of the lives of the historical patriots that is most compelling. These lives have been cleverly interwoven into one beautiful story of human interest, love and sacrifice that will go to the heart of every Irishman or any one else who sees it. Matinees daily at 2 p. m. and 3:30 p. m.; evenings at 7 and 9 p. m.

Master Paul VanDyke is announced as a Yodler in the list of vocalists accompanying "Honey Boy" Evans to the Plainfield Theatre, Monday night. December 7. There is a pretty little tale connected with his engagement by George Evans. During the summer of 1910, "Honey Boy" Evans spent his vacation abroad and his travels took him to the famed dykes of Holland. In the city of Rotterdam, one evening he was attracted by a boy who was yodling, as only the Holland youngsters can. The minstrel man's managerial ear was attracted and the use of a few coins soon brought the boy to him. The little fellow was apparently poor, for his clothes hardly covered him, and the subsequent talk and investigation confirmed the first impression. Mr. Evans learned that the boy lived with his parents, who were honest peasants and had a hard time making ends meet. He made an offer for the services of the boy to join his company and sing for American theatregoers as he had been singing that first night in the streets of Rotterdam. When the boy's parents found that their son would have to go to America to avail themselves of the offer they at once shook their heads. "No," they could not consent to that. He was "too young, bye and bye perhaps, but not now," and so the minstrel lure was denied. But Evans has had many letters from the boy's father in the meantime, and now, in his twentieth year, Master Paul is in America, and singing each night as the boys of Holland do on their native heath.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The bill at Proctor's Theatre for the first half of next week will have as its headliner a spectacular production entitled, "The Girl in the Moon." The patrons of the house will have much to admire in this offering, which is a singing number, with elaborate stage settings, handsome costumes and electrical effects. Miss Mack and Miss Murray, two vocalists of repute who are featured in the production, have the support of a specially selected cast. Wholesome comedy will be injected into the bill by the Mimic Four, a quartet of funmakers who have made an instantaneous hit wherever they have appeared. Bud Snyder and company, in a comedy bicycle act; Gertrude Arden and company, presenting a comedy sketch, and Wopman and Hoeton, comedians, will complete the program. Beginning with Monday next, feature films will be shown at Proctor's every day. Watch for the announcements.

THE REAL "PAULINE" TO BE AT PROCTOR'S

Young Woman Who Posed for Great Serial Film Coming on December 8.

Patrons of Proctor's theatre who have followed the hair-breadth experiences of "Pauline," the girl of many perils, will have an opportunity soon of seeing the famous heroine in reality. Miss Pearl White, Pathe's feature star, who posed for the "Perils of Pauline" and in so doing, narrowly escaped serious injury several times, will appear at the Front street theatre on Tuesday, December 8. Thousands of "movie" devotees know Miss White via screen introductions consequently the prospect of viewing her in real flesh and blood and hearing her talk, has aroused great interest.

Beginning with next week, Proctor's theatre will have another treat for its attendants. Feature moving pictures are to be shown every day, the contract calling for the very latest films put out. On Monday and Tuesday next, the feature will be "413," in which the greatest train wreck ever photographed is depicted. It was taken on the Raritan River Railroad, near New Brunswick, and at the time was chronicled in newspapers throughout the country. Thursday and Friday of next week, Blanche Walsh, America's famous emotional actress, will be seen in her great play film "The Resurrection." Other films of equal importance are to be announced in a few days.

Mrs. J. F. Garretson, formerly of this city, but now of Dunellen, was given a surprise party last night, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Gayle, of Vine street, North Plainfield, in celebration of her sixty-fourth birthday anniversary. The party was arranged by her three daughters, Mrs. H. E. Gayle, Mrs. G. M. MacIntyre, and Mrs. A. C. Giddes, of Dunellen. There were guests present from this city, Dunellen, Somerville and Roselle Park, and supper was served. Mrs. Garretson received many beautiful gifts.

During the evening there was a social time and reunion. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Garretson and daughter, Helen, of Roselle Park; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Giddes, of Dunellen; Mr. and Mrs. G. M. MacIntyre and daughter, Margaret, and son, Roy, the Misses Minnie and Ella Sharp, of Somerville; Miss R. M. Garretson, of Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gayle and sons, Harold and Elmer.

FUNERAL OF RANDOLPH GILES HELD YESTERDAY

The funeral of Randolph Giles, son of Nelson B. Giles, of Whittier avenue, Dunellen, was held at the home of the deceased's sister, Mrs. Charles Johnson, of 320 New Market road, Dunellen, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Giles passed away at LosAngeles, Cal., on Wednesday, November 11, and the body was brought East for the service and burial.

Rev. T. E. Vassar, pastor of the First Baptist church, of New Market, was the officiating clergyman. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the service. Among the floral tributes were those from the Elks, Masons and the brothers and sisters. Interment was made at Middlesex Hillside cemetery. The pall-bearers were William Giles, Charles Johnson, Eugene R. Smalley, Willard Randolph and the two brothers, Mefford R. Giles, of Plainfield, and Russell Giles, of California.

PROFESSOR TO SPEAK.

F. L. HEBERT IS SHOWING BIRDS IN EXHIBITION

Fred L. Hebert, of Verdon street, North Plainfield, is among the exhibitors at the tenth annual exhibition of the Dover Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association, which is now being held. The local man is exhibiting single comb Anconas and is one of four in that class.

The exhibit is the best and largest that has ever been held by this association and there is a large list of handsome premiums.

ANTLERS WALLOPED JACKSONS.

The Antler Five, or North Plainfield, defeated the Jackson A. C. team, of the borough, yesterday afternoon, by the score of 14 to 2. Burner was the only one who could score for the Jacksons and be made the field goal. Garthwaite scored three baskets while Schump made two. Next week the Antlers will play the Hope Chapel junior team in Hope Chapel.

WRESTLERS TO HAVE CLASS.

Physical Director Meermans, of the Y. M. C. A., is planning to organize a wrestling class for senior class members, which will be held at 5 o'clock every Saturday. The first meeting will be held on December 5. All interested in this work are requested to see Mr. Meermans.

MADE A PRESENTATION.

Rev. M. Schoenbrun preached his farewell sermon at Temple Sholem last night, and there was a very large attendance. He took for his topic "Thanksgiving" and spoke very interestingly along that line. At the close of the meeting, Judge William Newcorn, president of Temple Sholem, presented the retiring official with a silver handled umbrella on behalf of the members.

EAST END CIVIC MEETING.

The East End Civic Association will meet next Tuesday evening at the Netherwood Reformed church. Refreshments will be served and a good time enjoyed in getting acquainted.

EFFICIENCY IN CITY GOVERNMENT.

At the last election, Buffalo adopted the commission form of government, thus far the largest American city to do so. The movement is steadily spreading throughout the United States and the ultimate adoption of this or the city manager plan of administration by cities seeking an efficient government is inevitable. Efficiency means economy. Municipal economy means a lower tax rate, an improved real estate market and an increase of population and prosperity. Every individual and corporation strives to cut down business expenses to the utmost and to introduce efficient methods. A city is a public corporation, conducting its affairs, not for profit, but for the benefit, safety and comfort of its citizens, who correspond to the stockholders of a private company. Therefore what possible reason may be advanced for not applying to city administration the economy methods practiced by a large business?

A principal fault with a government such as this city's is lack of centralization. The responsibility is divided among too many individuals. The paid departmental heads are responsible to a council composed of citizens, representative men, no doubt, but amateurs at conducting a city's business, most of them knowing nothing about it when taking office, and who cannot be expected to devote more than a portion of their time thereto. The mayor's position is generally similar. How long would a private corporation pay dividends with a like arrangement of part-time operating heads, unsalaried and constantly changing, none of whom is directly responsible for the efficient, and therefore economical, conduct of a specified department? How long are intelligent people going to permit city affairs to be conducted in a manner they would not tolerate in their own businesses?

The solution offers itself in either commission or city manager government. The former is a great stride towards efficiency; it has been adopted by many of our leading cities and by sixteen in this state. Perhaps the best known near-by example is our state capital. Trenton's experiment was successful from the start. The commissioners, of whom there are five, meet informally, invite criticism, and what is more, listen to it. The city's floating debt has been cut in half and a working capital is being built up to replace the borrowing system. The deficit is being cut down by current revenues and not bonded. Direct economies have resulted in all departments. Trenton, an average American city, with average men on its commission, gets better results than with divided responsibility. Wouldn't Plainfield?

German cities are acknowledged to be the best governed and most efficiently operated in the world. They are organized and run like well operated corporations, and most of them have the city manager form of government, recently adopted by the large city of Dayton, Ohio. They are in charge of experts who devote their lives to this calling, and prepare themselves for it, as for medicine, the law or engineering. Along with other candidates, each prospective manager of a German city competes for the position. The successful applicant has probably risen from one post to another in the administration of that or some other city, thus preparing himself further for the hoped-for post of burgomaster or city manager. It is not an essential that the candidates be residents of the city when applying. The choice of burgomaster is made with care and is expected to be a permanent one; when appointed, he is responsible for the efficient administration of his city and may remove, suspend or punish any remiss or incompetent under official. Thus authority is centralized in the person of a competent professional, trained to his task, whose tenure of office depends solely upon his showing of properly operated departments, and upon his balance sheet.

The Municipal League at its recent meeting in New York, went on record as favoring city managers to replace mayors, and predicted that the time would come when every city in the United States would have a city manager for its chief executive.

Some may urge that a trained man, able to run the affairs of a city successfully and economically, would demand a salary prohibitively high. But to this it is submitted that the people could well afford to pay such a man, and pay him well, getting from him in return large dividends of better municipal health, better streets and generally increased departmental efficiency. The average American city would make no mistake in adopting one of these two forms of government; it would put money into the pockets of the taxpayer by giving him a dollar's full value for every dollar paid to the tax collector.

The affair was in charge of the finance committee which is composed of Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle, chairman; Mrs. Winfield Schomp, Mrs. Chickering, Mrs. George Kirch, Mrs. Leonard VanCamp, Mrs. Elmer Wheeler, Mrs. P. K. Dilts, Mrs. Edward Weaver.

ARMY-NAVY FOOTBALL GAME

Navy man's head and rolled to the Navy's five-yard line where there was a scramble. Navy recovered the ball thus saving itself from a certain score by the Army.

Blodgett dropped back for a kick behind his own goal line, but the ball was blocked. He dropped on the ball behind the goal line and the referee gave the Army two points on a safety.

Navy got the ball on her own twenty yard line and Blodgett kicked to Army's forty-five yard line. Pritchard fumbled and Overesch got ball for Navy. A pretty forward pass, Mitchell to Failing, gained fifteen yards and put the ball on Army's twenty-seven yard line. Mitchell was thrown without fain and Bates hit the line for two yards. An attempted forward pass was blocked. Blodgett was trying for a goal from placement from Army's thirty-three yard line. The ball was partly blocked and went under the goal post. Army's ball on her own twenty yard line. Navy was penalized for holding. Two plays at centre failed to gain and Pritchard kicked from his own twelve yard line to Mitchell on Navy's third yard line. First period over.

Score, Army 2, Navy 0.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The fifteen cent suppers will be served at the association tonight from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Mrs. F. H. Andrews will read at the service tomorrow afternoon.

SLIGHT FIRE.

A blaze in a waste barrel on Somerset street made some little commotion about 1 o'clock this afternoon. Some one threw a lighted cigarette into the barrel in passing and it ignited the contents. Only a pail of water was needed to extinguish the flames.

TOYLAND OPENING

After months of careful planning we are pleased to announce the opening of our

Greatly Enlarged Toy Department

In spite of war times we are able to present the biggest and best assortment of foreign and domestic toys ever shown in this city. We began as early as last January to provide for this great event. Many of the toys were actually in the store when the war broke out, while others were on the way, and all were bought at the low prices prevailing at that time; so that in addition to big stocks, you will also find our toys priced the lowest in the city.

A feature that will appeal to the grown-ups who bring the little tots to see the toys, is that they are shown right on the main floor; there's no climbing up or down stairs. Another feature is, the toys on exhibition are the samples that we sell from. We don't send you the ones that have been handled and played with; your order is filled from fresh new stocks, just as they come from the makers.

It would require a page to enumerate all the toys shown; many of them exclusively by us, so come and see for yourselves and bring the children. Make your selections now while the stocks are at their best. Deliveries can be made at your convenience.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

At a meeting of the junior class Wednesday afternoon, Sheldon Coudray was elected captain of the class basketball team and Alfred Seals elected manager.

Ben Rosenson, James Noonan and Herbert Peacock will not be present at the kicking contest to be held at Newark as was stated a few days ago. At first Coach Patch thought of entering these fellows to represent the school, but he finally decided not to do so.

The boys of the senior and junior classes of the school are endeavoring to start a new custom at the school in connection with the Christmas exercises, in the form of a flag rush. Nothing definite has been decided as to the form of the rush, but it will probably be held on Parker Field after the exercises at the school.

Miss Helen Coddington will give a formal dance this evening at the Bound Brook Country Club. Many High School people will be present.

PERSONAL.

Edmund Kenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kenney, of Watchung avenue, is home for a short vacation from Penn. State, where he is a sophomore.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Burtis and daughter, Marjorie, are attending the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Burtis have a son who is an ensign in the navy and they attend the game every year.

Mrs Arthur E. Smith, of West Seventh street, has returned home from Baltimore, where she has been visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Melvin and daughter, Miss Mary Clare Melvin, of East Second street, have returned home after a visit with Mrs. Melvin's brother, Edward J. Lynch, of Jersey City.

Elmer S. Lynch, of Baltimore, has returned home after spending the holidays with Dr. and Mrs. Edwin I. Smalley, of Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rimmer, of West Fifth street, are parents of an eight-pound boy who arrived at their home this morning.

William Grattan, who has been visiting in this city, returned to the Soldiers' Home at Kearny, today.

CHRISTMAS DANCE.

The entertainment committee of the Park Club has fixed upon Wednesday evening, December 23, as the time for the Christmas dance. There will be an informal dance at the club on Saturday evening, December 12.

LOSES VALUABLE HORSE.

A valuable horse belonging to the Union Grain Company was found dead in the stable on Codington avenue, this morning. The animal was valued at about $200.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity remove the gas-making mass, star the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jads Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

TO GIVE THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

Yale Dramatic Association Will Appear at the Plainfield Theatre Dec. 31.

The Yale Dramatic Association has included Plainfield in the itinerary of its annual holiday tour, and will give a performance in the Plainfield Theatre, December 31. In the twelve years of its existence this organization has come to be ranked as one of the greatest amateur acting organizations in the country. The holiday tour will be made by twenty-five Yale undergraduates in the association's private car "Forrest."

The bill offered by the Yale players this year will be a distinct novelty. It will consist of three one-act plays, all chosen for their amusing and entertaining qualities as well as for their historical or literary interest. They are "Behind the Beyond," a dramatic adaptation from Stephen Leacock; "St. Bartholomew's Eve," a romance written by the president of the dramatic association, F. W. Tuttle, and a one-act tragedy, which has not yet been selected.

FORMER LOCAL MAN IN RANKS OF ALLIES

Frank Kenney, Now on French Border, Writes to Plainfield Friends.

Several local friends received letters yesterday from Frank Kenney, a former Plainfielder who left six weeks ago to join a Scotch regiment of which he was a reservist. At the time of writing he was with the allied armies on the French border and though at the front only a short time had already participated in several of the big engagements about Dixmude and the Ypres. His descriptions of the fighting were necessarily meagre because of the strict censorship but he echoed the belief of the Allies that the Kaiser's forces would soon be driven back to Germany. The men have all been suffering from cold weather, although he himself was doing well.

"My football work on the South Second street field," he facetiously writes in one letter, "has put me in such shape I could lick a regiment of Prussians no matter if the thermometer drops to zero."

Mr. Kenney was a member of the Plainfield Association Football Club and was active in the organization's social life. He boarded at the home of Alex. Campbell, of Grant avenue, and was employed by local contractors as a mason. This is not the first time he has seen service as he served in the Boer war when only twenty years old. He came to America shortly after, but was retained for field work by his regiment in the event of hostilities.

The biggest battle (financially) that promoter Jimmy Coffroth ever handled was the Corbett-Jeffries bout of 1903. It drew a $62,000 house. And the most difficult match he ever arranged, he says, was the Britt-Nelson battle of 1905, which drew a $48,000 house. This contest developed into a three-cornered wrangle between promoter Coffroth and Willie Britt, Jimmie's manager, and Billy Nolan, crafty handler of Battling Nelson, that has become pugilistic history. This Britt-Nelson battle was the first bout ever staged in an open-air arena and it was the first contest that was ever "filmed" by the movies. The pictures were shown all over the world.

Tom McCarty and Jim Savage, heavyweights, violated the New York state boxing law by fighting an encore at the conclusion of a recent 10-round bout in Gotham. When McCarty offered to shake hands at the end of the fight Savage belted him on the jaw. Savage then woke up and offered his mitt, but McCarty bauled off and walloped him.

Ora Morningstar, one of the foremost billiard players of the world, was uncertain for many years as to the profession he would choose. It was a tossup between billiards and painting, and his inclination was decidedly toward the artistic career. The result has been somewhat of a compromise, for while Morningstar is famous as a billiard player he is also wedded to painting. It was by chance that Morningstar became a billiard player. Early in life he obtained employment in the billiard hall of Maurice Daly, in New York. Being thrown into such close association with the game, he developed an unusual ability with the cue and attracted wide attention in New York. He was soon recognized as championship caliber and more than once has held the 18.1 and 18.2 titles of the balk-line game. During the 14.1 balk-line championship tournament held at the Astor hotel, New York, in April, Morningstar proved to be one of the most consistent contenders. His open table play has made him a master of the new style game of 14.1, and judging from his past performances he should annex the championship this season.

As a lightweight champion Freddy Welsh has been very much to the fritz. Since whipping Bill Ritchie and acquiring the prize the Englishman has mingled in ring doings with Matty Baldwin, Ad Wolgast, Charley White and Jimmy Duffy; and he hasn't added anything to his reputation by what he did in these contests. Baldwin the champion defeated, but Matty is broken down and a has-been. And at that Welsh had no wonderful margin at the end, though he can be excused for this as he hadn't fought in months. Wolgast made a dandy showing until a broken arm rendered him helpless and Manager Tom Jones was compelled to toss in the sponge. Against White the champion came in pounds overweight and the Chicagoan was credited with a draw, a victory and a defeat. A draw seems to have been the proper verdict. And at Buffalo the other night the champion, down to 136½ pounds, showed nothing particularly classy against Dufly. The Lockport wizard did much of the aggressive work and at the end was given the shade by some of the papers, while others thought the champion deserved an even break. It's up to Welsh to deliver the goods by landing a few victories if he is to continue to demand big money for his services.

The trouble with Princeton this year has been the trouble with Yale in the past. Princeton was overcoached. The players received so much advice that they didn't know which coach to follow. When they got in a pinch they were undecided. Being told to do one thing in five different ways by five different men will disconcert any athlete.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Local sport managers, particularly those who pilot basketball teams, have exhibited considerable indifference of late years regarding the starting time of court exhibitions. Invariably the night games are slated for 8:15 and only on rare occasions are contests sent under way before 8:45. Particularly noticeable has been this feature in the Y. M. C. A games. A number of the most ardent supporters of the Plainfield quintet have registered what seem to be bona fide kicks with us regarding the practise of starting games a half hour after the scheduled time, with the hope of obtaining some relief in the near future. Spectators make sacrifices to get to the place in order to be in at the start and as a rule are forced to wait thirty or forty minutes with nothing but a listless practise to keep their minds occupied and their bodies warm, for a basketball court is not the warmest place in the world for a spectator to sit. Local managers would make one big hit with the fans and increase their gate receipts perceptibly if they would adhere to the rule of starting contests on time and it is to be hoped that in the future this inconvenience will not exist.

If the two basketball games settled on the Y. M. C. A. court Thanksgiving night are to be taken as an indication of what is to be served up on tonight's menu it would pay local followers of the game to visit the East Front street rendezvous. Seldom do a pair of games result as did the ones Thursday night, one and two point margins separating the respective forces at the conclusion of the issues.

Billy Coyle's mishap comes as a source of keen regret to the little player's many friends and admirers in this city, and all look forward to a speedy and complete recovery. Coming at a time when his services are most needed to the Holy Cross team and being of painful and serious character, his injury is a doubly regrettable one.

Here's what the Trenton State Gazette has to say about Referee Paul Collier, the Y. M. C. A. court and a few other outstanding grievances brought to the surface by the Central Y. M. C. A. youths Thursday night:

"The Central Y. M. C. A. team played a good game against the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. team on the latter's court last night, although eighteen fouls were called on the Central fellows. The referee, being one of their fellows, failed to call fouls on the Plainfield team.

"Their holding and tacking was very bad and at least twenty-five or thirty fouls should have been called.

"Their floor was small and a low ceiling handicapped the Central Y. M. C. A. fellows."

The world is all wrong. Some sport scribe made a serious mistake when he took the wailings of a sore and defeated squad of basketeers seriously and penned this scroll about Paul Collier. The true status of affairs, if brought to the surface, would show that the Trentonians got more than they deserved from Paul and their defeat can be chalked up to no one else but themselves. It's a pity a team has to exhibit this weakness after being nosed out in such a cleverly played contest and the Trenton quarters are the last place in the world we expected to hear a "squeal" from.

No little amount of surprise was occasioned in local football circles by the calibre of the gridiron stuff the Plainfield High School warriors exhibited against the heavy Alumni cutfit Thanksgiving Day. Coming on the field a big favorite the "grads" were treated to a severe jolt and before the four quarters were over they well knew they'd been in a football contest. The tie was a veritable victory for the schoolboys inasmuch as the old-timers had it on to them in weight and experience and were the popular choice for the decision.

We're not so sure that Holy Cross would have a walk-over with the Plainfield High School eleven after the showing the youngsters put up when pitted against the "usterwus" outfit Thursday. In fact we're rather inclined to believe that the P. H. S. squad has an edge on the independent crew.

But the teacher hath decreed that the youngsters shall not lineup against the rough Holy Cross club members, hence we'll have to satisfy ourselves with imagining what the result would be if the two forces clashed.

Haven't heard a whimper from Dunellen since the Monarchs were humiliated by the Holy Cross squad Thursday. The Monarchs happen to be the same combination that was touted sky-high to wallop the locals about three weeks ago.

Another lid was tilted last night. The North Plainfield High School boys got out some moldy paraphernalia last night and stacked up against their predecessors on the basketball court.

LOCAL MAN DIRECTOR OF WINTER LEAGUERS

J. Hartley Mellick Interested in Exclusive Baseball Organization.

J. Hartley Mellick, of this city, is one of the members of the governing committee of New York's exclusive baseball organization known as the Winter League. The season will be opened next Saturday afternoon on the million-dollar diamond on Fifth avenue and Seventy-first street.

The Winter League will consist of the University, Union, Knickerbocker, Racquet and Tennis, and Calumet Clubs and Twelfth Regiment. Should the weather not permit the playing of games outdoors the Twelfth Regiment Armory will be used.

A number of changes will be made in the personnel of the teams, but the list of players for each club will not be published until after the first game. George C. Wrenn will captain the Racquet and Tennis Club this winter and new leaders may be seen on the other teams.

It is not improbable that the schedule will be divided into two parts. There will be no change in last year's circuit for the first half, and another attempt may be made to extend the circuit for the second half. The Princeton, Yale, Columbia, Harvard, and Whitehall Clubs include many former college baseball stars in the lists of members, and any one or more of these clubs would prove welcome additions to the league.

LEAL SCHOOL FIVE WON FROM ALUMNI

Showed up Well in Practice Game on Y. M. C. A. Court Yesterday.

The Leal School basketball team completely outclassed the Alumni aggregation on the Y. M. C. A. court yesterday afternoon, and took the game by the score of 44 to 21. This is the first real scrimmage that the team has had this year and Captain Stewart is well pleased with the showing made by the players. Several of the old stars who played on Leal championship teams many years ago played yesterday, to give the present quintet practice for the opening game next week.

Stewart and Dickerson did practically all of the scoring, Schneider, who played centre, being credited with one field goal. The score at the end of the first half was 18 to 7 and in the last period Stewart made seven field goals and Dickerson dropped in five. For the graduates T. Jewett, J. Jewett and Stevenson were the main point getters. The Leal team will open its season next Wednesday afternoon on the local court when the Roselle High School five will appear here.

HAWKS TOOK ODD GAME FROM DOVES

McInerney's Good Score in Final Game Gave Hawks Two Out of Three.

The Hawks took the odd game from the Doves in the Columbus Club Five-man Tournament, last night, dropping the middle one and barely getting away with the deciding roll. The first and last games were close, but the Hawks fell way down in the second game and were minus 83 pins at the end.

Hillman, Carty and Gueterman, pinning for the Hawks, made higher scores in the first game then their respective opponents, the last named chalking up a 211. Shannon scored a 207 for the Doves in this game. A 212 and a 221 by Cullen and Shannon respectively, gave the Doves the second game which tied the games.

With the score very close at the end of the ninth frame in the last and deciding game, Frank McInerney put the game on ice for his team when he made high score of the match which was 224. Next Monday night the Sparrows play the Robins, and Wednesday the Peacocks and Quails will play.

P. H. S. FIVE LOST PRACTISE CONTEST

Schoolboys Treated to a Drubbing by Bank Clerk's Aggregation.

The Plainfield High School boys' basketball team opened its season last night by lining up for a practice game with the Bank Clerks on the High School court. The game started off with a rush, the High School boys rolling up six points before the Bank Clerks got started. The schoolboys held the lead throughout the first period, with the half ending in their favor 13 to 4.

The schoolboys seemed to have tired by their efforts of the first period and the Bank Clerks ran away with the rest of the game, scoring twenty-three points to their younger rivals' four. O'Leary starred for the High School boys, being in almost every scrimmage and shooting four pretty baskets.

The teams lined up as follows:

Old Players Run Away From School in Second Half in Saengerbund Hall.

The North Plainfield High School basketball team played its first game in Saengerbund Hall, last night, when it went down to defeat before the Alumni team, the final score being 32 to 17. The game was fast throughout and in the first half was a regular mid-season contest, both teams playing very close. Only eight points were registered on each side, three field goals and two fouls being credited in each case. The Alumni team was composed of five graduates, all of whom have played on the school team while in that institution and four of the players were at one time captains of teams. With the exception of "Hub" Stine, the team was the 1911 championship five.

The borough team started the game with a rush and played the defensive all the way through the period. The Alumni scored three points first and the score was tied most of the time. The score at the end of the half was 8 to 8.

Stine's basket at the start of the second half put the graduates in the lead and also gave them encouragement. Although the score was tied by VanMater soon after, George Townley came to the rescue and shot three fouls in succession, which, aided by two field goals, gave the Alumni team a comfortable lead. Captain Abrams put substitutes in toward the latter part of the game but they could not overcome the big lead of their opponents. At no period during the game did the school lead their opponents in scoring, although the score was at a deadlock many times.

Newark bowlers went down to Elizabeth, last night, to roll in an Elks' League match, and while they did pretty good work they were not able to hold the home team, which captured two games out of three. The Newarkers did their poorest work in the inital contest, but accounted for 882 at that. Elizabeth, however, came through with 960 and easily got the decision. In the next affair Elizabeth pinned 1,006 and won by fifty-four pins. The champions, however, were not to be denied in the final contest, a total of 956 being good enough to win by eighty-four pins. Weber, who took Hinton's place in the Newark lineup last night, had marks of 222 and 203. Dick Erler rolled 222 and Billy Weingarth 201. Joe Uolte tallied 211 and 206 for Elizabeth. Justin Bock was there for 249, Gatham had 211 and Maloney 203.

ODD FOR RUTHERFORD.

Bowling on the alleys of the Hoboken team in an Elks' League match last night, the members of the Rutherford quintet succeeded in annexing two games out of three. The competition was keen and interesting. In the first game the visitors accounted for 867, and won by nineteen pins. In the next setto the Hobokens came back with 902, and this was good enough to win by fourteen pins. With the match all even the visitors, with Oakes coming through for 234, were there for 934, and the home five, which dropped to 850, never had a chance. Miller rolled 213 for Hoboken, and A. Walters was there for 201 for Rutherford.

POP CRANE A BENEDICT.

West Chester, Pa., Nov. 28.—Dr. A. Ross Crane, known to all football enthusiasts as "Pop" Crane, the famous tackle on last year's University of Pennsylvania team, was married today to Miss Mary Hill Jardine, of West Chester. Crane played on the Lafayette College team before coming to Pennsy, and developed into the best tackle Pennsy ever had. He is at present coaching the freshmen team. "Pop" was also an excellent oarsman, and rowed on the Pennsy crew two years ago. He is now a full-fledged dentist in West Chester, and a big gathering of college friends made the wedding a notable event.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT.

Two good basketball attractions are on the card for tonight. The Y. M. C. A. five will meet the strong Chatham team of Brooklyn, and the Hope Chapel quintet will meet the High Street Cadets, of Newark. There will be a preliminary to the former which will start at 8 o'clock.

DICK ERLER LEADS THE ELKS' LEAGUE

Newarker Displaces Harry Taylor, Paterson, on the Top Rung.

Dick Erler, of the Newark Elks, has taken possession of the top rung in the league's individual average race with a tally of 198.1 to his credit, Harry Taylor, of the Paterson quintet, sinking to second level with an average of 198. Paterson tops the team record with fifteen wins and six losses and Jersey City is the runner up. Plainfield remains in the cellar.

VIKINGS DEFEATED AJAX BY SCORE OF 19 TO 13

The Vikings and Ajax basketball teams, of the employed boys' class of the Y. M. C. A. played a game last night and the former took the verdict by the score of 19 to 13. Each team used all its players.

Those who played for the Vikings are Debele, Marshall, Dawe, W. Smith, Garbold, Bennett, Miller, M. Velard, H. Roy and Smith. For the Ajax the following played: Day, Hafner, Velard, Todd, Seidel, Ross, Force, Causbrook, VanWinkle, Woolston, Perrine and Coon.

EAGLES' POSTPONED MATCH.

The postponed bowling match in the Eagles' League, scheduled for November 10, between Newark Aerie, No. 44, and Elizabeth Lodge of Eagles, is to be rolled on the Imperial alleys, run by J. Bock, in East Grand street, Elizabeth, Monday night. There will be a big delegation from Newark, as the committee has arranged for a special car to leave Market and Washington streets at 7:15 o'clock. They will also be accompanied by ten pieces of the Eagles' band.

E. E. PARVIN DESCRIBES "BELGIUM BEFORE THE WAR"

E. E. Parvin, of this city, gave his illustrated talk and lecture on "Belgium Before the War," at Warren chapel, last evening. Mr. Parvin showed a large number of stereopticon slides, taking his hearers across the Atlantic in the steamer Lapland, and landing them at Antwerp, now famous because of the recent battles at that place. Many slides of Belgium art were also shown, as were views of the steamer Olympic, one of the boats of the International Mercantile Company, with which Mr. Parvin is connected. The pictures and lecture was not only interesting but highly instructive as well.

Women's Rally Day will be observed at the Shiloh Baptist church at the evening service tomorrow, at which time the pastor, Rev. E. W. Roberts, will preach a sermon.

Rev. Dr. C. W. F. Attlee, of Sherman avenue, will occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow at both services.

The unity service at the residence of Mrs. Waldorf, 134 Crescent avenue, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 instead of 3 o'clock.

A special service will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, at which time Martin A. Korff will sing and speak.

Special music will feature the morning service at the Monroe Avenue Methodist church tomorrow, when the chorus choir will render three selections. Nine cottage prayer meetings will be held next Tuesday evening, in connection with the regular mid-week prayer service held at the Epworth House, Wednesday evening.

Rev. Harvey A. Onque, of Baltimore, will preach tomorrow at both services at Bethel chapel.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIFLD

DULLNESS MARKS BUILDING TRADE

Conditions Are Keenly Felt in This City by the Craftsmen.

Construction work in this city remains in about the same condition which has marked the trend of local movements during the past two or three weeks, the dullness being in harmony with the off season for building activities.

The conditions along construction lines are being felt keenly in this city, chiefly because of the vast activities in this section during the past few years, which have been gaining strength from time to time.

During the past week, three permits have been issued by Inspector T. O. Doane, calling for the erection of one church, one dwelling and one garage, all frame structures. The estimated cost of the three buildings aggregate $9,125.

Among the permits issued during the week is one calling for a church on Emerson avenue for St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, as noted in another column. Charles Caffey will erect a frame, 12x18 foot garage at 927 West Front street at a cost of $125. George Hummer, of the borough, has the contract.

Benjamin L. Binson has been granted a permit for the construction of a frame two and half story dwelling at 1333 West Fourth street at a cost of $2,500. The base course will be of concrete with cement block foundation and hemlock framing. J. Brandt has been awarded the mason work, while the owner will care for the carpentry work.

OPERATIONS IN COUNTY ARE CLOSE TO NORMAL

During the two weeks ending last Saturday, thirteen building contracts were filed with the county clerk at Elizabeth, calling for the expenditure of $23,229. While these are far below any previous two weeks for some time, the figures indicate that operations throughout the county are not so far below normal as was generally thought, considering the time of the year.

As indicated in another column, building operations throughout the county appear to be looking upward, and a fair winter season is expected on all sides, providing the weather is in any way favorable.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following realty transfers from this end of the county have recently been recorded at the office of the register at Elizabeth:

Margaret A. Huff et al. to Aaron Snyder, southerly side West Fifth street, corner Lee place, Plainfield, $1; N. Y. Suburban Land Co. to Bernard Glasser, lots 44, 45, 46, block 31, map of N. Y. Suburban Land Co., Westfield, $1.

The following realty transfers have been recorded recently from the surrounding towns at the Middlesex county seat at New Brunswick:

Celia P. Edgar has transferred to Violet C. Stremlay an 8-acre farm on the south side of the Perth Amboy and Bound Brook turnpike, Metuchen.

William R. Barricklo, special master, has transferred to John Bossert and all surviving members of Louis Bossert and sons, a lot in Piscataway township and city of Plainfield, for $7,500.

Abraham T. Van Fleet sold to Henry E. Ludovice two lots, Lincoln; to Arthur E. Ludovice, land in Lincoln.

Hiram J. Scandell and wife have transferred to Bessie Kauter, 18 3-4 acre farm on the road from New Market to Piscataway town, in Piscataway township.

Celia P. Edgar and others sold to Violet C. Stremlay, 8 acres on south side of Perth Amboy-Bound Brook turnpike, Metuchen.

George E. C. Tremlay, Jr., has bought of Metuchen Realty and Improvement Co., two lots, Metuchen Estates, Metuchen.

Silas Tremlay bought of Metuchen Realty and Improvement Co., lot, Metuchen Estates, Metuchen.

Charles G. Donahue and wife have transferred to Lodovico Mancusi-Uregano a 31 1-2 acre farm on the road from Oak Tree to Iselin.

Equator Building and Development Co. has transferred to Wojoiech Rybka and wife a plot on south side of Dunellen avenue, near Sandford street, Dunellen.

BUILDING TRADES LOOKING TO 1915

Mechanics Feel Sure That Prosperity Will Return Next Year.

While Union county is at present in the midst of an off-season, building and real estate reports from various parts indicate that the apparent lack of interest in these directions during the past season, owing to the tightness of the money market, are now regaining somewhat of their lost strength, while architects, contractors and real estate agents are one in the opinion that the approach of the wave of prosperity so long heralded will soon restore the building and real estate markets to normal conditions.

The outbreak of the war August 1 had a great tendency to confirm the work already accomplished to some degree because of the season of dull business being experienced by the country at large. The adjustment of the business world to these new conditions, the completed organization of the federal reserve banks, and the marked industrial improvements in several lines of manufacturing, all tend to make way for a steady improvement in construction and realty lines, and the improvement in these directions are already being felt in this section of the State.

All of those who are in a position to be authority on the subjects, agree that the spring of 1915 will have arrived, however, before conditions in the building world becomes fully normal, as building operations, as a general rule, are the first to feel the approach of dull times, and the last line to develop full strength after the days of money stringency are passed.

Reports received from various centres of the country show that the losses in construction work in October over the same month of last year were somewhat smaller than those noticed for the same cities during September. Trade journals compiling reports all point toward a revival of construction activities in the near future, and contractors and architects confirm this opinion.

Real estate agents in this and other cities are quite optimistic in looking into the season which is to come and feel that the worst of the experiences is now of the past, with the silver lining to the cloud which has been so threatening during the past season.

The Construction News, a publication devoted to building, has the following to say on the subject:

"It requires very little penetration to realize that the contraction was the result of the war, but just how long it will continue or how soon the large sums of money now being expended in the purchase of supplies in this country will get into circulation to such an extent that building will again be active on some basis comparable to the recent past prior to the war no one can tell with any degree of accuracy. That it will again be active within the not distant future no one doubts, but just when few will hazard an opinion. There is one thing, however, that should not be forgotten and that is, building has been tremendously active all over the country: most of the cities in the list showing a decrease where quite recently showing heavy gains and a loss at the present time—while no one cares to see it—is an adjustment of affairs which must come sooner or later and when conditions have recovered construction will attain higher levels than ever before."

EFFECT OF BANKING SYSTEM ON REALTY

John J. Collins, An Expert, Predicts a Boom in Industrial Lines.

Discussion is heard on many sides as to just what degree the Federal Reserve Banking system will have upon the real estate market. Opinions of realty dealers differ in some respects, but the statement of John J. Collins, a well known Union county operator, sums up all opinions into one. The statement as issued by Mr. Collins is as follows:

"At various times in the past few years, money markets seemed to have tightened up. Some sort of scare, probably, has made the bankers, and other people wishing to invest in construction mortgage, to hold fast to their money, allowing it to lay in some vault where they make from two to four per cent. on it, whereas, if they had it out on mortgage their money would be earning them five or six per cent. interest.

"When people and institutions are not lending money, building must necessarily stop. If building stops, many men suffer. Any act of the administration of any law making body that will build up confidence in the business world and reduce the liability of panic to a minimum, or an impossibility, is a benefit to all of us. That is why the reserve bank act is welcomed throughout the country by the richest banker and the poorest mechanic.

"I firmly believe that business and finance will shape themselves into a condition of prosperity, and I am sure that we will be experiencing a boom in all lines of industry and business enterprise, when the new banking system is in force long enough to make its merits felt. Real estate and building will profit greatly. The real estate man seldom makes money while the country is undergoing a financial scare. Real estate is a form of investment and people only venture upon investments when they are enjoying prosperity and are possessed with a keen sense of optimism regarding the future.

"With a dread of a money stringency, talk of hard times, etc., people do not make investments and the real estate business suffers as a consequence. The reserve banking system makes panics in the future practically impossible, and that is why I think the realty and building business will enjoy a more uniform and country-wide health in the years to come."

JUST NOTES

The Springfield, Union County, Presbyterian church is planning a $3,000 addition to their chapel, which will add about 700 square feet to the edifice.

The Public Works Commissioners of Newark have completed the purchase of 2,400 additional acres of land at Newfoundland, in upper Passaic county, N. J. The transaction represents the investment of more than $200,000, and opens the way for the extension of Newark's water supply.

From present indications, bids for the work on the new postoffice building will be advertised for shortly after the first of the year, making work on the structure shortly after the opening of the spring.

The re-advertising for bids on the proposed Evergreen Avenue School in the near future adds encouragement to the local building situation, and local contractors will have another opportunity of securing the contract.

The possibility of an armory for Company K adds to the interest in the local construction lines. Plainfield can well stand such a building.

—If "To Let" advertisements did not, in the great majority of cases, bring results, there would be no such advertisements printed. They would become obsolete.

TO BUILD EIGHT FIVE-ROOM COTTAGES

David T. Kenney Has Big Borough Improvement Underway.

The borough of North Plainfield is enjoying a slight building boom at present which is worthy of comment. Thomas Bonafedes is erecting a $3,500 building at Duer street and Greenbrook road. On the lot facing the latter thoroughfare, a two and half story frame structure is being constructed, where two stores will occupy the first floor, and apartments the upper floors. J. P. Gennovario & Sons have the contracts. The dwellings on the Duer street plot will be enlarged and improved.

Along with his, comes the announcement that David T. Kenney will erect eight five-room cottages on the lower end of Grove street, in addition to the two already under construction. The buildings will cost in the vicinity of $1,200 each. George Wilson is the contractor for the buildings now going up on this tract of land.

A number of inquiries concerning North Plainfield property have been made of late since the possibility of the sewer for the near future has been recognized. Citizens of the borough feel that North Plainfield will, from now on enjoy a greater share of the building operations in this vicinity.

COMMENCE WORK ON NEW EDIFICE

St. Mary's Parish to Erect House of Worship in the East End.

Work has been started on a frame church edifice on Emerson avenue for St. Mary's Catholic church, where the parishioners of the East End will worship upon its completion. The new edifice is a result of the work of Father B. M. Bogan, the rector.

The church will have a seating capacity of 200, and will cost in the vicinity of $6,500. The building will meet a demand in the East End which has been growing for several years. The building will have a frontage of twenty-six feet, and a depth of sixty-six feet. A modern hot air heating system is to be installed.

George H. Fisher, Jr., of Manson place, is the architect; F. T. McInerney, the mason contractor, and M. D. O'Keefe, the carpenter contractor.

ERECTION OF APARTMENT HOUSES STILL CONTINUE

The erection of apartment houses throughout the State continues to be the one bright spot in the building world of New Jersey, eleven permits being granted during the course of the week ending last Saturday, calling for the expenditure of $92,900, as against twelve permits and an aggregate cost of $82,600 for the preceding week. These figures show an improvement of $10,300 for the week.

These permits were granted by the State Board of Tenement House Supervision after the plans had been approved. Five of the plans called for alterations to cost $1,900. Union county secured but one of the permits as follows:

Elizabeth—Isaac Bigel and Jacob Weinstein, 803 Second avenue, three-story frame, $7,000.

CHAPTER VIII.

"About" Mary Chavah.

"IF we took the day before Christmas an' had it for Christmas," observed Tab Winslow, "would that hurt?"

"Eat your oatmeal," said Mis' Winslow in the immemorial manner of adults.

"Would it, would it, would it?" persisted Tab in the immemorial manner of youth.

"And have Theophilus Thistledown for dinner that day instead?" Mis' Winslow suggested with diplomacy.

On which Tab ate his oatmeal in silence.

But, like adults immemorially, Mis' Winslow bore far more the adult manner than its heart. After breakfast she stood staring out the pantry window at the sparrows on the bird box.

"It looks like Mary Chavah was going to be the only one in Trail Town to have any Christmas after all," she thought, "that little boy coming to her, so."

He was coming week after next. Mary had said, and Mis' Winslow had heard no word about it from anybody else. When "the biggest of the work" of the forenoon was finished Mis' Winslow ran down the road to Ellen Bourne's. In Old Trail Town they always speak of it as running down, or in, or over, in the morning with an unconscious suiting of terms to informalities.

Ellen was cleaning her silver. She had "six of each"—six knives, six forks, six spoons, all plateil and seldom used, pewter with black handles serving for every day. The silver was cleaned often, though it was never on the table, save for company, and there never had been any company since Ellen had lost her little boy from fever. Having no articulateness and having no other outlet for emotion she fed her grief by small abstentions—no guests, no diversions, no snatches of song about her work. Yet she was sane enough and normal, only in dearth of sane and normal outlets for emotion, for energy, for personality she had taken these strange directions for yet unharnessed forces.

"Mercy," observed Mis' Winslow, warming her hands at the cooking stove, "you got more energy"—

"—than family, I guess you mean," Ellen Bourne finished. Ellen was little and fair, with slightly drooping head, and eyebrows curved to a childlike reflectiveness.

"Well, I got consider'ble more family than I got energy," said Mis' Winslow, "so I guess we even it up. Seven under fifteen eats up energy like so much air."

"Hey, king and country!" said Ellen's old father, whittling by the fire, "you got family enough, Ellen. You got your hands full of us." He rubbed his hands through his thin upstanding silver hair on his little pink head, and his fine, pink face took on the look of father which rarely intruded, now, on his settled look of old man.

"I dunno what she'd do," said Ellen's mother, "with any more around here to pick up after. We're cluttered up enough as it is." She was an old lady of whose outlines you took notice before your attention lay further upon her—angled waist, chin, lips, forehead, put on her a succession of zigzags. But her eyes were awake, and it was to be seen that she did not mean what she said and that she was looking anxiously at Ellen in the hope of having deceived her daughter. Ellen smiled at her brightly, and was not deceived.

"I keep pretty busy," she said.

Mis' Abby Winslow, who was not deceived either, hastened to the subject of Mary.

"I should think Mary Chavah had enough to do, too," she said, "but she's going to take Lily's little boy. Had you heard?"

"No," Ellen said, and stopped shaving silver polish.

"He's coming in two weeks," Mis' Winslow imparted. "She told me so herself. She's got his room fixed up with owls on the wall paper. She's bought him a wash basin with a rim of puppies and a red stocking cap. 'I saw her."

"How old is he?" Ellen asked and worked again.

"I never thought to ask her," Mis' Winslow confessed. "He must be quite a little fellow. But he's coming alone from some place out west."

"Hey, king and country!" Ellen's father said; "I'd hate to have a boy come here with my head the way it is."

"And keeping the house all upset," Ellen's mother said, and asked Mis' Winslow some question about Mary; and when she turned to Ellen again, "Why, Ellen Bourne," she said, "you've shaved up every bit of that cleaning polish, and we're most done cleaning."

Ellen was looking at Mis' Winslow. "If you see her," Ellen said, "you ask her if I can't do anything to help."

Later in the day, happening in at Mis' Mortimer Bates', Mis' Winslow found Mis' Moran there before her and asked what they had heard "about Mary Chavah." Something in that word "about" pricks curiosity its sharpest. "Have you heard about Mary Chavah?" "It's too bad about Mary Chavah." "Isn't it queer about Mary Chavah?" Each of these is like setting flame to an edge of tissue. Omit "about" from the language, and you abate most gossip. At Mis' Winslow's phrase both women's eyebrows curved to another arc.

Mis' Winslow told them.

"Ain't that nice?" said Mis' Moran whole heartedly. "I couldn't bring up another, not with my back. But I'm glad Mary's going to know what it is."

Mis' Mortimer Bates was glad, too, but being by nature a nonconformist, she took exception.

"It's an awful undertaking for a single handed woman," she observed.

But this sort of thing she said almost unconsciously, and the other two women regarded it with no more alarm than any other reflex.

"It's no worse starting single handed than being left single handed," offered Mis' Winslow somewhat ambiguously. "Lots does that's thrifty."

"Seems as if we could do a little something to help her get ready, seem's though," Mis' Moran suggested; "I dunno what."

"I thought I'd slip over after supper and ask her," Mis' Winslow said; "maybe I'd best go now—and come back and tell you what she says."

Mis' Winslow found Mary Chavah sitting by her pattern bookcase cutting out a pattern. Mary's face was flushed and her eyes were bright, and she went on with her pattern, thrilled by it as by any other creating.

"I just thought of this," Mary explained, looking vaguely at her visitor. "It come to me like a flash when I was working on Mis' Bates' basque. Will you wait just a minute, and then I'll explain it out to you."

Without invitation, Mis' Winslow laid aside her coat and waited, watching Mary curiously. She was cutting and folding and pinning her tissue paper, oblivious of any presence. Alarm, suspense, doubt, solution, triumph, came and went, and neither woman was conscious that the flame of creation burned and breathed in the room as truly as if the product were to be acknowledged.

"There!" Mary cried at last. "See it—can't you see it—in gray wool?"

It was the pattern for a boy's top coat, cunningly cut in new lines of seam and revers, with a pocket, a bit of braid, a line of buttons laid in as delicately as the factors in any other good composition. Mis' Winslow inevitably recognized its utility, exclaimed and wondered.

"Mary Chavah, how did you know how to do things for children?"

"How did you know how?" Mary inquired coolly.

"Why, I've had 'em," Mis' Winslow offered simply.

"Do you honestly think that makes any difference?" Mary asked.

Mis' Winslow gasped in the immemorial belief that the physical basis of motherhood is the guarantee of both spiritual and physical equipment.

"Could you have cut out that coat?" Mary asked.

Mis' Winslow shook her head. She was of those whose genius is for cutting over.

"Well," said Mary, "I could. It ain't having 'em that teaches you to do for 'em. You either know how or you don't know how. That's all."

Mis' Winslow reflected that she could never make Mary understand, though any mother, she thought complacently, would know in a minute. The cutting of the coat did give her pause, but then, she summed it up, coat included, "Mary was queer" and let it go at that.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Oh, pa! Joe and Agnes and the baby are coming to spend Thanksgiving with us. We shall see our brand new grandchild," said Mrs. Peters, looking up from the letter she was reading and beaming with happiness.

"I suppose that means I shall have to drive into town for some supplies," said the placid old gentleman, seating himself on the other side of the stove, laying his mittens on his knee and holding out his hands to the blaze.

"Yes, indeed; I suppose I must send in my turkeys when you go," she replied, a shadow flitting across her face. "It is like parting with members of the family. I can pick them up anywhere and carry them around. They talk to me with little drowsy churrs. No one else can touch them, though," and Mrs. Peters went to the window and looked dolefully out at her pets.

"They are so tall they stare me right in the eye," said her husband. "There's another reason for getting rid of the gobblers. They swell and gobble ferociously at all children. Mary's little girl would be scared to death. You remember how they took after the Stone children!" and he chuckled reminiscently.

The old lady smiled as she turned from the window. "I had to take a switch to them," she said, smoothing back her snowy hair with the palms of her hand.

"Now, it ain't fair for you to buy this Thanksgiving dinner with the turkey money. That's your own private gold mine. Your share will be furnishing a gobbler for the feast," and he smiled up at her as she stood by his chair.

"I'll donate the fine big fellow with the bronze tail, most as handsome as a peacock. He'll weigh twenty-five pounds, I'm sure; I've [illegible] him," and she showed signs of weakening at the memory of his beauty.

"Make out your list and I'll start right after dinner so's to get home before dark. I'll get a box of candy for the little fellers," and he tipped back his chair against the wall and clasped his fingers over his comfortable waist coat, enjoying the pleasure in store for him.

"I believe home-made candy will be better for them. They always want some of granny's taffy and cream candy, Agnes says it's better than any of the fudge and new fangled candies they make nowadays.

"Pa, if you will bring up a pan of potatoes and rutabagas from the cellar I'll get dinner going so you can get a home by milking time," and she handed a pan to her husband who dutifully disappeared down the cellar stairs.

"There's a nice barrel of apples all packed for each of the children," he said as he returned, "and they are extra nice too."

"Yes, and the butternuts, black walnuts and hickory nuts are dry enough to use. Little Joe hunts for hammer and flat iron the minute he gets his coat off," said the grandmother, settling herself pan in lap to pare the potatoes.

"I guess the water pail is about empty and the tea kettle needs filling," she added seeing he was preparing to take off his coat.

"All right," he answered cheerfully. "I'll look in and see how the oat box looks. I want the horses to have plenty of time to eat their dinner."

"Trust you for that," she answered laughing. "If those horses don't get fatty hearts it won't be your fault."

"Seems to me you're restless, Pa," said Mrs. Peters. Her husband had filled the kettle, put a stick of wood in the fire and was pacing up and down the kitchen.

"Seem's if I can't wait until tomorrow to see the children and the little fellers," he said, pausing by her chair. "Thanksgiving is a mighty fine institution and I don't know who has more to be thankful for than we have," and he laid his hand affectionately on her shoulder.

"I've been thinking the same thing all day," she replied looking up with [illegible]

The autumn season is quite certain to bring the demand for just such a protective coat as this one.

It is really ideal for motoring, it serves admirably well for traveling, it perfectly protects one against the rain and it is so loose and ample that it can be slipped on over any gown without injury to the gown.

Added to its other advantages, it is easy to make, inasmuch as there is no fitting to be accomplished.

For the medium size the long coat will require seven and one-quarter

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Social Equality of Distinct Vocations.

For all that modern science can do, all that modern economics can do, and all that both combined will be able to do for all centuries to come, there will be to the end an inborn, intrinsic and, therefore, essential difference between man and woman's nature and man and woman's work.

True, this difference is not essential as regards the one human nature common in both sexes, but it is essential to each human nature as realized in the sexes, it is thus essentially connected with the race as represented in the two sexes. This difference, therefore, affects the whole man and the whole woman for the purpose of thereby being able to do the peculiar special work asigned to each sex by the same eternal Creator and for the same eternal designs. In this great work, therefore, both share equally, man and woman. The work of one is as necessary as that of the other, the work of one is as noble and precious as that of the other. Therein, then, man and woman are equal. I want to call it the vocational equality of the sexes. As this work is to be carried out in and for society, it might in this sense be called social equality referring to the social work of the sexes.

Relative Superiority of Women.

This social work, to be carried out by one and by the other sex, are both of the same importance, of the same necessity for the human race, although in themselves entirely distinct and different, in many ways—not in all. There are many ways and many branches of social work, exemplified in our own day, where men and women meet and where the same work can be carried out practically along the same lines by men as well as women. But, at the same time, we know, too, if we have paid any particular atention to it, that for a great many social works woman has a peculiar capacity, a peculiar capability of doing things that men cannot do, at least cannot do as well. Thus, for instance, on the field of education. There are branches in education where I believe women will be far more efficient than men. There is a place where men will be more efficient than women.

To gve a personal illustration: While I believe that in the lower classes or with the younger children in our schools, and again in the girls' classes even in the higher grades, women can do better work than men; yet, on the other hand, I believe that women can never do the work with grown-up boys or with the higher classes of our boys, that male teachers can.

Motherhood in a Higher Sense.

In the line of charity, a private and social charity—why that is the very field for women, the very work entrusted to her by Providence; for its basis is the very life work of her essential vocation—the motherhood; whether it be motherhood in the physical sense or whether it be motherhood in the moral sense. Motherhood doing the work that mother does; work that corresponds with the character of the mother; work that flows from the feelings and sentiments, and runs in the ways and the manners of the mother's work; which man can never do, where it needs women to do it.

This work is not confined to the family, not confined to the children that she raises, it goes out to the great human family and in all the many branchs of what you may call social charity and philanthrophy. There are still other great works for which a woman is better fitted than man, which only shows again that Divine Providence has a peculiar work assigned to man and woman—work which is equally great and equally noble and equally ncessary for society. In this again man and woman stand upon an equally high plane.

Political Equality.

There is left what we might call political equality. When we speak of politics, we mean the control and the administration of the public affairs of society; it means the ruling power; it means the governing power; it means the judicial power; it means the executive power the power not only to make laws, but to carry out the laws. All of that means politics—politics in the higher sense of the word, the philosophic sense. The question comes before us in the shape of so-called woman suffrage. Is woman to be granted the same or equal political rights with man? Equal rights of active and positive votes? What must decide this question?

First of all there are no clear, direct and explicit statements to be found in the Bible or in Catholic dogma. We may, then, first ask sound philosophy the teaching of sound, intelligent minds that have studied the question impartially and with the necessary outfit of scientific research. We must ask the teachings of experience, human experience. There is a common saying that "history is the best teacher of mankind," which means that we can judge what man is, what his work is, what he ought to do, what he is able to do, by the ages gone before us. Study the facts of history as they are preserved to us in the books of history. So far, then, the question is open for discussion.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

These Ants Are Very Dangerous.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How Some Ants Made a Phantom House.

"I SUPPOSE you kiddies have seen ant holes with the tiny grains of earth piled up outside?" Daddy was telling the evening story.

"Heaps of times," said the kiddies.

"I will tell you tonight about some ants, natives of South Africa, called termites.

"These ants are very dangerous. They build great houses, and from a distance the traveler might think that a community of these houses was a negro village.

"But besides building these immense houses and spoiling whole fields they burrow into the earth, making great cavities.

"These houses and cavities are so solidly built that it is often necessary to use dynamite to destroy them.

"But there is another thing that the termites do which is feared more by the natives of South Africa than even the houses they build and the holes they dig.

"I mean the astonishing way they have of destroying the inside of a piece of timber and leaving the outside surface as thin as a wafer.

"A gentleman and his wife who lived in Sierra Leone went on a visit for a month. They left the house locked up securely, and as the gentleman's wife was a very careful housekeeper everything was left by them in beautiful order.

"Upon their return they drove up to the house. Everything looked all right, but when the owner fitted the door key into the lock the lock fell out of the door. Then he pushed the door, and the door crumpled up. Then he stepped upon the floor, and the floor caved into the cellar, into which the whole house fell and all the furniture.

"Every single piece of wood in the whole house, furniture and all, had been bored into by the dreaded termite ant.

"An English traveler tells that these ants sometimes destroy large towns.

"These dreaded termites are divided into males, females and neuters. The neuters are nurses, workers and soldiers.

"The workers make the houses, the soldiers preserve order or fight the battles in case they are attacked by enemies, and the queens are worshiped, since without her the race would die out.

"And the queen termite is a regular laying machine, laying in season about 80,000 eggs a day."

"My, what a lot!" cried the kiddies.

"I don't wonder the natives of South Africa hate the termites, do you?" asked daddy.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

When making extra strings for baby's bonnet, make them in one piece. Sew a piece of tape across the corner where one sews on the strings. Slip string through tape and tie under chin. Windsor ties are nice, as they launder fine. When soiled they can be slipped out and there is no sewing or pinning when replacing them.

When comforts for beds are partly well worn, the cloth often splits lengthwise. To avoid that, lay a width of cheesecloth, or other thin goods, crosswise over the cotton, before putting on outside. It does not make them hard or heavy.

Good and inexpensive bluing: Five cents' worth of Prussian blue, 2½ cents' worth oxalic acid; dissolve in one quart boiling water and put in pan or bottle; it is then ready for use.

When cooking cake icing with milk or anything that is bad to scorch, sprinkle small handful of salt on stove lid.

Good way to cover comforters: Enclose the batting in mosquito netting, tacking it here and there to prevent bunching up. Slip comforter thus made into the outside cover and tack in place. When soiled it is easy to open one end and take out the inside. If this method is once used the old way will be abandoned.

To make the legs of a chicken or turkey as tender as the other parts take a skewer and, before cutting feet from knee joint, pull the tendons out at knee joint and then, with a quick, strong jerk, you can loosen tendon from thigh and pull out from the other meat. It's these tough tendons that make the whole leg an inferior portion. Also do not throw away the feet. Scald and remove outside skin and cook with giblets. They add much nourishment to the soup.

THE TABLE

Baked Salmon—One can salmon, two eggs, one tablespoon melted butter, one cup bread crumbs, pepper, salt and minced cucumber pickle. Drain liquid from fish and set aside for sauce. Pick fish to pieces, then work in melted butter, seasoning, eggs and crumbs. Put in buttered bowl, cover tightly and set in pan of boiling water. Cook in hot oven one hour, then stand bowl in cold water to loosen pudding and turn out on hot dish. Serve with this sauce: One cup drawn butter, add liquid from can, one egg beaten, pepper, salt, a chopped pickle and some minced parsley or lettuce. Boil up and pour over fish or serve in gravy tureen.

Broiled Liver—Cut calf's liver into half-inch slices, cover with boiling water, let stand five minutes, drain and wipe dry. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and broil in greased broiler five minutes. Put on hot platter and spread with bits of butter. Serve very hot.

Round Steak—Three ways to serve it: First—One pound ground steak, one medium-sized onion, salt and pepper to taste. Flour hands, make this into cakes. Fry in butter or half butter and lard. Take meat out of pan, add one tablespoon flour, stir until nice and brown, add one large cup cold water, stir until smooth. Salt and pepper to taste. Second—One pound ground round steak one inch thick. Spread out smooth on meat board. Cut with biscuit cutter into cakes. Have frying pan very hot, just grease over with butter. Keep turning cakes until cooked through. Season with salt and pepper. Serve hot. Third—One pound steak, one onion, one tablespoon flour, two tablespoons butter and lard mixed. Put lard and butter in pan, add flour and onion, stir until brown, add steak, stir until done. Add one cup water, season with salt and pepper. Serve hot.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY TOMORROW.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The appointment of November 29 as a national "Tuberculosis Day" has met with the approval of President Wilson, and as a result the churches and schools in many places have united in a campaign against the disease. In writing his opinion, the President said: "I sincerely hope that November 29, the day which you have designated as Tuberculosis Day, will result in awakening the people of the United States still further not only to the necessity, but to the perfect feasibility, of arresting and preventing this terrible disease." A number of governors have issued proclamations on the subject and the interest in the movement is country-wide.

The Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., will receive sealed bids at the Board room in the High School Building, corner West Ninth Street and Arlington Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at a meeting to be held on Wednesday, December 9, 1914, at 8 p. m., for the construction of a school building on Evergreen Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Plans and specifications can be obtained by bidders on application to Messrs. Wilder & White, Architects, 101 Church Street, New York City, on deposit with the said architects of a certified check of $25.00, payable to the order of the Board of Education of Plainfield, which check will be returned on the return of the drawings and specifications.

The work will be let in four contracts: 1. For the general construction. 2. For the Heating and Ventilating work. 3. For the Plumbing work. 4. For the Electrical and Vacuum Cleaner system, and separate bids will be received on each contract.

All bids are to be on forms furnished with the specifications and accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank or trust company, payable to the order of the Board of Education, Plainfield, N. J., or a surety bond of a company authorized to do business in the State of New Jersey, in the amount of five per cent. of the estimate submitted.

All bids or proposals are to be in writing and sealed, and addressed to the Secretary of the Board. Each bid must state explicitly upon what portion of the work it is based.

Upon receipt of bids or proposals, the Secretary will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce their contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received by the Board previous to the hour designated and none will be received thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive any or all formalities.

B. VanD. HEDGES, Secretary,

3COOP, THE CUB REPORTER — THE BOSS IS ONE BRAVE GUY — BY "HOP"

A RUSSIAN, A CHINAMAN AND A POLE IN THIS CASE

Although he maintained that he secured the bicycle from an intoxicated Russian, Pietro Catroviegne, a Pole, was held in $200 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, as an alleged wheel thief. The prisoner was represented by William Newcorn.

Catroviegne was arrested by the police of Roselle Park for not having lights on his wheel after dark. The officer who made the arrest became suspicious of the man, who, when queried, said he lived in Plainfield. He could not make a satisfactory explanation and Chief Kiely was called into the case. He identified the man as one formerly employed at Smelson's restaurant on West Front street and accused him of stealing a wheel belonging to Hop Lee, a Chinese laundryman with a place of business next to Smelson's. He was consequently brought to Plainfield and arraigned this morning.

PERSONAL.

J. Harry Campbell, of Oak Tree, left today for Florida, where he will spend the winter. The trip south will be via the Clyde line.

Patrolman Arthur Craig and family are removing today from 15 DeKalb avenue to one of M. F. Watson's apartments at 216 Grant avenue.

Miss Margaret Johnson, of West Third street, has returned from a visit at Palmer, Mass.

Walter I. Firstbrook, of the Daily Press reportorial staff, left today via the Clyde line for Charleston, S. C., where he will spend two weeks visiting various points of interest.

Mrs. Margaret Sweeny, of Bridgeport, Conn., has returned home after a visit with her son, Hugh B. Sweeny, of the New Madison.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Nealand, of East Second street, are entertaining relatives from Stroudsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Larew, of West Fourth street, are the parents of a son who came to their home a few days ago.

Frank Keenan, of West Third street, has gone to York, Pa., for an indefinite stay.

George E. Leigns, of West Fourth street, is spending a few days visiting friends at Philadelphia.

Dr. C. H. Marsh Wikle, who has been residing at the home of Mrs. Waldorf, 134 Crescent avenue, has removed to Garwood.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 39 degrees; 11 a. m., [illegible] degrees; 12:30 p. m., 47 degrees.

CITY'S SHARE OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

Plainfield Will Get $13,689.16 Under Voorhees Franchise Act.

ASSESSMENT FIGURES

Number of Corporations This Year Total 325 and the Gross Receipts Are $49,303,492.69—Over $1,000,000 Distributed in the State.

Trenton, Nov. 30—The city of Elizabeth will receive $43,760.78 from the assessment for 1914 against public utility corporations under the Voorhees franchise act and its amendments. The city of Plainfield will get $13,689.16. The other municipalities in Union county will receive lesser sums. The total amount to be paid to all the municipalities in Union county is $100,000.84.

The assessment has just been completed by the State Board of Assessors. After the Board certifies the sums to be paid, the franchise taxes are collected locally for local purposes. The rate is five per cent. of the gross receipts for trolley companies, with a less rate for other public utility companies.

The franchise tax based upon gross receipts was first levied under State law in 1901, when 237 companies were assessed; the gross receipts aggregating $15,835,180.48. This year the number of corporations assessed is 325; the gross receipts total $49,303,492.69, and the total throughout the State is $1,465,584.18.

The tax will be paid to Plainfield as follows:

Public Service Railway Co.	$4,882.17
Public Service Electric Co.	2,567.22
Public Service Gas Co. ...	2,324.30
Postal Telegraph Co.	2.00
Western Union Tel. Co. ..	04
N. Y. Telephone Co.	1,875.27
Plainfield-Union Water Co.	2,038.16
	$13,689.16

The taxes to be received by other nearby towns are as follows: Fanwood borough, $504.61; Fanwood township, $1,236.88; Westfield, $6,249.96; New Providence township, $198.54; New Providence borough, $293.66; Rahway, $3,830.54.

COYLE OUT OF HOSPITAL, NOW CONFINED AT HOME

"Bill" Coyle, who was injured in the Holy Cross-Monarch football game on Thanksgiving Day, was removed from the hospital to his home on Waynewood place yesterday afternoon. He is now resting quietly and is doing as well as can be expected. He has received a beautiful bunch of flowers from the members of the Monarch team which was accompanied with regrets of the accident.

It will be about two months before Coyle will be around again and he will have to retire from athletics for some time after that.

WILL DISCUSS "STORE AND RESIDENCE LIGHTING"

A. L. Powell, illuminating engineer for the General Electric Company, will give a lecture before the Board of Trade, tomorrow night, on "Store and Residence Lighting." This is a subject which Mr. Powell has made a wide and extensive study of, and he will doubtless offer many valuable suggestions to Plainfielders.

Mr. Powell will be assisted in illustrating his subject by representatives of the electric department of the Public Service Corporation of this city. All persons interested in the subjects are invited to attend the meeting. Refreshments will be served afterwards.

BICYCLE RIDER HIT BY MOTORCYCLIST

Frank C. Burner Knocked From Wheel and Painfully Cut and Bruised.

While riding his motorcycle on Park place near Duer street Saturday afternoon, Frank C. Burner, of 32 Jackson avenue, was struck by a motorcycle owned and driven by Charles Newlon, of Mt. Bethel. The bicyclist was thrown heavily to the ground and sustained a number of painful cuts and bruises about the body. The bicycle was damaged considerably and the motorcycle was slightly marred in the crash. Mr. Burner was removed to his home where he received medical treatment and is today resting comfortably.

Those who witnessed the accident advance the opinion that the accident was unavoidable and that both riders got off luckily. Mr. Newlon was only slightly injured and was able to proceed to his home.

CELEBRATED TWENTY-FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Champlin, of Union Street, Given a Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Champlin, of Union street, were given an anniversary dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mantz, of Union street, Saturday night. The occasion being the twenty-first anniversary of the couple. Covers were laid for ten. The dining room was decorated with white chrysanthemums while in the parlor there were yellow chrysanthemums and roses.

After the dinner, "500" was enjoyed during the evening. Mr. Champlin scored high for the men and Miss Edith Richards held the women's high score. Mr. and Mrs. Champlin received a beautiful bouquet of flowers from the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Champlain were married in Leonardsville, N. Y., and have lived in this city for seven years. For five years, Mr. Champlin was proprietor of the borough drug store at Somerset street and Craig place and later sold out to Louis Z. Weiss. Mr. Champlin is at present manager of the Standard Drug Company in the Hudson Terminal Building, New York.

Those present Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. William Mosher, Mr. and Mrs. William Ochs, Mr. and Mrs. George Mantz, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Champlin, Mrs. B. M. Richards and Miss Edith Richards.

PRESENT JOSEPH EDGAR WITH HANDSOME CANE

The employes of the commercial office of the Public Service Corporation at New Brunswick, on Saturday presented to Joseph Edgar, of Plainfield, a handsome gold headed cane imported from Germany, with a gold name plate bearing his name, in recognition of his popularity while connected with the New Brunswick office. Mr. Edgar has received a promotion, being transferred to Plainfield today, where he will become salesmanager for the company.

William F. Thomas, manager of the New Brunswick office, presented Mr. Edgar with the cane on behalf of the other employes and Mr. Edgar responded, thanking the force for their kind remembrance. His promotion to Plainfield is considered quite an honor. Mr. Edgar is the son-in-law of W. J. Boyd, of 955 West Sixth street, where he and Mrs. Edgar make their home.

MRS. LOUISA M. TERRY.

Mrs. Louisa M. Terry, colored, of 92 Manning avenue, died at her home yesterday morning in her eighty-fifth year. She had long been a resident of this city. She is survived by two children by a second marriage, James H. and Sarah E. Harris. Mrs. Terry's first husband was a local minister before his death. Funeral services will be held at the late home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 and interment will be made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

FUNERAL OF A CHILD.

The funeral of Henrietta A. Diem, three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Diem of 52 Cedar place, was held at the parent's residence yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. J. O. McKelvey officiated and interment was made in North Plainfield cemetery.

MAY ESTABLISH CITY WOODYARD

Unemployed Will Be Put to Work Cutting Fuel as in Other Municipalities.

MAYOR STARTS FUND

City Executive Pledges Six Months' Salary as an Initial Contribution to the Relief Campaign—Will Appoint a Commission

Failure to understand the course being pursued by the committee in charge of the city relief work for the unemployed, has been the cause of considerable ill-feeling arising among the poorer and ignorant class of the city thus entailing no little amount of annoyance to those who have pledged their aid to alleviate the stress. Hordes of men, some of whom are actually in destitute circumstances and others who magnify their condition preceptibly as a means of exciting sympathy, flock to the Mayor's office every morning and if they do not get employment many of them turn away in disgust and become abusive. Everything possible is being done to aid the afflicted and this apparent ignorance, most noticeable on the part of the foreign element, has made the task an extremely difficult one.

In an interview this morning, Mayor Stewart asserted that the city was without power to appropriate money to be used in putting men to work, but said that he anticipated turning the entire matter over to the charity organization, the later body having a right to ask for an extension on its fund. It is proposed to establish a fund within the next few days and Mayor Stewart has assumed the initiative in this campaign by pledging his salary for the last sixth months, amounting to $150, as a donation. Working in co-operation with the charity organization he has deemed it expedient to appoint a committee of five members to assume charge of the work and the selections will be announced tomorrow. This group will divide its work into various departments and make a thorough investigation of conditions.

JOHN M'CORMACK CONCERT PROGRAM

Exceptionally Fine Rendition Will Be Given Tomorrow Night.

An exceptionally fine program has been submitted to the committee in charge for the John McCormack recital to be held in the Elizabeth Armory tomorrow night, and it is expected that the 6,000 reservations in the large auditorium will be taken before the recital begins. A large number of reserved seats are still available and these may be secured by making application at the Armory box office which will be open all tomorrow afternoon.

The recital will be given for the benefit of the National Association for the Education of Exceptional Children. The numbers on the program are listed below:

Recitative, "Deeper and Deeper Still," Handel; aria, "Waft Her Angels," Handel, Mr. McCormack; adagio, Ries, Mr. McBeth; (a), "Love's Quarrel," Cyril Scott; (b), "Jai Pleure en Reve," Hue; (c), "The Lord is My Light," Allistsen, Mr. McCormack; (a), "Ariost,' Handel; (b,) "Minuet," Beethoven, Mr. McBeath. MISS ROSE TIQUINN DIES, AGED 74 YEARS

Was a Servant in a Local Family for Nearly Fifty Years.

Miss Rose Tiquinn, aged seventy-four years, who for forty-nine years, was a servant in the family of Mrs. Julia Van Buren and the late General Daniel Van Buren, died Saturday night in the House of Divine Providence, at Rirgewood, where she had been living for more than a year. She was born in Ireland, coming to this country when a girl. She was an aunt to Miss Pardy, of West Fifth street.

Prior to the removal of the Van-Buren family to this city, Miss Tiquinn was employed by them and when they came here 30 years ago she accompanied them. She was a faithful servant and friend and beloved by the family. The funeral was held at the house of Divine Providence and the Roman Catholic church, Ridgewood, this morning. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, this city, upon the arrival of the 1 o'clock train from New York.

PLANS ARE ON FILE AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Plans and specifications for the proposed new Evergreen avenue school, are on file at the office of the Board of Education and may be examined without charge by contractors between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. on week days, and from 8:30 a. m. and 12 m. on Saturday.

Contractors desiring to obtain sets of plans and specifications may obtain same on application to either the clerk of the Board of Education at the High School or to the Architects Messrs Wilder and White at their office No. 50 Church street New York City. Cash or a certified check for $25.00 for each set of plans wanted should accompany each application.

LOCAL LODGE OF MOOSE TO OCCUPY NEW QUARTERS

Plainfield Lodge, 310, Loyal Order of Moose, has leased Abram's auditorium for lodge and club purposes and took posession today. The former headquarters of the organization in the Webster property on East Second street have been given up owing to the fact that the location is too far from the centre of the city. The building was also too small for dances or formal functions while the new quarters are adapted for just such purposes. Dictator George Egel, and the entertainment committee of the lodge, are completing plans for a "houseworming," in the new home, some time in December.

By leasing the auditorium to the Moose, the place will no longer be used for public dances and several affairs that were to have been held in the near future have been cancelled.

MRS. ROSSETER'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Cecelia Rosseter was held at her late home, 127 Watchung avenue, at 3 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, being largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, officiated. The burial was in the Methodist cemetery. Mrs. Rosseter was a member of the Terrill family for whom Terrill road was named.

ISAAC W. MOORE.

Isaac W. Moore, aged about 65 years, died this morning at his home near Watchung, following a long illness. He was a mason contractor by trade and widely-known in this city and vicinity. He was a native of Plainfield and had always lived near here. There survives a wife and two sons, David and Frank Moore.

MANY ATTENDED LODGE SERVICES

Four Councils Represented at Jr. O. U. A. M. Exercises In Presbyterian Church.

DR. HERRING SPEAKER

Pastor of Church Delivered Sermon on the Occasion of the Annual Devotional Observance—250 Men in Full Regalia Present.

Four councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M. with a representation of nearly 250 members atended the organization's annual devotional services held in the First Presbyterian church last night. The delegation attended in full regalia and a special program of music and an address delivered by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, were features of the yearly gathering. The councils represented were Franklin, Benevolent, Somerset and Plainfield. Dr. Herring said in part.

"When Andrew Jackson lay on his deathbed he pointed to the family Bible and said: 'That is the rock on which our republic rests.' At a later date General Grant spoke of the same book as the 'sheet anchor of our liberties,' and said 'hold fast to it.'

"These are the words of but two of our Presidents. They could be supplemented by other testimonies from statesmen and prominent educators in our national history.

"It is likewise true that the Bible has had much to do with the treatment of other nations. It has been stated that the power of the German language, the literature of the German people and the power of the German nation, date from the possession of the Bible in the language of the common people. It has made the German civilization and the German home.

"J. H. Greene, one of England's great historians, declares that the introduction of the Bible into England has changed the whole temper of the English people and because of it new moral and religious impulse has spread through every class.

"The Bible can be viewed from many standpoints, as a collection of wonderful literature, as a book which

TELEPHONE USERS TO PAY WAR TAX

Extra Toll to Be Collected by Company for the Government.

Beginning tomorrow users of the telephone will pay the new war tax on all calls of 15 cents and over. By the provisions of the tax measure the public and not the company must pay the revenue. The company, on the other hand, is responsible for the collection.

The chief difficulty, as far as the company was concerned, was the changing of the collection apparatus attached to every "pay-as-you-enter" 'phone.

To meet the new emergency provisions have been made whereby pennies can be deposited in the slot designated for quarters. The apparatus has been so readjusted that it will announce to the operator the dropping of the coins.

The change means an outlay of thousands of dollars on the part of the telephone company, as everyone of the hundreds of coin boxes had to be altered.

The war tax will likewise be collected from the private subscribers. This will, however, involve nothing but an additional entry on the books and the charge will then appear on the monthly statements sent to subscribers.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Plainfield and North Plainfield schools will hold a joint meeting in the Plainfield High School auditorium on Thursday night, December 10, at 8 o'clock. The committee in charge has been very fortunate in getting W. D. Lewis, principal of the William Penn School, of Philadelphia, to speak and a great treat is in store for all who attend this meeting.

LARGE DONATION.

Probably the largest Thanksgiving donation from the borough schools to the Children's Home was given this year in the form of provisions and money. Every year the students donate articles and last week thirteen barels of provisions and two dollars and sixty-five cents in cash was the total amount donated.

RESCUE MISSION NOTE.

Rev. E. G. Reade will have charge of the services at the Rescue Mission tonight at 8 o'clock. There will be special music and all are welcome.

WILL TRY CONNORS FOR BIG BURGLARY

Notorious Second-story Man Accused of Looting Ackerman Home.

Charles, alias "Ice-Wagon" Connors, notorious second-story and gun man, will be brought to trial Dec. 8 to answer to a charge of burglary after being confined in the Union county jail since April 14 last. Connors was apprehended by the Chicago police at the request of Chief Kiely for an alleged part in the theft of $15,000 worth of jewels from the home of former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman. His arrest was brought about through finger print evidence unearthed by Chief Kiely and Captain Flynn, of the local force, who made an investigation of the burglary the morning after it was committed, January 3.

After being taken into custody in Chicago, Connors was turned over to Chief Kiely, who brought him back to Plainfield. He was later taken to Elizabeth to await trial and since then has been an inmate of the Union county jail. During his confinement Connors is said to have enjoyed numerous liberties, such as other prisoners are not allowed and his meals have been sent in from a restaurant.

The robbery of the Ackerman home resulted in one of the largest hauls taken from this city in eighteen years. The thieves entered the Ackerman home about about 6:30 in the evening and ransacked Mrs. Ackerman's room, where they secured jewelry and other valuables. The search being conducted by the robbers was suddenly culminated by the slamming of a door and when Mr. Ackerman went to the second floor to investigate he saw a high powered automobile speeding away from the side of the house.

WILL CONDUCT SERIES OF COTTAGE PRAYER MEETINGS

Seven cottage prayer meetings will be conducted by members of the Monroe Avenue church tomorrow night, the religious workers assembling in the homes of various members of the church. The selected meeting places have been announced as follows: Blanchard E. Randolph, 351 Albert street; Mrs. Oakley, 1331 South Second street; Mrs. Cox, 727 West Third street; Miss Mathews, 927 West Fifth street; Mrs. Lewis, 947 West Sixth street; Mrs. Hubach, 1026 West Seventh street, and Harry Ludi, 1058 Sherman avenue.

A general rally will be held in the church tomorrow night when reports will be made of tonight's meetings.

PROCEEDS FOR RELIEF WORK.

Craig-a-Lea Lodge, No. 43, Daughters of Scotia, auxiliary to Clan Mackenzie, will hrold its second annual Scotch soiree entertainment and dance tonight in the Coward Hall on Park avenue. Grand Chief Daughter Mrs. Catherine Mitchell will be present accompanied by Grand Deputy Sister Kennedy. There will be a fine program. The proceeds will be for the Prince of Wales Relief Fund.

WILLIAM G. SOUTHARD.

William G. Southard, aged seventy-two years, of Foster avenue, a resident of this city for many years, died at Muhlenberg Hospital, Saturday night. He had been in the institution for some time under treatment for complications. He is survived by a wife. The body will be taken tomorrow to Pampy Centre, N. Y., where the funeral and burial will take place.

FUNERAL OF MRS. F. G. URNER.

The funeral of Mrs. Frank G. Urner was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her late home in Fanwood. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Urner was a member, conducted the service. The burial was in Evergreen cemetery, Elizabeth.

COMMSSIOINERS TO MEET.

Elias H. Bird, W. H. Abbott and C. L. Parker, commissioners appointed to treat with property-owners for the proposed extension of East Fourth street from Washington to Richmond streets, will meet in the Common Council rooms tonight at 8 o'clock, to meet the affected property-owners.

SPECIAL MEETING.

The Borough Council will hold a special meeting Tuesday, December 8, for the purpose of opening bids for the new collecting system that is being considered.

TAXPAYERS' MEETING.

Members of the Plainfield Taxpayers' Protective Association will hold a meeting in the parlors of the local Y. M. C. A. tonight.

KAISER RUSHES TO POLAND FRONT

Army Reported Split in Three Parts With Lodz Practically Cut Off.

FALL OF CRACOW SOON

Citadel Being Bombarded Now—Quiet Along Belgian Border Today—Forest of Apremont Bombarded Without Success.

London, Nov. 30—With the German army cut into three sections, which have been widely separated from each other by the furious Russian onslaught, and all three fighting desperately to avoid being cut off from their base of supplies, the German Kaiser has gone to the eastern front to try to encourage his men to stem the Russian tide. Enormous losses for the Germans at Lodz are reported, and a correspondent at Petrograd says that no estimate can be made of the losses. It is thought, however, that the Czar cannot throw enough troops into the battle at once to completely cut off retreat. It is thought that the Grand Duke Nicholas, with his Russian forces, will be unable to completely annihilate the German army.

Petrograd despatches state the battle in the vicinity of Lodz has now spread out over a wider front, as the three sections of the German army have been driven wider apart. The German left wing is partially cut off from its main base on the Vistula, but is fighting desperately against the Russians.

The center, which is declared to be seriously menaced, is fighting to cut its way back from a point ten miles north-northeast of Lodz, while the right wing is stubbornly resisting the Russian circling movement fifteen miles southwest of Lodz.

It is said that the Germans are maintaining only a thin line of communications to ther ear, extending in semi-circular shape for forty miles.

All Germans have been advised to leave Portugal according to reports from Lisbon.

Rome, Nov. 30 (Central News Cable)—The fall of Gracow is imminent, according to advices from Petrograd. Since Saturday the Russians have been shelling the outer fortifications, and the fire of their howitzers has reached the citadel of the city. One suburb is already burning, and the entire city has been completely devastated.

Paris, Nov. 30—The French war office gave out the following statement at 3 p. m. today:

"In Belgium the enemy is resting on the defensive. The cannonade has become feeble and we have made progress at some points. Around Fay, south of the Belgian frontier, we hold firmly the points which we occupied on the twentieth.

"In the region of Soissons there is an intermittent cannonade against that town.

"In the Argonne several attacks upon Bagatelle have been repulsed by our troops.

"There is a thick fog on the heights of the Meuse. In the Woevre region the enemy has bombarded the forest of Apremont with any success.

"In the Vosges there is nothing to eport."

Copenhagen, via London, Nov. 30 (Central News Cable)—A message from Berlin says that the Austrians are directing a furious bombardment against Belgrade, and expect to enter the Servian capital tomorrow.

Amsterdam, via Londan, Nov. 30 (Central News Cable)—General von Hindenburg commanding the German forces in the east has been promoted to the rank of field marshal by the Kaiser in recognition of the manner in which he has conducted operations against the Russians.

FUNERAL OF MISS ETHEL JACKSON IS HELD

The funeral service of Miss Ethel A. Jackson, daughter of Robert Jackson, of Halsey street, was held at the Church of Heavenly Rest, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. C. H. Mallery, the rector, officiated. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends of the young woman, and many beautiful floral tributes, including a pillow bearing the word "Sister," and one from the Sunday-school.

During the service the choir sang several selections. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the bearers were Robert Dorman, Arthur Mundy, Howard Bozenbery, Samuel Millwater, Frank Haskard and Charles Mattox.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN TO MISS MARGARET RYAN

Miss Margaret Ryan, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. Richard Ryan, tendered a party to Miss May Hunt, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting her for the past week, at her home on First street, on aSturday afternoon and evening.

The afternoon was pleasantly passed in playing the card game, 500. Mrs. J. T. Longbotham won the first prize, a complete ivory candle stick; Mrs. L. T. Churchill won the second prize, an amythest chain. The consolation prize, a pin-cushion, was awarded to Mrs. S. M. Kookogey.

An elaborate supper was served at nightfall. The dining-room was beautifully decorated with ferns and carnations. The table was also beautifully decorated, the color scheme being pink and white. The favors were pink baskets filled with candy.

The evening's entertainment consisted of dancing and singing.

The following were present at the party: Mrs. J. T. Longbotham, Mrs. S. M. Kookogey, Miss M. Marfkle, Miss Frances Hunt, Miss Mary Logan, Miss Alice Apgar, Miss Florence Gangloff, Mrs. L. T. Churchill, Mrs. Egbert J. Gessner, Miss Jennie Ryan.

Mr. and Mrs. David Guyre, of New York, spent the week-end in the borough as the guests of Mr. Guyre's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Guyre, of Washington avenue.

MEET WITH AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT IN CONEY ISLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Dusel, of Walnut street, had far from a pleasant experience on Thanksgiving evening, when the front axle of their automobile, in which besides themselves were Mr. Dusel's brother, C. K. Dusel and wife, of Brooklyn, broke as the car was being turned around on Surf avenue, Coney Island. The accident happened about 6 'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Dusel had taken Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Dusel. After the dinner the party decided to go to Coney Island for a ride. They had come down one side of Surf avenue and were crossing the car over to go back on the other side when a front wheel diagonally struck a recently poorly filled-in excavation for sewer mains between the Brooklyn Rapid Transit trolley tracks. They heard something snap and saw the wheel go spinning across the roadway. The front part of the car minus the wheel sunk to the roadway causing an abrupt stop. Outside of a slight jolting none of the party were hurt, the only thing that saved them from being hurled out being the fact that Mr. Dusel was turning his car around slowly. Outside of the broken axle the only damage sustained by the car was to a mudguard and a lamp. A nearby garage was notified of the accident and the car left in its charge, the party returning to Brooklyn by train.

BOROUGH COUNCIL TO GET AFTER DELINQUENTS

The law and ordinance committees of the Common Council are having notices prepared to mail to the delinquents in the matter of having the licenses for their dogs renewed for the year 1915. Although three months have passed since the date when the licenses should have been renewed fully one-half of those owning dogs have neglected to attend to the matter.

The notices will give the delinquents ten days in which to renew the licenses. Those failing to attend to the matter by the expiration of that time will be approached by deputy collectors. Then it will be a case of either handing over the amount of the license for your dog plus collection and enforcement charges or being dealt with according to the penal clause of the dog ordinance. This ordinance says that those who will not procure licenses for their dogs shall be fined $5 or locked up for five days.

OPEN BRANCH STORE.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company expects to open its branch store in the Ratti building tomorrow.

BASKETBALL GAME.

The Rooster and Crow Patrols of the local organization of Boy Scouts will play a game of basketball on the Presbyterian court this evening. In the estimation of competent judges the two teams are pretty evenly matched. A good game is therefore anticipated.

COUNCIL TO MEET.

An informal meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the Borough Hall this evening to deliberate further upon the storm sewerage matter.

Borough Clerk William P. Deering is somewhat indisposed with an old ailment.

The banquet committee of the Board of Trade will meet in the Borough Hall this evening.

Fred C. Ward, a former resident of this vicinity, who has been visiting here for the past three months, left for his home at Ocean Park, Cal., this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Barton, of Front street, commencing with tomorrow, will make their home in New York for the winter.

The choir of Holy Innocents' church held a social on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Carpenter, on Prospect avenue.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church, meet with Mrs. Arthur S. Gaston, of Front street, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hamley, of Bartley, who have been spending a week or so in the borough the guests of their son, Arthur J. Hamley, of Washington avenue, have returned home.

The condition of Edward Taylor, of North avenue, who has been ill for the past couple of weeks with pneumonia, remains about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Todd Kennedy, of Washington avenue, entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, of Plainfield, last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dayton, of New Market road, entertained their son, Alfred Dayton and family, of Bayonne, over the week-end.

Editor and Mrs. George W. Day spent Friday in New York. They spent the day visiting points of interest and in the evening attended one of the popular plays of the day.

Miss Jacinthia Frescoln, of New Market road, visited friends in Brooklyn yesterday.

Grandin Neighbour and sister, Miss Janet, of Mountainview Terrace, visited Bronx Park, New York, yesterday.

Superintendent H. R. Cook, of the local water company, visited relatives at Plainfield last evening.

MUSICAL AND LECTURE.

Tuesday night, December 8, at 8 o'clock, a musical and lecture will be held in the First Baptist church under the auspices of the choir. The lecturer will be M. A. Korff, of Plainfield. His subject will be "New York—the Gateway of the Nations." The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon views. Local talent will assist with the musical program. A silver offering will be taken.

TO GIVE TWO PLAYLETS.

One of the two playlets to be given by the G. E. Club at its entertainment and social in Friendship Hall, on Tuesday evening, December 15, will be "The Luck They Brought," by the eighth grade pupils of the local school. The pupils wrote this play out with the assistance of Principal Walter Elwood. It was given at the time of the school Thanksgiving entertainment. Quite a number of those who witnessed the play at that time have expressed a desire of having another opportunity of seeing it played. The other playlet will probably be the one given recently in the Dunellen Theatre for the benfit of the Dunellen Public Library. After the entertainment there will be a social hour and "Ye old Fashion Dance." Ice cream will be on sale at this time. There will also be a fancy table with Christmas articles for young and old.

Mrs. Evelyn Nelson, who has been ill since last April, is slightly improved.

Rev. T. E. Vassar preached to the members of Lakeside and Friendship Councils, at the evening service in the Baptist church last evening.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The funeral services for Clara C. Urner, wife of Frank G. Urner, who died Friday after a short illness, were held at the late home in the borough, yesterday, and were in charge of Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, of Plainfield, of which she was a member. There were many floral pieces sent by the friends of the deceased. Interment was made in the family plot at Elizabeth.

Mrs. Mary A. Lawson, a resident of the 'Plains for over half a century, died at her home in Brooklyn on Friday after a long illness. She was the widow of Clarence Lawson, a veteran of the Civil War, who enlisted from Scotch Plains, and during her many years' residence here she was prominently identified with church work. The funeral was held in Brooklyn yesterday.

Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church several years ago, is rapidly becoming famous in the Boy Scout and literary fields. Since resigning as pastor of the local church, Mr. Mathiews has devoted his time along these lines and is at present chief Scout librarian of the National Boy Scout Council. He has given many lectures throughout the country to parents on the ways of bringing up the children and is at present starting a nation-wide movement for the writing of better literature for young boys. He has written a number of books himself and in a page and a half length article, accompanied by his picture, in the December issue of the "Countryside Magazine," he expresses his views on the subject. He says that books of the dime novel type and those relating to the impossible are extremely harmful and as the publishers have found that the parents have in a certain degree become aware of the danger they now issue the novels in book form and sell them for fifty cents and a dollar. Mr. Mathiews says that a new crop of books have got to spring up and says they should be divided into some of the following classes: "Humor," "America," "Sports," "Chivalry," "Frontier" and other subjects. He believes that the books a boy reads effect his after-life and it is up to the parents to get their sons the right kind.

Rev. J. Madison Hare was in charge of the services at the Baptist church, yesterday. At the morning service, the new piano that was given to the church by Dr. Coles and his sister, was dedicated, after which the pastor preached an interesting sermon on "The New Patriotism." The service was attended in a body by Twilight Council, No. 7, Jr. O. U. A. M., and the Boy Scouts. In the evening in place of the B. Y. P. U. meeting at 7:30, Mr. Hare delivered the first of a series of lectures on "World Conquest," and profusely illustrated it with stereopticon views.

Dr. H. K. Carroll was unable to take charge of the services at the Methodist church yesterday, and Rev. Frank Fletcher, of Plainfield, conducted them, preaching at both morning and evening services. Dr. Carroll will not be in charge again for several Sundays as he has been called to the West.

Rev. Oscar Stuart Michaels conducted the services at All Saints' Episcopal church yesterday, and at the 11 o'clock service preached an interesting and instructive sermon on "One Lesson of the War." The Thanksgiving music that the choir rendered at the special service on Thursday morning, was sung.

INTERCHANGE OF RECTORS A SPLENDID SUCCESS

The special Advent services and interchange of preachers which went into effect yesterday in the local Episcopal churches, were a splendid success judging from the attendance and interest which was manifested.

The music and sermon topics emphasized the solemn Advent message of "Judgment," the coming of the Kingdom of God and the consequent need of repentance ,and the living of a better life.

PREPARING THE Y. W. C. A. EXHIBIT FOR EXPOSITION

A committee of ten members of the Y. W. C. A. has been selected to start work on the exhibitions that the local association is going to send to the Panama-Pacific Exposition contest next year. The local girls will make a model wardrobe for exhibition. In order to get material for that purpose there will be a silver tea held on December 10 from 4 to 7:30 o'clock, the proceeds to go for the purchase of material for this work.

The committee in charge consists of Miss Dorothy Fleming, chairman; Mrs. Boardman Tyler, Mrs. F. W. Andrews, Mrs. William C. O'Donnell, Miss Isabelle Scarborough, Miss Ellen Doughty, Miss Jessie Stewart, Miss Margaret Hawkins, Miss Elizabeth Wetherell and Miss Katharine L. Aller.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Christmas vesper service will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Edith Frank, soloist at he First Baptist church, will sing and Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will have charge of the service.

Miss Helen K. Ray, an instructor in the borough High School, will read at the weekly meeting of the Fireside Reading Club, Friday night.

The Embroidery and Baskeitry Classes will meet Friday. Miss Melisso Rogers is teacher of the first and Miss Laura Sydenham will be the instructor in the basketry class.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Elmer French, of the Senior class, attended the Rutger-Washington-Jefferson football game in New York Saturday. French is very much interested in the proceedings at Rutgers as he has a brother there now and expects to attend Rutgers himself next year.

The High School started practicing their Christmas music this morning. Some brand new songs will be used this year together with many of the old ones and by having early and regular rehearsals Miss Utter who is drilling the singers expects to have this year's music even surpass the good singing of last year.

The senior watch fobs bearing the initials of the school and the date 1915, arrived this morning and have been distributed to those who ordered them.

Ernest Pruden and Walter Debele will run a party and dance this evening and have hired Debell's Hall for the occasion. About seventy-five people have been invited to attend and they hope to make the affair a great success.

A number of students of the High School have been asked to act as ushers at the entertainment to be given by John McCormack in Elizabeth tomorrow night for the benefit of exceptional children.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it and, if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

Dire Results of Siege Guns; Destruction of Masterpieces

Cathedral at Rheims Has Suffered Incalculable Damage.

Termonde, In Belgium, Mass of Smoking Ruins.

WHETHER the damage inflicted by German artillery upon the famous Cathedral at Rheims was the result of design or accident, it has sent a thrill of dismay throughout the civilized world, and protests have been voiced by several European powers.

The Cathedral of Rheims is one of the first glories of European architecture. Its wonderful west facade, dating from the thirteenth century, with its three deeply recessed portals, containing more than 500 statues of Scriptural personages and kings of France, and its great rose window, has been described as the most beautiful structure produced in the middle ages. The church contained much splendid woodwork, valuable tapestries, reliquaries and church plate and several pictures besides its superb old windows. It is the cathedral of the Capetian and later kings and is the hallowed shrine of the faith, culture and history of the French people. With pardonable exaggeration a Paris editor calls it "the Acropolis of France."

At first it was believed that the beautiful structure was entirely destroyed, but later reports show that this is not the case and that it may be possible to restore it in a measure, at least, the exterior building, though many of the treasures of the ancient church were consumed by flames. A correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle sent the following dispatch from Rheims to his paper:

"All those who remained in the unfortunate city of Rheims were under the impression that its beautiful cathedral had been completely destroyed by the German bombardment, and, indeed, the spectacle was calculated to unbalance the mind of the coolest observer. The cathedral seemed to be surrounded and filled with flames, and great columns of smoke rose around it. From time to time we heard the crash of timber and stone and saw sheets of fire licking the great left tower. Through the open doors we got glimpses of an inferno of flames and smoke, into which great charred pieces of wood fell with a roar.

"I cannot describe the horror of this scene, but happily the attempt to destroy this marvel of architecture, which has been the joy and inspiration of centuries, has not completely succeeded. Rheims cathedral is still standing. It is damaged. It will forever bear the wounds of this attack, but as an architectural whole it remains."

The Cathedral of Notre Dame at Rheims has ever been considered one of the most exquisite monuments of early Gothic architecture.

It was begun in 1211 to replace the earlier one erected by Hincmar, the powerful archbishop of the ninth century, which was destroyed by fire in 1211. The choir was finished in 1241, as were the transepts and a part of the nave. The structure was not completed, however, until 100 years after the first stones were laid. The plans of the building are attributed to Jean d'Orbais, although the beginnings are said to have been partly planned by the monk Hughes Labergier and the two Roberts de Courcy.

The magnificent west facade was one of the most famed parts of the cathedral. Three beautiful recessed portals containing 530 statues adorned this, of which Fergusson, the architectural critic, has written:

"Nothing can exceed the majesty of its deeply recessed portals, the beauty of the rose window that surmounts them or the elegance of the gallery that completes the facade and serves as a basement to the light and graceful towers that crown the composition."

The interior of the cathedral was cruciform, being 455 feet long and 99 feet wide, while the highest point of the roof above the middle aisle was 125 feet. Hundreds of statues reposed in niches along the walls of the interior. Valuable tapestries adorned the nave and the transepts. The designs of tapestries consisted of illustrations of Biblical and French medieval history. There were paintings by Poussin, Tintoretto and other famous artists among the murals.

Two towers rose 267 feet from the street level, but were never crowned with spires. When fire destroyed a part of the cathedral in 1485 the idea of placing spires in the towers was given up.

The treasury of the church was the most remarkable in France, containing a number of historical and valuable vessels of gold. The clock, with its mechanical figures, of which there were many copies, was in the north transept. It dated from the sixteenth century.

France now will mourn with Belgium over the destruction of priceless ancient treasures. Hardly had the Belgian people realized their terrible losses at Louvain than the fair city of Termonde was laid in ruins. But yesterday Termonde was a flourishing city of 11,000 inhabitants. It possessed fine shops, an ancient town hall, called the Palace of Justice, of singular beauty, and a number of churches of historic interest. There were some 4,000 buildings in the town, and of these there are not a half dozen that have not been completely gutted by fire. Today Termonde is a place of smoking ruins. Only one notable structure remains standing, and that is the beautiful cathedral, whose towers, untouched, rise above the ruins. This cathedral contained some rare art treasures, among them paintings by Rubens and Van Dyck. A correspondent reaching Termonde shortly after its destruction writes:

"A few soldiers were guarding the town from pilferers as we entered over planks thrown hazardously across a blown up bridge. The first thing that struck my eye was a German Red Cross motorcar, unhurt, carefully tended by a couple of gendarmes; next, an enormous pane of glass advertising a popular brand of cigarettes, which looked as new as the day it was put up. Then the eye wandered around and gradually the brain took in the scene. Up and down the street one gazed on charred pieces of brickwork which were once houses. Here and there perhaps half a house would be standing upright; elsewhere a mass of bricks was strewn across the street.

"There were perhaps six citizens in the town who had dared to return after the burning of the place. One was an old woman who had dragged a few household articles into the street and sat forlornly among them. She epitomized the tragedy of thousands.

"By the courtesy of a priest I ascended the tower of the cathedral. Four hundred feet in the air, I looked down upon the ruined mass of what a week ago was a beautiful city. A gale was blowing up. The wind shook the battered remains of a house, which tottered and then fell with a crash into the street. Two women who were passing barely escaped with their lives. As we descended other houses fell."

"PASS PROSPERITY AROUND."

When ex-Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, in his great speech as chairman of the Progressive convention in Chicago in 1912, after denouncing the Payne-Aldrich tariff and showing its benefits were for the few, dramatically exclaimed, "Pass prosperity around!" he almost caused the roof to be lifted from that great auditorium by the enthusiasm which followed. That was a scene never to be forgotten. The words "pass prosperity around" were a Progressive slogan during the campaign which followed and it might truthfully be said, the chief slogan of the Progressives. It was known by the Progressives as it was known by everybody that gave the matter serious thought that to reduce the tariff would probably cause many changes and some injury in business, not to say possible distress before old conditions could be cured, and prosperity be spread around.

The kind of prosperity that Beveridge had in mind may not have been planned to come through the same methods that the Democratic party has pursued in changing the tariff policy. But it was undoubtedly planned to come through some change in tariff policy, and he certainly meant it to be through a policy of tariff reduction, not to say tariff destruction of the Payne-Aldrich sort.

One thing the late elections have made sure and that is there will be no tariff changes, by way of increased duty, during the next two years. And yet, on every hand there is a confident feeling that great prosperity is coming—and coming soon. The difficulty in the past has been that the country has never given itself time enough to work out a reduced tariff policy. Every time a general reduction in the tariff has heretofore occurred it has resulted in the defeat of the party enacting it and a speedy re-enactment of the previous tariff duties and then all have shouted that the increased tariff restoration has brought prosperity.

It is as sure as anything can very well be that the present Underwood-Simmons' tariff act of 1913 will stand for two years, and if prosperity comes under it, it will be established that this country can be prosperous under a low tariff. If that shall effectually occur in 1915 the tariff question will never again cut a serious figure in the politics of the country and we may then get on a basis where all parties will be willing to lift it out of politics and place the raising or lowering of duties in the hands of an intelligent expert commission. This commision can meet conditions of international trade relations as they arise, upon single articles or schedules and thus place this country, where real statesmen have long hoped to see it, on a scientific tariff basis. This will be a consummation devoutly to be desired and whoever, or whatever party, shall have had a hand in reaching such a result will be entitled to the gratitude of the American people.

American business should never be at the mercy of a politically manipulated Congress. Let us have a tariff that will be of equal advantage to all, that will "Pass prosperity around."

STRANGERS IN TOYLAND.

This year only a part of the $7,000,000 usually spent by the United States importers upon foreign toys will go abroad; the rest will help to swell the $2,000,000 usually spent upon domestic toys.

There will be less variety in dolls than heretofore. There will be a larger proportion of the hardy rag and rubber faces with their imperishable charm. The Christmas tree will glitter less splendidly with tinsel and glass globes, but more appetizingly with cornucopias and popcorn balls.

German confections will be generally replaced by domestic goodies; elaborate mechanical toys by carts and bulky apparatus meant to keep the child's body active; quaintly carved knickknacks from the Black Forest or from Russia by blocks, dominos and simple wooden or papiermache materials that challenge the child's ingenuity.

It will be a boon to harassed mothers and nursemaids if this year's toys, for a change, are of the sort that age cannot wither, nor custom stale, the twelvemonth round.

Efficient and economical city government is still largely an unsolved puzzle in the United States, but we can feel that we are getting closer to definite and desirable results when we learn from the addresses at the National Municipal League convention that the commission form of administration has been adopted in more than 400 cities, and that none of them has shown any disposition to abandon it. Whether the commission form or the business manager plan is the better remains to be determined, but each of them has an unusually good score to its credit.

MAY ESTABLIST WOODYARD

Mayor Stewart said this morning, that between 275 and 300 men were without employment in Plainfield and indications point to an urgent need for relief work during the ensuing four months as he anticipates a continuance of present conditions until March. The claims of the men who register for work at the employment bureau are being carefully investigated and only those entirely deserving of help will be benefitted by the campaign planned. The investigators have come across various conditions during their work, and in many cases it has been found that applicants for relief are pretty well "fixed" financially. A certain element of the foreign class has a tendency to demand employment although they have a neat sum "salted" away in the bank. The state of affairs at the present time makes it impossible to help only the destitute and those who have funds sufficient to carry them through the winter will be expelled from the list.

Following the appointment of the members to compose the Commission for the Relief of the Unemployed active work will be started and an early adjustment of conditions is promised.

One of the features planned is the establishment of a municipal woodyard where men will be given employment cutting wood at a fair wage scale. In other cities this scheme has been found to be self-supporting and there is no reason why it should not prove a success locally. Where it has been tried the work seekers are set to work cutting the wood which is sold and the proceeds used to pay the laborers. Following is a communication from the charity organization explaining in detail the proposed campaign:

Hon. Percy H. Stewart,
Mayor of Plainfield.

Dear Sir:—On the 23rd of November, in response to your request, the Charity Organization Society, of Plainfield and North Plainfield, appointed a Committee to consider the problem of the unemployed in Plainfield and vicinity and to suggest a plan for coping with this problem.

This committee submits the following report:

There are in general two related problems,—one of relief, and the other of employment. The relief problem will require in addition,, the raising of funds to care for the needs of those who are unable to take care of themselves.

Before any comprehensive plan can be adopted it will be necessary to ascertain certain facts, viz: The number of unemployed, the causes of their unemployment, the number of those dependent on them, their resources; their legal settlement, their capacity for performing labor, and an estimate of what is known as the family budget, or what is needed in the way of funds to take care of the dependents.

The preliminary survey which we have made shows that in normal times there is practically no problem of unemployment in Plainfield. There is a seasonal variation in the employment. In the summer a large number of laborers are employed in quarries, on road work and in other labor, which ceases in the winter, during which these same laborers find other employment either in factories or in other lines. At the present time, however, the demand for labor is approximately thirty per cent. below normal.

We estimate that during the coming months of December, January, February and March, there will be a lack of employment, which will necessiate the actual relief of many who ordinarily do not need it. During these four months the demand for labor will vary, and the number of persons who actually need relief will vary correspondingly, but the indications are that by the end of March the cause of this condition will be removed and the demand for laborers will be at least normal.

The condition today is better than it was two months ago and the nummer of persons out of employment will probably not be increased during the winter months. The needs, however, of those who are out of employment will increase as their resources are diminished.

The amount of money necessary to relieve the condition for the whole period cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy. It will exceed any funds now available.

Relief is being supplied to some extent by the municipal authorities, in accordance with the requirements of the Poor Law, and by other relief agencies, all of which will be continued, but in addition to their resources a further sum will be needed.

We recommend that sum be raised especially as the need for it is an extraordinary one and existing organizations are already pushed to the utmost limit of their resources. The problem is one for the entire community. It is a problem for all organizations who are interested in philanthropic work, and not for any one. The distribution of the relief should be made through existing agencies.

The plan which we propose is that you should appoint a Commission of five members, to be known as the Commission for the Relief of the Unemployed. The Mayor ex-officio should be a member of this Commission. The Chairman of the Commission should have charge of the survey and publicity work. Another member should be in charge of the relief work. A third member should be in charge of the problem of employment, that is, the co-relation of supply and demand. A fourth member should have charge of finances.

Each member of the Commission will be expected to organize a committee to assist him in the performance of his functions.

We will now proceed to take up in detail the work which is expected to be performed by each of these committees.

The chief function of this committee in the collection and ascertainment of all data bearing on the problem in order to forecast the extent of the need month by month and the submission of the data properly analyzed, together with recommendations to the other committees, and to the public who are supporting the movement. A great part of this material will be obtained by the committee from the relief committee, because that committee will need all these facts before they can determine on the relief which they will give to applicants. This is the branch of the work where these two committees will come in contact. The survey committee, on the other hand, will have to ascertain as definitely as possible the general demand for labor, not only immediately but for the future. It is in connection with this phase of its work that the survey committee will come directly in contact with the committee in co-relation of employment, because that committee will need these facts in carrying out its particular part of the work. The survey committee will also have the task of ascertaining what sources of relief are open to the unemployed, the busiest of the various organizations of the city, and in this phase of its work it will come in direct contact with the finance committee.

The relief committee will have for its function the distribution of relief, and this must be conducted through existing agencies along the well-recognized lines and according to the principles of relief which have been worked out by those who have made a scientific study of such relief. In the first place, the relief must be so administered as to tend to make the applicant self-supporting, and not to increase pauperism or dependency. In the second place, it must be so administered as to prevent starvation and suffering. It must also be so administered so as not to attract here unemployed persons and those not entitled to relief from this community. Any giving of relief which will attract to Plainfield unemployed persons or will tend to undermine the resources and the capacity for helping themselves of those applying will only intensify the suffering in the long run. Those persons whose unemployment in Plainfield is apt to be permanent, must be assisted to a realization of this fact, and the sooner they get to a place where they can secure employment, the better for them as well as for the community. At the same time relief must be so administered so as not to prevent the operation of economic laws by artificially sustaining the price of labor. This the Committee will, of course, work out under its own plan. This committee will have to work closely in co-operation with the Poor Department of the city, and also with all other agencies for relief, with the idea of supplementing and aiding their work.

The committee on employment will have for its function the study and suggestion of means by which it may bring together employer and employee; in other words, for co-relating the demand and supply of labor. It will have to determine whether demand for labor can be created or stimulated by any action, and how best to do this. For instance, it will consider the establishment of an employment bureau. It will also have to consider and get the facts in regard to the demands for labor, and to consider the best way of using these facts so as to bring the man offering his services in contact with the man requiring them.

The finance committee will have the task of raising the funds needed. This committee will have to determine for itself whether it is better to raise a fund at the outset, large enough to take care of the entire problem, or whether it will use a more flexible plan and have not merely one effort made for raising funds but a series of efforts. It is of prime importance in our judgment, that the condition should not be intensified or exaggerated in any way. The conditions are serious enough and difficult enough to handle, without exaggeration. everything should be done to make people solve their own problem and prevent them from giving up their own efforts.

We believe that Plainfield is ready and willing to relieve every demand which can be legitimately made upon it, and that with such an organization as this, properly perfected, the entire situation can be met and the problem solved.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. H. WHERRY, JR., Chairman.

J. ALBERT LANE,
HENRY E. HAWS,
C. O. S. Committee on Unemployment.

brings us into touch with God or a moral ideals which cannot be surpassed. It is the moral impulse of the book we are considering now.

"If all this is true and there is no reason to doubt it, the youth of our land should be trained to know its great moral ideals.

"If the warring nations of Europe today, had not forsaken the great ideals of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man taught in the Bible the world would not be in its present distress.

"We read of the struggle between the Slav and the Teuton, the Yellow race and the White race, and we ignorantly think that he God of the universe has planned that the white race should always keep the yellow race in a condition of submission to him. Yet the New Testament affirms that God has made of one blood all peoples of the earth.

"The serious troubles that have come up in the world, have been because of this conviction of this great Biblical ideal of brotherhood.

"If there is ever any trouble between Japan and the United States it will be because we regard the Japanese as an inferior race and insultingly tell them so and keep on telling them so.

"Every workingman should love his Bible, for to it we are indebted for the dignity it places on labor. The enlightened Greek philosopher, Plato, said that the shopkeeper should be placed in the same class with the criminal. That other great luminary of Greece, Aristolle, said that in a perfect State no citizen should be a mechanic. But every Jew was compelled to learn a trade. Christ was a carpenter, not because He was poor, but because of the dignity of labor.

"Daniel Webster asserted in his speech at he Bunker Hill Monument that when the Pilgrims came to this land, the Bible came with them and that because of the free universal reading of the Bible, we have right views of civil liberty. How necessary, therefore, that the children whom we are educating to become the future citizens of ourl and should know something about the bed rock of their liberties."

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Proctor's theatre will offer for the first half of the week beginning today "The Girl in the Moon," which will be seen for the first time in Plainfield, a spectacular singing offering consisting of pretty electrical effects, beautiful scenery and tuneful melodies.

From the spectacular standpoint, "The Girl in the Moon" cannot be touched. A fairy creature suddenly appears from out of the empty air, and with a magic wand produces myriads of glowing red roses where none grew an instant before. Then awakening the pretty miss, who is, as the scene shows, sitting upon a garden settee in the garden of roses. After the vanishing of the fairy vision, the dainty miss renders a tuneful vocal selection. Then up comes a big bright new moon, with "the girl" sitting composedly within the protecting crescent and singing. Right out over the heads of the orchestra and audience swings the vision, pinning carnations in the buttonholes of the surprised men in the audience. This undoubtedly will be one of the most pretentious vaudeville offerings that will be seen here this season.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Ireland, A Nation," stirring film play with characters famous in its history, will be shown at the Plainfield Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday "Ireland, A Nation," was written by Walter Macnamara, who also produced the film in which are shown many of the characters famous in Irish history. There is Robert Emmet and Michael Dwyer and John Philpot Curran and many others and the actors who played the roles before the camera in Ireland are Berry O'Brien and Patrick Ennis and Dominick Reilly and Barney Magee and the like so that there is no end of Irish flavor to the whole performance. In one scene laid in France, Napoleon Bonaparte appears.

The story begins with the passing of Ireland House of Parliament, and the news is carried over hills and dales to the dancers on the cross roads and to Father Tom Murphy, who has a price on his head. All swear to break the yoke which binds them to England.

The next three reels are devoted pretty much to the life of Robert Emmet and his death on the scaffold, but the last reel brings the patriots up to the passing of the Home Rule bill and then Erin prints Robert Emmet's epitaph because Ireland has once again taken her place among the nations of the earth.

Irish music with the true Irish tang to it enlivens the performance. Four shows, 2-2:30, 7 and 9 p. m. m.

George Evan believes in the old songs and always introduces a number of them in his minstrel program. This year he has arranged a medley of songs which held vogue from 1880 to 1895 and introduces it as the opening chorus of the first part portion of his new entertainment at the Plainfield theatre, Monday evening, December 7. In this medley of old-time favorites will be introduced "White Wings," "My Pearl Is a Bowery Girl," "Little Annie Rooney," "A Bicycle Built for Two," "I Had Fifteen Dollars In My Inside Pocket," "Down in a Coal Mine," "Maggie Murphy's Home," "Little Johnnie Dugan," "Down Went McGinty," and several more of the old-timers. As if to hold up a contrast between the favorites of the past and the present, the vocalists of the organization immediately after the medley of old ones will render the latest song hits of today, and sweet-voiced Jimmy Meehan sings "I Had a Gal, I Had a Pal"; William H. Thompson sings, "You Are More Than the World To Me;" Jim Doherty introduces "Tennessee, I Hear You Calling Me;" Tommy Hyde dances through the lilting melody of "Honey, Won't You Love Me All the Time?" Paul Van Dyke yodles his little "Dutch" throat almost off, and John P. Rogers, the eminent basso, renders "A Son of the Desert Am I;" then, to cap it all, "Honey Boy" himself sings "Mother Macree."

John McCormick, the Celebrated Irish Tenor.

MISS MAXWELL TO SPEAK.

Miss Laura Maxwell, of Easton, Pa., will be the guest of the Plainfield branch of the McAll Auxiliary at its meeting in the Y. M. C. A. parlors Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. She will speak on conditions in France where she visited the past summer.

ANNUAL PLAY.

The Young People's Society of Marconnier Reformed church, Oak Tree, are arranging for their first annual play to be given Friday evening under the title, "The District School." A sale of ice cream and cake will follow the play.

Scene from "Ireland a Nation," Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 2and 3.

THOUSANDS CAN SEE VANDERBILT CUP RACE AND GRAND PRIX ON EXPOSITION COURSE

The AVENUE of PROGRESS • EAST END of AUTO CIRCUIT ~ The AVENUE of PALMS • A PORTION of the COURSE •

Two big days of the Panama-Pacific Exposition will be February 22 and March 6. The first is the date of the Vanderbilt Cup Race and the second is the day of the Grand Prix Automobile Race.

For the first time in the many years of their history they will be held where hundreds of thousands may witness every part of the course. Thousands of autos can be parked in view of the course. They will be held on a course without a single telephone or electric pole along the edge. There will be more cars than ever lined up in a former race. The course will have the features that will make unusual thrills with the minimum of danger.

As an example of this the turns on the plaza of the Federal Concourse may be cited. Here the asphalt roadway is 200 feet wide and this is to be divided so that one-half of it is given over to the speed demons going west and the other half to the racers going east. The division line will be a nine-foot barricade of baled straw, burlap and pads held to the center of the plaza by anchored cables.

One full lap of the course, which utilizes the exposition's mile track, is 3.9 miles. The Vanderbilt Cup Race covers a distance of approximately 300 miles. The Grand Prix will cover 400 miles.

The start will be in front of the great amphitheatre, which seats 18,000 persons.

Barney Oldfield, the first entry in each race and whose check is now on deposit, looked over the course a few days ago and pronounced it the finest ever given over to the two races. The width ranges from thirty to eighty feet and every foot of it, except the graded dirt track, is asphalt.

The exposition is planning to construct bridges over the course to permit the crowds to pass from one part of the grounds to another without danger of being struck.

Ralph de Palma has given assurances that he cannot miss the Vanderbilt Cup Race of 1915, for his two wins put him in the position of having to win but once more in order to obtain the Vanderbilt Cup.

The prizes for the Vanderbilt events are: $3,000 for first; $2,000 for second; $1,500 for third, and $1,000 for fourth. The Grand Prix prizes are: The gold challenge cup donated by the Automobile Club of America and $8,000 in cash, divided as follows: $3,000 for first; $2,000 for second; $1,500 for third; $1,000 for fourth, and $500 for fifth.

There are any number of o. b. magnates who are opposed to making peace with the Feds. They believe that the new leaguers will not start another season. But the Feds only laugh at this assertion and point to the fact that similar claims were made a year ago. They were originally given until last Decoration day to close up shop. Their lease of life was prolonged until July Fourth. Finally it was extended to Labor day. But the Federals fooled them all by going through the season and finishing up without even breathing hard. It would be foolish for organized baseball to make peace with the Federals unless such a pact would automatically put the Feds out of business—that is, have a general absorption party all around. Peace would be of practically no avail if, after the Wards, Weeghman and Stifel were taken care of by organized baseball by buying National league clubs, a revamped Federal league rose from the ruins.

"As long as I am able to direct my team I will continue as manager of the Athletics. It would kill me to give up active participation in baseball." With these words Connie Mack has settled all the retirement rumors that have sprung up concerning him since the Braves walloped the Athletics in the world series. Since Mack owns over 50 per cent of the stock in the Athletics he probably is in no danger of being fired. If he quits it will be of his own free will. He says he expects to die in harness. Mack is fifty-two. He has been engaged in baseball as player and manager for thirty years.

Still another result of the war in Europe—in all probability—will be felt in Edmonton, Canada, the coming winter, unless the war should cease very soon. The Arena rink will not be available for hockey and skating purposes, the city council deciding that the militia should have first call on the building, which is also very suitable for training the soldiers. The Arena was the popular place to go for skating and hockey last winter, and Commissioner Harrison estimates that 40,000 persons visited it, which means in street car fares to the city about $4,000 and the city received $1,000 as rent. This may mean that hockey will languish in Edmonton for a season or more.

Three Eyes league magnates will be grateful if the national association solves the circuit problem for next year. The recommendation at the Omaha meeting that Rock Island succeed Springfield is just what the Three Eyes leaders desired, but they fear the preference of a faction there in favor of the Central association. With Dubuque ready to return to the fold, supported by a new organization of business men, and Rock Island as the successor to Springfield, the Three Eyes league will be among the most compact in the west, marked by small mileage and transportation expense.

Including the annual six-day bicycle race, the contestants in races of the Cycle Racing association this year will share in probably $100,000. During the outdoor season Frank L. Kramer, the American champion, won over $10,000 Walter Rutt, the German rider, was second with $5,976. Among the pace followers Bobby Walthour was the heaviest winner with $2,740.

The claim that Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics, champions of the American league, is the only manager to win six championships is disputed. Harry Wright won pennants for Boston in the National association in 1872, 1873, 1874 and 1875, and for Boston in the National league in 1877 and 1878.

Only four teams outside of the Harvard and Princeton elevens have been able to defeat Yale, Washington and Jefferson making the fifth. Yale has been playing the gridiron game since 1872, meeting all comers. Princeton has beaten Yale ten times and Harvard has won from the Blue seven times. West Point has won three times, Brown once, Columbia twice, Colgate once, and Washington and Jefferson once.

INTERSCHOLASTIC BASKETBALL LEAGUE RACE WILL BE THE CLOSEST CONTESTED ONE IN MANY SEASONS

Many New Faces Will Appear on the Three Teams' Rosters This Year.

Sizing up the Interscholastic League's 1914-15 basketball scope in the three teams' camps during a short preliminary survey one is attracted by the many new faces appearing on the rosters of the combatants and indications point to one of the closest races in years. Because of the shifting out of the more flashy talent by the 1914 graduation the material this year gives promise of being more evenly distributed and the weaker forces will probably show to better advantage than they have in years past. A casual observance and balancing of points leads us to believe that the Plainfield High School contingent has an edge on the other two league contenders and one takes a pretty safe chance when he predicts a return of the interscholastic gonfalon to the Ninth street institution. The writer recently conferred with the three coaches, who by the way are the same as did the shaping up duty last year, and all admit that the graduation cut has eliminated some brilliant performers whose places will be difficult to fill. Ralph E. Patch will train the Plainfield High School boys; Paul Collier has been re-engaged to coach North Plainfield, and C. B. Wardlaw, who has so satisfactorily handled the destinies of Leal School forces for a number of years past, will once more serve in that capacity. Mr. Wardlaw is the peer of local coaches, and the knowledge he has gained of Interscholastic League facts during his long incumbancy will no doubt stand him in excellent stead this season. Collier and Patch, while not so familiar with the individual organization, know the game of basketball from top to bottom, and proved their worth as coaches last season.

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL.
Daniel F. McNamee, Captain; Nicholas Zelmas, Manager.

In the Ninth street institution optimism rules the forces. Asked to comment on the coming season those interested in basketball at that school said that they foresaw nothing but success this year. They are intent on retrieving the interscholastic pennant lost last year to North Plainfield and are perhaps the best fortified with material to accomplish the trick at this writing. With Peacock, Rosenson and Captain McNamee, of the veterans, back in the fold, a nucleus is formed around which it should be an apparently easy matter to mould a championship outfit. Coach Patch is now finished with his duties as football trainer and intends to spend the next five months handling the basketball squad. In an interview he stated that Bill Peacock will be kept out of the game as much as possible until after Christmas in order that his injured ankle might regain its normal strength. Peacock is one of the school's most consistent performers and Patch rightly figures that to have this veteran in good condition for the hard games after Christmas is well worth the loss of a couple of minor contests in the early season.

INTERSCHOLASTIC BASKETBALL LEAGUE SCHEDULE.

December.

12—N. P. H. S. vs. P. H. S., at P. H. S.

March.
6—P. H. S. vs. N. P. H. S. (court undecided).

Of the new talent "Ted" Ryder and O'Leary loom up as the most promising and it looks as though the former was going to give Rosenson the run of his life for the vacant guard job. If anything Ryder is the better of the two, as he can pass, shoot and guard to a better advantage than his competitor for the berth. O'Leary looks like a find at forward as running mate to McNamee, and Peacock will probably divide up the other guard position with Sheldon Coudray or Herbert Peacock, both of whom have developed into excellent players. A center is needed to complete the quintet and Coach Patch is hot on the trail of talent for the pivot position.

NORTH PLAINFIELD H. S.
Hyman Abrams, Captain; Duclos VanMater, Manager.

While North Plainfield High School exponents of the court game are a little leary in making predictions, it is one safe bet that the boroughites will not relinquish claim to the title without putting up a hard fight. Plainfield will be forced every inch of the way by the team from the other side of the water and in this year of sport reverses it would not be an astounding return to find that North Plainfield springs the inevitable and cops the title for the second consecutive year. Captain Abrams and Duclos VanMater are the sole survivors of the championship squad and Coach Collier will have his hands full in shaping up a fit contender. He has some consolation in North Plainfield's traditional ability to reverse dope and the fact that 1914 has also proven a Waterloo for favorites in tennis, football, golf, baseball and polo. The first game of the season, played Friday night with the Alumni quintet could not be classed as entirely encouraging. Of the material available besides the two veterans, "Ronnie" Conroy, "Tut" Townley and "Bill" Day look best. Conroy and Townley make a forward combination that cannot be touched and with VanMater in centre, a position which is not altogether to his liking, and Abrams in guard, there remains one guard berth to be filled m. "Dan" Denny, "Art" VanMater and French have entered into the competition for this gap and it is a toss-up between the trio.

Speaking of the Interscholastc League, Coach Collier was anything but optimistic. He admitted that the material at hand was raw and unbecoming to championship teams, but said that he hoped by hard work to be able to get the players in trim again to land another laurel in the league's history. It will undoubtedly be at least two years before North Plainfield recovers from the loss of Dunning, Burner and Love, and therefore nothing phenomenal is looked forward to this season.

P. H. S. Rules a Favorite With Leal School a Probable Runner-up.

LEAL SCHOOL.
Chauncey Stewart, Captain; Fred Dickerson, Manager.

The traditional walloping of the private school boys in the Interscholastic League does not seem to be so probable this season and some of the wiseacres are predicting that the Leal crew will wind up the season as a runner-up for the title, with North Plainfield in the cellar. Personally we think that the private school athletes will again be pushed into the last place berth, but we also think that they will give the other two contenders a much harder race this year than they have done in the past five seasons. Captain Stewart, the versatile little athlete, is the team leader this year, and his running mate at forward, Fred Dickerson, is also a candidate again. Schneider, another veteran, is being tried out in the centre position, while Dale and Harrington, two less experienced performers, have shown up fairly good at guard this year. The Leal team is the only one with a pair of veteran forwards to fall back on and this feature alone is a big advantage for the point gainers are rare in the other institutions. Dickerson and Stewart are both experienced players and should do much toward keeping the Leal flag aloft this season.

BUSY WEEK OF BOWLING ON TAP FOR LOCAL ALLEY ENTHUSIASTS

Nine separate contests are scheduled on this week's bowling calendar and indications point to activity during the coming five nights in five different organizations. The local alleys will be the scene of several of these contests, the results of which may effect a shake-up in the various organizations.

ELKS' SENIOR LEAGUE.

Thursday night the Hoboken Elk pinners are scheduled to appear on the Watchung avenue alleys for a series with the locals. Plenty of interest is instilled in this engagement inasmuch as a shakeup is promised in the lineup of the local quintet. During the last series, which was played against Paterson, considerable grumbling was inevidence and Captain Nash has intimated that a big shakeup is under way. Whether or not a new personnel will be sent to the fore this week remains to be seen, but something radical will have to be done in the near future if the Queen Cityites ever expect to climb from the cellar berth.

Tomorrow night, Rutherford goes to New Brunswick for a trio of engagements and on the following evening the Betsytown tribe appears at Jersey City for three contests with the Skeetertown Elks. Besides the Plainfield game Thursday night, New York is scheduled to lineup at Paterson. The long week of league pinning will be brought to a conclusion Friday night with a match on the Rahway alleys between the team of that place and the Newark champions.

ELKS' JUNIOR LEAGUE.

Captain Chauncey Stout's Plainfield Colts will lineup against the Junior Elks' Leaguers from Newark on the local drives tomorrow night. Thursday night, Elizabeth goes to Brunswick and Friday night, Elizabeth performs at Jersey City.

F. O. E. BOWLING LEAGUE.

Tonight the Newark Eagles will go to Elizabeth to dispose of a postponed series with the Betsytown tribe. Thursday night the Hoboken pinners come to this city for a trio of games with the locals, Rahway goes to the Somerset county seat and Progress will play Elizabeth.

COLUMBUS CLUB LEAGUE.

Tonight the Sparrows will oppose the Robins in the Columbus Club's Five-man League, and Wednesday night the Peacocks are due to lineup against the Quails.

PARK CLUB ALLEYS.

Bowling will be the feature on the Park Club lanes tonight, Thursday night and Friday night. A ten-pin handicap series will be run off tonight, this having been postponed from last Friday night owing to the costume dance held at that time. Thursday night five-back tourney matches will be on the card, and Friday night another series in the ten-pin handicap is scheduled.

The local matches for this week are listed below:

Tonight.
Eagles' League—Newark at Elizabeth (postponed match).
Park Club—Ten-pin handicap.
Columbus Club—Five-man team tournament, Sparrows vs. Robins.

Tomorrow Night.
Elks' Junior League—Newark at Plainfield.

Wednesday Night.
Columbus Club—Five-man team tournament, Peacocks vs. Quails.

Thursday Night.
Elks' Senior League—Hoboken at Plainfield.
Eagles' League—Plainfield at Newark.
Park Club—Five-back tourney.

Friday Night.
Park Club—Ten-pin handicap.

ALUMNI VICTORS IN FAST CONTEST

Plainfield High School Succumbs to Defeat in First Game of Season.

The Plainfield High School girls' basketball team opened its season on the High School court Saturday afternoon, with a fast and close game against a star team of Alumni. Although the High School team lost the contest by the score of 12 to 9, Miss Sminck, coach of the team, is very well satisfied at the showing of her squad, as it is doubtful if the High School team will run against such a star aggregation as the Alumni again this season. With Miss Jessie Stewart and Miss Alice Mehl at forwards, the Alumni expected to have little difficulty in caging the ball, but they were not counting on the two High School guards, Miss Good and Miss Eaton. As it was Miss Alice Mehl managed to cage four field goals, one in the first half and three in the last half.

For the High School team the Misses Helen Peacock and Dorothy Crane each caged one field goal, while Miss Peacock dropped in four foul goals and Miss Crane one foul goal. At centre Miss Brynarski and Miss Douglas each had the jump on Miss Bremble, and this kept the ball at the Alumni end of the court most of the time.

HOLY CROSS TEAM WILL PLAY THE FRANKLINS

The Holy Cross football team will play its last game of the season in Newark Saturday, when it will stack up against the strong Franklins. This is the first time the locals have left town to play for several years, but by special request Manager Doyle accepted the challenge. In the first game of the season, these two aggregations played a scoreless tie, but later the Franklins came out here and trounced the borough eleven.

The trip will be made in automobiles and a large bunch of rooters will undoubtedly go with the team.

Holy Cross Scores Only Tally of the Game in Third Quarter.

The Holy Cross football team closed its home season with a victory, Saturday afternoon on Cricket Field, when it took the measure of the fast Viking eleven, of Bayonne, by the score of 6 to 0. The boroughites played in old time form and only once during the entire game were the visitors dangerous and that was when time was called in the last quarter and they were within striking distance of the Holy Cross goal. Both teams made many first downs during the game and right at the start when Holy Cross kicked off, the visitors made three first downs without losing possession of the ball.

When they got possession of the ball for the first time the local players went right down the field, gaining first downs several times on two and three rushes. Wilson made twelve yards the first rush for the borough team and then lost ten yards on a bad pass. The Vikings were penalized fifteen yards by referee Stine for holding. This put the ball on the Viking thirty-five yard line and the next play almost resulted in a score for Holy Cross. Tommy Mullin laid way over on the sidelines and recorded a beautiful forward pass from Ricketts. Tommy got the ball all right but just as he cuddled it under his arm one of the opposing players dumped him and he lost the ball. A Viking man picked up the ball and ran it back fifteen yards to the center of the field.

The Vikings kicked off in the third period but it was a bad one and Glover received and ran it back to midfield.

On seven successive plunges and end runs with excellent interference, the Holy Cross players carried the ball down to their opponents eight yard line and Ricketts, surrounded by his own men, carried the ball over the line for a touchdown. When he carried the ball out to be kicked Manning was off side and they were forced to forfeit their chances for an extra point. Holy Cross kicked off to their opponents and Longstreet caught the ball. Just before being tackled he tried a forward pass that went out of bounds and a Holy Cross player dropped on it.

On a series of plunges the Holy Cross backs took the ball down to the Vikings' two yard line but could not carry it over. On a fake kick the Vikings made a large gain and the third period ended. In the last quarter the visitors tried several forward passes but only one of them was successful. Jack Caulfield grounded several that might have turned the score. Holy Cross obtained possession of the ball but immediately fumbled and gave the ball to their opponents. During the last few minutes the Vikings ran the ball down the field at a fast rate but time was called with the oval on the local's twenty-yard line.

The teams lined up as follows:

HOLY CROSS		VIKINGS.
Mullin, Caulfield	left end	H. Earley
Howarth	left guard	Gaddis, Suchan

Y. M. C. A. FIVE LOST TO STRONG CHATHAMS

Locals Needed Ten Pionts to Tie Their Opponents at End of Game.

Ten points separated the scores of the local Y. M. C. A. basketball team and the Chatham team, of Brooklyn, on the association court Saturday night and the Plainfield quintet was forced to take the short end of the tally. The final was 38 to 28. The game was close until the last five minutes of play and then the visitors ran away from their opponents and scored four field goals in quick order. The home team played a close game in the first half and held its opponents to 16 points while they counted for only 14, only one field goal separating the teams at the end of the first period.

"Ash" Burner and Newkirk started at guard for the local team and their guarding, with the scoring of Gavett and Taylor, kept the visitors down on even terms with them. Gavett dropped in four in the first twenty minutes and Taylor counted for two while Moulton was credited with a pair of fouls. Moulton started the scoring with a foul but the visitors quickly overcame that and led in this department for over half the period when the locals tied them up. Just before the whistle blew another field goal was registered for the Chathams.

Captain Brynarski and Glover replaced Burner and Newkirk in the second half and Moulton took Gavett's place in the scoring work. The husky center was held scoreless in this half and Harry made four of the two point variety and one from the fifteen foot mark. The visitors scored early in this half and obtained a lead that could not be overcome.

REDS DEFEATED BLUES BY THREE POINTS SATURDAY

In the preliminary game at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night the Blue team trimmed the Reds in a close encounter by the score of 19 to 16. The scoring was close throughout, neither team leading its opponent by more than five points at any time. In the first half, Brandt, of the winners, was the main point getter for his side, scoring four field goals and one foul while Goldsmith and Boice each counted for one. At the end of the half the Blues were leading by two points, the score being 13 to 11.

There was little scoring done in the second period, the Blues making three field goals and the Reds two. This game is counted as a regular league game of the Color league.

FIRST GAME FOR LEALS.

The Leal School basketball team will open its season Wednesday afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. court with the Roselle High School team. The local private school squad has been practising hard for the past three weeks and stand a good chance of annexing its first contest. The team will probably be composed of Stewart, Dickerson, Schneider, Harrington and Dale.

SECOND DEFEAT FOR HOPE CHAPEL TEAM

Newark Cadets Outplayed Fourth Street Aggregation on Home Court.

The Hope Chapel basketball team lost its second home game Saturday night to the High street Cadets, of Newark, by the score of 34 to 22. The teamwork completely outwitted the Chapelites. All of the visitors were excellent shots and all contributed at least two field goals to the score.

Tommy Heron was off his game and only counted for one field goal although he dropped in eight from the fifteen foot mark. Walls made two field goals and Snyder, playing guard, was credited with three. There were many fouls called on both sides and two points were awarded to the visitors and one to Hope. The Wenzel brothers did the most scoring for the visitors. The score:

E. R. FINCH FALLS INTO BLIND DITCH

Former New York Assemblyman Slightly Injured in Hunt Chase.

It was after dark when the week-end run of the Watchung Hunt Club was finished, Saturday night, the distance covered being about fourteen miles. The hounds which were met at Cook's poultry farm near Scotch Plains, led a field of nearly twenty riders over the first mountain, the first check being at the Pearsall castle on the second mountain. Taken up here they were cast in for the second line which led to Glenside Park, the "Deserted Village," covering fully six miles, the second check being at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium.

The hounds were cast in again for the final line on the John Taylor Johnston estate leading the riders a stiff pace back over the mountains, across the A. D. Shepard estate, there being many stiff jumps. The run ended at the Netherwood Water Tower. There was only one spill, that of former Assemblyman Edward R. Finch, who went into a blind ditch toward the end of the run. He was not seriously injured. The following finished:

R. C. Finch, M. F. H., H. A. Bourne, Miss Mary F. Baker, Miss Margaret Baker, Mayor H. W. Evans, A. C. [illegible] L. Finch, R. H. Tow- [illegible] Finch, S. D. French, [illegible]une and Huntsman Har- [illegible]. Many friends followed the riders in automobiles.

RALPH RUNYON WON POLE VAULT EVENT

With a 12-inch Handicap He Annexed Solid Gold Watch Prize.

Ralph Runyon won the pole vault event in the Irish-American games at Madison Square Garden, New York, Saturday night, and is now in possession of a solid gold watch which Runyon was given a 12-inch handicap, but the handicapper underestimated his ability and he reached the mark that was made by the scratch man. The entrant who was placed at scratch won this event in the senior "champs" a short time ago, but Saturday he went up to only 10 feet 6 inches and Runyon did the same without his handicap.

The local athlete competed for the Pastime A. C., of which he is a member, and John Fritts was also in the meet for the same organization. He ran in the three-quarter mile run, but did not place. Next Saturday Fritts will run on the Pastime medley team for the championship. He will take the mile stretch.

SMITH ADVANCES IN POOL TOURNAMENT AT Y. M. C. A.

George C. M. Smith won his second match of the Y. M. C. A. handicap pool tournament, Saturday, when he defeated F. O. Dunning by the score of 75 to 69. The latter had a twenty-five-point handicap, but was not in it with his opponent who played at his best. Minus the handicap the score would have been 75 to 44.

Raymond Bell won his match from S. Frederick Smith by default, which puts him in the second round and he will meet C. M. Smith in the semi-final round. All of the matches of the first round must be played before Saturday night.

MARATHON QUINTET DEFEATED HOPE CHAPEL BY ONE POINT

The Marathon A. C. basketball aggregation, of North Plainfield, nosed out the Hope Chapel Boys' Club team by one point, Saturday night, in a preliminary game to the Hope-Newark battle. The final score was 22 to 21, a field goal in the last few minutes of play giving the boroughites the scant lead which they managed to maintain.

At the end of the first half the home team was leading, but the visitors managed to tie and forge ahead during the second half. Krausse and Marsh were the high point getters for the winners and Porter and Overland scored fifteen points between them for the chapelites.

LOCAL PLAYER PICKED FOR NORTH JERSEY SECTION

In the selection of talent for the first, second and third all-star football elevens for northern New Jersey, "Buck" Semer, of the Plainfield High School team, has been placed at left end. No Plainfield player appears on either the first or second selections.

A photograph of "Bill" Peacock, the Plainfield High School captain, accompanys the selection in the New-[illegible] Sunday "Call." Peacock was picked for the second eleven last year when he played half back but his shift to quarter this year was probably responsible for the dropping of him from the list.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL GAME.

The Plainfield High School girls' basketball team will meet the Alumni team that won the game last Saturday again on December 28, in the high school gym. At that time the boys' team will also play the Alumni. A game is pending between the P. H. S. Alumna girls and teams the North Plainfield High School team for next Friday night in Saengerbund Hall. Announcement of his game will be made later.

EARNEST APPEAL FROM M'CALL ASS'N

European War is Seriously Affecting Work of This Great Organization.

The McAll Mission finds itself at the present moment in an utterly unforseen situation—its usual activities either abbreviated or entirely prostrated and its customary revenue from England, Scotland, Alace, Switzerland and Germany completely shut off. The director of the mission writes, "I cannot begin to give you an account of the profound disturbance which is produced by the enrollment of every available man between the ages of twenty and forty-eight years. It means that our national life, both industrial and commercial, is abruptly suspended. Naturally the situation is most serious for the mission. You can imagine that the miserly in Paris alone is very great."

To meet this situation there is but one thing to do, namely, to take such care as we can of those who are dependent upon us, in the paralysis of industry and the absence at the front of all wage earners, to provide such work as our resources allow for the maintenance of the lives of the women and children left at home. "For the moment," our director adds, "such a course is the only means of the salvation of the mission."

In its unspeakable emergency the mission, through its American representative, the McAll Association, turns to the American people for generous and unstinted aid.

In his last letter our director writes: "We must redouble our zeal and our activity if we are to rise to the height of the task God imposes upon us." In confident hope an appeal is made to Christian sympathy and co-operation.

Gifts may be sent to Mrs. John Gray Foster, 91 Mercer avenue, treasurer of the Plainfield McAll Auxiliary.

The McAll Mission was begun in the year following the Franco-Prussian War and the Paris Commune, by Rev. and Mrs. Robert W. McAll, of England. The first service was held on January 17, 1872, in a little hired shop in Belleville. A number of the salles are still simply rented rooms of the conventional mission-hall type. As growth demands, these transformed shops are giving way to more adequate establishments—fraternities, people's homes and the like—"Plants" equipped to minister in every possible way to human need and neighborhood life.

Dr. McAll was decorated by the President of the republic for his "services to humanity." The police testify that the mission-halls diminish disorder and crime, and the churches acknowledge their debt to the mission for a quickened life and for enlarged membership rolls. Many pastors and lay-workers serve in the mission without remuneration.

The American McAll Association was founded in 1883 and incorporated in 1884.

TALK ON "ZIONISM" BY DR. B. EPSTEIN

Eminent Jewish Orator is Heard by Large Audience Here.

Under the auspices of Jehuda-Halevi Camp, No. 57, Order Sons of Zion, of this city, Dr. B. Epstein, the eminent Jewish orator, delivered a remarkable illustrated lecture in Knights of Pythias Hall, last night. He displayed about sixty fine views showing the new life to be found in Palestine. Dr. Epstein held the close attention of his large audience throughout as he told of the progress of the "Zionist" movement.

Having had considerable experience throughout Europe in work on behalf of the National Fund, his excellent service has earned for him international fame. His coming to this country is due solely to the disturbance in Europe, which has affected Zionist work there. His address was well received by the large assembly and his many words of encouragement have given the local Zionist workers renewed hope in their efforts to secure a future home for the Jewish people. The speaker asked the audience for their support in the great work now going on throughout the world to reestablish the Jewish people as a nation. He told of the great advancement of condition among the Hebrews of Palestine.

Friends of Dr. Epstein will give him a banquet tomorrow evening in this city, when it is expected that he will have something more to say about the work in which he is engaged.

Wonderland at Wanamaker's

Alice and Her New Friends "Wotsat" and "Optick."

This is how it all came about: Alice lay dozing in the garden with her head nestling in sister's lap, midst the droning of the busy bees and the humming of myriads of insects. Between dozes Alice was thinking hard. Why is the sky so blue? Who trims the edges of the leeves? Where are the clouds going in such a hurry?—then suddenly one of these very clouds popped out of the sky and came tumbling and bouncing across the meadow right up to Alice's feet, where it burst with a puff and out jumped the cunningest little elf, sweet and dainty, just from Fairyland.

"Come to the palace of plenty," she said, and taking Alice by the hand she called her chariot, which was in reality a bubble. Stepping into it they rolled away. Then it was that Alice noticed "Wotsat," the funniest little man she ever saw. "Wotsat's" friends, "Strumm" and "Mr. Optick," were there also, and as soon as Alice had seated herself beside the pretty little elf, whose name was "Phansy," Wotsat, Strumm and Optick perched themselves on her knee.

Away flew the bubble chariot over hill and dale, river and bay, towards the city. Alice suddenly espied the wireless station on top of Wanamaker's great store, and they descended towards the "World of Fun," which now has its headquarters there.

Now, every little boy and girl should go and see this magnificent display of everything imaginable in the land of toydom. Not only will they find Alice, of Wonderland fame, but her friends are there, too. "Wotsat" will bewitch little folks with the spirit of curiosity. He will make them ask questions and so gain knowledge—while "Mr. Optick" will endow them with a clear vision to see all the beautiful things which have been collected by Wanamaker's from the four corners of the earth to make Christmas a joy forever. "Mr. Strumm," who is a spirit of music, will receive his share of popularity, and there is very little doubt as to the kind of reception the children will give to "Pranko," the spirit of mischief.

When mothers take the children to Wanamaker's there are many things which must be noted in advance or else perhaps, in the glamour of enchantment something very important might perchance be overlooked.

Never was there such a populous doll city, every type has a representative and in addition to all these beautiful dollies, from the tiny tots, dressed and undressed, at tiny prices, up to the queenly dolls with a retinue of servants, to say nothing of sumptuous mansions—at almost any price—you will find every requisite to dolls in all stations of life, from shoes up to hats.

Don't fail to see the modern nursery fittings, combination dressing tables and wash-stands, desks, wardrobes, balcony nooks, all made of packing box wood beautifully enameled in white.

Boys will naturally go into ecstacies over this immense gathering of mechanical toys. Everything to perfect a complete miniature railroad system—rolling stock, terminals, block signals, electric switch boxes, automatic switches to underground or overhead tunnels—everything is most realistic, even the railroad accidents which sometimes occur on the congested thoroughfares of the great demonstrating tables. Battleships, fire engines, factories, wireless apparatus and everything to make the boyish heart thump with joy on Christmas morning.

The game wizard has evidently spent a busy year, while the inventors of new types of fuzzy, woolly and lovable animals have excelled themselves in their contributions to the Wanamaker assemblage.

Go-carts, bicycles, rocking-horses see-saws and merry-go-rounds form an important exhibition for out-of-town visitors.

The decorative scheme of Wanamaker's Wonderland is unique and attractive. The entire fourth gallery in the new building is frescoed with "Wotsats," "Prankos," "Strumms" and "Optricks," while at the entrance to the Palace of of Mystery sits Santa Claus himself. Great roly-poly, sun-faced creatures, placed at intervals around the balustrades make goo-goo eyes in a friendly way to littl visitors. Everything one comes across seems to extend a hearty welcome.

Don't forget that "Wotsat" has a present for all the children, which is nothing short of his own wonderful fairy story in booklet form cunningly illustrated.

Yes, indeed, it would be a gloomy Christmas if one had no Wanamaker's to take the children to.

—It's hard to be an optimist on the day your tenant leaves. But prompt recourse to classified advertising will soon set things to rights again.

Women's Coats, Tailored Suits, Evening and Afternoon Dresses

2,100 Garments Specially Purchased
5,000 in Our Own Stocks Reduced
All from a Third to More than a Half Below

This sale, which begins tomorrow, Tuesday, morning, anticipates for the first time the usual January clearances, offering to women at mid-January prices one full month more use of garments which have all the elements of value of full-priced garments.

Everything a woman of taste requires for street or evening wear is included in this sale.

Evening Dresses begin at $10
Dresses of Serge begin at $12.75
Tailored Suits begin at $13.50
Coats begin at $14.50
Evening Wraps begin at $25

And the choosing runs through many convenient prices to imported evening gowns, afternoon dresses, tailored suits and evening wraps at $75 and $95.

Detailed description is impossible. It is unnecessary, because every woman knows that all the latest fashion touches, colors and fabrics will be here, and that she will find every garment well made and finely finished.

To touch lightly on a few of the groups—

The Evening Dresses at $25 and $30
Precisely such as we have sold for $45 to $110.

Exquisite dance frocks, debutante dresses, dinner, restaurant and opera gowns.

Materials—brocaded chiffon combined with net, gold and silver brocaded satins, gold and silver brocaded net, chiffon moires, crystal embroidery and fine under-satins.

Fashion touches—Empire waist line, long waist, full skirts, pointed bodice, long over-tunic; not a detail of effectiveness missing.

And the studied tone-mergings are admirable to the extreme.

In some of these gowns are used metal brocades that have sold this season at $18 yard.

The Afternoon Dresses at $25 and $30
Early-season-prices—ours, $45 to $95.

In these are silk velvets, moires, velvet-striped chiffons and moire velvets, combined with fine laces and chiffons. Many are fur-trimmed. Most of the materials are imported.

Beautiful restaurant and party dresses, showing the favored transparent sleeves.

The Tailored Suits at $13.50 to $25
Such as we are selling today at $19.50 to $47.50

Of very fine broadcloths, serges, velvets and corduroys, many lavishly fur-trimmed. The dominating colors are black and navy. Many are of green and brown. Short coats, high necks, and, in many instances, circular skirts.

At $18.75 is a copy in velvet of an imported suit which, in broadcloth, we sold for $45.

The latest copy of Callot models are in the group at $22.50; and at $25 is a copy of a Cheruit model which we have sold for $47.50.

Many suits at $27.50, $32.50, $45, $50, $67.50, $75 and $95.

The Street Coats at $14.50 to $25
Our regular prices $25 to $40.

Pile fabric coats are in this group at $14.50; plush and caracal coats at $16.50, $18.75 and $25. One of the models at $18.75 has the belt that may be buttoned front or back.

At $15 is a group of cloth mixture coats, most of the fabrics imported; long, loose coats for motoring and general wear.

All the coats are richly lined with satin.

The Evening Wraps at $25 to $75
Today's prices, $37.50 to $150.

Dark, rich velvets and satins, and light evening shades; nearly all fur-trimmed; the season's best styles. The kind of wrap a woman likes to wear over a dainty evening gown.

"I didn't know," Mis' Winslow said then, "but what I could help some about the little boy's coming. Sever under fifteen does teach you some thing, you've got to allow. Mebbe I could tell you something now and then. Or if we could do anything to help you get ready for him"—

"See it—can't you see it—in gray wool?"

"Oh," said Mary in swift penitence, "thank you, Mis' Winslow. After he comes maybe. But these things now I don't mind doing. The real nuisance 'll come afterward, I s'pose."

Mis' Winslow smiled in soft triumph.

"Nuisance!" she said. "That's what I meant comes to you by having 'em. You don't think so much of the nuisance part as you did before."

"Then you don't look the thing in the face," said Mary calmly. "That's all about that."

"Well," Mis' Winslow said pacifically, "when's he coming?"

"A week from Tuesday; a week from tomorrow," Mary told her.

Mis' Winslow looked at her intently with the light of calculation in her narrowed eyes.

"A week from Tuesday," she said. "A week from Tuesday," she repeated. "A week from Tuesday!" she exclaimed. "Why, Mary Chavah, that's Christmas eve."

It was some matter of recipes that was absorbing Mis' Bates and Mis' Moran when Mis' Winslow breathlessly returned to them. They were deep in tradition and in method, its buttonhole relation. During the weary period when nutrition has been one of the two great problems the tremendous impulse that has nourished the world was alive in the faces of the two women, a kind of creative fire, such as had burned in Mary at the cutting of her pattern. Asparagus escalloped with toast crumbs and butter was for the moment symbol of all humanity's will to keep alive.

"Ladies," said Mis' Winslow, with no other preface, "what do you think? Mary Chavah's little boy is coming from Idaho with a tag on, and when do you s'pose he's going to get here? Christmas eve!"

"Christmas eve," repeated Mis' Bates, whose mind never lightly forsook old ways or embraced a contretemps, "what a funny time to travel."

"Likely catch the croup and be down sick on Mary's hands the first thing," said Mis' Moran. "It's a pity it ain't the spring of the year."

Mis' Winslow looked at them searchingly to see if her thought too far outdistanced theirs.

"What struck me all of a heap," she said, "is his getting here then. That night. Christmas eve."

The three women looked at one another.

"That's so," Mis' Moran said.

"Him—that child," Mis' Winslow put it, "getting here Christmas eve, used to Christmas all his life, ten to one knowing in his head what he hopes he'll get. And no Christmas. And him with no mother. And her only a month or so dead."

"Well," said Mis' Mortimer Bates, "it's too bad it's happened so. But it has happened so. You have to say that to your life quite often, I notice. I don't know anything to do but to say it now."

Mis' Winslow had not taken off her cloak. She sat on the edge of her chair, with her hands deep in its pockets, her black knit "fascinator" fallen back from her hair. She was looking down at her cloth overshoes, and she went on speaking as if she had hardly heard what Mis' Bates had interposed.

"He'll get in on the express," she said; "Mary said so. She don't have to go to the city to meet him. The man he travels with is going to put him on the train in the city. The little fellow'll get here after dark. After dark on Christmas eve."

"And no time for anybody to warn him that there won't be any Christmas waiting for him," Mis' Moran observed thoughtfully.

"And like enough he'll bring a little something for Mary for a present," Mis' Winslow went on. "How'll she feel then?"

"Ain't it too bad it ain't last year?" Mis' Moran mourned. "Everything comes too late or too soon or not at all or else too much so, 'seems though."

Mis' Bates' impulse to nonconformity had not prevented her forehead from being drawn in their common sympathy; but it was a sympathy that saw no practical way out and existed tamely as a high window and not as a wide door.

"Well," she said, "Mary ain't exactly the one to see it so. You'll never get her to feel bad about anybody not having a Christmas. I dunno, if it was any other year, as she'd be planning any different."

"No," said Mis' Winslow thoughtfully, "Mary won't do anything. But we could."

Mis' Bates' forehead took alarm—the alarm of the sympathetic hearer who is challenged to be doer.

"Do?" she repeated. "You can't go back on the paper at this late day. And you can't give him a Christmas and every other of our children not have any just because we're their parents and still living. There ain't a thing to do."

Mis' Winslow's eyes were still on her overshoes. "I don't believe there's never 'not a thing' to do," she said. "I don't believe it."

Mis' Bates looked scandalized. "That's nonsense," she said sharply, "and it's sacrilegious besides. When God means a thing to happen there's not a thing to do. What about earthquakes and—and cancers?"

"I don't believe he ever means earthquakes and cancers," said Mis' Winslow to her overshoes.

"Prevent 'em, then!" challenged Mis' Bates triumphantly.

CHAPTER IX.

Burying Santa Claus.

MIS' WINSLOW looked up. Her eyes were shining as they had shone sometimes when one of her seven under fifteen had given its first sign of consciousness of more than self.

"I believe we'll do it some day," she said. "I believe there's more to us than we've got any idea of. I believe there's so much to us that one of us that found out about it and told the rest would get hounded out of town. But even now, I bet there's enough to us to do something every time—something every time, no matter what. And I believe there's something we can do about this little orphaned boy's Christmas, if we nip our brains on to it in the right place."

"Oh, dear," said Mis' Moran, "sometimes when I think about Christmas I almost wish we almost hadn't done the way we're going to do."

Mis' Bates stiffened.

"Jane Moran," she said, "do you think it's right to go head over heels in debt to celebrate the birth of our Lord?"

"No," said Mis' Moran, "I don't. But"—

"And you know nobody in Old Trail Town could afford any extravagance this year?"

"Yes," said Mis' Moran, "I do; still"—

"And if part could and part couldn't, that makes it all the worse, don't it?"

"I know," said Mis' Moran—"I know."

"Well, then," said Mis' Bates triumphantly, "we've done the only way there is to do. Land knows, I wish there was another way. But there ain't."

Mis' Winslow looked up from her overshoes.

"I don't believe there's never 'no other way,'" she said. "There's always another way."

"Not without money," said Mis' Bates.

"Money," Mis' Winslow said—"money. That's like setting up one day of peace on earth, good will to men, and asking admission to it."

"Mis' Winslow," said Mis' Moran sadly, "what's the use of saying anything? You know as well as I do that Christmas is abused all up and down the land and made a day of expense and extravagance and folks overspending themselves. And we've stopped all that in Old Trail Town. And now you're trying to make us feel bad."

"I ain't," said Mis' Winslow. "We felt bad about it already, and you know it. I'm glad we've stopped all that. But I wish't we had something to put in its place. I wish't we had."

"What in time are them children doing?" said Mis' Moran abruptly.

The three women looked. On the side lawn, where a spreading balsam had been left untrimmed to the ground, stood little Emily Moran and Gussie and Bennet and Tab and Pep. And the four boys had their caps in their hands and Gussie, having untied her own hood, turned to take off little Emily's. The wind, sweeping sharply round the corner of the house, blew their hair wildly and caught at muffler ends.

"It's Sandy Claus' funeral."

Mis' Bates and Mis' Moran, with one impulse, ran to the side door, and Mis' Winslow followed.

"Emily," said Mis' Moran, "put on your hood this minute."

"Gussie," said Mis' Bates, "put on your cap this instant second. What you got it off for? And little Emily doing as you do—I'm su'prised at you."

"Please," said Pep, "it's a funeral. An' we thought we'd ought to take our caps off till it gets under."

"A funeral," said Mis' Bates. "Who you burying?"

"It's just a rehearsal funeral," Pep explained, "the real one's going to be Christmas."

By now the two women were restoring hood and stocking cap to the little girls, and it was Mis' Winslow, who had followed, who spoke to Pep.

"Who's dead, Pep?" she asked.

"Sandy Claus," he answered readily.

"We're doing it for little Emily," he said confidentially. "She couldn't get it straight about where Sandy Claus would be this Christmas. The rest of us knew. But Emily's little—so we thought we'd play bury him on her 'count."

Mis' Bates, who had not heard, turned from Gussie.

"Going to do what on Christmas?" she exclaimed. "You ain't to do a thing on Christmas. Or ain't you grown up, after all?"

"Well, we thought a Christmas funeral wouldn't hurt," interposed Bennet defensively. "Can't we even have a funeral for fun on Christmas?" he ended, aggrieved.

"It's Sandy Claus' funeral," observed little Emily, putting a curl from her face.

"We're goin' dress up a Sandy Claus, you know," Pep added sotto voce. "It's goin' to be right after breakfast Christmas."

"Come on, come ahead, fellows," said Bennet; "I'll be corpse. Keep your lids on. I don't mind. Go ahead, sing."

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

John Edwards had lived for forty years in the Rocky mountain country. He was a light, spare man with lean brown hands and face. He wore a long, fierce mustache, and, as became an orthodox cowboy, he was invariably seen wearing a sombrero, originally a light cream color. This headgear was so dear to him that he wore it continuously, at meals and during his daily repose on the couch. No one outside his own family ever saw the top of his head.

He had a wife, a thin, silent woman, who toiled without pause and received no more notice than the processes of nature.

There were numerous progeny of the Edwards stock, but they were of no consequence. Mr. Edwards alone was of importance.

The only living thing that seemed to regard Mrs. Edwards with affection was a beautiful black colt. He came every morning to the corral gate for his carrot or turnip and affectionately nosed the hard hand that fed him. This colt had belonged to a son who had died a year or so before, a son utterly unlike the wild, rough brood that shrieked over the hills and filled the house with uproar.

A wonderful bond had existed between the silent woman and this delicate boy. He never went to town without bringing her some trifle. But the boy was too frail to thrive in the hard conditions into which he was born and in his nineteenth year he had slipped away from her clinging hands.

"Mother, the colt's yours," he had said a few days before his death.

"Don't, Jim," she pleaded with trembling lips. "You'll get well and ride him yet," but it was not to be. Dearer than anything else to the mother was the shiny black creature that had belonged to this boy.

"Ma, did you know pa had sold Prince?" asked her ten-year-old son one day.

"Sold him!" she echoed. "How can he? Jim gave him to me," and she clutched the table with her thin fingers.

"He sold him to Jake Peters for a saddle horse," continued the child. "He's to get $100 for him."

The woman sank into a chair and buried her face in her hands.

"Pa, is it true what Sam says, that you've sold Black Prince?" she asked when her husband came in to dinner.

"Sure thing," he answered. "I get a good round hundred for him."

"Pa, Black Prince is mine—Jim gave him to me. He's the only thing I ever had. I won't give him up," and she threw her apron over her face and left the room.

Mr. Edwards snorted as he gazed after her from between drawn brows.

He started for town immediately after dinner and the children scattered as usual. Mrs. Edwards went to the corral, gave a low call and the beautiful colt trotted up whinneying. She opened the gate and taking hold of his mane started up the steep path behind the house, the colt nosing her shoulder as they went. In about an hour she returned alone. Her eyes were red.

That evening when Jake Peters came for the colt, Black Prince was not to be found.

"Ma, do you know anything about this?" angrily asked her husband.

She passed him and went up to Mr. Peters in the door.

"That colt is mine. Jim gave him to me before he died. I never have anything of my own, never a cent of money, never a bit of pleasure. You can't have the colt. I've hid him. I'll kill him before you shall take him away," and she left the room.

"I did not know that," said Mr. Peters to the dazed husband, who stood staring at the door that had shut behind his wife. "We'll call this deal off."

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

It is seldom one finds as dainty and smart a frock as this one that can be made easily and quickly, but in spite of the effect of elaboration there is just a two piece skirt with a straight tunic and a Japanese blouse.

GIRL'S DRESS.

On the figure a pretty flowered silk is used in combination with chiffon.

For the medium size the blouse and skirt will require three and one-quarter yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, the plaited tunic three yards twenty-seven inches wide, the girdle one yard twenty-one inches wide and for the neck and sleeves one and three-quarters yards of plaiting.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls from ten to fourteen years. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8390, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Fairies, the Giant and the Invisible Cap.

They Came to a Deep Cavity, Which They Thought Was a Cave.

"ONCE upon a time there lived in a dark and very dismal forest a great giant." Daddy was beginning the evening story.

"He was so very big that a band of fairies, who also lived in the forest, thought he was a mountain and that his snores when he slept were thunder.

"Now, these fairies had only recently come to dwell in this forest, and when they heard the snores of the giant they were frightened. They were very much afraid of thunder, as they had a great treasure, a cap, which the thunder was always trying to steal from them.

"This cap was of great service to the fairies, since whichever fairy wore it was rendered for the time invisible.

"So to hide the cap away from the thunder the beautiful fairy queen looked around for a place to put it. All the time they were running over the sleeping giant and thought he was a mountain.

"They came to a deep cavity which they thought was a cave, and into that the fairy queen stuck the wonderful cap.

"But, alas and alack, that cave was the giant's ear, and when the fairy queen tucked in the cap she hit a nerve which wakened the giant and made him howl with pain.

"Up he jumped, and the fairies scampered down and away like startled mice, while the giant, still roaring, dug the cap out of his ear and stuck it on his thumb.

"He immediately became invisible, and so the fairies knew he was wearing their magic cap.

"So they wept and wept until an eagle that was flying by stopped to inquire the cause of their grief and promised to help them.

"So the eagle watched, and when the giant took off the magic cap to bathe in the lake the eagle flew away with it.

"But the giant saw the eagle and in a rage flew after him, shooting at him many times with his bow and arrow and wounding the poor eagle terribly.

"But he got away with the cap and flew straight to the fairies with it, though all along the way drops of blood and feathers were strewn.

"The fairies were very glad to get their valuable cap back. They dressed the eagle's wounds and to show their further gratefulness made trees with feathery leaves and red berries spring up wherever drops of blood or feathers fell as he was flying.

"Good night, kiddies."

Household Hints

USEFUL COOKING HINTS

Left-over biscuits can be made fresh by dipping in water, then place in baking pan in hot oven and left for a few minutes.

When beating eggs for icing, after they have started to froth add one or two tablespoons of cold water and you will have double the quantity of icing.

You can use an ounce and a half of flour instead of cornstarch when you want to.

You want winter wheat flour for pie crusts.

Peanut butter mixed with a little cream or milk will go much farther and be more palatable.

You can use the water the potato is cooked in to make gravy if you haven't milk.

Grate cheese on top of poached eggs; it is pretty as well as good.

In baking loaf cake always remember that unless you place a piece of paper over top for protection at first a top crust will at once be formed that prevents raising. When cake is well raised remove paper.

Wilted vegetables should be soaked in cold water before being cooked in boiling salted water.

BAGS AS A HOUSEHOLD CONVENIENCE

Ever try "bags" for things used constantly, that must be in clean, handy place? They must be made of material easily laundered, with drawstring in top; can be kept or hung in closets, behind doors, under draining boards, etc.

For instance—for small children, hang neat bag (containing zephyr slippers in winter) at head of beds; handy and will be used.

Have bag containing "dust rags" in bedroom closets.

Small bag for meat grinder; place small patch-pocket near the top, on inside, for different parts.

If drawer space is limited, have a bag for dish towels.

Keep one in pantry, filled with newspapers, used for dozens of purposes.

Take small salt bag, sew brass ring in a small opening at bottom, place 5-cent ball of string in it with end through the ring; tack to kitchen wall. You will find what it means to you when wanting string in a hurry.

THE TABLE

Meatless Gravy — Put generous piece of butter in frying pan and when melted rub in one tablespoon flour. In separate pan dissolve one (or two, if desired) bouillon cube in boiling water. Add this to butter and flour. Stir to prevent lumps and you will find a more delicious gravy than with meat, for you have all the strength of the meat in the gravy. It can also take the place of meat in soup.

Flamery—One cup any kind of fruit juice, one cup sugar, white of one egg, pinch of salt, one cup nuts, and flavor. Beat well. Set in ice box to cool.

Date Pudding—One pound dates, one cup English walnuts, two eggs well beaten, one-half cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon baking powder. Wash dates and steam five minutes. Cut in two and remove seeds and put layer in buttered cake tin, then layer of nuts. Pour batter over and bake twenty minutes. Serve cold with whipped cream. This will serve eight people.

Chocolate Fudge—One cup cream, two cups sugar, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cake baker's chocolate. Boil until thick—about ten or fifteen minutes, when cool, beat and pour into buttered dish to harden.

Good Chocolate Soft Frosting—One coffee cup powdered sugar, two tablespoons cocoa, one tablespoon melted butter, one teaspoon vanilla. Equal to boiled frosting.

German Cake — Cream together one-half cupful each of sugar and butter and mix with this four egg yolks, four tablespoons milk. Sift together one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder; stir with the mixture, put batter in two tins. Then beat whites of four eggs with two tablespoons sugar and spread over batter. Sprinkle ground nuts on top and bake till a light brown. Use any kind of filling and frost with plain white frosting.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

The Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., will receive sealed bids at the Board room in the High School Building, corner West Ninth Street and Arlington Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at a meeting to be held on Wednesday, December 9, 1914, at 8 p. m., for the construction of a school building on Evergreen Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Plans and specifications can be obtained by bidders on application to Messrs. Wilder & White, Architects, 50 Church Street, New York City, on deposit with the said architects of a certified check of $25.00, payable to the order of the Board of Education of Plainfield, which check will be returned on the return of the drawings and specifications.

The work will be let in four contracts: 1. For the general construction. 2. For the Heating and Ventilating work. 3. For the Plumbing work. 4. For the Electrical and Vacuum Cleaner system, and separate bids will be received on each contract.

All bids are to be on forms furnished with the specifications and accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank or trust company, payable to the order of the Board of Education, Plainfield, N. J., or a surety bond of a company authorized to do business in the State of New Jersey, in the amount of five per cent. of the estimate submitted.

All bids or proposals are to be in writing and sealed, and addressed to the Secretary of the Board. Each bid must state explicitly upon what portion of the work it is based.

Upon receipt of bids or proposals, the Secretary will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce their contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received by the Board previous to the hour designated and none will be received thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive any or all formalities.

B. VAN D. HEDGES, Secretary,
Board of Education.
